<td>Introduces first years to the process of team-based creative conceptualization, visualization prototyping, and product realization. Students use computer-aided design tools to create custom circuit boards and computer numerically controlled (CNC) machined components to produce prototype systems. Design concepts are introduced and supported through hands-on assignments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>190</td>
<td>Special Topics in Engineering</td>
<td>Study arranged on special engineering topics in which the faculty have particular interest and competence as a result of research or professional activities. Consent of instructor(s) required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>190A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Engineering</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>190AS</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Engineering</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>190L</td>
<td>Special Topics in Engineering with Lab Component</td>
<td>Study arranged on special engineering topics in which the faculty have particular interest and competence as a result of research or professional activities. This course contains a laboratory component.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>201L</td>
<td>Mechanics of Solids</td>
<td>Analysis of force systems and their equilibria as applied to engineering systems. Stresses and strains in deformable bodies; mechanical behavior of materials; applications of principles to static problems of beams, torsion members, and columns. Selected laboratory work. Prerequisites: Mathematics 112 and Physics 151L.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>206</td>
<td>Engineering Communication</td>
<td>Principles of written and verbal technical communication; graphs, tables, charts and figures, Multimedia content generation and presentation. Individual and group written and verbal presentations. Prerequisite: Engineering 103L and Writing 101 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Duke University

586 / 1526
EGR224L - Electrical Fundamentals of Mechatronics

Subject: EGR
Catalog Number: 224L
Title: Electrical Fundamentals of Mechatronics

Description
Introduction to mechatronics with a special emphasis on electrical components, sensing, and information processing. Topics include circuit analysis and design, system response characterization, conversion between digital and analog signals, data acquisition, sensors, and motors. Laboratory projects focus on analysis, characterization, and design of electrical and mechatronic systems. Prerequisite: (Engineering 103L or Computer Science 201); (Mathematics 112L or 22 or equivalent); and (Physics 152L or equivalent).

EGR238L - Fundamentals of Data Analysis and Decision Science

Subject: EGR
Catalog Number: 238L
Title: Fundamentals of Data Analysis and Decision Science

Description
This course provides a mathematically rigorous and broad foundation for key concepts in probability and statistics, as well as the application of probability and statistics to the mathematical modeling of non-deterministic systems. The main motivation of the course is to show how these concepts are fundamental to a variety of current data analysis techniques, and to demonstrate applications of these techniques in situations relevant to all engineering majors. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 216, 218, or 221) and (Engineering 103L or Computer Science 101L).

EGR244L - Dynamics

Subject: EGR
Catalog Number: 244L
Title: Dynamics

Description
Principles of dynamics of particles, rigid bodies, and selected nonrigid systems with emphasis on engineering applications. Kinematic and kinetic analysis of structural and machine elements in a plane and in space using graphical, computer, and analytical vector techniques. Absolute and relative motion analysis. Work-energy; impact and impulse-momentum. Laboratory experiments. Prerequisite: Engineering 201L and (Mathematics 212 or 219) or consent of instructor.

EGR305 - Engineering Systems Optimization and Economics

Subject: EGR
Catalog Number: 305
Title: Engineering Systems Optimization and Economics

Description
Introduction to mathematical optimization, engineering economic analysis, and other decision analysis tools used to evaluate and design engineering systems. Application of linear and nonlinear programming, dynamic programming, expert systems, simulation and heuristic methods to engineering systems design problems. Applications discussed include: production plant scheduling, water resources planning, design and analysis, vehicle routing, resource allocation, repair and rehabilitation scheduling and economic analysis of engineering design alternatives. Pratt students may not use this course toward the SS/H degree requirement. Corequisite: Mathematics 216.

EGR355 - Smart Home Technology Development

Subject: EGR
Catalog Number: 355
Title: Smart Home Technology Development

Description
Engineering projects related to the Duke Smart Home Program are undertaken. Projects should be interdisciplinary in nature and have engineering relevance in the sense of undertaking to meet human need through a disciplined approach under the guidance of a member of the engineering faculty. Consent of instructor is required.

EGR391 - Projects in Engineering

Subject: EGR
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Projects in Engineering

Description
Courses in which engineering projects of an interdisciplinary nature are undertaken. The projects must have engineering relevance in the sense of undertaking to meet human need through a disciplined approach under the guidance of a member of the engineering faculty. Consent of instructor required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Projects in Engineering</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Individual research projects in engineering under the guidance and supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>424L</td>
<td>Energy and Environment Design</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

An integrative design course addressing both creative and practical aspects of the design of systems related to energy and the environment. Development of the creative design process, including problem formulation and needs analysis, feasibility, legal, economic and human factors, environmental impacts, energy efficiency, aesthetics, safety, and design optimization. Application of design methods through a collaborative design project involving students from the Pratt School of Engineering and Trinity College. Open only to students pursuing the undergraduate certificate in Energy and Environment. Prerequisites: Civil Engineering 160L, Environment 330 and Mechanical Engineering 461.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>491</td>
<td>Projects in Engineering</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Courses in which engineering projects of an interdisciplinary nature are undertaken. The projects must have engineering relevance in the sense of undertaking to meet human need through a disciplined approach under the guidance of a member of the engineering faculty. Consent of instructor required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>79</td>
<td>Thrive</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Students engage in small group discussions and activities to explore knowledge of self, build resilience, create a community, and develop personal well-being. Students apply wellness strategies to everyday life, as well as coping strategies for life’s challenges. Additional topics include: personal values, healthy relationships, stress and mental health, self-awareness, personality types, team dynamics, and accessing campus resources. Course is intended to help engineering students thrive at Duke University. Open only to first-year engineering students.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>79D</td>
<td>Thrive</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Students engage in small group discussions and activities to explore knowledge of self, build resilience, create a community, and develop personal well-being. Students apply wellness strategies to everyday life, as well as coping strategies for life’s challenges. Additional topics include: personal values, healthy relationships, stress and mental health, self-awareness, personality types, team dynamics, and accessing campus resources. Course is intended to help engineering students thrive at Duke University. Open only to first-year engineering students.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>79S</td>
<td>Thrive</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Students engage in small group discussions and activities to explore knowledge of self, build resilience, create a community, and develop personal well-being. Students apply wellness strategies to everyday life, as well as coping strategies for life’s challenges. Additional topics include: personal values, healthy relationships, stress and mental health, self-awareness, personality types, team dynamics, and accessing campus resources. Course is intended to help engineering students thrive at Duke University. Open only to first-year engineering students.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>90L</td>
<td>Introduction to Engineering</td>
<td>This course is designed to introduce students to the study and practice of engineering. Presentations will be made by representatives of all four engineering departments as well as outside practitioners, researchers, and industrial leaders. Selected group design and/or laboratory modules will be required of all participants. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EGR</td>
<td>95FS</td>
<td>First Year seminar in Focus</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered. Focus students only.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EHD</td>
<td>190</td>
<td>Special Topics in Education and Human Development</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EHD</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Education and Human Development</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EHD</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Education and Human Development</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor permission may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EHD</td>
<td>290T</td>
<td>Special Topics in Education and Human Development: Tutorial</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Taught online.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Duke University

589 / 1526
EHD390 - Special Topics in Education and Human Development

Subject
EHD

Catalog Number 390

Title
Special Topics in Education and Human Development

Description
Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.

---

EHD390S - Special Topics in Education and Human Development

Subject
EHD

Catalog Number
390S

Title
Special Topics in Education and Human Development

Description
Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.

---

EHD393 - Research Independent Study

Subject
EHD

Catalog Number
393

Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal could include a substantive paper, written report or final project containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor required.

---

EHD395 - Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject
EHD

Catalog Number
395

Title
Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore, and develop solutions to pressing social issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting fellows, and other experts from businesses, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with, or contribute to, an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work, and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

---

EHD395-1 - Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject
EHD

Catalog Number 395-1

Title
Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Half-credit version of EHD 395. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore, and develop solutions to pressing social issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting fellows, and other experts from businesses, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with, or contribute to, an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work, and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

---

EHD395T - Bass Connections Education & Human Development Research Team

Subject
EHD

Catalog Number
395T

Title
Bass Connections Education & Human Development Research Team

Description
Tutorial course for Bass Connections yearlong project team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to explore factors that contribute to positive outcomes across the human lifespan, including influences on education, health and human flourishing. Teams may also include external partners. A team's work may run in parallel with, or contribute to, an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other relevant learning experiences. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.
EHD396 - Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject: EHD
Catalog Number: 396
Title: Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing social issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting fellows, and other experts from businesses, government, and the non-profit sector. A team’s work may run in parallel with, or contribute to, an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

EHD396T - Bass Connections Education & Human Development Research Team

Subject: EHD
Catalog Number: 396T
Title: Bass Connections Education & Human Development Research Team

Description
Tutorial course for Bass Connections yearlong project team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to explore factors that contribute to positive outcomes across the human lifespan, including influences on education, health and human flourishing. Teams may also include external partners. A team’s work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other relevant learning experiences. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

EHD396-1 - Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject: EHD
Catalog Number: 396-1
Title: Bass Connections: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Half-credit version of EHD 396. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing social issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team’s work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

EHD490 - Special Topics in Education and Human Development

Subject: EHD
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Special Topics in Education and Human Development

Description
Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for additional prerequisites. Instructor permission may be required.
EHD490S - Special Topics in Education and Human Development

Subject: EHD
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Special Topics in Education and Human Development
Description: Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.

ENERGY178FS - Energy Policy for a Changing World

Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 178FS
Title: Energy Policy for a Changing World
Description: Energy use is essential to all aspects of modern life and a significant determinant of economic and social opportunity throughout the world. Yet energy use can also have detrimental effects on the environment and society—climate change being the most grave example. This course will explore how public policies affect the way that energy is produced and used and how policies can be designed to advance a more accessible, affordable, reliable and clean energy system. It will draw on material from multiple disciplines to gain a deeper understanding of the array of factors affecting our current energy system. Focus program students only.

ENERGY188FS - History of Energy Use and Power Generation

Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 188FS
Title: History of Energy Use and Power Generation
Description: The use of energy throughout human history is explored, starting from the beginnings of humanity to modern power generation. This course will consider the development of different energy sources over time, the history of energy conversion and storage technologies, and the establishment of modern thermal sciences. A major focus is the investigation of how these developments affected societal, economic, military, and technological change and growth. Understanding the historical trends related to energy use and power generation will allow for better informed prediction of humanity’s energy future. Open only to students in the Focus program.

ENERGY190 - Special Topics in Energy

Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Special Topics in Energy
Description: Topics vary by semester.
ENERGY 190FS - Focus Program Seminar in Energy: Special Topics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Focus Program Seminar in Energy: Special Topics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary by semester. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

ENERGY 231 - Energy and the Environment

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>231</td>
<td>Energy and the Environment</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Overview of the challenges confronting humanity as a consequence of our reliance on energy. Challenges include dwindling supplies, rising demand and environmental degradation. Realistic responses require an understanding of the complexity of the energy system, including energy resources, uses, and impacts, in the context of social, political and economic imperatives. Lectures will be augmented by presentations from guest speakers from industry, government and non-profit organizations.

ENERGY 290 - Special Topics in Energy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Special Topics in Energy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary by semester.

ENERGY 310 - Introduction to Energy Generation, Delivery, Conversion and Efficiency

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>Introduction to Energy Generation, Delivery, Conversion and Efficiency</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
An overall introduction to energy issues as they related to generation, delivery, conversion and efficiency. Topics include efficiencies of both new and established energy generation and conversion methods, electricity generation by fossil fuels, nuclear, solar, wind and hydropower and alternative energy technologies. Other topics include space heating and cooling by traditional methods and by solar, transportation energy in automobiles, mass transit and freight. Topics are evaluated quantitatively by modeling and using principles of fluid mechanics, thermodynamics and heat transfer. The environmental consequences of energy choices on local, national and global scales, including toxic emissions, greenhouse gases and resource depletion are also discussed in integrated throughout the course. Prerequisite: Mechanical Engineering 331L, or Mechanical Engineering 512, or Physics 311, or similar thermodynamics, or consent of instructor. Course is not open to students who have taken Mechanical Engineering 461.
ENERGY325S - Economic Analysis of Current Energy Issues

Subject
ENERGY

Catalog Number
325S

Title
Economic Analysis of Current Energy Issues

Description
Examination of present-day sources and end-users of energy in U.S. and selected foreign nations with attention to external cost of energy systems. Fossil fuel prospects, new and renewable energy sources and nuclear power. Opportunities for increasing energy productivity. Proposals for dealing with climate change. Course equips students to evaluate proposals and arguments from all sides of the energy debates using facts and analysis. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.

ENERGY364 - Green Germany: World Leader in Environmental Policy

Subject
ENERGY

Catalog Number
364

Title
Green Germany: World Leader in Environmental Policy

Description
Exploration of Germany’s leading global role in developing and implementing ‘green’ technologies and environmental policies. Analyzes Germany’s current and past policies on energy, agriculture, and pollution control. Examines policies in context by studying German ideas about nature, history of German environmentalism, and by looking at Green Germany in European and global perspective. Discusses extent ethics can or ought to influence debates about global climate change and its ramifications. Readings include scholarly studies, exemplary policies, and groundbreaking ecological texts.

ENERGY383 - Engineering the Global Middle East

Subject
ENERGY

Catalog Number
383

Title
Engineering the Global Middle East

Description
This class is a global techno-environmental history, with a special emphasis on the modern Middle East. We will interrogate the many ways in which the transformation of nature and transfer of technologies has rearranged political relations within and between states in the last two hundred years. We shall survey the social history of technology, of engineering, infrastructural developments, urbanization, and energy resources. Students in this course will learn how to do research through the lenses of environmental history and science and technology studies using the methods of microhistory.

ENERGY390 - Special Topics in Energy

Subject
ENERGY

Catalog Number 390

Title
Special Topics in Energy

Description
Topics vary by semester.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Energy</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>393T</td>
<td>Bass Connections Energy &amp; Environment Research Team</td>
<td>Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to address critical energy and environmental challenges. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, lab work, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>394T</td>
<td>Bass Connections Energy &amp; Environment Research Team</td>
<td>Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to address critical energy and environmental challenges. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, lab work, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENERGY</td>
<td>395</td>
<td>Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects</td>
<td>Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing energy issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting energy fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENERGY395-1 - Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 395-1
Title: Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing energy issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting energy fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ENERGY395A - Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 395A
Title: Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing energy issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting energy fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENERGY395T - Bass Connections Energy & Environment Research Team

Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 395T
Title: Bass Connections Energy & Environment Research Team

Description
Tutorial course for Bass Connections yearlong project team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to address critical energy and environmental challenges. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, lab work, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ENERGY395TA - Bass Connections Energy & Environment Research Team

Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 395TA
Title: Bass Connections Energy & Environment Research Team

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to address critical energy and environmental challenges. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, lab work, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.
ENERGY396 - Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects
Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 396
Title: Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects
Description: Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing energy issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting energy fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ENERGY396-1 - Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects
Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 396-1
Title: Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects
Description: Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing energy issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting energy fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ENERGY396A - Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects
Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 396A
Title: Connections in Energy: Interdisciplinary Team Projects
Description: Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing energy issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting energy fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENERGY396T - Bass Connections Energy & Environment Research Team
Subject: ENERGY
Catalog Number: 396T
Title: Bass Connections Energy & Environment Research Team
Description: Tutorial course for Bass Connections yearlong project team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to address critical energy and environmental challenges. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, lab work, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.
ENGLISH101S - The Art of Reading
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 101S
Title: The Art of Reading
Description: An introduction to the skills of critical reading through the close examination of literary works, or other media such as film.

ENGLISH110S - Introduction to Creative Writing
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 110S
Title: Introduction to Creative Writing
Description: A multi-genre course designed for students who have little or no previous experience producing imaginative literary texts. This course does not count toward the English major, but would count toward the minor in creative writing.

ENGLISH171 - Representative American Writers
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 171
Title: Representative American Writers
Description: Continuation of English 161. Selections and complete works. James, Frost or Robinson, Crane or Dreiser, O'Neill, Faulkner, Hemingway, and others.

ENGLISH172 - American Indians Go Graphic
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 172
Title: American Indians Go Graphic
Description: Introductory-level American Indian Studies course that explores historic and contemporary Native Nation-centric topics through the medium of comic books and graphic novels. These topics include representation and racialization, differing forms of activism, economic development, and settler-colonial impacts.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>181</td>
<td>Introduction to Film Studies</td>
<td>Basic film theory and history of motion picture technology. Introduction to experimental, documentary, and narrative forms of Third World, European, and United States cinemas.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>187A</td>
<td>Reading Theater in New York</td>
<td>Theater is a live art in which one assembly of people tells a story to another: the audience. This course introduces this art from two, interwoven perspectives. First we consider the scripts as artifacts of the past. We uncover the acting, directing, and design conventions that originally animated the scripts; the spaces for which they were intended; the audiences for whom they were performed. Then we consider the scripts as blueprints for the present with the guidance of guest artists in New York (some from Duke’s alumni network) and site visits to theaters and rehearsal rooms. We see productions all plays, which are chosen from that season’s offerings in New York.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>187S</td>
<td>Reading Theater</td>
<td>In the theater, what we read on the page is an artifact of performances that once happened as well as a blueprint for stage performances yet to come. In this course, we work as archeologists to explore the meanings of the artifact and as creators — on our feet and with our bodies — to unlock the potential meanings of the blueprint. The course focuses on six plays, drawn from different periods in history and different countries, and includes non-European and non-white perspectives.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>190-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Language and Literature</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>190FS-2</td>
<td>Focus Program Seminar: Topics on Literature</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>190FS-3</td>
<td>Focus Program Seminar: Topics on Linguistics</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course</td>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH190S-1 - Special Topics in Language and Literature</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>190S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Language and Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH190SA - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in English</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>190SA</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in English</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH198FS - Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>198FS</td>
<td>Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH20 - Literature and Composition</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>Literature and Composition</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH202 - Introduction to Performance Studies</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>202</td>
<td>Introduction to Performance Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH203A - The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>203A</td>
<td>The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENGLISH204 - History of English
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 204
Title: History of English

Description
Introduction to methods and principles of historical linguistics, as exemplified by the history of the English language from Proto-Indo-European to the present. Not open to students who have taken English 208S. Satisfies the Criticism, Theory, and Methodology (CTM) for English majors.

ENGLISH206 - Variety in Language: English in the United States
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 206
Title: Variety in Language: English in the United States

Description
English language variation in the United States considered from a current sociolinguistic perspective. Social, regional, ethnic, gender, and stylistic-related language variation, along with models for describing and applying knowledge about language variation. Language variation focused on vernacular varieties of American English in general and on North Carolina in particular.

ENGLISH208S - Criticism and the Arts
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 208S
Title: Criticism and the Arts

Description
This is a course in the critical practice of literary theory in relation to the arts—literature, but also possibly the visual and performing arts—that occasion and challenge it. Exemplars to be drawn from the Anglo-European, Trans-oceanic, and/or North American (including multicultural) oeuvres, both contemporary and established. Ultimate concern is to develop each student’s own critical writing, drawing upon brilliant precedents, responding creatively to the literature/arts at hand, and crafting personal voice.

ENGLISH212S - Writing Across Borders
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 212S
Title: Writing Across Borders

Description
This is a creative nonfiction writing course focused on the concept of crossing myriad borders. What kinds of borders should an ethical, empathetic person attempt to cross in writing, in life? Are there borders that should remain uncrossed? Students who have participated in—or plan to participate in—a study or work abroad program may wish to focus their inquiry on geographical border crossing and the questions that raises such as: how does one write critically—or sympathetically—about a culture outside one’s own without being arrogant or elitist? How much can any non-native expect to understand about a country—or culture—not their own?

ENGLISH212SA - Writing the City: New York As Subject and Source of Literary Production
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 212SA
Title: Writing the City: New York As Subject and Source of Literary Production

Description
New York City is both the location of literary production and the subject of literary efforts. This course examines New York from both angles. We will be visiting publishing houses, magazines, and agents. We will talk to working writers, bookstore owners, and movie producers. We will also be reading books set in New York for whom the city itself serves as a character. Finally, we will attempt to write the city, both as a non-fiction subject and as a fictional one.

ENGLISH22 - Composition and Language
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 22
Title: Composition and Language

Description
Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of the College Board examination in composition and language
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>220S</td>
<td>ENGLISH220S - Introduction to the Writing of Poetry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>The introductory level genre specific workshops are for students with some experience in creative writing who wish to deepen their knowledge of their chosen genre and gain increased mastery of elements of craft. Recommended for students who have taken English 110S.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>221S</td>
<td>ENGLISH221S - Introduction to the Writing of Fiction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Introductory level genre-specific workshops for students with some experience in creative writing wishing to deepen their knowledge of their chosen genre and gain increased mastery of elements of craft. Recommended for students who have taken English 110.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>222S</td>
<td>ENGLISH222S - Introduction to the Writing of Creative Non-Fiction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>The introductory level genre-specific workshops are for students with some experience in creative writing who wish to deepen their knowledge of their chosen genre and gain increased mastery of elements of craft. Recommended for students who have taken English 110S.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>224S</td>
<td>ENGLISH224S - Ready for Prime Time: Writing the Dramatic TV Episode</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Some of the best dramatic writing today can now be found on television. This class will focus on one commercial prime-time drama, past or present. Beginning with a deep immersion into the world of that show—watching all of Season One—students break into groups, coming up with their own long stories to advance the plots. Each student will pitch a story for their particular version of 'Season Two'—developing an outline, tracking their storylines with the other members of their group, and finally writing a draft of an hour-long TV episode. Each student will write his or her own script—but will need to share notes, thoughts and feedback with their fellow writers.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>225S</td>
<td>ENGLISH225S - Writing the Movie. Introduction to the Theory and Practice of Writing for the Screen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Theory and practice of the process of writing for the screen. Exploration of visual storytelling; analysis of screenplays and movies; developing original stories into screenplay format. Projects: writing and presenting treatments, outlines and scenes.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>226S</td>
<td>ENGLISH226S - Dramatic Writing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Fundamentals of writing for stage.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENGLISH227S - Writing Movies and Plays: Adaptation

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
227S

Title
Writing Movies and Plays: Adaptation

Description
Theory and practice of the process of adaptation of serious literary works of fiction to screenplay or play form. Reading and analysis of literary works adapted as screenplays and plays. Project in writing an adaptation.

ENGLISH228S - Writing the Musical Book

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
228S

Title
Writing the Musical Book

Description
Study and create the dramatic text of musical theater. Course starts with grounding in the basics of text writing by studying outstanding examples of book writing, from Arthur Laurent's Gypsy to Brian Yorkey's Pulitzer-winning Next To Normal. Students write a series of short scenes (5-10 pages) to be read aloud and critiqued in class, with ultimate goal of completing an original or adapted book for a one-act musical (30-60 pages.)

ENGLISH229S - Musical Shakespeare

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
229S

Title
Musical Shakespeare

Description
William Shakespeare exerts a powerful influence, not only on literature and drama, but on the other arts as well. Composers from the Renaissance to present day, have created music expressly for the performance of his plays and sonnets. Our seminar will explore this repertoire by examining masterworks of music in relation to their Shakespearean antecedents.

ENGLISH235 - Shakespeare

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
235

Title
Shakespeare

Description
Introduction to the major works of Shakespeare. Exploration of the author's central themes and contexts, with particular focus on Shakespeare's exploration of love as a mode of ethical inquiry and moral philosophy. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH236S - Shakespeare's Nature

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
236S

Title
Shakespeare's Nature

Description
This class explores conflicting and competing ideas about nature in Shakespeare's plays. We examine creatureliness, human and non-human, in relation to ideas of the natural and the supernatural.

ENGLISH237 - America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number 237

Title
America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema

Description
This course explores the portrayals of America, especially the United States, from authors and directors who are not American and who often have never even seen America. We will read short stories, novels, and graphic novels and watch films. What do these works from other parts of the world have to say about dreams, race, love, immigration, and space in America? We will discuss imaginary Americas in order to understand these important works within their contexts, to examine how foreign representations of America have contributed to our idea of America, and to consider what imagined Americas suggest about us here in North Carolina.
ENGLISH243S - Literatures and Films of Pandemic

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
243S

Title
Literatures and Films of Pandemic

Description
This course explores past pandemics as a way to think about how to best live through COVID-19 and prevent or minimize future pandemics. Through examining literature and film, we will analyze the psychosocial dimensions of pandemic. We will read a variety of texts including: histories, fiction (Bulgakov, Porter, Tolstoy, Colson Whitehead); short essays; and films (e.g., Contagion, Outbreak). How do science, medicine, and society interact in a time of pandemic? How do pandemics reveal social inequities, and how could we use this knowledge to decrease disparities? And why do people turn to the humanities and arts in times of pandemic?

ENGLISH244 - Modern European Short Fiction

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number 244

Title
Modern European Short Fiction

Description
Comprehensive examination of several important works of modern European short fiction by authors such as Kafka, Woolf, Svevo, Sartre, Joyce, Proust, Mann, Schnitzler, Gogol, and Calvino. While stories will be contextualized historically, culturally, and geographically, course is organized into thematic units, including animals, home, punishment, and love, to facilitate comparative analysis. Students engage critically with concepts such as identity, trauma, genre, and narrative form.

ENGLISH245 - English Literature of the Romantic Period

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
245

Title
English Literature of the Romantic Period

Description
Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, Keats. Satisfies Area II requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH246 - Jane Austen

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number
246

Title
Jane Austen

Description
This course traces the development of Jane Austen's writing and ideas through her six major novels.

ENGLISH247 - Victorian Literature

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number 247

Title
Victorian Literature

Description
Major works and genres of Victorian literature by such authors as the Brontes, Dickens, Hardy, Tennyson, Carlyle, Browning, Arnold, and Ruskin. Satisfies Area II requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH251 - British Literature: 1900 to 1945

Subject
ENGLISH

Catalog Number 251

Title
British Literature: 1900 to 1945

Description
Major genres and works by such authors as Yeats, Conrad, Shaw, Joyce, Lawrence, Woolf, Eliot, Auden, among others. Satisfies Area III requirement for English majors.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>254</td>
<td>From History to Fantasy: Medieval Religions in Film &amp; Fiction</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores the intersection of modern popular culture and medieval religious culture. Deep dive into how modern creators of mass entertainment use common notions of medieval faith, power, race, sexualities and violence to capture and hold our interest, teach us lessons about ourselves, and sell products. How do our ideas of faith, sexuality, race and power inspire or constrain the fiction we create about the past? What impact does this have on consumers? Monks, nuns, knights, crusades, secret societies, suffragists, alt-right, plague. Modern novels, commentaries, history, medieval texts, neurobiology, TV, films, ads, games, memes, clubs. Read, discuss, write, research.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>258</td>
<td>Religion and the Novel in Modern India</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Indian writing in English, especially the novel, provides a unique understanding of religion in the world's largest democracy. The novel has come of age in India, seen innovations and has influenced world literature. Indian and Indian-origin novelists have been Booker and Pulitzer winners, Commonwealth awardees, and Sahitya Akademi laureates. Course will examine how the Indian novel in English understands and mediates tradition and modernity, selfhood and society in a deeply diverse culture. Includes novels written during the twilight of British colonial rule, the Partition, and contemporary decades of rapid globalization and diasporic change.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>269</td>
<td>Classics of American Literature, 1820-1860</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Prose and poetry by such authors as Emerson, Thoreau, Hawthorne, Poe, Melville, and Whitman. Satisfies the Area II requirement for English majors.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>269S</td>
<td>Classics of American Literature, 1820-1860</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
What makes a 'classic' of American literature? Why do a handful of texts endure while others have fallen by the wayside? By reading a variety of well-known texts from early American literature, we pose-and attempt to answer-these questions. Supplemental readings illuminate pivotal political debates, social movements, gender struggles, and ethnic clashes from 1820 to 1860. Texts include Nathaniel Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter, Walt Whitman's Leaves of Grass, and Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin, as well as works by Dickinson, Melville, Douglass, and Poe. Films will include Sleepy Hollow (1999) and 12 Years a Slave (2013).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>270</td>
<td>Classics of American Literature, 1860 to 1915</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Prose and poetry by such authors as Cather, Chesnutt, Chopin, Crane, Dickinson, DuBois, Freeman, Gilman, James, Jewett, Twain, Washington, Wharton. Satisfies Area II requirement for English majors.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>271</td>
<td>Classics of American Literature, 1915 to 1960</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Prose and poetry by such authors as Elliot, Fitzgerald, Hemingway, Faulkner, and others. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>273AS</td>
<td>Duke in London: Arts</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This course surveys London as a site of dynamic cultural production, whose participation in the global marketplace of artistic commodities reveals the city's restlessly transnational, cosmopolitan character. Studying local institutions, students are introduced to the complex relationship among art, state, and the global cultural marketplace; studying a multiracial and multiethnic community, they become familiar with theories of globalization, neoliberalism, and cosmopolitanism, as well as migration and so-called national identity. Students also participate in excursions including dance, opera, and theatre productions and visits to museums and other sites of cultural importance.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>274</td>
<td>The Dramatic Monster: Horror on Stage and Screen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>The evolving image of the 'monster' on stage and screen, from the Victorian melodrama Sweeney Todd to the psychological-horror shocker Audition. Students will give oral reports (with appropriate clips) on horror movies past and present, beginning with the classic silent Cabinet of Dr. Caligari. Focus on how anxieties of different eras give rise to the different nightmares that play themselves out in the darkness of our theaters.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>275</td>
<td>Introduction to Asian American and Diaspora Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>What does it mean to be Asian American? Asian American Studies is an interdisciplinary field that draws on social sciences, humanities, and the arts to explore the historical and contemporary experiences of Asian Americans in the western hemisphere. This course provides students with an introduction to this dynamic and growing field of study, taking race, gender, immigration, diaspora, class, labor, and sexuality as primary subjects of the field. The course also historicizes Asian American racialization to better understand the structural forces that have shaped Asian American lives and the ways that writers, scholars, and activists have responded to and resisted these forces.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>276</td>
<td>African Diaspora Literature: Twentieth- and Twenty-First-Century Black Writers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Late-nineteenth-century to contemporary writers, including African American, Caribbean, and African authors. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENGLISH 278S - Transformative Ideas: Power, Theater, and Politics

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 278S
Title: Transformative Ideas: Power, Theater, and Politics

Description
What is power? How is it created, transferred, or lost within a polity? What happens when one entity seizes power from another? Must violence always be at the center of that event, or can shared culture animate the accumulation and maintenance of power in a society? This Transformative Ideas seminar examines how insights in political theory and theater studies have addressed these questions. Concepts include ambition; sovereignty; violence and coercion; collectivism, especially nationalism; and rhetoric. Key writers include Aristotle; Plato; Machiavelli; Sophocles; Shakespeare; Weber; Arendt; Douglass; Soyinka; Alfred Jarry; Caryl Churchill; June Jordan, and Lynn Nottage.

ENGLISH 279S - Docu-Poetry: Real Life Truths Outside and Inside the Poetic Narrative

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 279S
Title: Docu-Poetry: Real Life Truths Outside and Inside the Poetic Narrative

Description
Investigates written and oral poetry as a mode of documentary storytelling. Engage with contemporary and historical poetry examining real-life, historical events. Investigate relationship between history, documentary, and poetry. Write poems based on research with multiple forms of archival source material and critical interpretation thereof.

ENGLISH 282S - Modernism and the Arts

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 282S
Title: Modernism and the Arts

Description
This course places international modernism in an intermedial perspective, presenting it as a broad conversation among international artists across various art forms. In addition to reading major literary works by writers such as Baudelaire, Mallarmé, Joyce, Eliot, Kafka, Woolf, Wat, Babej, Rilke, Anand, Césaire, Lu Hsun, students will enhance their understanding of modernism through exposure to other art forms, such as painting (Matisse, Picasso, Marc, Kandinsky, Chagall, Schoenberg), sculpture (Rodin, Brancusi, Giacometti), music (Schumann, Débussy, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Berg, Gershwin), and film (Buñuel, Dali, Eisenstein, Vertov, Carné, Godard, Ruttmann, Cavalcanti, Vigo).

ENGLISH 284S - Book Publishing & Marketing: A Case Study of the Romance Fiction Industry

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 284S
Title: Book Publishing & Marketing: A Case Study of the Romance Fiction Industry

Description
A case study of the US romance fiction industry and its global reach. The romance novel is the most popular form of fiction in the world. Its industry is powered by women, produces a product consumed by women, and exports to global audiences. Includes: its history, role in popular American culture, and rise to dominate the fiction market; how creative projects become commercial products; dramatic shifts in the book industry over three centuries, including the ebook- and self-publishing revolutions; how notions of gender and sexuality have shaped the aggressive and ingenious marketing of romance fiction from its origins; representations of race in romance fiction.
ENGLISH285S - Existentialism

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 285
Title: Existentialism

Description
Existentialism in philosophy and literature. Key themes will be existence, ethics, meaning of life, freedom, death, and writing. Texts may include writings by Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Heidegger, Sartre, Camus, Beauvoir, Fanon, Murdoch and others.

ENGLISH286 - The Legend of King Arthur in Literature and Film

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 286
Title: The Legend of King Arthur in Literature and Film

Description
The legend of the 'Once and Future King,' Arthur of Camelot, has fascinated poets, artists, writers, and filmmakers. Students will read and view different versions of the Arthur legend, from the earliest surviving sixth-century witness to the legend to modern films. Focusing on the themes of leadership, gender, and love, students will explore how each work understands Arthur and his milieu and the implications of each vision for the political and cultural world in which it originates. Taught in English. No prerequisites.

ENGLISH287 - Romantic Fairy Tales: Literary and Folk Fairy Tales from Grimms to Disney

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 287
Title: Romantic Fairy Tales: Literary and Folk Fairy Tales from Grimms to Disney

Description
German fairy tales of the Romantic era, including both the 'literary fairy tales' by known authors and the 'folk fairy tales' commonly deemed children's literature. Comparisons to other fairy tale traditions, notably by Perrault and Basile, providing a broader context and perspective. Comparison to the Disney contributions elucidating our own preconceptions and prejudices. Special attention to the literary, feminist, and historical elements of the fairy tale genre. Taught in English.

ENGLISH288 - American Dreams, American Movies

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 288
Title: American Dreams, American Movies

Description
A course in selected American films that create as well as reflect American identity from the beginnings of Hollywood moviemaking in the Studio System through the beginnings of Indie spirit. Nine to twelve best-loved movies, such as Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Casablanca, Rear Window, Singin' in the Rain, and Dr. Strangelove by directors like Frank Capra, John Ford, Alfred Hitchcock, and Stanley Kubrick. The course pays attention to American cultural history, the development of the movie industry, the idea of the director as auteur, narrative form in film, and some fundamentals of film analysis. Assignments are both written and creative experiments in filmmaking, as suits class interests.
ENGLISH289 - America Dreams American Movies II: Independents Through Streaming

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 289
Title: America Dreams American Movies II: Independents Through Streaming

Description:
This course studies contemporary American movies as they create and reflect America’s self-image from the rise of independents through the innovations of the 21st century, including digital video, streaming, and the rise of high-quality TV productions. Approaches include U.S. cultural history, industry developments, and technical analysis. Directors such as Kubrick, Coppola, Spielberg, Tarantino, Lee, Moore, Cameron, Campion, Jenkins, Bigelow, Peele, Du Vernay, and others up to today. At least two weeks of the semester will be devoted to TV, such as Game of Thrones, The Americans, or Watchmen. Like the film and TV industries themselves, assignments encourage creativity and collaboration.

ENGLISH290-7 - Special Topics in Language and Literature

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 290-7
Title: Special Topics in Language and Literature

Description:
Area requirements for majors to be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies in English.

ENGLISH290AS-1 - Topics in Renaissance British Literature

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 290AS-1
Title: Topics in Renaissance British Literature

Description:
(Taught in the Oxford Summer Program). Satisfies Area I for English majors.

ENGLISH290AS-2 - Topics in Nineteenth-Century British Literature

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 290AS-2
Title: Topics in Nineteenth-Century British Literature

Description:
Taught in the Oxford Summer Program. Satisfies the Area II or III requirement for English major. To be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies in English.

ENGLISH290S - Special Topics in Language and Literature

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Language and Literature

Description:
Topics vary each semester.

ENGLISH290S-1 - Special Topics in Medieval and Early Modern Literature

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 290S-1
Title: Special Topics in Medieval and Early Modern Literature

Description:
A major author, topic, or theme of the medieval and early modern period (excluding Chaucer). Satisfies the Area I requirement for English majors. Topics vary each semester.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH290S-2</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>290S-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century Lit</td>
<td>A major author, topic, or theme of eighteenth and nineteenth century literature. Satisfies the Area II requirements for English majors. Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH290S-3</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>290S-3</td>
<td>Special Topics in English Literature: Modern and Contemporary</td>
<td>A major author, topic, or theme of modern and contemporary literature. Satisfies Area III for the English major. Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH290S-4</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>290S-4</td>
<td>Special Topics in Creative Writing</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH299</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>299</td>
<td>Hip Hop and Religion</td>
<td>For many people, hip-hop and religion are incompatible. Hip-hop seems to be defined by materialism, arrogance, violence, misogyny, and a general rejection of sacred ideals and values. In this course, we will challenge these assumptions by exploring the intersections between hip hop and religion, while questioning what these terms mean and signify. We will examine aspects of hip-hop (rap lyrics, video images, cultural rituals, films) that explicitly or implicitly express religious commitments and sensibilities.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH301S</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>301S</td>
<td>Imagining Human Rights: Science Fiction, Culture, and the Creation of Rights</td>
<td>This course engages students in the intersection of speculative fiction and the history of ideas about human rights and what it means to be human. Using interdisciplinary tools, including history, anthropology, and public policy, students will explore created worlds and new ways of thinking about what rights humans—and other beings—have, how those rights are proposed, and what happens when those rights are contested. The course focuses on how the imaginary influences or presages the real, allowing us to experiment with what-ifs. Students will work in Duke's Locus Archives of primary documents on 20th-century science fiction spanning writers from China, the USSR, and Japan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH310A</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>310A</td>
<td>The Business of Art and Media</td>
<td>Duke in New York. The changes experienced by print and visual media (book publishing, magazines, newspapers, TV, films, theatre, advertising) in the twenty-first century in how art and business can, and often must, be done and in how they interact with society. Examinations through readings (including selected case histories) and guest speakers of how technology and technological change affect art and society today. Satisfies Area III requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENGLISH312A - The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach

Subject          | Catalog Number | Title                        |
-----------------|----------------|------------------------------|
ENGLISH          | 312A           | The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach |

Description

Duke in New York. Various topics dealing with the arts in New York. Group attendance at, and subsequent seminar discussion of, performances, exhibitions, films, and lectures. Research or critical paper required. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH313 - Internship in New York

Subject          | Catalog Number | Title                        |
-----------------|----------------|------------------------------|
ENGLISH          | 313            | Internship in New York       |

Description

Immersion in the professional art world through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist or organization. Students spend fifteen hours per week at the internship and write a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of the relation of the students’ sponsoring institution to the art form of activity as a whole, the system of production and consumption surrounding that art form or activity, and the sponsor’s organizational framework, operating mechanics, and role in the creation, preservation, or interpretation of the art form or activity. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of instructor required.

ENGLISH313A - Internship in New York

Subject          | Catalog Number | Title                        |
-----------------|----------------|------------------------------|
ENGLISH          | 313A           | Internship in New York       |

Description

Immersion in the professional art world through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist or organization. Students spend fifteen hours per week at the internship and write a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of the relation of the students’ sponsoring institution to the art form of activity as a whole, the system of production and consumption surrounding that art form or activity, and the sponsor’s organizational framework, operating mechanics, and role in the creation, preservation, or interpretation of the art form or activity. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of instructor required.

ENGLISH315SA - New York Scenes

Subject          | Catalog Number | Title                        |
-----------------|----------------|------------------------------|
ENGLISH          | 315SA          | New York Scenes              |

Description

New York Scenes will focus on the various cultural institutions, scenes, establishments, happenings, hang-outs, movements, etc., that make up New York City. Early in the semester, students will select a particular 'scene' to research over the course of the term. For example: Tin Pan Alley (popular music, theater), The Lafayette Theatre (black arts), St. Mark's Church (poetry, punk rock), the Chelsea Hotel (mid-century writers, pop stars and outcasts), La MaMa (experimental theater), the Christopher Street Piers (queer history, lgbqt youth) and Union Square Park (leftist organizing history). Open to students in the Duke in New York program.

ENGLISH316S-1 - Playmaking for Writers: Collaboration from Page to Stage

Subject          | Catalog Number | Title                        |
-----------------|----------------|------------------------------|
ENGLISH          | 316S-1         | Playmaking for Writers: Collaboration from Page to Stage |

Description

Dramatic writing for stage, screen or film, is not meant to be read, like a novel or poem, it's meant to be performed. In this class, student writers explore the 'liveness' of dramatic writing in collaboration with actors and directors. Starting with writing exercises that aim at the core concept of 'dramatic action', students' progress to self-generated works. Semester ends with public presentation of student work as brought to the stage by the companion section for actors and directors. Prerequisite: one previous dramatic writing course in playwriting, TV writing, or screenwriting.
ENGLISH317S - Screenwriting

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 317S
Title: Screenwriting

Description: Advanced writing projects for feature film. Study of existing scripts and videos, application of techniques.

---

ENGLISH318S - Expressing Immigrant Experience: The Russians

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 318S
Title: Expressing Immigrant Experience: The Russians

Description: Some of the world’s greatest artistic works have emerged from the creator’s experience of crossing boundaries—linguistic, geographic, cultural, and social/psychological. This course examines the particular case of Russia’s emigre experience in the English-speaking world as recorded in literature and the other creative arts.

---

ENGLISH319S - Narrative and Moral Crisis

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 319S
Title: Narrative and Moral Crisis

Description: It is often said that literature encourages ethical reflection, and even that it somehow fortifies our disposition to behave in ethical ways. This class will consider a different possibility, that literature, or narrative more generally, often represents or provokes circumstances of extreme moral uncertainty. Such uncertainty, sometimes focused in a moment of decision and sometimes arising from a clash of perspectives, can gather around characters, narrators, authors, and even readers. We will be focusing on a few works of literary and cinematic art, ranging from the Book of Genesis to Ian McEwan’s Atonement, in which moral issues emerge with particular urgency and complexity.

---

ENGLISH320S - Intermediate Workshop in the Writing of Poetry

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 320S
Title: Intermediate Workshop in the Writing of Poetry

Description: Intermediate workshops present a higher creative standard than introductory workshops and increased expectations in both quantity and quality of revised, finished work. Prerequisite: English 110S or English 220S, or consent of the instructor if prior work merits admission to the class (as judged by the instructor).

---

ENGLISH321S - Intermediate Workshop in the Writing of Fiction

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 321S
Title: Intermediate Workshop in the Writing of Fiction

Description: Intermediate workshops present a higher creative standard than introductory workshops and increased expectations in both quantity and quality of revised, finished work. Prerequisite: English 110S OR English 221S, or consent of the instructor if prior work merits admission to the class (as judged by the instructor).

---

ENGLISH322S - Intermediate Workshop in the Writing of Creative Non-Fiction

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 322S
Title: Intermediate Workshop in the Writing of Creative Non-Fiction

Description: Intermediate workshops present a higher creative standard than introductory workshops and increased expectations in both quantity and quality of revised, finished work. Prerequisite: English 110S OR English 222S, or consent of the instructor if prior work merits admission to the class (as judged by the instructor).
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>325S</td>
<td>Literacy Translation: History, Theory, and Practice</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A study of the theory and practice of translation from antiquity to the present, with a focus on religious, literary, and philosophical texts and the distinctive challenges involved in rendering such works into a different language. Topics include analysis of historically-significant translations, a survey of the history and theory of translation as a practice, a close study of the ethics of translation, and a workshop in which students will prepare, revise, and analyze their own translations. Prerequisite: Three semesters of language.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>The Seven Deadly Sins: Representing Vice and Virtue in Christian Tradition</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course will trace the motif of the seven deadly sins in Western tradition, exploring two methods of understanding human psychology and behavior: the philosophical school of virtue ethics, which provides an account of how our actions and habits shape our characters and identities, and the artistic technique of allegory, which externalizes our inner life in vivid, sometimes shocking images, characters, and stories. Readings are drawn from philosophy (Aristotle, Aquinas), literature (Dante, Chaucer, Spenser), art (Giotto, Bosch), and present-day popular culture. Course assignments include both analytical essays and creative projects.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>331S</td>
<td>Late Medieval Literature and Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores a range of medieval writings together with the culture in which they are made. Inquiries involve the close reading of medieval texts to learn about medieval Christianity, ethics, politics and theology in the culture. Considers questions concerning relations between the medieval world and our own.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>Chaucer I</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The first two-thirds of his career, especially Troilus and Criseyde. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>333</td>
<td>Chaucer II</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The Canterbury Tales. Satisfies the Area I requirement for English majors.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>336</td>
<td>Shakespeare through 1600</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examination of twelve plays by Shakespeare written before 1600. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.
ENGLISH337 - Shakespeare After 1600
Subject ENGLISH
Catalog Number 337
Title Shakespeare After 1600
Description Examination of ten plays by Shakespeare written after 1600. Not open to students who have taken Theater Studies 239A. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH338S - Milton
Subject ENGLISH
Catalog Number 338S
Title Milton
Description Poetry and its literary and social background. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH344 - Eighteenth-Century British Novel
Subject ENGLISH
Catalog Number 344
Title Eighteenth-Century British Novel
Description Novels by such authors as Defoe, Richardson, Fielding, Smollett, and Sterne, Walpole, and Austen. Satisfies Area II requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH345 - Nineteenth-Century British Novel
Subject ENGLISH
Catalog Number 345
Title Nineteenth-Century British Novel
Description Novels by such authors as Scott, Austen, Dickens, Thackeray, Trollope, the Bronte's, George Eliot, Meredith, Collins, Hardy, and others. Satisfies Area II requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH346 - Victorian Poetry
Subject ENGLISH
Catalog Number 346
Title Victorian Poetry
Description Works by such poets as Tennyson, Browning, Barrett, Browning, Arnold, the Rossettis, Swinburn, Morris, and others. Satisfies Area II requirement for English majors.

ENGLISH352S - Asian American Literature
Subject ENGLISH
Catalog Number 352S
Title Asian American Literature
Description The course examines major works of Asian American literature from the nineteenth century to the present. It surveys how Asian American authors of novels, short stories, and poetry have negotiated the historical forces that have shaped Asian American experiences over the past century.
ENGLISH353S - Black Feminism and Fashion

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 353S
Title: Black Feminism and Fashion

Description:
Black feminist perspectives on clothing and fashion. Explores traditions in which Black artists and writers make clothing a primary theme. Presenting photographic, painted, and literary portrayals by and of Black people across the diaspora, and bringing together the study of visual culture, material culture, and literary studies, reveals fashion and clothing as aesthetic practices of everyday life that defy the objectifying effects of racism and sexism. Engages with scholarship that explores slavery's and colonialism's impact on gender and sexuality and examines how artists and writers work within and against those impacts to document the self-fashioning in Black cultural life.

ENGLISH354S - Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminisms

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 354S
Title: Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminisms

Description:
The term 'pícara' or 'rogue outlaw' was designed to regulate and criminalize the bodies of women transgressing boundaries. This course uses the term to delve into the heroic histories of some of the most prominent women voices across the Global South and the various ways they challenge normalized and heteronormative structures of society. From a Cuban slave revolt leader, or the 17th century colonial 'Memoire of Basque Transvestite in the New World,' to the seminal Borderlands=La Frontera, prominent African Feminist theorists, and pop culture film Real Women Have Curves, we will read and engage in some of the most daring accounts of women power throughout the ages.

ENGLISH360S - The Environment in Literature, Law, and Science

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 360S
Title: The Environment in Literature, Law, and Science

Description:
This class explores changing concepts of 'environment' and 'nature' in lit, law & policy, & science. Using the Duke Campus Farm, the campus, & surrounding areas, we trace those changes across historical periods and cultures, culminating in a consideration of the dismantling of Black Durham (red lining, 147) & the emergence of the Environmental Justice Movement (in Warren County, NC). We explore how those concepts are constructed through science, law & policy, & cultural forms, how those concepts shape our lived experience, & how an understanding of that process might lead to more productive debates in science, law & policy, & ethics, and to constructive social and environmental change.

ENGLISH362D - What Is Beauty?

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 362D
Title: What Is Beauty?

Description:
Exploration of Western theories of beauty from Plato to the present. What do we mean when we call something beautiful? Does beauty belong to an object or an observer's mind? Is art or nature the best example of beauty? The class also examines the intertwining of modern theories of beauty with theories of race; analyzes the gender and power dynamics of theories of beauty; and asks about the relationship of aesthetics to society, politics, and biology. Readings include authors such as Plato, Burke, G.E. Lessing, Kant, Schiller, Charles Darwin, George Eliot, Nietzsche, W.E.B. DuBois, Arthur Danto, Elaine Scarry, Alice Walker, and Semir Zeki. Taught in English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>364S</td>
<td>Modern American Drama</td>
<td>While the playwright names—Eugene O'Neill, Tennessee Williams, Edward Albee—may be familiar, do American playgoers know how weird these artists' works can be? This survey course tracks some of twentieth-century's most recognizable dramas, focusing on the theatre's potential for formal innovation as well as social commentary. Plays include Williams's 'A Streetcar Named Desire', Arthur Miller's 'Death of a Salesman', Anna Deavere-Smith's 'Twilight Los Angeles, 1992', Tony Kushner's 'Angels in America', and Annie Baker's 'The Flick'. Evaluation will be based on online response posts, two formal essays, one oral presentation, and class participation. No prerequisites necessary.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>365S</td>
<td>Modern Drama: 1940-2000</td>
<td>In this course, we analyze key texts from the history of modern dramatic literature starting in 1940 and proceeding to the end of the twentieth century. Starting with the 'non-Aristotelian' drama of Bertolt Brecht, we trace the rapid evolution of dramatic forms that characterized playwriting in Europe, England, and then the United States. We will analyze not only the scripts but also various productions of each of these significant plays by significant playwrights, ranging from Bertolt Brecht and Samuel Beckett to Tony Kushner and Sarah Kane.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>372S</td>
<td>Modern American Poetry</td>
<td>Focus on twentieth-century American poets; developments in style, subject, voice, diversity of representation, and impact of critical methodologies on shaping American poetic literature. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>373</td>
<td>American Literature, Cold War and After</td>
<td>American authors, topics and themes of the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. Satisfies Area III requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>373S</td>
<td>Studies in American Literature, Cold War and After</td>
<td>This is a seminar version of English 373.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>375S</td>
<td>Contemporary American Drama</td>
<td>How does an artform like dramatic literature theorize concepts like 'contemporary' or 'American'? This course studies contemporary drama to explore how we might understand our current moment beyond chronology and Americaness beyond national distinctiveness. For instance, did the 'contemporary' begin with 9/11, the Great Recession, or our current political upheavals? Does 'American' signify a set of affects, histories, and discourses that are shared by some but not others? To pursue these and other queries, we will read works by Lynn Nottage, Ayad Akytar, Sarah Ruhl, Matthew Lopez, among others. We plan for at least one trip to see performances in New York City, conditions permitting.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>376S</td>
<td>The Detective Novel</td>
<td>What is a detective novel, and how does it 'work'? By looking at synchronic and diachronic transformations of the genre—from British Sherlock Holmes to the South African 'noir-fantastic'—the course investigates the structure of literary genres and their adaptability to different social, cultural, and civilizational contexts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>377</td>
<td>Contemporary Novel</td>
<td>Major trends in fiction since 1950: modernism/postmodernism, ethnicity and ethnic identity, feminism, postcoloniality, genre-bending, and more. Readings from the United States and from Great Britain, India, Canada, South Africa, and the Caribbean. Satisfies Area III for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>378S</td>
<td>Popular Arts and Culture in Africa</td>
<td>This course explores the popular arts and cultural production in Africa across a range of media. It will explore the links and relationships between popular culture and fiction, popular literatures, be they in magazines or pamphlets, consumption, gender, and desire in the popular imagination, as well as popular sonic and visual cultures in Africa.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENGLISH379S - Fictions That Mark the Moment

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 379S
Title: Fictions That Mark the Moment

Description:
Course is an engagement with novels from spectacular moments of history, an imagination of the future, a response to narrative conventions of realism and thinking with and against the grain of social understandings. Look at examples of historical, speculative, postcolonial, experimental, science, magical realist fictions and theoretical work. Will consider the means by which narratives produce or rely on ethical beliefs and arguments within the specifics of their world-making as well as the ethical problems presented by relations of power within the particular histories of the texts' various moments.

ENGLISH380 - Popular Representations of Black Masculinity

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 380
Title: Popular Representations of Black Masculinity

Description:
The course will examine the production and circulation of representations of 'Black Masculinity' in post-19th century American culture, within popular realms of expression including film, visual culture, music videos, advertising, popular music, television, drama and stage, literature, and dance/performance. The course will also explore the ways stereotypical images of Black masculinity have impacted public policy perceptions of African Americans and the ways that Black cultural producers have used Black masculinity as sites to stage alternative perceptions of Black humanity.

ENGLISH380S - James Baldwin and Toni Morrison

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 380S
Title: James Baldwin and Toni Morrison

Description:
This course will examine the novels and essays of James Baldwin and Toni Morrison, focusing on a range of topics: blackness, gender, sexuality, the relationship between race, religion, and nation, and the relationship between anguish and hope. While considering the differences between these authors, we will explore how Baldwin and Morrison converge on a set of ethical and existential themes and concerns. In particular, the course will focus on a shared 'ethics of haunting,' a sense that a better future relies on our capacity to remember, mourn, and be unsettled by forms of racial and gendered violence that mark the past and present.

ENGLISH381 - The History of Hip-Hop

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 381
Title: The History of Hip-Hop

Description:
What began as a localized activity designed to provide a safe haven for Black and Latino youth in New York City, has become a global brand that has had a documented impact on the cultural, political and economic realities of youth throughout the globe. This course will examine the organic social and cultural foundations of hip-hop, as well as the key aesthetic innovators/innovations, and the debates that have arisen over hip-hop's increased influence.
ENGLISH382S - Mapping Jewish Modernism

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 382S
Title: Mapping Jewish Modernism

Description: Students research Jewish modernism through questions of geography and movement, pointing to the many places where modern Jewish art has been created and the experiences of migration, exile, diaspora, and resettlement that shaped this work. We discuss the varieties of ways that different art forms, including literature, theater, music, art, film, architecture, and dance, can be mapped. We analyze mapping in terms of the movements of people (artists, authors, and directors), of objects (paintings, literature, performances, and films), and within the works themselves. Work with the Rubenstein Library will lead to projects that contribute to an exhibit in Perkins Library and a digital site.

ENGLISH383AS - Theater in London: Text

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 383AS
Title: Theater in London: Text

Description: Drama in performance from the Greeks to the present based on performances offered by the Royal Shakespeare Company, Royal National Theatre, and other theaters in London. Twenty plays will be seen and studied. Satisfies Area I, II, or III requirement for English majors, as determined by instructor. (London summer program.)

ENGLISH384AS - Theater in London: Performance (DS4)

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 384AS
Title: Theater in London: Performance (DS4)

Description: The stages of realization of a play or musical from the script to the production, focusing on productions in London. Aspects of theatrical performance through scene work, discussions, and workshops with British theater practitioners, observation of theater at work, and supervised projects. (London summer program.)

ENGLISH385S - Fiction/Reality/Autofiction: The Existential Turn in Contemporary Literature

Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 385S
Title: Fiction/Reality/Autofiction: The Existential Turn in Contemporary Literature

Description: Inspired by Marcel Proust and W. G. Sebald, and working alongside Annie Ernaux, contemporary writers such as Karl Ove Knausgård, Rachel Cusk, Jenny Offill, and Teju Cole undermine traditional divides between fiction, memoir, and essay-writing, and challenge our understanding of what a novel is. Some critics have named this new trend 'autofiction.' Is that a good label? Does the new 'reality hunger' entail new ideas about subjectivity and identity? How does it relate to realism, and modernism. What is 'existential' about it? We will read contemporary literature from different countries alongside theories of language and reality, realism, modernism, the novel, and reading.
ENGLISH386 - Science Fiction Film
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 386
Title: Science Fiction Film
Description:
Science fiction film from the 1950s to the present. From talking apes to mind control, forbidden planets to genetic dystopias, alien invasions to travel in time and space, an exploration of classic films in the genre with attention to how the films imagine the relationships among science, politics, and society over time. Attention to visual as well as literary story telling.

ENGLISH386S - Science Fiction Film
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 386S
Title: Science Fiction Film
Description:
This class will study science fiction film from 1950 to the present. Discussions will be organized around the relationship between scientific and technological innovation and social and geopolitical transformation: how, for example, the threats of nuclear war and the exhaustion of environmental resources, discoveries in virology and genetics, and the innovations in cybernetics and artificial intelligence all intersect with decolonization and global development, race relations, and new social and geopolitical configurations. We will explore how science fiction film registers and responds to the uncertainties of a changing world: to changing conceptions of the human and of life.

ENGLISH387S - Asian American Theater
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 387S
Title: Asian American Theater
Description:
Asian American theater and performance traditions, including major dramatic texts and canon formation. Critical framework for discussing race, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality.

ENGLISH389S - American Independent Cinema
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 389S
Title: American Independent Cinema
Description:
Examination of the emergence, establishment, and transformations of American indie film. Addresses main genres, key films and prominent directors by looking at the aesthetic characteristics of indie films, as well as the social and institutional contexts (primarily its relationship to Hollywood cinema) that led to the creation and important impact of this filmmaking practice. Topics include Midnight Movies of the 70s, New American Cinema, Trash Cinema, Art Cinema, Black Indie Cinema, New Queer Cinema, Generation X, Smart Cinema, Neo Noir, and the Pulp Fiction success story.

ENGLISH390-1 - Special Topics: Single American Author
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 390-1
Title: Special Topics: Single American Author
Description:
Area requirements for the English major (Area I, II, or III) to be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.

ENGLISH390-2 - Special Topics in a Single British Author
Subject: ENGLISH
Catalog Number: 390-2
Title: Special Topics in a Single British Author
Description:
Studies in a single British author. Area requirements for English majors (Area I, II, or III) will be determined by the Dir. of Undergraduate when taught.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH390-5</td>
<td>Special Topics in Genre</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>390-5</td>
<td>Area 1, 2, 3, or elective, to be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH390-6</td>
<td>Special Topics in Film</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>390-6</td>
<td>A lecture version of 390S-6. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH390A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in English</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Topics differ by section.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH390S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in a Single American Author</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>390S-1</td>
<td>Seminar version of 390-1. Area requirements (Area I, II, or III) for English majors will be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH390S-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in a Single British Author</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>390S-2</td>
<td>Studies in a single British author. Area requirements for English majors (Areas I, II, or III) determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH390S-6</td>
<td>Special Topics in Film</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>390S-6</td>
<td>A major genre, period, or director. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH390S-7</td>
<td>Special Topics in Language and Literature</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>390S-7</td>
<td>Area requirements for majors to be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH391A</td>
<td>Duke in New York Arts and Media Independent Study</td>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>391A</td>
<td>Individual non-research directed study on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a Duke faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation. Open only to students in the Duke in New York Arts and Media Program. Consent of Instructor required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENGLISH392S - Autobiographical Writing: The Power and the Pitfalls of “Me”

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
ENGLISH  392S  Autobiographical Writing: The Power and the Pitfalls of “Me”

Description
This course explores autobiographical writing, primarily through students’ writing and workshop of essays, opinion pieces and snippets of memoir that the instructor and class discuss and critique, but also through reading a diverse group of past and current practitioners. While students will be able to steer their own efforts toward the manner of first-person writing in which they have the most interest, they will be expected to engage in study and execution of standard forms, such as the opinion column. Students will benefit from instructor’s experience writing memoirs and first-person opinion columns. Prerequisites: Policy Journalism and Media Studies 364S, 366S, or 367S.

ENGLISH395 - Language and Society

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
ENGLISH  395  Language and Society

Description
Course examines language as a social practice, focusing on different aspects of its role in social life. Topics addressed include: language and social identity, such as ethnicity, social class, age, and gender; variation in language, including dialects, accents, and registers; multilingualism and language contact; new languages such as pidgins and creoles; language, culture, and intercultural communication; language and ideology; language in education and in the media. Through the discussion of these topics and homework including reading and small research projects, students are introduced to key concepts, theories, and methods in sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology.

ENGLISH396S - Language in Immigrant America

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
ENGLISH  396S  Language in Immigrant America

Description
Discussion of issues of language in the context of immigration in the United States, from the turn of the 20th century until the present, combining approaches from literature, memoirs, language policy, media studies, and linguistic anthropology. Some fieldwork in an immigrant community. Topics include: identity, assimilation, race, bilingual communities, bilingual education, foreign accents, language contact.

ENGLISH397S - Narratives of Migration

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
ENGLISH  397S  Narratives of Migration

Description
Stories of migration captivate us because they touch on universally important themes: home, family, belonging, identity, pain, loss. In this course, we will explore narratives, or stories, of migration, as told by refugees and immigrants from across the world, through different media: written, spoken, photographed, and constructed digitally on social media. This course approaches narratives of migration primarily from the perspective of sociocultural linguistics and discourse analysis, but we will refer to other scholarly traditions as well. This is a Service-Learning course: students will engage in a mentoring relationship with an immigrant student in a Durham high school.
ENGLISH398 - Digital Media Internship

Subject  ENGLISH
Catalog Number  398
Title  Digital Media Internship

Description
Experience producing digital content for departmental use. Editor-peer mentorship introduces journalistic practices in writing and photography. Writing intensive. Consent of instructor is required.

---

ENGLISH409D - Black (In) Translation

Subject  ENGLISH
Catalog Number  409D
Title  Black (In) Translation

Description
Examines the meanings of Blackness as it moves through the Atlantic world from 18th century to present. Readings explore theories of race and representation, and ways that translation conveys, shapes, and disrupts ideas about Blackness as cultural identity, lived experience, political claim. Course materials include works of literature, history, anthropology, and film. Taught in English, though, students enrolled under foreign language discussion sections will do reading, writing, research, and discussion in the language, requiring 2 years of foreign language study for language credit for the major or minor.

---

ENGLISH420S - Advanced Workshop in the Writing of Poetry

Subject  ENGLISH
Catalog Number  420S
Title  Advanced Workshop in the Writing of Poetry

Description
Advanced Writing Workshops build on the work done at the intermediate level, and are intended for the most well-prepared and gifted creative writing students. Prerequisite: English 320S or consent of the instructor if prior work merits admission to the class (as judged by the instructor).

---

ENGLISH421S - Advanced Workshop in the Writing of Fiction

Subject  ENGLISH
Catalog Number  421S
Title  Advanced Workshop in the Writing of Fiction

Description
Advanced Writing Workshops build on work done at intermediate level, and are intended for the most well-prepared and gifted creative writing students. Prerequisite: English 321S or consent of the instructor if prior work merits admission to the class (as judged by the instructor).

---

ENGLISH422S - Advanced Writing for Stage and Screen

Subject  ENGLISH
Catalog Number  422S
Title  Advanced Writing for Stage and Screen

Description
‘Advanced Writing for Stage and Screen’ will look at the strengths of three dramatic art-forms - playwriting, screen and TV writing - and the particular challenge they share: the concept of ‘dramatic action’ which provides the ‘motor’ for a dramatic work. Initial writing exercises will explore these dramatic-writing forms, in conjunction with the study of representative plays, films and TV series. Final projects - a play, screenplay or TV pilot - will be discussed and critiqued in class as they progress, prior to a final rewrite. Prerequisite for this course is one previous dramatic writing course - either playwriting or screenwriting.

---

ENGLISH460S - Weil, Beauvoir, Murdoch: Three Women Philosophers in Mid-Twentieth Century Europe

Subject  ENGLISH
Catalog Number  460S
Title  Weil, Beauvoir, Murdoch: Three Women Philosophers in Mid-Twentieth Century Europe

Description
Simone Weil (1909-44), Simone de Beauvoir (1908-86), and Iris Murdoch (1919-99) are towering figures in the history of European philosophy. Yet they have all, in different ways, become somewhat marginal to the philosophical mainstream. All three wrote on ethics. Weil wrote on labor, society, affliction, and grace. Beauvoir wrote novels, memoirs, and The Second Sex, a groundbreaking feminist analysis of women’s situation. Inspired by Weil, Murdoch wrote about attention and the good and became one of the UK’s leading novelists. The course will introduce students to their writing across genres, and situate their work about their respective national traditions.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>480S</td>
<td>ENGLISH480S - Understanding Mediation</td>
<td>Examines experience as always mediated. How does text mediate expression, or language mediate subjectivity? How do images mediate power, or sounds mediate resistance? How does computation mediate agency, or networks mediate thought? But also, how do nations mediate globalization, or oil mediate energy? And how do bodies mediate liveness, or the environment mediate history? Moves from particular media forms and examples (language, literature, the fine and performing arts, audiovisual media, computational media) to focus on key theoretical concepts and debates of critical theory from twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Crosses national boundaries to understand mediation from global perspective.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>482S</td>
<td>ENGLISH482S - Studies in Contemporary Theory</td>
<td>Topics included: psychoanalysis, Marxism, Structuralism, Post-Structuralism, theory of film and the image; theory of race, gender, sexuality, with a concentration on materials since 1950. Satisfies the criticism, theory, methodology (CTM) for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490</td>
<td>ENGLISH490 - Special Topics in Language and Literature</td>
<td>Area requirements (Area I, II, III) to be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490-1</td>
<td>ENGLISH490-1 - Current Topics in Linguistics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490-7</td>
<td>ENGLISH490-7 - Special Topics in Literature and the Other Arts</td>
<td>Selected topics in the study of the interrelation of literature and other art forms. Area requirements (Area I, II, III) for English majors will be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>ENGLISH490S - Special Topics in Language and Literature</td>
<td>Topics may change each semester. Area requirements (Area I, II, III) will be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Linguistics</td>
<td>Satisfies the Criticism, Theory, or Methodology (CTM) for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490S-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in African American Literary Studies</td>
<td>Topics may change each semester. Satisfies Area II or III requirement for English majors. To be determined by the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490S-10</td>
<td>Special Topics in Criticism, Theory, or Methodology</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>490T</td>
<td>Tutorial (Area I, II, or III as determined by instructor)</td>
<td>Tutorials under the supervision of a faculty member for two or more students working on related independent projects. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>491</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual non-research creative writing project directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Open to juniors and seniors. Consent of both the instructor and the director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to juniors and seniors. Consent of both the instructor and the director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>495</td>
<td>Distinction Creative Writing Independent Study</td>
<td>Open to those whose thesis will be in the field of creative writing. Application and consent of the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>496</td>
<td>Distinction Creative Writing Independent Study</td>
<td>Open to those whose thesis will be in the field of creative writing. Application and consent of the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>497</td>
<td>Distinction Critical Research Independent Study</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Open to those whose thesis will be a critical paper or piece of other research (for example, in linguistics). Application and consent of the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>498</td>
<td>Distinction Critical Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Open to those whose thesis will be a critical paper or piece of other research (for example, in linguistics). Application and consent of the Director of Undergraduate Studies.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar on Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered. Prior to the drop/add period, this course is restricted to first-year students who have not fulfilled their seminar requirement.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENGLISH</td>
<td>90S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics vary by semester; emphasis on development of writing skills.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENRGYEGR</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>Introduction to Energy Generation, Delivery, Conversion and Efficiency</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>An overall introduction to energy issues as they related to generation, delivery, conversion and efficiency. Topics include efficiencies of both new and established energy generation and conversion methods, electricity generation by fossil fuels, nuclear, solar, wind and hydropower and alternative energy technologies. Other topics include space heating and cooling by traditional methods and by solar, transportation energy in automobiles, mass transit and freight. Topics are evaluated quantitatively by modeling and using principles of fluid mechanics, thermodynamics and heat transfer. The environmental consequences of energy choices on local, national and global scales, including toxic emissions, greenhouse gases and resource depletion are also discussed in integrated throughout the course. Prerequisite: Mechanical Engineering 331L, or Mechanical Engineering 512, or Physics 311, or similar thermodynamics, or consent of instructor. Course is not open to students who have taken Mechanical Engineering 461.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENRGYEGR</td>
<td>431</td>
<td>Power Electronic Circuits for Energy Conversion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Efficient conversion of electrical energy is critical for electric and hybrid vehicles, wind and solar energy, power grids, computers, medical devices, and portables. This course teaches analysis and design of power electronic circuits for energy conversion, including circuit operation (converter topologies, steady-state modeling, switch realization), converter control (ac modeling, small-signal transfer functions, feedback), and magnetics (inductors, transformers). The course shares lectures with ECE/Energy Engineering 531, but has fewer assignments. Prerequisite: ECE 230L or Engineering 224L or graduate student standing. Not open to students who have taken ECE 531 or Energy Engineering 531.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENRGYEGR</td>
<td>490</td>
<td>Special Topics in Energy Engineering</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Introduction to Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>102D</td>
<td>Introduction to Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>144A</td>
<td>The Ecological Side of Spain: How the Climate, Biology and Territory Define Our Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

ENRGYEGR 490 - Special Topics in Energy Engineering

Study arranged on a special topic in which the instructor has particular interest and competence. Consent of instructor and director of energy engineering program required. Topics vary by section.

ENVIRON 102 - Introduction to Environmental Sciences and Policy

An introduction to the study of environmental sciences and policy through exploration of basic environmental principles in the life, physical, and social sciences. Emphasis on understanding how the atmosphere, hydrosphere, lithosphere, cryosphere, and biosphere function, and how these spheres interact with human consumption, production, and technological patterns and processes. Field trips to a local site as well as the Duke University Marine Laboratory.

ENVIRON 102D - Introduction to Environmental Sciences and Policy

An introduction to the study of environmental sciences and policy through exploration of basic environmental principles in the life, physical, and social sciences. Emphasis on understanding how the atmosphere, hydrosphere, lithosphere, cryosphere, and biosphere function, and how these spheres interact with human consumption, production, and technological patterns and processes. Field trips to a local site as well as the Duke University Marine Laboratory.

ENVIRON 144A - The Ecological Side of Spain: How the Climate, Biology and Territory Define Our Society

This Duke in Madrid course aims to give a perspective that combines geography, biology, anthropology, and sociology in a joint vision of Spain as a natural space, and how this configuration is reflected in diverse creative environments: the cinema, literature, photography, or art from both past and present. Ecology, territory, the rural world, primary economic activity, and nature will guide us in our journey that, acknowledging Spain’s biogeographical and climatic plurality, will take us from the paleolithic paintings in northwest Cantabria and their intimacy with nature to diverse stops in the Spanish context and the interaction of these stops with the environment and society.
ENVIRON147 - Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives

Description
Introduction to the Israel/Palestine conflict, studied through an interdisciplinary lens, including scholarship from the fields of anthropology, environmental studies, history, geography and cultural studies. Themes include: competing nationalisms, environmental politics and resource management, peace building, refugees and displacement, humanitarian crises and challenges, representational politics. Range of primary sources will be used including human rights reports and testimonials, natural resource policies, feature and documentary film, memoirs, political treatises, and maps.

ENVIRON148FS - Genomics of Host-Microbe Interactions: The Symbiotic Web

Description
Genomic insights into the astonishingly diverse microbial world, including microbes that interact with hosts in beneficial and harmful ways. Dominance of microbes in our own bodies, which contain 10 times more bacterial cells than human cells and 150 times more bacterial genes than human genes. Understanding how microbial interactions have impacted life’s history, genome evolution, ecology, and human health. Factors that dictate trajectories toward parasitism versus mutualism, how microbial symbionts respond to environmental change, molecular and cellular mechanisms of homeostasis. Readings will focus on primary articles. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

ENVIRON153 - Climate, Coffee, and Coronavirus: Why Ecology Matters to Human Health

Description
This course explores interactions between organisms and their environments that impact human health. We will examine the effects of climate change and human population growth on our food supply, water availability, the spread of disease, and ecosystem services. Case studies will be used to illustrate the scientific process, to evaluate supporting evidence, and to investigate ethical issues. For nonmajors. Not open to students who have taken Biology 209-1 or Biology 209S-1.

ENVIRON153S - Climate, Coffee, & Coronavirus: Why Ecology Matters to Human Health

Description
This course explores interactions between organisms and their environments that impact human health and wellbeing. We will examine the effects of climate change and human population growth on our food supply, water availability, the spread of disease, and ecosystem services. Case studies will be used to illustrate the scientific process, to evaluate supporting evidence, and to investigate ethical issues. Cross-listed between Biology, Global Health, and Environmental Studies and the fall seminar is affiliated with a Duke Immerse Cluster: Pandemics, Health & Power. Not open to students who have taken Biology 209-1 or Biology 209S-1.
ENVIRON155 - Principles of Economics and the Environment

Subject | ENVIRON
---|---
Catalog Number | 155
Title | Principles of Economics and the Environment
Description
Teaches basic economic literacy and introduces environmental and natural resource issues through the lens of economics. Analyzes incentives and decisions of individuals, firms, and governments and how they interact with the natural environment. Examples include a consumer deciding to purchase organic produce, a firm deciding to install pollution control technology, a government choosing to regulate a carcinogenic chemical, and group of nations deciding to regulate greenhouse gas emissions. Stresses command of economic reasoning and analytical tools as ways to understand why people and governments do what they do and how policies might better address the needs of society.

ENVIRON155D - Principles of Economics and the Environment

Subject | ENVIRON
---|---
Catalog Number | 155D
Title | Principles of Economics and the Environment
Description
Teaches basic economic literacy and introduces environmental and natural resource issues through the lens of economics. Analyzes incentives and decisions of individuals, firms, and governments and how they interact with the natural environment. Examples include a consumer deciding to purchase organic produce, a firm deciding to install pollution control technology, a government choosing to regulate a carcinogenic chemical, and group of nations deciding to regulate greenhouse gas emissions. Stresses command of economic reasoning and analytical tools as ways to understand why people and governments do what they do and how policies might better address the needs of society.

ENVIRON180FS - Dynamics of Environmental & Climate Justice: Movements, Countermovements, & Institutional Response

Subject | ENVIRON
---|---
Catalog Number | 180FS
Title | Dynamics of Environmental & Climate Justice: Movements, Countermovements, & Institutional Response
Description
This course examines the contentious politics of the environmental justice and climate justice movements. We explore how these movements and their opposition work to shape political opportunities and responses. We will consider the substantive concerns of the environmental justice movement, the climate justice movement, their methods, and the scales at which they operate (local, national, global). Social movements of political significance will generate opposition. So, we will consider the countermovements that challenge both justice movements. These topics will be explored using a range of materials as well as through field observations of movement activities and other events. FOCUS program students only.

ENVIRON190A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject | ENVIRON
---|---
Catalog Number | 190A
Title | Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy
Description
Topics differ by section.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON190FS</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Topics in Environment</td>
<td>Topics vary semester to semester. Only open to students in the Focus Program. Consent of Instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON190S</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Content to be determined each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON20</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>Environmental Sciences</td>
<td>AP Credit in Environmental Sciences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON201</td>
<td>201</td>
<td>Integrating Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Interaction between the natural and the social systems as they relate to the environment. Focus on ecological and earth system cycles, processes, and fundamental relationships. The environmental impact of human-induced change at the local, regional, and global levels. The role of technology and the policy process in determining how environmental problems evolve and are addressed. Use of ethical analysis to evaluate environmental tradeoffs. Use of case studies to integrate multiple disciplinary perspectives on environmental problems and to address issues of environmental justice. Prerequisite: Environment 102 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON201D</td>
<td>201D</td>
<td>Integrating Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Interaction between the natural and the social systems as they relate to the environment. Focus on ecological and earth system cycles, processes, and fundamental relationships. The environmental impact of human-induced change at the local, regional, and global levels. The role of technology and the policy process in determining how environmental problems evolve and are addressed. Use of ethical analysis to evaluate environmental tradeoffs. Use of case studies to integrate multiple disciplinary perspectives on environmental problems and to address issues of environmental justice. Prerequisite: Environment 102 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON205</td>
<td>205</td>
<td>Marine Megafauna</td>
<td>Ecology, systematics, and behavior of large marine animals including giant squid, bony fishes, sharks, sea turtles, seabirds, and marine mammals. Relations between ocean dynamics, large marine animals, and their role in ocean food webs. Impact of human activities and technological advancement on populations. Economic, social, and policy considerations in the protection of threatened species. Prerequisite: AP Biology, Introductory Biology, or consent of the instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENVIRON209 - Food, Farming, and Feminism

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 209
Title: Food, Farming, and Feminism

Description: Viewing 'agriculture,' 'nature,' and 'consumption' as pressing feminist themes and exploration of various dimensions of the cultural and political ecology/economy of producing, processing, circulating, preparing, and consuming sustenance. Particular focus on the ethical impact of US policy on rural farm communities and developing nations.

ENVIRON210D - Conserving the Variety of Life on Earth

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 210D
Title: Conserving the Variety of Life on Earth

Description: An overview of biological diversity, its patterns, and the current extinction crisis. Historical and theoretical foundations of conservation, from human values and law to criteria and frameworks for setting conservation priorities; island biogeography theory, landscape ecology, and socioeconomic considerations in reserve design; management of endangered species in the wild and in captivity; managing protected areas for long term viability of populations; the role of the landscape matrix around protected areas; and techniques for conserving biological diversity in semi-wild productive ecosystems such as forests.

ENVIRON212 - United States Environmental Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 212
Title: United States Environmental Policy

Description: An overview of the major environmental legislation in the United States. Topics include: air and water pollution, hazardous waste, agriculture, wildlife, and institutions. Political, economic, ethical, and scientific analysis. Open to juniors or seniors or by consent of instructor.

ENVIRON212D - United States Environmental Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 212D
Title: United States Environmental Policy

Description: An overview of the major environmental legislation in the United States. Topics include: air and water pollution, hazardous waste, agriculture, wildlife, and institutions. Political, economic, ethical, and scientific analysis. Open to juniors or seniors or by consent of instructor.

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 213
Title: Ecology and the Human Good: Sustainability, Community, Nature, and Belonging

Description
This course examines the complex network of relationships that support flourishing human communities. How do our interactions with each other and the natural world enhance or undermine our ability to grow and live together? How does the structure of human communities shape our relationship with nature? What is the proper role of markets and technological innovation in our quest for a sustainable and flourishing future world? Through an interdisciplinary lens, we will examine topics including sustainable agriculture, community formation, friendship, climate migration, environmental ethics, food, conservation, the politics of belonging and citizenship. This course is part of the Transformative Ideas Sophomore Program.

ENVIRON214S - Ethical Challenges in Environmental Conservation

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 214S
Title: Ethical Challenges in Environmental Conservation

Description
Examination of current ethical challenges in environmental conservation. Topics include the philosophical basis and challenges of mankind’s responsibility to the natural world; prioritization of often conflicting conservation efforts; balancing the needs of humans and the environment; the disputed role of scientists as advocates; and the philosophical and political obstacles to conservation efforts. Analysis of the evolving environmental movement, in relation to current issues.

ENVIRON216DS - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 216DS
Title: Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description
Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.

ENVIRON216S - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 216S
Title: Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description
Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fundamental principles and challenges in water sciences on local, regional and global scales. Topics include the global hydrological cycle, impact of climate change on water availability, principles of surface water and groundwater flow, fundamentals of water quality, the energy-water nexus, and scientific and technological approaches used to trace pollutants and remediate contamination. Relationships between human activities (anthropogenic effects) and naturally occurring processes that affect local and global water availability and quality. Emphasis on cutting edge water research and human and environmental impacts. Recommended prerequisite: Earth and Ocean Sciences 101, Environment 102, or equivalents, and introductory chemistry.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON223 - Environment and Global Capitalism in Latin America</td>
<td>Catalog Number 223</td>
<td>Environment and Global Capitalism in Latin America</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Global capitalism relies on the ever increasing extraction and displacement of natural resources around the world. The discovery and subsequent colonization of Latin America by European powers meant the massive circulation of organisms (from germs to human beings) and natural resources (organic and mineral) across continents with lasting consequences for humans, animals and landscapes. Focusing on Latin America, this course analyzes the environmental history of global capitalism. Our aim will be to explore what happens when massive amounts of natural resources are relocated from one place to another.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON226DS - Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences</td>
<td>Catalog Number 226DS</td>
<td>Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction to basic field methods used in the earth and environmental sciences. Field investigations focus on topics such as groundwater and surface water movements, soil chemistry and identification, topographic and geologic mapping, the atmosphere/soil interface, and plant identification and distributions. Design of a field investigation, collection of data to address a specific goal, and interpretation and reporting of the results. Emphasis on learning to report field results in the format of scientific publications. Visits to five local field sites. Open only to juniors and seniors.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON226S - Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences</td>
<td>Catalog Number 226S</td>
<td>Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction to basic field methods used in the earth and environmental sciences. Field investigations focus on topics such as groundwater and surface water movements, soil chemistry and identification, topographic and geologic mapping, the atmosphere/soil interface, and plant identification and distributions. Design of a field investigation, collection of data to address a specific goal, and interpretation and reporting of the results. Emphasis on learning to report field results in the format of scientific publications. Visits to five local field sites. Open only to juniors and seniors.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENVIRON228S - Food and Fuel for a Growing Population: Nuts and Bolts of Plant Growth and Production

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 228S
Title: Food and Fuel for a Growing Population: Nuts and Bolts of Plant Growth and Production

Description:
Covers primary physiological processes from subcellular to whole plant that affect plant growth in a changing environment. Processes include photosynthesis, respiration, water relations, nutrient and carbohydrate allocation, signaling, and stress responses to various biotic and abiotic factors for a range of plant species adapted to different environments. Applications include plant improvement for food and biofuel production, management of plant growth in response to global change. Offered through the DukeImmerse program. Will include travel to farms in NC locally, to the mountains, and to the coast. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L, 202L, or 203L. Instructor consent required.

ENVIRON231 - Energy and the Environment

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 231
Title: Energy and the Environment

Description:
Overview of the challenges confronting humanity as a consequence of our reliance on energy. Challenges include dwindling supplies, rising demand and environmental degradation. Realistic responses require an understanding of the complexity of the energy system, including energy resources, uses, and impacts, in the context of social, political and economic imperatives. Lectures will be augmented by presentations from guest speakers from industry, government and non-profit organizations.

ENVIRON239 - Introduction to Atmospheric Chemistry: From Air Pollution to Climate Change

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 239
Title: Introduction to Atmospheric Chemistry: From Air Pollution to Climate Change

Description:
Integrated scientific background for the impact of humans on the natural environment. Topics covered include greenhouse gases and climate, local and regional ozone pollution, long-range pollution transport, acid rain, atmospheric particulate matter pollution, and stratospheric ozone depletion. Prerequisite: Chemistry 101DL.

ENVIRON245 - The Theory and Practice of Sustainability

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 245
Title: The Theory and Practice of Sustainability

Description:
Theories and practices of sustainability explored with application to the campus environment, including economic, social and environmental factors, and a local to global reach. The Duke campus is used as a case study to illustrate institutional practices including building design and operations, utility supply and consumption, carbon offsets design and calculation, transportation, water, sustainability education and communication, behavior change, waste production and recycling, and procurement. In a service-learning project, students might perform sustainability inventories and cost/benefit analyses, or gather behavior change data.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON265</td>
<td>265</td>
<td>Environmental Law and Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Legal principles governing environmental problems in the United States, including endangered species, hazardous waste, air pollution. Introduction to the overarching topics in law and in regulatory design that shape the contributions and roles law plays in solutions to environmental problems.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON268</td>
<td>268</td>
<td>Examining the Ethics of Engaging in Environmental Professions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Examines internship experience in context of personal, professional and environmental ethics. Marries internship experience with critical engagement with peer-reviewed literature, academic texts, essays, videos, and podcasts. Students engage in reflective conversations with co-workers and peers to practice weighing evidence, synthesizing research, articulating own perspective through writing and revising. Employs written reflection to examine lessons learned through internship experience and enhance transfer of lessons to new situations. Online course available only in summer. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON269T-1</td>
<td>269T-1</td>
<td>Voices in the Environment: Spanish</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>In this course, students will explore how language and culture impact environmental policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in Spanish, students will analyze environmental issues in Latin America to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in Spanish.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON269T-2</td>
<td>269T-2</td>
<td>Voices in the Environment: French</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>In this course, students will explore how language and culture impact environmental policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in French, students will analyze environmental issues in the Francophone World to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in French.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON269T-3</td>
<td>269T-3</td>
<td>Voices in the Environment: Mandarin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>In this course, students will explore how language and culture impact environmental policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in Mandarin, students will analyze environmental issues in the Francophone World to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in Mandarin.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON269T-4</td>
<td>269T-4</td>
<td>Voices in the Environment: German</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>In this course, students will explore how language and culture impact environmental policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in German, students will analyze environmental issues in Germany to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in German. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of German or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENVIRON270 - Conservation Biology and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 270
Title: Conservation Biology and Policy

Description:
Introduction to the key concepts of ecology and policy relevant to conservation issues at the population to ecosystems level. Focus on the origin and maintenance of biodiversity and conservation applications from both the biology and policy perspectives (for example, endangered species, captive breeding, reserve design, habitat fragmentation, ecosystem restoration/rehabilitation). Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology and a policy and/or introductory ecology course.

ENVIRON270A - Conservation Biology and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 270A
Title: Conservation Biology and Policy

Description:
Introduction to the key concepts of ecology and policy relevant to conservation issues at the population to ecosystems level. Focus on the origin and maintenance of biodiversity and conservation applications from both the biology and policy perspectives (for example, endangered species, captive breeding, reserve design, habitat fragmentation, ecosystem restoration/rehabilitation). Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology and a policy and/or introductory ecology course.

ENVIRON272A - Analysis of Ocean Ecosystems

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 272A
Title: Analysis of Ocean Ecosystems

Description:
The history, utility, and heuristic value of the ecosystem; ocean systems in the context of Odum's ecosystem concept; structure and function of the earth's major ecosystems. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: one year of biology, one year of chemistry, or consent of instructor.

ENVIRON273L - Marine Ecology

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 273L
Title: Marine Ecology

Description:
Distribution, abundance, and diversity of marine organisms, including a survey of the major flora and fauna in the marine environment, including physical characteristics, adaptation to environment, species interactions, biogeography, larval recruitment, and biodiversity and conservation of communities found in rocky shores, tidal flats, beaches, marshes, mangrove, coral reefs, and subtidal areas. Lectures, field excursions, lab exercises and an independent project. Taught fall, spring, and summer; spring enrollment requires travel. Recommended prerequisite: AP biology or introductory biology.

ENVIRO273LA - Marine Ecology

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 273LA
Title: Marine Ecology

Description:
Distribution, abundance, and diversity of marine organisms, including a survey of the major flora and fauna in the marine environment, including physical characteristics, adaptation to environment, species interactions, biogeography, larval recruitment, and biodiversity and conservation of communities found in rocky shores, tidal flats, beaches, marshes, mangrove, coral reefs, and subtidal areas. Lectures, field excursions, lab exercises and an independent project. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Taught fall, spring, and summer; spring enrollment requires travel. Recommended intro bio or AP Bio credit. Instructor consent required, visit DUML website for details.

ENVIRON274 - People, Plants and Pollution: Introduction to Urban Environments

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 274
Title: People, Plants and Pollution: Introduction to Urban Environments

Description:
Cities turn natural lands into impervious surfaces, like roofs and parking lots, while trees, forests, and grass decrease. Course covers urban environmental issues, including energy and carbon, air, heat, and water pollution, the health and welfare of people, and changes in other species and regional/global climatic patterns. Examines costs/benefits of urban nature on solving urban environmental problems, including enhancing the social welfare of people's lives.
ENVIRON276 - Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
276

Title
Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival

Description
This course investigates both theory and history of the concept of sustainability, and explores its various economic and political manifestations over time. What are the historical roots of the sustainability debate? What aspects of life do various concepts of sustainability entail, and how do they inform modern ethics? What, in the end, does the history of political economics teach us about the possibility of sustainable development?

ENVIRON277A - Biodiversity of Alaska

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
277A

Title
Biodiversity of Alaska

Description
Ecology/biodiversity and conservation in Alaska: identification and natural history of native plants and animals including both terrestrial and marine species, biogeographic history and patterns, native American cultures, conservation issues surrounding Alaskan natural resources. Regional, national, and geopolitical issues surrounding development and conservation in Alaska and elsewhere in the arctic. Lectures and discussions complemented by field trips to examine terrestrial, aquatic, and marine ecosystems across the three major Alaskan biomes: coastal rainforest, boreal coniferous forest, arctic/alpine. Taught in Alaska.

ENVIRON278L - Comparative Physiology of Marine Animals

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
278L

Title
Comparative Physiology of Marine Animals

Description
Physiology of marine animals with emphasis on comparisons between marine vertebrates and humans. Focus on physiological processes including gas exchange, circulation, osmoregulation, metabolism, thermoregulation, endocrine, neural control and sensory systems. Lectures and laboratories illustrate the methodology, analysis techniques, and written reporting of physiological research. Taught fall, spring, and summer. Recommended prerequisite: AP biology, introductory biology, or consent of the instructor.

ENVIRON278LA - Comparative Physiology of Marine Animals

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
278LA

Title
Comparative Physiology of Marine Animals

Description
Physiology of marine animals with emphasis on comparisons between marine vertebrates and humans. Focus on physiological processes including gas exchange, circulation, osmoregulation, metabolism, thermoregulation, endocrine, neural control and sensory systems. Lectures and laboratories illustrate the methodology, analysis techniques, and written reporting of physiological research. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Taught fall, spring, and summer. Prerequisite: AP biology, introductory biology, or consent of the instructor.
ENVIRON280LA - Sound in the Sea: Introduction to Marine Bioacoustics

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 280LA
Title: Sound in the Sea: Introduction to Marine Bioacoustics

Description
Fundamentals of marine bioacoustics with a focus on current literature and conservation issues. Topics include: introduction to acoustics; acoustic analysis methods and quantitative tools; production and recording of sound; ocean noise; propagation theory, active and passive acoustics; hearing, sound production and communication in marine organisms, potential impacts of anthropogenic noise; and regulation of marine sound. Labs will focus on methodologies used for generating, recording and analyzing marine sounds. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: AP Biology, introductory biology, or consent of instructor; Physics 141L or 164L (or equivalent Physics courses) or consent of instructor.

ENVIRON286 - Marine Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 286
Title: Marine Policy

Description
Policy and policy-making concerning the coastal marine environment. History of marine-related organizations, legislation, and issues and their effects on local, regional, national, and international arenas. Use of theoretical and methodological perspectives, including political science, sociology, and economics. Duke Marine Lab-based course video linked to Durham.

ENVIRON287A - Conservation Biology & Service Learning: coastal ecosystems, restoration and communities

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 287A
Title: Conservation Biology & Service Learning: coastal ecosystems, restoration and communities

Description
Introduction to marine conservation biology emphasizing community outreach at local middle schools. Material focuses on issues in marine conservation and how they are addressed. Lectures cover principles of conservation, biodiversity, extinction risks, genetic tools, fishery by-catch, over-exploitation, habitat degradation, invasive species, climate change, and marine protected areas. Based on class discussions, students will develop and teach activities that address local conservation topics for middle school students. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology.
ENVIRON288A - Biogeography in an Australian Context

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 288A
Title: Biogeography in an Australian Context

Description:
Distribution of plants and animals in space and time as determined by the interaction of geophysics, geology, climate, and evolutionary history. Special emphasis on the unique terrestrial and marine faunas and floras of the Australian continent and on the impact of humans on the distribution of these plants and animals. Taught in Australia.

ENVIRON289A - Climate Change and the Human Experience in a Danish Context

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 289A
Title: Climate Change and the Human Experience in a Danish Context

Description:
Primarily field-based exploration of the geological and ecological evidence for climatically-driven change and its distinct influence on the development of early Northern European civilization. Special emphasis on the relationship between climate change and human adaptation at the end of the last Ice Age, during the Medieval Warm Period, the Little Ice Age, and to modern anthropogenic global warming. Summer Study Abroad taught in Denmark.

ENVIRON290 - Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Description:
Content to be determined each semester.

ENVIRON290A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 290A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Description:
Topics differ by section.

ENVIRON290D - Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 290D
Title: Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Description:
Content to be determined each semester.

ENVIRON290S - Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Description:
Same as Environment 290 but taught as a seminar.
ENVIRON305SA - Social Impact Analysis

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 305SA
Title: Social Impact Analysis

Description:
Course covers theoretical, methodological and applied aspects of social impact analysis. Students will think sociologically about environmental issues and social impacts they create. Course reviews key US policies and guidelines that require and inform social impact analysis. Students will understand and critique key methods and approaches used in social impact analysis to generate inclusive decisions that protect the environment and health of human communities that share its abundance and meaning. Course will compare and critique a range of national and international social impact examples, including ethical issues associated with the non-human world. Consent of instructor is required. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENVIRON308A - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 308A
Title: Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description:
Students will gain a grounding in marine sciences to help them to evaluate impacts of anthropogenic activities on marine ecosystems and the humans that rely on them. After developing an understanding of the issues facing environmental and human health and well-being in marine systems, students will travel to the Galapagos to better understand environmental challenges facing biodiversity and tourism hot spot. This course embraces immersive field experiences in North Carolina and the Galapagos to contextualize classroom learning and to develop connections with environmental practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Duke Immerse course. Instructor consent is required.

ENVIRON309A - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 309A
Title: Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description:
Focus on the concept of 'One Health' that the health of the environment and the people who live in it are linked. The basis (from a biological perspective) of threats facing the marine environment and interactions between environmental and human health and their role in global health disparities. For example, in discussing fisheries and aquaculture, the course will cover environmental impacts of these extractive industries and their importance in human and societal well-being. This course will embrace immersive field experiences in North Carolina that will contextualize classroom learning and develop connections with practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENVIRON309DA - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 309DA
Title: Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description:
Focus on the concept of 'One Health' that the health of the environment and the people who live in it are linked. The basis (from a biological perspective) of threats facing the marine environment and interactions between environmental and human health and their role in global health disparities. For example, in discussing fisheries and aquaculture, the course will cover environmental impacts of these extractive industries and their importance in human and societal well-being. This course will embrace immersive field experiences in North Carolina that will contextualize classroom learning and develop connections with practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.
ENVIRON310 - Forest Measurements

Description
This course aims to familiarize students with the field and analytic measurement skills expected of professionals in forest ecosystem management. In this course, we consider techniques for measuring forest characteristics at three different scales: individual plant, forest stand, and landscape. These techniques require the use of traditional forestry instruments (e.g., clinometers, Biltmore sticks) and contemporary handheld GPS units. This course heavily emphasizes field activities and quantitative skills. Recommended prerequisite: Environment 311 (Dendrology, past or concurrent) and/or instructor consent. Instructor consent required.

ENVIRON311 - Dendrology

Description
This course aims to familiarize students with the secret lives of trees. We begin by learning to identify over 130 woody plants of the Piedmont. To do this, we will also grapple with dichotomous keys and plant systematics to help us identify plants anywhere in the world. We also address topics like the chemical communication of trees, the relationships among wildlife and trees, and the value of trees. Most of this course will be outside. Instructor consent required.

ENVIRON315DS - Environmental Issues & the Documentary Arts

Description
Survey how filmmakers, authors, photographers, and other artists have brought environmental issues to the public's attention in the last century, and in some cases instigated profound societal and political change. Examine the nebulous distinctions between persuasion and propaganda, agenda and allegory, point of view and content. Evolve as a viewer of the environment and a maker of documentary art. Initiate your own projects to address and/or depict environmental issues in one form of a broad range of media.

ENVIRON315S - Environmental Issues & the Documentary Arts

Description
Survey how filmmakers, authors, photographers, and other artists have brought environmental issues to the public's attention in the last century, and in some cases instigated profound societal and political change. Examine the nebulous distinctions between persuasion and propaganda, agenda and allegory, point of view and content. Evolve as a viewer of the environment and a maker of documentary art. Initiate your own projects to address and/or depict environmental issues in one form of a broad range of media.

ENVIRON319A - Aquaculture and the Environment

Description
The major environmental, social and economic drivers of increasing global aquaculture, with a focus on marine systems. Quantitative evaluation and comparison of the range of species for aquaculture, locations where operations occur, operational aspects including environmental impacts and management considerations. Investigation of alternative approaches and potential future areas for aquaculture expansion as well as social, economic and technical barriers to implementation. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENVIRON320D - Planetary Health: Ecosystems, Human Health and Policy

Description
Planetary health focuses on human health impacts of anthropogenic disruptions of Earth's natural systems. Examines interplay of human activity, environmental changes, human health impacts, and policy interventions. Topics include climate change, loss of biodiversity, urbanization, global pollution, and changing food systems. Uses a social justice perspective to understand which communities and populations are most vulnerable to disruptions of natural systems. Examines evidence on effective policy responses. Explores real world case studies and solutions.
ENVIRON321A - Coastal Watershed Management and Restoration

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 321A
Title: Coastal Watershed Management and Restoration

Description:
This course will examine management of coastal watersheds and their biological function, focusing on the positive (restoration) and negative (degradation, eutrophication) ways that humans alter ecosystems. Local field trips are an integral part of this class to examine anthropogenic modifications to coastal ecosystems (e.g., farms, wetland restoration) as well as discussing these issues with stakeholders at NGOs, businesses and government. Taught at the Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort.

ENVIRON322 - Hydrologic and Environmental Data Analysis

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 322
Title: Hydrologic and Environmental Data Analysis

Description:
Focus on development of quantitative approaches used to interpret observations on hydrological and environmental processes across space and time, with application to case studies in water science. In this course, we will (1) generate knowledge of fundamental processes in aquatic ecosystems as they relate to contemporary issues, (2) apply data science skills to datasets in the water resources field, and (3) quantitatively explore a topic in aquatic science through an in-depth course project. Recommended prerequisite: prior experience with computational software (R preferred; Stata, MATLAB, and/or GIS acceptable). Instructor consent required.

ENVIRON323 - Ecological Diversity and Climate Change

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 323
Title: Ecological Diversity and Climate Change

Description:
Evaluates the science of biodiversity and climate change, including changes happening now, in the past, and what we can expect in the future. Topics include forest diebacks, intensifying drought, increased wildfire, insect and pathogen outbreaks, and poleward migrations of land and marine populations. Analytical tools used to quantify change include elements of basic distribution theory, data manipulation in R, and examples of simulation methods. Course includes required travel.

ENVIRON332S - Environmental Justice: The Economics of Race, Place, and Pollution

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 332S
Title: Environmental Justice: The Economics of Race, Place, and Pollution

Description:
Minorities, people of color, and low-income households bear a disproportionate burden from environmental pollution. Since the Clinton Administration, addressing environmental injustice has been among the policy objectives of the EPA. Course examines how environmental injustices may arise out of discriminatory behavior and/or market forces founded on individual, firm, and government incentives. We begin with the theoretical framework used to document and explain disproportionate exposures, then review existing empirical evidence through case studies and evaluate competing explanations for injustice using an economics framework. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and Economics 204D or 208D.
ENVIRON335 - Drones in Marine Biology, Ecology, and Conservation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>335</td>
<td>Drones in Marine Biology, Ecology, and Conservation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Includes a full overview of past and emerging applications for ecology and biology of marine species and coastal habitats, with in-depth discussion on future of drone applications in coastal biological and ecological research. Comprehensive exploration of current drone technologies, including detection of target species, payloads, aeronautical concepts, rules and regulations, mission planning, aircraft design, maintenance, data collection, management and analysis. Lab components tailored to student interests: active participation in megafaunal or environmental research and data analysis; building, operating and maintaining aircraft, programming for manual and autonomous flight.

ENVIRON335A - Drones in Marine Biology, Ecology, and Conservation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>335A</td>
<td>Drones in Marine Biology, Ecology, and Conservation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Lecture-based version of Environment 335LA. Includes a full overview of past and emerging applications for ecology and biology of marine species and coastal habitats, with in-depth discussion on future of drone applications in coastal biological and ecological research. Comprehensive exploration of current drone technologies, including detection of target species, payloads, aeronautical concepts, rules and regulations, mission planning, aircraft design, maintenance, data collection, management and analysis. Lab components tailored to student interests: active participation in megafaunal or environmental research and data analysis; building, operating and maintaining aircraft, programming for manual and autonomous flight. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENVIRON336 - Seabird Survival and Dispersal Analysis

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>336</td>
<td>Seabird Survival and Dispersal Analysis</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to bird migration, navigation, seabirds as indicator species, natural history of sooty tern birds in the context of conservation. Introduction to field survey methods for seabirds, capture-recapture technique, population estimate and population evaluation, and habitat description for long-term monitoring, and its importance. Sampling activities include bird capture, banding, and morphometric measurements. Field course primarily at the Dry Tortugas National Park, FL where students can interact closely with park managers. Required field trip during Spring Break. Prerequisite: Environment 210D.

ENVIRON338S - Introduction to Environmental Life Cycle Assessment: Applications to Food Systems

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>338S</td>
<td>Introduction to Environmental Life Cycle Assessment: Applications to Food Systems</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This DukeImmerse course introduces fundamental concepts and methods to conduct Environmental Life Cycle Assessments (LCA) to identify magnitude, type, and location of environmental impacts by food production from input for crops to the disposal of the final products. Discuss the Economic-input Output LCA (EIO-LCA). Emphasis in understanding and estimation of the environmental impacts associated to the production, transportation, storage, and waste of food for human consumption, paying special attention to the water and energy use associated to these processes. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>343S</td>
<td>ENVIRON343S - Energy Futures and Environmental Justice</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Subject ENVIRON</td>
<td>Catalog Number 343S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Title Energy Futures and Environmental Justice</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Advanced undergraduate seminar on comparative energy crises and natural resource management. Uses case studies of fossil fuel, nuclear, and renewable energy resources drawn from anthropology, natural sciences, and even business economic readings. Appropriate for students interested in interested in global politics, economic development, human rights, or environmental issues.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>344S</td>
<td>ENVIRON344S - Plant Diversity: A Field Approach</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Subject ENVIRON</td>
<td>Catalog Number 344S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Title Plant Diversity: A Field Approach</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Field-based study of plant diversity. Collection, identification, and ecology of plant species in a specific forested location. Biodiversity informatics, plant evolution, and ecology.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>348</td>
<td>ENVIRON348 - Global Environmental Politics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Subject ENVIRON</td>
<td>Catalog Number 348</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Title Global Environmental Politics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This course examines the international community's responses to various global environmental problems. Because many environmental problems cross national borders, solutions require some form of global governance such as state-led mechanisms in the form of international environmental regimes. The course will thus explore how and why states both succeed and fail to negotiate international governance mechanisms. The course will also examine why some international environmental regimes are more effective than others and why states choose to comply with environmental regimes.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>348D</td>
<td>ENVIRON348D - Global Environmental Politics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Subject ENVIRON</td>
<td>Catalog Number 348D</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Title Global Environmental Politics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This course examines the international community's responses to various global environmental problems. Because many environmental problems cross national borders, solutions require some form of global governance such as state-led mechanisms in the form of international environmental regimes. The course will thus explore how and why states both succeed and fail to negotiate international governance mechanisms. The course will also examine why some international environmental regimes are more effective than others and why states choose to comply with environmental regimes.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>350S</td>
<td>ENVIRON350S - Marine Science and Conservation Leadership</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Subject ENVIRON</td>
<td>Catalog Number 350S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Title Marine Science and Conservation Leadership</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Course will explore the complex interactions among science, policy and economics in the use of marine resources and the role individuals play in promoting marine conservation and environmental sustainability. Utilizing case studies ranging from fisheries to offshore energy, students will evaluate trade-offs systematically and learn to assess how different policy options affect the incentives of resource users. Serves as the capstone for the Marine Science and Conservation Leadership Certificate. Prerequisite: none.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>359</td>
<td>ENVIRON359 - Fundamentals of GIS and Geospatial Analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Subject ENVIRON</td>
<td>Catalog Number 359</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Title Fundamentals of GIS and Geospatial Analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Fundamental aspects of geographic information systems and satellite remote sensing for environmental applications. Concepts of geographic data development, cartography, image processing, and spatial analysis. Consent of instructor is required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

644/1526
ENVIRON360 - Environmental Health: Pollutant Chemistry and Toxicology

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
360

Title
Environmental Health: Pollutant Chemistry and Toxicology

Description
The course provides an overview of chemical pollutants and their impacts on ecological and human health. The course provides an overview of chemical pollutants and their impacts on ecological and human health. Topics include: chemical pollutant classes, their sources and the chemical properties that impact their fate and transport in the environment. Molecular, cellular and organismal responses following exposure to pollutants, using cases studies. Pollutant impacts on human health will be discussed and cover areas such as cancer, cardiovascular health, fertility and brain development. Prerequisites: Biology 201L, 202L, or 203L and Chemistry 101DL. Recommended prerequisite: Chemistry 201DL.

ENVIRON360D - Environmental Health: Pollutant Chemistry and Toxicology

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
360D

Title
Environmental Health: Pollutant Chemistry and Toxicology

Description
The course provides an overview of chemical pollutants and their impacts on ecological and human health. The course provides an overview of chemical pollutants and their impacts on ecological and human health. Topics include: chemical pollutant classes, their sources and the chemical properties that impact their fate and transport in the environment. Molecular, cellular and organismal responses following exposure to pollutants, using cases studies. Pollutant impacts on human health will be discussed and cover areas such as cancer, cardiovascular health, fertility and brain development. Prerequisites: Biology 201L, 202L, or 203L and Chemistry 101DL. Recommended prerequisite: Chemistry 201DL.

ENVIRON361LS - Field Ecology

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
361LS

Title
Field Ecology

Description
Explore the natural systems of North Carolina through hands-on experimentation. Through student-guided inquiry and field experimentation students will gain experience in formulating hypotheses, designing field observations and experiments, analyzing field data and interpreting results from the fields of ecosystem, community, population, and physiological ecology. In addition to weekly field labs, the course will include a weekend field trip. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 20 or 21 or one course in ecology or consent of instructor; Mathematics 111L.

ENVIRON362S - Changing Oceans

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
362S

Title
Changing Oceans

Description
Our oceans are under severe stress. This seminar will explore human disturbances of marine environments, including ocean warming, sea level rise, melting of ice caps and sea ice, ocean acidification, coastal eutrophication, changes in primary production and food web dynamics, invasive species, overfishing, increased subsurface hypoxia, changes in circulation, stratification, and physical, chemical (e.g. oil spills) and noise pollution.
ENVIRON363 - Environmental Economics and Policy

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number 363

Title
Environmental Economics and Policy

Description
The role of the environment in the theory and practice of economics. Topics include ways in which markets fail to efficiently allocate resources in the presence of pollution, along with the array of policies regulators used to correct those failures; the empirical techniques used by economists to put values on environmental commodities; and an examination of questions related to everyday environmental issues, particularly those confronting the developing world. Prerequisites: Economics 201D and one Statistics course; Economics 204D or 208D recommended.

ENVIRON365-20 - Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Structural Focus

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
365-20

Title
Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Structural Focus

Description
Design and testing of solutions to complex interdisciplinary design products in a service-learning context with a focus on structural products. Technical design principles; sustainable and engineering best practices; prototype formation, testing and evaluation; and establishment of research and analysis methodologies in a community-based research experience. Working in partnership with a community agency (local, national, or international) and participation in an experimental learning process by engineering a design solution for an identified community need. Evaluation focused on design deliverables, fabricated prototypes and a critical reflection of the experimental learning process.

ENVIRON365-60 - Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Environmental Focus

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
365-60

Title
Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Environmental Focus

Description
Design and testing of solutions to complex interdisciplinary design products in a service-learning context with a focus on structural products. Technical design principles; sustainable and engineering best practices; prototype formation, testing and evaluation; and establishment of research and analysis methodologies in a community-based research experience. Working in partnership with a community agency (local, national, or international) and participation in an experimental learning process by engineering a design solution for an identified community need. Evaluation focused on design deliverables, fabricated prototypes and a critical reflection of the experimental learning process. Prerequisite: Engineering 201L or Electrical and Computer Engineering 110L or consent of instructor.

ENVIRON365D - The Modern Regulatory State

Subject
ENVIRON

Catalog Number
365D

Title
The Modern Regulatory State

Description
Interdisciplinary inquiry into the origins/evolution of modern regulatory institutions in Western Europe and North America, along with the more recent rise of global regulatory bodies. Examines conceptual frameworks from across the social sciences, and considers the ethical dimensions of current debates over regulatory purposes, strategies, and policies in areas such as finance and the environment.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>366</td>
<td>ENVIRON366 - Green Germany: World Leader in Environmental Policy</td>
<td>Exploration of Germany's leading global role in developing and implementing 'green' technologies and environmental policies. Analyzes Germany's current and past policies on energy, agriculture, and pollution control. Examines policies in context by studying German ideas about nature, history of German environmentalism, and by looking at Green Germany in European and global perspectives. Discusses extent ethics can or ought to influence debates about global climate change and its ramifications. Readings include scholarly studies, exemplary policies, and groundbreaking ecological texts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>367SA</td>
<td>ENVIRON367SA - The Economics of the Energiewende in Germany</td>
<td>Comprehensive overview of the Energiewende - Germany's effort to reshape its energy system, the industry, and building sectors into a nuclear-free, low-carbon economy. Application of a range of analytical methods - including economic assessment tools, legal analyses and political science - to shed light on different facets of the Energiewende, and to help understand the public and academic debates around it. The course thus offers different angles - looking at the economics of the Energiewende, as well as the technological, social, ethical, legal and political implications. Offered through the Duke-in-Berlin Program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>368</td>
<td>ENVIRON368 - Introduction to Weather and Climate</td>
<td>Introduction to weather and climate. Topics include atmospheric structure, composition, circulation and energy properties; severe weather events such as cyclones, hurricanes, and tornadoes; ozone depletion; natural climate variability; climate change and global warming.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>369LA</td>
<td>ENVIRON369LA - Biological Oceanography</td>
<td>Discusses patterns of abundance, diversity and activity of organisms in major ocean ecosystems. Identifies major physical, chemical and ecological processes that affect these patterns, and analyzes impact of biology on ecosystems. Uses a 'flipped' classroom for enhanced development of quantitative skills to measure these patterns, emphasizing hands-on data collection and analyses, multiple field trips aboard DUML research vessels, and participatory activities to demonstrate core concepts in biological oceanography. Taught at Duke Marine Lab. Spring section requires travel. Recommended intro bio or AP Bio credit. Instructor consent required, visit DUML website for details.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>370A</td>
<td>ENVIRON370A - Physical Oceanography</td>
<td>Fundamental physical principles of ocean circulation. Physical properties of seawater; forces acting on the ocean such as heat, pressure gradients, wind stress, rotation, and friction; and conservation equations for heat, mass and momentum. Applications include geostrophic balances, thermal wind, coastally trapped waves, El Nino/ENSO, and tidal circulation. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: one year of calculus and one semester of physics, or permission of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>373LA</td>
<td>ENVIRON373LA - Sensory Physiology and Behavior of Marine Animals</td>
<td>Sensory physiological principles with emphasis on visual and chemical cues. Laboratories will use behavior to measure physiological processes. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: AP Biology or introductory biology or consent of instructor and Chemistry 101DL.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>375A</td>
<td>Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Essential biology of sea turtles (evolution, anatomy, physiology, behavior, life history, population dynamics) and their conservation needs; emphasis on their role in marine ecosystem structure and function. Basic ecological concepts integrated with related topics including the conservation and management of endangered species, the contributions of technology to the management of migratory marine species, the role of research in national and international law and policy, and the veterinary aspects of conservation. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>375L</td>
<td>Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Includes laboratory and field experience with animals and with their habitat requirements. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>375LA</td>
<td>Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Laboratory version of Biology 375A. Includes laboratory and field experience with animals and with their habitat requirements. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>376A</td>
<td>Marine Mammals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>The biology of cetaceans, pinnipeds, sirenians, and sea otters. Topics covered include the diversity, evolution, ecology, and behavior of marine mammals and their interactions with humans. Detailed consideration given to the adaptations that allow these mammals to live in the sea. Evaluation of the scientific, ethical, and aesthetic factors influencing societal attitudes toward these animals and of their conservation management in light of domestic legislation and international treaties. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>376L</td>
<td>Marine Mammals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Laboratory and field exercises consider social organization, behavior, ecology, communication, and anatomy of local bottlenose dolphins. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>376LA</td>
<td>Marine Mammals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Laboratory version of Biology 376A. Laboratory and field exercises consider social organization, behavior, ecology, communication, and anatomy of local bottlenose dolphins. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENVIRON377L - Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 377L
Title: Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates
Description: An introduction to the biodiversity represented by major marine invertebrate groups, with emphasis on the diversity of body forms and behaviors and on anatomical structures and functions. Field trips primarily by boat allow students to explore invertebrates characteristic of a variety of coastal habitats in North Carolina, including mud flats, sandy beaches, salt marshes, oyster reefs, piers and docks, and the water column. Live invertebrates maintained in the laboratory serve as models for detailed study of form and function.

ENVIRON377LA - Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 377LA
Title: Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates
Description: An introduction to the biodiversity represented by major marine invertebrate groups, with emphasis on the diversity of body forms and behaviors and on anatomical structures and functions. Field trips primarily by boat allow students to explore invertebrates characteristic of a variety of coastal habitats in North Carolina, including mud flats, sandy beaches, salt marshes, oyster reefs, piers and docks, and the water column. Live invertebrates maintained in the laboratory serve as models for detailed study of form and function. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENVIRON380 - The Calculus of Sustainability - Lessons from Complex Societies

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 380
Title: The Calculus of Sustainability - Lessons from Complex Societies
Description: Sustainability research asks to what extent our planet, with a finite environmental resource base, can accommodate the faster than exponentially growing human population. The concept of carrying capacity contains many resource limitations originating from available water, energy, and ecosystem services. The course covers the calculus behind these limitations beginning from models of population growth, proceeding to the 'Doomsday Equation' and human-biosphere interactions. Dynamical systems will be used to enlighten linkages between humans and the Earth's carrying capacity, renewable versus non-renewable resources, peak-oil, peak-water, and peak-grain. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 105L and 106L) or Mathematics 111L.

ENVIRON385S - The Environment in Literature, Law, and Science

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 385S
Title: The Environment in Literature, Law, and Science
Description: This class explores changing concepts of 'environment' and 'nature' in lit, law & policy, & science. Using the Duke Campus Farm, the campus, & surrounding areas, we trace those changes across historical periods and cultures, culminating in a consideration of the dismantling of Black Durham (red lining, 147) & the emergence of the Environmental Justice Movement (in Warren County, NC). We explore how those concepts are constructed through science, law & policy, & cultural forms, how those concepts shape our lived experience, & how an understanding of that process might lead to more productive debates in science, law & policy, & ethics, and to constructive social and environmental change.

ENVIRON390 - Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy
Description: Content to be determined each semester.

ENVIRON390-1 - Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 390-1
Title: Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy
Description: Content to be determined each semester. Consent of instructor required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Topics differ by section.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>390D</td>
<td>Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Content to be determined each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>390LA</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Away: Special Topics</td>
<td>Content to be determined each session.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Same as Environment 390, taught as seminar.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>390S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Content to be determined each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>390SA</td>
<td>Special Topics in Environmental Sciences and Policy</td>
<td>Marine Lab version of Environment 390S. Student must be enrolled at Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual readings course or other non-research-based independent course under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Open to qualified students with consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>391-1</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>See Environment 391. Open to qualified students with consent of instructor. Half credit.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course Code</td>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON393</td>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON393-1</td>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>393-1</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON394</td>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>394</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ENVIRON445A - Climate Change in the Marine Environment

Description
Exploration of climate change science focusing on marine ecosystems and inhabitants - specifically ocean acidification, warming and sea level rise. Factors causing climate change, and how those vary spatially, focusing on sensitive polar ecosystems and marine mammal populations. Critical examination of climate change modeling using EdGCM (research-grade Global Climate Model), focusing on how scientists use models, observations/theory to predict climate, and assumptions/uncertainty implicit in modeling. Discussion of potential human impacts including consequences of sea level rise and potential increases in disease due to climate change. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

ENVIRON454 - Rainforest Engineering

Description
An open-format project-based class for student team design with a focus on rainforests and related environments. Engages students in cross-disciplinary team challenges that teach them to work together with other students of differing backgrounds and skills. Design challenges are similar to the XPRIZE contests, or the NAE Grand Challenges. Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 230L or 250D or 270DL or 280L or Mechanical Engineering 221L or Engineering 244L or Environment 102.

ENVIRON461 - Ocean Engineering

Description
A challenging Ocean Engineering project will be undertaken in this class. Past examples include participation in a national XPRIZE contest to build an Ocean Sensor. Students define project scope and form task-oriented sub-teams to make significant progress toward overall class project goal. Students are expected to spend several hours per week outside of class working on the team projects. Students will need to be in teams that can all meet for at least couple of hours at the same time each week. Prerequisite: one of ECE 230L, ECE 250D, ECE 270DL, ECE 280L, Mechanical Engineering 221L, Engineering 244L, or Environment 102.

ENVIRON464 - Mathematics of Dynamical Systems Describing Complex Environmental Phenomena: A Modern Crystal Ball?

Description
Environmental problems require construction of and solutions to systems of equations for relations between rates and states of variables. Covers construction and use of differential equations and corollary analytical tools. Differential equations used to explain concepts as stability, resilience, and equilibria (e.g. climate, ecosystems, conservation efforts). Computer-aided software (MATHEMATICA and Matlab) used to solve analytically and numerically such equations. Case studies illustrate the mathematical tools derived in dynamical systems (e.g. bifurcations and catastrophe theory, boom-bust, crashes). Prerequisite: Mathematics 111L or equivalent and Physics 141L or equivalent.
ENVIRON470S - Capstone: Research in Human Rights

Subject  ENVIRON
Catalog Number  470S
Title  Capstone: Research in Human Rights

Description
A primary learning objective is to have students connect the intellectual themes and scholarly knowledge they have developed in the Gateway, Introduction to Human Rights, and the electives they have taken toward the Human Rights Certificate. The course integrates co-curricular rights-related experiences (through DukeEngage, DukeImmerse, internships and volunteer placements). The capstone culminates in a final project. Students may work in teams toward a final project so long as each student's work is evaluated separately and at a high standard. Prerequisite: Cultural Anthropology 104D. Consent of director of undergraduate studies required.

---

ENVIRON476A - Data and Time Series Analysis in Marine Sciences

Subject  ENVIRON
Catalog Number  476A
Title  Data and Time Series Analysis in Marine Sciences

Description
This course is designed for students in marine and environmental science disciplines to learn data analysis skills, including analysis techniques and their implementation using MATLAB or R. Topics include: discrete sampling issues, data outlier and rejection tests, interpolation and gridding, error and propagation of uncertainty, coordinate rotations and principal axes, curve fits, regression, bootstrapping, filtering, spectral and harmonic analysis, spatial analyses. Other topics may be included or substituted depending on student interests. The course is structured as mix of weekly lectures and linked workshops applying methods to marine and environmental data sets. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Instructor consent is required.

---

ENVIRON495 - Senior Capstone Course

Subject  ENVIRON
Catalog Number  495
Title  Senior Capstone Course

Description
Interdisciplinary and in-depth study of contemporary environmental issues. Content to be determined each semester. Prerequisite: Environment 201. Consent of instructor required.

---

ENVIRON496 - Advanced Research in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject  ENVIRON
Catalog Number  496
Title  Advanced Research in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Description
Advanced research in Environmental Sciences and Policy leading to Graduation with Distinction. Weekly one-hour seminars to guide student's independent research towards thesis. Topics include background context through efficient library searches of literature, hypothesis testing, research design, data analysis, and proposal writing. Students write a proposal including a comprehensive literature review, methods description, and preliminary results demonstrating methods' feasibility. Student peer-review used to explore various topics. Students are expected to work with a faculty mentor conducting original research in a research independent study.
ENVIRON497 - Communicating Research in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 497
Title: Communicating Research in Environmental Sciences and Policy

Description
Weekly one-hour workshop intended for students writing a senior thesis in Earth and Ocean Sciences, Environmental Sciences, or Environmental Sciences and Policy. Topics include writing styles of environmental sciences in natural and social sciences, presentation of data analysis and findings, written and visual communication of research findings. Using peer-review of participants writing, each student will communicate their knowledge and perspective to other, develop a depth of knowledge in their particular area while gaining knowledge in various environmental topics. Assessments will be based on peer evaluation of iterations of sections of thesis drafts and poster drafts. Instructor consent required.

ENVIRON498S - Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 498S
Title: Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Description
Capstone for Certificate in Sustainability Engagement open to senior undergraduates who have completed all other Certificate requirements. Interdisciplinary insights to shed light on major contemporary debates in sustainability and world's most pressing problems. Synthesis and integration of ideas, concepts, and themes from their academic coursework and experiential activities with each dimension of sustainability, enhancing their systems analysis of chosen theme. Classes include discussion, readings, and guest speakers on topics in sustainability. May include fieldwork and other learning experiences relevant to sustainability. Held in Spring semesters. Open only to Sustainability Engagement certificate students. Prerequisite: Sustainability Engagement 245/Environment 245.

ENVIRON498SD - Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 498SD
Title: Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Description
Capstone for Certificate in Sustainability Engagement open to senior undergraduates who have completed all other Certificate requirements. Interdisciplinary insights to shed light on major contemporary debates in sustainability and world's most pressing problems. Synthesis and integration of ideas, concepts, and themes from their academic coursework and experiential activities with each dimension of sustainability, enhancing their systems analysis of chosen theme. Classes include discussion, readings, and guest speakers on topics in sustainability. May include fieldwork and other learning experiences relevant to sustainability. Held in Spring semesters. Open only to Sustainability Engagement certificate students. Prerequisite: Sustainability Engagement 245/Environment 245.

ENVIRON89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject: ENVIRON
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

---

Duke University
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ENVIRON</td>
<td>89SD</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EOS</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>The Dynamic Earth</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to the dynamic processes that shape the Earth and the environment and their impact upon society. Volcanoes, earthquakes, seafloor spreading, floods, landslides, groundwater, seashores and geohazards. Emphasis on examining the lines of inductive and deductive reasoning, quantitative methods, modes of inquiry, and technological developments that lead to understanding the Earth’s dynamic systems.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EOS</td>
<td>101D</td>
<td>The Dynamic Earth</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to the dynamic processes that shape the Earth and the environment and their impact upon society. Volcanoes, earthquakes, seafloor spreading, floods, landslides, groundwater, seashores and geohazards. Emphasis on examining the lines of inductive and deductive reasoning, quantitative methods, modes of inquiry, and technological developments that lead to understanding the Earth’s dynamic systems.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EOS</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>The Dynamic Oceans</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The oceans and their impact on the Earth's surface, climate, and society. Topics include seafloor evolution, marine hazards, ocean currents and climate, waves and beach erosion, tides, hurricanes/cyclones, marine life and ecosystems, and marine resources. Emphasis on the historical, society and economic roots of oceanography, the formulation and testing of hypotheses, quantitative assessment of data, and technological developments that lead to understanding of current and future societal issues involving the oceans.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EOS</td>
<td>103</td>
<td>Climate Change for Future Leaders</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The science of climate change, including the factors that control the Earth’s climate system, the methods used to study climate variations, the nature of climate models and prediction scenarios, the changes of the Earth's climate through time, and the evidence that modern-day climate change is human-induced. Related topics include examination of the impacts of climate change on past and present societies, biodiversity, and human health, as well as potential alternative energy and engineering solutions, and the social, political, religious and economic challenges associated with responding and adapting to climate change.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EOS</td>
<td>201L</td>
<td>The Solid Earth: Minerals, Rocks, and Structural Geology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Description and interpretation of minerals, rocks and geologic structures. Lectures on theoretical aspects, lab on practical applications and use of petrographic microscope. Instructor consent required. Prerequisite: Earth and Ocean Sciences 101.
EOS202 - Atmosphere and Ocean Dynamics

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Atmosphere and Ocean Dynamics

Description: Introduction to the dynamics of ocean and atmospheric circulations, and their role in the global climate system. Prerequisite: Mathematics 21 and 122, Physics 141L or consent of instructor.

EOS203 - The Surface of the Earth

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 203
Title: The Surface of the Earth

Description: Fundamental earth surface processes involving weathering, soils, hillslopes, rivers, wind, glaciers, and tectonic activity. Humans as agents of landscape change. The future of landscape. Prerequisite: Earth and Ocean Sciences 101 or 102. Instructor consent required.

EOS204 - Evolving Earth and Life: Past and Future Challenges

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Evolving Earth and Life: Past and Future Challenges

Description: This course focuses on fifteen prehistoric events that changed life and the planet forever. These events are relevant to modern-day challenges and provide insights into how humanity might manage and solve current and inevitable future earth crises. Following the adage that humans are destined to repeat a history they do not know, students learn that a study of the deep past is no mere intellectual exercise, but a unique and relevant source of information and solutions, necessary for the short- and long-term survival of the human species. Taught online.

EOS204L - Evolving Earth and Life

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 204L
Title: Evolving Earth and Life

Description: Evolution of the earth and life through time, focusing on earth events that fundamentally changed life and the planet. Understanding the evolution of the earth and life is relevant to modern-day challenges, and provide insights into how humanity might manage and solve current and inevitable future earth crises. Weekend field trip to Appalachian Mountains. Recommended prerequisite: Earth and Climate Sciences 101.

EOS210S - Exploring Earth Sciences: Field and Laboratory Investigations

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 210S
Title: Exploring Earth Sciences: Field and Laboratory Investigations

Description: Exploration of key concepts in Earth sciences using field and laboratory techniques. Focus on collecting, analyzing and interpreting observational, geophysical, and geochemical data in order to experience how scientists conduct research to answer fundamental questions about how the Earth works. Modules vary by semester and may include local and global studies of plate tectonics, geological history, groundwater and surface water, geohazards, geophysical imaging of the sub-surface, geochemical chemical analyses, remote sensing studies, and how humans impact these systems. Local fieldwork and optional weekend fieldtrip to Appalachians or NC coast. Pre- or co-requisite: ECS/EOS 101.

EOS212S - Exploring Climate Sciences: Data-driven investigations

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 212S
Title: Exploring Climate Sciences: Data-driven investigations

Description: Exploration of key concepts in climate sciences using field, computational and laboratory techniques. Focus on collecting, analyzing and interpreting climate data and observations, in order to experience how scientists conduct research to answer fundamental questions about how the climate system works. Modules vary by semester, including local and global examinations of short-term and long-term climate variability and human impacts on the climate system. Field trip to a local weather station, e.g. Duke Forest or NC ECONet, to learn how meteorological data are collected. Recommended pre/corequisite: ECS/EOS 103.
EOS220 - Water Sciences: Principles and Challenges

Subject
EOS

Catalog Number 220

Title
Water Sciences: Principles and Challenges

Description
Fundamental principles and challenges in water sciences on local, regional and global scales. Topics include the global hydrological cycle, impact of climate change on water availability, principles of surface water and groundwater flow, fundamentals of water quality, the energy-water nexus, and scientific and technological approaches used to trace pollutants and remediate contamination. Relationships between human activities (anthropogenic effects) and naturally occurring processes that affect local and global water availability and quality. Emphasis on cutting edge water research and human and environmental impacts. Recommended prerequisite: Earth and Ocean Sciences 101, Environment 102, or equivalents, and introductory chemistry.

EOS226DS - Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences

Subject
EOS

Catalog Number
226DS

Title
Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences

Description
Introduction to basic field methods used in the earth and environmental sciences. Field investigations focus on topics such as groundwater and surface water movements, soil chemistry and identification, topographic and geologic mapping, the atmosphere/soil interface, and plant identification and distributions. Design of a field investigation, collection of data to address a specific goal, and interpretation and reporting of the results. Emphasis on learning to report field results in the format of scientific publications. Visits to five local field sites. Open only to juniors and seniors.

EOS226S - Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences

Subject
EOS

Catalog Number
226S

Title
Field Methods in Earth and Environmental Sciences

Description
Introduction to basic field methods used in the earth and environmental sciences. Field investigations focus on topics such as groundwater and surface water movements, soil chemistry and identification, topographic and geologic mapping, the atmosphere/soil interface, and plant identification and distributions. Design of a field investigation, collection of data to address a specific goal, and interpretation and reporting of the results. Emphasis on learning to report field results in the format of scientific publications. Visits to five local field sites. Open only to juniors and seniors.

EOS231 - Energy and the Environment

Subject
EOS

Catalog Number 231

Title
Energy and the Environment

Description
Overview of the challenges confronting humanity as a consequence of our reliance on energy. Challenges include dwindling supplies, rising demand and environmental degradation. Realistic responses require an understanding of the complexity of the energy system, including energy resources, uses, and impacts, in the context of social, political and economic imperatives. Lectures will be augmented by presentations from guest speakers from industry, government and non-profit organizations.
EOS239 - Introduction to Atmospheric Chemistry: From Air Pollution to Climate Change

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 239
Title Introduction to Atmospheric Chemistry: From Air Pollution to Climate Change

Description Integrated scientific background for the impact of humans on the natural environment. Topics covered include greenhouse gases and climate, local and regional ozone pollution, long-range pollution transport, acid rain, atmospheric particulate matter pollution, and stratospheric ozone depletion. Prerequisite: Chemistry 101DL.

---

EOS272A - Analysis of Ocean Ecosystems

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 272A
Title Analysis of Ocean Ecosystems

Description The history, utility, and heuristic value of the ecosystem; ocean systems in the context of Odum's ecosystem concept; structure and function of the earth's major ecosystems. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: one year of biology, one year of chemistry, or consent of instructor.

---

EOS273LA - Biological Oceanography

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 273LA
Title Biological Oceanography

Description Discusses patterns of abundance, diversity and activity of organisms in major ocean ecosystems. Identifies major physical, chemical and ecological processes that affect these patterns, and analyzes impact of biology on ecosystems. Uses a 'flipped' classroom for enhanced development of quantitative skills to measure these patterns, emphasizing hands-on data collection and analyses, multiple field trips aboard DUMIL research vessels, and participatory activities to demonstrate core concepts in biological oceanography. Taught at Duke Marine Lab. Spring section requires travel. Recommended intro bio or AP Bio credit. Instructor consent required; visit DUMIL website for details.

---

EOS280LA - Sound in the Sea: Introduction to Marine Bioacoustics

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 280LA
Title Sound in the Sea: Introduction to Marine Bioacoustics

Description Fundamentals of marine bioacoustics with a focus on current literature and conservation issues. Topics include: introduction to acoustics; acoustic analysis methods and quantitative tools; production and recording of sound; ocean noise; propagation theory; active and passive acoustics; hearing, sound production and communication in marine organisms, potential impacts of anthropogenic noise; and regulation of marine sound. Labs will focus on methodologies used for generating, recording and analyzing marine sounds. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: AP Biology, introductory biology, or consent of instructor; Physics 141L or 164L (or equivalent Physics courses) or consent of instructor.

---

EOS287A - Biodiversity of Alaska

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 287A
Title Biodiversity of Alaska

Description Ecology/biodiversity and conservation in Alaska: identification and natural history of native plants and animals including both terrestrial and marine species, biogeographic history and patterns, native American cultures, conservation issues surrounding Alaskan natural resources. Regional, national, and geopolitical issues surrounding development and conservation in Alaska and elsewhere in the arctic. Lectures and discussions complemented by field trips to examine terrestrial, aquatic, and marine ecosystems across the three major Alaskan biomes: coastal rainforest, boreal coniferous forest, arctic/alpine. Taught in Alaska.

---

EOS288A - Biogeography in an Australian Context

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 288A
Title Biogeography in an Australian Context

Description Distribution of plants and animals in space and time as determined by the interaction of geophysics, geology, climate, and evolutionary history. Special emphasis on the unique terrestrial and marine faunas and floras of the Australian continent and on the impact of humans on the distribution of these plants and animals. Taught in Australia.
EOS290A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Earth and Ocean Sciences

Description
Topics differ by section.

EOS315 - Waves, Beaches, and Coastline Dynamics

Subject
EOS
Catalog Number 315
Title
Waves, Beaches, and Coastline Dynamics

Description
Oceanographic and geologic processes responsible for the evolution of nearshore features; fluid motions of many time scales in the nearshore environment, including waves and currents. Conceptual basis for models of how fluid motions interact with the shape of the beach and bed in the surf zone, giving rise to features such as beach cusps, bars, channels, and barrier islands. Various attempted engineering and coastal management solutions to the global retreat of shorelines.

EOS316A - Beach and Island Geological Processes

Subject
EOS
Catalog Number
316A
Title
Beach and Island Geological Processes

Description
Field seminar on the evolution of beaches and barrier islands with emphasis on the interactions between nearshore processes and human development. Prerequisite: Earth and Climate Sciences 315/515 or consent of instructor. Also taught as Earth and Climate Sciences 716A.

EOS322 - Hydrologic and Environmental Data Analysis

Subject
EOS
Catalog Number 322
Title
Hydrologic and Environmental Data Analysis

Description
Focus on development of quantitative approaches used to interpret observations on hydrological and environmental processes across space and time, with application to case studies in water science. In this course, we will (1) generate knowledge of fundamental processes in aquatic ecosystems as they relate to contemporary issues, (2) apply data science skills to datasets in the water resources field, and (3) quantitatively explore a topic in aquatic science through an in-depth course project. Recommended prerequisite: prior experience with computational software (R preferred; Stata, MATLAB, and/or GIS acceptable). Instructor consent required.

EOS323 - Landscape Hydrology

Subject
EOS
Catalog Number 323
Title
Landscape Hydrology

Description
Introduction to hydrology examining how rainfall and snowmelt become streamflow, groundwater and atmospheric water, with emphasis on hydrological processes inside watersheds. Topics include: the hydrologic cycle and water balances, evapotranspiration and snow energy balances, vadose zone hydrology, hydrogeology, hyporheic zones, riparian zones, streamflow generation mechanisms, biogeochemical budgets, and field measurement techniques. Linkages between physical hydrology and broader ecological and environmental sciences will be highlighted.

EOS325 - The Anthropocene: The Next Epoch of Geologic History

Subject
EOS
Catalog Number 325
Title
The Anthropocene: The Next Epoch of Geologic History

Description
Introduction to the next epoch of geologic history. The evolution of the technosphere, the global human-technological system that increasingly dominates biology, hydrology, and other major natural earth systems. The future of the earth and humanity. Instructor consent required. Prerequisite: Earth and Climate Sciences 101 or 203.
EOS355 - Global Warming

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 355
Title Global Warming

Description
Broad, interdisciplinary course on the observations, causes, and consequences of climate change. Course will cover modern and paleoclimate observations, human and natural drivers, and links between drivers and responses. Building on this physical science base, course will then analyze how socioeconomic choices affect future climate as well as the factors influencing those choices, including risk analyses, geoengineering proposals, climate metrics and the media.

EOS355D - Global Warming

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 355D
Title Global Warming

Description
Broad, interdisciplinary course on the observations, causes, and consequences of climate change. Course will cover modern and paleoclimate observations, human and natural drivers, and links between drivers and responses. Building on this physical science base, course will then analyze how socioeconomic choices affect future climate as well as the factors influencing those choices, including risk analyses, geoengineering proposals, climate metrics and the media.

EOS359 - Fundamentals of GIS and Geospatial Analysis

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 359
Title Fundamentals of GIS and Geospatial Analysis

Description
Fundamental aspects of geographic information systems and satellite remote sensing for environmental applications. Concepts of geographic data development, cartography, image processing, and spatial analysis. Consent of instructor is required.

EOS364S - Changing Oceans

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 364S
Title Changing Oceans

Description
Our oceans are under severe stress. This seminar will explore human disturbances of marine environments, including ocean warming, sea level rise, melting of ice caps and sea ice, ocean acidification, coastal eutrophication, changes in primary production and food web dynamics, invasive species, overfishing, increased subsurface hypoxia, changes in circulation, stratification, and physical, chemical (e.g. oil spills) and noise pollution.

EOS365 - Introduction to Weather and Climate

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 365
Title Introduction to Weather and Climate

Description
Introduction to weather and climate. Topics include atmospheric structure, composition, circulation and energy properties; severe weather events such as cyclones, hurricanes, and tornadoes; ozone depletion; natural climate variability, climate change and global warming.

EOS370A - Physical Oceanography

Subject EOS
Catalog Number 370A
Title Physical Oceanography

Description
Fundamental physical principles of ocean circulation. Physical properties of seawater; forces acting on the oceans such as heat, pressure gradients, wind stress, rotation, and friction; and conservation equations for heat, mass and momentum. Applications include geostrophic balances, thermal wind, coastally trapped waves, El Nino/ENSO, and tidal circulation. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: one year of calculus and one semester of physics, or permission of instructor.
EOS374L - Marine Ecology

Subject  EOS
Catalog Number  374L
Title  Marine Ecology

Description
Distribution, abundance, and diversity of marine organisms, including a survey of the major flora and fauna in the marine environment, including physical characteristics, adaptation to environment, species interactions, biogeography, larval recruitment, and biodiversity and conservation of communities found in rocky shores, tidal flats, beaches, marshes, mangrove, coral reefs, and subtidal areas. Lectures, field excursions, lab exercises and an independent project. Taught fall, spring, and summer; spring enrollment requires travel. Recommended prerequisite: AP biology or introductory biology.

---

EOS374LA - Marine Ecology

Subject  EOS
Catalog Number  374LA
Title  Marine Ecology

Description
Distribution, abundance, and diversity of marine organisms, including a survey of the major flora and fauna in the marine environment, including physical characteristics, adaptation to environment, species interactions, biogeography, larval recruitment, and biodiversity and conservation of communities found in rocky shores, tidal flats, beaches, marshes, mangrove, coral reefs, and subtidal areas. Lectures, field excursions, lab exercises and an independent project. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Taught fall, spring, and summer; spring enrollment requires travel. Recommended intro bio or AP Bio credit. Instructor consent required, visit DUML website for details.

---

EOS377L - Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Subject  EOS
Catalog Number  377L
Title  Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Description
An introduction to the biodiversity represented by major marine invertebrate groups, with emphasis on the diversity of body forms and behaviors and on anatomical structures and functions. Field trips primarily by boat allow students to explore invertebrates characteristic of a variety of coastal habitats in North Carolina, including mud flats, sandy beaches, salt marshes, oyster reefs, piers and docks, and the water column. Live invertebrates maintained in the laboratory serve as models for detailed study of form and function.

---

EOS377LA - Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Subject  EOS
Catalog Number  377LA
Title  Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Description
An introduction to the biodiversity represented by major marine invertebrate groups, with emphasis on the diversity of body forms and behaviors and on anatomical structures and functions. Field trips primarily by boat allow students to explore invertebrates characteristic of a variety of coastal habitats in North Carolina, including mud flats, sandy beaches, salt marshes, oyster reefs, piers and docks, and the water column. Live invertebrates maintained in the laboratory serve as models for detailed study of form and function. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

---

EOS390 - Special Topics in Earth and Ocean Sciences

Subject  EOS
Catalog Number  390
Title  Special Topics in Earth and Ocean Sciences

Description
Content to be determined each semester. Consent of instructor required.

---

EOS390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Earth and Ocean Sciences

Subject  EOS
Catalog Number  390A
Title  Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Earth and Ocean Sciences

Description
Topics differ by section.
EOS391 - Independent Study

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study
Description: Directed reading or individual projects. Term paper required. Open only to qualified students by consent of director of undergraduate studies and supervising instructor.

EOS393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to qualified students by consent of director of undergraduate studies and supervising instructor.

EOS393-1 - Research Independent Study

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 393-1
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See EOS 393. Open to qualified students with consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies. Half course.

EOS393A - Research Independent Study

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 393A
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: Marine Lab version of Earth and Ocean Sciences 393. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

EOS394 - Research Independent Study

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See Earth and Ocean Sciences 393. Open to qualified students by consent of director of undergraduate studies and supervising instructor.

EOS401 - Field Exploration of the Geology of North Carolina

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 401
Title: Field Exploration of the Geology of North Carolina
Description: Introduction to the geological history of North Carolina with an emphasis on active learning and field-based inquiry. Class time serves as preparation and background for two one-day and one overnight weekend field trips. An introductory geology background is useful but not required.
EOS402S - Volcanology: Geology of Hawaii

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 402S
Title: Volcanology: Geology of Hawaii

Description:
Geology of volcanic processes and the benefits and hazards they present to society. Lectures, discussion and student presentations of independent research reports. Required field trip to Hawaii during spring break. Prerequisite: Earth and Ocean Climate 101 recommended. Consent of instructor required.

EOS403 - Geology and Natural History of the Yellowstone Region

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 403
Title: Geology and Natural History of the Yellowstone Region

Description:
This course is a laboratory and field-trip based examination of the geological history of Yellowstone Country. We will look at the formation and deformational history of the Wyoming Thrust Belt, the volcanic history of the Absaroka Range, the dramatic activity and influence of the arrival of the Yellowstone Hotspot during the Pleistocene (and present day), the complex tectonic and world-famous glacial history of the Grand Tetons, and learn about the unique Eocene lacustrine and fluvial settings of the Wyoming Fossil Basin.

EOS410S - Senior Capstone Experience

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 410S
Title: Senior Capstone Experience

Description:
Senior capstone field trip course. Field location varies. Topics in geology, hydrology, biology, climate, and other environmental subjects as appropriate for field area, especially human impact on the earth and the role of earth scientists as observers and teachers of earth-system change. Course content partially determined by students. Prerequisites: Open only to senior Earth and Ocean Climate majors. Department consent required.

EOS89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject: EOS
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar

Description:
Topics vary each semester offered.

ETHICS101 - The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 101
Title: The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life

Description:
Familiar but fundamental ethical questions: What is a good, worthy or just life? How is it to be lived, toward what ends? Readings include dramas and philosophical analyses, parables and auto-biographies, polemics and meditations, novels and political commentaries. Introductory course for the Ethics & Society Certificate.

ETHICS101D - The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 101D
Title: The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life

Description:
Familiar but fundamental ethical questions: What is a good, worthy or just life? How is it to be lived, toward what ends? Readings include dramas and philosophical analyses, parables and autobiographies, polemics and meditations, novels and political commentaries. Introductory course for the Certificate Program in the Study of Ethics.
ETHICS123 - Private Wealth and Public Giving: A Modern History

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 123
Title: Private Wealth and Public Giving: A Modern History

Description
Surveys the entangled relationship between private wealth and public giving over the past few centuries of capitalist modernity in Asia, Europe, and the United States. Explores how the entrepreneurial impulse to make money has also been shadowed by the ethical imperative to give it away. Analysis of the circumstances and contexts in which the apparent altruism of givers is also motivated by self-interest. The major topics include study of religious giving; the historical roots of philanthropy in the age of imperialism; the evolution of ideas of 'Trusteeship' and 'creative capitalism;' gender and philanthropy; and 'celebrity' philanthropy.

ETHICS129FS - Human Rights and World Politics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 129FS
Title: Human Rights and World Politics

Description
Examines the role of human rights and global justice in world politics. We will consider questions such as whether human rights are universal, what role human rights and global justice should be play in U.S. foreign policy, which strategies are most effective in promoting human rights and global justice, and which risk inciting backlash. The course will cover topics including civil and political rights; economic, social and cultural rights; genocide, torture, humanitarian intervention, and the international criminal court.

ETHICS140FS - On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 140FS
Title: On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Description
By studying written and oral storytelling (including news articles, research reports, case histories, speeches, etc.), this course explores arguments for, and critiques of, appealing to stories in the face of suffering—personal and environmental—and starts articulating theological and ethical implications of 'being an engaged witness in the world.' We will listen to historical and contemporary voices that have shaped our views of the world, explore characteristics of pseudoscientific movements that make us squirm, and dig into the apparent and real differences between scientific, experiential, and theological reasoning. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

ETHICS150FS - Citizenship, Patriotism, & Identity

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 150FS
Title: Citizenship, Patriotism, & Identity

Description
This course introduces students to fundamental moral questions about nation states and individuals' membership in them. Do people owe more to their compatriots than to foreigners? Is it desirable—or at least permissible—for countries to have and promote a national identity? What different forms can patriotism take, and in which (if any) of these forms is it a virtue? Should we all be 'citizens of the world?' These questions will be explored primarily through readings in contemporary moral and political philosophy. Open only to students in the Focus Program.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS160FS</td>
<td>160FS</td>
<td>ETHICS160FS - Globalization and Corporate Citizenship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS170FS</td>
<td>170FS</td>
<td>ETHICS170FS - Liberty and Equality: Ancient and Modern Perspectives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS178FS</td>
<td>178FS</td>
<td>ETHICS178FS - Neoliberalism and US Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS179FS</td>
<td>179FS</td>
<td>ETHICS179FS - Documenting Youth Movements for Environment and Racial Justice Since 2010</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ETHICS160FS - Globalization and Corporate Citizenship

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
160FS

Title
Globalization and Corporate Citizenship

Description
Are corporations citizens? And if so who defines their rights and responsibilities? To whom are they obligated? This course will critically examine the origins and diffusion of increasingly prevalent notions of corporate citizenship and corporate social responsibility from an anthropological perspective. Particular emphasis will be upon corporate environmental and conservation policies in East Africa and the United States. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Director of undergraduate studies consent required.

ETHICS170FS - Liberty and Equality: Ancient and Modern Perspectives

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
170FS

Title
Liberty and Equality: Ancient and Modern Perspectives

Description
Examines the democratic values of liberty and equality in Greek, Roman, and American political thought. Are democracy and liberty allies or foes? What is the relationship between liberty and equality? Is freedom possible under non-democratic regimes? Is individual liberty protected by equal and inalienable human rights? What is the relationship between individual liberties and aspirations for a good and just society? Why have some democratic societies embraced imperialism or slavery? Readings drawn from Aristophanes, Thucydides, Plato, Aristotle, Cicero, Epictetus, Tacitus, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Lincoln, Douglass, London, Du Bois, Hamer, King, and Vonnegut, among others. Focus only.

ETHICS178FS - Neoliberalism and US Politics

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
178FS

Title
Neoliberalism and US Politics

Description
Neoliberalism is a philosophical framework so intrinsic to contemporary US politics that it can be difficult for Americans to articulate, contemplate, and critique. In this course, we will define neoliberalism, evaluate its role in US politics and society, and discuss alternative social and political worldviews.

ETHICS179FS - Documenting Youth Movements for Environment and Racial Justice Since 2010

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
179FS

Title
Documenting Youth Movements for Environment and Racial Justice Since 2010

Description
Immersion in the dangerous and contentious recent history of youth activism in environmental and racial justice movements worldwide. Using oral history, archival research methods, and cultural production, students explore methods for researching documenting and creating narratives of youth social activism. Historical and contemporary youth campaigns explored in this course include those to protect land, soil, air and people from pollutants in Black, Indigenous, and Global South communities. All of these movements have expanded the legal, narrative, and practical understanding of environmental and human rights in US and global frameworks.
ETHICS182FS - Beyond Denial - A Thriving Future

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
182FS

Title
Beyond Denial - A Thriving Future

Description
Part of the Focus cluster 'It's Not Too Late to Build a Better World,' requires permission. What are the roots of the climate crisis or unparalleled inequality? This course explores big ideas as well as specific models that envision a radically different future, one that provides for the common good within our given biophysical limits, including discourses such as post-growth, wellbeing, and care economics; eco-feminism; eco-anarchism; decolonization; ecological justice; and commoning. A reading and discussion intensive course that uses an interdisciplinary approach and includes elements of research, individual and group presentations, as well as a writing requirement.

ETHICS188FS - American Perspectives on Citizenship

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
188FS

Title
American Perspectives on Citizenship

Description
An overview of American perspectives on citizenship. Explores ongoing controversies about the influence of liberalism and republicanism on American conceptions of citizenship, whether American individualism threatens civic duty, whether civil disobedience is justified, whether there are certain values and experiences that all American citizens should share, and whether national identities are relevant in an increasingly global world. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number 189

Title

Description
Integration and practice course to accompany What Now? full-credit seminars. Provides a space for synthesis of seminar-specific learning with program-wide facilitated conversations, community building, and activities. Course content will include regular weekly reflections and an integrative semester capstone project identifying key insights on individual students' semester experiences and deliberative next steps through Duke.

ETHICS190 - Special Topics on Ethics

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
190

Title
Special Topics on Ethics

Description
Topics vary by semester.

ETHICS190FS - Special Topics in Ethics (Focus Program)

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
190FS

Title
Special Topics in Ethics (Focus Program)

Description
Topics vary. Open only to students in the Focus program. Topics course. Department consent required.

ETHICS190S - Special Topics in Ethics

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
190S

Title
Special Topics in Ethics

Description
Topics vary each semester.
ETHICS193FS - Dynamics of Environmental & Climate Justice: Movements, Countermovements, & Institutional Response

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
193FS

Title
Dynamics of Environmental & Climate Justice: Movements, Countermovements, & Institutional Response

Description
This course examines the contentious politics of the environmental justice and climate justice movements. We explore how these movements and their opposition work to shape political opportunities and responses. We will consider the substantive concerns of the environmental justice movement, the climate justice movement, their methods, and the scales at which they operate (local, national, global). Social movements of political significance will generate opposition. So, we will consider the countermovements that challenge both justice movements. These topics will be explored using a range of materials as well as through field observations of movement activities and other events. FOCUS program students only.

ETHICS194FS - Beyond Disagreement and Cozy Consensus

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
194FS

Title
Beyond Disagreement and Cozy Consensus

Description
Part of the 'Ethics, Leadership & Global Citizenship' Focus cluster. Introduction to tools and concepts in ethics, critical reasoning, politics, and psychology. Emphasis on identifying and framing the right questions about justice, democracy, identity, etc; then criticizing or justifying answers to such questions. Readings range from classics in the history of Western thought, to country and western music, and Kanye West. Open only to students in the Focus program. Instructor consent required.

ETHICS195S - Human Rights and Legal Redress: Seeking Justice through Human Rights

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
195S

Title
Human Rights and Legal Redress: Seeking Justice through Human Rights

Description
In this course, students will analyze through case studies the issues that confront the implementation of human rights ethics down through the layers separated by geography and culture to local implementation and enforcement. They will acquire an understanding of the international, regional and local human rights conventions and structures which propose, cultivate and enforce the ethical norms of the international human rights regime. This class addresses questions including: in what respects do enforcement options differ from place to place? When, where and under what circumstances is the human rights apparatus most effective in providing redress for rights violations? And, what are the alternatives to the human rights approach to justice?

ETHICS199FS - Refugees, Rights, and Resettlement

Subject
ETHICS

Catalog Number
199FS

Title
Refugees, Rights, and Resettlement

Description
35 million refugees and internally displaced persons in the world. A comparative historical overview of international refugee policy and law dealing with this growing population. Students will grapple with the ethical challenges posed by humanitarian intervention on behalf of refugees and the often unintended consequences of such policies. Students examine case studies to determine how different models for dealing with refugee resettlement affect the life chances of refugees. Service-learning course. Students will work with refugees from Bhutan, Burma and Iraq recently resettled in Durham. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS201 - Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change</td>
<td>ETHICS 201</td>
<td>Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change</td>
<td>Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS201S - Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)</td>
<td>ETHICS 201S</td>
<td>Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)</td>
<td>Description: Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality. Consent of instructor is required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS202 - Conservatism</td>
<td>ETHICS 202</td>
<td>Conservatism</td>
<td>Social or 'moral' conservatives are rare birds in the modern university. Who are these people and why do they think as they do? This course will explore the historical and intellectual foundations of this branch of conservatism in the Western world. Topics will include religion and politics, views of modernity and liberalism, the value of tradition, human nature and purpose, social justice, marriage, sexuality, abortion, family, natural law, the sanctity of human life, religious freedom, constitutional law, the basis of rights, free markets, and conservatism in higher education. Authors will include philosophers, theologians, and political theorists. Lively discussion will be encouraged.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS203 - How to Think in an Age of Political Polarization</td>
<td>ETHICS 203</td>
<td>How to Think in an Age of Political Polarization</td>
<td>Americans today live in a time of deep political polarization, cultural tribalism, and self-segregation. To many, it feels like we’re in the middle of a cultural civil war that is turning violent. Those with whom we have deep disagreements, assuming we interact with them at all, are often viewed as not just wrong but as irrational, immoral, even contemptible. Is this a good thing? What sort of habits of mind (e.g. intellectual humility and charity) and practices should we cultivate in response to this reality in order to sustain a healthy democracy? Special attention paid to the university, cancel culture, free speech, social media, and identity politics. Lively discussion is encouraged.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS204 - Feminist Ethics</td>
<td>ETHICS 204</td>
<td>Feminist Ethics</td>
<td>Do women experience the world differently than men? An examination of women's experience, women's ways of knowing, ethical systems and feminist critique, patriarchy, dualistic thinking, gender oppression, care ethics, ethical dilemmas. Lecture version of GSF 367S.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS204S - Feminist Ethics</td>
<td>ETHICS 204S</td>
<td>Feminist Ethics</td>
<td>Description: Do women experience the world differently than men? An examination of women's experience, women's ways of knowing, ethical systems and feminist critique, patriarchy, dualistic thinking, gender oppression, care ethics, ethical dilemmas.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ETHICS205S - Composing Oneself: Stress, Identity, and Wellness

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 205S
Title: Composing Oneself: Stress, Identity, and Wellness

Description
Interdisciplinary exploration of arts and science related to stress, identity, and wellness. Multi-dimensional focus fusing science, theory, art, literature, and performance to understand structural causes of stress, their physiological effects, and how stressors impact our identities and community ethics. Through text analysis and experience, students explore how arts of wellness, including yoga, mindfulness, and art therapies, impact stress, identity, and ethics. Course texts include literary and discourse theory, social science, neuroscience, and primary texts related to stress, identity, and wellness, including nonfiction, fiction, poetry, art, music, performance.

ETHICS210 - The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life's Ultimate Concerns

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 210
Title: The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life's Ultimate Concerns

Description
What does it look like for a human life to go well? What leads to human flourishing or 'happiness' or 'success'? What is freedom? Love? Justice? What is the basis for ethics? What is our relationship to the natural world? What is the significance of death? How do our beliefs (or lack thereof) about God or the gods shape how we view the world? We will examine how philosophical or religious traditions around the globe have answered life's biggest questions. Traditions may include Confucianism, Islam, Christianity, Stoicism, Judaism, Buddhism, Hinduism, scientific naturalism, expressive individualism, and utilitarianism. Part of the Transformative Ideas Sophomore Program.

ETHICS212 - Ecology and the Human Good: Sustainability, Community, Nature, and Belonging

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 212
Title: Ecology and the Human Good: Sustainability, Community, Nature, and Belonging

Description
This course examines the complex network of relationships that support flourishing human communities. How do our interactions with each other and the natural world enhance or undermine our ability to grow and live together? How does the structure of human communities shape our relationship with nature? What is the proper role of markets and technological innovation in our quest for a sustainable and flourishing future world? Through an interdisciplinary lens, we will examine topics including sustainable agriculture, community formation, friendship, climate migration, environmental ethics, food, conservation, the politics of belonging and citizenship. This course is part of the Transformative Ideas Sophomore Program.

ETHICS213 - Exploring Science and Religion

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 213
Title: Exploring Science and Religion

Description
This Transformative Ideas course, geared to sophomore STEM majors, introduces the most pressing questions about science and religion. Core topics will include faith and reason; the origins of the universe; the existence of fine-tuning; evolution, randomness and design; the neuroscience of free will; the science of the soul; and science and morality. Other possible topics may include: recent theories of consciousness in psychology; the relationship between God and time; God and the epistemology of mathematics; religion and advances in AI; the neuroscience of religious experience; the possibility of miracles; and historical episodes in the development of science vis-à-vis religion.

Duke University
ETHICS214 - Medicine and Human Flourishing

Description
This course examines the nature, ends, and practice of medicine as it relates to the human condition. How can medicine foster human flourishing and well-being—individual and social—against the experience of injury, pain, and suffering? Beginning with ancient Greece and its Hippocratic corpus, students explore answers to this question within a variety of historical and contemporary contexts. Taught by an interdisciplinary team of scholars that includes medical professionals, the course highlights the importance and professional relevance of posing big questions about personal meaning and human values at stake in the practice of medicine.

ETHICS215 - Resettling Refugees in Durham

Description
This service-learning course partners students with locally resettled refugee families to identify social problems in the community and work toward solutions for addressing them. Students will work one-on-one with refugees to complete coursework and/or projects for the service-learning component of this course. By working with refugees, Duke students develop a better awareness of global issues present at a local level. End products of this course vary by semester. Students have worked to help produce films, gallery exhibits, and other public pieces relaying the refugee experience. This course is part of the MASTERY/SuWA refugee mentorship program.

ETHICS216 - Reimagine Medicine

Description
The course extends the experiences, learning, and community established in the ReMed summer fellowship. Physicians and other health care practitioners, as well as faculty in the arts and humanities, will challenge students to examine historical, social, economic, and cultural determinants of health, and to imagine themselves contributing to improving the system for patients and practitioners. Students will support each other as they develop a personal statement and sample essays for medical school applications. Key learning will be expressed through original works of visual and performing art. Instructor consent required.
ETHICS216S - Reimagine Medicine

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 216S
Title: Reimagine Medicine

Description:
The course extends the experiences, learning, and community established in the ReMed summer fellowship. Physicians and other healthcare practitioners, as well as faculty in the arts and humanities, will challenge students to examine historical, social, economic, and cultural determinants of health, and to imagine themselves contributing to improving the system for patients and practitioners. Students will support each other as they develop a personal statement and sample essays for medical school applications. Key learning will be expressed through original works of visual and performing art. Instructor consent required.

ETHICS220 - Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 220
Title: Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Description:
An introduction to Christian ideals of conduct, character, and community, and to modern disputes over their interpretation and application. Are Christian virtues and principles fundamentally at odds with the ethos of liberal democracy oriented toward rights, equality, and freedom? What do Christian beliefs and moral concepts imply about issues related to identity and pluralism? What is the relationship between religious convictions, morality, and law? Special emphasis on selected political and economic problems, sexuality and marriage, capital punishment, animals and the environment, abortion, and the role of religion in public life.

ETHICS220S - Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 220S
Title: Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Description:
An introduction to Christian ideals of conduct, character, and community, and to modern disputes over their interpretation and application. Are Christian virtues and principles fundamentally at odds with the ethos of liberal democracy oriented toward rights, equality, and freedom? What do Christian beliefs and moral concepts imply about issues related to identity and pluralism? What is the relationship between religious convictions, morality, and law? Special emphasis on selected political and economic problems, sexuality and marriage, capital punishment, animals and the environment, abortion, and the role of religion in public life.

ETHICS221 - Arab Society and Culture in Film

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 221
Title: Arab Society and Culture in Film

Description:
Examination of Arab worldviews (including cultural variations, artistic expressions, views about gender, and religion, and perspectives toward the U.S.). Explores the development of images of the Arab and seeks to understand them in the context of the Arab world as well as in its relationship to the West. Analyzes the dynamics between norms of modern civil society and those dictated by religious traditions. Critically examines current Western assumptions, representations, and understanding of Arab societies, and the moral frameworks in which different choices are debated in the Arab context.
ETHICS222 - Manifesto Workshop: Climate Change, Afro-/Solar Punk, and Performance

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>222</td>
<td>Manifesto Workshop: Climate Change, Afro-/Solar Punk, and Performance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Manifesto Workshop: Afro-/Solarpunk, Climate Change, and Performance is a performance-based workshop that seeks to explore radical, embodied storytelling through the lenses of several manifestos: Afrofuturism, Solarpunk, Environmental Justice, and Queer Utopias. Through creative research, embodied 'in(queer)ly,' and collaborative theater-making, the workshop will culminate in a public performance of original student work.

ETHICS230S - Augustine's City of God

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>230S</td>
<td>Augustine's City of God</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Study of the literary form and argument of Augustine's epoch-making City of God: a rhetorical tour de force of consummate artistry and stunning originality and scope; and a political, religious, and moral critique of ancient Rome within a comparative, cross-cultural analytical framework that vindicates an alternative vision of society rooted in the Christian scriptures. City of God provides a remarkable example of sophisticated literary construction, rhetorical prowess, cross-cultural examination, and moral reflection. We focus on these four facets of a celebrated synthesis that breaks new ground in historiography, political science, and moral theory.

ETHICS235S - Islam & the Meaning of Life

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>235S</td>
<td>Islam &amp; the Meaning of Life</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The range of topics implicated by 'meaning of life' as essentials of Islamic philosophy and theology includes the features of the good life; true happiness; the quest for eternity and not to be forgotten; overcoming loneliness and alienation; peacefulness; seeking truth and reducing suffering; living in a purposeful universe; free will; the ultimate purpose of the human life; necessary cause for moral obligations; faith and reason; human dignity; the quest for absolute beauty and good; knowing the Beginning and the Return; the observation of transcendence and immanence; the origin of mercy, love, friendship, justice, fairness, and hope; 'the wholly other'; the exemplar of the human being.

ETHICS238S - Activism & Christianity in Modern America

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>238S</td>
<td>Activism &amp; Christianity in Modern America</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

An exploration of the relation of Christian belief and practices with agitation for social change, with a focus on the United States from the colonial period to the present. Attention given to how identity, power, and suffering shape historical judgments about the intersection of religion and ethics. Close readings of primary sources drawn from autobiographies, letters, sermons, poems, and treatises. Figures may include John Wesley, Sojourner Truth, Frederick Douglass, Martin Luther King Jr., Pauli Murray, Dorothy Day, Thomas Merton, Daniel Berrigan.
ETHICS240 - Love and Loneliness: What's Happening to Relationships in the Twenty-First Century?

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 240
Title: Love and Loneliness: What's Happening to Relationships in the Twenty-First Century?

Description
Long-standing ties to other—whether of kinship, marriage, or community—have long been considered to be fundamental to the human condition. But in an age of dissipated and shifting social worlds, the relationships we form with others are radically changing in the twenty-first century. The class will critically examine the ideals, premises, and obstacles for forming intimacy with others through such cases as hook-ups, solitary death, solo weddings, domestic violence, human/non-human attachments, and migrancy.

ETHICS241S - Educational Psychology

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 241S
Title: Educational Psychology

Description
Principles of developmental, social, and cognitive psychology as applied to education, with a focus on how children learn. Examination of the impact on learning of race, class, gender, and ethnicity, including a comparative analysis of cultural differences in American schools. Through structured service-learning experiences in local schools, students reflect through writing on ethical issues in teaching. Required service-learning.

ETHICS245S - Contemporary Nationalism and Classical Political Theory

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 245S
Title: Contemporary Nationalism and Classical Political Theory

Description
Ancient Greece and Rome offered competing visions of politics based on republics and the cosmopolitan idea of humans as world-citizens. In light of classical political theory and the resurgence of nationalism in current politics, we will consider the following questions: Should politics be based on concern for the individual or the nation? Do we have stronger duties to our nations and fellow citizens than to the rest of the world? If so, can we ignore other countries and focus on our own problems? Should foreign policy further the goals of nation-states or focus on global justice? Are nation-states necessary? How should we address the environment, immigration, and economic globalization?

ETHICS247S - Human Flourishing in a Digital Age

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 247S
Title: Human Flourishing in a Digital Age

Description
The digital age has enhanced human life in many ways: communication is faster, medicine is better, and our knowledge of the world is deeper. But it has also changed the nature of work, society, and our sense of well-being, and raised fundamental questions about the meaning and purpose of human life. This course asks what it means for humans to flourish in a digital age. It considers how new technologies through the centuries have impacted human flourishing, making certain aspects easier and others harder, and perhaps even altering our conception of what flourishing looks like. Our ultimate goal is to ponder together how we should practically live in today's digital age. For sophomores only.
ETHICS253S - Pursuit of Purpose: Exploring What to Be and Why

Description
Preparation course for students who plan to undertake a summer internship through the Kenan Purpose Program. Engages students in their own pursuit of a purpose-oriented life. Exploration of meaning, purpose, and vocation in historical and contemporary contexts. Introduces durable philosophical questions and key social, cultural, and historical forces that shape current definitions of a good life. Guided reflection on integrating big questions, contemporary context, and practical vocational discernment skills. Readings to be selected from literary, philosophical, sociological, and theological writings and present-day case studies. Instructor consent is required.

ETHICS256S - Just Work: Restorative Justice Models and Applications

Description
Rooted in ancient practices from indigenous cultures & religious texts, Restorative Justice (RJ) has gained interest as a means to reform the modern justice system and manage wrongdoing in schools and workplaces. This course takes an interdisciplinary approach to consider RJ as an alternative to typical retributive justice models. Examines RJ theory, RJ diversion programs, & the strengths and limitations of RJ's application, including Victim-Offender Mediated Dialogues, Community Conflict Councils, and Truth & Reconciliation Commissions. Asks: does RJ offer the paradigm shift our society needs to address the failings in our justice systems in our communities, institutions, & personal lives?

ETHICS259 - News as a Moral Battleground

Description
Ethical inquiry into journalism and its effect on public discourse. Issues include accuracy, transparency, conflicts of interest and fairness. Topics include coverage of national security, government secrecy, plagiarism/fabrication, and trade-offs of anonymous sourcing.

ETHICS262S - Global Migration and Ethics

Description
Same as Cultural Anthropology 216 except in seminar format.

ETHICS264S - Religion & Journalism

Description
This course explores the many and complex ways in which religion converges with and diverges from journalism.

ETHICS265 - Applied and Environmental Ethics

Description
A critical examination of ethical dimensions of several contemporary individual and political normative problems, including abortion, affirmative action, national and international economic redistribution, and the environmental impact of economic changes and political decisions.
ETHICS267S - Global Cold War

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 267S
Title: Global Cold War

Description

Traditional narratives of the Cold War focus on a bi-polar series of conflicts that pit the United States against the Soviet Union in a good-versus-evil battle for global political and military supremacy. This course destabilizes this account of a process that affected every continent on earth – and even reached into space – over the period of more than half a century. It explores the Cold War from East-West, North-South, global, and interstellar perspectives. In addition to political and military issues, the course will also discuss the Cold War in social, cultural, intellectual, and economic spheres.

---

ETHICS269 - Neuroethics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 269
Title: Neuroethics

Description

Focus on emerging ethical controversies concurrent with advances in neuroscience. Background material covered: concepts and methods in neuroscience; theories of ethics and morality from philosophy, law, and other fields. Ethical topics covered: biological bases of morality; emotions and decision making; neuroeconomics and neuromarketing; pathologies of mind and behavior; volition and legal culpability. Course format: combined lectures, discussion, interactive activities, with case studies and real-world examples (e.g., neuroimaging as legal evidence). Prior coursework in neuroscience and/or ethical inquiry recommended.

---

ETHICS270 - Business Ethics: The Debate Over Corporate Social Responsibility

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 270
Title: Business Ethics: The Debate Over Corporate Social Responsibility

Description

---

ETHICS271 - Life Within Capitalism: A History of its Values, Measures and Struggles

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 271
Title: Life Within Capitalism: A History of its Values, Measures and Struggles

Description

Examination of how capitalism has profoundly shaped people's ethical values, with focus on United States. Investigates central developments behind history of capitalism; explores key struggles that led to formation of capitalist logic (choices, values, goals); traces impact of capitalist goals and measures on ethical values and choices; examines discussions about possible future developments within capitalism.

---

ETHICS272S - Sexuality and the Law

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 272S
Title: Sexuality and the Law

Description

This course will introduce students to legal and ethical issues at the intersection of law, gender and sexuality. The course will use interpretive methods used in jurisprudence, as well as conceptual tools developed by feminist, critical race and queer theoreticians to explore such issues as the criminalization of gay sex, the equal protection of all persons regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity, and the role of the state in resolving perceived conflicts between that right to equal protection and the right to religious freedom. The course will take a cross-cultural / multi-jurisdictional comparative approach to these issues.

---

ETHICS274S - Aristotle and Neuroscience

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 274S
Title: Aristotle and Neuroscience

Description

Explores the relevance of Aristotle's thought, especially his treatise 'On the Soul,' to understanding the research projects and foundations of cognitive psychology and neuroscience and the relationship between them. Brings Aristotle into dialogue with modern scholarship. Topics include: the use of hylomorphism and functionalism; the nature of perception, representation (including knowledge and belief), memory, emotion, and pain; desire, intentionality, and the relationship of perception to action; consciousness; folk psychology, inference, and explanatory reduction; the self; and moral psychology. Prior knowledge of Aristotelian philosophy or neuroscience is not required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>275</td>
<td>Democracy: Ancient and Modern</td>
<td>Examines democracy in its ancient and modern forms, with special attention to Athenian and American democracy. Does modern democracy fulfill the promise of ancient democracy, or betray its fundamental tenets? Topics may include freedom, equality, and rights; democratic institutions; citizenship; rhetoric; democratic knowledge and decision-making; foreign policy; corruption; religion; and hope.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>275D</td>
<td>Democracy: Ancient and Modern</td>
<td>Examines democracy in its ancient and modern forms, with special attention to Athenian and American democracy. Does modern democracy fulfill the promise of ancient democracy, or betray its fundamental tenets? Topics may include freedom, equality, and rights; democratic institutions; citizenship; rhetoric; democratic knowledge and decision-making; foreign policy; corruption; religion; and hope.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>276</td>
<td>Roman Political Thought and Its Modern Legacy</td>
<td>Why does Rome still capture the imagination of modern political commentators and theorists? This course examines Roman political thought as it was conceived under the Republic, reimagined under the Empire, and transformed by Christianity. Topics may include the Roman constitution, liberty, equality, property, slavery, rights, citizenship, civil religion, political corruption, rhetoric, imperialism, just war theory, and cosmopolitanism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>281S</td>
<td>Science and Society</td>
<td>Science and technology are inseparable from the people that engage in them and are influenced by them. In this course we will ask questions such as: what is science? How do scientists go about doing it? Where does science get its authority? What are the responsibilities of scientists to the public? What are the ethical, legal, and political considerations that should accompany scientific development? We will read classic and contemporary texts concerning these issues, and students will develop their critical and philosophical abilities in order to assess and contribute to these debates. Reserved for Sophomores Only.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>283S</td>
<td>The Democratic Mission of American Higher Education</td>
<td>This seminar will explore the purposes of American higher education, with a focus on the origins of higher education in this country and important period of institutional evolution. We will interrogate the relationship between democracy and higher education in two ways. First, by understanding how democracy provides the necessary conditions for higher education to pursue its core mission. Second, by looking at how higher education promotes democratic values. The course will pay particular attention to post WWII American higher education, with a focus on important contemporary debates on higher education issues.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>285</td>
<td>Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival</td>
<td>This course investigates both theory and history of the concept of sustainability, and explores its various economic and political manifestations over time. What are the historical roots of the sustainability debate? What aspects of life do various concepts of sustainability entail, and how do they inform modern ethics? What, in the end, does the history of political economics teach us about the possibility of sustainable development?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>287</td>
<td>Religion and Science</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>287S</td>
<td>Religion and Science</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>288S</td>
<td>Ethical Dimensions of</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Environmental Policy</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Special Topics in Ethics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Ethics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ETHICS287 - Religion and Science

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 287
Title: Religion and Science

Description
The diverse interactions of religion and science from the Renaissance to the present. The profound transformation of premodern science by seventeenth-century revolutions and nineteenth-century discoveries; in turn, the transformation of society, including religion, by modern science. Some consideration of physics and astronomy, but major focus on the impact of Darwinian anti-teleology and modern biology, especially animal studies, on 'natural theology' and traditional arguments from design. Thinkers to be considered include Francis Bacon, Montaigne, Spinoza, Thomas Huxley, Albert Einstein, and E. O. Wilson. Topics include evolution, human consciousness, human identity, and the human-animal boundary.

ETHICS287S - Religion and Science

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 287S
Title: Religion and Science

Description
The diverse interactions of religion and science from the Renaissance to the present. The profound transformation of premodern science by seventeenth-century revolutions and nineteenth-century discoveries; in turn, the transformation of society, including religion, by modern science. Some consideration of physics and astronomy, but major focus on the impact of Darwinian anti-teleology and modern biology, especially animal studies, on 'natural theology' and traditional arguments from design. Thinkers to be considered include Francis Bacon, Montaigne, Spinoza, Thomas Huxley, Albert Einstein, and E. O. Wilson. Topics include evolution, human consciousness, human identity, and the human-animal boundary.

ETHICS288S - Ethical Dimensions of Environmental Policy

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 288S
Title: Ethical Dimensions of Environmental Policy

Description
Uses case studies from different arenas of environmental policy (e.g., climate and clean air, water and waste, forests, oceans, energy) to surface normative assumptions often implicit in policy design and implementation. Links ethics to ethos (beliefs, aspirations, and spirit of a community or culture) to suggest that policies are not only pragmatic guidelines for decision-making and action, but also fundamental declarations concerning the character of human flourishing and the shape of the natural world, which is why environmental policies are often so contentious. Seeks to help students understand this aspect of environmental policy and to negotiate these deep-seated ethical conflicts.

ETHICS290 - Special Topics in Ethics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Ethics

Description
Topics vary

ETHICS290S - Special Topics in Ethics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Ethics

Description
Topics vary by semester. Seminar version of Ethics 290.

ETHICS291 - Independent Study

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 291
Title: Independent Study

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
ETHICS293 - Research Independent Study

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 293
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic.

ETHICS301S - Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 301S
Title: Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab

Description: An exploration of human rights advocacy from a legal, political science and comparative perspective. Will focus on issues related to corporate accountability. A core component of the course will include a human rights ‘lab’ in which students work in teams on policy-oriented projects, potentially in collaboration with community partners.

ETHICS302 - Constitutional Law in the American Political Tradition

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 302
Title: Constitutional Law in the American Political Tradition

Description: The Constitution plays a preeminent role in U.S. political history and public discourse. Yet what does it mean for a government or policy to be constitutional—and why do we care so much? This course studies the concept of constitutionalism in the American political tradition. Why does the Constitution play such a significant role in American politics? What philosophical, moral, economic, and political considerations shaped our Constitution—and what might have been left out? What rights does the U.S. Constitution guarantee? How has our understanding of the Constitution—and its role in our republic—shifted over time?

ETHICS303D - Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 303D
Title: Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Description: An examination of the historical roots and current manifestations of religiously-justified violence and disenfranchisement, with a focus on the Abrahamic traditions (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam). The violence treated will include the expressly physical as well as the more insidiously existential, including political and cultural marginalization. Major loci of exploration will include gender and sexuality; Israel-Palestine, and the intersection of contemporary identities. Topics include the nature of extremisms within each tradition, the challenges of assimilation and 'modernity,' and the role and nature of citizenship and territory.

ETHICS315S - Philosophy and Ethics of Sport

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 315S
Title: Philosophy and Ethics of Sport

Description: An examination of ethical issues and dilemmas of sport in the modern world. Topics to be discussed include amateurism, the NCAA and college athletics, performance enhancement, money in college and professional sport, gambling, the athlete as a role model, and the coach as sage. Inevitably, consideration of these issues will lead to a discussion of wider issues, such as the value of sport and the role of sport in the 'good life.' Students will write two short papers examining particular ethical dilemmas, and will write a longer term-ending paper which evaluates in depth one of the issues raised in the course of the semester. Instructor consent required.

ETHICS316S - Self-Knowledge and the Pursuit of Wisdom

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 316S
Title: Self-Knowledge and the Pursuit of Wisdom

Description: This course looks to the Classical Tradition for guidance on how to grow in wisdom through a deeper knowledge of the self in relation to others. Students explore questions of personal meaning and significance by reading literary, philosophical, and biographical classics of the Western Tradition. Focus on wisdom and fulfillment in life, and the means for attaining them through friendship and community. Topics include: wisdom, conscience, happiness, justice, passion, moderation, guilt, shame, excellence, character, purpose, prudence, and choice. Authors may include Homer, Vergil, Sophocles, Plato, Aristotle, Epictetus, Seneca, Marcus Aurelius, St. Paul, Augustine, Calvin, Hobbes, Spinoza.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS318</td>
<td>318</td>
<td>The Seven Deadly Sins: Representing Vice and Virtue in Christian Tradition</td>
<td>This course will trace the motif of the seven deadly sins in Western tradition, exploring two methods of understanding human psychology and behavior: the philosophical school of virtue ethics, which provides an account of how our actions and habits shape our characters and identities, and the artistic technique of allegory, which externalizes our inner life in vivid, sometimes shocking images, characters, and stories. Readings are drawn from philosophy (Aristotle, Aquinas), literature (Dante, Chaucer, Spenser), art (Giotto, Bosch), and present-day pop culture. Course assignments include both analytical essays and creative projects.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS320S</td>
<td>320S</td>
<td>Narrative and Moral Crisis</td>
<td>It is often said that literature encourages ethical reflection, and even that it somehow fortifies our disposition to behave in ethical ways. This class will consider a different possibility, that literature, or narrative more generally, often represents or provokes circumstances of extreme moral uncertainty. Such uncertainty, sometimes focused in a moment of decision and sometimes arising from a clash of perspectives, can gather around characters, narrators, authors, and even readers. We will be focusing on a few works of literary and cinematic art, ranging from the Book of Genesis to Ian McEwan's Atonement, in which moral issues emerge with particular urgency and complexity.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS321S</td>
<td>321S</td>
<td>Buddhist Ethics</td>
<td>Survey of various Buddhist understandings of ethics, both classical and contemporary. How different Buddhist communities have responded to such ethical problems as the existence of evil, war, injustice, and suffering as well as contemporary Buddhist debates over abortion, ethnic fratricide, human rights, environmental problems, economic justice, and cloning.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS325</td>
<td>325</td>
<td>How to Live and How to Die: Death, Dying, and the Afterlife from Confucius to Cryonics</td>
<td>Death is one of the only completely universal human experiences, yet we resist talking about it in our everyday lives. In this course, we will investigate some of the biggest questions and issues surrounding death. We will first examine the different ways that philosophical and religious traditions have conceived of death and problems that these conceptions may raise. In the second half of our course we will focus on how death affects our actions and choices in life. How does the prospect of impermanence shape the way we live? Are there causes that are worth dying for? How should we prepare for death? Should we use new technologies to extend our lives and 'cheat' death?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ETHICS344 - Global Health as an Ethical Enterprise

Description
Introduces the challenges of living an ethical life when conceived as an expression of compassion for distant strangers. Considers the organization of compassion into the multi-billion dollar political-economic enterprise of global health. Explores tensions between global health as an ethical enterprise and the political-economic realities of the high-income countries and multinational organizations that fund global health and support a vast development industry populated by thousands of non-governmental organizations, pharmaceutical and chemical corporations, and countless organizations dedicated to the advancement of medicine and health science. Fulfills global health ethics requirement.

ETHICS345S - Muslim Ethics and Islamic Law: Issues and Debates

Description
Premodern judicial arrangements and the contestations surrounding their modern incarnations. Topics include bioethics, gender and family law, war and peace, environmental issues, and political ethics.

ETHICS365 - How to Rule the World: Empire and Global Governance from Greece to America

Description
From Babylon and Persia to Greece and Rome, empires have risen and fallen, but they always seem to make a comeback. Their defenders point to the stability they bring to a chaotic world. Their detractors point to the harsh rule required to maintain them. This course will explore arguments for and against empire, drawing on history, philosophy, and political theory, with a special focus on the Greeks and Romans. Then, in light of the parallel problems of empire and global governance, we will ask what lessons we can learn for the practice of international affairs today. Contemporary topics will include global institutions, foreign intervention, East Asia policy, and NATO and Eastern Europe.

ETHICS373S - Islamic Mysticism

Description
This course introduces the history and key concepts of Islamic spirituality through the lives, writings, institutions, and influence of Muslim sages, ascetics, and saints across Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Americas. Critical topics include Sufi origins, psychology, healing, music, poetry, politics, and the aspiration to beautify one’s self and society through connection with the Divine.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS374S</td>
<td>374S</td>
<td>Watchdog News and Storytelling: Changing Forms of Accountability Journalism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Focus on evolving styles of explanatory reporting and investigative journalism. Practice fundamental research and writing techniques that journalists use to reveal complex issues and hold powerful institutions and people accountable. Identify sources, develop interviewing skills, and tap public records. Analyze stories that can serve as engaging models for your assignments, such as fact-checks, solutions-focused articles, and first-person accounts that turn the reporting process into a narrative device. Learn about editorial rules and writing conventions, including their ethical underpinnings and the role of objective methods. Talk with guest journalists about their experiences.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS375</td>
<td>375</td>
<td>Reproductive Ethics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This class examines the role that technology, globalization, late capitalism, ideas about health and ability, and advances in feminist theory play in human reproduction. It will investigate new frontiers of reproductive technology, and try to understand the many different ways of using and viewing interventions such as IVF, surrogacy, and embryo selection. We will examine popular ideas about ‘the perfect child,’ and how the issue of abortion intersects and competes with the quest for healthier, able-bodied children.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS387</td>
<td>387</td>
<td>Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores friendship and why it matters in the frenzied world of ‘likes’ and ‘swipes.’ The average Facebook user has 155 friends. Instagram added a ‘Close Friends’ feature to distinguish friends from followers. Social media has weakened our sense of friendship. Still, Facebook users say that, of those 155 friends, they would trust only four in a crisis. Pursues the importance of friendship, not only as a place of private refuge but as a relationship of trust that facilitates insight and innovation and that has public purchase. Classes center on conversations between pairs of friends who bring their friendship, their work, and their imaginations to bear on the shape of the world in the future.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ETHICS388S</td>
<td>388S</td>
<td>Refugee Policy and Practice (DukeImmerse)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Uses current debates around refugee law and policy as the context in which to develop basic quantitative research design and analysis skills. Course may include data collection with resettled refugee locally and in Jordan and in Nepal. Only open to DukeImmerse students. Instructor consent required.
ETHICS389S - Field Ethics (DukeImmerse)

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 389S
Title: Field Ethics (DukeImmerse)

Description
An introduction to qualitative research design and analysis including interviewing, ethnography, focus groups as well as a variety of visual methods, including mapping and photo elicitation. Emphasis on the ethics of research design, implementation, and presentation and ethics of research with vulnerable populations. Students will collect refugee life stories as the basis of a documentary theater production they will write and perform as their final project. Course may include field research in Jordan and Nepal. Open only to DukeImmerse students. Instructor consent required.

ETHICS390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Ethics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Ethics

Description
Topics differ by section.

ETHICS390S - Special Topics in Ethics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in Ethics

Description
Topics vary by semester.

ETHICS401S - The Adventure of Citizenship: Lives of Civic Engagement

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 401S
Title: The Adventure of Citizenship: Lives of Civic Engagement

Description
What does it mean to be a citizen and live a civic life? In this course students will integrate academic content with their own community based experiences to understand and critique their understandings of civic engagement and social change. Students will reflect on their Duke experience and begin to chart their post Duke futures. They will gain knowledge of the historical context of democratic citizenship, understanding of the relationship between theory and practice, and familiarity with the contestations of civic engagement that emerge from considerations of race, class, and gender. Students will undertake independent projects to study those who have lived civic lives.

ETHICS402 - The Problem of Evil: God, Evil, Suffering, Sin, Meaning of Life, and Philosophy of Religion

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 402
Title: The Problem of Evil: God, Evil, Suffering, Sin, Meaning of Life, and Philosophy of Religion

Description
'The problem of evil' as the challenge of reconciling the existence of an absolutely perfect being (Omnipotent, Omniscient, and omnibenevolent God) with the existence of sin and suffering has one of the greatest problems of intellectual history from ancient to modern times. The problem of evil effects the 'meaning of life' deeply, so it is not exclusive to the monotheists, and involves atheists as well. This is an introduction to the problem of evil, and explores its major issues and concepts: the logical problem of evil, the evidential problem of evil, soul-making theodicy, natural law theodicy, process theodicy, anti-theodicy, free will defense, reformed epistemology, and skeptical theism.
ETHICS404S - Ethics of Hope

Description
Hope involves the expectation or desire for good things to happen. Yet, does this set up people for despair when hopes get dashed or have no possibility of realization? Or, is the conjuring of something better—somewhere, sometime—what enables life to be sustained in the face of difficulties or just the daily grind of making do? In this class we raise the issue of the ethics, politics, and tactics of hope, drawing on philosophy, feminism, and anthropology.

ETHICS450S - What Should I Do With My Life? The Art of Choosing Well

Description
How can you make the choices that lead to a good life? And what does this even mean? This course provides the opportunity to ponder, critique, and reflectively engage diverse perspectives on a life well-lived. We'll explore topics such as purpose, meaning, accomplishment, success, failure, character, habits, friendship, community, and responsibility. Readings, exercises, and discussion will invite students to examine their present lives and develop a thoughtful and practical vision for their lives after Duke. For seniors only.

ETHICS481 - Modern Catholic Writing: Faith, Witness, Ecology

Description
This course surveys literature that is 'Catholic' in a broad sense of the term that was written between the 16th century and the present. Three themes are explored: 1.) the relationship of place and cultural location to writing, the role of faith and witnessing to the faith in its interplay with the autonomy and creativity of the artist, and 3.) the question of the land and ecological stewardship.

ETHICS487S - Designing Ethics: Exploring the Integration of Ethics into Engineering Curricula

Description
Many engineering challenges contain thorny moral questions, yet ethical considerations are often secondary to the technical aspects of engineering curricula. In fact, nationwide ethics is rarely addressed in standard engineering disciplinary courses at Duke or elsewhere. This course seeks to provide a blueprint and testing ground for addressing this gap. Students will work to research best practices from the educational and private sectors. Incorporating those insights with a study of the landscape of Engineering design education at Duke, students will design interventions that may be deployed in Duke Engineering classes. Instructor consent required.
ETHICS488 - Designing Interventions for the Prevention of Sexual Assault and Harassment

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 488
Title: Designing Interventions for the Prevention of Sexual Assault and Harassment

Description:
This course's goals are to summarize the problems and practices in sexual harassment intervention and training by conducting a review of the literature; examine the potential role of courage and self-awareness, as well as the ways these characteristics could be developed in individuals and incorporated into interventions; and to develop designs that utilize these insights. Instructor consent required.

ETHICS489 - Preventing Sexual Misconduct on University Campuses

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 489
Title: Preventing Sexual Misconduct on University Campuses

Description:
This Bass Connections project's goals are to summarize the problems and practices in sexual harassment intervention and training by conducting a review of the literature; examine the potential role of courage and self-awareness, as well as the ways these characteristics could be developed in individuals and incorporated into interventions; and to develop designs that utilize these insights. Instructor consent required.

ETHICS490S - Special Topics Seminar in Ethics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Special Topics Seminar in Ethics

Description:
Special topics in ethics seminar course. Topics vary each semester offered.

ETHICS493 - Research Independent Study

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study

Description:
Individual research in field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor is required.

ETHICS497S - Capstone Seminar: Ethics & Society Certificate

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 497S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Ethics & Society Certificate

Description:
This intensive senior seminar is the capstone for the Ethics & Society Certificate. The students choose a topic, read about and discuss that topic, and then write a book together on that topic, editing each other's chapters. Students bring together interdisciplinary insights from previous work in the certificate program and work collaboratively to produce their book. Instructor consent required. This course is only open to seniors pursuing the Ethics & Society Certificate.

ETHICS89S - Special Topic: First-Year Seminar in Ethics

Subject: ETHICS
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: Special Topic: First-Year Seminar in Ethics

Description:
First-year seminar course. Topics vary each semester offered.
EVANTH101 - Introduction to Evolutionary Anthropology

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Introduction to Evolutionary Anthropology

Description
The study of human origins, anatomy, and behavior from an evolutionary perspective. The historical development of pre-Darwinian evolutionary thinking and Darwin’s contribution to evolutionary theory; genetics; microevolution and macroevolution; the modern synthesis framing the study of human origins and behavior in the context of modern evolutionary biology; primate behavioral ecology and evolution; a survey of primate and human paleontology, adaptation and variation; the origins of human social organization and culture; the impact of modern humans on biodiversity.

---

EVANTH101D - Introduction to Evolutionary Anthropology

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 101D
Title: Introduction to Evolutionary Anthropology

Description
The study of human origins, anatomy, and behavior from an evolutionary perspective. The historical development of pre-Darwinian evolutionary thinking and Darwin’s contribution to evolutionary theory; genetics; microevolution and macroevolution; the modern synthesis framing the study of human origins and behavior in the context of modern evolutionary biology; primate behavioral ecology and evolution; a survey of primate and human paleontology, adaptation and variation; the origins of human social organization and culture; the impact of modern humans on biodiversity. Lecture is the same as Evolutionary Anthropology 101, but adds a 50 minute discussion section with hands-on access to fossil casts, etc.

---

EVANTH190 - Topics in Evolutionary Anthropology

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Topics in Evolutionary Anthropology

Description
Topics in evolutionary anthropology. Course intended for non-majors. Topics vary by semester.

---

EVANTH212FS - Evolution, Society, and Health in Comparative Perspective

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 212FS
Title: Evolution, Society, and Health in Comparative Perspective

Description
Evolutionary perspectives on the social factors that predict health, lifespan, and Darwinian fitness. Comparative insight from evolutionary models and research on other species, as well as recent genetic studies of evolutionary history and trait variation in humans. Topics include: mechanisms of evolution, the long-term consequences of early life adversity, social environmental effects on health, the genetics of socially relevant traits. Open only to students in the FOCUS program.
EVANTH215S - Genetics and Genomics of Human Variation

Subject
EVANTH

Catalog Number
215S

Title
Genetics and Genomics of Human Variation

Description
Research over the last 50 years has demonstrated that the human species is characterized by low genetic diversity and extensive recombination. Yet, social constructions of 'race' based on phenotypic differences are ingrained in our understanding of how humans vary. This course will uncover how the human species varies at the genetic and genomic levels, in the context of other primate species. Given this background, we will discuss the social construction of 'race' and the intersection of macroevolution, genetics, and phenotype. Finally, we will explore current research that suggests a genetic or epigenetic basis for perceived racial health disparities and outcomes in biomedicine. Open only to Duke Immerse students. Instructor consent required.

EVANTH220 - Human Evolution

Subject
EVANTH

Catalog Number 220

Title
Human Evolution

Description
Evolutionary biology of the hominidae. Anatomical and behavioral adaptations and phylogeny of fossils and living primates including Homo sapiens. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or equivalent.

EVANTH221S - Becoming Human

Subject
EVANTH

Catalog Number
221S

Title
Becoming Human

Description
Evolution of key features that make human's such unusual animals, including bipedalism, large brains, social complexity, language, the arts, and reliance on technology. Emphasis is on evidence from the prehistoric record but includes insights from genomics and living populations.

EVANTH230 - Bodies of Evidence: Introduction to Forensic Anthropology

Subject
EVANTH

Catalog Number 230

Title
Bodies of Evidence: Introduction to Forensic Anthropology

Description
An introduction to medicolegal anthropology and death investigation. Topics include crime scene protocol and body recovery, basics of osteology, determining time since death, making personal identification, determining the manner and mode of death, postmortem modification of skeletal remains, protocols for mass disasters, human rights applications, and courtroom testimony. Open to both majors and non-majors.

EVANTH231L - Anatomy of the Lower Extremities

Subject
EVANTH

Catalog Number
231L

Title
Anatomy of the Lower Extremities

Description
Introduction to the functional anatomy of the lower extremities. Students locate, identify, and dissect all major muscular, nervous, vascular, bony, and soft tissue structures using cadaveric specimens. Students participate in the dissection.

EVANTH235L - Primate Anatomy

Subject
EVANTH

Catalog Number
235L

Title
Primate Anatomy

Description
The comparative anatomy of primates from the perspective of adaptation and phylogeny. Laboratory includes study of bones, fossil casts, prosenexes of nonhuman primates. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101.
EVANTH246 - Sociobiology

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>246</td>
<td>Sociobiology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Sociobiological theory reviewed and applied to the social behavior of non-human animals, hominids, and humans; the evolution of altruism, cooperation, competition, mating strategies, parental care and morality. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Biology 202L.

EVANTH253 - Primate Ecology

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>253</td>
<td>Primate Ecology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Ecological theory with an emphasis on primates. Primate diversity and biogeography, concept of the niche; dietary specializations, habitat use, predator-prey interactions, plant-animal interactions, community ecology, human ecology; methods used in primate ecology; the role of ecology in conservation. Periodic labs (held during lecture hour) include methods used to characterize forests, tests of niche differentiation and morphological adaptations to different habitats. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Biology 202L.

EVANTH257 - Ecology and Adaptation of Hunters and Gatherers

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>257</td>
<td>Ecology and Adaptation of Hunters and Gatherers</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The ecology of extant and extinct foraging societies; focus on human behavioral solutions to subsistence problems associated with different environments (tropical/neotropical forest, boreal forest, coastal, arctic, grassland/savannah, desert). Topics include edible resource distribution in varied environments and its relation to mobility and subsistence strategies in modern hunter-gatherers; and the archeological and fossil evidence for the evolution of human subsistence behavior. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Biology 202L.

EVANTH260 - Human Cognitive Evolution

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>260</td>
<td>Human Cognitive Evolution</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Survey of methods/theories used in the study of human cognitive evolution; development of cognition in children; brain damaged patients; cognitive abilities of great apes; paleoanthropology of early and modern humans and evidence for mental abilities and culture; cross-cultural and sex differences in human cognition; genetics and the evolution of cognition. Recommended prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Psychology 102.

EVANTH285 - Evolutionary Medicine and Global Health

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>285</td>
<td>Evolutionary Medicine and Global Health</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Covers evolutionary approaches to understand human health at a global scale. Integration of evolutionary thinking and medical science provides new insights to a wide array of medical issues including obesity, cancer, allergies, and mental illness. Evolutionary perspectives reveal why some pathogens are more harmful than others, shed light on the origins and spread of infectious diseases in humans, and help in controlling antibiotic resistance. Evolutionary approaches provide insights as to why we age and provide solutions to alleviate human health problems that often differ from modern medical practice. Course will place these perspectives in the context of global health challenges.

EVANTH315S - Human Biological Variation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>315S</td>
<td>Human Biological Variation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course covers biological variation in humans at the genetic and physiological/anatomical levels from an evolutionary and ecological perspective. Specifically, we will discuss shared human evolutionary traits, how past population movement has influenced the current distribution of humans around the globe, the concept and science of ancestry, evolutionary adaptation in humans, developmental adaptation and acclimatization, accommodation, epigenetic variation, biocultural adaptation, and health. Recommended prerequisite: EVANTH101 or BIO202.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>318</td>
<td>Human Evolutionary Genetics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>An evolutionary perspective on human genetics and genomics, with an emphasis on current models and inference methods using medically important examples. The mechanisms of evolution shaping human genetic variation, as well as inference of evolutionary processes from genetic data. Topics include: population differences in disease risk; adaptation to local environments and pathogens; identifying regions of the genome underlying traits; models of neutral variation, migration, and genetic ancestry. Computational and quantitative skills will be emphasized throughout. Recommended prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101D, Biology 202, or equivalent; some probability and programming background helpful but not required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>Human Evolutionary Physiology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>In this course we investigate human physiology using a systems-based and evolutionary approach. The primary course objective is to understand how the human body functions and how evolution has shaped our physiology. We also examine how our physiology responds to local environments (diet, climate, stress, etc.) in ways that affect our health and contribute to human diversity. For each system (cardiopulmonary, immune, nervous, digestive, reproductive, musculoskeletal, etc.) we examine the anatomy involved and its integrated physiological functioning. Recommended prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or introductory biology.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>333L</td>
<td>The Human Body</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Human gross anatomy seen from a functional and evolutionary perspective. Laboratory involving study of prospected cadavers and other anatomical preparations. Previous experience in anatomy (e.g., Primate Anatomy or Human Osteology) is recommended but not required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>334L</td>
<td>Human Osteology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>An introduction to the basics of human osteological analysis. Identification and sidedness of the bones of the body and the major osteological landmarks on each bone; basics of bone histology, development and growth; and fundamentals of anthropological analysis of human skeletal remains (archaeological treatment of burials; determination of gender, populational affinities, stature; paleopathological analysis; medicolegal applications). Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Biology 202L.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>336S</td>
<td>Dance Science: An Evolutionary Approach</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Exploration of the origins of human dance through studies of non-human ‘dance’ and entrainment, representations of dancing figures in the archaeological record, and evolutionary changes in the human body that allow for the extraordinary flexibility of human dance. Lab based studies of evolutionary changes in the human body. Learn about dance injuries and how the brain processes observed movement, as well as many other areas in which dance and science intersect.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>337L</td>
<td>Functional Anatomy of the Human Brain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Functional anatomy of the human brain and spinal cord with team-based learning approaches and laboratory-based discovery. Hands-on examination of human specimens with guided explorations of external and internal brain structures and dissections to facilitate discovery. Extensive use of interactive digital media to explore CNS anatomy and the organization of the major neural systems underlying sensory, motor and cognitive function. Analysis of actual clinical cases representing a variety of neurological disorders. Consideration of brain evolution and comparative neuroanatomy. Prior completion of Neuroscience 101/102 or 201 or Evolutionary Anthropology 101 highly recommended.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
EVANTH341 - Primate Sexuality

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 341
Title: Primate Sexuality

Description: A comparative and integrative study of primate sex and reproduction. The material is presented in three sections: the first focuses on primate social organization, mating systems, and reproductive strategies; the second focuses on the endocrine system and behavioral endocrinology; and the third focuses on sexual differentiation of morphology, brain and behavior. In each section, this course places human sexuality within the broader context of the primate order.

Prerequisites: Evolutionary Anthropology 101D or Biology 202L or 203L.

EVANTH341D - Primate Sexuality

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 341D
Title: Primate Sexuality

Description: A comparative and integrative study of primate sex and reproduction. The material is presented in three sections: the first focuses on primate social organization, mating systems, and reproductive strategies; the second focuses on the endocrine system and behavioral endocrinology; and the third focuses on sexual differentiation of morphology, brain and behavior. In each section, this course places human sexuality within the broader context of the primate order. Note: course is the same as Evolutionary Anthropology 341 but with an additional required 50 minute discussion. Recommended prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101D or Biology 202L or 203L.

EVANTH344L - Primate Field Biology

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 344L
Title: Primate Field Biology

Description: Survey of field methods used to document primate behavior. Laboratory includes observations of free-ranging and captive primates at the Duke Lemur Center. Focus on the scientific process and writing of formal research papers. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Biology 202L.

EVANTH347D - Behavioral Ecology and the Evolution of Animal Behavior

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 347D
Title: Behavioral Ecology and the Evolution of Animal Behavior

Description: How animal behavior is shaped by natural selection, historical factors, and ecological constraints. These factors considered in the context of mating systems, parental care, foraging, and other current issues in behavior. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 202L or 203L.

EVANTH347D-1 - Behavioral Ecology and the Evolution of Animal Behavior

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 347D-1
Title: Behavioral Ecology and the Evolution of Animal Behavior

Description: How animal behavior is shaped by natural selection, historical factors, and ecological constraints. These factors considered in the context of mating systems, parental care, foraging, and other current issues in behavior. Does not carry codes for research- (R) or writing- (W) intensive course. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 202L or 203L.

EVANTH359S - Primate Conservation

Subject: EVANTH
Catalog Number: 359S
Title: Primate Conservation

Description: Concepts, practice, and ethics of conservation biology, both at the species and community level. Relevant aspects of biogeography, ecology, behavior and demography; human impact (deforestation, hunting); conservation strategies/policies (objectives, design of protected area networks, impact on local human populations). Impact of cultural, political, ethical considerations on primate conservation. Evolutionary Anthropology 101 recommended.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>363S</td>
<td>Animal Intelligence and the Social Brain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Complexity of animals' social lives, with focus on cognitive implications of sociality on acquisition, expression, and transmission of knowledge. Topics include: discrimination & insight learning; social influences on behavior; tool use & causality; traditions & cultural transmission; mechanisms of recognition, knowledge of social domain; prosociality & play; coalitions, cooperation, & reciprocity; conflict, punishment, & reconciliation; vocal & gestural communication; sharing; language & instruction; knowing what others know; self recognition & social monitoring; tactical deception & social manipulation; social norms/morality. Prerequisite: EvAnth 101 or Bio 202.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>385D</td>
<td>Primate Disease Ecology and Global Health</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Covers concepts of disease ecology, with specific application to primates, human evolution, and global health. Explores the epidemiology and evolution of infectious diseases through the primary literature, focusing on infectious diseases of wild primates, humans, and other mammals. Students learn about the diversity of infectious diseases found in humans, and the basics of epidemiology, disease evolution and emergence, and primate behavioral ecology. Students also gain experience in thinking critically about scientific research, identifying interesting research questions, and communicating science to others. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101/101D or introductory-level biology.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>Current Issues in Evolutionary Anthropology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Selected topics in methodology, theory, or area.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Current Topics in Evolutionary Anthropology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Same as Evolutionary Anthropology 390 except in seminar format.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Directed reading, tutorial, or individual project in Evolutionary Anthropology, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or other approved project. Open only to qualified students, who, before being given permission to register, must submit to the faculty advisor a written proposal outlining the area of study and listing course goals and meeting schedule. The area of study must be connected to discipline of Evolutionary Anthropology. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>EVANTH</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual research under the supervision of a faculty member resulting in a substantive paper or written report. Projects typically include background research, formulation of hypotheses and predictions, data collection, data analysis and interpretation of results. Area of study must be connected to discipline of Evolutionary Anthropology. Open to qualified students, who, before being given permission to register, must submit to the faculty advisor a written proposal outlining the area of study and listing the goals and meeting schedule. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
EVANTH434L - Advanced Osteology
Subject EVANTH
Catalog Number 434L
Title Advanced Osteology
Description This laboratory-based course will focus on the inference of life history traits from human skeletal material. Topics will include hands-on training in biological profile assessment (age, sex, stature, ancestry) and pathology, diet, and activity level analyses. Students will be able to complete an independent full skeletal report by the conclusion of the course and think critically about the analyses that are applied to the human skeleton. The ethics of using human skeletal remains in research will be discussed throughout the semester. Prior anatomy or functional morphology coursework is recommended.

EVANTH490S - Advanced Current Topics in Evolutionary Anthropology
Subject EVANTH
Catalog Number 490S
Title Advanced Current Topics in Evolutionary Anthropology
Description Current topics in Evolutionary Anthropology taught at the advanced level.

EVANTH495S - Advanced Research in Evolutionary Anthropology
Subject EVANTH
Catalog Number 495S
Title Advanced Research in Evolutionary Anthropology
Description Advanced research in Evolutionary Anthropology topic, typically leading to Graduation with Distinction. Course includes a one-hour weekly seminar on topics such as hypothesis testing, writing proposals, research design, data analysis with a strong emphasis on writing. Students will complete the introduction (literature review) and methods of their thesis along with a tentative results. Students are also expected to work with a faculty mentor conducting original research equivalent to a research independent study. Instructor consent required.

EVANTH89S - First-Year Seminar
Subject EVANTH
Catalog Number 89S
Title First-Year Seminar
Description Topics vary each semester offered.

FMKT390 - Selected Topics in Financial Markets
Subject FMKT
Catalog Number 390
Title Selected Topics in Financial Markets
Description Topics vary by semester. Prerequisite: Economics 101D. Check individual semester offerings for additional prerequisites.

FMKT390S - Selected Topics in Financial Markets
Subject FMKT
Catalog Number 390S
Title Selected Topics in Financial Markets
Description Topics vary by semester. Prerequisite: Economics 101D. Check individual semester offerings for additional prerequisites.
FOCUS195FS - Special Topics in Focus

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
FOCUS      | 195FS       | Special Topics in Focus

Description
Forum for discussing and bridging the varied interdisciplinary issues that arise within the individual Focus Program seminars. May include group discussion, readings, guest lectures, film viewings, and other educational activities. Open only to participants in the Focus Program. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only.

FRENCH101 - Elementary French 1

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
FRENCH      | 101         | Elementary French 1

Description
The course offers an introduction to the French language, and aspects of French and Francophone cultures via interactive content and classes. Students build a strong foundation to communicate and exchange with French speakers in varied social interactions, comprehend short, authentic materials, and share opinions on personal and societal topics. Equal attention to speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. Conducted in French. Open to students who have never studied French before, or who have studied French for no more than 2 years in high school.

FRENCH102 - Elementary French 2

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
FRENCH      | 102         | Elementary French 2

Description
The course builds on the elements of the language acquired in French 101 and offers continued engagement with aspects of French and Francophone cultures via interactive content and classes. Students continue to develop their ability to communicate and exchange with French speakers in varied social interactions, comprehend authentic materials, and share opinions on personal and societal topics. Equal attention to speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: French 101 or equivalent.

FRENCH111 - Intensive Elementary French

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
FRENCH      | 111         | Intensive Elementary French

Description
This 2-credit course covers the elementary French 101-102 sequence in one semester. Offers an intensive introduction to the French language and aspects of French and Francophone cultures via interactive content and classes. Students build a strong foundation to communicate and exchange with French speakers in varied social interactions, comprehend authentic materials, and share opinions on personal and societal topics. Students also begin to develop insight into their language and culture, including discussions of language and identity, and multilingualism. Open to students who have never studied French before, or who have studied French for no more than 2 years in high school.
FRENCH112 - Accelerated Elementary French

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 112
Title: Accelerated Elementary French

Description
This 1-credit course is designed for students with 2-3 years of high school French whose language proficiency places them between French 101 and French 102. The interactive, accelerated format builds proficiency in the structures and vocabulary necessary to communicate with French speakers in a variety of basic interpersonal situations, comprehend short, authentic materials, and share opinions on personal, cultural, and societal topics. After completing French 112, students will be prepared to enroll in French 203.

---

FRENCH203 - Intermediate French Language and Culture

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate French Language and Culture

Description
The first course of the 2-course intermediate French sequence, French 203 builds on the elements of the language acquired in the elementary French 101-102 sequence. Continued engagement with French and Francophone cultures via interactive content and classes. Students expand their ability to communicate in interpersonal, interpretive, presentational, and intercultural settings. Engagement with a variety of authentic materials, discussions, and debates. Equal attention to speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: French 102 or French 111, AP French Language and Culture test score of 3, or equivalent.

---

FRENCH204 - Advanced Intermediate French Language and Culture

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Advanced Intermediate French Language and Culture

Description
This advanced intermediate French course focuses on developing more sophisticated interpersonal, interpretive, presentational, and intercultural communication skills. As the semester progresses, you will learn skills in interpreting cinematographic and literary works and gain confidence in your French as you review grammar and vocabulary and learn to express yourselves and understand others in increasingly complex and abstract ways. Guided essay writing on topics related to the readings and discussion. Prerequisite: French 203 at Duke, AP French Language and Culture test score of 4, or equivalent.

---

FRENCH204A - Advanced Intermediate French Language and Culture: Culture and Sustainability in Tunisia

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 204A
Title: Advanced Intermediate French Language and Culture: Culture and Sustainability in Tunisia

Description
Taught at Duke in Tunisia, this advanced intermediate French course focuses on the intersections of culture and sustainability in Tunisia, while developing more sophisticated interpersonal, interpretive, presentational, and intercultural communication skills. This course is for students who still need to reinforce their language skills but are ready for a deeper dive into cultural and societal questions through film, literature, and engagement with the local communities. Recommended prerequisite: French 203 at Duke, or SAT II score of 590-630, or an AP Language Test score of 4.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH212A</td>
<td>212A</td>
<td>Intensive Intermediate French Language and Culture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>This Duke in Aix-en-Provence course covers the intermediate French language curriculum (French 203, 204). Increased attention to grammatical variety and accuracy; guided writing practice; development of second language reading skill with increasing emphasis on critical analysis of cultural and literary texts. Resources include excerpts of nonfiction and literary texts, workshops with guest speakers, grammar and vocabulary supplements. Meets twelve hours/week, plus weekly all-day excursions conducted in French. Prerequisite: French 101-102 or 111 at Duke, or consent of director of language program. Satisfies 2 course requirements for French majors, 1 for minors.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| FRENCH270T-3 | 270T-3         | Voices in Global Health: French Tutorial  |
| Description  | Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, visual texts, and interviews in the target language, Voices in Global Health examines emerging health challenges at the local and global level. Through the experiences and knowledge shared from our guest speakers, we will explore the underlying health behaviors and cultural beliefs while producing culturally appropriate health interventions. Tutorials meet weekly for 75-minutes. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of language (French 204) or equivalent – heritage and native speakers are welcome to enroll. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Community-engaged course. |

| FRENCH272T   | 272T           | Voices in the Environment: French         |
| Description  | In this course, students will explore how language and culture impact environmental policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in French, students will analyze environmental issues in the Francophone World to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in French. |

| FRENCH273T   | 273T           | Voices in Public Policy: French Tutorial  |
| Description  | Students will explore how language and culture impact public policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in French, students will analyze public policy issues in the French-speaking world, in order to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. 1/2 credit. S/U. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in the target language. |

| FRENCH275T-2 | 275T-2         | Voices in Marketing: Advertising in French |
| Description  | Discussion-based course trains students to analyze all forms of advertising in French. Classes explore the history and theories of advertising in the francophone world, as well as hands-on strategies for analyzing ads, with particular attention to issues such as translation, localization, and ethics. Tutorials meet weekly for 75 minutes. S/U. Does not count towards MMS certificate program. Prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent. |

| FRENCH290A   | 290A           | Duke Administered Study Abroad: Topics in French Studies |
| Description  | Topics in French language, literature, and/or culture. Offered as part of a Duke Administered Global Education program. |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>301S</td>
<td>Finding Your Voice in French: The Power of Writing</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Develop your authorial voice in French. Whether you want to make readers laugh or cry, how can you use nuance, word choice, a sense of language rhythm to create impact? Study a multitude of texts for inspiration, from Nobel Prize winners to those who rebel and write, or sing, from the margins, using and creating language in powerful and innovative ways. Write in many forms—children’s stories, poetry, persuasive speech, essays, literary fiction—expanding the space for self-expression and the power and possibilities of your own multilingualism. Close reading, discussion of craft, journaling and creative writing, workshopping, peer feedback, revision. Prerequisite: French 204, AP score of 5, or equivalent.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>302S</td>
<td>Cultural and Literary Perspectives</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Designed to give students having completed the intermediate French 203–204 sequence the reading and writing skills necessary to enter mid-300 level courses in French and Francophone studies. Examines the (re-)negotiation of the French identity through a series of texts and films that introduce students to contemporary Francophone thought. Topics include cultural practices, collective myths, sociolinguistics, and immigration. Prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent. Not open to students who have received a 5 on the AP French Language and Culture Exam.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>303S</td>
<td>French for Current Affairs</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A contemporary culture/civilization course on changes and controversies in France today. Includes sources from a variety of print, audio, and visual French media, as well as current cultural, social, economic, and political issues. Also includes political institutions, media, religion, immigration, health, educational systems, foreign policy, and France in the European Union. Equal emphasis is given to written and oral skills. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: French 204, AP French Language and Culture test score of 5, or equivalent.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>304S</td>
<td>French Composition and Translation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Advanced translation and stylistics. Cultural and social difference between French and English patterns in written and oral expression. Extensive practice in translation of different types of texts. Equivalencies between French and English. Recommended prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.
FRENCH305S - Advanced French Grammar

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 305S
Title: Advanced French Grammar

Description: Intensive study of advanced concepts in French grammar. This course is focused on an in-depth analysis of advanced French grammar through the study of a variety of textual forms. Students will strengthen their skills in written production through writing in multimodal practice.

---

FRENCH306S - Reading Literature in French

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 306S
Title: Reading Literature in French

Description: What is literature? Why read literature today? And how do we talk about what we read? This seminar offers an initiation to literature in French from the Enlightenment to the digital age. It introduces a wide range of critical and theoretical tools to study literature and its uses, and aims at developing writing and argumentation across a range of literary genres (theater, essay, novel, poetry...). This seminar explores how most urgent political and philosophical issues of the ages can be read through and unraveled within literary texts. Authors studied may include Montesquieu, Diderot, Balzac, Baudelaire, Flaubert, Sartre, Césaire, Michaux, Duras, Fanon, Perec, and Modiano.

---

FRENCH307S - French Phonetics

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 307S
Title: French Phonetics

Description: Theory and practice of French pronunciation, corrective phonetics, intonation, accentuation, syllabification, elision and liaison. Focus on areas of speech production in French that are generally the most difficult for native speakers of English. Comprehension, dictation, and recitation exercises; interactive video and audio activities; self-assessment tasks; and end-of-term individual improvement grade.

---

FRENCH308S - Manger: Foodways and Food Systems

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 308S
Title: Manger: Foodways and Food Systems

Description: This course seeks to deepen our understanding of foodways and food systems, and of the roles that nourishment and nourishers play in our lives, while regenerating connections with food practices and food creators through the study of global French narratives, scholarships on foodways and foodscapes, and hands-on, in-person experiences with nourishers in our local community. A strong emphasis on experiential learning, including community engagement in systems of food access and production as well as work with chefs and farmers, and the study of French-language narrative, culinary, scholarly, journalistic writing, and other cultural documents.
FRENCH308SA - Manger: Food and Food Systems in the French-Speaking World

Description
An exploration of our relationship with food and its cultural and societal roles in French-speaking countries, from French gastronomy to the historical and economic influences that have determined our current systems of food production, what effects those systems have on immigration, equity, and climate, and the movements that seek to bring about changes in the ways people produce and consume food. A strong emphasis on experiential learning, including community engagement in systems of food access and production, as well as work with chefs and the study of French-language narrative, culinary, scholarly, and journalistic writing and other cultural documents. Recommended prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.

FRENCH315A - Travailler pour vivre: A practicum in French

Description
This course will accompany a 6-week internship in France designed to immerse students in a multicultural professional setting. Empiric knowledge will be supported by academic coursework and close individual follow up by both faculty and interning entity. The course will assist students in developing interpersonal and cultural competencies in the international workplace as we explore the place of work in France. Over the course of the summer session, students will reflect on cross-cultural communication, create reports that demonstrate professional expertise, and research a topic related to their internship experience, culminating in a final project. Prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.

FRENCH316S - Global Humanities in French

Description
For students with advanced or native French, a gateway to the French major focusing on global humanities in French. Key French-language humanistic cultural contributions as organized around comparative themes, regions, and eras. From Montesquieu's Enlightenment Les Lettres persanes to Satrapi's franco-Iranian graphic memoir Persepolis, the French to the Haitian Revolution, and African philosophy to French existentialism. Cultural objects including novels, films, poems, and paintings, as well as critical and historical writing—in digestible bites. Frequent, diverse writing assignments and group work. A foundation for lifelong cultural navigation/enrichment in French. Recommended prerequisite: native speaker status, AP French exam score of 5, or other advanced French preparation in secondary schooling.

FRENCH321S - Working in French: S'engager dans le monde francophone

Description
Examines intercultural communication, marketing, sustainability, economic development, and diplomacy in the Francophone world. Designed to build communicative competencies and advanced French language skills, with particular emphasis on how language and culture impact global business environments. Conducted entirely in French. Prerequisite: One French course at the 300-level or instructor permission. Course not open to graduate students or native speakers.
FRENCH325S - Global Displacement: Voix Francophones

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>325S</td>
<td>Global Displacement: Voix Francophones</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores migration and resettlement of Francophone refugees in North America through examination of current policy, law, and practice. Analysis of personal interviews and narratives with attention to ethical questions related to politics of listening to and speaking for other communities. Community-based language component (20 hours) engages students with refugee community in Durham. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: one course at 300-level or equivalent.

FRENCH327S - French Studies Seminar

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>327S</td>
<td>French Studies Seminar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A literary, cross-cultural critique focusing on specific topics to be announced. Open only to first years and sophomores. May be repeated if a different topic. Prerequisite: French 204, or SAT II score in French of 640 or higher, or AP score in French of 5.

FRENCH331S - Francophone Literature

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>331S</td>
<td>Francophone Literature</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Modern literature in French from French-speaking Africa and the French Caribbean. Topics include tradition and modernity, colonization, cultural assimilation, and the search for identity, and women in changing contexts.

FRENCH332S - Short Stories for Long Lives

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>Short Stories for Long Lives</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course has 2 starting points: 1) Acquiring another language enables writers to express what often can't be said otherwise. 2) Fiction enables you to write anything true. Major writers are the guides, including Djebar, Marie de France, Hébert, Diop, Balzac, as well as up-and-coming writers. Their works crisscross many times world-wide and are organized to trace the phases defining human life. What – and whom do people desire? How do they work? Why are they caught in conflict? These key questions culminate in a debate on the Vivre-Ensemble – living together – in Algeria, Belgium, France, Lebanon, Québec. French 332 offers an initiation into cultural criticism in French.

FRENCH335 - Free Speech: Francophone World-USA

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>335</td>
<td>Free Speech: Francophone World-USA</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

FRENCH339S - The Pleasure of Reading

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>339S</td>
<td>The Pleasure of Reading</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Developing a level of reading proficiency in French comparable to one's native language. Reading a variety of genres including works by French and francophone authors from mid-nineteenth to the twentieth-first century. Prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH343A</td>
<td>343A</td>
<td>Advanced Expression</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH345A</td>
<td>345A</td>
<td>Aspects of Contemporary French Culture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH346AS</td>
<td>346AS</td>
<td>Aspects of French Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH352A</td>
<td>352A</td>
<td>From Enlightenment Culture to Popular Culture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH353A</td>
<td>353A</td>
<td>History of Psychology in France and Europe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH366S</td>
<td>366S</td>
<td>Versailles and the Arts</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FRENCH343A - Advanced Expression
- Subject: FRENCH
- Catalog Number: 343A
- Title: Advanced Expression
- Description: Intensive practice in speaking and writing. Offered only in the Duke in France Program.

FRENCH345A - Aspects of Contemporary French Culture
- Subject: FRENCH
- Catalog Number: 345A
- Title: Aspects of Contemporary French Culture
- Description: Cultural questions that are associated with contemporary France. French urbanism, mentalities, habits, and social rituals as they appear to be different from American practices. Topics to be announced. Offered only as part of the summer program in Paris.

FRENCH346AS - Aspects of French Literature
- Subject: FRENCH
- Catalog Number: 346AS
- Title: Aspects of French Literature
- Description: Concentration on single authors, genres, movements, or themes. Topics to be announced. Offered only as part of summer program in Paris.

FRENCH352A - From Enlightenment Culture to Popular Culture
- Subject: FRENCH
- Catalog Number: 352A
- Title: From Enlightenment Culture to Popular Culture
- Description: Course constructs a sociological history of French (and partially European) culture by routinely using the city of Paris as an example. Analyzes conflicts inherited by contemporary culture in highlighting major moments that have defined it since pre-revolutionary era. Focuses on theoretical issues raised by each period, and the manner in which sociologists and critical theorists addressed them—from opposition of nature and culture just as it plays out for the pre-romantics, to the criticism of mass-culture by post-modern theorists. Sessions will be chronological, and will introduce and cover principle problems of social sciences. Taught in French through the Duke in France Program.

FRENCH353A - History of Psychology in France and Europe
- Subject: FRENCH
- Catalog Number: 353A
- Title: History of Psychology in France and Europe
- Description: This course aims to open students to the place psychology holds and how it is presented culturally and socially, as well as exposing them to French psychological practices. To do so, we will identify historical and conceptual landmarks concerning contemporary psychology in France and Europe. Students will focus on the birth and life of psychology, from its 18th-century beginnings to its current applications in France. Such movements as physiology, associationism, psychoanalysis, Gestalt, cognitivism, and social psychology will be scrutinized through readings, lectures, and co-curricular outings to those places in Paris where psychology is put into practice. Taught at Duke in France.

FRENCH366S - Versailles and the Arts
- Subject: FRENCH
- Catalog Number: 366S
- Title: Versailles and the Arts
- Description: Taught in French, this course examines the political, cultural, and artistic history of Versailles in the 17th and 18th centuries, emphasizing its role in the history of music. It analyzes the ways in which the Sun-King achieved the unification and centralization of the French nation through certain artistic politics which likewise set the scene for musical institutions. This seminar therefore seeks to investigate how these artists’ creations articulated evolving ideas around the court, the monarchy, the State, and the private and public spheres, while exploring their resonances in present art and literature.
FRENCH367S - Soundscapes of Migration: Music and Migration in Paris from the Interwar Years to the Present

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number
367S

Title
Soundscapes of Migration: Music and Migration in Paris from the Interwar Years to the Present

Description
This class studies migration through the prism of music, focusing on Paris as a node of networks of musical migration. It analyzes how the metropolis has been a site of musical encounters, as well as a recipient, catalyzer, and disseminator of migrating musical practices. It studies music as a transnational and diasporic cultural process. Although our musical journey will be structured chronologically, its frontiers will encompass the soundscapes of the capital's peripheries. The range of music considered will be varied: from the Eastern European classical repertoire and African American Jazz to contemporary Rap, through Algerian Raï and Arab-Andalusian popular music. Taught in French.

FRENCH371S - Haiti to New Orleans: 19th Century Literary Migrations

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number
371S

Title
Haiti to New Orleans: 19th Century Literary Migrations

Description
Former slaves in the Haitian Revolution (1791-1804) defeated French colonialism and founded a free republic. Some Creole planters fled to Cuba with former slaves, but were expelled in 1809 and migrated to Louisiana. We will study 19th century enmeshed literatures, cultures, and languages of Haitian-descended and Haitian-influenced cultures in Louisiana, reading literature by Roquigny, Mercier, and Augustin, and studying Creole and Cajun identities, slave insurrections, native American relationships, plantation and urban cultures, 'placage' and libertinage, ritual cultures from voodoo to Jewish New Orleans, music, mardi gras, and healing traditions. Course taught in French.

FRENCH375S - Love, Sex, Madness in Caribbean Fiction and Film

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number
375S

Title
Love, Sex, Madness in Caribbean Fiction and Film

Description
This course explores the themes of love, sex, and madness as the lenses through which Caribbean writers and filmmakers have challenged traditional ideas of citizenship, family, gender roles, and political power. What, for example, is the connection between a dictatorship in Haiti and women's sexual desire? How does the figure of 'the mad Creole woman' challenge masculinist constructions of national identity in the early years of independence in Africa? How might the love between a mother and child be read as an act of anti-colonial resistance? We will examine these questions through novels, short stories, and films. Recommended prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.

FRENCH390 - Topics in French Literature and Culture

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number 390

Title
Topics in French Literature and Culture

Description
Specific literary or cultural French or Francophone topics to be announced. May be repeated.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH390A</td>
<td>Topics in French Literature and Culture</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Topics to be announced. (Offered only in the Duke-in-France Program.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH390A-1</td>
<td>Topics in French and/or Francophone Culture Abroad</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>390A-1</td>
<td>Topics may vary.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH390S</td>
<td>Topics in French Literature and Culture</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Seminar on specific literary or cultural French or Francophone topics to be announced. May be repeated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH390SA</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad Seminar: Topics in French Literature and Culture</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>390SA</td>
<td>Topics to be announced. (Offered only in the Duke-in-France Program.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Individual study in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, focusing on scholarship examining the literary, cultural, historical, and sociolinguistic fields of inquiry. The independent study draws heavily on primary and secondary readings, resulting in a substantive, well-written paper or similar final product. Consent of instructor and Director of Undergraduate Studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH394</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>394</td>
<td>See French 393. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH410S</td>
<td>Contemporary French Fiction</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>410S</td>
<td>Novels published in France during the past decade. Fashions, fads, new trends, succès de scandale, and prize winners.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
FRENCH411 - Biography, Life Writing, Autofiction

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number
411

Title
Biography, Life Writing, Autofiction

Description
History and art of the life story, examining biography as it drives research and contemporary writing. From Montaigne to Rousseau, the biopic to the lives of troubadours, we will study modes, media and social functions: portrait, caricature, meditation, fragments, selfies. The subjects: famous or anonymous people; those who are not human, landscapes, the sea—even inanimate objects. The accounts of radical change or metamorphosis, personal epiphanies, self-conscious reflection. The aims of depicting lives as they unfold. Texts include Foucault, Augustine, Flora Tristan, Pascal, Ferraraun. Critical readings will be coupled with creative work culminating in a research project around your life.

FRENCH416A - Modern and Contemporary Art in France

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number
416A

Title
Modern and Contemporary Art in France

Description
Based on the following five units: liberation from tradition, subversion and experimentation, art and society, the new methods and new places of art, and icons of the 20th century. On these premises, course will follow in chronological order, offering a panorama of principal movements in modern and contemporary art in France (Fauvism, Cubism, Dadaism, Surrealism, Neo-realism etc.) Goal of the sessions, based on specific works, will aim to re-enroll these movements in their artistic and social context. Taught in French through Duke-in-France Program.

FRENCH425S - Surrealism: Aesthetics and Politics

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number
425S

Title
Surrealism: Aesthetics and Politics

Description
Introduces basic principles and central issues of Surrealism investigating its relations with modernism. Examines Surrealist strategies (automatism, hypnosis, collage, found objects), themes (dreams, sexuality, dépaysement), and political agendas (Marxism, anti-colonialism, anarchism) across a wide range of verbal sources and visual artefacts and from a variety of angles: its precursors (Sade, Freud, Apollinaire), the practices in the Parisian scene in the 1920s, the European anti-fascist phase, reception of Parisian surrealism in the Caribbean, theoretical reflections by Benjamin and Adorno, the legacies (The Situationist International, May 1968, Pop Art). Conducted in French.

FRENCH426S - France-Asia: Cultural Transfers and Translations in a Globalized Context

Subject
FRENCH

Catalog Number
426S

Title
France-Asia: Cultural Transfers and Translations in a Globalized Context

Description
This class explores the dynamic contemporary Franco-Asian dialogue with a specific focus on China, Japan, Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. Seeking to go beyond the East-West divide, the seminar investigates the current stakes of this dialogue, given its growing complexity after 1945. It examines the postcolonial legacy of France's occupation of Indochina, and how East Asia has also often been viewed as an 'Other,' serving to crystallize French anxieties over political and cultural power. It uses an interdisciplinary perspective encompassing novels, cinema, dance, visual arts, and critical theory to trace a web of exchanges in a globalized context. Taught in French.
FRENCH427S - Banlieues and Peripheries in French Contemporary Literature and Cinema

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 427S
Title: Banlieues and Peripheries in French Contemporary Literature and Cinema

Description
This seminar explores figurations of banlieues and peripheries in contemporary French literature and cinema, and how they are inherently intertwined with a deep renewal of realist aesthetics. We will study the recent tendency to approach margins as metonymic and conflicted geopolitical configurations, articulating issues of gender, class and race. We will examine a constellation of recent films and narratives that can be anticipatory and expressive of the French social discontent in all its complexity, from the banlieues riots to the yellow vest movement.

FRENCH428S - Reading Contemporary Literature in French for the 'Choix Goncourt' Prize

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 428S
Title: Reading Contemporary Literature in French for the 'Choix Goncourt' Prize

Description
Why read literature today? And how do we talk about what we read? This seminar offers a unique opportunity to participate in the Choix Goncourt Prize in the U.S., and learn how to be a literary critic. Students will engage in dialogue with contemporary authors, acquire theoretical and critical literary tools, and learn the best practices of being part of a selecting literary committee. It is intended for those who want to deepen their knowledge of literature and culture, sharpen their critical spirit, and improve their skills in reading and writing French. One student will be designated as delegate and travel to NYC to attend the Prize ceremony at the Albertine bookshop. Taught in French.

FRENCH429 - Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 429
Title: Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics

Description
Investigation of defining debates on European culture and the fiction which shapes them. In collaboration with Nasher Museum. Focus on literature and the visual arts of France, Italy, Portugal, Spain. Comparative analysis of key issues, including arts of migration, multilingualism, cultural and political relations within and without Europe, development of financial systems. Major authors: Marco Polo, Khatibi, Montaigne, Montesquieu, Balzac, Calvino, Nâmoisovky, Seprun, Saramago. Research in museum collections on major pieces.

FRENCH429P - Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics Preceptorial

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 429P
Title: Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics Preceptorial

Description
A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 202 or French 429. Further information available from instructor.
FRENCH430 - Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 430
Title: Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa

Description: The objective of the course is to analyze the social, political and cultural dynamics of post-independence African states through the musical archive. The course will analyze the role that music has played in the construction of national identities in post-colonial African states, but also in social, political and cultural dynamics of contemporary Africa. From High-life in Ghana to Congolese rumba, Afrobeat in Nigeria, reggae, Hip Hop and Rai, it will show how music has accompanied societal and political evolutions of African nations. The course will think of music as a landscape and analyze the musical circulation, as a space for the constitution of African societal modernities. In English.

FRENCH430P - Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa Preceptorial

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 430P
Title: Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa Preceptorial

Description: A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 430 or French 430. Further information available from instructor.

FRENCH431 - Anthropologie Economique

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 431
Title: Anthropologie Economique

Description: Taught in French, this course is based on the achievements of anthropology to identify the foundations of economic practice as well as the theoretical problems it poses. Whether it is the market, credit or investment, economic institutions and practices are historical inventions. A better understanding of these requires analyzing the process by which the universe, which we call 'economy', was constituted. It is about reintegrating economic behavior into human behavior. An economy that positively affects living things and meets the needs of human communities must rethink the foundations of the theory of value and exchange.

FRENCH481 - Flaubert’s Brain: Neurohumanities

Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 481
Title: Flaubert’s Brain: Neurohumanities

Description: Consideration of ‘realist’ fiction of Gustave Flaubert from social and cognitive neuroscience perspective. Investigation of implications of Flaubert’s illustration of cognitive, affective, and somatic experiences of his characters, and his own experience, e.g. lapses of consciousness, convulsions, heightened emotions. Use of digital resources to chart emerging discourses and patterns in documentation of neuropathology, while attempting to define unique properties of fiction as literary ‘technology’, e.g. by consideration of realist mimesis as analogous to mapping and other technologies documenting brain function/dysfunction. A preceptorial may be available for French majors/minors.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Code</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH481P</td>
<td>Flaubert's Brain: Neurohumanities Preceptorial</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>481P</td>
<td>Flaubert's Brain: Neurohumanities Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH482S</td>
<td>Strange Masterpieces: Major Authors in French and Francophone Modernity</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>482S</td>
<td>Strange Masterpieces: Major Authors in French and Francophone Modernity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH489S</td>
<td>Screening Europe</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>489S</td>
<td>Screening Europe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH489SP</td>
<td>Screening Europe Preceptorial</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>489SP</td>
<td>Screening Europe Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH490-1</td>
<td>Topics in Literature and Neuroscience</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>490-1</td>
<td>Topics in Literature and Neuroscience</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRENCH490A</td>
<td>Advanced Topics in French and/or Francophone Literature/Culture Abroad</td>
<td>FRENCH</td>
<td>490A</td>
<td>Advanced Topics in French and/or Francophone Literature/Culture Abroad</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

- FRENCH481P: A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in French 481. Further information available from instructor.
- FRENCH482S: Introduction to the work of major authors from the eighteenth through twentieth centuries in the French language tradition. Topics include literary movements and their relationships to political, economic, or other social contexts; authorial personae and roles; print culture and its relation to nations, diasporas, and other social collectivities; narratology; and gender and literature.
- FRENCH489S: Course debates identification of Europe as a political, historical and social entity from the standpoint of cinema. Provides students with an introduction to the notion of ‘European cinema’ from 1945 to the present-day crisis of Brexit and migration. Explores issues concerning interactions and relations between national and transnational identities, the local and the global, post-colonialism and multiculturalism, migration and nationalism, and Eastern versus Western Europe.
- FRENCH489SP: A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 489S or French 489S. For French minors and majors, and all students who want to improve their linguistic skills. Students lead class discussions in French, write all their assignments in French and give an oral presentation in French. Further information available from the instructor.
- FRENCH490-1: Focus on the intersection of literature, culture and neuroscience. Topics vary. Taught in English with French preceptorial available.
- FRENCH490A: Topics may vary.
FRENCH490S - Special Topics in French Literature
Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Special Topics in French Literature
Description: A cross-cultural analysis focusing on specific literary or cultural French or Francophone topics to be announced. May be repeated.

FRENCH493 - Research Independent Study
Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See French 393. Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

FRENCH494 - Research Independent Study
Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 494
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See French 393. Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

FRENCH495 - Honors Thesis
Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 495
Title: Honors Thesis
Description: Preparation and writing of research paper for 'departmental distinction.' Consent of both the instructor and the director of undergraduate studies required. See section on honors in Bulletin.

FRENCH89S - First-Year Seminar
Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar
Description: Topics vary each semester offered.

FRENCH89S-1 - First-Year Seminar in French
Subject: FRENCH
Catalog Number: 89S-1
Title: First-Year Seminar in French
Description: Seminar for first-year undergraduates with the desire and ability to take courses in literature, history, culture, art, cinema, or drama in French at the 300-level, equivalent in all respects to a 300-level course in French. Completely satisfies the foreign language requirement and counts toward a major or minor in French. Topics vary. Prerequisite: SAT II score of 640 or above, AP Language score of 5. Native speakers or students who did high school work in French encouraged to enroll.
GENOME128FS - Evolutionary Genomics: Who Are We, Where Have We Been, and Where Are We Going?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GENOME</td>
<td>128FS</td>
<td>Evolutionary Genomics: Who Are We, Where Have We Been, and Where Are We Going?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

We are now more than a decade into the genomics revolution that generated data allowing us to gaze into our past, present, and future in ways that were beyond imagining when Darwin's theory of Natural Selection was first introduced. The unification of genomic data, bioinformatics, and evolutionary theory has transformed our understanding of human history, our place within the Tree of Life, and the impact that our species is having on those with whom we share the planet. This course will use the primary literature to familiarize students with the multifaceted power of genomics, with a slant towards examining human history and disease from an evolutionary perspective. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

GENOME190FS - Focus Program: Topics in Genome Sciences

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GENOME</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Focus Program: Topics in Genome Sciences</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics in genome sciences and policy. Open only to students in Focus Program.

GENOME212FS - Evolution, Society, and Health in Comparative Perspective

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GENOME</td>
<td>212FS</td>
<td>Evolution, Society, and Health in Comparative Perspective</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Evolutionary perspectives on the social factors that predict health, lifespan, and Darwinian fitness. Comparative insight from evolutionary models and research on other species, as well as recent genetic studies of evolutionary history and trait variation in humans. Topics include: mechanisms of evolution, the long-term consequences of early life adversity, social environmental effects on health, the genetics of socially relevant traits. Open only to students in the FOCUS program.

GENOME222FS - Genetics and Epigenetics: The Codes that Control Our Genomes

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GENOME</td>
<td>222FS</td>
<td>Genetics and Epigenetics: The Codes that Control Our Genomes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Many inherited cellular and physiological traits in humans are not due to changes in DNA sequence, but instead are shaped by factors such as age, diet, or environment. This course will examine sequence-independent regulation of the human genome, non-genetic diseases, environmental factors that control the epigenome, and multi-generational inheritance of epigenetic information (how grandparental experiences shape descendants’ genomes). Course readings will be drawn from the primary literature (historical and current) and will be anchored on human genetics, although model systems (yeast, Drosophila, plants) will also be discussed. Only open to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required. Prerequisite: AP Biology or equivalent.
GENOME291 - Bass Connections: Enabling Precision Medicine

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GENOME</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>Bass Connections: Enabling Precision Medicine</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This is an independent research study for undergraduate students interested in Genome Sciences and Policy. Enrollment in the course requires pre-approved research topic and plan of study. Open only to students in the Bass Connections program. Instructor consent required.

GERMAN101 - First-Year German I

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>First-Year German I</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

First-semester introductory language course. Practice in spoken and written German (speaking, listening, reading, writing); introduction to German culture and society through film, music, literature, and other authentic materials. Communicative approach to language study focuses on learning to use German in meaningful contexts across a variety of real-life situations and genres.

GERMAN102 - First-Year German II

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>First-Year German II</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Second-semester introductory language course. Practice in spoken and written German (speaking, listening, reading, writing); introduction to German culture and society through film, music, literature, and other authentic materials. Communicative approach to language study focuses on learning to use German in meaningful contexts across a variety of real-life situations and genres.

GERMAN111 - Intensive First-Year German

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>111</td>
<td>Intensive First-Year German</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Intensive, introductory course combines first two semesters of German language instruction. Introduction to language and culture of modern German-speaking world. Practice in spoken and written German (speaking, listening, reading, writing) across variety of everyday, real-life situations and genres. Course takes functional communicative approach focusing on development of interpersonal, interpretive, and presentational skills. No previous German language study required. Ideal for highly motivated students and those interested in refreshing knowledge of foundational grammar and vocabulary structures.

GERMAN111A - Intensive First-Year German

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>111A</td>
<td>Intensive First-Year German</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Intensive introduction to German language and culture. Combines in one semester the work of German 101-102. Taught only in the Duke-in-Berlin Fall Semester Program.

GERMAN112A - First-Year German II

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>112A</td>
<td>First-Year German II</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Second-semester introductory language course. Practice in spoken and written German (speaking, listening, reading, writing); introduction to German culture and society through film, music, literature, and other authentic materials. Communicative approach to language study focuses on learning to use German in meaningful contexts across a variety of real-life situations and genres.
GERMAN190S-1 - Special Topics in German Studies

Description
Introduction to aspects of German culture and civilization. Topics vary by semester. Taught in English.

GERMAN203 - Intermediate German I

Description
Intermediate-level German course continuing instruction begun in German 102. Focus on developing German language abilities and expanding cultural knowledge through topic-oriented syllabus on cultures of the German-speaking world. Comprehensive review of grammar, vocabulary building, with continued practice in speaking, reading, listening, and writing. Literary and nonliterary texts from a variety of media provide basis for discussion and cultural awareness. Recommended prerequisite: German 101-102, 111, or equivalent.

GERMAN210 - Intermediate Conversation Practice

Description
Develop speaking skills for everyday language interactions, including expressing opinions and formulating arguments. Grade based on participation, vocabulary quizzes, role plays. Prerequisite: German 101 and 102 (or equivalent). Enrollment in German 203 or 204 encouraged but not necessary. Does not satisfy the foreign language requirement, or requirements for German major/minor.

GERMAN211A - Intermediate German I

Description
Intermediate-level German course continuing instruction begun in German 102. Focus on developing German language abilities and expanding cultural knowledge through topic-oriented syllabus on cultures of the German-speaking world. Comprehensive review of grammar, vocabulary building, with continued practice in speaking, reading, listening, and writing. Literary and nonliterary texts from a variety of media provide basis for discussion and cultural awareness. Recommended prerequisite: German 101-102, 111, or equivalent.

GERMAN212A - Intensive Intermediate German

Description
Intensive grammar review and practice of spoken and written German, combining in one semester the work of one year of intermediate German. Taught only in the Berlin Fall Semester Program. Prerequisite: German 101-102, 111, or equivalent.
GERMAN213A - Intensive Intermediate German for Engineers

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 213A
Title: Intensive Intermediate German for Engineers

Description
Development of German language proficiency (reading, listening, speaking, and writing), with focus on the acquisition of specialized vocabulary in the fields of engineering, technology, mathematics, and other natural science disciplines. Includes investigation of history and culture of Berlin, with focus on major political, economic, social, and cultural developments since the fall of the Wall. Materials from various sources (scientific texts and problem sets, print media, audio/video material). Taught at the Technical University in Berlin. Offered only in the January term of the Duke-in-Berlin spring semester program. Prerequisite: German 102, 111, or equivalent.

---

GERMAN214SA - Intermediate German II

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 214SA
Title: Intermediate German II

Description
Intermediate-level German course continuing instruction begun in German 203. Practice in spoken and written German (speaking, listening, reading, writing); introduction to German culture and society through film, music, literature, and other authentic materials. Communicative approach to language study focuses on learning to use German in meaningful contexts across a variety of real-life situations and genres. Study abroad course with Duke in Berlin.

---

GERMAN220A - Readings in German Literature

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 220A
Title: Readings in German Literature

Description
Development of written and oral proficiency in German, as well as the vocabulary and analysis tools needed for poetry and short prose. Intended for intermediate language learners beginning to work with German literature. Prerequisite: German 203 or equivalent. Taught in the Duke Summer in Berlin program.

---

GERMAN222SA - Capturing the City: Documentary Photography in Berlin

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 222SA
Title: Capturing the City: Documentary Photography in Berlin

Description
History and development of documentary photography in Germany since the 19th century. Photography fieldwork projects focused on interpreting cultural life, public spaces, landscapes, and people in Berlin. Includes techniques and practice of color photography—composition, lighting, color correction, editing, and sequencing. Engagement with contemporary photography scene in Berlin through visits with area artists, museum visits, and mounting of exhibition of student work. Offered through the Duke-in-Berlin program.

---

GERMAN243 - Modern European Short Fiction

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 243
Title: Modern European Short Fiction

Description
Comprehensive examination of several important works of modern European short fiction by authors such as Kafka, Woolf, Svevo, Sartre, Joyce, Proust, Mann, Schnitzler, Gogol, and Calvino. While stories will be contextualized historically, culturally, and geographically, course is organized into thematic units, including animals, home, punishment, and love, to facilitate comparative analysis. Students engage critically with concepts such as identity, trauma, genre, and narrative form.

---

GERMAN261 - The Viking Age

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 261
Title: The Viking Age

Description
The history of Viking raiding, trading, exploration, and settlement, with attention to the socioeconomic structure, political organization, and naval technology of medieval Scandinavian societies. Focus on topics such as Norse mythology, ritual, and runes, Icelandic sagas, gender roles and social hierarchies in a warrior society, clan-based justice, and the collision between 'heroic' values and the new Christian ethic. Taught in English.
GERMAN261S - The Viking Age

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 261S
Title: The Viking Age

Description
The history of Viking raiding, trading, exploration, and settlement, with attention to the socio-economic structure, political organization, and naval technology of medieval Scandinavian societies. Focus on topics such as Norse mythology, ritual, and runes, Icelandic sagas, gender roles and social hierarchies in a warrior society, clan-based justice, and the collision between 'heroic' values and the new Christian ethic. Taught in English.

GERMAN262 - Romantic Fairy Tales: Literary and Folk Fairy Tales from Grimms to Disney

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 262
Title: Romantic Fairy Tales: Literary and Folk Fairy Tales from Grimms to Disney

Description
German fairy tales of the Romantic era, including both the 'literary fairy tales' by known authors and the 'folk fairy tales' commonly deemed children's literature. Comparisons to other fairy tale traditions, notably by Perrault and Basile, providing a broader context and perspective. Comparison to the Disney contributions elucidating our own preconceptions and prejudices. Special attention to the literary, feminist, and historical elements of the fairy tale genre. Taught in English.

GERMAN264 - German Film

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 264
Title: German Film

Description
Introduction to German film, film theory, and reception. Emphasis on history and cultural background of films. Topics include Expressionism, Nazi and postwar films, New German cinema, DEFA. Films subtitled; readings and discussion in English.

GERMAN266 - Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 266
Title: Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Description
What is 'virtual reality'? If something is real, isn't it also always actual, and if virtual, only almost or nearly real? What strange, hybrid no-man's-land lies midway between truth and illusion, and how can we learn to navigate inside this space? The puzzle is an old one, even if the technology we call VR is new. In this discussion-intensive course, we will read, watch, and play our way through some of the most powerful attempts to understand humanity's penchant for collective dreaming: from Plato's allegory of the cave, to the immersive spectacles of baroque theater, to the ghostly realms of gothic literature and modern film, to the invention of cyberspace and parallel universe games.
GERMAN266S - Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
266S

Title
Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Description
What is 'virtual reality'? If something is real, isn't it also always actual, and if virtual, only almost or nearly real? What strange, hybrid no-mans-land lies midway between truth and illusion, and how can we learn to navigate inside this space? The puzzle is an old one, even if the technology we call VR is new. In this course, we will read, watch, and play our way through some of the most powerful attempts to understand humanity's penchant for collective dreaming: from Plato's allegory of the cave, to the immersive spectacles of baroque theater, to the ghostly realms of gothic literature and modern film, to the invention of cyberspace and parallel universe games.

---

GERMAN272T - Voices in the Environment: German

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
272T

Title
Voices in the Environment: German

Description
In this course, students will explore how language and culture impact environmental policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in German, students will analyze environmental issues in Germany to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in German. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of German or equivalent.

---

GERMAN275 - The Legend of King Arthur in Literature and Film

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
275

Title
The Legend of King Arthur in Literature and Film

Description
The legend of the 'Once and Future King,' Arthur of Camelot, has fascinated poets, artists, writers, and filmmakers. Students will read and view different versions of the Arthur legend, from the earliest surviving sixth-century witness to the legend to modern films. Focusing on the themes of leadership, gender, and love, students will explore how each work understands Arthur and his milieu and the implications of each vision for the political and cultural world in which it originates. Taught in English. No prerequisites.

---

GERMAN282S - Modernism and the Arts

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
282S

Title
Modernism and the Arts

Description
This course places international modernism in an intermedial perspective, presenting it as a broad conversation among international artists across various art forms. In addition to reading major literary works by writers such as Baudelaire, Mallarmé, Joyce, Eliot, Kafka, Woolf, Wat, Babel, Rilke, Anand, Césaire, Lu Hsun, students will enhance their understanding of modernism through exposure to other art forms, such as painting (Matisse, Picasso, Marc, Kandinsky, Chaill, Schoenberg), sculpture (Rodin, Brancusi, Giacometti), music (Schumann, Debussy, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Berg, Gershwin), and film (Buñuel, Dali, Eisenstein, Vertov, Carné, Godard, Ruttmann, Cavalcanti, Vigo).

---

GERMAN284 - Poetics of Murder

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
284

Title
Poetics of Murder

Description
The literature and film of crime and detection in the American, British, and German context. An examination of our fascination with stories about violence and death, as well as the connections between modern social history and narrative form. Includes interpretations of central works in crime fiction history: stories by Poe and Schiller, detective novels by Agatha Christie and Raymond Chandler, the thrillers of Fritz Lang, and postmodern tales by Eco, Auster, and Süsskind. Taught in English.

---

GERMAN286 - German History Through Film

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
286

Title
German History Through Film

Description
Interdisciplinary seminar at intersection of German Studies and History, taught by scholars from both disciplines. Explores ways in which films shape historical imaginations and are in themselves artifacts of history. Provides unique opportunity to learn about German past and present, and reflect on relationship between film and history.
GERMAN29 - Advanced Placement in German

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>29</td>
<td>Advanced Placement in German</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
One course credit for Advanced Placement in German

GERMAN290-1 - Special Topics in German Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>290-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in German Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Aspects of German culture and civilization. Topics vary. Taught in English.

GERMAN290S - Special Topics in German Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Special Topics in German Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Aspects of German culture and civilization. Topics vary. Taught in English.

GERMAN291 - Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Open only to all students by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

GERMAN303SA - Advanced German in Berlin

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>303SA</td>
<td>Advanced German in Berlin</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Texts drawn from various media centered largely on contemporary Berlin. Development of written and oral proficiency in German, as well as insight into the cultural and historical aspects of the capital. Intensive practice of sentence structure and expository writing. Prerequisite: German 204 or equivalent. May substitute for German 305S or 306S to fulfill major requirement. Taught only in the Duke in Berlin program.

GERMAN305S - Advanced German I: Culture and Society

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>305S</td>
<td>Advanced German I: Culture and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Development of advanced proficiency in oral and written communication. Expansion and deepening of cultural literacy and interpretive skills by focusing on issues of social, cultural, and political significance in German-speaking countries. Cultural and literary texts from a variety of media and genres analyzed in social and cultural contexts. Intensive work on vocabulary, sentence structure, and patterns of expression. Prerequisite: German 204 or equivalent. Not open to native speakers of German.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>306S</td>
<td>Advanced German II: Text and Context</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Development of advanced German language proficiency, with particular attention to written expression. Emphasis on stylistic variation, complex grammatical structures, and lexical sophistication (vocabulary building). Analysis of authentic texts from a variety of genres will provide the basis for practice in creative, descriptive, narrative, argumentative, and analytical writing. Prerequisite: German 204 or equivalent. Not open to native speakers of German.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>Advanced Conversation Practice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Practice speaking in wide array of formal and informal situations. Expand vocabulary and idiomatic speech. Topics include current events, practical needs, German culture, using authentic texts from variety of media and genre. Grade based on participation, quizzes, presentations. Prerequisite: German 204 (or equivalent). Does not satisfy the foreign language requirement, or requirements for German major/minor.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>312SA</td>
<td>Advanced Intensive German Language and Culture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Development of advanced proficiency with particular emphasis on speaking and writing. Through analysis of literary and nonliterary texts, excursions, museums, films, theater performances, students gain in-depth knowledge of various aspects of German culture and society. Advanced grammar review, vocabulary building, oral presentations, as well as a variety of writing assignments. Taught only in the Berlin program. Prerequisite: German 204, 212, 212A, or equivalent. Fulfills major requirement for German 305S and German 306S.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>319SA</td>
<td>Advanced Intensive German</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>For advanced students to increase all four language skills: comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing. Discussion of current events from a German cultural perspective based on newspaper articles, radio and television reports. Preparation for the German language examination required of all foreign students enrolling at German universities. Equivalent of German 305S or 306S, but offered only in the Berlin semester program.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>320A</td>
<td>Environmental Policy in Europe: Duke in Berlin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Economic concepts and environmental policies with their application to selected environmental issues in Western and Eastern Europe, transboundary pollution problems, and the role of the European Community. Taught by a leading German expert in the Duke-in-Berlin fall semester program.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>321A</td>
<td>Economics of a United Europe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Implications of a common monetary policy, common welfare standards, unemployment, and migration in the European Union. (Taught only in the Duke-in-Berlin Program.)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>322A</td>
<td>BERLIN: ARCHITECTURE, ART AND THE CITY, 1871-PRESENT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Development of urban Berlin from the Gruenderzeit (the Boom Years) of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>the 1870s to the present: architecture of Imperial Berlin; the Weimar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and Nazi periods; post World War II; reconstruction as a reunified</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>city. The major architectural movements from late historicism to</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>postmodernism. (Taught only in the Duke-in-Berlin Program.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>323S</td>
<td>DWARVES, DRAGON-SLAYERS, AND WEREWOLVES: GERMANIC MYTHS AND LEGENDS</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Exploration of ancient Germanic fantasy worlds with their gods,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>giants, dwarves, dragon-slayers, werewolves, shape-shifters, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>witches. Readings of short texts and excerpts from myths, epics,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>legends, fairy tales, riddles, and incantations. Where do the figures,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>beasts, creatures appear and what cultural concerns do they represent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Concluding look at the survival and continuation of the Germanic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>tradition in modern and contemporary fantasy, from Tolkien to The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Game of Thrones.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>324SA</td>
<td>POLITICAL POLARIZATION IN CONTEMPORARY WESTERN DEMOCRACIES</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This seminar seeks to understand current developments in societal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>polarization in France, Germany, the UK, and the US, with particular</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>attention to how specific political processes benefit or hamper</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>political polarization.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>325A</td>
<td>CURRENT ISSUES AND TRENDS IN GERMANY</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics of social and cultural significance in contemporary Germany,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>with particular emphasis on media and society. Includes site visits.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Offered in the Duke Summer Program in Berlin.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>331T</td>
<td>VOICES IN PHILOSOPHY: GERMAN</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Discussion-based course trains students with advanced intermediate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>proficiency in German to read and analyze core philosophical texts in</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>German, typically in conjunction with a lecture course offered in</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>philosophy. Classes include close readings of original texts,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>discussions of interpretation and application in variety of other</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>forms (including film, documentary, multimedia) and real-life</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>situations. Students examine how language/culture impact our</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>understanding of core philosophical texts through attention to issues</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>such as translation, vernacular, and word choice. Tutorials meet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>weekly for 75 minutes. Recommended prerequisite: German 204 or</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>CREATIVE WRITING IN GERMAN: THE WRITER'S CRAFT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>In this course, students explore contemporary German poetry as both</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>cultural object and creative endeavor while regularly writing and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>revising their own poems and translations. Readings include poems by</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>living German poets and translators, as well as interviews with poets</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and translators, blog posts on major German literary websites, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>essays. Students will receive feedback on their poetic and interpretive</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>work from both peers and professors, and revision of writing is a</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>key aspect of the course. This course is taught entirely in German,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and the majority of texts are in German. Recommended prerequisite:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>German 204 or equivalent. Not open to native speakers of German.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GERMAN335S - Modern German Theater and Drama

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>335S</td>
<td>Modern German Theater and Drama</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to some major works of theater and drama of German-speaking central Europe, especially as they attempt to address contemporary social issues. Emphasis primarily on 20th century theater and drama. Authors include Bertolt Brecht, Friedrich Dürrenmatt, Peter Weiss, Peter Handke, Elfriede Jellinek and others whose experiments with dramatic form have drawn international attention. Discussions will explore the relationships between texts and their various theatrical performances on the stage and screen, as well between dramatic form and social-historical context. Final project may include performance of scenes from different plays. Taught in German.

GERMAN340S - Contemporary Culture through the German Media Landscape

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>340S</td>
<td>Contemporary Culture through the German Media Landscape</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course examines contemporary discourses in German society through the lens of the media landscape, which includes but is not limited to film, music, podcast, art, literature, and TV. Students will continue to develop their competencies in German at an advanced level by discussing and analyzing present issues and debates, with an emphasis on vocabulary building through oral and written response and analysis. Topics will vary, but may include politics, arts and entertainment, business, multiculturalism, Germany’s role in Europe and the world, among others. Recommended prerequisite: German 303, 305, 306, or permission of instructor.

GERMAN345S - Nature in the German Tradition

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>345S</td>
<td>Nature in the German Tradition</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The concept of nature in all its complexity— as environment, agent, inspiration, and threat—runs through the history of German thought like a particularly slippery red thread. From the nature poetry and philosophy of the German Romantics, which accompanies the emergence of biology, earth science, and chemistry as academic disciplines, to the climate activism and apocalypse narratives of the 20th and 21st centuries, the question of what nature actually is, and of what it has to do with us humans, gets posed again and again to radically varying effect. The course will explore this tradition via stories, poems, films, and philosophical texts. Reading, writing, and discussion in German.

GERMAN350S - The Image of America in German Culture

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>350S</td>
<td>The Image of America in German Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
An advanced German course about the image of America in twentieth- and twenty-first-century Germany. Popular and highbrow representations, in their historical, political, and social contexts. Topics include: American settler myths ('Cowboys & Indians,' pioneers); American film genres (the Western, the road movie); American progress and modernity; American brands in German society (Disney, Ford, Coca-Cola, Hollywood); the critique of American media, consumerism, and hegemony. Materials include literature, film, TV shows, comics, newspaper and magazine articles, and advertising. Taught in German. Recommended prerequisite: German 303, 305, 306, or equivalent.

GERMAN352SA - Berlin in Literature and Culture

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>352SA</td>
<td>Berlin in Literature and Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Literary works of modern German writers; focus on the city of Berlin and its unique cultural and political heritage due to Germany's division from 1945 to 1989. Emphasis on art and architecture of Berlin reflecting both historical trends and political ideologies such as National Socialism and Marxism. Taught only in the Berlin semester program.

GERMAN354SA - Contemporary Art in Berlin

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>354SA</td>
<td>Contemporary Art in Berlin</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Overview of the main locations, events and protagonists of the contemporary Berlin art scene. Examination of art in its omnipresence in the urban environment; includes explorations of street art, art in public spaces, museums, private collections, galleries, studios and art academies. Taught only in the Duke-in-Berlin study abroad program.
GERMAN358S - Sociolinguistic Landscapes: German Language, Society, and Identity

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
358S

Title
Sociolinguistic Landscapes: German Language, Society, and Identity

Description
Introduction to German sociolinguistics. Explores socio-cultural aspects of German language variation (spatial, chronological, social) and construction of social identities through language. Questions addressed: What is the German language, who are its speakers, and what do standard and non-standard varieties look like? How has German evolved, how does it continue to develop, and what factors impact its development? How do social variables (age, gender, social distance, etc.) relate to language use? Texts from linguistics, literature, film/music, and news media analyzed to understand impact of linguistic variation on human, personal experience in German-speaking world. Taught in German.

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
359A

Title

Description
The political, military, and economic role of the reunified Germany within the European Union. Analysis of the political system of the Federal Republic of Germany and of the structure of the European Union. Taught by German faculty in the Duke-in-Berlin spring semester program.

GERMAN360D - What Is Beauty?

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
360D

Title
What Is Beauty?

Description
Exploration of Western theories of beauty from Plato to the present. What do we mean when we call something beautiful? Does beauty belong to an object or an observer's mind? Is art or nature the best example of beauty? The class also examines the intertwining of modern theories of beauty with theories of race; analyzes the gender and power dynamics of theories of beauty; and asks about the relationship of aesthetics to society, politics, and biology. Readings include authors such as Plato, Burke, G.E. Lessing, Kant, Schiller, Charles Darwin, George Eliot, Nietzsche, W.E.B. DuBois, Arthur Danto, Elaine Scarry, Alice Walker, and Semir Zeki. Taught in English.

GERMAN362SA - The Economics of the Energiewende in Germany

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
362SA

Title
The Economics of the Energiewende in Germany

Description
Comprehensive overview of the Energiewende - Germany's effort to reshape its energy system, the industry, and building sectors into a nuclear-free, low-carbon economy. Application of a range of analytical methods - including economic assessment tools, legal analyses and political science - to shed light on different facets of the Energiewende, and to help understand the public and academic debates around it. The course thus offers different angles - looking at the economics of the Energiewende, as well as the technological, social, ethical, legal and political implications. Offered through the Duke-in-Berlin Program.
GERMAN364 - Green Germany: World Leader in Environmental Policy

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
364

Title
Green Germany: World Leader in Environmental Policy

Description
Exploration of Germany's leading global role in developing and implementing 'green' technologies and environmental policies. Analyzes Germany's current and past policies on energy, agriculture, and pollution control. Examines policies in context by studying German ideas about nature, history of German environmentalism, and by looking at Green Germany in European and global perspective. Discusses extent ethics can or ought to influence debates about global climate change and its ramifications. Readings include scholarly studies, exemplary policies, and groundbreaking ecological texts.

GERMAN365A - Art and Architecture of Berlin, Fifteenth to the Twentieth Century

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
365A

Title
Art and Architecture of Berlin, Fifteenth to the Twentieth Century

Description
Introduction to the visual arts of Germany from the fifteenth to the twentieth century through lectures conducted in Berlin's museums and cultural institutions. German Old Masters, German Romantic and Realist artists, Modernist art movements, such as Expressionism and New Objectivity, considered in relation to upheavals in modern German history. Taught in English in the Duke-in-Berlin summer program.

GERMAN366A - Frontier City Berlin: Facing History's Great Challenges

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
366A

Title
Frontier City Berlin: Facing History's Great Challenges

Description
This course deals with some of the great challenges and conflicts of the 20th and 21st century, such as capitalism vs. communism; authoritarian vs. democratic governance; and focuses on Berlin as a city at the forefront of historic struggles. In particular, it treats Berlin as the site of the first socialist revolution in a highly industrialized nation (1918/19); the rise of fascism amidst an advanced urban culture, the legacy of world war and totalitarian rule; the Cold War division of Berlin; the fall of communism and the crises of capitalism; and the search for an environmentally sustainable future. Offered in English in the Duke-in-Berlin summer program.

GERMAN374S - Urban Yiddish Culture: The Urban Imagination in Yiddish Culture from Warsaw to Buenos Aires

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
374S

Title
Urban Yiddish Culture: The Urban Imagination in Yiddish Culture from Warsaw to Buenos Aires

Description
This course offers a panoramic view of Yiddish culture in the twentieth century through a focus on the diverse cities inhabited by its audiences and creators across Europe and the Americas. Each week we will encounter a new city through the eyes of a novelist or poet, filmmaker, musician or visual artist. As we proceed from the turn of the twentieth century to the post-Holocaust era, we will consider the broad aesthetic and ideological tendencies that inform representations of urban Jewish life in Yiddish, English, Spanish and other languages while also charting an ever-expanding geography including Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Rio de Janeiro. All material in English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>375S</td>
<td>GERMAN375S - Art and Activism: Manifestos, Revolutions, and the Avant-gardes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Discussion-based seminar and survey of the literature of manifestos and their role in revolutionary and avant-garde traditions of thought from the mid-19th century to the present. Topics covered include: connections between literary forms and political activism; history of modern revolutionary movements and their impacts on intellectual and artistic production; contemporary developments in manifesto writing in a global context. Sample movements include Communism, Surrealism, Anti-Fascism, Black Power, Feminism, Environmentalism. Final project: students undertake an independent research project and write their own manifestos on a topic of their choosing. Taught entirely in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>376SA</td>
<td>GERMAN376SA - Berlin Film City: Movies in the Metropolis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: A course about Berlin's rich and unparalleled cinema history. Screenings, readings, and visits to historical studios and cinemas, film museums, archives, and film academies. The course is structured around a series of iconic films about Berlin. Units on Weimar cinema, Nazi film, DEFA (East Germany’s production studio), the New German Cinema of the 1970s and 80s, post-wall film, and the twenty-first century Berlin School. Students will engage in close analysis of films in their historical context and discuss how cinema engages with issues of national, political, religious, ethnic, gender and sexual identities. Offered in English in the Duke in Berlin summer program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>380</td>
<td>GERMAN380 - Marx, Nietzsche, Freud</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: A critical examination and assessment of the thought of Marx, Nietzsche, and Freud: revolutionary theory and practice; nihilism and the challenge of overcoming it; the hidden foundations of the self and of culture.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>381S</td>
<td>GERMAN381S - Mapping Jewish Modernism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Students research Jewish modernism through questions of geography and movement, pointing to the many places where modern Jewish art has been created and the experiences of migration, exile, diaspora, and resettlement that shaped this work. We discuss the varieties of ways that different art forms, including literature, theater, music, art, film, architecture, and dance, can be mapped. We analyze mapping in terms of the movements of people (artists, authors, and directors), of objects (paintings, literature, performances, and films), and within the works themselves. Work with the Rubenstein Library will lead to projects that contribute to an exhibit in Perkins Library and a digital site.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GERMAN387 - Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust
Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 387
Title: Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust

Description
The ways in which official German culture comes to terms with its Nazi past. Background reading in history and politics; primary focus on films, dramas, novels, and poetry, as well as public memorials, monuments, and museums. Authors treated include: Wolfgang Borchert, Rolf Hochhuth, Peter Weiss, Ruth Klüger. Taught in English.

GERMAN390-1 - Special Topics in German Studies
Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 390-1
Title: Special Topics in German Studies

Description
Aspects of German culture and civilization. Topics vary. Taught in English.

GERMAN390S - Special Topics in German Literature and Culture
Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in German Literature and Culture

Description
Focus on aspects of German literature and cultural studies. Topics vary. Taught in German. Prerequisites: German 305S or 306S, or equivalent.

GERMAN390S-1 - Special Topics in German Studies
Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 390S-1
Title: Special Topics in German Studies

Description
Aspects of German culture and civilization. Topics vary. Taught in English.

GERMAN390SA - Special Topics in German Literature and Culture
Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 390SA
Title: Special Topics in German Literature and Culture

Description
Focus on aspects of German literature and cultural studies. Topics vary. Offered only in the Duke-in-Berlin programs.

GERMAN391 - Independent Study
Subject: GERMAN
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>422S</td>
<td>Autonomy and Community: Politics in German Thought and Literature</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
How modern German thought and literature highlight the importance of community and the problems with collectivist ideologies. Enlightenment conceptions of individual autonomy and Romanticist conceptions of togetherness; Marxist ideas of classes and Freudian ideas of the mass; Nazi ideology of racial homogeneity and contemporary visions of multiculturalism.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>425S</td>
<td>German Underworlds</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course will investigate German theories about what lies beneath: is it hell or the subterranean foundations that keep our world from collapsing? A product of nature or culture? The origin of art or the death of all that is human? And should we go looking for it under mountains, or at the center of the modern city? We will take our examples from the German literature, film, and philosophy of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, and we will use them to pose questions about the role of unseen depths in the history of German thought.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>430S</td>
<td>German Literature and Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Principal authors, genres, concepts, and works of German literature. Parallel consideration of major developments in German philosophy, music, visual arts. Emphasis on the Enlightenment to the present.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GERMAN</td>
<td>432S</td>
<td>Modern German-Jewish Culture: Vienna, Prague, Berlin</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores the outsized intellectual and cultural output of Jews in pre-WWII Europe. The birth of psychoanalysis and the fallout of Jewish assimilation in Vienna. The legendary Golem figure and the writings of Franz Kafka and his circle in Prague. Avant-garde Jewish artists, writers, and filmmakers in Weimar Berlin. Each unit examines specific historical contexts and broader artistic movements. Topics include secularization and conversion; hybrid identities; emigration to Palestine and the U.S.; antisemitism and rising fascism; and 'authentic' Jewishness in Eastern Europe. Taught entirely in German. Recommended prerequisite: a 300-level German course or equivalent.
GERMAN435S - German Politics and Society

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
435S

Title
German Politics and Society

Description
Issues and problems of significance in contemporary Germany as a changing nation. The political impact of European integration, the cultural impact of immigration, and the social impact of a globalized economy. Materials drawn from a wide variety of media and genre: newspaper reports, television broadcasts, policy statements, legal documents.

GERMAN443S - Captured! Stories of Entrapment in the 20th and 21st Centuries

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
443S

Title
Captured! Stories of Entrapment in the 20th and 21st Centuries

Description
Stories of self-seclusion and entrapment, from artist hermits to doomsday preppers. What are the social and psychological effects of enclosure, what creative potential does it hold, and why are we so drawn to these narratives? When do they lead to escape and liberation, and when do they end in scenes of explosive self-destruction? Stories by Franz Kafka, Ilse Aichinger, and Thomas Bernhard; films by Werner Herzog and Michael Haneke; theoretical texts by Schopenhauer and Freud; discussions of self-seclusion via social media in the contemporary world. Readings and discussions in German.
Recommended prerequisite: German 320 or above, or equivalent.

GERMAN445S - The Uncanny German Canon from Goethe to Kafka

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
445S

Title
The Uncanny German Canon from Goethe to Kafka

Description
Investigation of classic uncanny German literature from the late eighteenth to early twentieth centuries. Uncanny elements from ghosts and Doppelgänger to artificial life persisted across the literary movements of Romanticism, Realism, and Modernism. The course will explore this literature and also theories of the uncanny including Freud's psychoanalytic approach, Todorov's structuralist approach, and recent cultural-historical and post-colonial approaches. Authors may include: Goethe, Tieck, the Grimms, E.T.A. Hoffmann, Chamisso, Eichendorff, von Droste-Hülshoff, Storm, and Kafka. Prerequisite: German 306 or above or equivalent knowledge of German.

GERMAN450S - Ethics and Literature: The Modern German Tradition

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
450S

Title
Ethics and Literature: The Modern German Tradition

Description
We shall read literary texts (short stories, novellas, plays) from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries with the goal of understanding how literature might provide—or render problematic—moral insight. How does literature represent and question moral psychology and judgment, action, and responsibility? Do literary structures inhabit our moral self-understanding, for instance: character, will and choice, and narrative coherence? Taught entirely in German. Recommended prerequisite: advanced proficiency (one course beyond 305/306).
GERMAN460S - World War I and the History of Art & Architecture: Germany and Beyond

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
460S

Title
World War I and the History of Art & Architecture: Germany and Beyond

Description
Grounds the student in a thorough history of World War I and its impact on the arts in Germany, from the outbreak of war in 1914 through the 1918 Revolution and up to the 10th anniversary of war (1924). Compares this history with select examples from France, the Soviet Union, Italy, and elsewhere.

---

GERMAN490S - Special Topics in German Studies

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
490S

Title
Special Topics in German Studies

Description
Aspects of German culture and civilization. Topics vary.

---

GERMAN493 - Research Independent Study

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
493

Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

---

GERMAN89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject
GERMAN

Catalog Number
89S

Title
First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics may vary each semester offered.

---

GGS493 - Honors Independent Study

Subject
GGS

Catalog Number
493

Title
Honors Independent Study

Description
Open to students pursuing distinction. Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to seniors. Consent of instructor and program director required.

---

GLHLTH101 - Fundamentals of Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
101

Title
Fundamentals of Global Health

Description
Introduction to global health issues and challenges. Develop an understanding of key concepts, tools, and frameworks essential for continued study in global health. Focus on global disease burden, health determinants and disparities, health policy and actors, and challenges of global health interventions. Explore the importance of understanding and addressing global health through multidisciplinary frameworks of the natural sciences, social-behavioral sciences, humanities, and policy.
GLHLTH101D - Fundamentals of Global Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 101D
Title: Fundamentals of Global Health

Description
Introduction to global health issues and challenges. Develop an understanding of key concepts, tools, and frameworks essential for continued study in global health. Focus on global disease burden, health determinants and disparities, health policy and actors, and challenges of global health interventions. Explore the importance of understanding and addressing global health through multidisciplinary frameworks of the natural sciences, social-behavioral sciences, humanities, and policy. Consists of lecture and learning labs, intensive small group discussion, and global health case analyses.

GLHLTH140FS - On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 140FS
Title: On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Description
By studying written and oral storytelling (including news articles, research reports, case histories, speeches, etc.), this course explores arguments for, and critiques of, appealing to stories in the face of suffering—personal and environmental—and starts articulating theological and ethical implications of 'being an engaged witness in the world.' We will listen to historical and contemporary voices that have shaped our views of the world, explore characteristics of pseudoscientific movements that make us squirm, and dig into the apparent and real differences between scientific, experiential, and theological reasoning. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

GLHLTH142 - History of Chinese Medicine

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 142
Title: History of Chinese Medicine

Description
This course introduces students to the history of medicine through the study of medical practices and beliefs in China. Paying close attention to socio-historical context, we will explore how those beliefs formed, how the practices have changed over time, and in particular how the introduction of Western medicine and then scientific biomedicine forced fundamental changes in Chinese medicine over the course of the twentieth century. This course also introduces students to the discipline of History, and students will work in close consultation with the professor to produce a unique research paper. History majors should take a Gateway Seminar first, but there are no official prerequisites.

GLHLTH153 - Climate, Coffee, and Coronavirus: Why Ecology Matters to Human Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 153
Title: Climate, Coffee, and Coronavirus: Why Ecology Matters to Human Health

Description
This course explores interactions between organisms and their environments that impact human health. We will examine the effects of climate change and human population growth on our food supply, water availability, the spread of disease, and ecosystem services. Case studies will be used to illustrate the scientific process, to evaluate supporting evidence, and to investigate ethical issues. For nonmajors. Not open to students who have taken Biology 209-1 or Biology 209S-1.
GLHLTH153S - Climate, Coffee, & Coronavirus: Why Ecology Matters to Human Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 153S
Title: Climate, Coffee, & Coronavirus: Why Ecology Matters to Human Health

Description
This course explores interactions between organisms and their environments that impact human health and wellbeing. We will examine the effects of climate change and human population growth on our food supply, water availability, the spread of disease, and ecosystem services. Case studies will be used to illustrate the scientific process, to evaluate supporting evidence, and to investigate ethical issues. Cross-listed between Biology, Global Health, and Environmental Studies and the fall seminar is affiliated with a Duke Immerse Cluster: Pandemics, Health & Power. Not open to students who have taken Biology 209-1 or Biology 209S-1.

GLHLTH154 - AIDS and Other Emerging Diseases

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 154
Title: AIDS and Other Emerging Diseases

Description
Explores the interaction of biology and culture in creating and defining diseases through an investigation of acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS) and other emerging diseases: molecular biology; biology of transmission and infection; the role of people and culture in the evolution of infectious diseases; reasons for the geographic variations in disease. The inductive-deductive methodology of science is both used to develop and test hypotheses as well as examined itself as an analytical tool. Intended for nonmajors.

GLHLTH174 - Introduction to the History of Medicine

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 174
Title: Introduction to the History of Medicine

Description
Covers the history of western medicine from Ancient Greece to the 21st century. Students will engage with primary and secondary sources that expose the varied understandings of health, disease causation, and treatment that have prevailed over time. As an introductory course with no prerequisites, this class welcomes all students with an interest in history, health, and disease, while assuming no prior medical or scientific knowledge. It illuminates the trajectory of western medicine from the humors of Hippocrates to the genetic medicine of today.

GLHLTH186FS - Health System Development, a Global Perspective: Identifying Core Elements of Equitable Healthcare

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 186FS
Title: Health System Development, a Global Perspective: Identifying Core Elements of Equitable Healthcare

Description
Health systems worldwide all have the same goal: produce health in their population that is equitably distributed. Yet, when examining how different countries set up their health systems, different mechanisms are discovered to accomplish the same goal. Given this diversity of approaches, the answer to the question of “What are the core elements of an equitable healthcare system AND how do you implement those elements?” can be elusive. This course is offered within the Focus Program as part of the Global Health: Problems and Paradigms cluster. There are no prerequisites and no previous background in health, global health, or health systems is required.
GLHLTH187FS - Effectively Addressing Modern Pandemics of Disease: What Did We Do Wrong to Get So Sick?

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
GLHLTH | 187FS | Effectively Addressing Modern Pandemics of Disease: What Did We Do Wrong to Get So Sick?

Description
This course will explore Western disease and its root causes. At the same time, students will investigate what modern medicine has done to address the issues, and will discuss the effectiveness and magnitude of that effort. For each case study, students will determine what might have gone wrong, how could it have been done differently, and what forces might be at play that have prevented effective action. The pharmaceutical paradigm that currently governs both modern medicine and biomedical research will be carefully examined. Students will be encouraged to envision and critically examine potential alternatives. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

GLHLTH188FS - A Global Perspective on Provider-Patient Communication

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
GLHLTH | 188FS | A Global Perspective on Provider-Patient Communication

Description
Explores the differing perspectives of patients and their health care providers; considers the role of implicit bias in the evolution of disparities in health care quality for racial and ethnic minorities; investigates the problem of health care communication across cultures; examines the ways in which charitable foundations in the United States and Europe might impose a Western model of health care communication on communities in developing countries; considers creative approaches to creating trust and effective communication between patients and the systems which provide health care. Intended only for focus students in global health cluster.

GLHLTH189FS - To Boldly Go! Global Health and the American Way of Engagement

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
GLHLTH | 189FS | To Boldly Go! Global Health and the American Way of Engagement

Description
Course examines assumptions and language of Global Health in the US and ethical challenges of cross-cultural engagement. Title comes from Roddenberry’s Star Trek (1966); course uses the series to think about technology, exploration, and encounter. We will use texts that examine how culture and power in the US have framed interactions with and control of people inside the US and in other countries, from people carrying contagious disease to women whose bodies represent a threat to a proposed social order. Students will analyze historical documents and images from popular culture and write close analyses identifying the underlying ethical and cultural frameworks in these documents.

GLHLTH190FS - Special Topics in Focus

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
GLHLTH | 190FS | Special Topics in Focus

Description
Focus course. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Topics may include: global health ethics, field methods, health technologies, rapid needs assessment, global health policies, and interdisciplinary global health topics.
GLHLTH190S - Special Topics in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
190S

Title
Special Topics in Global Health

Description
Content to be determined each semester.

---

GLHLTH196FS - Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
196FS

Title
Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Description
In the 1960s, patients appropriated the language and tactics of the civil rights movement to advance clinical and research agendas. Today patient activism is evolving, leading to new solutions, dilemmas, and organizational structures. This course will examine patient and research participant activism and the ways it challenges conventional notions of expertise, amateurism, 'human subjects protections,' and minimization of risk. Students will bring the tools of journalism, anthropology, humanities scholarship, public policy and community engagement/citizen science to bear on ethical and policy questions. Open only to students in the Science & the Public Focus Program cluster. Department consent required.

---

GLHLTH201FS - Confronting Global Health Challenges: What Would You Do?

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
201FS

Title
Confronting Global Health Challenges: What Would You Do?

Description
Saving lives and improving health requires wise decision-making by local, national, and international health leaders and communities: policies, strategies, programs at the heart of success. This course will engage students in political, economic, cultural, psychosocial, human rights, equity considerations in five key areas of global health: universal healthcare, women's health, global pandemics, product-driven epidemics, and global warming health impacts. Students' critical analysis and decision-making skills will be developed through active learning teaching cases, role plays, debates, and simulations from actual situations faced by health leaders at all levels. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

---

GLHLTH203 - History of Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number 203

Title
History of Global Health

Description
The course begins with the development of ancient medicine in Europe & China, and continues into the rise of biomedicine (e.g. laboratory science & microbiology) in the 19th and 20th centuries. Particular diseases illustrate important themes, such as the role of warfare in medical developments, the creation of international policy to control disease, and how non-Western societies intersected biomedicine. We trace global circulations of people and commodities to show how international agencies, charities and governing bodies have spread both disease and the means to fight it. Medicine has always been a global undertaking, and its history prepares us to address emerging health crises.
GLHLTH205 - Health and Healing in Africa

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 205
Title: Health and Healing in Africa

Description: Examines how various communities in Africa have experienced, perceived, and treated maladies from the precolonial era to the present time. Places illness and therapy in specific historical contexts. Topics include hunger and famine; 'old world' diseases such as smallpox; disease and colonial conquest (c1880-1920); colonial regimes and health; and viruses that have emerged in Africa since c1975.

GLHLTH208 - Transnational Feminism

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 208
Title: Transnational Feminism

Description: Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.

GLHLTH208S - Transnational Feminism

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 208S
Title: Transnational Feminism

Description: Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.

GLHLTH210 - Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 210
Title: Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict

Description: The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>210D</td>
<td>Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict</td>
<td>The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>215</td>
<td>Case Studies in Global Sexual and Reproductive Health</td>
<td>Through the examination of weekly case studies, students will explore the complexity of working in the field of global sexual and reproductive health and the ways in which various health and social science disciplines can be integrated in the development of effective health programs. Session topics will include family planning, maternity care, gender-based violence, abortion, and HIV/AIDS. Using examples from the US and low-and middle-income countries, students will identify key focus areas in sexual and reproductive health, technical and programmatic challenges and successful interventions. Recommended prerequisite: Global Health 212.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>220S</td>
<td>Anthropology and Global Health</td>
<td>Investigates connections between anthropology and global health. Readings based on ethnographic research conducted globally. Topics include cross-cultural experiences of epidemics, ethical implications of globalizing clinical trials, moral and political dimensions of health and humanitarian interventions, connections between nationalism and population policy, overlaps between traditional healing systems and public health programs, how gender ideologies shape reproductive health, and questions of identity, power, and ethics amidst global rollout of HIV therapies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>225</td>
<td>Food, Farming, and Feminism</td>
<td>Viewing 'agriculture,' 'nature,' and 'consumption' as pressing feminist themes and exploration of various dimensions of the cultural and political ecology/economy of producing, processing, circulating, preparing, and consuming sustenance. Particular focus on the ethical impact of US policy on rural farm communities and developing nations.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GLHLTH226S - Politics of Pandemics

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 226S
Title: Politics of Pandemics

Description: Exploration of social, cultural, historical, and political facets of epidemic disease and widespread health crises. Key concepts of medical anthropological research and writing; reading ethnographic texts alongside journalistic, literary, and policy accounts of disease experiences and institutional responses. Assess scope, scale, and genre associated with representing pandemics. Analyze global case studies of both infectious and chronic diseases.

GLHLTH230L - Global Women's Health Technologies

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 230L
Title: Global Women's Health Technologies

Description: Exploration of the intersection of technology, women's health, and global poverty. Analysis of case studies related to human-centered design and applications of engineering to solve global health challenges. Hands-on learning of engineering concepts related to circuitry and light as well as skills needed to prototype a functional light source. Application of course knowledge in a design challenge based on a need from a real-world client in a low-resource setting. Open to both Trinity and Pratt students.

GLHLTH235 - Drugs, Chemicals, and Health: Histories of Substances in Economies, Environments, and Bodies

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 235
Title: Drugs, Chemicals, and Health: Histories of Substances in Economies, Environments, and Bodies

Description: This course asks how we might think historically about synthetic chemicals, natural alternatives, and the benefits and hazards they pose to human health, society, and environments. Combining cultural, political, and economic history with interdisciplinary environmental history and science & technology studies, we will follow historical 'biographies' and 'genealogies' of drugs and chemicals through economies, environments, and bodies, from cellular to planetary scales, comparing and connecting different global settings (including North Carolina). Focal substances may include aluminum, antiretrovirals, DDT, gold, indigo, mercury, nicotine, quinine, and opioids.

GLHLTH238 - Medicine and Human Flourishing

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 238
Title: Medicine and Human Flourishing

Description: This course examines the nature, ends, and practice of medicine as it relates to the human condition. How can medicine foster human flourishing and well-being—individual and social—against the experience of injury, pain, and suffering? Beginning with ancient Greece and its Hippocratic corpus, students explore answers to this question within a variety of historical and contemporary contexts. Taught by an interdisciplinary team of scholars that includes medical professionals, the course highlights the importance and professional relevance of posing big questions about personal meaning and human values at stake in the practice of medicine.
GLHLTH238D - Medicine and Human Flourishing

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 238D
Title: Medicine and Human Flourishing

Description:
This course examines the nature, ends, and practice of medicine as it relates to the human condition. How can medicine foster human flourishing and well-being—individual and social—against the experience of injury, pain, and suffering? Beginning with ancient Greece and its Hippocratic corpus, students explore answers to this question within a variety of historical and contemporary contexts. Taught by an interdisciplinary team of scholars that includes medical professionals, the course highlights the importance and professional relevance of posing big questions about personal meaning and human values at stake in the practice of medicine.

GLHLTH241 - Global Bioethics

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 241
Title: Global Bioethics

Description:
Examines various problems of international ethics, discussing them in the context of general ethical theory and then in the specific context of various controversies concerning the conduct of clinical trials in developing countries. Problems include moral universalism and relativism; poverty relief and international aid; international health disparities; human rights; and exploitation.

GLHLTH248S - Ethical Dimensions of Environmental Policy

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 248S
Title: Ethical Dimensions of Environmental Policy

Description:
Uses case studies from different arenas of environmental policy (e.g., climate and clean air, water and waste, forests, oceans, energy) to surface normative assumptions often implicit in policy design and implementation. Links ethics to ethos (beliefs, aspirations, and spirit of a community or culture) to suggest that policies are not only pragmatic guidelines for decision-making and action, but also fundamental declarations concerning the character of human flourishing and the shape of the natural world, which is why environmental policies are often so contentious. Seeks to help students understand this aspect of environmental policy and to negotiate these deep-seated ethical conflicts.

GLHLTH257 - From Madness to Mental Disorders: Sociology of Mental Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 257
Title: From Madness to Mental Disorders: Sociology of Mental Health

Description:
Investigates mental health processes and policies in historic, cultural, and socioeconomic context. Explains why definitions of and responses to mental illness have changed across time and place. Probes ethical dilemmas created by the medicalization of deviance. Examines how social conditions shape the development and consequences of mental disorders, treatments, and policies. Evaluates alternative theoretical explanations for how mental well-being and mental health services are linked to socioeconomic status, gender, race, ethnicity, citizenship, age, and sexuality. Assesses ability of alternative policies to improve public mental health.
GLHLTH258D - Race, Genomics, and Society

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
258D

Title
Race, Genomics, and Society

Description
The field of genetics has been at the forefront of discourse concerning the concept of 'race' in humans. This course explores human origins, human variation, human identity, and human health through a broad range of enduring and emerging themes and challenging questions related to race and genetics (and now, genomics) on a global scale. Students will acquire knowledge and skills required for integrative analyses of the relevant scientific, ethical, legal, societal, cultural, and psychosocial issues. Open to students at all levels from any discipline in the arts, humanities, and sciences (natural, social, formal, and applied).

GLHLTH260 - Novel Coronavirus: Epidemics and Response in the Age of Global Interdependence

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
260

Title
Novel Coronavirus: Epidemics and Response in the Age of Global Interdependence

Description
The novel coronavirus outbreak has placed global health onto the front pages of newspapers worldwide. However, the daily news cycle is hardly the best way to digest issues that require a contextual understanding of epidemiology, virology, history, sociology, political science, and health humanities. This course will use the outbreak as a starting point for a multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary analysis that brings together diverse methodologies to gain a broader understanding of the crisis, its origins, and how to address it. Students will engage in intercultural discussions and develop skills in problem solving and information literacy through readings, weekly class activities, and a culminating group project. Leading experts from various fields will engage the class in live, interactive participatory sessions.

GLHLTH267S - Culture and Mental Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
267S

Title
Culture and Mental Health

Description
This course examines the social and cultural facets of mental illness, psychological diagnoses, and mental health from the standpoints of cultural psychiatry, medical anthropology, and social medicine. Global case studies will form the basis for several key questions: how do mental distress and forms of treatment differ cross-culturally? How might social differences such as gender, sexuality, and race shape therapeutic encounters in mental health? And what roles do psychology, psychiatry, and the brain sciences play in everyday life?

GLHLTH270T-1 - Voices in Global Health: Arabic Tutorial

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
270T-1

Title
Voices in Global Health: Arabic Tutorial

Description
Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, visual texts, and interviews in the target language, Voices in Global Health examines emerging health challenges at the local and global level. Through the experiences and knowledge shared from our guest speakers, we will explore the underlying health behaviors and cultural beliefs while producing culturally appropriate health interventions. Tutorials meet weekly for 75-minutes. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of language or equivalent – heritage and native speakers are welcome to enroll. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Community-engaged course.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>270T-3</td>
<td>Voices in Global Health: French Tutorial</td>
<td>Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, visual texts, and interviews in the target language, Voices in Global Health examines emerging health challenges at the local and global level. Through the experiences and knowledge shared from our guest speakers, we will explore the underlying health behaviors and cultural beliefs while producing culturally appropriate health interventions. Tutorials meet weekly for 75-minutes. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of language (French 204) or equivalent – heritage and native speakers are welcome to enroll. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Community-engaged course.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>270T-4</td>
<td>Voices in Global Health: Hindi Tutorial</td>
<td>Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, visual texts, and interviews in the target language, Voices in Global Health examines emerging health challenges at the local and global level. Through the experiences and knowledge shared from our guest speakers, we will explore the underlying health behaviors and cultural beliefs while producing culturally appropriate health interventions. Tutorials meet weekly for 75-minutes. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of language or equivalent – heritage and native speakers are welcome to enroll. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Community-engaged course.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>270T-5</td>
<td>Voices in Global Health: Mandarin Tutorial</td>
<td>Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, personal narratives, documentaries and recorded interviews in the Chinese language, students examine how language and culture impact health beliefs and behaviors. Explore underlying reasons for different beliefs and behaviors with the goal of creating culturally appropriate interventions. This is a service-learning or community-engaged course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Meet weekly for 75 minutes. Prerequisite: Chinese 305 or equivalent. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>270T-6</td>
<td>Voices in Global Health: Spanish Tutorial</td>
<td>Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, visual texts, and interviews in the target language, Voices in Global Health examines emerging health challenges at the local and global level. Through the experiences and knowledge shared from our guest speakers, we will explore the underlying health behaviors and cultural beliefs while producing culturally appropriate health interventions. Tutorials meet weekly for 75-minutes. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of language (Spanish 204) or equivalent – heritage and native speakers are welcome to enroll. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Community-engaged course.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GLHLTH273S - Entrepreneurial Problem Solving in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH
Catalog Number
273S
Title
Entrepreneurial Problem Solving in Global Health

Description
Global health, both international and local, has a long way to go to support healthy lives. In this class, students will have the opportunity to gain understanding of how the Entrepreneurial method can help to improve health. Students will learn about the victories and the challenges, and in the end, will be better able to be successful in their future endeavors. Students will be challenged, and will have to work, but in the end, they will be proud of their accomplishments and newfound knowledge.

GLHLTH275S - Complex Issues in United States Healthcare

Subject
GLHLTH
Catalog Number
275S
Title
Complex Issues in United States Healthcare

Description
Investigates historical, educational, social, political, economic and ethical implications of healthcare in US. Explores educational preparation of providers and current calls for reform. Analyzes health outcomes and costs as well as implications for future national economy. Investigates proposed healthcare models, methods of educating healthcare workers for an aging population, inequalities in distribution and political and ethical implications of change. Writing intensive: includes short weekly written reflections of assigned readings, mid-term paper on either education or policy. Final project will investigate solutions for identified population health problem.

GLHLTH278S - Literatures and Films of Pandemic

Subject
GLHLTH
Catalog Number
278S
Title
Literatures and Films of Pandemic

Description
This course explores past pandemics as a way to think about how to best live through COVID-19 and prevent or minimize future pandemics. Through examining literature and film, we will analyze the psychosocial dimensions of pandemic. We will read a variety of texts including: histories, fiction (Bulgakov, Porter, Tolstoy, Colson Whitehead); short essays; and films (e.g., Contagion, Outbreak). How do science, medicine, and society interact in a time of pandemic? How do pandemics reveal social inequities, and how could we use this knowledge to decrease disparities? And why do people turn to the humanities and arts in times of pandemic?

GLHLTH290S - Special Topics in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH
Catalog Number
290S
Title
Special Topics in Global Health

Description
Content to be determined each semester.
GLHLTH298L - Introduction to Global Health Data Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>298L</td>
<td>Introduction to Global Health Data Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

A rigorous introduction to health data science using current applications in biomedical research, epidemiology, and health policy. Use modern statistical software to conduct reproducible data exploration, visualization, and analysis. Interpret and translate results for interdisciplinary researchers. Critically evaluate data-based claims, decisions, and policies. Includes exploratory data analysis, visualization, basics of probability and inference, predictive modeling and classification. This course focuses on the R computing language. No statistical or computing background is necessary. Not open to students who have taken a 100-level Statistical Science course, Statistical Science 210, or a Statistical Science course numbered 300 or above.

GLHLTH302 - Global Narratives of Illness and Disability

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>302</td>
<td>Global Narratives of Illness and Disability</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The humanities help us learn more about the global experiences of people living with illness and disability. Using a global health humanities approach, we study illness and disability through biography, poetry, blogs, and art created by patients, families, friends, doctors, and caregivers. We look beyond data to find meaning through documentaries, theories of representation, and illness narratives. We explore different illness experiences, such as HIV/AIDS and Ebola; different disabilities, such as physical and cognitive; different gender identities and ages; and different locations, such as South Africa, West Africa, Papua New Guinea, Brazil, Haiti, and rural and urban USA.

GLHLTH303 - Global Health Systems

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>303</td>
<td>Global Health Systems</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduces global health systems in three modules—Globalization, Health, and Systems—then draws these three topics together to situate the concept and practice of 'global health' within the contemporary context of health systems in various countries around the world. Emphasizes systems theory and systems thinking, drawing on a wide range of disciplines.

GLHLTH304 - Evolutionary Medicine and Global Health

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>304</td>
<td>Evolutionary Medicine and Global Health</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Covers evolutionary approaches to understand human health at a global scale. Integration of evolutionary thinking and medical science provides new insights to a wide array of medical issues including obesity, cancer, allergies, and mental illness. Evolutionary perspectives reveal why some pathogens are more harmful than others, shed light on the origins and spread of infectious diseases in humans, and help in controlling antibiotic resistance. Evolutionary approaches provide insights as to why we age and provide solutions to alleviate human health problems that often differ from modern medical practice. Course will place these perspectives in the context of global health challenges.
GLHLTH305 - Beyond Health Care: Understanding How Social Determinants Impact Health Around the World

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 305
Title: Beyond Health Care: Understanding How Social Determinants Impact Health Around the World

Description: This course is intended to introduce students to the conceptual framework of social determinants of health. Using a combination of didactic learning, global health case studies, discussion forums and team projects, it will allow students to examine health and health equity in the context of social, political and economic factors and follow implications for community and population health. Case studies will focus on various issues that are currently facing the world, including, worldwide epidemics, non-communicable diseases, conflict and migration, and will examine these real-world issues in the context of the drivers of health. This course is designed for undergraduate students.

GLHLTH306 - Global Health Policy: Transforming Evidence into Action

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 306
Title: Global Health Policy: Transforming Evidence into Action

Description: In-depth examination of how to close the gap between evidence and practical policy making as a way to improve global health. How global health policies are shaped; identifying key actors and their power; understanding/influencing the processes that drive large scale change in global health; exploring ways in which health issues reach the top of the agenda; analyzing how decisions are made by policy makers; implementing policies from the 'top down' and 'bottom up.' The interplay between the different worlds of research and policy. Practical tools for becoming a policy broker, skilled in transforming evidence to action. Real world case studies. Case-based competition.

GLHLTH308A - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 308A
Title: Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description: Students will gain a grounding in marine sciences to help them to evaluate impacts of anthropogenic activities on marine ecosystems and the humans that rely on them. After developing an understanding of the issues facing environmental and human health and well-being in marine systems, students will travel to the Galapagos to better understand environmental challenges facing biodiversity and tourism hot spot. This course embraces immersive field experiences in North Carolina and the Galapagos to contextualize classroom learning and to develop connections with environmental practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Duke Immerse course. Instructor consent is required.

GLHLTH309A - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 309A
Title: Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description: Focus on the concept of 'One Health' that the health of the environment and the people who live in it are linked. The basis (from a biological perspective) of threats facing the marine environment and interactions between environmental and human health and their role in global health disparities. For example, in discussing fisheries and aquaculture, the course will cover environmental impacts of these extractive industries and their importance in human and societal well-being. This course will embrace immersive field experiences in North Carolina that will contextualize classroom learning and develop connections with practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.
GLHLTH309DA - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
309DA

Title
Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description
Focus on the concept of 'One Health' that the health of the environment and the people who live in it are linked. The basis (from a biological perspective) of threats facing the marine environment and interactions between environmental and human health and their role in global health disparities. For example, in discussing fisheries and aquaculture, the course will cover environmental impacts of these extractive industries and their importance in human and societal well-being. This course will embrace immersive field experiences in North Carolina that will contextualize classroom learning and develop connections with practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

---

GLHLTH312 - War and Public Health in Africa

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
312

Title
War and Public Health in Africa

Description
An inquiry into the nature of contemporary war in sub-Saharan Africa and its human cost. Uses public health as a parameter to assess the impact of organized collective violence on people's lives. Link between war and public health established and measured with respect to civilian deaths, gender based violence, physical and psychological trauma, mental disorders, malnutrition and famine, and the spread of epidemic diseases, inter alia HIV/AIDS. Special attention is paid to rape as 'a weapon of war', to the trafficking of human beings in war zones, the child soldier phenomenon, and to death counts as a vector of humanitarian or political advocacy.

---

GLHLTH315D - Primate Disease Ecology and Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
315D

Title
Primate Disease Ecology and Global Health

Description
Covers concepts of disease ecology, with specific application to primates, human evolution, and global health. Explores the epidemiology and evolution of infectious diseases through the primary literature, focusing on infectious diseases of wild primates, humans, and other mammals. Students learn about the diversity of infectious diseases found in humans, and the basics of epidemiology, disease evolution and emergence, and primate behavioral ecology. Students also gain experience in thinking critically about scientific research, identifying interesting research questions, and communicating science to others. Prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101/101D or introductory-level biology.

---

GLHLTH320D - Planetary Health: Ecosystems, Human Health and Policy

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
320D

Title
Planetary Health: Ecosystems, Human Health and Policy

Description
Planetary health focuses on human health impacts of anthropogenic disruptions of Earth's natural systems. Examines interplay of human activity, environmental changes, human health impacts, and policy interventions. Topics include climate change, loss of biodiversity, urbanization, global pollution, and changing food systems. Uses a social justice perspective to understand which communities and populations are most vulnerable to disruptions of natural systems. Examines evidence on effective policy responses. Explores real world case studies and solutions.
GLHLTH321-1 - Medical Anthropology

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 321-1
Title: Medical Anthropology

Description
Cross-cultural study of health and illness. Prerequisites: Completion of both Writing 101 and any First Year Seminar.

GLHLTH325S - Global Displacement: Voix Francophones

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 325S
Title: Global Displacement: Voix Francophones

Description
Explores migration and resettlement of Francophone refugees in North America through examination of current policy, law, and practice. Analysis of personal interviews and narratives with attention to ethical questions related to politics of listening to and speaking for other communities. Community-based language component (20 hours) engages students with refugee community in Durham. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: one course at 300-level or equivalent.

GLHLTH326 - Health, Culture, and the Latino Community

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 326
Title: Health, Culture, and the Latino Community

Description
Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. Projects include presentations, writing, research, and conversations with local and global contacts. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.

GLHLTH326-1 - Health, Culture, and the Latino Community: Service Learning

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 326-1
Title: Health, Culture, and the Latino Community: Service Learning

Description
Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. This is a service-learning or community-engaged course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.
GLHLTH326A - Language, Culture, and Health in Costa Rica

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 326A
Title: Language, Culture, and Health in Costa Rica

Description
Builds proficiency in oral and written Spanish through exploration of language, culture, and issues related to health in Costa Rica. Learning through personal observations and classroom discussions based on readings and guest speakers. Interaction with community in interviews and visits to local organizations and health providers to further knowledge on issues that impact community life. Assessment based on language and content of written and oral projects. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent. Taught in Duke-in-Costa Rica summer program.

GLHLTH331S - Documenting US Women's Health Post-Roe v. Wade

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 331S
Title: Documenting US Women's Health Post-Roe v. Wade

Description
The overturning of Roe v. Wade in June 2022 led to the deaths of two women in South Carolina. One woman died from sepsis following self-instrumentation, and the second died after giving birth to a healthy baby. She began to hemorrhage; hospital administrators were afraid that the 'D&C' she needed to survive was too close to the abortion procedure. A physician team at Duke University Hospitals, led by Dr. Beverly Clark, began to see similar cases in North Carolina. The aim of this course is to document—in real time—the political and ethical dimensions of the situation that healthcare providers now find themselves in as they attempt to provide women the nationwide medical 'standard of care.'

GLHLTH335 - Economics of Global Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 335
Title: Economics of Global Health

Description
Examines reciprocal relationships between income, poverty and health across countries with focus on identifying effect of health on development. Addresses structural problems in delivery and quality of healthcare that arise from cultural as well as economic causes. Attention given to challenges of healthcare financing, and tension between high-tech care and basic care in developing countries. Students examine empirical evidence from interventions affecting health including infant mortality reduction programs. Focus on issues of poverty alleviation and the promise of foreign aid. Prerequisites: (Economics 201 or Public Policy 303D) and (Economics 204D or 208D or Public Policy 604), or instructor consent.

GLHLTH340 - Social Determinants of US Health Disparities

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 340
Title: Social Determinants of US Health Disparities

Description
Introduction to how social factors influence health and well-being, with a particular focus on contemporary US society. Topics include obesity, aging, socioeconomic disadvantage, access to health insurance, public health systems, the role of the media, and racial/ethnic and gender inequalities. The course will provide descriptive assessments of health inequalities and analytic examinations of the mechanisms through which social factors affect health.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>341</td>
<td>GLHLTH341 - Ethics of Global Infectious Disease Control</td>
<td>Examination of the role of ethical decision-making when controlling infectious disease epidemics. Applies classic public health ethics of balancing individual liberty vs. public good to the new global health context of emerging infectious diseases such as HIV/AIDS, Ebola, and SARS, plus re-emerging infectious diseases such as multidrug-resistant TB, polio, and cholera. Explores questions of resource allocation, mandatory or voluntary prevention measures, and ethical obligations of health care workers vs. responsibilities of individuals in the context of new global public health. Prior global health coursework recommended.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>345</td>
<td>GLHLTH345 - Global Health as an Ethical Enterprise</td>
<td>Introduces the challenges of living an ethical life when conceived as an expression of compassion for distant strangers. Considers the organization of compassion into the multi-billion dollar political-economic enterprise of global health. Explores tensions between global health as an ethical enterprise and the political-economic realities of the high-income countries and multinational organizations that fund global health and support a vast development industry populated by thousands of non-governmental organizations, pharmaceutical and chemical corporations, and countless organizations dedicated to the advancement of medicine and health science. Fulfills global health ethics requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>350A</td>
<td>GLHLTH350A - Mobility, Health and Healthcare Systems</td>
<td>This Duke in Madrid course reflects on the relation among health as a collective process, with healthcare systems as one element of a whole ecology of care, where global and urban structures determine both people’s health and the organization of healthcare systems. Drawing on contemporary situations (pre-covid, covid, and post-covid) and diverse contexts (primarily European, but also North American and Latin American), we will explore the social components of health and how inequality (class, race, gender) affects the health of individuals and groups of population by exploring the role of the state, the market, and other actors (humanitarian, activist actors) in health provision.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>353</td>
<td>GLHLTH353 - Life and Death: Global Perspectives</td>
<td>Anthropological investigation of customs, practices, and beliefs that get activated when people (and other living beings) die. What constitutes life as in when does it start, what determines well-being, how is it measured; and what constitutes death as in a good versus bad death, by what medical definition, and according to what rituals and beliefs. Comparative inquiry into such questions as why brain-death is not accepted in some cultures and why people in some places prefer to die rather than live after an amputation. Topics will include organ transplants, gang warfare, cancer, and warzones from China and Botswana to Mexico and the United States.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GLHLTH361 - Feast and Famine: Food in Global History

Description
Surveys history of food in global history, beginning with paleolithic and ending with modern era. Focuses on food quality and quantity as a factor in determining health, including problems of global health disparities, food insecurity, and obesity. Topics include the impact of food exchanges across continents and cultures, discovery of vitamins and vitamin deficiencies, growth and impact of food industries, and the rise of diseases of plenty, such as type 2 diabetes.

GLHLTH362 - Understanding the Causes and Spread of Human Disease: Global Health Epidemiology

Description
How do we identify the causes and spread of diseases, such as Novel Coronavirus 2019 or Ebola? How do we estimate the effects of poverty, genetics, and other factors, on the risk of non-communicable diseases? Students will learn how to answer these questions, and others, using concepts and methods from the field of epidemiology. Each week we will tackle a distinct global health problem by reading relevant scientific articles. We will then learn methods to study these global health issues, including how to design observational and experimental studies to identify disease risk factors. A prior quantitative course is not required; however, an interest in empirical data analysis is recommended.

GLHLTH363 - Fundamentals of Global Mental Health

Description
Examines global mental health from perspectives of culture, public health, epidemiology, human rights, policy, and intervention. Readings focus on peer-reviewed research literature highlighting topics such as the prevalence of mental health disorders worldwide, the role of culture in mental health, and the interventions backed by strong evidence for prevention and treatment. Students will discuss and critique study methodologies and explore the needs for future research in this emerging field. Designed for students with prior research methods and psychology coursework.

GLHLTH364S - Research Seminar in Sexual and Gender Minority Health

Description
This seminar course introduces student to global health policy and research focused on the health of sexual and gender minority (SGM) populations, and is intended for students in preparation for undergraduate research in social sciences and public policy focused on SGM health. Seminars are cooperative ventures and their success depends upon the full and active participation of each member of the class. Therefore, conscientious preparation and regular attendance are required. Each student is expected to develop an independent research project in SGM health.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH371</td>
<td>371</td>
<td>Research Methods in Global Health</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduction to research methods through examination of a variety of methodological techniques in behavioral and social sciences relevant to multidisciplinary GH research. Problem-based approach to practice identifying GH questions of interest, ways to operationalize and test them, including strengths and weaknesses of different approaches. Focus on discussing current GH issues, exploring questions and solutions, reading and evaluating published research and interpreting results. Skills include identification of global health problems, awareness of contextual, behavioral, and ethical issues involved, conceptualization of research questions, and designing a research study.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH371D</td>
<td>371D</td>
<td>Research Methods in Global Health</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduction to research methods through examination of a variety of methodological techniques in behavioral and social sciences relevant to multidisciplinary GH research. Problem-based approach to practice identifying GH questions of interest, ways to operationalize and test them, including strengths and weaknesses of different approaches. Focus on discussing current GH issues, exploring questions and solutions, reading and evaluating published research and interpreting results. Skills include identification of global health problems, awareness of contextual, behavioral, and ethical issues involved, conceptualization of research questions, and designing a research study.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH373</td>
<td>373</td>
<td>Global Health Ethics in Research</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduces ethical and human rights concepts in Global Health and current issues in health ethics. Explores how to understand and engage in ethical health service, intervention, research and education. Requires students analyze and critique ethical choices of individuals, policymakers and health workers. Explores standards of care, access to care, best outcomes vs. distributed justice. Focuses on ethics related to infectious diseases; obesity, alcohol and tobacco; and environmental health.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH383SA</td>
<td>383SA</td>
<td>Global Health in Context: Sri Lanka</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

A study abroad course based in Galle, Sri Lanka, this program combines students and instructors from three universities: Duke; Academic Medical Centre, University of Amsterdam; University of Ruhuna, Sri Lanka. Students engage on problems and solutions related to health and health disparities in a global context through study of health systems, burden of disease and epidemiological studies. Classroom studies and teamwork will be combined with academic excursions in Sri Lanka to learn from local public health experts, practitioners, community members and leaders. Analysis of readings on Maternal/Child Health, Emerging Infectious Diseases, Health of Vulnerable Workers, and Aging. Department consent required. Prerequisite: Global Health 101.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>385S</td>
<td>GLHLTH385S - Islam, Medicine, and Healing</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course explores the global history of Islamic medicine and healing through the intersections of religion and medicine in multiple contexts. It investigates how questions of health, healing, and illness have been addressed across premodern patterns, colonial and post-colonial transitions, up to the present. Students will examine how different approaches to spirituality, law, and science congeal and compete in relation to the human body, animals, food, pharmaceuticals, medicine, and hospitals. Through considering traditional healing practices to contemporary bioethics, this class analyzes how religion and medicine have been constituted, lived, and experienced around the world.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>387</td>
<td>GLHLTH387 - Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores friendship and why it matters in the frenzied world of 'likes' and 'swipes.' The average Facebook user has 155 friends. Instagram added a 'Close Friends' feature to distinguish friends from followers. Social media has weakened our sense of friendship. Still, Facebook users say that, of those 155 friends, they would trust only four in a crisis. Pursues the importance of friendship, not only as a place of private refuge but as a relationship of trust that facilitates insight and innovation and that has public purchase. Classes center on conversations between pairs of friends who bring their friendship, their work, and their imaginations to bear on the shape of the world in the future.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>GLHLTH390 - Special Topics in Global Health Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary depending on semester and section. Topics may include: global health ethics, field methods, health technologies, rapid needs assessment, and global health policies.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>GLHLTH390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Global Health</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary depending on semester and section. Topics may include: global health ethics, field methods, health technologies, rapid needs assessment, and global health policies.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>390L</td>
<td>GLHLTH390L - Special Topics with Lab in Global Health Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary depending on semester and section. Topics may include: global health ethics, field methods, health technologies, rapid needs assessment, and global health policies.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>390L-1</td>
<td>GLHLTH390L-1 - Special Topics with Lab in Global Health Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary depending on semester and section. Topics may include: global health ethics, field methods, health technologies, rapid needs assessment, and global health policies.
GLHLTH390S - Special Topics in Global Health Studies

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
390S

Title
Special Topics in Global Health Studies

Description
Topics vary depending on semester and section. Topics may include: global health ethics, field methods, health technologies, rapid needs assessment, and global health policies.

---

GLHLTH391 - Independent Study in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number 391

Title
Independent Study in Global Health

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a significant academic product. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies in global health.

---

GLHLTH391-1 - Independent Study in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number 391-1

Title
Independent Study in Global Health

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Open only to qualified students by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies in global health.

---

GLHLTH391-2 - Independent Study in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number 391-2

Title
Independent Study in Global Health

Description
Individual non-research directed study in field of special interest on previously approved topic, under supervision of faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Open only to qualified students by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies in global health.

---

GLHLTH392 - Student Research Training in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
392

Title
Student Research Training in Global Health

Description
The DGHI Student Research Training Program is an intensive experiential learning program that engages second and third year undergraduate students in the development, implementation and assessment of a community-based project. Students will work in Honduras, India, Kenya, and North Carolina, US on issues ranging from infant mortality to health care mapping to access to care for migrant populations and HIV/AIDS and substance abuse issues. Students will work directly with a faculty director and a community partner. Instructor consent required.

---

GLHLTH393 - Research Independent Study in Global Health

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
393

Title
Research Independent Study in Global Health

Description
Individual research-oriented directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a significant academic product. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies in global health.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH393-1</td>
<td>393-1</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Global Health</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH395</td>
<td>395</td>
<td>Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH395-1</td>
<td>395-1</td>
<td>Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH395T</td>
<td>395T</td>
<td>Bass Connections Global Health Research Team</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

GLHLTH393-1 - Research Independent Study in Global Health

- Individual research-oriented directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a significant academic product. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies in global health.

GLHLTH395 - Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

- Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing global health issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting global health fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

GLHLTH395-1 - Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

- Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing global health issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting global health fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires substantive paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

GLHLTH395T - Bass Connections Global Health Research Team

- Tutorial course for Bass Connections yearlong project team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty leaders to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing global health issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the nonprofit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.
GLHLTH396 - Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
396

Title
Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing global health issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting global health fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

GLHLTH396-1 - Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
396-1

Title
Connections in Global Health: Interdisciplinary Team Projects

Description
Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty supervisors to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing global health issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows, visiting global health fellows, and other experts from business, government, and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

GLHLTH396T - Bass Connections Global Health Research Team

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number
396T

Title
Bass Connections Global Health Research Team

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty leaders to identify, refine, explore and develop solutions to pressing global health issues. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, lectures, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

GLHLTH481 - Living, Dying, Healing in Russia

Subject
GLHLTH

Catalog Number 481

Title
Living, Dying, Healing in Russia

Description
Explores ways historical, cultural, political forces shape major moments of the life course and the stories told to make sense of them. Team taught by a professor of literature and a professor of anthropology, focus is on family life, sexuality, childbearing and its prevention; biomedical health care and alternative healing; survival in gulag (concentration camp) conditions; care for the dead and dying and their families. By examining compelling works from a range of genres—short story, ethnographic case study, memoir, and novel—students will learn analytical techniques from both fields, and hone interpretive and writing skills. Knowledge of Russian is not required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>495S</td>
<td>Graduation with Distinction in Global Health Thesis Preparation Course</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Accompanies the writing of a research-focused thesis in Global Health. Covers advanced research design, manuscript writing, interpretation of results, and oral presentation. Provides information on the thesis writing process and provides feedback on student projects. Students are expected to work closely with their faculty mentor on their project. Restricted to students enrolled concurrently in a research independent study and seeking Graduate with Distinction. May be open to Program II students whose thesis topic is directly related to global health and with permission of the instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>495S-1</td>
<td>Graduation with Distinction in Global Health Thesis Preparation Course</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Accompanies the writing of a research-focused thesis in Global Health. Provides information on the thesis writing process and feedback on student projects. Covers basics of research design (identifying appropriate research questions and related analyses), interpretation of results, writing skills and strategies, and oral presentation. Students are expected to work closely with their faculty mentor on their project. Restricted to students enrolled concurrently in a research independent study and seeking Graduate with Distinction. May be open to Program II students if thesis topic is directly related to global health and with permission of the instructor. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>496S</td>
<td>Graduation with Distinction in Global Health 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Accompanies the writing of a research-focused thesis in Global Health. Provides information on the thesis writing process and feedback on student projects. Covers basics of research design (identifying appropriate research questions and related analyses), interpretation of results, writing skills and strategies, and oral presentation. Students are expected to work closely with their faculty mentor on their project. Restricted to students enrolled concurrently in a research independent study and seeking Graduate with Distinction. May be open to Program II students if thesis topic is directly related to global health and with permission of the instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GLHLTH</td>
<td>499</td>
<td>Global Health Capstone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Capstone Course for students in Global Health Major. Group analysis of a current global health problem/issue. Project involves background research, data acquisition, analysis, writing, and presentation of a substantial research paper/report at an advanced level. Consent of program director required</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Duke University
GLHLTH89S - First Year Seminar: Special Topics in Global Health

Subject: GLHLTH
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First Year Seminar: Special Topics in Global Health

Description: Topics vary depending on semester and section. Topics may include: global health ethics, field methods, health technologies, rapid needs assessment, and global health policies.

GREEK101 - Elementary Greek

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Greek

Description: Structure of the language (grammatical forms, syntax, vocabulary, and pronunciation); introduction to reading.

GREEK102 - Elementary Greek

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Greek

Description: Second half of Greek 101, 102. Prerequisite: Greek 101.

GREEK111 - Intensive First-Year Greek

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 111
Title: Intensive First-Year Greek

Description: Intensive introduction to ancient Greek language and culture. Includes structure of the language (grammatical forms, syntax, vocabulary, and pronunciation) and introduction to reading. Combines in one semester the work of Greek 101-102.

GREEK203 - Intermediate Greek

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Greek

Description: Readings in classical Attic prose literature. Prerequisite: Greek 102 or equivalent.

GREEK203A-1 - Intermediate Greek

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 203A-1
Title: Intermediate Greek

GREEK252S - Advanced Intermediate Greek

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 252S
Title: Advanced Intermediate Greek

Description: Introduction to ancient Greek poetry. Recommended prerequisite: Greek 203 or the equivalent.

GREEK291 - Independent Study

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 291
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
GREEK301A-1 - Advanced Greek
Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 301A-1
Title: Advanced Greek
Description: Readings vary. Taught at the Intercollegiate Center for Classical Studies in Rome. Consent required.

GREEK304S - Greek Historians
Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 304S
Title: Greek Historians
Description: Historians. Readings in Greek historians illuminating key themes, periods, historiographical conventions, especially historiography's role as font of ancient moral and ethical exempla. Authors might include Herodotus, Thucydides, Xenophon, Polybius, Diodorus Siculus, etc. Must have 2 years of Greek (or equivalent).

GREEK308S - Greek Philosophy
Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 308S
Title: Greek Philosophy
Description: Philosophy. Investigation into key trends, themes, developments in Greek Philosophy, especially moral and political, through readings from the Pre-Socratic philosophers, Plato, Aristotle, Epicurus, and/or others. Must have 2 years of Greek (or equivalent).

GREEK312S - Greek Oratory and Rhetoric
Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 312S
Title: Greek Oratory and Rhetoric
Description: Oratory/Rhetoric. Exploration of the theory and practice of ancient oratory and rhetoric, especially as regards negotiation of power through public speech. Includes readings from Antiphon, Andocides, Lysias, Isocrates, Isaeus, Demosthenes, Gorgias, Alcidamas, Aristotle, Ps.-Longinus, Demetrius’ On Style, and/or others. Must have 2 years of Greek (or equivalent).

GREEK324S - Greek Epic
Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 324S
Title: Greek Epic
Description: Epic. Readings in Greek epic, with attention to language, meter, oral poetics, characterization, narrative structure, ancient and modern interpretation, the epic tradition beyond Greece and Rome, epic poems as codifiers of socially constructed cultural norms. Authors and works might include Homer, Hesiod, and the Homeric Hymns. Must have 2 years of Greek (or equivalent).

GREEK328S - Lyric and Hellenistic Poetry
Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 328S
Title: Lyric and Hellenistic Poetry
Description: Readings in Greek lyric and Hellenistic poetry. Possible authors and works include selected fragments from the major lyric poets, Pindar, Theocritus and/or others, particularly as they illuminate construction, testing, examination of Greek cultural identity. Must have 2 years of Greek (or equivalent).
GREEK332S - Greek Drama

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 332S
Title: Greek Drama

Description:
Reading and interpretation of selected plays by Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Aristophanes, and Menander, with attention to language, meter, staging, characteristic themes and conventions, and especially the cultural context of ancient drama and its use as an instrument and venue of public ethical and political debate. Must have 2 years of Greek (or equivalent).

GREEK334S - Ancient Greek Scholarship: G(r)eeks on Greek

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 334S
Title: Ancient Greek Scholarship: G(r)eeks on Greek

Description:
Team-based translation (and web publication) of ancient encyclopedias, lexica, scholia, commentaries, and other ancient scholarly works; most have not been translated into a modern language, so that the work of this class is an immediate, compelling, and citable contribution to scholarship. Students should have 4 semesters of college Greek (or equivalent). Ambitious students with less preparation should contact the professor; accommodation may be possible.

GREEK344S - Greek Novel

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 344S
Title: Greek Novel

Description:
Readings in the Greek novel with attention to genre, distinctive themes, narrative structure and techniques, characterization, and reception. Works include Achilles Tatius’ Leucippe and Clitophon, Chariton’s Chaereas and Callirhoe, Heliodorus’ Aethiopica, Longus’ Daphnis and Chloe, and Xenophon’s Habrocomes and Anthia. Prerequisite: Greek 101, 102, 203, and 204 (or equivalent).

GREEK350S - Readings in the Greek Bible and the Greek Fathers

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 350S
Title: Readings in the Greek Bible and the Greek Fathers

Description:
Readings in the Greek Bible and its ancient Greek reception. Texts may come from the Septuagint (the ancient Greek translation of the Jewish scriptures), the Greek New Testament, anonymous early Christian documents like the Didache, or from the works of the Greek Fathers. Study of the language (syntax and diction), textual history, authorship, composition and transmission, literary structure, social and historical contexts, message and aims, theological agenda, and ancient reception.

GREEK491 - Independent Study

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 491
Title: Independent Study

Description:
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of instructor and Director of Undergraduate Studies required.

GREEK493 - Research Independent Study

Subject: GREEK
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study

Description:
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or project containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors; for seniors, the paper or project may partially fulfill the requirements for graduation with distinction. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
GSF101S - Gateway Seminar: Gender and Everyday Life

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>101S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Gender and Everyday Life</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

What is gender? How does it impact your everyday life? Designed to introduce students to the study of gender, sexuality, and feminism, this course will explore these questions by focusing on settings in which gender shapes how we live, work, consume, see ourselves, forge identities, relate to others, navigate institutions, and make ethical decisions. Students’ reflections on their own experiences and understanding of gender will be a consistent theme. How does gender define the social spaces we move through and inhabit? How does gender structure the various social institutions that shape our lives? In every part of the course, gender will be connected to race, sexuality, class, and nation.

---

GSF110S - Embodied Blackness

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>110S</td>
<td>Embodied Blackness</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

How is race embodied and how are bodies racialized? How do gender, sexuality, class, size, perceived beauty, and ability mutually influence embodiment? This course considers anthropological and historical studies of the body, with a critical focus on Blackness. We investigate how Black human bodies are othered, valued, dehumanized, and experienced, across time and space, with a particular focus on the United States.

---

GSF122 - History of Latinxs in the United States

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>122</td>
<td>History of Latinxs in the United States</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This introductory course will cover the social, cultural, and political histories of Latino/as in the United States from 1848 to the present including the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the Great Depression, WWI/WWII, the creation of Latino/a civil rights organizations, and the civil wars and free trade agreements of the 1980s and 1990s that have spurred so much of contemporary migration. Themes include colonialism and conquest, sexuality and gender, race and ethnicity, transnationalism and migration, social inequality and practices of resistance. This class will highlight the diversity of the Latino/a experience—focusing on the history of Afro-Latino/as, queer Latino/as, and undocumented Latino/as.

---

GSF160S - Gateway Seminar: The Global Sixties: Race, Revolution, Sexuality

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>160S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: The Global Sixties: Race, Revolution, Sexuality</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The 1960s in global context, focusing particularly on Europe, Latin America, and the United States. The rise of mass movements dedicated to racial, economic, and sexual justice, against the backdrop of Cold War and decolonization. The mobilization of music, film, and the body in the service of revolution, with attention also to the global backlash and the rise of a new conservatism. Course materials include memoirs, speeches, political treatises, and cultural artifacts from the period.
GSF188S - Gateway Seminar: The Price of Sex: Gender and the Global Political Economy

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 188S
Title: Gateway Seminar: The Price of Sex: Gender and the Global Political Economy

Description

Explores how sex and gender have shaped economic policies and opportunities in different settings, particularly in the modern era (19th, 20th, and 21st centuries). Will focus on public policies and normative practices at the local, national, and international levels. As a gateway seminar for the history major, will focus on developing an understanding of historiography and methodology culminating in a prospectus for a future research project.

---

GSF189 - Women and Gender in the Middle East

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 189
Title: Women and Gender in the Middle East

Description

An introductory survey exploring the Middle East through the gender perspective. Introduction to the gender and women's studies in the Middle East and the major issues. Cross-cultural and interdisciplinary readings to introduce the diversity of the region. Readings and screenings include the narratives and performances from the region.

---

GSF190A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Women's Studies

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 190A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Women's Studies

Description

Topics differ by section.

---

GSF190S - Special Topics in Women's Studies

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Women's Studies

Description

Seminar topics vary, focusing on interdisciplinary work arising from feminist scholarship.

---

GSF191FS - Intersections of the Sexual Brain

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 191FS
Title: Intersections of the Sexual Brain

Description

Understanding how the human brain and environment interconnect evolved dramatically with recent advances in neuroscience research methods. Students analyze such interconnections and the impact on societal theories of human sexuality. Students assess influential factors such as ethnicity/race, culture, and religion, all diversely represented in contemporary America. Students read and discuss scientific and popular articles with historical context and explore the consequences of scientific observations on the personal, societal and political levels. Students develop written and oral communication skills and work collaboratively with fellow peers. Open only to Focus Program students.

---

GSF195 - Critical Approaches to Global Issues

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 195
Title: Critical Approaches to Global Issues

Description

Introduction to critical transnational studies through several disciplinary approaches. Examines capitalism and neo-liberal globalization and their relationships to culture, politics, economics, and other social forms and outcomes; considers transnationalism 'from below'; addresses linear and Western-centric thinking about progress and modernity; focuses a historical lens on political discourses, institutions, and projects to understand them contextually; demonstrates how cultures and identities are dynamically constituted in interaction with historical, material, political, and situational factors; considers how different inequalities and contestations inflict most social formations.
GSF198 - LGBTQ/Queer Cinema and Cultural Production

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 198
Title: LGBTQ/Queer Cinema and Cultural Production

Description:
This class investigates LGBTQ identities, communities and relationships pre, post, and during the Stonewall era through cinema, television, and new media. We will also explore constructions of sexuality, gender, class, race, and nationalism within the context of LGBTQ transnational film cultures and scholarship.

GSF199S - Thinking Gender: An Introduction to Feminist Theory

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 199S
Title: Thinking Gender: An Introduction to Feminist Theory

Description:
Introduction to foundational concepts in feminist thought on sex and gender. Survey of core concepts in the field of Women's Studies and introduction to the fundamental debates within the history of feminist thinking.

GSF201 - Race, Film, and Religion

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 201
Title: Race, Film, and Religion

Description:
In this course, we will examine how cinema both constructs and reproduces anti-black racism and how cinema works to liberate blackness from the strictures of racial domination. We will watch films from the past three decades that provide an opportunity to interrogate the relationship between race, gender, and sexuality. These films will also enable us to think about how cinema introduces unconventional notions of the sacred, a process that involves affect, desire, and imagination. Films that we watch may include: Moonlight, Medicine for Melancholy, Black Panther, Daughters of the Dust, Get Out, US, Pariah, and Selma.

GSF202S - Introduction to LGBTQ Studies

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 202S
Title: Introduction to LGBTQ Studies

Description:
Topics include homosexuality and theory, history, law, religion, education, the arts and literature, the military, and the health sciences.

GSF206S - Women, Gender, and Christian Origins

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 206S
Title: Women, Gender, and Christian Origins

Description:
A study of early Christian perspectives on women and gender as expressed in the New Testament and other Jewish and early Christian writings within the context of ancient Mediterranean religions. Topics addressed include: women's roles, ancient discussions of masculinity and femininity, institutional arrangements and the household, and the development of the category 'virgin.'

GSF209S - Muslim Women Across the Ages

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 209S
Title: Muslim Women Across the Ages

Description:
This course explores the diverse realities of Muslim women’s lives, from the origins of Islam to the present, through autobiographical and biographical accounts situated in their social, economic, political, and cultural contexts. The women we will encounter through textual and audiovisual materials represent a wide range of personal backgrounds, including scholars, mystics, merchants, philanthropists, poets, slavegirls, feminists, and Islamists. We will metaphorically travel across the globe and time to understand the multifarious facets of Muslim women’s lived experiences.
GSF211S - Gender and Slavery in the Americas

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>211S</td>
<td>Gender and Slavery in the Americas</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Atlantic slave systems were gendered systems. Across lines of nation and empire, African-descended women and their reproductive labor were crucial to the formation of New World slave systems and the racial ideology that underwrote them. The study of gender is therefore critical in understanding slavery in the Americas. This course analyzes slave systems in North America, Latin America, and the Caribbean. Our aim will be to explore major points of emphasis in the histories of gender and slavery in these diverse locales. For their final project, students will have the opportunity to engage an area of this historiography more deeply in the form of a paper on a topic of their choosing.

GSF212 - Gender in Dance and Theatre

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>212</td>
<td>Gender in Dance and Theatre</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Ways in which gender and sexuality are conceptualized in selected performance cultures. Interprets these historically constituted social formations through an examination of the diverse cultural constructions of gender meanings, representations and ideologies as interpreted and expressed in dance and theatre. Symbolic meanings of gender in relation to forms of social life and theatrical experience. The Devadasi in India, the concept of the male embodied Onnagata, and the notion of the female embodied Otokoyaku in the dance-theatre of Japan.

GSF214 - Contemporary Israeli Cinema

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>214</td>
<td>Contemporary Israeli Cinema</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

GSF216 - Gender and Socialism

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>216</td>
<td>Gender and Socialism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

History of socialist feminism as a global political movement and philosophical-theoretical tradition with a special focus on its divergent national trajectories and conflict-ridden relationship with liberal feminism and socialist and communist movements and governments in Europe, Russia, China and US since the nineteenth century; offers an overview of European, Russian, Chinese and US history of the last two centuries; includes exploration of principles and aspirations that informed socialist theory of modern society, social justice, family, motherhood, parenthood, sexual difference, gender equality as well as public policies and legislation instituted or informed by the socialist tradition.
GSF217 - Gender and Culture

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 217
Title: Gender and Culture

Description:
Explanation of differing beliefs about gender cross-culturally, by comparison with dominant themes about gender in our own cultural history and contemporary ideological struggles.

GSF220 - Case Studies in Global Sexual and Reproductive Health

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 220
Title: Case Studies in Global Sexual and Reproductive Health

Description:
Through the examination of weekly case studies, students will explore the complexity of working in the field of global sexual and reproductive health and the ways in which various health and social science disciplines can be integrated in the development of effective health programs. Session topics will include family planning, maternity care, gender-based violence, abortion, and HIV/AIDS. Using examples from the US and low-and middle-income countries, students will identify key focus areas in sexual and reproductive health, technical and programmatic challenges and successful interventions. Recommended prerequisite: Global Health 212.

GSF221 - Women at Work: Gendered Experience of Corporate Life

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 221
Title: Women at Work: Gendered Experience of Corporate Life

Description:
Analysis of gender, class and race in contemporary business organizations and roles of men and women within them. Management systems, information technology and human resource systems, as artifacts to larger, gendered environment.

GSF222 - Gender and Philosophy

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 222
Title: Gender and Philosophy

Description:
Issues in political and moral philosophy in their bearing on feminist concerns, including political equality and rights, preferential treatment, feminist and nonfeminist critiques of pornography, and the morality of abortion.

GSF222S - Gender and Philosophy

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 222S
Title: Gender and Philosophy

Description:
Seminar version of Philosophy 222.

GSF223 - Manifesto Workshop: Climate Change, Afro-/Solar Punk, and Performance

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 223
Title: Manifesto Workshop: Climate Change, Afro-/Solar Punk, and Performance

Description:
Manifesto Workshop: Afro-/Solarpunk, Climate Change, and Performance is a performance-based workshop that seeks to explore radical, embodied storytelling through the lenses of several manifestos: Afrofuturism, Solarpunk, Environmental Justice, and Queer Utopias. Through creative research, embodied ‘in(queer)y,’ and collaborative theater-making, the workshop will culminate in a public performance of original student work.
GSF225 - Women and the Political Process

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
225

Title
Women and the Political Process

Description
A systematic analysis of the U.S. political system, electoral politics, platform implications, and leadership trends in the context of women's role in political life, as voters, leaders, and citizens.

GSF226S - Writing American Politics

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
226S

Title
Writing American Politics

Description
Reading and writing intensive seminar focused on documentary works that document and discuss US politics and political movements. Engage and analyze historical and contemporary documentary media on the Populist movement, the long civil rights movement, the modern women's movement, Black Lives Matter, Moral Mondays, and other social movements, as well as US elections and significant figures in US politics. Emphasis on 20th century. Course materials include historical writings, journalism, memoir, fiction, music, and film. Guided research on a US political phenomenon resulting in a 20-page final paper.

GSF227S - Politics of Pandemics

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
227S

Title
Politics of Pandemics

Description
Exploration of social, cultural, historical, and political facets of epidemic disease and widespread health crises. Key concepts of medical anthropological research and writing; reading ethnographic texts alongside journalistic, literary, and policy accounts of disease experiences and institutional responses. Assess scope, scale, and genre associated with representing pandemics. Analyze global case studies of both infectious and chronic diseases.

GSF229S - Space-Body-Image

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
229S

Title
Space-Body-Image

Description
Analyzes ways the production of space in architecture and urban theory also produce images of the ideal bodies supposed to inhabit them. Explores limits of the production of space from standpoint of feminist, queer, and critical race theory, as well as through current research in disability studies. Surveys efforts by contemporary artists, writers, and filmmakers to interrupt prevailing images of space and imagine new kinds of bodies to move within them.

GSF230 - Gender in the Economy

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number 230

Title
Gender in the Economy

Description
Economics of gender including the status of women in the labor market; feminist economic theories; ethical considerations of gender-based inequalities; gendered division of labor within the family and between the household and labor market. Comparisons of women's status across different cultures and geographic areas; gender-related measurements and indicators; explanations and remedies for female/male occupational segregation and wage differentials. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.

GSF232 - Gender and Language

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number 232

Title
Gender and Language

Description
Theoretical approaches to the question of the interrelationship of gender and language including neurobiology, psychology, semiotics, feminist critical theory, philosophy of language, discourse analysis, and linguistic theory. Taught in English.
GSF233S - Documenting US Women's Health Post-Roe v. Wade

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
233S

Title
Documenting US Women's Health Post-Roe v. Wade

Description
The overturning of Roe v. Wade in June 2022 led to the deaths of two women in South Carolina. One woman died from sepsis following self-instrumentation, and the second died after giving birth to a healthy baby. She began to hemorrhage; hospital administrators were afraid that the 'D&C' she needed to survive was too close to the abortion procedure. A physician team at Duke University Hospitals, led by Dr. Beverly Clark, began to see similar cases in North Carolina. The aim of this course is to document—in real time—the political and ethical dimensions of the situation that healthcare providers now find themselves in as they attempt to provide women the nationwide medical 'standard of care.'

GSF235S - Clinical Issues for the LGBTQ Community

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
235S

Title
Clinical Issues for the LGBTQ Community

Description
An introduction to LGBTQ issues in the mental-health field and other people-focused professions, e.g. medicine, education, and law. An examination of the historical treatment of the LGBTQ population in psychological practice, the evolution of mental-health care for members of the LGBTQ community, and the psychological effects of social norms on LGBTQ individuals, couples, and families, including non-pathologizing, heterosexual bias, genderism, self-identification, coming out, multiple-minority identities, parenting, and couple dynamics.

GSF236S - Selena: Music, Media, and the Mexican American Experience

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
236S

Title
Selena: Music, Media, and the Mexican American Experience

Description
How did singer Selena Quintanilla impact the world and why does she remain as such an important cultural fixture for Mexican-American communities? This class explores the life, music, and legacy of Selena Quintanilla. We will discuss how Selena used music to navigate a complex Mexican-American identity. Focusing on intersectional feminism, sexuality, iconicity, and fandom, we will learn about Selena’s music throughout the years and consider how these themes are interpreted and complicated across borders. Course materials engage readings from pop music studies, gender, sexuality, and feminist studies, Latinx studies and include a range of films, audio recordings, and podcasts.

GSF239 - Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number 239

Title
Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History

Description
Major questions relating to women and women’s place in society over the course of U.S. history, broadly defined, from the colonial period to the present: How did different groups of women see themselves as women? How did views of women's sexuality change? How did men's and women's relationships and roles change? How did women understand their connections to the larger society? How did race, ethnicity, and class shape all those issues? Course uses a variety of materials, including novels, movies, images, and music to explore the ethical contours of women’s lives in the past, following change over time to better understand women’s position today.
GSF239D - Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 239D
Title: Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History

Description: Major questions relating to women and women's place in society over the course of U.S. history, broadly defined, from the colonial period to the present: How did different groups of women see themselves as women? How did views of women's sexuality change? How did men's and women's relationships and roles change? How did women understand their connections to the larger society? How did race, ethnicity, and class shape all those issues? Course uses a variety of materials, including novels, movies, images, and music to explore the ethical contours of women's lives in the past, following change over time to better understand women's position today.

GSF240S - Reading Like a Queer

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 240S
Title: Reading Like a Queer

Description: Seminar introduces students to theory and practice of reading in Queer Studies through a variety of novels, films, and cultural criticism. Designed for mid level undergraduates who have some familiarity with literary studies and/or queer theory, but does not require prerequisites.

GSF241S - Bodies at Work

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 241S
Title: Bodies at Work

Description: This course traces the dynamic relationship between bodies and economies over the course of American history. If disability has been defined as the inability to work, then an exploration of disability necessitates an exploration of capitalism. Moving between disability studies and labor history, students will develop the conceptual tools necessary to understand capitalism through the lens of disability, while also generating new ways to think about disability via critical histories of capitalism. We will also look at how disabled people have pushed back, envisioning new ways of valuing bodies beyond productivity.

GSF242 - Race, Gender, Class, & Computing

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 242
Title: Race, Gender, Class, & Computing

Description: This course explores the diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) challenges in computing through an introduction to and analysis of identity as a social construct, its impact on computing departments and organizations, and the resulting impact of technology on various identities.

GSF243S - Sound, Music, and Gender

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 243S
Title: Sound, Music, and Gender

Description: This seminar explores key topics in gender, sexuality, and feminist studies through musical case studies from contrasting cultural contexts. Through analyses of sonic expressive practices (e.g. drag, queer and trans voices, sex and rock, feminist listening) we consider 1) how genders sound and how sounds gender; 2) music's capacity to transgress, (re)form, and transform—as well as its complicity in perpetuating oppression; 3) music as a resource for dreaming and desiring. No music background is necessary.

GSF244S - The Politics of Motherhood: Security Mothers, Soccer Moms, Movement Moms, and Beyond

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 244S
Title: The Politics of Motherhood: Security Mothers, Soccer Moms, Movement Moms, and Beyond

Description: Following Adrienne Rich's lead, this course will consider motherhood as both institution and experience. Topics to be covered include Mothers of the Movement, Black Lives Matter mothers, race and maternal health, 'mommy wars' and battles over breastfeeding, attachment parenting, work/family balance, security mothers, soccer moms, working mothers, bad mothers, other-mothers, and decisions not to mother.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF245S</td>
<td>Women in Visual Arts, 1400-1800: Theory and History</td>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>245S</td>
<td>Through lectures, discussion and individual projects, this course considers the roles women have played in the Early Modern art world as makers, buyers, patrons, donors, critics, and art collectors. It also takes up issues of gender, of race, of masculinity as well as femininity. A central theme of this class is how debates about the so-called Woman Question, which was essentially an ongoing quarrel about the nature and social role of women, shaped the representations and experiences of women of different classes and conditions. Our focus will be on visual representations, as well as period writing of and by women.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF248S</td>
<td>Book Publishing &amp; Marketing: A Case Study of the Romance Fiction Industry</td>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>248S</td>
<td>A case study of the US romance fiction industry and its global reach. The romance novel is the most popular form of fiction in the world. Its industry is powered by women, produces a product consumed by women, and exports to global audiences. Includes: its history, role in popular American culture, and rise to dominate the fiction market; how creative projects become commercial products; dramatic shifts in the book industry over three centuries, including the ebook- and self-publishing revolutions; how notions of gender and sexuality have shaped the aggressive and ingenious marketing of romance fiction from its origins; representations of race in romance fiction.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF251FS</td>
<td>Gendering the Renaissance</td>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>251FS</td>
<td>Course studies the debates around women, gender, and sexuality in Renaissance Italy and Europe (ca.1400–1700). Framed historically as ‘the woman question’ (la querelle des femmes), these debates challenged women’s nature, capabilities, and intellect, sparking robust response by women poets and philosophers, as well as by male defenders of the female sex. An interdisciplinary approach studying how gendered expectations for Renaissance women and men emerged across lyric poetry, conduct manuals, medical treatises, political pamphlets, paintings, theater, and early opera. We will contextualize early examples of premodern feminism, anti-feminism, misogyny, and prejudice compared to models today.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF253S</td>
<td>Popular Arts and Culture in Africa</td>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>253S</td>
<td>This course explores the popular arts and cultural production in Africa across a range of media. It will explore the links and relationships between popular culture and fiction, popular literatures, be they in magazines or pamphlets, consumption, gender, and desire in the popular imagination, as well as popular sonic and visual cultures in Africa.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course Code</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF256S</td>
<td>Climate, Culture and Identity</td>
<td>This course focuses on some of the transformations that climate change is bringing - not just to human livelihoods and to the non-human world, but to the very definition of the human. In an era defined by the overwhelming influence of homo sapiens on the planet, historic distinctions between nature and culture are starting to blur and fall apart. What role can feminist and queer theory play in helping us to understand these changes to human identity? What can gender studies contribute to techno-scientific understandings of a global warming? We'll take on these and many other questions through readings in literature and theory, and experiential learning with the Duke Campus Farm.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF258S</td>
<td>Women and Power in the Renaissance</td>
<td>Explores the intellectual, social, and political history of women in Renaissance Europe. Despite the overwhelmingly patriarchal nature of early modern society, many women wrote treatises, dialogues, and poetry in which they argued for a broader role for women. Students will examine these primary texts (some by famous figures, others by much less well-known writers) within the context of a burgeoning social history that has provided a more nuanced view of gender relations and power in this period.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF259S</td>
<td>Brazil, Race, Sex, and the Body</td>
<td>The approach of the course will be interdisciplinary, drawing upon works from anthropology, literature, history, and film. Topics will include colonialism and enslavement, abolition, nationalism, social activism, and popular culture. We will also consider how Brazilian social relations differ from or conform to other racialized patterns in other nation-states in the Americas. Particular attention will be placed on the impact of the interrelationship between race, gender, class, and nation on the lives of Black Brazilians.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF260</td>
<td>The Actress: Celebrity and the Woman</td>
<td>Explores through fiction, film, autobiographies, and biographies the significance and influence of the actress (on stage and screen) from eighteenth century to present day. Highlighted topics: actress's self-image and perception of her art; relationship between her public profession and private life; how she reflects/sets contemporary standards for beauty and lifestyle; how she provokes public debate over women's 'appropriate' sexual, familial, professional, and public roles; her function as symbol/role model for her gender, race, nation. Includes Sarah Bernhardt's memoirs, Chekhov's The Seagull, Susan Sontag's In America, films All About Eve and Mommie Dearest. Taught in English.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GSF261 - From History to Fantasy: Medieval Religions in Film & Fiction

Description
Explores the intersection of modern popular culture and medieval religious culture. Deep dive into how modern creators of mass entertainment use common notions of medieval faith, power, race, sexualities and violence to capture and hold our interest, teach us lessons about ourselves, and sell products. How do our ideas of faith, sexuality, race and power inspire or constrain the fiction we create about the past? What impact does this have on consumers? Monks, nuns, knights, crusades, secret societies, suffragists, alt-right, plague. Modern novels, commentaries, history, medieval texts, neurobiology, TV, films, ads, games, memes, clubs. Read, discuss, write, research.

GSF263S - Representing Breast Cancer: Feminist Literature, Art, and Film

Description
Analyzes representations of breast cancer in feminist literature, art, and film. Drawing on health feminism, feminist medical ethics, and disability studies, explores what those representations tell us about the intersections among gender, race, class, sexuality, and ability in both the Global North and South. Sets artistic representations of breast cancer against the hyper-sexualization of breasts in capitalism's visual cultures and the spectacles of breast cancer activism. Shows how literature, art, and film can reveal health care's material conditions as well as breast cancer's psychic complexities.

GSF265S - Introduction to Digital Feminism

Description
The aim of this course is to critically analyze digital culture from a feminist and gender studies perspective. We will address topics related to digital innovation and its history, unpacking and questioning them through the insights offered by genders studies analytical tools. Subjects such as the rise of the Silicon Valley, gaming culture, social media, algorithms, Artificial Intelligence, extraction of data applied to biotechnology, macroeconomic development of IT platforms and the impact of technology on ecology will be discussed starting from a current event or debate, to which we will give a historical, ethical, sociological, theoretical, literary or cinematic perspective.

GSF266 - Gender and Sexuality in the Ancient World

Description
Class examines ancient erotic poetry, prose, material evidence (e.g., vase paintings) to explicate gender as a cultural sign, sexuality as a language in which other business is transacted. 'Obscene' literature, paintings, etc. evidence how the ancients constructed men, women, sexuality— but also social hierarchies, national prerogatives, and identity.
GSF267S - Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminisms

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 267S
Title: Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminisms

Description
The term 'pícara' or 'rogue outlaw' was designed to regulate and criminalize the bodies of women transgressing boundaries. This course uses the term to delve into the heroic histories of some of the most prominent women voices across the Global South and the various ways they challenge normalized and heteronormative structures of society. From a Cuban slave revolt leader, or the 17th century colonial 'Memoire of Basque Transvestite in the New World,' to the seminal Borderlands/La Frontera, prominent African Feminist theorists, and pop culture film Real Women Have Curves, we will read and engage in some of the most daring accounts of women power throughout the ages.

GSF269SA - Gender and Immigration between Europe and the Middle East

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 269SA
Title: Gender and Immigration between Europe and the Middle East

Description
Investigates the gendered experience of immigration and its implications for changing the culture both at home and in the hosting countries. Between the traditions of the country of origin and acculturation to the new home, women and LGBTQ communities are the most vulnerable facing gender-based discrimination and violence. Nonetheless, immigration also offers the opportunity to cross the borders of binaries, such as femininity and masculinity, which can be empowering and liberating. This seminar is offered as part of the Middle East in Europe: Berlin/Istanbul study abroad program.

GSF272S - Sexuality and the Law

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 272S
Title: Sexuality and the Law

Description
This course will introduce students to legal and ethical issues at the intersection of law, gender and sexuality. The course will use interpretive methods used in jurisprudence, as well as conceptual tools developed by feminist, critical race and queer theoreticians to explore such issues as the criminalization of gay sex, the equal protection of all persons regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity, and the role of the state in resolving perceived conflicts between that right to equal protection and the right to religious freedom. The course will take a cross-cultural / multi-jurisdictional comparative approach to these issues.

GSF273S - Gender and Media

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 273S
Title: Gender and Media

Description
The aim of this course is to critically analyze media culture and communication landscapes from a feminist and gender studies perspective. We will address a wide range of media innovations and their histories, unpacking and critically questioning them through the insights offered by feminist, queer, and intersectional analytical tools. To each, we will examine historical, ethical, sociological, theoretical, literary or film perspectives. What roles do media spaces play in our everyday lives and how do our politics and self-understandings inform and reflect burgeoning platforms? This course will consider these questions in terms of US media cultures and its interconnected global frameworks.

GSF274S - Masculinities & Global Politics

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 274S
Title: Masculinities & Global Politics

Description
The course uses readings and films to examine masculinities historically and transnationally, including a unit on masculinities in US politics; draws from history, sociology, feminist geography, popular culture studies, Black studies, and sexuality and queer studies; interactive lectures and guest scholars. Each student is guided to complete an interview-based research project with three male-identified persons of multiple generations with serves in lieu of a final exam.

GSF275 - Food, Farming, and Feminism

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 275
Title: Food, Farming, and Feminism

Description
Viewing 'agriculture,' 'nature,' and 'consumption' as pressing feminist themes and exploration of various dimensions of the cultural and political ecology/economy of producing, processing, circulating, preparing, and consuming sustenance. Particular focus on the ethical impact of US policy on rural farm communities and developing nations.
GSF276 - Performance Art History and Theory

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 276
Title: Performance Art History and Theory

Description:
Performance Art History and Theory explores cultural experimentation, theoretical strategies, and ideological aims of performance art internationally; examines interchanges between artists' theories of performance, stylistic development, and impact in the context of cultural criticism and art history; traces interdisciplinary genealogies of performance globally; thinks about the body as a vehicle for aesthetic expression, communication, and information in its critique of social and political conditions; studies performance and gender, sexuality, race, and class; asks how performance alters the semiotics of visual culture and contributes to a paradigm shift from modernism to postmodernism.

GSF277D - Global Art Since 1945

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 277D
Title: Global Art Since 1945

Description:
Major avant-garde movements of the post-World War II era, with a concentration on the unprecedented changes in the mediums of art, its forms, impact on society and politics, and ethical role in shaping culture through painting and sculpture, conceptual and performance art, installation and new media, video, photography, and film.

GSF277S - Global Art Since 1945

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 277S
Title: Global Art Since 1945

Description:
Major avant-garde movements of the post-World War II era, with a concentration on the unprecedented changes in the mediums of art, its forms, impact on society and politics, and ethical role in shaping culture through painting and sculpture, conceptual and performance art, installation and new media, video, photography, and film.

GSF278 - Sex/Gender - Nature/Nurture: Intersections of Biology and Society

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 278
Title: Sex/Gender - Nature/Nurture: Intersections of Biology and Society

Description:
Debates about sexuality, sex, and gender hinge on radically different ideas about relative effects of biological forces vs. social forces, or nature vs. nurture. Course changes terms of arguments about sexuality and gender and nature/nurture. Explores how nature/nurture emerged as scientific and popular debate. Evaluates new developments in science and cultural fields that are now reconsidering how biology and environments interact. Showcases debates about how sex and sexuality are formed through interplay of genetic information, hormones, material bodies, and social environments.

GSF279 - Melodrama East and West

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 279
Title: Melodrama East and West

Description:
Melodrama as a genre in literature and as a mode of representation in film and other media. Issues include: gender construction, class formation, racial recognition, and national identity-building. Emphasis on comparative method attending American and Chinese cultures and the politics of cross-cultural representation.

GSF281 - Avant-Garde Art 1900-1945

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 281
Title: Avant-Garde Art 1900-1945

Description:
Major artistic movements and theoretical aims of early modernism: fauvism, cubism, expressionism, futurism, constructivism, suprematism, dada, surrealism, deStijl, Bauhaus, and Neue Sachlichkeit in France, Italy, Germany, America.
GSF285S - Love, Sex, Madness in Caribbean Fiction and Film

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
285S

Title
Love, Sex, Madness in Caribbean Fiction and Film

Description
This course explores the themes of love, sex, and madness as the lenses through which Caribbean writers and filmmakers have challenged traditional ideas of citizenship, family, gender roles, and political power. What, for example, is the connection between a dictatorship in Haiti and women's sexual desire? How does the figure of 'the mad Creole woman' challenge masculinist constructions of national identity in the early years of independence in Africa? How might the love between a mother and child be read as an act of anti-colonial resistance? We will examine these questions through novels, short stories, and films. Recommended prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.

GSF288S - Global South Asia: History and Culture of Diaspora

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
288S

Title
Global South Asia: History and Culture of Diaspora

Description
This course examines the making of South Asia (Afghanistan, Bangladesh, India, Myanmar, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka) as a global space from the early 20th-century until today. In addition to an examination of the region, course material will also address the South Asian Diaspora, particularly throughout Australia, East Africa, Southern Africa, Canada, the Caribbean, France, Germany, the United Kingdom, and the United States. Topics may include imperialism and decolonization; the making of postcolonial nation-states; migration, labor, and citizenship; and the global circulation of caste, class, religion, gender, and sexuality.

GSF290 - Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
290

Title
Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Description
Topics vary, focusing on interdisciplinary work arising from feminist scholarship.

GSF290A - Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
290A

Title
Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Description
Topics vary, focusing on interdisciplinary work arising from feminist scholarship. Study Abroad.

GSF290S - Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
290S

Title
Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Description
Seminar version of GSF 290.

GSF290SA - Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
290SA

Title
Selected Topics in Women's Studies

Description
Topics vary, focusing on interdisciplinary work arising from feminist scholarship. Seminar version of 290A. Study Abroad.
GSF291 - Independent Study
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 291
Title: Independent Study
Description: Directed reading in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and program director required.

GSF293 - Research Independent Study
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 293
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to juniors. Consent of instructor and program director required.

GSF296S - Black Muslims: Race, Religion, & Culture
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 296S
Title: Black Muslims: Race, Religion, & Culture
Description: The intersection of African, American, European, and Islamic cultures studied through the cultural and intellectual flourishing of black Islam. Topics include early Muslim communities established in the Americas through the transatlantic slave trade, Muslim slave rebellions in Brazil and the Caribbean, Muslim slave autobiographies, African Muslims in Europe, the emergence of the Moorish Science Temple and the Nation of Islam, Elijah Muhammad, Malcolm X, Muhammad Ali, women of the Nation of Islam, women's Qur'an exegeses, Hagar as a black woman, black feminism, the Five-Percent Nation, Islamic hip-hop and rap, 'the Black Crescent,' the black international and Islam, and the Black Panthers.

GSF298S - Global Humanitarianism
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 298S
Title: Global Humanitarianism
Description: This course explores humanitarianism as both a global phenomenon and a western model for engaging with the world. It examines the cultural and political conditions that make it possible for some people to be saviors and others to require saving. It focuses on the ways humanitarian interventions are increasingly as much about alleviating poverty and supporting political change, as about responding to crises caused by health epidemics, conflict or war, and environmental disasters. We will pay close attention to the impacts of humanitarian interventions good and bad, while critically exploring how local agendas and conditions shape and respond to these programs.

GSF299 - Hip Hop and Religion
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 299
Title: Hip Hop and Religion
Description: For many people, hip-hop and religion are incompatible. Hip-hop seems to be defined by materialism, arrogance, violence, misogyny, and a general rejection of sacred ideals and values. In this course, we will challenge these assumptions by exploring the intersections between hip hop and religion, while questioning what these terms mean and signify. We will examine aspects of hip-hop (rap lyrics, video images, cultural rituals, films) that explicitly or implicitly express religious commitments and sensibilities.

GSF301S - Theory Today
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 301S
Title: Theory Today
Description: This course is an introduction to fundamental concepts of contemporary critical theory, broadly conceived. Readings will include key texts from the past 50 years in fields including gender and sexuality studies, literary and media studies, critical race studies, Marxism, postcolonial studies, and political theory. The course will involve close reading of difficult texts with the goal of obtaining facility with the concepts and modes of argumentations of contemporary theory.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>314</td>
<td>Introduction to Critical Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course is an introduction to fundamental texts and concepts in the history of critical theory. We will be expanding the scope of our examination well beyond the remit of the Frankfurt School, to which the term 'critical theory' is often linked and look at key texts in the history of political philosophy, social theory, linguistics and language philosophy, gender studies, critical race theory, and postcolonialism. All our readings will be primary literature from what might be dubbed a 'critical theory cannon' and is intended to introduce students in the humanities and qualitative social sciences to essential and foundational materials.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>315SA</td>
<td>New York Scenes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

New York Scenes will focus on the various cultural institutions, scenes, establishments, happenings, hang-outs, movements, etc., that make up New York City. Early in the semester, students will select a particular 'scene' to research over the course of the term. For example: Tin Pan Alley (popular music, theater), The Lafayette Theatre (black arts), St. Mark's Church (poetry, punk rock), the Chelsea Hotel (mid-century writers, pop stars and outcasts), La MaMa (experimental theater), the Christopher Street Piers (queer history, lgbtq youth) and Union Square Park (leftist organizing history). Open to students in the Duke in New York program.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>320</td>
<td>Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Tracks digital life and creative expression of groups online in a close study of images, captions and hyperlinked tags. Examines rituals, symbols and cultural patterns that structure everyday life of digital tribes online and investigates impact of digital and social media (Twitter, Instagram Facebook, Periscope) on the constitution of communities online and offline. Studying varied array of digital tribes: tribes of the deaf, of oil rig workers, of Hindu worshippers, of prison wives and laptop entrepreneurs, students learn about underlying myths, rituals, and cultural symbols that connect groups of people online.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF</td>
<td>320S</td>
<td>Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Tracks digital life and creative expression of groups online in a close study of images, captions and hyperlinked tags. Examines rituals, symbols and cultural patterns that structure everyday life of digital tribes online and investigates impact of digital and social media (Twitter, Instagram Facebook, Periscope) on the constitution of communities online and offline. Studying varied array of digital tribes: tribes of the deaf, of oil rig workers, of Hindu worshippers, of prison wives and laptop entrepreneurs, students learn about underlying myths, rituals, and cultural symbols that connect groups of people online.
GSF322S - Sex, Politics and Feminist Philosophy

Subject
GSF
Catalog Number
322S
Title
Sex, Politics and Feminist Philosophy

Description
Provides a philosophical framework to think about issues of sex, gender and their political implications. Comparison between different historical traditions and methods. Study of a variety of feminist approaches and their critiques. Study of related questions, such as pornography, prostitution and multiculturalism. Readings include Mill, Beauvoir, Butler, Foucault and contemporary analytical philosophy.

GSF323SA - Transnational Muslims in Germany: Politics of Migration, Religion, and Culture

Subject
GSF
Catalog Number
323SA
Title
Transnational Muslims in Germany: Politics of Migration, Religion, and Culture

Description
Critically analyzes political debates about Muslims and Islam in Europe that often cast them as a 'security threat' or a 'problem' of failed integration. Traces the geographical production of Muslim subjects through transnational flows, networks and imaginaries. Examines a series of topics including debates about the headscarf, Muslim women's dress, mosque construction, Muslim civil society organizations, and the refugee crisis in Germany. Taught in English as part of the Duke Middle East in Europe program.

GSF325S - Understanding Mediation

Subject
GSF
Catalog Number
325S
Title
Understanding Mediation

Description
Examines experience as always mediated. How does text mediate expression, or language mediate subjectivity? How do images mediate power, or sounds mediate resistance? How does computation mediate agency, or networks mediate thought? But also, how do nations mediate globalization, or oil mediate energy? And how do bodies mediate liveness, or the environment mediate history? Moves from particular media forms and examples (language, literature, the fine and performing arts, audiovisual media, computational media) to focus on key theoretical concepts and debates of critical theory from twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Crosses national boundaries to understand mediation from a global perspective.

GSF333S - Bad Behavior

Subject
GSF
Catalog Number
333S
Title
Bad Behavior

Description
What does it mean to behave badly? How is 'bad behavior' distinguished from actions that are otherwise described as evil or criminal? This course addresses these questions by examining ideas of deviance, wrongdoing, and misconduct in the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first centuries—that is, modern behavioral categories that are considered to be aberrant without necessarily being strictly defined as transgressions of the law. We will consider how bad behavior concerns the disruption of implicit social norms rather than the explicit violation of legal or moral codes.
GSF335S - Decolonization: Histories, Meanings, Struggles

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 335S
Title: Decolonization: Histories, Meanings, Struggles

Description:
This course explores decolonization as an historical event, a category of theoretical analysis, and a series of contemporary social movements. Course material will introduce students to the history of decolonization as both idea and event, putting global anti-colonial movements of the twentieth century into conversation with contemporary struggles for the decolonization of occupied land, institutions, and epistemologies. This interdisciplinary course draws on work in history, geography, anthropology, women's studies, and postcolonial and decolonial Studies. Students will also read and research manifestos, memoirs, archival documents, documentary films, oral histories, and museum exhibits.

GSF338S - Women and Visual Media Studies

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 338S
Title: Women and Visual Media Studies

Description:
This course explores visual media by women artists, as well as the production, circulation, and reception of visual culture about the idea of 'woman.' Drawing on feminist scholarship across disciplines, students will examine representation, spectatorship, power, beauty, and sex. We will explore work by popular icon Beyoncé, artist Lorna Simpson, but also independent documentary films on relevant themes.

GSF339S - Women and Film: Directors of the Diaspora

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 339S
Title: Women and Film: Directors of the Diaspora

Description:
Black women filmmakers have been actively involved in filmmaking since the early 20th century, and occupy notable positions in the 21st century media environment. Artists such as Ava Duvernay and Julie Dash demand critical attention to black women film and video artists. Films made by Black women are constructed in a variety of forms, such as animation, documentary, experimental, and narrative. These works bring a unique perspective to the screen. This course will give students an opportunity to view films, examine the specifics of film/video production in general, compare the various works produced by women direc, and acquire the skills necessary for film/video cultural criticism.

GSF350 - Brains, Everywhere

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 350
Title: Brains, Everywhere

Description:
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some 'neurocultures' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this course we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF350S</td>
<td>350S</td>
<td>Brains, Everywhere</td>
<td>Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the ‘neurosciences,’ an historical event characterized by some as a ‘neuro-revolution’ that has given rise to a ‘neuro-society,’ ‘neuro-cultures,’ and ‘neuro-subjects.’ In this seminar we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might ‘neuro’ effect in the disciplines that were previously ‘neuro’-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that’s ‘turning’? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of ‘personhood/subjectivity,’ ‘human/post human,’ ‘mind/body,’ ‘self/ego,’ and ‘emotion/affect.’</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF352S</td>
<td>352S</td>
<td>Sex Work: The Politics of Sexual Labor</td>
<td>Sex work from the perspective of the labor and the purchase. Controversies over questions of gender and power, consent and coercion, sexual practices and labor contracts, trafficking and migration. Cultural representations of sex workers and their clients. Legal regimes from abolition to regulation and decriminalization.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF354S</td>
<td>354S</td>
<td>Intro to Psychoanalytic Theory</td>
<td>In this seminar we will explore psychoanalytic theory by focusing on specific topics such as hysteria, perversion, sexuality, repression, narcissism, the unconscious, and the id/ego/superego. Throughout the semester, we will examine the relationship in psychoanalysis between theory and practice as well as entertain the possibility that the theories based on clinical practice might have some applicability for grappling with questions concerning power, politics, conceived in a global context, and what philosopher Michel Foucault referred to in his later work as the ‘care of the self.’</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF355S</td>
<td>355S</td>
<td>Black Feminism and Fashion</td>
<td>Black feminist perspectives on clothing and fashion. Explores traditions in which Black artists and writers make clothing a primary theme. Presenting photographic, painted, and literary portrayals by and of Black people across the diaspora, and bringing together the study of visual culture, material culture, and literary studies, reveals fashion and clothing as aesthetic practices of everyday life that defy the objectifying effects of racism and sexism. Engages with scholarship that explores slavery’s and colonialism’s impact on gender and sexuality and examines how artists and writers work within and against those impacts to document the self-fashioning in Black cultural life.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF360S</td>
<td>360S</td>
<td>Feminist Activism: Social Movements</td>
<td>Comprehensive introduction to feminist theoretical conceptions of the social, political, economic, and the human. Explores the rise of gender based discourses and social movements in the context of broader considerations of modernity, democracy, and liberal humanism and the value of rights discourse for feminist agendas. Includes a comparative dimension that emphasizes cross cultural and historical analysis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF361</td>
<td>361</td>
<td>Money, Sex, Power</td>
<td>Feminist research on gender dynamics in markets, economies, and capitalism. Includes empirical studies (e.g., historical, cross-cultural, and sociological research) and theoretical approaches to political-economic critique. Covered topics may include the gender, racial and transnational divisions of labor, the relation between work and family, waged household labor, sex work, sweatshop labor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GSF362S - Gender and Popular Culture

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 362S
Title: Gender and Popular Culture

Description:
An analytic investigation of ways popular cultural forms produce and reinforce gender relations.

GSF363S - Interpreting Bodies: Identity and Beyond

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 363S
Title: Interpreting Bodies: Identity and Beyond

Description:
How the body has come to define the human in language, law, science, politics and economics. The body's relation to identity and subjectivity. The representation of the body in particular cultural discourses and the social history and dynamic in which that representation has taken place.

GSF364S - Race, Gender, and Sexuality

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 364S
Title: Race, Gender, and Sexuality

Description:
Gender's relationship to race and sexuality explored through a variety of issues, including health, intimacy, family, the state, economic practices, transnational communities and identities, and social movement.

GSF365 - Gender and Political Theory

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 365
Title: Gender and Political Theory

Description:
Feminist analyses of and engagements with some of the canonical texts and traditional concepts of Western political theory. Feminist contributions to, challenges to, and revisions of the terms of key conceptual and political debates in political theory.

GSF367 - Feminist Ethics

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 367
Title: Feminist Ethics

Description:
Do women experience the world differently than men? An examination of women's experience, women's ways of knowing, ethical systems and feminist critique, patriarchy, dualistic thinking, gender oppression, care ethics, ethical dilemmas. Lecture version of GSF 367S.

GSF367S - Feminist Ethics

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 367S
Title: Feminist Ethics

Description:
Do women experience the world differently than men? An examination of women's experience, women's ways of knowing, ethical systems and feminist critique, patriarchy, dualistic thinking, gender oppression, care ethics, ethical dilemmas.

GSF369 - Transnational Feminism

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 369
Title: Transnational Feminism

Description:
Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.

GSF369S - Transnational Feminism

Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 369S
Title: Transnational Feminism

Description:
Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.
GSF370S - Queer Theory
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 370S
Title: Queer Theory
Description: A seminar designed specifically for advanced study in sexuality and gender. Contextualizes queer theory as a distinct analytic tradition by paying attention to poststructuralist approaches to subjectivity, sociality, power, and knowledge. This course also serves as the capstone required for the Certificate in the program in the study of sexualities.

GSF375 - Reproductive Ethics
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 375
Title: Reproductive Ethics
Description: This class examines the role that technology, globalization, late capitalism, ideas about health and ability, and advances in feminist theory play in human reproduction. It will investigate new frontiers of reproductive technology, and try to understand the many different ways of using and viewing interventions such as IVF, surrogacy, and embryo selection. We will examine popular ideas about 'the perfect child,' and how the issue of abortion intersects and competes with the quest for healthier, able-bodied children.

GSF376S - Black Feminist Theory
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 376S
Title: Black Feminist Theory
Description: The course explores canonical and contemporary texts to consider how various theorists inform, challenge, and extend understandings of what constitutes the social and political realms. Topics for the course include, but are not limited to: life, death, violence, sociality, politics, and the Human.

GSF382S - Intimacies: Sexuality, Nation, and the State
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 382S
Title: Intimacies: Sexuality, Nation, and the State
Description: A deep dive into the theoretical concept of intimacy, this seminar touches upon the racial, sensorial, and sexual life of nations and the state. Through discussions about citizenship, religion, migration, political economy, belonging, community, and activism, we consider what it means for bodies to exist in relation not only to other bodies, but also within the larger body of the nation-state. We examine theoretical writing alongside film, performance and installation art, law, and pop culture, bringing sexuality to bear on indigenous genocide, the Antebellum South, anti-immigration and miscegenation law, US militarism in Asia and the Pacific, LGBTQ rights, and political scandal.

GSF383S - Breakdown: Madness, Self, Fiction
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 383S
Title: Breakdown: Madness, Self, Fiction
Description: Study of madness, mental illness, and psychological distress as experienced and accounted for from literary and philosophical perspectives. How should an individual's declaration of spiritual health or illness be understood? What critical tools can literature bring to the study of the soul's suffering? Focus on testimonies of mental strife in a transnational/historical frame. Literary selections range from romanticism and realism to high modernism and contemporary neurofiction.

GSF386S - Politics of Sexuality
Subject: GSF
Catalog Number: 386S
Title: Politics of Sexuality
Description: Explores intersections among sexual identity, desire, and behavior and political institutions, public policy, and concepts of citizenship. Readings and methods will be interdisciplinary and will examine politics of sexuality in diverse sociocultural, international, and historical contexts. Topics may include: social movements; laws, policing, and incarceration; medicalization and eugenics; militarism and geopolitics; immigration and human rights; welfare policies; nationalism and citizenship; and reproductive rights.
GSF387 - Moral Panics, Spectacle, and Everyday Life: Social Anxieties and Minorities

Description
Moral panic refers to the way a social order becomes hyper aware of activities of groups, objects, or circumstances posing a menace to accepted values. Course explores how everyday life is managed, intensified, and altered by moral panic's spectacle. Sexual deviance, drugs, popular culture, disease, witch hunts, gender fears, etc., are not only creations of pre-existing fears, they make various kinds of sense in specific moments. They are how people recognize themselves and new challenges to that self. From those challenges they try to police others; they are public consensus-building events and the means by which we identify our fears and desires.

GSF390 - Special Topics in Women's Studies

Description
Topics vary, focusing on interdisciplinary work arising from feminist scholarship.

GSF390S - Special Topics in Women's Studies

Description
Topics vary, focusing on interdisciplinary work arising from feminist scholarship.

GSF399 - Black Religion, Anguish, and Liberation

Description
In this course, we will study the relationship between race, religion, and politics in the context of black strivings for liberation in the Americas, the trans-Atlantic, and so forth. We will examine how struggles against anti-black violence have been inspired by criticisms and re-interpretations of prevailing religious ideas and practices in addition to the creation of new conceptions of the sacred. We will focus on two different contexts/movements – anti-slavery/abolitionist movements and mid-20th century black freedom/decolonial struggles —considering in each case how religion is both an object of critique and a source of empowerment, agency, and resistance.
GSF401 - Gender and the Law

Description
Examination of issues at the intersection of gender and law through a number of different theoretical lenses. Analyzes policy problems with gender implications from the perspective of formal equality, substantive equality, non-subordination theory, different voice theory, autonomy, and various poststructural critiques. Engages theory at the level of concrete, easily accessible ethical and policy issues, including such topics as employment equality, pregnancy, domestic violence, rape, reproductive rights, sexual orientation and sexual identity discrimination, family equality, sexual harassment, pornography, education equality, affirmative action, and the justice system.

GSF402S - James Baldwin and Toni Morrison

Description
This course will examine the novels and essays of James Baldwin and Toni Morrison, focusing on a range of topics: blackness, gender, sexuality, the relationship between race, religion, and nation, and the relationship between anguish and hope. While considering the differences between these authors, we will explore how Baldwin and Morrison converge on a set of ethical and existential themes and concerns. In particular, the course will focus on a shared 'ethics of haunting,' a sense that a better future relies on our capacity to remember, mourn, and be unsettled by forms of racial and gendered violence that mark the past and present.

GSF404S - Ethics of Hope

Description
Hope involves the expectation or desire for good things to happen. Yet, does this set up people for despair when hopes get dashed or have no possibility of realization? Or, is the conjuring of something better—somewhere, sometime—what enables life to be sustained in the face of difficulties or just the daily grind of making do? In this class we raise the issue of the ethics, politics, and tactics of hope, drawing on philosophy, feminism, and anthropology.

GSF405S - Indigenous Americas

Description
Explores histories, experiences, struggles, art, and philosophies of indigenous peoples in the Americas, meaning both Latin and North America. Acknowledging 500 years of genocidal practices, will focus on concepts of 'the good life' and the complex relations of the spiritual and the material. Roles of gender and sexuality within indigenous worlds and in the often violent relations with settler societies will be a special focus. Explore relations between past, present, and the future under burden of Anthropocene.

GSF412S - Capstone Seminar - Globalization: Asia and Asian America

Description
'Globalization': a shorthand for describing the period of extraordinary change that we are living through, our lives, and our worlds as defined by global connections, from the internet technologies and rapid mass communication to issues of mobilization for social justice. This course focuses on two main themes: global moments of common struggle against racism in Asian, Asian American, and African American contexts, and global manufacture and the ways in which the microprocessor chip technology has come to bind Asia, Africa, and America, with a special focus on women and Asian Americans in the IT sector.

GSF432S - Gender, Sex and Citizenship

Description
Explore current issues and debates relating to the relationship between gender, sexuality and global flows of people, labor, capital and ideas. Consider feminist analyses of the citizen-subject and foundational questions central to this area of study relationship between cultural representation, queer subjectivities, and sexual citizenship. Examine scholarship on gendered vulnerability and the welfare state; the politics of 'terror', security, and stereotyped masculinities; domestic labor and contemporary slavery; and the controversial debates about the connections between sex tourism, human trafficking and commercial sex work. Prerequisite: Previous gender studies course or consent of the instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GSF438S</td>
<td>438S</td>
<td>Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction</td>
<td>Course examines global Science Fiction genres in literature, film, and social media as case studies to understand broad historical and social formations of Otherness, the Alien, Citizenship, (Im)migration. Studies racial assumptions in popular culture, domestic and international law, discourse of the human and human rights, science and technology industries, and other disciplines. Explores interdisciplinary intersections of race, gender, sexuality, class, and geopolitical divisions and interactions in Asian/American Studies and Postcolonial Studies from the past to the present.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF439</td>
<td>439</td>
<td>Queer China</td>
<td>Examines queer discourses, cultures, and social formations in China, Greater China, and the global Chinese diaspora from the late imperial period to the present. Course will focus on cultural representations, particularly literary and cinematic, but will also consider a wide array of historical, anthropological, sociological, and theoretical materials.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF460S</td>
<td>460S</td>
<td>Weil, Beauvoir, Murdoch: Three Women Philosophers in Mid-Twentieth Century Europe</td>
<td>Simone Weil (1909-44), Simone de Beauvoir (1908-86), and Iris Murdoch (1919-99) are towering figures in the history of European philosophy. Yet they have all, in different ways, become somewhat marginal to the philosophical mainstream. All three wrote on ethics. Weil wrote on labor, society, affliction, and grace. Beauvoir wrote novels, memoirs, and The Second Sex, a groundbreaking feminist analysis of women’s situation. Inspired by Weil, Murdoch wrote about attention and the good and became one of the UKs leading novelists. The course will introduce students to their writing across genres, and situate their work about their respective national traditions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GSF490</td>
<td>490</td>
<td>Advanced Topics in Women's Studies</td>
<td>Lecture version of GSF 490S.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
GSF490S - Advanced Topics in Women's Studies

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
490S

Title
Advanced Topics in Women's Studies

Description
Topics vary, focusing on advanced interdisciplinary work arising from feminist scholarship.

---

GSF493 - Honors Independent Study

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
493

Title
Honors Independent Study

Description
Open to students pursuing distinction. Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to seniors. Consent of instructor and program director required.

---

GSF499S - Senior Seminar in Women's Studies

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
499S

Title
Senior Seminar in Women's Studies

Description
Advanced research course for majors in Women's Studies. Topics vary by semester. Students produce a significant research paper. Consent of instructor required.

---

GSF80S - Special Topics in Writing

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
80S

Title
Special Topics in Writing

Description
Various topics with diverse readings and intensive writing.

---

GSF89S - First-Year Seminar in Gender Studies

Subject
GSF

Catalog Number
89S

Title
First-Year Seminar in Gender Studies

Description
New concepts and themes in gender and feminist studies. Topics may vary each semester.

---

HEBREW101 - Elementary Modern Hebrew

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number
101

Title
Elementary Modern Hebrew

Description
Introduction to speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew.

---

HEBREW102 - Elementary Modern Hebrew

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number
102

Title
Elementary Modern Hebrew

Description
Continuation of Hebrew 101. Introduction to speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew. Prerequisite: Hebrew 101 or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HEBREW203</td>
<td>203</td>
<td>Intermediate Modern Hebrew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEBREW204</td>
<td>204</td>
<td>Intermediate Modern Hebrew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEBREW305S</td>
<td>305S</td>
<td>Advanced Modern Hebrew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEBREW306S</td>
<td>306S</td>
<td>Advanced Modern Hebrew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEBREW391</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEBREW455S</td>
<td>455S</td>
<td>Introduction to Israeli Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

HEBREW203 - Intermediate Modern Hebrew

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number 203

Title
Intermediate Modern Hebrew

Description
Continuation of Hebrew 102. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the intermediate level; exploring Israeli culture through texts and other media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 102 or equivalent.

HEBREW204 - Intermediate Modern Hebrew

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number
204

Title
Intermediate Modern Hebrew

Description
Continuation of Hebrew 203. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the intermediate level; exploring Israeli culture through texts and other media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 203 or equivalent.

HEBREW305S - Advanced Modern Hebrew

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number
305S

Title
Advanced Modern Hebrew

Description
Continuation of Hebrew 204. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the advanced level; exploring Israeli culture through critical reading of literary texts (prose and poetry) and other contemporary media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 204 or equivalent.

HEBREW306S - Advanced Modern Hebrew

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number
306S

Title
Advanced Modern Hebrew

Description
Continuation of Hebrew 204 and/or 305S. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the advanced level; exploring Israeli culture through critical reading of literary texts (prose and poetry) and other contemporary media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 204 or equivalent.

HEBREW391 - Independent Study

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number 391

Title
Independent Study

Description
Individual study of language for conducting research involving sources written or spoken in the language. Students have to submit a proposal describing the purported research, types of sources to be analyzed, and kinds of language knowledge or skills they need to be equipped with. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

HEBREW455S - Introduction to Israeli Culture

Subject
HEBREW

Catalog Number
455S

Title
Introduction to Israeli Culture

Description
Historical survey of Israeli culture from 1948 to the present. All reading materials and class discussion in Hebrew. Prerequisite: Hebrew 306 or above, or placement test or instructor’s consent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HINDI101</td>
<td>Elementary Hindi</td>
<td>HINDI</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>Elementary Hindi</td>
<td>This course will provide students with knowledge and understanding of the Hindi language and Indian culture. The major goal is to develop practical ability to communicate in Hindi for day-to-day needs. Topics include the Hindi script, basic grammar and sentence structure, and development of language skills in reading, writing, listening, and speaking. No previous knowledge of Hindi required. This is a service-learning course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HINDI102</td>
<td>Elementary Hindi</td>
<td>HINDI</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Elementary Hindi</td>
<td>This course continues with practice in the Hindi script, basic grammar, and sentence structure, including past and future tenses. The focus is on developing practical skills in Hindi through speaking, listening, reading, and writing. This is a service-learning course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Prerequisite: Hindi 101 or a placement test.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HINDI203D</td>
<td>Intermediate Hindi</td>
<td>HINDI</td>
<td>203D</td>
<td>Intermediate Hindi</td>
<td>Students will practice all language skills, including reading, writing, listening, and speaking. Students will learn to communicate and describe their surroundings in all tenses, follow Bollywood movies, short stories, and news articles. The focus is on Indian culture and diversity. This is a service-learning course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Prerequisite: Hindi 102 or a placement test.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HINDI204D</td>
<td>Intermediate Hindi</td>
<td>HINDI</td>
<td>204D</td>
<td>Intermediate Hindi</td>
<td>Students will advance in all language skills, including reading, writing, listening, and speaking. Authentic materials such as magazines, newspapers, TV serials, stories, and movies will be used frequently to practice Hindi grammar and vocabulary. This is a service-learning course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Prerequisite: Hindi 203 or a placement test.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HINDI270T-4</td>
<td>Voices in Global Health: Hindi Tutorial</td>
<td>HINDI</td>
<td>270T-4</td>
<td>Voices in Global Health: Hindi Tutorial</td>
<td>Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, visual texts, and interviews in the target language, Voices in Global Health examines emerging health challenges at the local and global level. Through the experiences and knowledge shared from our guest speakers, we will explore the underlying health behaviors and cultural beliefs while producing culturally appropriate health interventions. Tutorials meet weekly for 75-minutes. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of language or equivalent – heritage and native speakers are welcome to enroll. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Community-engaged course.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HINDI305</td>
<td>Advanced Hindi</td>
<td>HINDI</td>
<td>305</td>
<td>Advanced Hindi</td>
<td>Proficiency in reading, writing, and speaking. Prerequisite: Hindi 204 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HINDI306 - Advanced Hindi

Subject | Catalog Number | Title | Description
---|---|---|---
HINDI | 306 | Advanced Hindi | Continuation of Hindi 305. Prerequisite: Hindi 305 or equivalent.

HINDI391 - Independent Study

Subject | Catalog Number | Title | Description
---|---|---|---
HINDI | 391 | Independent Study | Individual study of language for conducting research involving sources written or spoken in the language. Students have to submit a proposal describing the purported research, types of sources to be analyzed, and kinds of language knowledge or skills they need to be equipped with. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

HINDI391-1 - Independent Study

Subject | Catalog Number | Title | Description
---|---|---|---
HINDI | 391-1 | Independent Study | Individual study of language for conducting research involving sources written or spoken in the language. Students have to submit a proposal describing the purported research, types of sources to be analyzed, and kinds of language knowledge or skills they need to be equipped with. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

HINDI407S - Issues in Hindi Language and Society II

Subject | Catalog Number | Title | Description
---|---|---|---
HINDI | 407S | Issues in Hindi Language and Society II | Readings in prevailing literary and mass media forms. Prerequisite: Hindi 306 or consent of instructor.

HINDI408S - Issues in Hindi Language and Society II

Subject | Catalog Number | Title | Description
---|---|---|---
HINDI | 408S | Issues in Hindi Language and Society II | Continuation of Hindi 407S. Prerequisite: Hindi 306 or consent of instructor.

HISTORY101 - Introduction to Global History

Subject | Catalog Number | Title | Description
---|---|---|---
HISTORY | 101 | Introduction to Global History | Explore problems in the history of globalization. Learn how contemporary problems and opportunities of globalization reflect long-term processes marked by patterns, interruptions, and continuities even within radical change. Asia, Europe and Africa have been interconnected since the Bronze Age. Trade, microbes, political power and religions formed then, as today, the principal matrix in which interdependence and conflict developed. In what ways is the environmental and climate crisis today different from that of the Little Ice Age? Can technology continue to allow humans to conquer nature so we that may keep expanding resources on an exhausted earth? What alternatives exist globally?
HISTORY102 - Introduction to Modern African History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Introduction to Modern African History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course is an introduction to the fascinating and tumultuous last two centuries of the history of Africa. It is divided into three chronological sections: Unit 1: Africa in the Nineteenth Century (c. 1800-1880), Unit 2: The Era of European Domination (c. 1880-1960), and Unit 3: Modern Independent Africa (c. 1960-present).

HISTORY103 - Critical Approaches to Global Issues

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>103</td>
<td>Critical Approaches to Global Issues</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to critical transnational studies through several disciplinary approaches. Examines capitalism and neo-liberal globalization and their relationships to culture, politics, economics, and other social forms and outcomes; considers transnationalism 'from below'; addresses linear and Western-centric thinking about progress and modernity; focuses a historical lens on political discourses, institutions, and projects to understand them contextually; demonstrates how cultures and identities are dynamically constituted in interaction with historical, material, political, and situational factors; considers how different inequalities and contestations inflect most social formations.

HISTORY105 - Old Worlds/New Histories, 500-1500 CE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>105</td>
<td>Old Worlds/New Histories, 500-1500 CE</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
New approaches to history of the world from ca. 500 to 1500 CE. Examines the world before European hegemony. Topics may include nature of autonomous centers of production around the globe; characteristics of trade, empire, science, technology, and high culture across Asia, the Middle East, Africa and the Americas; diffusion of inventions, ideas, cultures and religions through travel, trade, state and empire building. Readings and films explore diverse cosmopolitan worlds before the coming of modernity.

HISTORY106 - Science and the Modern World: Introduction to the History of Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>106</td>
<td>Science and the Modern World: Introduction to the History of Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course surveys the history of science from the sixteenth century through the present day. It addresses science not just as a body of knowledge and methods but as a cultural activity that has shaped and been shaped by modern global history. Topics will range across physical sciences, life sciences, earth and environmental sciences, and social sciences. This course takes a global perspective, with emphasis on parallels, differences, and interconnections among ways of knowing nature in different places and times, as well as the role of specific materials, environments, technologies, and practical problems in the development of modern science.
HISTORY108 - History of Rock: Rhythm & Blues and Rock & Roll to Indie Rock and Hip-Hop

Subject          Catalog Number  Title
HISTORY          108               History of Rock: Rhythm & Blues and Rock & Roll to Indie Rock and Hip-Hop

Description
The history of rock music from the 1950s to the present. Beginning with its roots in rhythm and blues, country and western, and commercial pop, examination of diverse musical styles, artists and bands, and the many historical, technological, and cultural factors that have contributed to the rise and popularity of rock music.

HISTORY111FS - History of Global Health

Subject          Catalog Number  Title
HISTORY          111FS             History of Global Health

Description
Medicine has long been a global undertaking, and knowing its history prepares us to address emerging health crises. This Focus course begins with the coronavirus pandemic and the first major infectious disease epidemics that emerged from increased trade and warfare: plague and smallpox. Critical analysis of colonial medicine reveals reasons for ongoing inequalities in global health today. We analyze smallpox, cholera and schistosomiasis eradication programs and consider the importance of basic hygiene and safe childbirth. The core text examines the role of stigma in global health today. Your work will include an individual research paper on a topic you choose.

HISTORY112 - Sexual Pleasure in the Modern World

Subject          Catalog Number  Title
HISTORY          112               Sexual Pleasure in the Modern World

Description
Interdisciplinary study of ways societies around the globe have understood sexual pleasure. Investigates ethics of the manners in which people have explored sexual pleasure and ways that such pleasure relates to creation of the modern person. Emphasizes effects of colonialism and development of race in relation to sexuality. Includes an extensive discussion of pornography, sexual fantasy, orgasm and virtual sex, asking how sexual pleasure relates to histories of danger and violence.

HISTORY113 - Introduction to the History of Medicine

Subject          Catalog Number  Title
HISTORY          113               Introduction to the History of Medicine

Description
Covers the history of western medicine from Ancient Greece to the 21st century. Students will engage with primary and secondary sources that expose the varied understandings of health, disease causation, and treatment that have prevailed over time. As an introductory course with no prerequisites, this class welcomes all students with an interest in history, health, and disease, while assuming no prior medical or scientific knowledge. It illuminates the trajectory of western medicine from the humors of Hippocrates to the genetic medicine of today.

HISTORY114 - Intro to the History of Modern Warfare

Subject          Catalog Number  Title
HISTORY          114               Intro to the History of Modern Warfare

Description
The course covers the history of warfare since the end of the eighteenth century. Our explorations focus on the nature and aims of European and US pursuits of war and the practices, languages, and experiences of its participants. We will pay special attention to the different ways in which military and civilian populations became the subjects and objects of warfare in the modern age.

HISTORY116 - Introduction to Human Rights: Gateway for the Human Rights Certificate

Subject          Catalog Number  Title
HISTORY          116               Introduction to Human Rights: Gateway for the Human Rights Certificate

Description
This is the Gateway course for the Human Rights Certificate. Students are introduced to the history, theory, practice of, and current issues in human rights. The course is interdisciplinary.

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 117
Title: Renaissance & Revolution: Religion, Science, and Politics in Europe, 1400-1800

Description
A survey of Europe between approx. 1440-1750 that highlights changes in European society including the end of the Renaissance, the Reformation, the Scientific Revolution and the European encounter with other regions of the world.

HISTORY119FS - Religious Freedom in America: A Legal History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 119FS
Title: Religious Freedom in America: A Legal History

Description
This course introduces students to the major texts and historical arguments concerning religious liberty in the United States. We will place key constitutional texts and cases into a chronologically organized historical framework, covering: European precedents to English settlement, the colonial period, nation-making and the Constitution, the early national period of religious revival and expansion, the Civil War and 14th Amendment, Mormonism, fundamentalism and secularism in the Progressive Era, WWII and religious pacifism, The Cold War, the 1960s and school prayer, the rise of the Religious Right, and recent cases involving religious freedom. Only offered in the FOCUS program.

HISTORY120 - History of American Democracy

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 120
Title: History of American Democracy

Description
This course explores the sweep of US political history. In the process, it encourages participants to think critically about what ‘democracy’ is, how it works, and what its vulnerabilities are. We look at the history of electoral politics in the United States, exploring the ways in which politicians have both empowered and disempowered voters. We examine grass-roots efforts to gain greater power in shaping common life—and attempts to suppress those efforts. Throughout, we explore how people’s concepts of ‘democracy’ have clashed and changed, and we examine how past conflicts have given rise to the political crises and opportunities of our own time.

HISTORY121 - Introduction to Contemporary Latin America

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 121
Title: Introduction to Contemporary Latin America

Description
This is an introductory, interdisciplinary survey course on modern Latin America focusing on contemporary social issues especially from the past five years. Each week will be dedicated to a different social problematic, including: political indigeneity; the legacy of African slavery; feminism and femicide; drug wars; migration and border issues; student movements; neoliberalism and resource struggles; and ecological contestation. Weekly meetings are driven by reading discussion, with context provided in lectures. You will conduct independent research in at least one group presentation and one final project. Required for students seeking the certificate in Latin American Studies.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY122</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>122</td>
<td>History of Latinxs in the United States</td>
<td>This introductory course will cover the social, cultural, and political histories of Latino/as in the United States from 1848 to the present including the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the Great Depression, WWII, the creation of Latino/a civil rights organizations, and the civil wars and free trade agreements of the 1980s and 1990s that have spurred so much of contemporary migration. Themes include colonialism and conquest, sexuality and gender, race and ethnicity, transnationalism and migration, social inequality and practices of resistance. This class will highlight the diversity of the Latino/a experience—focusing on the history of Afro-Latino/as, queer Latino/as, and undocumented Latino/as.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY123</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>123</td>
<td>Private Wealth and Public Giving: A Modern History</td>
<td>Surveys the entangled relationship between private wealth and public giving over the past few centuries of capitalist modernity in Asia, Europe, and the United States. Explores how the entrepreneurial impulse to make money has also been shadowed by the ethical imperative to give it away. Analysis of the circumstances and contexts in which the apparent altruism of givers is also motivated by self-interest. The major topics include study of religious giving; the historical roots of philanthropy in the age of imperialism; the evolution of ideas of ‘Trusteeship’ and ‘creative capitalism;’ gender and philanthropy; and ‘celebrity’ philanthropy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY124</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>124</td>
<td>History of the Present</td>
<td>Examines the history of the past forty years, focusing on the United States in a global context. Themes might include: globalization, inequality, the rise of the alt-right, climate change, the internet, and the emergence of finance and consulting. Prepares students to think historically about their own world, and gives them the opportunity to use historical methods to think about the forces shaping their lives, their families, and their potential careers. Draws on a wide variety of sources and genres: alongside more traditional academic readings, students might be exposed to digital storytelling, journalism, television, and video games.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY125S</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>125S</td>
<td>The Documentary Experience: A Video Approach</td>
<td>A documentary approach to the study of local communities through video production projects assigned by the course instructor. Working closely with these groups, students explore issues or topics of concern to the community. Students complete an edited video as their final project. Not open to students who have taken this course as Film/Video/Digital 105S.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY126S</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>126S</td>
<td>Introduction to Oral History</td>
<td>Introductory oral history fieldwork seminar. Oral history theory and methodology, including debates within the discipline. Components and problems of oral history interviewing as well as different kinds of oral history writing.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY127FS</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>127FS</td>
<td>Globalization and Corporate Citizenship</td>
<td>Are corporations citizens? And if so who defines their rights and responsibilities? To whom are they obligated? This course will critically examine the origins and diffusion of increasingly prevalent notions of corporate citizenship and corporate social responsibility from an anthropological perspective. Particular emphasis will be upon corporate environmental and conservation policies in East Africa and the United States. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Director of undergraduate studies consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HISTORY128 - War and Society in the Middle Ages and Renaissance

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
128

Title
War and Society in the Middle Ages and Renaissance

Description
An introduction to war and society from about 500 to 1600 in western Europe. This course looks at the sources of conflict and the ways warrior identity and violence generally were culturally supported. The course will emphasize reading in primary sources, including documents and literature.

HISTORY129 - Introduction to African Studies (DS3 or DS4)

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
129

Title
Introduction to African Studies (DS3 or DS4)

Description
A range of disciplinary perspectives on key topics in contemporary African Studies: nationalism and pan-Africanism, imperialism and colonialism, genocide and famine, development and democratization, art and music, age and gender.

HISTORY130D - American Dreams and American Realities

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
1300

Title
American Dreams and American Realities

Description
Examines the role of such myths as ‘rags to riches,’ ‘beacon to the world,’ ‘the frontier’ and ‘foreign devil’ in defining the American character and determining hopes, fears, dreams, and actions throughout American History. Attention given to the surface consistency of these myths as accepted by each immigrant group versus the shifting content of the myths as they change to reflect the hopes and values of each of these groups.

HISTORY135 - Silk Roads and China, Ancient and Medieval Transformations

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number 135

Title
Silk Roads and China, Ancient and Medieval Transformations

Description
The Silk Roads are the oldest and longest routes of cultural communication and economic exchange connecting Asia, Europe and Africa. In use since the days of Alexander the Great, the Roads and its rail networks now extend from China to England, connecting 70 countries and forming a vital system. This course introduces the ancient to early modern histories, cultures, and religions of the Silk Roads anchored in four themes: Alexander’s empire; life in medieval cities of Chang’an, Baghdad and Constantinople; Silk Roads religions and the interactions of Buddhism, Christianity, Judaism and Islam; and the Mongol empire visited through the travels of Marco Polo.
HISTORY138 - From Stalin to Putin: The Art of Dictatorship

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 138
Title: From Stalin to Putin: The Art of Dictatorship

Description:
When the Soviet Union ceased to exist, many believed that Russia's history of autocratic rule might finally end. Today Russia under Putin appears to be retreating from democracy. Putin's rule is routinely compared to a dictatorship. The Soviet most notorious dictator, Stalin is being rehabilitated by the Russian establishment. This course traces the history of modern Russian politics from Stalin to Putin and examines how such completely ordinary individuals managed to amass the kind of power that is best described dictatorial. It examines the complex evolution of communist and post-Soviet leadership. The course is comparative and draws on Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy as case studies.

HISTORY140S - Empires in Modern European History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 140S
Title: Empires in Modern European History

Description:
An introduction to political theories of imperialism and a comparative historical analysis of several European empires. Explores questions of nationalism, race, religious pluralism, state formation, globalization, and international governance. Readings drawn from history, sociology, anthropology, and political science.

HISTORY143S - Gateway Seminar: The History of the U.S. South

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 143S
Title: Gateway Seminar: The History of the U.S. South

Description:
This course examines the history of the South from the colonial era to the present. The first part traces the rise of the plantation economy based on human bondage, the slaves' wars and other abolition movements, the Civil War, emancipation, and the destruction of the most powerful slaveholding society in the Atlantic world. The second part traces postwar efforts to build a democratic South, the rise of the Jim Crow system of segregation and disfranchisement, class struggles, the civil rights and abolition movements of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries, and southern culture. Students will acquire analytical and research skills using primary documents.

HISTORY150S - Birth of the West: Thinking about the Greek Origins of Western Civilization

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 150S
Title: Birth of the West: Thinking about the Greek Origins of Western Civilization

Description:
Have you ever wondered about the many ways in which those in the West look back to the Greeks for the origins of civilization? There is a breathtaking array of such 'beginnings' claimed by the Greeks, such as the invention of the alphabet, the first staged drama, the rise of formal logic and philosophy, democracy, realistic sculpture, the conventions of writing history (historiography), and much else. In this course, we will think through these claims to cultural 'origins,' seeking both to learn and understand the narratives passed down to us, and to thoughtfully interrogate those narratives. An introductory course: no prior knowledge required.
HISTORY152S - Gateway Seminar: History at Sea

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 152S
Title: Gateway Seminar: History at Sea

Description:
Maritime history through examination of ships, shipping, and shipboard communities. Topics addressed include shipboard language, labor, rituals, technology, aesthetics, and power, as well as free and forced maritime migrations. Discussion of the ways ships and shipping created the world in which we live.

HISTORY156S - Gateway Seminar: Cold War America

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 156S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Cold War America

Description:
A gateway seminar designed to introduce undergraduates to historical analysis, research, and writing through study of one of the most gripping and hotly debated periods of modern history: the early Cold War contest between the US and the USSR. The course will examine both foreign relations and domestic life, with a focus on the searing impact of a politics of fear. We will explore areas ranging from the dropping of the atomic bomb to McCarthyism, from the crippling of the civil rights movement and the purge of gays from government employment to the devastating 1950s interventions in Iran, Guatemala, and Vietnam.

HISTORY157S - Gateway Seminar: Empires in Historical Perspective

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 157S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Empires in Historical Perspective

Description:
Study of modern empires in historical comparative-connective perspective. Approaches, methods, themes include social history from below, maritime history, history of technology, debates about the ethicality of war, occupation and regime change in sovereign territories. Final research paper involving intensive primary-source research, extensive use of secondary and on-line sources for the study of empires.

HISTORY160S - Gateway Seminar: The Global Sixties: Race, Revolution, Sexuality

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 160S
Title: Gateway Seminar: The Global Sixties: Race, Revolution, Sexuality

Description:
The 1960s in global context, focusing particularly on Europe, Latin America, and the United States. The rise of mass movements dedicated to racial, economic, and sexual justice, against the backdrop of Cold War and decolonization. The mobilization of music, film, and the body in the service of revolution, with attention also to the global backlash and the rise of a new conservatism. Course materials include memoirs, speeches, political treatises, and cultural artifacts from the period.
HISTORY161S - Gateway Seminar: How to Do History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 161S
Title: Gateway Seminar: How to Do History

Description: Examines innovative approaches to researching and writing history. Addresses key methodological issues, including techniques historians use to interpret the past and the political stakes. Topics include critical approaches to race, gender, and colonialism. How do historians construct their objects of study? What count as primary sources? How do we read them critically? How do historians formulate analytic questions and arguments? What narrative techniques do they use? What are the stages of a research project? Emphasis on primary research and writing in second half of course. Students conduct original research in archives of their choice; workshop; and write research papers.

HISTORY162S - Gateway Seminar: Asia in Global History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 162S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Asia in Global History

Description: The goal of the course is to first explore the most important networks and flows that connected the Asian region to the Eurasian world since the ancient Silk Route and the spread of Buddhism through the new dynamics of the Early Modern World—16th to 18th centuries. The second part of the course probes the new dynamics that integrated Asian societies through Western capitalism and imperial forces in the 19th and 20th centuries. It will also cover the 'rise of Asia' in the current era of globalization.

HISTORY164S - Gateway Seminar - Antisemitism: Ethnicity, Race, Religion, Culture

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 164S
Title: Gateway Seminar - Antisemitism: Ethnicity, Race, Religion, Culture

Description: Focuses on selected anti-Judaic and antisemitic episodes from ancient antiquity through modern times, paying attention to both antisemitic texts and events. It evaluates competing theoretical frameworks for understanding antisemitism as ethnic, racial, religious, and cultural phenomenon. Can antisemitism be understood as part of the history of racism or of other forms of ethnic hatred? Why were Jews so often the target of hatred? How did both Jews and antisemites view their relations with each other? How do historians understand them? If there is limited continuity among antisemitic episodes, how can the prevalence and repetitiveness of antisemitism be explained?

HISTORY165S - Gateway Seminar: Environments in Crisis

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 165S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Environments in Crisis

Description: Understandings of human-environment relationships have been forged in moments of crisis: natural and human-made disasters, technological failures, political disputes, scientific controversies. This course addresses science, technology, and the environment in historical perspective through focused studies of environmental crises. We will learn to sort out the complex dynamics of nature, knowledge, ethics, and power wrapped up in environmental crises, the scientific and political stakes of past arguments over what is and isn't a crisis, and how understandings of environmental crisis both shape and are shaped by specific social, cultural, and political contexts (including our own).
HISTORY166S - Gateway Seminar - Anarchism and its Discontents

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 166S
Title: Gateway Seminar - Anarchism and its Discontents

Description
Introduction to the 19th century philosophical foundations of anarchist thought and to the history of the major anarchist movements in the 20th century in Russia, Italy and Spain. The first part of the course is an intensive investigation of the thought of Michael Bakunin, Pierre-Joseph Proudhon, Leo Tolstoy and Peter Kropotkin using selections from their own writings. The next unit focuses on the movements they inspired in Russia and Western Europe. The last unit concerns the more contemporary manifestations of anarchism in the U.S. under the influence of Murray Bookchin. Students will write a major paper due at the end of the course.

HISTORY167S - Gateway Seminar: Nationalism: Ideology, Technology, Globalization

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 167S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Nationalism: Ideology, Technology, Globalization

Description
What is a nation? What is a nation state? Is the nation state still a useful unit of government today? The goal of this seminar is to teach you the theoretical and methodological tools and historical examples to critically think about nationalism in globalization. Readings include primary sources, classic theories on nationalism, fresh arguments from sociology and anthropology. The historical and contemporary case studies include American, Middle Eastern, South Asian, and European examples.

HISTORY168S - Gateway Seminar: How to Read a Map: The History of Cartography

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 168S
Title: Gateway Seminar: How to Read a Map: The History of Cartography

Description
History and theory of cartography, from the ancient to the modern world. Maps as subjects of historical inquiry, sources for historical research, and ways of expressing historical argument. Space, geography, and history. Scientific, technological, economic, religious, political, artistic, social, literary, cultural, and global contexts for the production, design, dissemination, and consumption of cartography. As a History gateway, course also introduces students to various approaches to historical research method, including the development of research questions, the use of historical evidence, and the visual and written expression of historical narrative and argument.

HISTORY169FS - Heroes and Villains: Dissidence in the Middle East

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 169FS
Title: Heroes and Villains: Dissidence in the Middle East

Description
Considering the historical culture of disobedience in the Middle East and the significant actors as superheroes and villains depending on the time and their affiliations. Investigating how the dissident voices are constructed and performed from pre-modern esoteric practices in dervish convents, or coffee houses to print culture and social media in modern times. Discussing major themes such as protest and propaganda, censorship and self-censorship, and surveillance and counter-surveillance through films, poetry, graphic novels, and music.
HISTORY170FS - Beyond Denial - A Thriving Future

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 170FS
Title: Beyond Denial - A Thriving Future

Description
Part of the Focus cluster 'It's Not Too Late to Build a Better World,' requires permission. What are the roots of the climate crisis or unparalleled inequality? This course explores big ideas as well as specific models that envision a radically different future, one that provides for the common good within our given biophysical limits, including discourses such as post-growth, wellbeing, and care economics; eco-feminism; eco-anarchism; decolonization; ecological justice; and commoning. A reading and discussion intensive course that uses an interdisciplinary approach and includes elements of research, individual and group presentations, as well as a writing requirement.

HISTORY171S - Gateway Seminar: History of Intimacy: Family, Friendship, Romance

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 171S
Title: Gateway Seminar: History of Intimacy: Family, Friendship, Romance

Description
Examines how changing definitions of friendship, family structure, childhood, romantic love, gender roles, and sexual orientation shaped identity formation, social conflict, and cultural production through time. Course materials include letters, diaries, autobiographies, novels, government documents, and films, in addition to academic articles and books. Students produce final projects based in original research and significant secondary reading. Time period and geographical focus varies with instructor.

HISTORY175S - Gateway Seminar - The United States and the World

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 175S
Title: Gateway Seminar - The United States and the World

Description
Research and discussion seminar examining the place of America in the wider world, and ethical underpinnings of American expansion. Explores how Americans have viewed and defined themselves in relation to numerous 'others.' Investigates how and why a sense of mission has driven cultural, political, and geographic expansion.

HISTORY177S - Gateway Seminar: The Meaning of Freedom in American History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 177S
Title: Gateway Seminar: The Meaning of Freedom in American History

Description
Focus on American conflicts over the meaning of 'freedom' or 'liberty.' Examination of changing definitions over time, and appraisal of the role that conflicts over 'freedom' play in defining American identity and politics in the present. Course readings (mostly primary sources) introduce students to central disputes over meanings of 'freedom' in American history, and student papers will also investigate conflicts or ideas about liberty.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY179S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Capitalism &amp; Its Critics</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>179S</td>
<td>Surveys major advocates, critics, and reformers of capitalism, from Adam Smith, Charles Dickens, and Karl Marx to contemporary champions and opponents of 'free market' reform.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY182S</td>
<td>The Law in Slavery and Freedom</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>182S</td>
<td>This course focuses on the relationship between slavery, race, and the law. It explores the dimensions and variability of the formal law of slavery, how it addressed the category of slave, codified the powers of slaveholders, and interacted with politics and culture to shape the institution of slavery and the making of the ideology of race. We will study primary documents such as trial transcripts, appellate opinions, treatises, codes, first-person narratives, and secondary work by legal scholars and historians. The course supports the development of skills in critical inquiry, research, and writing leading to the production of a final project based in original research.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY183S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Civil Rights and Asian Americans</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>183S</td>
<td>Study of crucial legal and political moments in the struggle for equal civil rights of minorities, beginning with the laws of Chinese Exclusion, the struggle to define who was 'White,' the Asian Immigration Exclusion Acts, the relationships of Asians and African Americans and the struggle for equal schooling in the American South, the Japanese Concentration camps, the Redress and Reparations Civil Rights struggle, and the involvement of Asians Americans in the African American-led Civil Rights Movement in the 1960s, including working with Martin Luther King and Malcolm X, and Asian Americans in the anti-sweatshop unionization movement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY185S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Disease in the Premodern World</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>185S</td>
<td>Using primary sources students will explore the impact, management and changing definitions of disease in various pre-modern societies. We look at disease in the context of encounters, environmental change and state formation between 100 and 1700CE. Not just understood as a biological phenomenon, disease can also work as signifying system, creating status hierarchies and highlighting particular social and political anxieties. Through the study of five or six historical epidemics, students will learn how to create historical resources out of medical sources.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>186S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Living Through the Great War</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course examines experiences of participants in World War I, known as the Great War: why did they go to war willingly at first, and how did they come to terms with its absurdity and horror? Examines what the war means to us, 100 years later. Read letters, poetry, novels and memoirs and see films made by participants in the war and from later eras. Serves as an introduction to historical research and writing. Includes a variety of research and writing tasks, both formal and informal, which enable students to engage with the work of others and articulate a position with regard to historical interpretations.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>187S</td>
<td>Political Culture in Africa</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This course examines the history of political institutions in Africa. Beginning with pre-colonial political formations in a variety of African contexts, ranging from small-scale societies to large multi-ethnic states, it then examine the question of how European colonialism impacted existing African political culture and introduced or transformed institutions of governance, before moving to consider the political history of post-colonial Africa.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>188S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: The Price of Sex: Gender and the Global Political Economy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Explores how sex and gender have shaped economic policies and opportunities in different settings, particularly in the modern era (19th, 20th, and 21st centuries). Will focus on public policies and normative practices at the local, national, and international levels. As a gateway seminar for the history major, will focus on developing an understanding of historiography and methodology culminating in a prospectus for a future research project.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>189S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Slavery and Its Afterlives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Examines the history of American slavery and the legacies of slavery in the present. Focus on slavery as a system of labor, law, race, kinship, knowledge, space, culture, property, and reproduction that affected all areas of American development. Considers the role of slavery in political debates about reparations, Confederate monuments, and critical race theory.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>190A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Topics differ by section.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HISTORY190FS - Topics in Focus Program

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Topics in Focus Program

Description: Open only to students in the Focus Program. Current list of courses available in the Focus program brochure and online.

HISTORY190S - Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in History

Description: Topics vary from semester to semester.

HISTORY190SA - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 190SA
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in History

Description: Seminar version of History 190A. Topics differ by section.

HISTORY191L - Independent Study: Digital India Lab

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 191L
Title: Independent Study: Digital India Lab

Description: A digital humanities course for pursuing projects related to South Asia; students pursue any digital project of their choice related to Indian history, culture, literature, religion and politics; topics to be approved by instructor; no prerequisites, although having taken a South Asia course on campus recommended.

HISTORY193S - Islam, Art, and Society

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 193S
Title: Islam, Art, and Society

Description: Explores the historic interweaving of theology, spirituality, art, architecture, mathematics, & astronomy in the beautification of everyday objects & lived spaces. It examines how underlying principles of beauty and geometry shaped places such as hospitals, palaces, gardens, colleges, mosques, inns, and Sufi lodges as well as their historical functions in Muslim societies. Students also study and reconstruct historic examples of artistic patterns. A rotating variety of case studies across Afro-Eurasia may include sites and cultural artifacts from Bukhara, Cairo, Cordoba, Damascus, Delhi, Fes, Granada, Guangzhou, Hyderabad, Istanbul, Isfahan, Jerusalem, Malacca, Samarqand, Timbuktu & more.

HISTORY196S - Imagining Human Rights: Science Fiction, Culture, and the Creation of Rights

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 196S
Title: Imagining Human Rights: Science Fiction, Culture, and the Creation of Rights

Description: This course engages students in the intersection of speculative fiction and the history of ideas about human rights and what it means to be human. Using interdisciplinary tools, including history, anthropology, and public policy, students will explore created worlds and new ways of thinking about what rights humans—and other beings—have, how those rights are proposed, and what happens when those rights are contested. The course focuses on how the imaginary influences or presages the real, allowing us to experiment with what-ifs. Students will work in Duke’s Locus Archives of primary documents on 20th-century science fiction spanning writers from China, the USSR, and Japan.
HISTORY197S - Gateway Seminar: Environment, Energy, Climate Change

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>197S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Environment, Energy, Climate Change</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Gateway Seminar. Exploration of human relationships with the natural world from prehistory to the present. Course examines the discovery of fire, the domestication of plants and animals, the extraction of minerals and energy, the design of petrochemicals, and the result – splitting of atoms along with waste left behind. We pay particular attention to environmental impacts ranging from deforestation to glacial melting, and consider linkages to broader cultural processes, like religion, colonialism, and (anti)capitalism. Seminar uses case studies, hands-on activities, and collaborative research to demonstrate the application of historical knowledge to societal problems.

---

HISTORY198 - Introduction to Asian American History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>198</td>
<td>Introduction to Asian American History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

An introduction to the historical experiences of the diverse communities of Asian America, from the mid-19th century to the early 21st century. Topics will include migration, immigration law, experiences of war, community formation, and political activism. Students will also gain experience working with primary sources.

---

HISTORY201 - Globalization and History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>201</td>
<td>Globalization and History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examination of globalization issues in a historical perspective. Reviews phenomena, institutions, e.g. empires, states, religion, corporation, and international agencies, and policies which enabled exchange of commodities, people, and cultures. Explores empirical evidence on growth and development for different world regions and historians' and social scientists' interpretations. Examines benefit of maintaining fine balance between quantitative evidence and historical analysis in assessing waning international integration of societies, markets, and cultures from first wave of European expansion to the present.

---

HISTORY202 - Gender and Socialism

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>202</td>
<td>Gender and Socialism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

History of socialist feminism as a global political movement and philosophical-theoretical tradition with a special focus on its divergent national trajectories and conflict-ridden relationship with liberal feminism and socialist and communist movements and governments in Europe, Russia, China and US since the nineteenth century; offers an overview of European, Russian, Chinese and US history of the last two centuries; includes exploration of principles and aspirations that informed socialist theory of modern society, social justice, family, motherhood, parenthood, sexual difference, gender equality as well as public policies and legislation instituted or informed by the socialist tradition.
HISTORY203 - History of Global Health

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 203
Title: History of Global Health

Description:
The course begins with the development of ancient medicine in Europe & China, and continues into the rise of biomedicine (e.g., laboratory science & microbiology) in the 19th and 20th centuries. Particular diseases illustrate important themes, such as the role of warfare in medical developments, the creation of international policy to control disease, and how non-Western societies intersected biomedicine. We trace global circulations of people and commodities to show how international agencies, charities, and governing bodies have spread both disease and the means to fight it. Medicine has always been a global undertaking, and its history prepares us to address emerging health crises.

HISTORY204 - Modern Africa

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Modern Africa

Description:
Focuses on African history in the twentieth century. Explores the history of European colonialism, African nationalism, and the roots of contemporary African issues ranging from conflict and governance to social and cultural effects of economic transformations, pandemic diseases, and environmental degradation.

HISTORY205 - Health and Healing in Africa

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 205
Title: Health and Healing in Africa

Description:
Examines how various communities in Africa have experienced, perceived, and treated maladies from the precolonial era to the present time. Places illness and therapy in specific historical contexts. Topics include hunger and famine; ‘old world’ diseases such as smallpox; disease and colonial conquest (c1880-1920); colonial regimes and health; and viruses that have emerged in Africa since c1975.

HISTORY206 - East Africa and the World

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 206
Title: East Africa and the World

Description:
An interconnected history of East Africa and the many places linked to the region by trade, migration, and politics. Using archival, oral, and artistic source materials, considers how East Africans’ lives have been shaped by mobility, from the dhow trade of the Indian Ocean, to the commercial hustle of contemporary Guangzhou and Dubai. Analyzes how ideas about race, class, gender, and sex have changed over time in this complex setting.

HISTORY208S - South African Past and Present

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 208S
Title: South African Past and Present

Description:
Explores the history of modern South Africa from the beginning of the mineral revolution in the 1860s to the post-apartheid present. We will cover mining-centered industrialization, the emergence of Afrikaner and African nationalism, segregationist ideology, and the construction of apartheid. We will examine the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, and the regional and wide-ranging global efforts to end apartheid and usher in democracy. The establishment and promise of multi-party democracy, the AIDS epidemic, and the reemergence of social movements are all topics we will consider and we will conclude by reflecting on the place of South Africa as a regional, continental, and world power.

HISTORY209S - Islam in Asia

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 209S
Title: Islam in Asia

Description:
Focus on the northern tier of Muslim-inhabited lands. The early spread of Islam among continental Asia's non-Arab peoples. The evolution of Muslim religious and cultural institutions under Mongol, Central Asian, Russian, and Chinese empires. Asian Muslim encounters with European modernity and experience of Muslims under and after Soviet and Chinese socialist regimes.
HISTORY21 - World History
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 21
Title: World History
Description: Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of College Board examination in World History (score of 4 or 5). One Advanced Placement credit may count toward the major.

HISTORY210 - Islamic Civilization I
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 210
Title: Islamic Civilization I
Description: A global history of Islamic thought, practice, spirituality, politics, and culture. This course analyzes the emergence of Islam and the spread of Muslim culture and learning across Africa, Asia, and Europe. It introduces how Muslims fostered a globalized economy and international community of scientists, scholars, agriculturalists, musicians, artisans, and philosophers of diverse backgrounds – along with other key themes that students may pursue in greater detail in future coursework. Gateway course for an interdisciplinary certificate in Islamic studies.

HISTORY211 - Islamic Civilization II
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 211
Title: Islamic Civilization II
Description: Continuation of Religion 375.

HISTORY212 - The Turks: From Ottoman Empire to European Union
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 212
Title: The Turks: From Ottoman Empire to European Union
Description: Readings in cultural history and literature to examine transformations in Turkish identity from the Ottoman era to EU accession. Discussion of the 'gazi thesis', the 'sultanate of women', religious tolerance (millets), conversion, modernity and nationalism. Secondary topics include Sufism, Islam, gender, and historiography. Interdisciplinary focus. Taught in English.

HISTORY213S - Gender and Slavery in the Americas
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 213S
Title: Gender and Slavery in the Americas
Description: Atlantic slave systems were gendered systems. Across lines of nation and empire, African-descended women and their reproductive labor were crucial to the formation of New World slave systems and the racial ideology that underwrote them. The study of gender is therefore critical in understanding slavery in the Americas. This course analyzes slave systems in North America, Latin America, and the Caribbean. Our aim will be to explore major points of emphasis in the histories of gender and slavery in these diverse locales. For their final project, students will have the opportunity to engage an area of this historiography more deeply in the form of a paper on a topic of their choosing.

HISTORY214 - The Modern Middle East
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 214
Title: The Modern Middle East
Description: The historical development of the Middle East in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The emergence of nation-states in the region following World War I.
HISTORY 215S - Shamanism and Spirit Possession

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 215S
Title: Shamanism and Spirit Possession

Description:
Anthropological, psychological, and Religious Studies approaches to cross-cultural study of spirit possession and shamanism. Examination of in-depth case-studies and comparative works, from both literate civilizations and non-literate cultures. Engage with contemporary concerns with nature and boundaries of personhood and embodiment and their relation to leadership.

HISTORY 216S - Between Moscow, Beijing and Delhi: Narratives of Europe and Asia

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 216S
Title: Between Moscow, Beijing and Delhi: Narratives of Europe and Asia

Description:
Exercise in reconstructing Eurasian history from the 13th century Mongol invasions to post-Soviet era through critical reading of eyewitness accounts—travel notes and memoirs. Reflects on political, religious, and cultural evolution, expansion, and rivalry as well as cross-cultural and trans-regional exchange.

HISTORY 217S - Nigeria: A Modern History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 217S
Title: Nigeria: A Modern History

Description:
Nigeria is Africa's largest country by population, its largest economy, and one of the most diverse nation-states in the contemporary world. It is also a place of considerable poverty, wealth disparity, and political discord. How did Nigeria become this country of superlatives, good and bad? This course examines Nigeria's history over the last two centuries—a period encompassing the Atlantic trade in enslaved Africans, British colonial rule, the era of decolonization, and the recent histories of military rule and democracy. Along the way, we will consider Nigeria's place in the broader history of modern Africa.

HISTORY 218 - Modern & Global India

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 218
Title: Modern & Global India

Description:
Examines the historical foundations for the emergence of India as a modern and global society with a focus on the Mughal empire, British colonialism, and Indian nationalism. Uses textual and visual sources for charting how local political, social-economic and cultural factors intersect with the global movements of peoples, goods, technologies, and ideas in the creation of the modern nation-state of India. Concludes with discussion of globalization of Indian labor, food, and Bollywood. Time frame from 1500 to present.

HISTORY 219S - Indian Civilization

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 219S
Title: Indian Civilization

Description:
Surveys the rise of civilization and kingdoms on the Indian subcontinent from the first urban centers of the Indus Valley through the establishment of the Mughal Empire in the 16th century. Uses literary, archeological, linguistic, ethnological, and inscriptive evidence on the diversity of Indic peoples and their complex social, religious, and caste integration into the major states and empires of pre-modern India; considers wider civilizational networks and extensions of the Indian cultural sphere into other parts of Asia; integrates a historical and anthropological perspective on various primary materials.

HISTORY 220 - China from Antiquity to 1400

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 220
Title: China from Antiquity to 1400

Description:
Beginning with the early neolithic cultures, focus on the evolution of Han civilization, the formation of the imperial state system in China, ecological adaptations and foundations of the agrarian economy, the coming of Buddhism to China, and China's contacts with other peoples and regions of Asia up to A.D. 1400.
HISTORY221 - Food, Farming, and Feminism

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 221
Title Food, Farming, and Feminism

Description
Viewing 'agriculture,' 'nature,' and 'consumption' as pressing feminist themes and exploration of various dimensions of the cultural and political ecology/economy of producing, processing, circulating, preparing, and consuming sustenance. Particular focus on the ethical impact of US policy on rural farm communities and developing nations.

HISTORY222 - Environment and Global Capitalism in Latin America

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 222
Title Environment and Global Capitalism in Latin America

Description
Global capitalism relies on the ever increasing extraction and displacement of natural resources around the world. The discovery and subsequent colonization of Latin America by European powers meant the massive circulation of organisms (from germs to human beings) and natural resources (organic and mineral) across continents with lasting consequences for humans, animals and landscapes. Focusing on Latin America, this course analyzes the environmental history of global capitalism. Our aim will be to explore what happens when massive amounts of natural resources are relocated from one place to another.

HISTORY223 - Survey of Modern China 1800-Present

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 223
Title Survey of Modern China 1800-Present

Description
The course introduces the broad political and social changes of the last two hundred years in China beginning with the Qing imperial era and the last emperors, to the Opium Wars, the turning point of the Taiping Rebellion, the Republican Revolution and Communist Revolution; with focus and introduction to critical thought on imperialism, nationalism and ethnicity, revolution and social change using primary documents, secondary readings and films.

HISTORY225S - Muslim Women Across the Ages

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 2255
Title Muslim Women Across the Ages

Description
This course explores the diverse realities of Muslim women’s lives, from the origins of Islam to the present, through autobiographical and biographical accounts situated in their social, economic, political, and cultural contexts. The women we will encounter through textual and audiovisual materials represent a wide range of personal backgrounds, including scholars, mystics, merchants, philanthropists, poets, slavegirls, feminists, and Islamists. We will metaphorically travel across the globe and time to understand the multifarious facets of Muslim women’s lived experiences.

HISTORY226 - Ancient and Early Modern Japan

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 226
Title Ancient and Early Modern Japan

Description
Japan from earliest settlement to 1868; the Heian Court, rise of the samurai, feudal society and culture, the Tokugawa age, and the Meiji Restoration.

HISTORY227 - The Emergence of Modern Japan

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 227
Title The Emergence of Modern Japan

Description
A survey of modern Japanese history from 1850 to the present. Emphasis on social change as experienced by ordinary people. Includes a comparative overview of Japan's experience of modernity. This class is not open to students who have taken History 122A.
HISTORY228 - Chinatowns: A Cultural History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>228</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Explores the intersection of space and ethnicity through the myriad ways Chinatown has circulated as memory, fantasy, narrative, myth, in the dominant cultural imagination, and how lived realities of overseas Chinese communities, Asian American history, and changing conceptions of 'Chineseness' have productively engaged with real and phantom Chinatowns. Research will emphasize multi-disciplinary approaches, such as urban history, architecture, ethnography, economics; or engagement in a creative project.

HISTORY229S - Asian American Community History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>229S</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

How have Asian Americans built communities in the United States in the 19th and 20th century? This course explores the institutions, politics, cultural fabric, social relationships, and conflicts that have characterized East, South, and Southeast Asian American communities in the United States.

HISTORY23 - American History, I

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>23</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of College Board examination in American History (score of 4 or 5). One Advanced Placement credit may count toward the major.

HISTORY230 - Greek History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>230</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The political and intellectual history of the Greeks from earliest times to the death of Alexander the Great. Not open to students who have had, or are taking, Classical Studies 181S.

HISTORY231 - Ancient Athletics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>231</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The athletic festivals of the ancient Greeks and Romans are among the most enduring legacies of the Classical world, and provide a particularly accessible introduction to the study of antiquity. Through examination of literary and historiographical sources (in translation) and of the material remains at the ancient sites, this course introduces students to the origins and development of the major athletic contests (especially the Olympic Games), the methods and practicalities of ancient training, and the changing role of athletics in ancient and modern education, religion, and politics. We end with a survey of the modern Olympic movement, from the nineteenth century to the present.

HISTORY232 - Women and the Political Process

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>232</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A systematic analysis of the U.S. political system, electoral politics, platform implications, and leadership trends in the context of women's role in political life, as voters, leaders, and citizens.
HISTORY233 - Roman History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>233</td>
<td>Roman History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

From the founding of Rome by Romulus to the founding of Constantinople by Constantine: social, cultural, and political history. Not open to students who have taken or are taking Classical Studies 182S.

HISTORY234 - Democracy: Ancient and Modern

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>234</td>
<td>Democracy: Ancient and Modern</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines democracy in its ancient and modern forms, with special attention to Athenian and American democracy. Does modern democracy fulfill the promise of ancient democracy, or betray its fundamental tenets? Topics may include freedom, equality, and rights; democratic institutions; citizenship; rhetoric; democratic knowledge and decision-making; foreign policy; corruption; religion; and hope.

HISTORY234D - Democracy: Ancient and Modern

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>234D</td>
<td>Democracy: Ancient and Modern</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines democracy in its ancient and modern forms, with special attention to Athenian and American democracy. Does modern democracy fulfill the promise of ancient democracy, or betray its fundamental tenets? Topics may include freedom, equality, and rights; democratic institutions; citizenship; rhetoric; democratic knowledge and decision-making; foreign policy; corruption; religion; and hope.

HISTORY235 - Drugs, Chemicals, and Health: Histories of Substances in Economies, Environments, and Bodies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>235</td>
<td>Drugs, Chemicals, and Health: Histories of Substances in Economies, Environments, and Bodies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course asks how we might think historically about synthetic chemicals, natural alternatives, and the benefits and hazards they pose to human health, society, and environments. Combining cultural, political, and economic history with interdisciplinary environmental history and science & technology studies, we will follow historical ‘biographies’ and ‘genealogies’ of drugs and chemicals through economies, environments, and bodies, from cellular to planetary scales, comparing and connecting different global settings (including North Carolina). Focal substances may include aluminum, antiretrovirals, DDT, gold, indigo, mercury, nicotine, quinine, and opioids.
HISTORY236 - Ancient Science and Technology

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 236
Title: Ancient Science and Technology

Description:
Development of scientific thought and technological innovation in the ancient Near East, Greece, and Rome. Topics might include the rise of scientific thought, as against myth; impact of scientific and technological developments on Greek and Roman society and culture; history of medicine; history of mathematics; military technology.

HISTORY237 - Russia in the World: From Cold War to Putin's Wars

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 237
Title: Russia in the World: From Cold War to Putin's Wars

Description:
Traces evolution of Russian Federation foreign policy from the collapse of the Soviet Union at the beginning of the 1990s to the 2022 war in Ukraine. Examines elements of Russian grand strategy: military, economic (especially oil and gas), and diplomatic tools. Explores the role of one individual, President Vladimir Putin, in shaping policy in an increasingly autocratic state. Focuses on Russia’s relations with its neighbors, former allies, Europe, and the wider world, including the United States. Identifies linkages between domestic politics and events and foreign policy. Assignments focus on translating historical knowledge into actionable policy advice to meet current challenges.

HISTORY238A - Rome: History of the City

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 238A
Title: Rome: History of the City

Description:
On-site study of the development of Rome's urban plan and its major monuments through the ages; the influence of the ancient Republic and Empire, the Papacy, and the modern secular state; change and continuity in artistic forms and daily life. (Summer program in Italy.)

HISTORY238S - History of Political Nonviolence

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 238S
Title: History of Political Nonviolence

Description:
In this seminar, we will investigate cases of peaceful resolutions of intractable conflicts during the 20th century as alternatives to tactics of warfare and counter-terrorism. The focus will include the dissolution of the Soviet Union and its Eastern European subordinate states; the end of British rule in India, the transition from the apartheid regime in South Africa; the plebiscite ending the Pinochet dictatorship in Chile; the accords ending the violence in Ireland; and the successful nonviolent strategies of the civil rights movement in the U.S.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY239</td>
<td>History of Chinese Medicine</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>239</td>
<td>History of Chinese Medicine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY239FS</td>
<td>Turkey: Muslim and Modern</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>239FS</td>
<td>Turkey: Muslim and Modern</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY239S</td>
<td>Turkey: Muslim and Modern</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>239S</td>
<td>Turkey: Muslim and Modern</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY24</td>
<td>American History, II</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>24</td>
<td>American History, II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY240</td>
<td>Ancient Roman Law</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>240</td>
<td>Ancient Roman Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY241</td>
<td>The Age of Nero: History, Art, and Literature</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>241</td>
<td>The Age of Nero: History, Art, and Literature</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

HISTORY239 - History of Chinese Medicine

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 239
Title: History of Chinese Medicine

Description: This course introduces students to the history of medicine through the study of medical practices and beliefs in China. Paying close attention to socio-historical context, we will explore how those beliefs formed, how the practices have changed over time, and in particular how the introduction of Western medicine and then scientific biomedicine forced fundamental changes in Chinese medicine over the course of the twentieth century. This course also introduces students to the discipline of History, and students will work in close consultation with the professor to produce a unique research paper. History majors should take a Gateway Seminar first, but there are no official prerequisites.

HISTORY239FS - Turkey: Muslim and Modern

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 239FS
Title: Turkey: Muslim and Modern

Description: Turkish history from the 18th century to the present. Turkey as strategic ally of the US; candidate for membership in European Union; first Muslim country to adopt democracy, secularism, and Westernization, and as political, cultural, and economic model for other Muslim countries. Focus on Turkish people’s encounter with modernity as Muslims; questions about contradictions and promises of Muslim and modern experience; informed consideration of Islam’s encounter with the West. No prerequisites. No knowledge of Turkish required.

HISTORY239S - Turkey: Muslim and Modern

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 239S
Title: Turkey: Muslim and Modern

Description: Turkish history from the 18th century to the present. Turkey as strategic ally of the US; candidate for membership in European Union; first Muslim country to adopt democracy, secularism, and Westernization, and as political, cultural, and economic model for other Muslim countries. Focus on Turkish people’s encounter with modernity as Muslims; questions about contradictions and promises of Muslim and modern experience; informed consideration of Islam’s encounter with the West. No prerequisites. No knowledge of Turkish required.

HISTORY24 - American History, II

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 24
Title: American History, II

Description: Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of College Board examination in American History (score of 4 or 5). One Advanced Placement credit may count toward the major.

HISTORY240 - Ancient Roman Law

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 240
Title: Ancient Roman Law

Description: Introduction to Roman law, from the Twelve Tables to the Code of Justinian. Students read Roman texts in translation, learn how to use legal texts as sources for Roman history and society, and make connections between Roman law and modern legal systems. No previous knowledge of Latin or Roman history is required.

HISTORY241 - The Age of Nero: History, Art, and Literature

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 241
Title: The Age of Nero: History, Art, and Literature

Description: The Age of Nero: History, Literature, and Art. Study of the history, literature, and art of one of the best documented, if misunderstood, periods of Roman history, with a view to separating fact from fiction, and understanding why Nero became one of history’s greatest villains and whether his reputation is justified. Focus on: what makes for a ‘bad’ political leader; who gets to decide how history is told; how power, politics, and art intersect; how and why Nero’s story resonates with us today.
HISTORY242S - Human Rights in the Americas

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 242S
Title: Human Rights in the Americas

Description
This course introduces students to the history of human rights in Latin America, with a focus on certain regions. We will begin with the Conquest and cover the emergence of independent nation-states; the role of imposed economic policies, including neoliberalism; indigenous protest movements and their relationships to corporate interests; and the influence of the United States on human rights, government formation, immigration and the drug trade. Instructor consent required. Open only to students in the DukeImmerse program.

HISTORY243S - Cross-Cultural Encounters

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 243S
Title: Cross-Cultural Encounters

Description
The dynamics of cross-cultural interaction have actively shaped the world for many centuries now. This class explores some of the religious, social, and economic forces that fostered increasingly global contacts in history. In particular, it examines how centrally located and cosmopolitan Muslims played a critical role in connecting people of far-flung regions, cultures, and religions with one another. It surveys the myriad encounters of Muslims, Buddhists, Confucianists, Hindus, Jews, Christians and more across Afro-Eurasia and into the Americas. How did religious networks, processes and events foster historic exchanges of ideas, practices, and commodities across the world?

HISTORY244 - From History to Fantasy: Medieval Religions in Film & Fiction

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 244
Title: From History to Fantasy: Medieval Religions in Film & Fiction

Description
Explores the intersection of modern popular culture and medieval religious culture. Deep dive into how modern creators of mass entertainment use common notions of medieval faith, power, race, sexualities and violence to capture and hold our interest, teach us lessons about ourselves, and sell products. How do our ideas of faith, sexuality, race and power inspire or constrain the fiction we create about the past? What impact does this have on consumers? Monks, nuns, knights, crusades, secret societies, suffragists, alt-right, plague. Modern novels, commentaries, history, medieval texts, neurobiology, TV, films, ads, games, memes, clubs. Read, discuss, write, research.

HISTORY245 - Race in the 20th Century U.S.

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 245
Title: Race in the 20th Century U.S.

Description
Increasingly, our world today acknowledges that race is less about biological features and more about social rules and ideas. So why does race remain so important in the twenty-first century? This course combines ideas from history, public policy, sociology, and political science to examine how ideas of race have changed over from 1877, following the end of Reconstruction, to the present. While we might think of ideas like ‘white,’ ‘Black,’ ‘Asian American,’ or ‘Hispanic’ as concrete, easily definable categories, all of these categories and their social impact changed significantly over the course of a century.
HISTORY246S - Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>246S</td>
<td>Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

 Drawing on documentaries, historical fiction films, autobiographies and memoirs, this course explores how the diverse spectrum of Ashkenazi Jews living in the Russian empire and then Poland from 1900-1939 conceived of their identities as Jews and how their identities may have altered once they emigrated to the United States. After the Shoah, we examine how Jewish emigrants to the US and those Jews and their descendants who remained in postwar Poland/Ukraine sought contact with each other in attempts to rethink what it means to be a post-Holocaust Jew in their respective contexts and in dialogue with each other.

HISTORY248 - History and Culture of Iran

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>248</td>
<td>History and Culture of Iran</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

 A multi-disciplinary approach to Iran and Persian culture. Covers history, religion, politics, literature, music, and cinema. Focuses on the developments in Iran leading up to and after the 1979 revolution. Does not require any knowledge of Persian or previous background.

HISTORY248S - Book Publishing & Marketing: A Case Study of the Romance Fiction Industry

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>248S</td>
<td>Book Publishing &amp; Marketing: A Case Study of the Romance Fiction Industry</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

 A case study of the US romance fiction industry and its global reach. The romance novel is the most popular form of fiction in the world. Its industry is powered by women, produces a product consumed by women, and exports to global audiences. Includes: its history, role in popular American culture, and rise to dominate the fiction market; how creative projects become commercial products; dramatic shifts in the book industry over three centuries, including the ebook- and self-publishing revolutions; how notions of gender and sexuality have shaped the aggressive and ingenious marketing of romance fiction from its origins; representations of race in romance fiction.

HISTORY249 - Transnational Feminism

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>249</td>
<td>Transnational Feminism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

 Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.
HISTORY249S - Transnational Feminism

Description
Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.

HISTORY25 - European History, I

Description
Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of College Board examination in European History (score of 4 or 5). One Advanced Placement credit may count toward the major.

HISTORY250 - Green Germany: World Leader in Environmental Policy

Description
Exploration of Germany's leading global role in developing and implementing 'green' technologies and environmental policies. Analyzes Germany's current and past policies on energy, agriculture, and pollution control. Examines policies in context by studying German ideas about nature, history of German environmentalism, and by looking at Green Germany in European and global perspective. Discusses extent ethics can or ought to influence debates about global climate change and its ramifications. Readings include scholarly studies, exemplary policies, and groundbreaking ecological texts.

HISTORY251 - Jewish History, 1492 to the Present

Description
Major developments in Jewish history from the early modern period to today. The Kehillah, the Spanish-Jewish Diaspora, the rise of Polish Jewry, the Safed Kabbalah, Sabbatianism, the emergence of the Chassidut, the Haskalah (Jewish Enlightenment), Emancipation and the nation state, Reform Judaism, economic modernization, racial antisemitism, Zionism, the Holocaust, the State of Israel, flourishing Jewish pluralism in the United States, the future: nation and Diaspora?

HISTORY252 - U.S. Military Power: A Critical History

Description
This course probes the history of U.S. military power from the late nineteenth century to the present. Our explorations open with the activities of U.S. armed forces in the post-civil war era of light military mobilization and incipient American world power, follow the making of the United States as the world's most formidable military power with superior global military capability in the era of the world wars and beyond, and end with the crisis of U.S. war-making and military dominance in the contemporary world.

HISTORY253 - Dante's Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise

Description
A voyage through the three otherworldly places of Dante's philosophical poem (Hell, Purgatory, Paradise) whose transformation of human actions into an ordered ethical system continues to captivate readers.
HISTORY254 - The Expansion of Medieval Europe

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 254
Title: The Expansion of Medieval Europe

Description: Lecture course follows the transformation of medieval politics, society, and culture from the First Crusade to the Reformation. The evolution of secular monarchies and the flourishing of vernacular literature and devotion. The growth of commerce and an urban middle class. New forms of feminine religiosity and fascination with Christ's humanity. Intensified alienation and persecution of marginal groups such as the Jews. Field trip to the local museum.

HISTORY255 - German History Through Film

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 255
Title: German History Through Film

Description: Interdisciplinary seminar at intersection of German Studies and History, taught by scholars from both disciplines. Explores ways in which films shape historical imaginations and are in themselves artifacts of history. Provides unique opportunity to learn about German past and present, and reflect on relationship between film and history.

HISTORY256 - The Viking Age

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 256
Title: The Viking Age

Description: The history of Viking raiding, trading, exploration, and settlement, with attention to the socioeconomic structure, political organization, and naval technology of medieval Scandinavian societies. Focus on topics such as Norse mythology, ritual, and runes, Icelandic sagas, gender roles and social hierarchies in a warrior society, clan-based justice, and the collision between 'heroic' values and the new Christian ethic. Taught in English.

HISTORY256S - The Viking Age

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 256S
Title: The Viking Age

Description: The history of Viking raiding, trading, exploration, and settlement, with attention to the socioeconomic structure, political organization, and naval technology of medieval Scandinavian societies. Focus on topics such as Norse mythology, ritual, and runes, Icelandic sagas, gender roles and social hierarchies in a warrior society, clan-based justice, and the collision between 'heroic' values and the new Christian ethic. Taught in English.

HISTORY257 - Religion, Reform, and Violence in Early Modern Europe

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 257
Title: Religion, Reform, and Violence in Early Modern Europe

Description: The interplay of social, economic, and political developments in Central Europe from the eve of the Reformation to the end of the Thirty Years' War, with particular attention to the links between religion, gender, and the social order.

HISTORY258S - Women and Power in the Renaissance

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 258S
Title: Women and Power in the Renaissance

Description: Explores the intellectual, social, and political history of women in Renaissance Europe. Despite the overwhelmingly patriarchal nature of early modern society, many women wrote treatises, dialogues, and poetry in which they argued for a broader role for women. Students will examine these primary texts (some by famous figures, others by much less well-known writers) within the context of a burgeoning social history that has provided a more nuanced view of gender relations and power in this period.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>259S</td>
<td>Contemporary South Africa</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Nelson Mandela's presidency in 1994 inaugurated democracy in South Africa. Using a historical lens, this course will explore the promises, possibilities, and disappointments of the democratic era. In what ways has the 1994 election slogan 'A better life for all' come to pass? Why and in what ways has the new political elite fallen short in delivering on its promises? How have segments of the public sought to impose accountability and restitution on new democratic governments, as well as on the long-standing titans of industry?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>26</td>
<td>European History, II</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of College Board examination in European History (score of 4 or 5). One Advanced Placement credit may count toward the major.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>260</td>
<td>Magic, Religion, and Science since 1400</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The history of magic and witchcraft in western culture from the Renaissance to the present, with particular attention to the relationship of supernatural beliefs to religion and science. The renewal of magic, astrology, and alchemy in the Renaissance; early modern witch beliefs and the witch hunt; national skepticism in the Enlightenment; modern marginal sciences such as parapsychology; and adaptations of magical beliefs to modern culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>260D</td>
<td>Magic, Religion, and Science since 1400</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The history of magic and witchcraft in western culture from the Renaissance to the present, with particular attention to the relationship of supernatural beliefs to religion and science. The renewal of magic, astrology, and alchemy in the Renaissance; early modern witch beliefs and the witch hunt; national skepticism in the Enlightenment; modern marginal sciences such as parapsychology; and adaptations of magical beliefs to modern culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>261</td>
<td>Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The ways in which official German culture comes to terms with its Nazi past. Background reading in history and politics; primary focus on films, dramas, novels, and poetry, as well as public memorials, monuments, and museums. Authors treated include: Wolfgang Borchert, Rolf Hochhuth, Peter Weiss, Ruth Klüger. Taught in English.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>262</td>
<td>Roman Political Thought and Its Modern Legacy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Why does Rome still capture the imagination of modern political commentators and theorists? This course examines Roman political thought as it was conceived under the Republic, reimagined under the Empire, and transformed by Christianity. Topics may include the Roman constitution, liberty, equality, property, slavery, rights, citizenship, civil religion, political corruption, rhetoric, imperialism, just war theory, and cosmopolitanism.
HISTORY263 - The Political History of Modern Architecture: From Revolution through Neoliberalism

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 263

Title: The Political History of Modern Architecture: From Revolution through Neoliberalism

Description: Given the needs for labor, materials, and legal permissions, architects in the modern period by definition intersect with interests of power. This course explores the role of political institutions and ideologies in the history of modern architecture. While the course focuses on European and North American examples, we will also include key case studies of non-Euroamerican architecture and politics. The course provides a foundational knowledge of the history of modern architecture as well as how political institutions and ideologies have influenced that development.

HISTORY264 - Latin American Wars of Independence

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 264

Title: Latin American Wars of Independence

Description: This course covers the conspiracies, uprisings, and wars that led to the independence of Haiti and the Latin American colonies of Spain and Portugal between 1780 and the 1898 withdrawal of Spain from Cuba. It focuses on the key military and political leaders of anti-colonial struggles conducted on a continental scale from the islands of the Caribbean to the Andean highlands and beyond. Military strategy and political tactics were decisively shaped by modern debates about the meaning of freedom in terms of slavery and national self-determination. No prior knowledge of Latin America and the Caribbean required.

HISTORY265S - Religion and Politics in Post-Revolutionary Iran

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 265S

Title: Religion and Politics in Post-Revolutionary Iran

Description: The relationship between religion and politics; Islam and politics; Islamic political theology and ethics; stages of Shi’ite Islam and politics; Iran between two revolutions; political Islam; Khomeini’s political thought; Iranian Constitution; tension between theocracy, secularism, and democracy; quasi-democracy and elections; expediency and secularization; civil and Islamic law; Muslim fundamentalists, traditionalists, and reformists; from competitive electoral to the non-competitive electoral authoritarian regime; women’s rights; religious and ethnic minorities; foreign policy; revolutionary guards; Khomeini and Khamenei administrations; the future of Islamic republic of Iran.

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 266A

Title: Germany Today: A European Superpower? Duke-in-Berlin

Description: The political, military, and economic role of the reunified Germany within the European Union. Analysis of the political system of the Federal Republic of Germany and of the structure of the European Union. Taught by German faculty in the Duke-in-Berlin spring semester program.
HISTORY267S - Global Cold War

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
267S

Title
Global Cold War

Description
Traditional narratives of the Cold War focus on a bi-polar series of conflicts that pit the United States against the Soviet Union in a good-versus-evil battle for global political and military supremacy. This course destabilizes this account of a process that affected every continent on earth – and even reached into space – over the period of more than half a century. It explores the Cold War from East-West, North-South, global, and interstellar perspectives. In addition to political and military issues, the course will also discuss the Cold War in social, cultural, intellectual, and economic spheres.

---

HISTORY268SA - Berlin Film City: Movies in the Metropolis

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
268SA

Title
Berlin Film City: Movies in the Metropolis

Description
A course about Berlin's rich and unparalleled cinema history. Screenings, readings, and visits to historical studios and cinemas, film museums, archives, and film academies. The course is structured around a series of iconic films about Berlin. Units on Weimar cinema, Nazi film, DEFA (East Germany's production studio), the New German Cinema of the 1970s and 80s, post-wall film, and the twenty-first century Berlin School. Students will engage in close analysis of films in their historical context and discuss how cinema engages with issues of national, political, religious, ethnic, gender and sexual identities. Offered in English in the Duke in Berlin summer program.

---

HISTORY269 - Tudor/Stuart Britain

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
269

Title
Tudor/Stuart Britain

Description
Introduction to the history and culture of sixteenth and seventeenth century England; the Reformation, Colonization, and the Civil war. Changes in legal cultural ideas of identity and authority.

---

HISTORY271 - Modern Britain

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
271

Title
Modern Britain

Description
Introduction to British history in the modern period, eighteenth century through the present. Impact of industrialization and imperial expansion on political culture, social relations of class and gender, and national identity. Imperial comparisons and connections to the British experience.

---

HISTORY272 - Genocide and Human Rights

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
272

Title
Genocide and Human Rights

Description
Analyzes the phenomenon of genocide from an interdisciplinary perspective, exploring the ways that violence intersected with gender, race, and religion. Combines the history of genocide with the history of humanitarianism, international law, and human rights, seeking to understand their successes and failures. Case studies cover the twentieth century up to the present and may include mass violence in Armenia, the Congo, the Holocaust, Nigeria/Biafra, Cambodia, Rwanda, and Sudan. An interdisciplinary approach will be used, seeking to investigate genocide and human rights from the heights of international law to the depths of the human heart, using tools of political science, literature, and history.

---

HISTORY273S-1 - The Spanish Civil War and its Effects Today: History, Literature, Film

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
273S-1

Title
The Spanish Civil War and its Effects Today: History, Literature, Film

Description
Spanish Civil War of 1936-39 through literary and historical readings, art, music, and film. Special attention given to values held by supporters of each side, and how they put them into practice during and after the war. Consideration of American volunteers who fought fascism in Spain. Emphasis on human rights violations, and how they still affect Spain today. Taught in Spanish. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 431S or Human Rights 431S. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 331S or Spanish 316S, or higher, or permission of instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY274</td>
<td>Introduction to Asian American and Diaspora Studies</td>
<td>What does it mean to be Asian American? Asian American Studies is an interdisciplinary field that draws on social sciences, humanities, and the arts to explore the historical and contemporary experiences of Asian Americans in the western hemisphere. This course provides students with an introduction to this dynamic and growing field of study, taking race, gender, immigration, diaspora, class, labor, and sexuality as primary subjects of the field. The course also historicizes Asian American racialization to better understand the structural forces that have shaped Asian American lives and the ways that writers, scholars, and activists have responded to and resisted these forces.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY275</td>
<td>The Russian Empire</td>
<td>Russian imperial history from Peter the Great to Bolshevik Revolution: 1700-1917. Focus on formation and governance of multiethnic and multiconfessional Russian empire. Traces expansion of land-locked city state (Muscovy) into world power ruling from Eastern Europe to Alaska. Questions implications of Russia’s world-power status. Examines institutions of governance that created this empire and held its various ethnic, religious and ideological groups together for centuries. Readings of English translations of works of Russian literature and historiographic analyses aimed at developing a sound grounding in Russian imperial history and culture.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY276</td>
<td>From Tsars to Commissars: Russian Cultural History</td>
<td>Medieval origins of the Imperial Russian state, concentrating on the period between the reign of Catherine the Great (1762-1796) and the death of Lenin in 1924. Emphasis on state authority, ruling elites, and the formation of the opposition revolutionary movement leading to the Bolshevik seizure of power in 1917.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY277</td>
<td>Tolstoy and the Russian Experience</td>
<td>Historical approach to Tolstoy’s depictions of major societal and ethical issues (e.g., war, peace, marriage, death, religion, relationships). Culture of salons, print culture, censorship, and changing political climate. Central questions on the relationship of fiction and history: uses of fiction for understanding history and dangers of such an approach. Readings include selected fiction of Tolstoy, excerpts from journals and letters, and critical and historical accounts of nineteenth-century Russia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY278S</td>
<td>Nationalism and Exile</td>
<td>The dilemmas confronting Russian and European exiles in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in the context of nation-state identities. Focuses on political and literary exiles forced from their native countries. Central to the study is the role of the modern nation-state, from whose boundaries the exiles were expelled.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY279</td>
<td>The Foundations of Modern Terrorism</td>
<td>An exploration into the problems associated with terrorism in the modern era. The subject will be treated historically, chronologically and thematically, with emphasis on the 19th and 20th centuries. We shall also be examining three main geographic areas – Europe, Russia and the U.S. Comparisons will therefore be made of the different genres of terrorists that have functioned in these and other localities, including Latin America and Africa. We conclude with the road to 9/11.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course Code</td>
<td>Course Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY280S</td>
<td>Masculinities &amp; Global Politics</td>
<td>The course uses readings and films to examine masculinities historically and transnationally, including a unit on masculinities in US politics; draws from history, sociology, feminist geography, popular culture studies, Black studies, and sexuality and queer studies; interactive lectures and guest scholars. Each student is guided to complete an interview-based research project with three male-identified persons of multiple generations with serves in lieu of a final exam.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY282</td>
<td>End of Russian Socialism: History of Perestroika</td>
<td>History of the fall of the Soviet Union as interplay between Russia’s economic legacy, a sequence of economic and political decisions undertaken by Gorbachev’s government in the 1980s, and international forces that influenced Russia’s decision to reform; includes exploration of principles and aspirations that informed Soviet socialist economy in theory and practice; traces the restructuring of Soviet economic system into its present-day capitalism a la Russe.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY283S</td>
<td>Turkish History through the Novels of Orhan Pamuk</td>
<td>An introduction into Turkish history (including the Ottoman Empire) through a comparative study of the historical novels and nonfiction of Nobel Laureate Orhan Pamuk. Addresses Pamuk’s role as an intellectual-author who mediates between Islamic culture, secular modernity, the Turkish national tradition and an international canon of literature. Political implications of Sufism, cultural revolution, Orientalism, and post-colonialism. Secondary focus on representations of cosmopolitan Istanbul, political Islam and the military coup. Taught in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY284</td>
<td>Life Within Capitalism: A History of its Values, Measures and Struggles</td>
<td>Examination of how capitalism has profoundly shaped people’s ethical values, with focus on United States. Investigates central developments behind history of capitalism; explores key struggles that led to formation of capitalist logic (choices, values, goals); traces impact of capitalist goals and measures on ethical values and choices; examines discussions about possible future developments within capitalism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY286</td>
<td>Europe in the Twentieth Century</td>
<td>An examination, emphasizing cultural and political trends, of the turning points that have shattered political unity (two world wars, economic depression, protest movements, the Cold War and ethnic strife), as well as forces for unification (modernist literature, film and music, political ideologies, the Common Market, and post-1989 revival).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY287</td>
<td>History of the World Wars</td>
<td>An examination of the origins, course, and consequences of the world wars of twentieth century. Close attention is paid to impact of warfare on society and the ensuing moral and political controversies.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HISTORY288 - History of Inequality
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 288
Title: History of Inequality
Description:
This course familiarizes students with the field of Inequality Studies through examination of the causes and consequences of social inequality throughout history. It addresses theories of group and sub-group social stratification and ways that disparity operates across multiple axes of stigmatized identities. This is a required course for the minor in Inequality Studies.

HISTORY289S - Decolonization: Histories, Meanings, Struggles
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 289S
Title: Decolonization: Histories, Meanings, Struggles
Description:
This course explores decolonization as an historical event, a category of theoretical analysis, and a series of contemporary social movements. Course material will introduce students to the history of decolonization as both idea and event, putting global anti-colonial movements of the twentieth century into conversation with contemporary struggles for the decolonization of occupied land, institutions, and epistemologies. This interdisciplinary course draws on work in history, geography, anthropology, women's studies, and postcolonial and decolonial Studies. Students will also read and research manifestos, memoirs, archival documents, documentary films, oral histories, and museum exhibits.

HISTORY290 - Special Topics in History
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in History
Description:
Topics vary from semester to semester.

HISTORY296S - Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 296S
Title: Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present
Description:
Scholars, pundits and historical actors have long drawn parallels between the United States & South Africa-two countries founded on the premises of racial inequality. This course explores the machinations of race from the quickening of industrial development to present. We will consider the benefits and pitfalls of thinking comparatively. Topics include segregation, transatlantic cultural exchanges, living apartheid and Jim Crow, government surveillance of political opponents, the American anti-apartheid movement, mass incarceration and privatization of prisons, memory and the struggles for social change as well as the persistence of racial inequality in two country's contemporary societies.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject: HISTORY</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY297 - The Holocaust</td>
<td>297</td>
<td>History and Culture of Diaspora</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY298S - Global South Asia: History and Culture of Diaspora</td>
<td>298S</td>
<td>History and Culture of Diaspora</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY301T - Applied Historical Research</td>
<td>301T</td>
<td>Applied Historical Research</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY302 - Applied Historical Research</td>
<td>302</td>
<td>Applied Historical Research</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

HISTORY297 - The Holocaust

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 297

Title: The Holocaust

Description: Antisemitism and the Jewish question in Central Europe, the development of Nazi policy, the Final Solution in its different sites (ghetto, labor camps, extermination camps) and institutions (SS, Judenrat), the Holocaust’s legacy. Historiographical debates and documentary research.

---

HISTORY298S - Global South Asia: History and Culture of Diaspora

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 298S

Title: Global South Asia: History and Culture of Diaspora

Description: This course examines the making of South Asia (Afghanistan, Bangladesh, India, Myanmar, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka) as a global space from the early 20th-century until today. In addition to an examination of the region, course material will also address the South Asian Diaspora, particularly throughout Australia, East Africa, Southern Africa, Canada, the Caribbean, France, Germany, the United Kingdom, and the United States. Topics may include imperialism and decolonization; the making of postcolonial nation-states; migration, labor, and citizenship; and the global circulation of caste, class, religion, gender, and sexuality.

---

HISTORY301T - Applied Historical Research

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 301T

Title: Applied Historical Research

Description: Project-based course in which undergraduate and graduate students work collaboratively to produce a significant public-facing research product drawing on historical analysis. Topics vary depending on section. Students will gain a conceptual understanding of the project topic, develop research plans, conduct new research, and develop a final product containing significant analysis and interpretation (e.g., exhibits, databases, oral histories, data visualizations). Graduate students will mentor undergraduate students and take leadership roles in facilitating projects. Some courses will continue in a two-semester sequence. Instructor consent required.

---

HISTORY302 - Applied Historical Research

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 302

Title: Applied Historical Research

Description: Project-based course in which undergraduate and graduate students work collaboratively to produce a significant public-facing research product drawing on historical analysis. Topics vary depending on section. Students will gain a conceptual understanding of the project topic, develop research plans, conduct new research, and develop a final product containing significant analysis and interpretation (e.g., exhibits, databases, oral histories, data visualizations). Graduate students will mentor undergraduate students and take leadership roles in facilitating projects. Some courses will continue in a two-semester sequence. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>303</td>
<td>Rise of Modern Science: Newton to Einstein</td>
<td>See History 302.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>305</td>
<td>History of International Financial and Monetary Crises</td>
<td>Course examines monetary/financial crises plaguing world since 16th century. Analyzes origin, unfolding, and impact of crises, debates generated by them, and formulation/implementation of policy measures. Attention to international implications/connections on European/Asian money supply, banking/credit systems; reaction to South Sea Bubble and John Law Credit Systems in numerous European nations; experiments with paper money in America; rise/demise of gold standard in 19th/20th century; currency and exchange rate problems of last three decades. Case studies will be selected and assigned according to participants’ interests. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and 210D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>307</td>
<td>History of Economic Thought</td>
<td>Approaches to economic problems from Aristotle to Keynes, emphasizing certain models and doctrines—their origins, relevance, and evolution. Readings from Mun, Quesnay, Adam Smith, Malthus, Ricardo, Marx, Wairas, Veblen, and Keynes. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>308S</td>
<td>Adam Smith and the System of Natural Liberty</td>
<td>A seminar focused on the writings of Adam Smith, including close readings of The Wealth of Nations and The Theory of Moral Sentiments, and selections from Mandeville, Hutcheson, Hume, Quesnay, Turgot, and Bentham. Focus on eighteenth-century views on the nature of society and the origins of prosperity, the luxury debate, and links between natural philosophy (including medical thought), and moral philosophy. Recommended prerequisite: Economics 311.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>---------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY309</td>
<td>309</td>
<td>Alexander Hamilton and His World</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Using the musical 'Hamilton' as a starting point and a foil, this course examines Alexander Hamilton's life, work, and impact in the context of his rapidly changing world. The course addresses some of the central issues tied to Hamilton's life and career in both the Caribbean and the English colonies of North America: class and social mobility, the origins and character of the American Revolution, gender relations and ideas in the new republic, plantation slavery and controversies about it, the problems of unity and nation-building, the development of a US economy and financial system, party competition and democratic mobilization, the United States' relationship to world powers.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY309S</td>
<td>309S</td>
<td>The History of Modern Macroeconomics from Keynes to the Present</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Examination of key developments in macroeconomics from the 1930s through the present. Case studies of the evolution of macroeconomics in political and social context. Topics include the theory of unemployment in the Great Depression; growth theory and the rise of business cycle modeling in the aftermath of World War II; the trade-off between inflation and unemployment in the 1950s and 1960s; the debate over monetarism in the age of stagflation; and the rise of the New Classical Macroeconomics in its aftermath. Prerequisite: Economics 210D.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY311S</td>
<td>311S</td>
<td>Men, Women, and Sports: Topics in US Sports History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Examines the way sports have been tied to and expressed ideals of manhood and womanhood, race, class, and nation. Topics will vary but include boxing, Title IX, football, Olympics, baseball, etc.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY312</td>
<td>312</td>
<td>Europe's Colonial Encounter, 1492-1992: Political Economy and International Thought</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>The impact of colonial expansion on European economic development, political culture, international thought, and popular identity from the 'age of discovery' through the present. Particular attention to the ethical implications of colonialism's influence on Western 'civilization.'</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HISTORY313 - Crime and the City from Dickens to The Wire

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 313
Title: Crime and the City from Dickens to The Wire

Description:
Compares representation of crime and the city in two key 'texts': Charles Dickens’s 'Oliver Twist' and the HBO television series, 'The Wire.' Juxtaposes the social and political contexts to which each text refers, paying particular attention to the nature and causes of criminal activity therein. Explanations emphasizing individual or personal responsibility will be contrasted to those that take structural factors into account, including urban housing, public health, child labor, public education, poverty and its relief, urban governance, as well as the criminal justice system.

HISTORY314S - US Latin@ Histories

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 314S
Title: US Latin@ Histories

Description:
Content will vary, reflecting the diverse origins and experience of Latin@s in the US. Topics include geopolitics, media depictions, self-depictions, government policies, population flows, community formation and markets.

HISTORY316S - The Atlantic Slave Trade

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 316S
Title: The Atlantic Slave Trade

Description:
The development of the slave trade from the fifteenth century to its abolition in the nineteenth century; organization and mechanics, impact on Europe, Africa, and the Americas.

HISTORY318 - The Caribbean, 1492-1700

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 318
Title: The Caribbean, 1492-1700

Description:
The Caribbean region from the arrival of Columbus (1492) to the emergence of sugar and slavery as powerful shapers of society and culture, by 1700.

HISTORY319 - War, Slavery, and Revolution in the Caribbean, 1700-1800

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 319
Title: War, Slavery, and Revolution in the Caribbean, 1700-1800

Description:
The development of Caribbean society and economy in the contexts of slavery, empire, international rivalry, and democratic revolution.

HISTORY321 - The Modern Caribbean after Emancipation

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 321
Title: The Modern Caribbean after Emancipation

Description:
Focus on the Caribbean region as it transitioned from a collection of slave and colonial societies into a region of postcolonial and independent nations. Topics may include: postemancipation political and cultural struggles, pan-Africanism and Rastafarianism, nationalist and anticolonial movements, American economic and political influence in the region, Caribbean emigration to Europe and the United States, and global spread of Caribbean culture.
HISTORY322 - Statecraft and Strategy

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
322

Title
Statecraft and Strategy

Description
Introduces students to the history of how leaders have seen the world and tried to shape it in war and peace. Begins with examination of foundational texts in the history of strategy from around the world. Lectures focus on case studies in diplomatic and military history from the ancient to the contemporary world and spanning the globe. Explores how changes in technology and society (and social mores) have impacted statecraft. Introduces students to the concept of strategy and its applications in statecraft and other fields such as activism, business, and politics. Assignments focus on applying the lessons of history to challenges facing the United States and other countries today.

HISTORY323 - Methods in Inequality Studies

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number 323

Title
Methods in Inequality Studies

Description
The course examines social science research methods as they pertain to inequalities of race, gender, ability, and class. Students will learn to approach interdisciplinary social science research from the perspective of inequality studies and to deploy quantitative, archival, and qualitative methods with appropriate consideration of social inequality. Work will include consideration of diverse research paradigms, ethical dilemmas in the field, and theories and methods to undertake systematic modes of inquiry. It is a required course for the minor in Inequality Studies.

HISTORY324 - Mexico Since Before Cortes

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
324

Title
Mexico Since Before Cortes

Description
Survey of Mexican history since before the encounter between European and native peoples, the experience of conquest, independence rebellions, liberal reforms, revolution, and modernization.

HISTORY325 - Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
325

Title
Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival

Description
This course investigates both theory and history of the concept of sustainability, and explores its various economic and political manifestations over time. What are the historical roots of the sustainability debate? What aspects of life do various concepts of sustainability entail, and how do they inform modern ethics? What, in the end, does the history of political economics teach us about the possibility of sustainable development?

HISTORY326 - Colonial Latin America

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
326

Title
Colonial Latin America

Description
The pre-Columbian cultures, European conquest and its effects on the Amerindian peoples, and development of the Spanish and Portuguese Empires to the wars of independence with special emphasis upon colonial institutions and socioeconomic developments. Not open to students who have taken History 174.

HISTORY327 - Afro-Brazilian Culture and History

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
327

Title
Afro-Brazilian Culture and History

Description
Slavery and the post-emancipation trajectory of Afro-Brazilians in a racist society that officially proclaims itself a 'racial democracy.' Comparisons drawn with the Afro-American experience elsewhere in Latin America and the United States.
HISTORY328 - Global Brazil

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 328
Title Global Brazil

Description
Analysis of Brazilian history and culture from 1500 to the present in a transnational context, with an emphasis on themes like slavery and race, regional cleavages, authoritarian rule, social inequality, and innovative attempts to expand democracy. Facilitates broad-based knowledge of a country of increasing global economic and diplomatic clout. Close examination of primary sources, including texts, images, music, and film.

HISTORY329 - Latin America Since Independence

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 329
Title Latin America Since Independence

Description
A survey of nineteenth- and twentieth-century economic, social, and cultural change.

HISTORY331S - Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 331S
Title Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia

Description
As of 2016, only 11% of the countries in the world are liberal democracies. Some insight about how illiberal regimes function is a must to understand what is going on in the world. In this course, we explore illiberal and/or nondemocratic regimes of Eastern Europe and Asia—a perfect laboratory for the subject. We develop nuanced ideas about key concepts such as elections, representation, party rule, dictatorship, populism, patronalism, authoritarianism, and totalitarianism as well as the dilemmas of freedom, security, corruption, and development. We study the regimes of countries such as Hungary, Russia, Turkey, China and follow the news to see how political regimes evolve in real time.

HISTORY332S - Theorizing Liberation: From Black Power to the Age of Trump

Subject HISTORY
Catalog Number 332S
Title Theorizing Liberation: From Black Power to the Age of Trump

Description
This reading-intensive undergraduate seminar examines how writers and scholars understood the roots of racial inequality and imagined political projects to dismantle racial oppression in the decades after the passage of the 1965 Voting Rights Act. We survey a number of landmark texts across a range of fields and genres that proposed different analytical frameworks for understanding racial oppression and liberation, and attempt to situate the texts in their historical context.
HISTORY333S - Social Engineering and Social Movements in Eastern Europe and Asia

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 333S
Title: Social Engineering and Social Movements in Eastern Europe and Asia

Description
Combining perspectives of political sociology and history, this course questions the respective roles of state policies and social movements in transforming societies. Explores concepts such as social engineering, violence, revolution, totalitarianism, social movements, non-violent resistance, collective action and many others in historically-informed case studies of: colonialism/anticolonial movements (passive resistance and nationalism) in India; revolutionary communism, socialist reconstruction of society, everyday resistance and collective dissent in the Soviet Bloc; authoritarian capitalism and dissent in the form of environmentalist and anti-corruption movements in post-Maoist China.

HISTORY334A - Frontier City Berlin: Facing History's Great Challenges

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 334A
Title: Frontier City Berlin: Facing History's Great Challenges

Description
This course deals with some of the great challenges and conflicts of the 20th and 21st century, such as capitalism vs. communism; authoritarian vs. democratic governance, and focuses on Berlin as a city at the forefront of historic struggles. In particular, it treats Berlin as the site of the first socialist revolution in a highly industrialized nation (1918/19); the rise of fascism amidst an advanced urban culture, the legacy of world war and totalitarian rule; the Cold War division of Berlin; the fall of communism and the crises of capitalism; and the search for an environmentally sustainable future. Offered in English in the Duke-in-Berlin summer program.

HISTORY334S - The University as a Culture: A Survivor's Guide

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 334S
Title: The University as a Culture: A Survivor's Guide

Description
The university generates some of the most influential forms of knowledge in the world, yet we seldom examine the historically specific cultural, social, political, and economic conditions under which knowledge is produced in the laboratories, classrooms, offices, dormitories, Greek-letter societies, and sports complexes that are the infrastructure of the academy. This course will employ readings from a range of disciplines, as well as the investigative and interpretive methods of cultural anthropology, to examine the taken-for-granted context of university life.

HISTORY335 - The History of Hip-Hop

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 335
Title: The History of Hip-Hop

Description
What began as a localized activity designed to provide a safe haven for Black and Latino youth in New York City, has become a global brand that has had a documented impact on the cultural, political and economic realities of youth throughout the globe. This course will examine the organic social and cultural foundations of hip-hop, as well as the key aesthetic innovators/innovations, and the debates that have arisen over hip-hop's increased influence.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>336</td>
<td>North America to 1760</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Early oceanic explorations, European invasion of North America, the evolution of race slavery, and the responses of the native American peoples.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>337S</td>
<td>Don Quixote for Beginners</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This course introduces students to the overlapping realities and worlds that the novel encompasses to explore, through don Quixote’s knightly ambitions of justice, love, and freedom, the similarities, and differences we see between ourselves and others, in a changing world where chivalry ideals, popular culture, history, and uprooted lives, and early capitalism dialogue to each other. Multiple characters raise questions about escapism, social justice, borders, and exile linking the present and the past.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>340</td>
<td>The Civil War and Reconstruction: The United States, 1850-1880</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>The social, economic, and cultural aspects of the Civil War's origins and outcomes as well as the resulting military, political, and legal conflicts. Focus on the contested and changing meanings of 'freedom' in all sections of the country.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>340T</td>
<td>Memory Bandits: Human Rights, Duke's History and a Plan to Expand History-Telling</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This is affiliated with a Bass Connections project that takes on the societal and cultural challenge of historical memory, human rights and memorialization. We intend to mine memory studies to ask how, why and where people use the past for contemporary meaning; how the Duke campus currently embodies and tells its story; and how this team can help chart a deeper engagement with history. Consent of instructor is required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>341S</td>
<td>Africa before Colonialism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This undergraduate seminar considers the history of Africa south of the Sahara from the beginning of the Holocene era to 1800, focusing on processes of community formation and political and social change. Using a variety of sources and methods, it traces major debates and themes in the 'deep' African past across a number of regions and time periods. These themes include state formation, the dynamic reproduction of social structures through migration, the political meanings of health and healing, the development of ideas about gender, the relationship between Islam and Christianity and other cosmologies, and Africa's interaction with the wider world.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>342</td>
<td>The Making of Modern America: The United States from 1898 to 1945</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Transformations in society, politics, foreign relations, and arts and literature between Spanish-American War and World War II. Course pays particular attention to domestic politics in the Progressive Era; the Great Migration and the 'New Negro'; the Jazz Age and the 'Modern Woman;' the Great Depression; and the World Wars.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HISTORY343 - History of Modern America: The United States from 1930 to present

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>343</td>
<td>History of Modern America: The United States from 1930 to present</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

United States history since the Great Depression, with emphasis on the shaping influence of the New Deal and war. Examines transformations of everyday life and culture and the movements for social change they generated, including the labor, civil rights, and women’s movements, and explores the nation's dominant role on the world stage and the impact of a global economy.

HISTORY344 - History of U.S. Social Movements

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>344</td>
<td>History of U.S. Social Movements</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines the social movements that have shaped U.S. history, starting with the American Revolution itself and covering others including the anti-slavery movement, women’s rights, Populism, Socialism, the Ku Klux Klan, the labor movement, the Black Freedom Movement and broader New Left, lesbian and gay liberation, and the recent conservative movement, focusing on the ethical issues arguments they raised, and how new civil, political, and social rights were created through social movement organizing. Lectures and readings explore why these movements arose, what they achieved, why many opposed them, and what we can learn about American history writ large from their experiences.

HISTORY345 - North American Environmental History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>345</td>
<td>North American Environmental History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Historical roles of nature—as a cultural construct and a set of biological relationships—in shaping human choices in North America, from colonial times to the present. Special attention to historical origins of contemporary environmental politics, including the origins of wilderness; environmental justice movements; the changing politics of food, animal rights, and pollution; and tragedies of the commons, and the ethical challenges posed by global warming and population growth.

HISTORY346S - Politics of Sexuality

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>346S</td>
<td>Politics of Sexuality</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Explores intersections among sexual identity, desire, and behavior and political institutions, public policy, and concepts of citizenship. Readings and methods will be interdisciplinary and will examine politics of sexuality in diverse sociocultural, international, and historical contexts. Topics may include: social movements; laws, policing, and incarceration; medicalization and eugenics; militarism and geopolitics; immigration and human rights; welfare policies; nationalism and citizenship; and reproductive rights.

HISTORY347 - African Americans Since the Civil War

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>347</td>
<td>African Americans Since the Civil War</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Post-slavery black life and thought, as well as race relations and social change, during Reconstruction, Jim Crow, the Civil Rights and Black Power Movements, and contemporary times; ethical concepts and issues on human justice in the course of struggles for democracy, tolerance, and equality.

HISTORY348 - The Civil Rights Movement

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>348</td>
<td>The Civil Rights Movement</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

An interdisciplinary examination of the civil rights movement from World War II through the late 1960s.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>350S</td>
<td>The Connection between Human Rights, Memory and How Societies Create Memorials</td>
<td>This seminar introduces students to multiple approaches to how to create memory, with a focus on building a proposal for Duke to expand the sites where stories are told. We are particularly interested in how to tell difficult stories of slavery, segregation, and inequality through new sites and interpretive plans. Students will create a Duke memory map and develop a Story Bank. The class is in part funded by Bass Connections and is affiliated with the Story Lab.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>351S</td>
<td>Islam in the Americas</td>
<td>Explores how Muslim communities live and practice Islam in the American context. Examines diverse Muslim communities emerging from transatlantic exploration, trade in slaves, and migration as well as indigenous conversion. Discussion of religious and cultural identities of American Muslim peoples and consideration of questions of communal organization, religious authority, gender dynamics, youth culture, political and civic engagement, as well as American Muslim comedy and entertainment. Examination of impact of 9/11 upon American Muslims, their responses to the tragedy, and Americans' shifting perceptions of Islam and Muslims.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>352</td>
<td>Immigrant Dreams, U.S. Realities: Immigration Policy History</td>
<td>Immigrants and immigration policy in the United States from 1850 to the present, with focus on origins and power of immigrant exclusion during three waves of migration: Northern European and Asian migrations between 1850 and 1880, Eastern European, Latin American, and Asian migrations, 1880-1920, and Latin American, African, and Asian migrations, post 1965. Immigrant roles in shaping policy debates, citizenship rights, labor movements, and American culture, past and present.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>353</td>
<td>Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain</td>
<td>Course offers a critical, comprehensive, and panoramic approach to the study of fundamental social problems of contemporary Spanish society (inequalities, marginalization and exclusion, social risks, unemployment, housing, education, economic and political crisis, gender equality, etc.) that affect its various institutions (family, work, city, State, etc.). The approach will be twofold: on one hand, it will be carried out from a Sociology and Applied Anthropology theoretical perspective; on the other, it will familiarize students with the point of view of the citizens' movements with regular encounters with activists and leaders of these organizations.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HISTORY353A - Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
353A

Title
Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Description
Course offers a critical, comprehensive and panoramic approach to the study of fundamental social problems of contemporary Spanish society (inequalities, marginalization and exclusion, social risks, unemployment, housing, education, economic and political crisis, gender equality, etc.) that affect its various institutions (family, work, city, State, etc.). The approach will be twofold: on one hand, it will be carried out from a Sociology and Applied Anthropology theoretical perspective; on the other, it will familiarize students with the point of view of the citizens' movements with regular encounters with activists and leaders of these organizations. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.

HISTORY354 - Native American Women in History, Society, and Art

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
354

Title
Native American Women in History, Society, and Art

Description
This course will explore the images and realities of Native American women in the history of North America from the pre-Columbian period through the present-day United States. We will concentrate on particular topics including: contrasting ideas of kinship, society, and gender egalitarianism; ways in which gender provided a language for the colonialism of European empires and the US nation-state; experiences of Native women as mediators of cultural exchange and as victims of cross-cultural conflict; and the role of gender in the creation of hierarchies of identity, race, and power.

HISTORY354S - Native American Women in History, Society, and Art

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
354S

Title
Native American Women in History, Society, and Art

Description
This course will explore the images and realities of Native American women in the history of North America from the pre-Columbian period through the present-day United States. We will concentrate on particular topics including: contrasting ideas of kinship, society, and gender egalitarianism; ways in which gender provided a language for the colonialism of European empires and the US nation-state; experiences of Native women as mediators of cultural exchange and as victims of cross-cultural conflict; and the role of gender in the creation of hierarchies of identity, race, and power.

HISTORY355 - American Indian History to 1815

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
355

Title
American Indian History to 1815

Description
Examines images and realities of North American Indian cultures and history from the pre-Columbian period through the period of European-Indian contact in the 16th, 17th, & 18th centuries, to the first imperial expansion of the new U.S. nation in the 1810s. Constructions of cultural identity; diplomacy and warfare between Indian nations and European invaders; trade, exchange networks, and Indian political economies; dynamics of cultural change, stability, and transformation as American Indians responded to and resisted Euro-American attempts at religious and cultural conversion, and political and economic conquest.

HISTORY357 - The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number 357

Title
The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Description
Social movements in the South from Reconstruction to the present. Includes Populism, Women's Suffrage, the Interracial Movement, labor, civil rights, post-1960s conservatism, environmental justice, and LGBTQ activism. Attention to public policy positions espoused by social movement organizations and activists.

HISTORY357S - The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Subject
HISTORY

Catalog Number
357S

Title
The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Description
Social movements in the South from Reconstruction to the present. Includes Populism, Women's Suffrage, the Interracial Movement, labor, civil rights, post-1960s conservatism, environmental justice, and LGBTQ activism. Attention to public policy positions espoused by social movement organizations and activists.
HISTORY358 - The South in Black and White

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 358
Title: The South in Black and White

Description:
Focus on present-day and historical documentary traditions in American South, with an emphasis on call and response between black and white cultures. The arts and humanities as embedded in particular histories and cultures found in the South, and as performed in music and theater; and portrayed in documentary films, civil rights photography, Southern literature, and historical and autobiographical writing. Includes historical texts, oral histories and testimonies of living persons, along with documentary films, photographs, and writings from people in Durham and elsewhere in the region.

HISTORY358S - The South in Black and White

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 358S
Title: The South in Black and White

Description:
Seminar with focus on present-day and historical documentary traditions in American South, with an emphasis on call and response between black and white cultures. The arts and humanities as embedded in particular histories and cultures found in the South, and as performed in music and theater; and portrayed in documentary films, civil rights photography, Southern literature, and historical and autobiographical writing. Includes historical texts, oral histories and testimonies of living persons, along with documentary films, photographs, and writings from people in Durham and elsewhere in the region.

HISTORY359 - Violent Jihad in the Twentieth Century - A Global History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 359
Title: Violent Jihad in the Twentieth Century - A Global History

Description:
This course focuses on the history of Muslim groups and social movements which are often regarded as politically fundamentalists or radical in the twentieth-century Middle East. We shall critically survey the intellectual origins of radical ideologies, the social history of the 'Muslim Brotherhood' in Egypt and Syria, the politics of Saudi Arabia, the rise of Hizbullah, the question of the caliphate, the interaction between foreign intervention and the approval of violence as a legitimate means in politics, a history of al-Qaeda, and finally of what we know about ISIS.

HISTORY360S - Writing American Politics

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 360S
Title: Writing American Politics

Description:
Reading and writing intensive seminar focused on documentary works that document and discuss US politics and political movements. Engage and analyze historical and contemporary documentary media on the Populist movement, the long civil rights movement, the modern women's movement, Black Lives Matter, Moral Mondays, and other social movements, as well as US elections and significant figures in US politics. Emphasis on 20th century. Course materials include historical writings, journalism, memoir, fiction, music, and film. Guided research on a US political phenomenon resulting in a 20-page final paper.

HISTORY362 - United States Political History, 1900 to the Present

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 362
Title: United States Political History, 1900 to the Present

Description:
U.S. political history from 1900 to the present. Topics include the emergence, evolution, and decline of a 'liberal' coalition; the creation of a 'conservative' coalition; the development of a powerful federal state and its social and political results; the role of money in politics; the transformation of voting rights and voter participation; reform and radical movements and their relationship to party politics and the federal government.

HISTORY363 - History of Capitalism in the United States

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 363
Title: History of Capitalism in the United States

Description:
Surveys history of various forms of capitalism in the United States, with focus on changing labor systems and labor relations, banking and finance, business enterprise and strategies, agriculture, government economic policy (including regulatory policy), and intellectual history of capitalism and its reformers.
HISTORY365 - Inventing Sickness: The Science and Practice of Medicine in Ancient Greece

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 365
Title: Inventing Sickness: The Science and Practice of Medicine in Ancient Greece

Description
Exploration of conceptual developments that led to the emergence of medicine in ancient Greece as a science and an art and as a contentious subject of speculative discourse. We will situate these developments firmly within their corresponding cultural, intellectual, and social contexts. Concepts examined include: notions of disease; competing views of human anatomy and physiology; natural versus supernatural causation; the ethics of medical (non-)treatment and research; the rise of the doctor; dietetic, pharmacological, and surgical practices; the doctor-patient relationship.

HISTORY365D - The Modern Regulatory State

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 365D
Title: The Modern Regulatory State

Description
Interdisciplinary inquiry into the origins/evolution of modern regulatory institutions in Western Europe and North America, along with the more recent rise of global regulatory bodies. Examines conceptual frameworks from across the social sciences, and considers the ethical dimensions of current debates over regulatory purposes, strategies, and policies in areas such as finance and the environment.

HISTORY366S - Latinx Social Movements

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 366S
Title: Latinx Social Movements

Description
Over the course of the twentieth-century various Latino/a groups have mobilized their growing power to make demands for social justice and equality. This course will study the history of Latino/a organizing from the 1940s to the contemporary moment. Some of the groups we will examine include: the Chicano movement, the Young Lords Party, Chicana feminists, Third World Women's Alliance, DREAMers, resistance to Arizona's SB1070, and UndocuQueer. We will look at the history of political organizations, community formation, identity development, and movement ideology.

HISTORY367 - The History of the Book

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 367
Title: The History of the Book

Description
The history of the 'book' as physical object from its earliest forms (clay tablets, papyrus scrolls) through to texts in the digital age. Introduction to manuscript and early print culture in the West – scribes, scripts and book production. The role of the book in different cultures, and in intellectual history. Hands-on experience with, and study of materials in the Rubenstein Rare Book and Manuscript Library.
HISTORY369 - History of Public Health in America

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 369
Title: History of Public Health in America

Description:
The role of epidemic diseases such as smallpox, cholera, yellow fever, tuberculosis, and polio in shaping public health policy in the United States from the colonial era to World War II.

HISTORY370 - Aztecs and Mayans

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 370
Title: Aztecs and Mayans

Description:
Within modern imaginaries, Aztecs and Mayans become seen as those who engaged in brutal sacrifice and cannibalism atop their great temples. In order to question this pornographic assumption, this course examines the sources--art available at the Nasher Museum and many visual sources and written texts from the times of the Classic Maya civilization through today. We will collectively think about the ways in which these peoples have lived their lives and responded to the challenges of colonialism and globalization. Students should expect a hands-on course as they will examine everything from ancient pottery to weapons, paintings, photographs, films, and written documents.

HISTORY371 - Feast and Famine: Food in Global History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 371
Title: Feast and Famine: Food in Global History

Description:
Surveys history of food in global history, beginning with paleolithic and ending with modern era. Focuses on food quality and quantity as a factor in determining health, including problems of global health disparities, food insecurity, and obesity. Topics include the impact of food exchanges across continents and cultures, discovery of vitamins and vitamin deficiencies, growth and impact of food industries, and the rise of diseases of plenty, such as type 2 diabetes.

HISTORY372 - France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 372
Title: France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality

Description:
Examination of the Franco-African relationship over time, from the four 'communes' in Senegal to the present, through a political but also broader cultural lens. France's colonial doctrine and practices, African resistance and collaboration, 'la francophonie' and the postcolonial 'Françafrique' are analyzed as well as collective imaginaries on either side and how they shaped each other in literature, film, the social sciences or everyday life. The course is taught in English but a preceptorial class in French is offered in addition so that students can meet the requirement for their major or minor in French. Newcomers to Africa are welcome.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY373</td>
<td>American Indian History Since 1806</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>373</td>
<td>Examines images and realities of North American Indian cultures and history from early 19th century through present day. Focus on American Indian responses to Anglo-American nation building and encroachment, radical decline of Indian populations over the 19th century and complex survival strategies initiated by American Indians in the face of decimation, Anglo-American attempts at religious and cultural conversion; and Indian response and resistance, and demographic and political revitalization of Indian peoples in the 20th century.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY374</td>
<td>Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>374</td>
<td>Major questions relating to women and women's place in society over the course of U.S. history, broadly defined, from the colonial period to the present: How did different groups of women see themselves as women? How did views of women's sexuality change? How did men's and women's relationships and roles change? How did women understand their connections to the larger society? How did race, ethnicity, and class shape all those issues? Course uses a variety of materials, including novels, movies, images, and music to explore the ethical contours of women's lives in the past, following change over time to better understand women's position today.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY374D</td>
<td>Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>374D</td>
<td>Major questions relating to women and women's place in society over the course of U.S. history, broadly defined, from the colonial period to the present: How did different groups of women see themselves as women? How did views of women's sexuality change? How did men's and women's relationships and roles change? How did women understand their connections to the larger society? How did race, ethnicity, and class shape all those issues? Course uses a variety of materials, including novels, movies, images, and music to explore the ethical contours of women's lives in the past, following change over time to better understand women's position today.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY375</td>
<td>The United States and the World, 1898 to the Present</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>375</td>
<td>Course explores the evolution of US foreign relations, from the Spanish-American War in 1898 through the challenges facing the Biden Administration. Will consider US foreign relations in a broad sense. US' political, economic, and cultural relations with other states, organizations, and individuals will all be considered, as will the role that domestic politics play in the making and execution of US foreign policy.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Duke University
HISTORY378SA - Politics and Culture Between Europe and the Middle East

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
HISTORY | 378SA | Politics and Culture Between Europe and the Middle East

Description
Surveys the changing geopolitical context of communities between Europe and the Middle East through an interdisciplinary cultural framework from WWI to the present. Emphasis on German/Turkish relations. Analysis of representations of nationalism, identity, ethnicity, gender and religion. Examines intersections of modernity, revolution, and lived and political Islam to analyze the ways in which political ideologies create and question Middle Eastern identities. Secondary theoretical readings, including work by political scientists, cultural critics, and policy experts. Taught in English as part of the Duke Middle East in Europe program.

HISTORY380S - Islamic Mysticism

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
HISTORY | 380S | Islamic Mysticism

Description
This course introduces the history and key concepts of Islamic spirituality through the lives, writings, institutions, and influence of Muslim sages, ascetics, and saints across Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Americas. Critical topics include Sufi origins, psychology, healing, music, poetry, politics, and the aspiration to beautify one’s self and society through connection with the Divine.

HISTORY381S - Veterans Oral History Project

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
HISTORY | 381S | Veterans Oral History Project

Description
Explore methods of oral history, specifically focusing on interviewing U.S. military veterans who have served during times of conflict. Weekly readings concerning ethics of oral history work and the particulars of interviewing veterans. Learn techniques for conducting successful oral history interviews and master technical skills involving recording equipment. Conduct multiple interviews with veterans throughout semester. Discuss interviews and transcriptions with classmates. Assignments include written responses and a final presentation on conducted interviews. Includes a service-learning component involving work in the community.

HISTORY382S - Digital Durham

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
HISTORY | 382S | Digital Durham

Description
Representing Durham past and present with digital media. Digitize historical and cultural materials, research in archives and public records and present information through various forms including web pages, databases, maps, video and other media. Analysis of social impact of new representations of place and space.
HISTORY 383 - Engineering the Global Middle East

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 383
Title: Engineering the Global Middle East

Description:
This class is a global techno-environmental history, with a special emphasis on the modern Middle East. We will interrogate the many ways in which the transformation of nature and transfer of technologies has rearranged political relations within and between states in the last two hundred years. We shall survey the social history of technology, of engineering, infrastructural developments, urbanization, and energy resources. Students in this course will learn how to do research through the lenses of environmental history and science and technology studies using the methods of microhistory.

HISTORY 384 - The People's Republic of China, 1949-Present

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 384
Title: The People's Republic of China, 1949-Present

Description:
This course begins its examination of the People's Republic of China (PRC) and the Communist Party of China (CPC) through multifaceted analyses of the first Party Chairman, Mao Zedong. We will first allow ourselves to be seduced by the richly detailed accounts of this fascinating man. We will then take a step back to observe that, in order to understand Mao, we must understand the society and culture in which he lived. This movement from Mao to the masses gives shape to the fundamental question of this class: what is the relationship between the individual and the social collective? Students are encouraged, but not required, to take History 223 as prerequisite.

HISTORY 385S - White People: In Anthropological Perspective

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 385S
Title: White People: In Anthropological Perspective

Description:
Against the cross-cultural backdrop of other systems of hereditary privilege and of the political and economic changes that threaten them, we will examine the history, the ideologies, and the psychology of white supremacy in the United States. It will be our task to understand both the insiders’ point of view and its social context, which includes the mid-20th-century civil rights reforms, affirmative action, neoliberalism, and the progressive erosion of white monopolies on honor, voting rights, due process, a living wage, and upward mobility in US society.

HISTORY 386S - Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 386S
Title: Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy

Description:
Working through an array of diverse organizations - including the African National Congress, the Pan African Congress, the Black Consciousness Movement, a host of liberal organizations, the churches, the trade union federations, and countless more - South Africans fought against apartheid from its inception. In 1994 they achieved a multi-racial democracy led by President Nelson Mandela. This seminar explores key themes in post-World War II South African history, paying special attention to the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, while analyzing the tenets of apartheid policies.

HISTORY 388S - The Scientific Revolution

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 388S
Title: The Scientific Revolution

Description:
Study emergence of modern physical sciences as leading means for understanding the natural world; read primary documents from Copernicus, Kepler, Galileo, Descartes, Boyle, Hooke and Newton; learn how past science shaped the modern world; learn how history of science enables understanding of 21st-century science.

HISTORY 389S - Family Rights/Human Rights

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 389S
Title: Family Rights/Human Rights

Description:
Explores relationship between state, family formation, and individuals. Surveys regulation of sexuality, reproduction, adoption, immigration, and incarceration with focus mainly on U.S. and past 200 years.
HISTORY 390 - Topics in History Lecture

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Topics in History Lecture

Description:
Individual courses in this series may be taught more than once or on a one-time basis only.

HISTORY 390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in History

Description:
Register for course by designated suffix indicating the specific country. Courses numbered 390A-01 thru 390A-14 are lecture courses taught in Duke-administered study-abroad programs, for example, in Germany, Italy, France, China. These courses provide the same credit and fulfill the same curriculum requirements as any 200-300 level lecture course in the history department.

HISTORY 390A-01 - Duke in Madrid: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-01
Title: Duke in Madrid: Special Topics in History

HISTORY 390A-02 - Duke in China: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-02
Title: Duke in China: Special Topics in History

HISTORY 390A-03 - Duke in France: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-03
Title: Duke in France: Special Topics in History

HISTORY 390A-04 - Duke in Andes: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-04
Title: Duke in Andes: Special Topics in History

HISTORY 390A-05 - Duke in Italy: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-05
Title: Duke in Italy: Special Topics in History

HISTORY 390A-06 - Duke in Russia: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-06
Title: Duke in Russia: Special Topics in History

HISTORY 390A-07 - Duke in Australia: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-07
Title: Duke in Australia: Special Topics in History

HISTORY 390A-08 - Duke in Berlin: Special Topics in History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 390A-08
Title: Duke in Berlin: Special Topics in History
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>390AS</td>
<td>Study Abroad: Seminar on Historical Topics</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Topics in History Seminar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>390S-1</td>
<td>Topics in Digital History and Humanities</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>390SA-09</td>
<td>Duke in Oxford: Special Topics on History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Register for country by the section designated in the Official Schedule of Courses.

Digital History and Digital Humanities

Digital History and Digital Humanities in theory and practice. Students plan, research and develop new technology projects which present archival material and historical interpretations to scholars and the general public through research papers, websites, and museum exhibits. The course meets weekly to discuss readings in American history, southern history, and digital history/humanities. Students explore archival material in the Rubenstein Library, learn how to use digital tools for humanities projects, develop principles of effective digital project management, create cross-disciplinary collaborations and learn about the ethics for creating research projects in the humanities.
HISTORY391 - Independent Study
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study
Description:
Fall semester directed-readings independent study. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

HISTORY392 - Independent Study
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 392
Title: Independent Study
Description:
Spring semester directed-readings independent study. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

HISTORY393 - Research Independent Study
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study
Description:
Fall semester research independent study. Usually undertaken by students concurrently with the Honors Seminar, or with an instructor with whom they have had a course. Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

HISTORY394 - Research Independent Study
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study
Description:
Spring semester research independent study. See History 393. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

HISTORY396S - Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 396S
Title: Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa
Description:
This course uses a comparative framework to assess race in two societies founded on premises of racial inequality: South Africa and the United States. We will explore some of the social, cultural and political exchanges that have taken place between African Americans and Black South Africans over the course of the twentieth century. Additional topics include segregation, twentieth century struggles for civil rights/liberation, the American anti-apartheid movement, and the possibilities for restitution.

HISTORY397S - Istanbul: Religion, Politics and Cosmopolitanism
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 397S
Title: Istanbul: Religion, Politics and Cosmopolitanism
Description:
Istanbul is the only city in the world located on two continents. Byzantine, Ottoman, and Turkish cultural legacies allow the city to be read as a 'palimpsest', a multi-layered urban text of multiple, even contradictory meanings. Istanbul is an ideal site to explore imperial history, Islam and Christianity, migration, East/West relations, and cosmopolitanism. Through interdisciplinary sources in history, culture, theory, and politics, students will examine a variety of urban, architectural and social spaces including churches, mosques, public squares, and ethnic neighborhoods. Taught in English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY399A</td>
<td>399A</td>
<td>Duke Summer Program: Oxford</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY405</td>
<td>405</td>
<td>What Machiavelli Really Says</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY406</td>
<td>406</td>
<td>Visualizing Cities: Representing Urban Landscapes, Cultures, and Environments</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY407</td>
<td>407</td>
<td>Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

HISTORY399A - Duke Summer Program: Oxford

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 399A

Title: Duke Summer Program: Oxford

Description:
Political System of Modern Britain. Open only to students in the Duke Summer Program: Oxford.

HISTORY405 - What Machiavelli Really Says

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 405

Title: What Machiavelli Really Says

Description:
Everyone knows what 'Machiavellian' means, but what does Machiavelli really say? Reading his classical political texts, 'The Prince,' the 'Discourses on Livy,' and 'The Art of War' in the company of his literary works, including 'Mandragola,' we will examine how Machiavelli's ideas about power, deception, language, ethics, and representation emerged from his reading of Plato, Livy, Ovid, and Dante, while also exploring the reception and consequences of his ideas. Just as Machiavelli searched history for answers to his own political situation, our guiding question cannot help but be 'What would Machiavelli do?'

HISTORY406 - Visualizing Cities: Representing Urban Landscapes, Cultures, and Environments

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 406

Title: Visualizing Cities: Representing Urban Landscapes, Cultures, and Environments

Description:
Visualizing cities in theory and practice. Exploring digital and visual representation of landscapes, structures, environments, history, culture, architecture, events, and populations. Change over time, cultural heritage, possible futures, and alternate pasts from historical, cultural, documentary, and scientific evidence and archives. The idea of the city as a conceptual category and metaphor. Ubiquitous computing in urban environments as a medium for interaction. Global cities and diaspora. Visual imagery and written accounts. Use of mapping, imaging, 3D, augmented reality, games. Individual and group research and production of visualizing cities projects. Topics and temporal foci vary.

HISTORY407 - Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History

Subject: HISTORY

Catalog Number: 407

Title: Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History

Description:
This course traces economic factors leading to the downfall of the Russian Empire and the rise of the USSR, followed by an assessment of the collapse of the USSR. Particular attention is devoted to the NEP period, earlier Soviet economic models, the famine of the 1930s, the impact of WWII, industrialization and urbanization, Soviet planning, and declining productivity growth and life expectancy in the in the 1970s and 1980s. The course then explores the economic consequences of the USSR's collapse as well as the nature of recovery in various countries that followed. The course concludes with an overview of formal political economy models. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and (Economics 208D or 204D, either of which can be taken concurrently).
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY407D -</td>
<td>407D</td>
<td>Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course traces economic factors leading to the downfall of the Russian Empire and the rise of the USSR, followed by an assessment of the collapse of the USSR. Particular attention is devoted to the NEP period, earlier Soviet economic models, the famine of the 1930s, the impact of WWII, industrialization and urbanization, Soviet planning, and declining productivity growth and life expectancy in the in the 1970s and 1980s. The course then explores the economic consequences of the USSR's collapse as well as the nature of recovery in various countries that followed. The course concludes with an overview of formal political economy models. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and (Economics 208D or 204D, either of which can be taken concurrently).

| HISTORY409D - Black (In) Translation                                                                 |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Black (In) Translation</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines the meanings of Blackness as it moves through the Atlantic world from 18th century to present. Readings explore theories of race and representation, and ways that translation conveys, shapes, and disrupts ideas about Blackness as cultural identity, lived experience, political claim. Course materials include works of literature, history, anthropology, and film. Taught in English, though, students enrolled under foreign language discussion sections will do reading, writing, research, and discussion in the language, requiring 2 years of foreign language study for language credit for the major or minor.

| HISTORY410S - History of Death                                                                 |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>History of Death</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Explores the history of aging and dying in the modern world, focused on the United States and the recent past. Integrates medical and humanistic approaches, giving students the chance to use philosophy, literature, and science together. Brings the history of medicine together with histories of race, gender, and religion. Aimed especially at pre-med students, but open to all.

| HISTORY411S - Historicizing Whiteness                                                                 |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Historicizing Whiteness</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines origins, historical development, and consequences of white racial identity, from the 17th century to the present, beginning with the emergence of white racial grammar among trafficked white servants and so-called ‘white slaves’ to the creation of racialized rights and privileges for white people in Great Britain and the United States in the 19th, 20th, and 21st centuries.

| HISTORY413 - Ancient Athenian Law                                                                 |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ancient Athenian Law</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduction to ancient Athenian law. Read and discuss court speeches from real trials held 2000+ years ago. Topics range from homicide to commerce and banking, citizenship to assault, slavery to inheritance, religion to sexuality, political amnesty to judicial torture. Explore, through in-class discussion, theory and practice of law, aspects of social, economic, political, and cultural history visible through law in action, relationship between Athenian law and Athenian democracy.

| HISTORY416S - The Geopolitics of Islamophobia from Bosnia to Xinjiang                                                                 |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Geopolitics of Islamophobia from Bosnia to Xinjiang</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Comparative study of geopolitical attitudes toward Muslim minorities in and majority Muslim nations of the greater Middle East beginning with the Ottomans and including Bosnia, Chechnya, Iran, Afghanistan and/or Xinjiang. These polities have histories of colonialism, contested Islamic and secular state traditions, and experiences of anti-Muslim racism, religious and ethnic conflict and political violence. Theoretical analysis of historiography, Islamophobia, gender, identity, and policy. Discussion of US, European, and regional geopolitical interests through cultural texts including literature and film. This course does not fulfill the History capstone requirement.
HISTORY420 - Biography, Life Writing, Autofiction

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>420</td>
<td>Biography, Life Writing, Autofiction</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

History and art of the life story, examining biography as it drives research and contemporary writing. From Montaigne to Rousseau, the biopic to the lives of troubadours, we will study modes, media and social functions: portrait, caricature, meditation, fragments, selfies. The subjects: famous or anonymous people; those who are not human, landscapes, the sea—even inanimate objects. The accounts of radical change or metamorphosis, personal epiphanies, self-conscious reflection. The aims of depicting lives as they unfold. Texts include Foucault, Augustine, Flora Tristan, Pascal, Ferraoun. Critical readings will be coupled with creative work culminating in a research project around your life.

HISTORY425S - Atlantic Constellations: Migration, Exile, Second Slavery

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>425S</td>
<td>Atlantic Constellations: Migration, Exile, Second Slavery</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This seminar explores the collective identities of Afro-descendant slaves in the Americas as well as migrant and exiled Spaniards away from the homeland. We will consider three main themes: 1) chattel or second slavery in Cuba, and, secondarily, in the U.S. and/or Brazil; 2) Ibero-Atlantic diasporas since the mid-nineteenth century, including so-called white slavery; and 3) the career of María Zambrano, an expatriate intellectual who turned her banishment from Spain in 1939 into the enabling condition of her radical revision of Western philosophy and the ethics of exile. Prerequisite: 300-level or above Spanish course that meets foreign language (FL) requirement.

HISTORY431S - History of Acting

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>431S</td>
<td>History of Acting</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course surveys major acting traditions from around the world. Readings provide historical and theoretical perspectives on acting, and assignments require students to engage with the topic as researchers. Students will learn about various philosophical and artistic understandings of embodiment and about the political and societal roles actors have played throughout history. Students will work on research projects and will be required to write a research paper. (Does not fulfill the capstone requirement for History).

HISTORY445S - Modern German-Jewish Culture: Vienna, Prague, Berlin

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>445S</td>
<td>Modern German-Jewish Culture: Vienna, Prague, Berlin</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Explores the outsized intellectual and cultural output of Jews in pre-WWII Europe. The birth of psychoanalysis and the fallout of Jewish assimilation in Vienna. The legendary Golem figure and the writings of Franz Kafka and his circle in Prague. Avant-garde Jewish artists, writers, and filmmakers in Weimar Berlin. Each unit examines specific historical contexts and broader artistic movements. Topics include secularization and conversion; hybrid identities; emigration to Palestine and the U.S.; antisemitism and rising fascism; and ‘authentic’ Jewishness in Eastern Europe. Taught entirely in German. Recommended prerequisite: a 300-level German course or equivalent.
HISTORY446S - Law and Power in Africa and the African Diaspora

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 446S
Title: Law and Power in Africa and the African Diaspora

Description:
This course examines the history of law and politics in Africa and the African diaspora over the last two centuries. What role did law play in the colonization of Africa? In its liberation? How did law buttress or challenge ideas about race? How did people of African descent in the western hemisphere use law, and how did they find it used against them? What counts as a ‘legal’ institution, and who decides? Law can be a shield or a weapon, sometimes both at once. What it does depends on who is using it, and for what purpose. Readings will include history and legal philosophy. Students will use primary sources extensively, including court records.

HISTORY447S - South Africa and the World

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 447S
Title: South Africa and the World

Description:
Throughout the 20th century, South Africa had the largest economy and military on the African continent. Its strategic geographic position and mineral wealth in gold and uranium made it an important ally for the largest economies in the world. The Cold War enhanced its significance. However, in the second half of the twentieth century, its policies of apartheid rendered it an international pariah. This course examines the ways in which countries, international institutions, and millions of ‘ordinary’ people shaped the course of South African history. How did South Africa interact with the broader world, and how did the world try to affect South Africa’s policies of white supremacy?

HISTORY448S - Archiving and Visualizing Asia: Politics and Poetics of Knowledge Production

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 448S
Title: Archiving and Visualizing Asia: Politics and Poetics of Knowledge Production

Description:
Engages students in the practices and theories of archiving, documenting and curating marginal histories. Hands-on research in the archives of Duke’s Rubenstein Special Collections and elsewhere. Examines histories of movements and encounters between the ‘West’ and ‘Asia.’ Teaches original archival research and documentary methods through guided excavations in digital, audiovisual, and material resources. Directed readings and special guest lectures guide students on how to think critically on the theories and praxis of knowledge production, collection, documentation, circulation, and consumption. Students curate projects for final research assignment.

HISTORY449S - The History of Modern Syria, 1921-2021

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 449S
Title: The History of Modern Syria, 1921-2021

Description:
This seminar focuses on the history of State of Syria in the last hundred years. We survey the economic, legal, political, environmental, and cultural history of this region from the late Ottoman Empire to 2021.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>450S</td>
<td>South African Life Histories</td>
<td>South Africa presented the world with one of the great moral challenges of the 20th century. We will explore its history through the lens of biography and autobiography. The country underwent major transformations -- rapid industrialization, segregation, the rise and fall of apartheid, and the emergence of democracy. How did individuals experience these social changes? In what ways do individual lives illuminate these larger social processes? Protagonists include a prophetess, political artists and writers, exiles, and celebrated figures. Topics cover how segregation and apartheid affected people’s daily lives, opposition to white supremacy, and the personal impact of the AIDS’s epidemic.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>452S</td>
<td>World War I and the History of Art &amp; Architecture: Germany and Beyond</td>
<td>Grounds the student in a thorough history of World War I and its impact on the arts in Germany, from the outbreak of war in 1914 through the 1918 Revolution and up to the 10th anniversary of war (1924). Compares this history with select examples from France, the Soviet Union, Italy, and elsewhere.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>454S</td>
<td>Capstone Seminar - Globalization: Asia and Asian America</td>
<td>'Globalization': a shorthand for describing the period of extraordinary change that we are living through, our lives, and our worlds as defined by global connections, from the internet technologies and rapid mass communication to issues of mobilization for social justice. This course focuses on two main themes: global moments of common struggle against racism in Asian, Asian American, and African American contexts, and global manufacture and the ways in which the microprocessor chip technology has come to bind Asia, Africa, and America, with a special focus on women and Asian Americans in the IT sector.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>457S</td>
<td>Capstone Seminar: Maroon Societies in America</td>
<td>Origins and development of fugitive slave communities throughout the Americas from the sixteenth to the nineteenth century. Major focus is on their role in the operation of slave society.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
HISTORY464S - Capstone Seminar: Geopolitics of War and Empire in the Modern World

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 464S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Geopolitics of War and Empire in the Modern World

Description: This course examines the pursuit of military force, war, and empire and the making of global politics in the past two centuries. Our explorations range from the wars of nation, industry, and empire in the mid-nineteenth century to the world wars of the twentieth century and their legacy. We will pay special attention to the strategies of global ordering that were pursued by the political, military, and corporate elites of the major powers in an age of empire and globalization.

HISTORY467S - Capstone Seminar: Russia-USSR-Russia: History of Communism

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 467S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Russia-USSR-Russia: History of Communism

Description: The seminar offers an in-depth engagement with Russian modern history. Starting in the late 19th century, the seminar examines the formation of Russian Communist movement and communist regime as national and transnational phenomena of the 20th Century. A comparative perceptive allows students to analyze Russian appropriations of Marxist theory, the Russian Revolution, the making of the Stalinist state, de-Stalinization of the post-World War II period in the context of European and US labor movements and socialist experimentations, on the one hand, and anti-Communist sentiments and Cold War politics, on the other, while engaging with ethical issues raised by conflicting perspectives on the value and meaning of freedom and happiness and the means of achieving it.

HISTORY468S - Capstone Seminar: Literature & Terrorism

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 468S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Literature & Terrorism

Description: Explores the manner in which terrorism has been depicted in literature. Emphasis on novels written primarily by Russian writers in the 19th and early 20th centuries when that country experienced waves of political violence unmatched elsewhere in the Western world and writers sought to grapple with the meaning of the violence in vivid and imaginative ways. Readings include: 'The Secret Agent' by Joseph Conrad, 'The Devils' by Fedor Dostoevsky, 'Mother' by Maxim Gorky, and 'Petersburg' by Andrei Belyi.

HISTORY469S - Capstone Seminar: Islamic Law In History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 469S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Islamic Law In History

Description: This seminar focuses on Islamic law and Muslim jurists in social and economic history, with a special attention on the last two hundred years. In a historical anthropology of law, we read primary sources in English translation and secondary literature about the norms and practices of law in Muslim and non-Muslim polities. We look at law as a domain of social interaction, an instrument of government, and part of statecraft in Muslim polities. The main goals of the class are 1) to help students in understanding Islamic legal terms and the difference between norm and practice 2) to help students using the distinction between primary and secondary sources in an original research paper.
HISTORY470S - Capstone Seminar: Leadership in American History

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 470S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Leadership in American History

Description:
Focuses on political, social, business and artistic leaders in American history and problems that have called for leadership. Instructor consent required.

HISTORY471S - Capstone Seminar: Latin American Left Turns: A New Politics for the 21st Century?

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 471S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Latin American Left Turns: A New Politics for the 21st Century?

Description:
Examination of issues surrounding the upsurge of leftist governments elected by the popular vote in the wake of the perceived failures of neoliberalism and the Washington consensus of 1989. Looks at ways Washington has had to come to terms with an unexpected revival on the left that threatens U.S. hegemony while offering an alternative path to achieve national development, distribution of wealth, and recognition of diversity and pluralism. Students will examine these issues from multiple viewpoints and develop projects based on choosing specific research foci within the general enterprise of what these governments share in common and how they differ.

HISTORY472S - Capstone Seminar: Russia in World War II

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 472S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Russia in World War II

Description:
Nowhere else was World War II as bloody and destructive as it was in Eastern Europe, and of all nations it was the Soviet Union that paid the highest price for victory. The scale of death and destruction is hard to comprehend even today. How Soviet society, its economy and military prepared for the upcoming war, mobilized and persevered during the conflict, and ended up storming Berlin in 1945 is explored in this course. Questions of socialist economy at war, technological innovation, and gender dimensions of modern war and warfare form core topics of the course.

HISTORY473 - Two Koreas: History, Society and Culture

Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 473
Title: Two Koreas: History, Society and Culture

Description:
Introduces the divided histories of North and South Korea and their contemporary legacies in regional and global contexts. Explores topics such as colonization, modernization, division, war, migration, gender and sexuality, human rights, popular and political cultures, and globalization in comparative perspectives. Examines historical narratives, journalism, museums, literature, and visual cultures.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY476S</td>
<td>Capstone Seminar: American Militarism</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>476S</td>
<td>Capstone Seminar: American Militarism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Explores the debate over U.S. militarism in past and present. Fears of an American militarism have haunted public debate and policy-making, shaping the nation's pursuits of war, military force, and global empire. Focusing on moments of intense debate, we will pay close attention to how the term militarism functioned as an indispensable part of the U.S. political lexicon since the 1890s.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Central outcomes of the Civil Rights Movement, 1968 to the present; critical reading and discussion, research and writing on racial and social equality and inequality in major areas of American life, notably electoral politics; education; religion and ethics; and public culture.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY483S</td>
<td>Capstone Seminar: History of Torture</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>483S</td>
<td>Capstone Seminar: History of Torture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>This class offers a history of torture in the western world, from the Renaissance to the present. Students explore the topic primarily within the framework of legal history, from the institution of legal judicial torture in the late Middle Ages, through its formal abolition in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, down to its reemergence as an instrument of combat in wars in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY488S</td>
<td>Capstone: Research in Human Rights</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>488S</td>
<td>Capstone: Research in Human Rights</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>A primary learning objective is to have students connect the intellectual themes and scholarly knowledge they have developed in the Gateway, Introduction to Human Rights, and the electives they have taken toward the Human Rights Certificate. The course integrates co-curricular rights-related experiences (through DukeEngage, DukeImmerse, internships and volunteer placements). The capstone culminates in a final project. Students may work in teams toward a final project so long as each student's work is evaluated separately and at a high standard. Prerequisite: Cultural Anthropology 104D. Consent of director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY490S</td>
<td>Seminars in Special Topics</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>Seminars in Special Topics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Topics may vary.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HISTORY490</td>
<td>Special Topics in History</td>
<td>HISTORY</td>
<td>490</td>
<td>Special Topics in History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

838 / 1526
HISTORY495S - Senior Thesis Seminar
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 495S
Title: Senior Thesis Seminar
Description: Designed to introduce qualified students to advanced methods of historical research and writing, and to the appraisal of critical historical issues. Open only to seniors, but not restricted to candidates for graduation with distinction. This course, when taken by a history major, is accompanied by either a year-long 490S-196S seminar, two courses at the 200 level, or 393-394 independent study, supervised by an instructor.

HISTORY496S - Senior Thesis Seminar
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 496S
Title: Senior Thesis Seminar
Description: Continuation of History 495S.

HISTORY89S - First-Year Seminar
Subject: HISTORY
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar
Description: Topics vary each semester offered.

HLTHPOL165 - Introduction to the United States Health Care System
Subject: HLTHPOL
Catalog Number: 165
Title: Introduction to the United States Health Care System
Description: Overview of key health policy issues in the United States. Topics include: (1) sources of morbidity and mortality; (2) access to health care; (3) financing of health care including an overview of how health insurance works, Medicare and Medicaid and why there are uninsured persons and to what effect; (4) health care quality; (5) end-of-life issues and care in advanced stage illness; (6) the role of non-profit versus for-profit ownership of health care facilities and to what effect; (7) long term care and care-giving issues; and (9) the impact of social phenomenon such as income inequality, social class and culture on health care.

HLTHPOL263S - Entrepreneurial Problem Solving in Global Health
Subject: HLTHPOL
Catalog Number: 263S
Title: Entrepreneurial Problem Solving in Global Health
Description: Global health, both international and local, has a long way to go to support healthy lives. In this class, students will have the opportunity to gain understanding of how the Entrepreneurial method can help to improve health. Students will learn about the victories and the challenges, and in the end, will be better able to be successful in their future endeavors. Students will be challenged, and will have to work, but in the end, they will be proud of their accomplishments and newfound knowledge.

HLTHPOL306 - Health, Culture, and the Latino Community
Subject: HLTHPOL
Catalog Number: 306
Title: Health, Culture, and the Latino Community
Description: Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. Projects include presentations, writing, research, and conversations with local and global contacts. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HLTHPOL</td>
<td>306-1</td>
<td>Health, Culture, and the Latino Community: Service Learning</td>
<td>Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. This is a service-learning or community-engaged course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HLTHPOL</td>
<td>334</td>
<td>Health Economics</td>
<td>Economic aspects of the production, distribution, and organization of health care services, such as measuring output, structure of markets, demand for services, pricing of services, cost of care, financing, mechanisms, and their impact on the relevant markets. Prerequisite: Economics 201D or Public Policy 303D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HLTHPOL</td>
<td>335</td>
<td>Economics of Global Health</td>
<td>Examines reciprocal relationships between income, poverty and health across countries with focus on identifying effect of health on development. Addresses structural problems in delivery and quality of healthcare that arise from cultural as well as economic causes. Attention given to challenges of healthcare financing, and tension between high-tech care and basic care in developing countries. Students examine empirical evidence from interventions affecting health including infant mortality reduction programs. Focus on issues of poverty alleviation and the promise of foreign aid. Prerequisites: (Economics 201 or Public Policy 303D) and (Economics 204D or 208D or Public Policy 604), or instructor consent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HLTHPOL</td>
<td>341</td>
<td>Life and Death: Global Perspectives</td>
<td>Anthropological investigation of customs, practices, and beliefs that get activated when people (and other living beings) die. What constitutes life as in when does it start, what determines well-being, how is it measured; and what constitutes death as in a good versus bad death, by what medical definition, and according to what rituals and beliefs. Comparative inquiry into such questions as why brain-death is not accepted in some cultures and why people in some places prefer to die rather than live after an amputation. Topics will include organ transplants, gang warfare, cancer, and warzones from China and Botswana to Mexico and the United States.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HLTHPOL</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Health Policy Independent Study</td>
<td>Supervised reading in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in significant analysis and interpretation, or an academic and/or multimedia product.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HLTHPOL</td>
<td>392</td>
<td>Health Policy Independent Study</td>
<td>Supervised reading in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in significant analysis and interpretation, or an academic and/or multimedia product.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to enter into research related to the COVID-19 pandemic. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to addressing questions related to health policy and innovation. Teams may also include postdoctoral fellows and experts from business, government and the non-profit sector. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.
HLTHPOL424-1 - Medical Anthropology

Subject
HLTHPOL

Catalog Number 424-1

Title
Medical Anthropology

Description
Cross-cultural study of health and illness. Prerequisites: Completion of both Writing 101 and any First Year Seminar.

HLTHPOL462 - Behavioral Economics

Subject
HLTHPOL

Catalog Number 462

Title
Behavioral Economics

Description
Introduction to the insights gained from incorporating psychology into economic modeling. Based exclusively on original, often recent, scientific publications. Focus on empirical evidence, theoretical models and economic implications. Equilibrium analysis is essential analytical tool. Participants will each give a presentation of a scientific paper from the reading list. This course will build on mathematics covered in Mathematics 202/212/222. Prerequisite: Economics 205D.

HLTHPOL480 - Capstone for Certificate in Health Policy

Subject
HLTHPOL

Catalog Number 480

Title
Capstone for Certificate in Health Policy

Description
Capstone course for Health Policy Certificate. Students will integrate certificate coursework and thematic experiences into a final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretations of current health policy and innovation challenges. This course should be taken after the student completes the experiential learning component and required courses for the certificate. Course is only open to students who have completed the required Health Policy Certificate prerequisites; please contact the program/instructor to confirm eligibility and enroll.

HOUSECS59 - House Course

Subject
HOUSECS

Catalog Number
59

Title
House Course

Description
Special topics course. Information about specific sections available in course synopsis. For more about House Courses, visit the following website: https://trinity.duke.edu/house-courses. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only.

I&E110 - Design Your Duke Journey

Subject
I&E

Catalog Number
110

Title
Design Your Duke Journey

Description
Design Your Duke Journey (+Career!) is an interactive course that applies a design-thinking framework and mindset to career exploration and development. Students will learn to get curious, try stuff out and talk to people through experiential activities in and out of the classroom, self-reflection, readings and discussion. The intended goal is that students will learn how design thinking can help them explore options and opportunities, and at the same time, wrestle with the 'wicked' problem of: How do I know if I'm on the right track, if I don't know exactly what the destination is? This class is best suited for first-year or sophomore undergraduate students.

I&E140 - Create, Innovate, Act: Creativity, Innovation, and Social Action

Subject
I&E

Catalog Number
140

Title
Create, Innovate, Act: Creativity, Innovation, and Social Action

Description
Introductory course for first and second year undergraduates. This course bridges sciences, arts, and humanities, with focus on experiential knowledge and engagement with the everyday. Combines methods from broad range of areas based on creative inquiry and innovation. Students choose particular areas, or combination thereof, discussing their own research, inventions, artworks, compositions, performances, new media, or activist interventions. Specific skills developed at specialized maker spaces, labs, and studios. With exception of guest presentations, lectures delivered in video format to maximize class time production. Guest speakers include artists, activists, innovators, entrepreneurs, curators, and scholars.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E171</td>
<td>171</td>
<td>Business Anthropology: Anthropologists in the Workplace</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduces students to the various applications of anthropological theory and ethnographic method in contemporary institutional settings with the aim of familiarizing students with alternative career opportunities. The course looks at corporate and other private and public-sector use cases as well as the extensive literatures in the fields of organizational management, user, and consumer experience. Students also engage professionals in order to better understand processes of research, hypothesis testing, analysis, and the formulation of organizational management, design, and other strategic solutions for clients.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E172</td>
<td>172</td>
<td>The Anthropology of Design and User Experience (UX) Research</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The field of design and the burgeoning field of User Experience (UX) research has recently applied the methods anthropologists have used for over a century. The methods of cultural anthropology are distinctly aligned to ask questions about motivations, beliefs, values, and relationships within cultural systems through direct participant observation, surveys, focus groups, and archival research. Privileging critical listening, empathy, and perspective-taking, we try to discern why people do what they do, and apply these questions to human-centered design.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E190</td>
<td>190</td>
<td>Special Topics in Innovation &amp; Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Selected topics in innovation & Entrepreneurship.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E190SA</td>
<td>190SA</td>
<td>Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Innovation and Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics differ by section.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E230S</td>
<td>230S</td>
<td>Arts Policy, Leadership, and Engagement</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This community-engaged course provides an introduction to contemporary issues in US arts policy and cultural sector leadership across four broad themes: creative institutions; cultural equity and accessibility; creative placemaking/community development; and the creative economy. In addition to policy questions in these areas, we examine leadership practices in arts organizations and cultural institutions, with particular attention to the kinds of leadership the arts require in a post-2020 world. Students will work in teams on a semester-long collaborative project with an arts policy organization and experience the arts in practice through attendance at performances and exhibitions.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E243S</td>
<td>243S</td>
<td>The Art of Improvising</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
We will explore techniques for spontaneous behavior, immediate creation, and developing your creativity and truth on stage. The goal of the class exercises will be to build community and collaboration, to deepen your communication skills, and to strengthen your natural sense of humor. We will study the works of Viola Spolin, Keith Johnstone, and iO.
I&E250 - Building Global Audiences

Description
Marketing and publicity are so important to audience building that, 20 years ago, expanding beyond local audiences usually couldn't be accomplished without huge advertising budgets. However, thanks to the Internet, you can build a global audience from your dorm room. This class explores how. Learn about social media, search engine optimization, virality, content marketing, growth hacking, and other digital audience building strategies. They're difficult to learn and time consuming to execute, so expect to struggle. We'll learn as much from our failures as we will from our successes as we discover what it takes to cultivate global awareness for an idea without ever leaving Durham.

I&E252 - Learning to Fail

Description
Most people spend their lives afraid of failing. Yet, many of the world's most successful people failed numerous times on their paths toward success. The underlying question of this class is if failing is as antithetical to learning as we're taught to believe. To explore this question, we will test ways of using failure as a strategy for learning. We will experiment with failure to learn how it can make us better as we develop our skills as innovators, specifically focusing on the earliest stage of creativity: ideation. We will use failure through experimentation as a technique for problem definition and needs discovery which, in turn, will help us validate the quality of our ideas.

I&E253 - Social Marketing: From Literary Celebrities to Instagram Influencers

Description
Typical Duke students spend hours each day using social media. You've surely heard the platforms described as 'revolutionary,' and you've also heard them described as 'time wasters.' What you probably haven't thought about is how similar they are to previous 'revolutionary' communications technologies like novels, newspapers, and even language itself. This course explores ways in which studying the masters of previous 'social' media technologies—the Shakespeares, Whitmans, and Eliots of the world—can help us understand how influencers on digital social media leverage the same platforms you use every day to market themselves, build their brands, and grow their audiences.

I&E259 - Arts, Film, Or Media Practicum

Description
This course will accompany the semester-long internship and will assist students in developing interpersonal and workplace competencies, reflection tools, professional capabilities, and focused expertise. It will also provide students with skills and tools to prepare them for future work in the creative industries. They will attend one group meeting and three one-on-one, half-hour academic supervisor meetings (with assignments due at each meeting designed to move the final research project forward).
I&E259A - Arts, Film, or Media Practicum

Subject: I&E
Catalog Number: 259A
Title: Arts, Film, or Media Practicum

Description
Immersion in the for-profit and not-for-profit art and entertainment worlds through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist, scholar, or institution selected to match each student's area of interest. Each student required to submit a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation that considers the relationship between the student's sponsoring institution and the larger industrial/cultural complex within the local (Los Angeles) and national economies of art, culture, and commerce. Simultaneous enrollment in Literature 290AS-1 required. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in Los Angeles Program.

I&E261 - Social Innovation

Subject: I&E
Catalog Number: 261
Title: Social Innovation

Description
This course will provide an introduction to the field of social innovation. Through readings, classroom discussion, experiential learning, and individual and team assignments, the course will provide students with concepts and frameworks for understanding and practicing effective social innovation. The course develops a theory of innovation and describes examples of persons and organizations demonstrating innovative approaches. We will look at how to innovate effectively and the attributes and skills that cultivate such innovation. We will also explore the limitations of social innovation and consider critical arguments that the field must address.

I&E262 - Designing Transformative Learning

Subject: I&E
Catalog Number: 262
Title: Designing Transformative Learning

Description
The term 'open source' is frequently used to denote software source code that is freely available, modifiable, and shareable. However, the term has much wider applicability and relevance. The core values of open source—open knowledge and access to information, collaboration and community, transparency and meritocracy, inclusion and diversity, and iterative creation and adaptability—have profound implications for 21st century learning. In this learner-centered, project-based course, students will research the intersection of open source concepts, technology, and education innovation and share their knowledge across public-facing open-access media.

I&E263S - Entrepreneurial Problem Solving in Global Health

Subject: I&E
Catalog Number: 263S
Title: Entrepreneurial Problem Solving in Global Health

Description
Global health, both international and local, has a long way to go to support healthy lives. In this class, students will have the opportunity to gain understanding of how the Entrepreneurial method can help to improve health. Students will learn about the victories and the challenges, and in the end, will be better able to be successful in their future endeavors. Students will be challenged, and will have to work, but in the end, they will be proud of their accomplishments and newfound knowledge.
I&E265S - Introduction to Digital Feminism

Subject: I&E
Catalog Number: 265S
Title: Introduction to Digital Feminism

Description
The aim of this course is to critically analyze digital culture from a feminist and gender studies perspective. We will address topics related to digital innovation and its history, unpacking and questioning them through the insights offered by genders studies analytical tools. Subjects such as the rise of the Silicon Valley, gaming culture, social media, algorithms, Artificial Intelligence, extraction of data applied to biotechnology, macroeconomic development of IT platforms and the impact of technology on ecology will be discussed starting from a current event or debate, to which we will give a historical, ethical, sociological, theoretical, literary or cinematographic perspective.

I&E271 - Building and Sustaining a Successful Enterprise

Subject: I&E
Catalog Number: 271
Title: Building and Sustaining a Successful Enterprise

Description
In this Duke in Silicon Valley course, students will develop an understanding of the resources, skills, and planning required to launch a new product or service. Through lectures, case studies, and visiting talks, the course addresses critical factors such as: ideation, competition and competitive advantage, financing requirements, corporate culture, product positioning, customer identification, and market segmentation. Director of undergraduate studies consent required.

I&E272S - Documentary and Policy: How Documentary Influences Policy

Subject: I&E
Catalog Number: 272S
Title: Documentary and Policy: How Documentary Influences Policy

Description
Examines documentaries as catalysts for change in local, state, and federal laws and regulations, with special attention to relationships between film and organizations with political influence. Looks at how documentaries have altered public sentiment and political outcomes. Uses case studies of documentary films (essay-style, journalistic, information-driven films; narrative, story-driven films; propaganda; art films; and hybrids of all of the above). Explores the question of how a film achieves influence: for example, with a high-profile theatrical and/or television release, by utilization as an educational tool, or by 'going viral' to become part of a public conversation.
I&E275 - Innovation & Entrepreneurship at the Intersection of Media, Entertainment and Technology

Description
The class will jump into the middle of the change and innovation happening at the intersection of Media, Entertainment and Technology. We will look at how we make, distribute and consume Media and Entertainment. We will focus on entrepreneurs and innovative companies and creators revolutionizing Media and Entertainment, as well as thought leaders and leading companies in the space. The class will feature Cases, articles, speakers, in class discussion along with a term long project.

I&E281 - Basics of Technology Commercialization

Description
This course covers assessment, development, and translation for a range of technical areas, such as pharmaceuticals, computer science, energy, and medical devices. The course is organized around the basic elements of taking technology from conception to development and commercialization, including understanding technology, developing a plan to get to market, and assessing the potential market. Combines lecture, case assignments, and discussion of real technology development opportunities.

I&E290 - Special Topics

Description
Selected topics in innovation and entrepreneurship.

I&E290S - Special Topics Seminar

Description
Seminar version of I&E 290. Selected topics in innovation and entrepreneurship.

I&E295S - Arts Entrepreneurship

Description
Student teams work on specific arts-based entrepreneurial projects. Teams comprised of students from different backgrounds (arts, engineering, economics, computer science). Goals include creating business plan and launching ventures in areas of the arts. Structure an adaptation of Fuqua Program for Entrepreneurs. Ideal projects have real/positive impact on society. Students learn to situate artistic creativity within projects that meet societal need. Students from any background welcome to apply for enrollment. Must have interest in arts or working with artists in entrepreneurial context. Admission by permission of instructors.

I&E302 - Fieldwork Methods: Cultural Analysis and Interpretation

Description
Anthropology as a discipline (a field of study) and the site where anthropologists work: the field. Combines theories of anthropological fieldwork methods with practice, including participation, observation, and interviews. Students undertake original research in a local fieldsite of their choice and produce their own mini-ethnography. This requirement may also be satisfied by taking Cultural Anthropology 290A Duke in Ghana Anthropological Field Research.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>310S</td>
<td>Non-Profit Cultural Institutions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Non-profit cultural institutions are integral parts of arts communities at all levels: national, regional, local. Through readings, projects and service-learning, students gain an overview of non-profit cultural organization formation, management, operational structures, governance challenges, board member responsibilities and situational ethics. Explores historical and present functions and social structures in which nonprofit tax-exempt organizations operate. Investigates how nonprofit cultural institutions have increasingly become a vehicle for fostering creativity in the arts and humanities. Students partner with local non-profit arts/cultural organizations to work on specific projects.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>315A</td>
<td>Language and Culture of Entrepreneurship in Latin America</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This Duke in Chile course focuses on learning culture through social and for-profit entrepreneurship in Latin America, with an aim at developing proficiency in Spanish through linguistic, social, and cultural immersion through interactions with the entrepreneurial community. Course builds on elements of the language acquired in Spanish 101 - 203, providing continued development of listening, speaking, reading and writing skills; improving range and sophistication of grammar usage and vocabulary. Students complete the equivalent of Spanish 204 and Spanish 303. Satisfies one course requirement for Spanish majors or minors. Prerequisite: Spanish 203 or equivalent. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>350</td>
<td>Customer Empathy &amp; Brand Experience Design</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Before Dollar Shave Club, we went to Target to save on Gillette. We still buy traditional brands at traditional stores. But a host of these disruptors are cutting out the middleman while redefining brick-and-mortar retail. Amazon now gets us whatever we want, whenever and wherever we want it. Dollar Shave Club quickly amassed 3 million subscribers. These 'direct-to-consumer' brands control every customer interaction. These brands become as much about that experience as about the product itself. This requires customer empathy. Armed with these insights, we can create brands that reframe peoples’ category expectations and, in best cases, enhance their lives.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>352</td>
<td>Strategies for Innovation and Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Course covers component elements of developing skills needed to launch a venture. Starting at the point of need identification, course covers lean methodology; innovation and entrepreneurship strategy; creating needed financing and resource structures; effectively marketing/communicating innovation and its associated benefits; leading, managing, and working effectively within teams; creating a positive and ethical work culture; and evaluating success. Materials for class discussion are case studies and readings. Course is only open to Innovation &amp; Entrepreneurship Certificate students.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
I&E359A - Introduction to Global Los Angeles: An Interdisciplinary Survey (Service-Learning)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>359A</td>
<td>Introduction to Global Los Angeles: An Interdisciplinary Survey (Service-Learning)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course explores the complexities of global Los Angeles by focusing on issues that especially impact its marginalized communities. For the service-learning component, students volunteer at least 20 hours during the semester at nonprofit organizations engaged in the pursuit of social justice. This experience provides an opportunity to observe, participate in and reflect on the day-to-day implementation of social action, policy and organizing initiatives. As part of the volunteer commitment and in lieu of a final paper, students produce a documentary media project that communicates goals identified by and in collaboration with the community partner.

I&E375 - The Economics of Entrepreneurship

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>375</td>
<td>The Economics of Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Application of microeconomic theory, such as game theory and industrial organization, to analyze business start-ups and their development. Focus on evaluation of the role of entrepreneurs in the macroeconomy, and the microeconomic performance of young businesses. The effects of government policies and economic fluctuations on entrepreneurs will be addressed, as well as an understanding of the organization and financial structure, development, and allocational decisions of growing entrepreneurial ventures. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.

I&E385 - New Ventures Discovery

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>385</td>
<td>New Ventures Discovery</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course is designed to lead you to a eureka moment by teaching you how to explore the world around you for problems worth solving. Instead of jumping directly into problem solving and solution development—which can often be wasteful without a clear understanding of a given market and customer need—this course focuses on research, exploration, and discovery. It asks students to set aside pre-conceived notions, avoiding some of their own blind spots, in order to do the necessary work of collecting data about market and learning to assess it as objectively as possible. This course is ideal for anyone who wants to excel at finding white space for new innovation and entrepreneurial action.

I&E390 - Advanced Special Topics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>Advanced Special Topics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Selected advanced topics in innovation and entrepreneurship. Instructor consent required.
I&E390S - Advanced Special Topics Seminar

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Advanced Special Topics Seminar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Selected advanced topics in innovation and entrepreneurship. Instructor consent required.

I&E391 - Independent Study in Innovation and Entrepreneurship

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study in Innovation and Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Directed reading or individual projects under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

I&E393 - Research Independent Study in Innovation and Entrepreneurship

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Innovation and Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual research under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

I&E394 - Research Independent Study in Innovation and Entrepreneurship

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>394</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Innovation and Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual research under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required. Second semester of year-long research independent study (continuation of I&E 393: Research Independent Study).

I&E395 - New Ventures Development

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>395</td>
<td>New Ventures Development</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Do you want to design a business model around either your own idea or someone else’s problem? In New Ventures: Development you’ll learn to assess opportunities, develop and test business models, understand your financials, and build successful teams. If you’ve validated an idea through New Ventures: Discovery or through your independent customer discovery process, New Venture: Development can facilitate idea to action. In this course, student teams will develop core elements of a strategy for a technology or business idea; detail will be suitable for a business plan document for a company seeking initial investment; strategy will serve as a foundation for a first operating plan for company.

I&E396 - New Ventures Delivery

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I&amp;E</td>
<td>396</td>
<td>New Ventures Delivery</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Did your idea pass muster in New Ventures Development? Do you have early revenue or evidence of product market fit and want to continue to refine your go to market strategy? New Ventures Delivery is the ideal course for serious entrepreneurs ready to push themselves to take the leap. In this course you will continue to test core hypothesis while you develop a milestone driven plan for go-to-market, sales, staffing, and fundraising.
I&E447 - Philosophical and Conceptual Problems of Entrepreneurship

Subject
I&E

Catalog Number
447

Title
Philosophical and Conceptual Problems of Entrepreneurship

Description
Investigation of the nature of entrepreneurship; its psychological foundations, relation to science and technology, implications for economics, and ramifications for morality and ethics.

---

I&E499 - Innovation and Entrepreneurship Capstone: Ideas into Action

Subject
I&E

Catalog Number
499

Title
Innovation and Entrepreneurship Capstone: Ideas into Action

Description
In this course, students bring together interdisciplinary insights from their work throughout the Innovation & Entrepreneurship Certificate program to shed light on innovation and entrepreneurship and the roles they play in addressing the world’s most pressing problems. The class will incorporate rich discussion, selected readings, and guest speakers addressing topics in innovation and entrepreneurship. Students will focus on applying what they have learned through the certificate curriculum to develop an innovation and entrepreneurship capstone project. Director of undergraduate studies consent required.

---

I&E499D - Innovation and Entrepreneurship Capstone: Ideas into Action

Subject
I&E

Catalog Number
499D

Title
Innovation and Entrepreneurship Capstone: Ideas into Action

Description
In this course, students bring together interdisciplinary insights from their work throughout the Innovation & Entrepreneurship Certificate program to shed light on innovation and entrepreneurship and the roles they play in addressing the world’s most pressing problems. The class will incorporate rich discussion, selected readings, and guest speakers addressing topics in innovation and entrepreneurship. Students will focus on applying what they have learned through the certificate curriculum to develop an innovation and entrepreneurship capstone project. Director of undergraduate studies consent required.

---

I&E89S - Special Topics

Subject
I&E

Catalog Number
89S

Title
Special Topics

Description
Selected special topics in innovation and entrepreneurship.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>Introduction to Cultural Anthropology</td>
<td>Theoretical approaches to analyzing cultural beliefs and practices cross-culturally; application of specific approaches to case material from present and/or past cultures.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>101D</td>
<td>Introduction to Cultural Anthropology</td>
<td>Same as Cultural Anthropology 101 except instruction is provided in lecture and discussion group each week.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Introduction to Dance</td>
<td>Dance as a reflection of historical and current cultural values. Introduction to some of the major forms of world dance (for example, classical dances of Europe, Asia and Africa, and American modern dance); how dance forms illuminate and define gender, personal and group identity, political and religious status, aesthetic values, and the intentions of the dance-makers; dance as an educative force, a facilitator of cultural acquisition, and a reflection of cultural change; the function of dance in various cultural settings; how to look at dance, to analyze movement, and to read the text of dance structure.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>103</td>
<td>AIDS and Other Emerging Diseases</td>
<td>Explores the interaction of biology and culture in creating and defining diseases through an investigation of acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS) and other emerging diseases: molecular biology; biology of transmission and infection; the role of people and culture in the evolution of infectious diseases; reasons for the geographic variations in disease. The inductive-deductive methodology of science is both used to develop and test hypotheses as well as examined itself as an analytical tool. Intended for nonmajors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>104</td>
<td>Anthropology and Film</td>
<td>The study of feature films and documentaries on issues of colonialism, imperialism, war and peace, and cultural interaction. An introduction to critical film theory and film production in non-Western countries.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>106</td>
<td>Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South</td>
<td>Introduction to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required introductory course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS106S - Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 106S
Title: Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Description: Intro to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, Latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required intro course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.

ICS108 - Religions of Asia

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 108
Title: Religions of Asia

Description: Problems and methods in the study of religion, followed by a survey of the historical development, beliefs, practices, ethics, and contemporary significance of the Islamic religion and religions of south and east Asia.

ICS110 - Introduction to African Studies (DS3 or DS4)

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 110
Title: Introduction to African Studies (DS3 or DS4)

Description: A range of disciplinary perspectives on key topics in contemporary African Studies: nationalism and pan-Africanism, imperialism and colonialism, genocide and famine, development and democratization, art and music, age and gender.

ICS111 - Traditions in Documentary Studies

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 111
Title: Traditions in Documentary Studies

Description: Traditions of documentary work seen through an interdisciplinary perspective, with an emphasis on twentieth-century practice. Introduces students to a range of documentary idioms and voices, including the work of photographers, filmmakers, oral historians, folklorists, musicologists, radio documentarians, and writers. Stresses aesthetic, scholarly, and ethical considerations involved in representing other people and cultures.

ICS111D - Traditions in Documentary Studies

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 111D
Title: Traditions in Documentary Studies

Description: Traditions of documentary work seen through an interdisciplinary perspective, with an emphasis on twentieth-century practice. Introduces students to a range of documentary idioms and voices, including the work of photographers, filmmakers, oral historians, folklorists, musicologists, radio documentarians, and writers. Stresses aesthetic, scholarly, and ethical considerations involved in representing other people and cultures.

ICS113 - Introduction to Human Rights: Gateway for the Human Rights Certificate

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 113
Title: Introduction to Human Rights: Gateway for the Human Rights Certificate

Description: This is the Gateway course for the Human Rights Certificate. Students are introduced to the history, theory, practice of, and current issues in human rights. The course is interdisciplinary.
ICS115 - Intro to Middle East: History, Culture, Politics

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 115
Title: Intro to Middle East: History, Culture, Politics

Description:
Introductory course for the study of the Middle East. Introduce both modern and medieval aspects of the Middle East, including but not limited to Arab, Turkish, and Iranian cultures of Middle East. No background necessary.

ICS116FS - Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 116FS
Title: Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe

Description:
This course focuses on the battle between barbarian invaders, established communities, and new religions in the Middle Ages. What became Spain and Portugal were battlegrounds between faiths old and new, a clash of civilizations between Christianity, Judaism, and Islam that would inform future global conflicts. We explore the history of this confrontation at the crossroad of civilizations—between East and West, Africa and Europe—and its effect on our worldview today. A common culture was forged in science, mathematics, music, literature, philosophy, and mysticism, a shared legacy shaping world history and the current world order. Part of the 'Geopolitics and Culture' Focus Cluster.

ICS118 - Science and the Modern World: Introduction to the History of Science

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 118
Title: Science and the Modern World: Introduction to the History of Science

Description:
This course surveys the history of science from the sixteenth century through the present day. It addresses science not just as a body of knowledge and methods but as a cultural activity that has shaped and been shaped by modern global history. Topics will range across physical sciences, life sciences, earth and environmental sciences, and social sciences. This course takes a global perspective, with emphasis on parallels, differences, and interconnections among ways of knowing nature in different places and times, as well as the role of specific materials, environments, technologies, and practical problems in the development of modern science.

ICS119FS - Human Rights: Back to The Future, Looking at Roots and Current Reality of Human Rights

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 119FS
Title: Human Rights: Back to The Future, Looking at Roots and Current Reality of Human Rights

Description:
This Focus course introduces students to a brief history of rights as a way to ground our exploration of current human rights challenges and what rights may be envisioned in the future. Rights have never been static. Recent changes in how we see rights include the right to truth in post-conflict societies and animal rights. We'll explore how cutting-edge thinkers contribute to an expanded horizon of rights. We will be engaging with activists, scholars, and artists. Open only to students in the Focus Program.
ICS120 - American Indian Nations Today

Description
This course is an introduction to the tremendous diversity of contemporary American Indian sovereign nations’ and their citizens’ experiences in the territory now known as the United States. American Indian Nations Today addresses the complexities of contemporary Native Nation topics by providing context for understanding the distinct political, legal, economic, social, and cultural institutions of Native Nations today. These topics and issues are analyzed from individual, local, and national Native and non-Native perspectives through readings, media, and occasional guest speakers.

ICS121 - Introduction to Contemporary Latin America

Description
This is an introductory, interdisciplinary survey course on modern Latin America focusing on contemporary social issues especially from the past five years. Each week will be dedicated to a different social problematic, including: political indigeneity; the legacy of African slavery; feminism and femicide; drug wars; migration and border issues; student movements; neoliberalism and resource struggles; and ecological contestation. Weekly meetings are driven by reading discussion, with context provided in lectures. You will conduct independent research in at least one group presentation and one final project. Required for students seeking the certificate in Latin American Studies.

ICS122 - History of Latinxs in the United States

Description
This introductory course will cover the social, cultural, and political histories of Latino/as in the United States from 1848 to the present including the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the Great Depression, WWI/WWII, the creation of Latino/a civil rights organizations, and the civil wars and free trade agreements of the 1980s and 1990s that have spurred so much of contemporary migration. Themes include colonialism and conquest, sexuality and gender, race and ethnicity, transnationalism and migration, social inequality and practices of resistance. This class will highlight the diversity of the Latino/a experience—focusing on the history of Afro-Latino/as, queer Latino/as, and undocumented Latino/as.

ICS123 - Private Wealth and Public Giving: A Modern History

Description
Surveys the entangled relationship between private wealth and public giving over the past few centuries of capitalist modernity in Asia, Europe, and the United States. Explores how the entrepreneurial impulse to make money has also been shadowed by the ethical imperative to give it away. Analysis of the circumstances and contexts in which the apparent altruism of givers is also motivated by self-interest. The major topics include study of religious giving; the historical roots of philanthropy in the age of imperialism; the evolution of ideas of ‘trusteeship’ and ‘creative capitalism;’ gender and philanthropy; and ‘celebrity’ philanthropy.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>125FS</td>
<td>Languages, Margins, Borders: Representations, Practices, and Policies</td>
<td>Examines the relationships between language and contemporary migration patterns that, directly or indirectly, affect millions of people across the globe, focusing especially on migration flows related to humanitarian challenges. Divided into three key themes, it analyzes the representation of migrants and migration in media and culture; language practices of migrants, including translanguaging and language learning; and policies towards migrants and their languages that pertain to governance in linguistically diverse societies. Interdisciplinary in approach, readings are drawn from linguistic anthropology and sociolinguistics, as well as political sociology and public policy studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>126</td>
<td>American Indians Go Graphic</td>
<td>Introductory-level American Indian Studies course that explores historic and contemporary Native Nation-centric topics through the medium of comic books and graphic novels. These topics include representation and racialization, differing forms of activism, economic development, and settler-colonial impacts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>128FS</td>
<td>Human Rights and World Politics</td>
<td>Examines the role of human rights and global justice in world politics. We will consider questions such as whether human rights are universal, what role human rights and global justice should be play in U.S. foreign policy, which strategies are most effective in promoting human rights and global justice, and which risk inciting backlash. The course will cover topics including civil and political rights; economic, social and cultural rights; genocide, torture, humanitarian intervention, and the international criminal court.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>144</td>
<td>Introduction to East Asian Cultures: Narrating East Asia through Word and Image</td>
<td>The study of East Asia makes sense not necessarily as a study of shared canons or of 'civilizational origins' or, shared 'Asian values': rather, modern East Asia can be productively studied in terms of shared historical, political, cultural concerns; the influx of new ideologies; the processes of 'becoming modern'; and of course, the positioning of East Asian area studies in the academy and the larger world. In this introductory course, we will be looking at 'Global East Asia' and its diasporas through all manners of storytelling, focusing on word-image narratives: Asian traditions of manga, manhwa, manhua, as well as graphic novels.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>150S</td>
<td>Sports and Society</td>
<td>This course will examine the giant role that sports play in the modern world. It will explore the history of sports in the U.S. and worldwide, and the role of forces like race, gender, mythmaking, economics, and fan cultures in a variation of games from soccer to basketball and football.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>152S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: History at Sea</td>
<td>Maritime history through examination of ships, shipping, and shipboard communities. Topics addressed include shipboard language, labor, rituals, technology, aesthetics, and power, as well as free and forced maritime migrations. Discussion of the ways ships and shipping created the world in which we live.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>157S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Empires in Historical Perspective</td>
<td>Study of modern empires in historical comparative-connective perspective. Approaches, methods, themes include social history from below, maritime history, history of technology, debates about the ethicality of war, occupation and regime change in sovereign territories. Final research paper involving intensive primary-source research, extensive use of secondary and on-line sources for the study of empires.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>160</td>
<td>Islam</td>
<td>Introduction to Islamic theology, practice, social institutions, and ethics in the past and present. This course uses original Islamic texts, academic prose, as well as film and fiction. Two short papers, quizzes, and brief presentation are required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>164S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar - Antisemitism: Ethnicity, Race, Religion, Culture</td>
<td>Focuses on selected anti-Judaic and antisemitic episodes from ancient antiquity through modern times, paying attention to both antisemitic texts and events. It evaluates competing theoretical frameworks for understanding antisemitism as ethnic, racial, religious and cultural phenomenon. Can antisemitism be understood as part of the history of racism or of other forms of ethnic hatred? Why were Jews so often target of hatred? How did both Jews and antisemites view their relations with each other? How do historians understand them? If there is limited continuity among antisemitic episodes, how can the prevalence and repetitiveness of antisemitism be explained?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>166S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar - Anarchism and its Discontents</td>
<td>Introduction to the 19th century philosophical foundations of anarchist thought and to the history of the major anarchist movements in the 20th century in Russia, Italy and Spain. The first part of the course is an intensive investigation of the thought of Michael Bakunin, Pierre-Joseph Proudhon, Leo Tolstoy and Peter Kropotkin using selections from their own writings. The next unit focuses on the movements they inspired in Russia and Western Europe. The last unit concerns the more contemporary manifestations of anarchism in the U.S. under the influence of Murray Bookchin. Students will write a major paper due at the end of the course.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS169 - Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Subject | ICS
---|---
Catalog Number | 169
Title | Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)
Description
History and development of commercial advertising; advertising as a reflector and/or creator of social and cultural values; advertisements as cultural myths; effects on children, women, and ethnic minorities; advertising and language; relation to political and economic structure; and advertising and world culture. Emphasis on American society complemented by case studies of advertising in Canada, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Western Europe, and selected other countries.

ICS170 - Muslim World: Transformations and Continuities

Subject | ICS
---|---
Catalog Number | 170
Title | Muslim World: Transformations and Continuities
Description
The diversity of social practices within the community of Islam. Particular emphasis on gender relations, religious movements, diaspora communities, and social change.

ICS171 - Business Anthropology: Anthropologists in the Workplace

Subject | ICS
---|---
Catalog Number | 171
Title | Business Anthropology: Anthropologists in the Workplace
Description
Introduces students to the various applications of anthropological theory and ethnographic method in contemporary institutional settings with the aim of familiarizing students with alternative career opportunities. The course looks at corporate and other private and public-sector use cases as well as the extensive literatures in the fields of organizational management, user, and consumer experience. Students also engage professionals in order to better understand processes of research, hypothesis testing, analysis, and the formulation of organizational management, design, and other strategic solutions for clients.

ICS179S - Gateway Seminar: Capitalism & Its Critics

Subject | ICS
---|---
Catalog Number | 179S
Title | Gateway Seminar: Capitalism & Its Critics
Description
Surveys major advocates, critics, and reformers of capitalism, from Adam Smith, Charles Dickens, and Karl Marx to contemporary champions and opponents of ‘free market’ reform.
ICS180FS - Heroes and Villains: Dissidence in the Middle East

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 180FS
Title: Heroes and Villains: Dissidence in the Middle East

Description: Considering the historical culture of disobedience in the Middle East and the significant actors as superheroes and villains depending on the time and their affiliations. Investigating how the dissident voices are constructed and performed from pre-modern esoteric practices in dervish convents, or coffee houses to print culture and social media in modern times. Discussing major themes such as protest and propaganda, censorship and self-censorship, and surveillance and counter-surveillance through films, poetry, graphic novels, and music.

ICS183S - Gateway Seminar: Civil Rights and Asian Americans

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 183S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Civil Rights and Asian Americans

Description: Study of crucial legal and political moments in the struggle for equal civil rights of minorities, beginning with the laws of Chinese Exclusion, the struggle to define who was 'White,' the Asian Immigration Exclusion Acts, the relationships of Asians and African Americans and the struggle for equal schooling in the American South, the Japanese Concentration camps, the Redress and Reparations Civil Rights struggle, and the involvement of Asians Americans in the African American-led Civil Rights Movement in the 1960s, including working with Martin Luther King and Malcolm X, and Asian Americans in the anti-sweatshop unionization movement.

ICS186FS - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 186FS
Title: Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description: Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. how games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

ICS188S - Gateway Seminar: The Price of Sex: Gender and the Global Political Economy

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 188S
Title: Gateway Seminar: The Price of Sex: Gender and the Global Political Economy

Description: Explores how sex and gender have shaped economic policies and opportunities in different settings, particularly in the modern era (19th, 20th, and 21st centuries). Will focus on public policies and normative practices at the local, national, and international levels. As a gateway seminar for the history major, will focus on developing an understanding of historiography and methodology culminating in a prospectus for a future research project.

ICS190 - Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Description: Seminar version of International Comparative Studies. Topics vary by semester.

ICS190A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in International Comparative Studies

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 190A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in International Comparative Studies

Description: Topics differ by section.
ICS190FS - Focus Program Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Focus Program Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary from semester to semester, focusing either on specific world regions or particular comparative/global issues. Open only to students in the FOCUS Program.

ICS190S - Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Seminar version of International Comparative Studies. Topics vary by semester.

ICS195 - Critical Approaches to Global Issues

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>195</td>
<td>Critical Approaches to Global Issues</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to critical transnational studies through several disciplinary approaches. Examines capitalism and neo-liberal globalization and their relationships to culture, politics, economics, and other social forms and outcomes; considers transnationalism 'from below'; addresses linear and Western-centric thinking about progress and modernity; focuses a historical lens on political discourses, institutions, and projects to understand them contextually; demonstrates how cultures and identities are dynamically constituted in interaction with historical, material, political, and situational factors; considers how different inequalities and contestations inflect most social formations.

ICS203 - Gender and Culture

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>203</td>
<td>Gender and Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explanation of differing beliefs about gender cross-culturally, by comparison with dominant themes about gender in our own cultural history and contemporary ideological struggles.

ICS206 - Pigging Out: The Cultural Politics of Food

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>206</td>
<td>Pigging Out: The Cultural Politics of Food</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines cultural influences of food while linking class, geography, and ethnicity to food practices. Investigates link between overeating and cheap food, under-eating and expensive food; discrepancy between cost and quality; changing diets in US and elsewhere; current debates regarding food production, specifically in the U.S., Americas, Africa and Asia. Discussion of Cargill companies’ restrictions on spread of their hybrid grains; questionable agricultural practices, e.g. animal cruelty, overuse of pesticides, condition of migrants. Environmental policies examined in relation to pursuit of such industrial agricultural practices. Will include hands-on experiments with food preparation and tasting.

ICS207 - Gender and Language

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>207</td>
<td>Gender and Language</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Theoretical approaches to the question of the interrelationship of gender and language including neurobiology, psychology, semiotics, feminist critical theory, philosophy of language, discourse analysis, and linguistic theory. Taught in English.
ICS208 - Transnational Feminism

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
208

Title
Transnational Feminism

Description
Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.

ICS208S - Transnational Feminism

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
208S

Title
Transnational Feminism

Description
Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.

ICS209S - The Atlantic Slave Trade

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
209S

Title
The Atlantic Slave Trade

Description
The development of the slave trade from the fifteenth century to its abolition in the nineteenth century; organization and mechanics, impact on Europe, Africa, and the Americas.

ICS210 - Languages of the World

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
210

Title
Languages of the World

Description
The major languages of the world viewed in the context of the communicative and significate functions of language as parameters that shape and define society. The role of language in defining and structuring culturally-based relationships from a semiotic point of view. The structure, writing systems, phonology, morphology, and lexicon of languages from the following groups: Indo-European, Semitic, Turkic, Finno-Ugric, Caucasian, Afroasiatic, Sino-Tibetan, Niger-Kordofanian, Dravidian, and Native American languages.

ICS211S-1 - South African Past and Present

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
211S-1

Title
South African Past and Present

Description
Explores the history of modern South Africa from the beginning of the mineral revolution in the 1860s to the post-apartheid present. We will cover mining-centered industrialization, the emergence of Afrikaner and African nationalism, segregationist ideology, and the construction of apartheid. We will examine the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, and the regional and wide-ranging global efforts to end apartheid and usher in democracy. The establishment and promise of multi-party democracy, the AIDS epidemic, and the reemergence of social movements are all topics we will consider and we will conclude by reflecting on the place of South Africa as a regional, continental, and world power.

ICS211S-2 - Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
211S-2

Title
Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy

Description
Working through an array of diverse organizations – including the African National Congress, the Pan African Congress, the Black Consciousness Movement, a host of liberal organizations, the churches, the trade union federations, and countless more - South Africans fought against apartheid from its inception. In 1994 they achieved a multi-racial democracy led by President Nelson Mandela. This seminar explores key themes in post-World War II South African history, paying special attention to the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, while analyzing the tenets of apartheid policies.
ICS212 - Modern European Short Fiction

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 212
Title: Modern European Short Fiction

Description:
Comprehensive examination of several important works of modern European short fiction by authors such as Kafka, Woolf, Svevo, Sartre, Joyce, Proust, Mann, Schnitzler, Gogol, and Calvino. While stories will be contextualized historically, culturally, and geographically, course is organized into thematic units, including animals, home, punishment, and love, to facilitate comparative analysis. Students engage critically with concepts such as identity, trauma, genre, and narrative form.

ICS213S - Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 213S
Title: Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Description:
DukeImmerse Seminar. A comparative examination and analysis of urban governance in South Africa and the United States. Examines potential consequences of persistent racial and class disparities for housing and neighborhoods, public health, education, community infrastructure, and general economic and social development. Specific attention to how the physical layout, government structures, politics, culture, and the civil society of cities and urban areas may both promote and hinder human development and social justice. Instructor consent required.

ICS215 - Gender in Dance and Theatre

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 215
Title: Gender in Dance and Theatre

Description:
Ways in which gender and sexuality are conceptualized in selected performance cultures. Interprets these historically constituted social formations through an examination of the diverse cultural constructions of gender meanings, representations and ideologies as interpreted and expressed in dance and theatre. Symbolic meanings of gender in relation to forms of social life and theatrical experience. The Devadasi in India, the concept of the male embodied Onnagata, and the notion of the female embodied Otokoyaku in the dance-theatre of Japan.

ICS216 - Gender and Socialism

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 216
Title: Gender and Socialism

Description:
History of socialist feminism as a global political movement and philosophical-theoretical tradition with a special focus on its divergent national trajectories and conflict-ridden relationship with liberal feminism and socialist and communist movements and governments in Europe, Russia, China and US since the nineteenth century; offers an overview of European, Russian, Chinese and US history of the last two centuries; includes exploration of principles and aspirations that informed socialist theory of modern society, social justice, family, motherhood, parenthood, sexual difference, gender equality as well as public policies and legislation instituted or informed by the socialist tradition.

ICS217 - Islamic Civilization I

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 217
Title: Islamic Civilization I

Description:
A global history of Islamic thought, practice, spirituality, politics, and culture. This course analyzes the emergence of Islam and the spread of Muslim culture and learning across Africa, Asia, and Europe. It introduces how Muslims fostered a globalized economy and international community of scientists, scholars, agriculturalists, musicians, artisans, and philosophers of diverse backgrounds - along with other key themes that students may pursue in greater detail in future coursework. Gateway course for an interdisciplinary certificate in Islamic studies.

ICS218 - Modern & Global India

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 218
Title: Modern & Global India

Description:
Examines the historical foundations for the emergence of India as a modern and global society with a focus on the Mughal empire, British colonialism, and Indian nationalism. Uses textual and visual sources for charting how local political, social-economic and cultural factors intersect with the global movements of peoples, goods, technologies, and ideas in the creation of the modern nation-state of India. Concludes with discussion of globalization of Indian labor, food, and Bollywood. Time frame from 1500 to present.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS219D</td>
<td>219D</td>
<td>Global Art Since 1945</td>
<td>Major avant-garde movements of the post-World War II era, with a concentration on the unprecedented changes in the mediums of art, its forms, impact on society and politics, and ethical role in shaping culture through painting and sculpture, conceptual and performance art, installation and new media, video, photography, and film.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS219S</td>
<td>219S</td>
<td>Global Art Since 1945</td>
<td>Major avant-garde movements of the post-World War II era, with a concentration on the unprecedented changes in the mediums of art, its forms, impact on society and politics, and ethical role in shaping culture through painting and sculpture, conceptual and performance art, installation and new media, video, photography, and film.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS220SA</td>
<td>220SA</td>
<td>Korea in Performance: Global Culture and Soft Power</td>
<td>This course surveys the various ways in which South Korea has emerged as a leading nation in the creation of global culture since the late twentieth century. Exemplified by K-pop and K-drama, various cultural contents created in and promoted by Korea have circulated globally and have had a lasting impact on popular culture, new media, and the arts around the world. By using specific case studies in Seoul and its vicinities and by inviting guest speakers, the course introduces students to topics of globalization, interculturalism, neocolonialism, neoliberalism, transnationalism, and tourism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS221S</td>
<td>221S</td>
<td>Africa before Colonialism</td>
<td>This undergraduate seminar considers the history of Africa south of the Sahara from the beginning of the Holocene era to 1800, focusing on processes of community formation and political and social change. Using a variety of sources and methods, it traces major debates and themes in the 'deep' African past across a number of regions and time periods. These themes include state formation, the dynamic reproduction of social structures through migration, the political meanings of health and healing, the development of ideas about gender, the relationship between Islam and Christianity and other cosmologies, and Africa's interaction with the wider world.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS222S</td>
<td>222S</td>
<td>Black Muslims: Race, Religion, &amp; Culture</td>
<td>The intersection of African, American, European, and Islamic cultures studied through the cultural and intellectual flourishing of black Islam. Topics include early Muslim communities established in the Americas through the transatlantic slave trade, Muslim slave rebellions in Brazil and the Caribbean, Muslim slave autobiographies, African Muslims in Europe, the emergence of the Moorish Science Temple and the Nation of Islam, Elijah Muhammad, Malcolm X, Muhammad Ali, women of the Nation of Islam, women's Qur'an exegeses, Hagar as a black woman, black feminism, the Five-Percent Nation, Islamic hip-hop and rap, 'the Black Crescent,' the black international and Islam, and the Black Panthers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS223</td>
<td>223</td>
<td>African Art: From Royal Court to Contemporary Marketplace</td>
<td>Explores traditional, modern, and contemporary African art from the ever-shifting perspectives of prestige, power, and identity. The conceptual framework guiding this survey is both a broad introduction to the major artists and artworks of Africa across millennia, as well as probing specific questions about the changing definitions of African art, individual versus state identities in African art, and the impact of religion, colonization, and trade/commerce on African art.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS224A</td>
<td>224A</td>
<td>The Cognitive Science of Religion and Morality</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Review of recent theories of mind in cognitive science as they pertain to the nature of belief in God, religious practices, and moral attitudes. Arguments in ethics and philosophy of religion as they apply to Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Offered only in the Duke in Istanbul semester study abroad programs. Consent of instructor required.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| ICS225SA   | 225SA          | Politics and Culture Between Europe and the Middle East |
| Description |
| Surveys the changing geopolitical context of communities between Europe and the Middle East through an interdisciplinary cultural framework from WWI to the present. Emphasis on German/Turkish relations. Analysis of representations of nationalism, identity, ethnicity, gender and religion. Examines intersections of modernity, revolution, and lived and political Islam to analyze the ways in which political ideologies create and question Middle Eastern identities. Secondary theoretical readings, including work by political scientists, cultural critics, and policy experts. Taught in English as part of the Duke Middle East in Europe program. |

| ICS226    | 226           | The Black Atlantic                          |
| Description |
| The African diaspora—a direct result of the transatlantic slave trade and Western colonialism—has generated a wide array of artistic achievements, from the 'shotgun' houses of New Orleans to the urban graffiti of NYC. The course surveys several major cultural groups in West and Central Africa and their aesthetic impact on the arts, religions, and philosophies of peoples of African descent in South America, the Caribbean, and the United States. |

| ICS226S   | 226S          | Politics of Pandemics                       |
| Description |
| Exploration of social, cultural, historical, and political facets of epidemic disease and widespread health crises. Key concepts of medical anthropological research and writing; reading ethnographic texts alongside journalistic, literary, and policy accounts of disease experiences and institutional responses. Assess scope, scale, and genre associated with representing pandemics. Analyze global case studies of both infectious and chronic diseases. |
ICS228FS - The Politics of Language

Description
Examines the political role of language in societies as diverse as China, India, the former Soviet Union, the UK and the US. Looks at how state and non-state actors influence citizens’ language practices, and their beliefs about language. Drawing on political theory, sociology and sociolinguistics, we look at how language policies reflect and produce sociopolitical realities. Topics covered include migration, citizenship, nationalism and decolonization. Open to students in the Focus Program only.

ICS229DS - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description
Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.

ICS229S - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description
Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.

ICS230 - Stimulants and Society

Description
Undergraduate course on stimulants and legal 'drug foods' (e.g. sugar, coffee, tea, tobacco) their use and development historically in context of European colonialism and their transformation in major global commodities in modern capitalism. Studies the connection between pharmacology, cultural reception, markets, supply chains, and political economy. Students prepare for independent final research project via interdisciplinary readings from history, anthropology, environmental studies as well as in-class demonstrations and field visits. Suitable for students interested in food studies, STS, pharmacology as well as anthropology, history, environmental studies.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>231D</td>
<td>Modern Architecture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>The history of European and American architecture from eighteenth-century Neo-Classicism through Gothic Revival, Art Nouveau, and Arts and Crafts to the early twentieth century Bauhaus. Labrouste, Richardson, early Wright, and LeCorbusier among the architects considered.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>232</td>
<td>Latin American Wars of Independence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course covers the conspiracies, uprisings, and wars that led to the independence of Haiti and the Latin American colonies of Spain and Portugal between 1780 and the 1898 withdrawal of Spain from Cuba. It focuses on the key military and political leaders of anti-colonial struggles conducted on a continental scale from the islands of the Caribbean to the Andean highlands and beyond. Military strategy and political tactics were decisively shaped by modern debates about the meaning of freedom in terms of slavery and national self-determination. No prior knowledge of Latin America and the Caribbean required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>234</td>
<td>Drugs, Chemicals, and Health: Histories of Substances in Economies, Environments, and Bodies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course asks how we might think historically about synthetic chemicals, natural alternatives, and the benefits and hazards they pose to human health, society, and environments. Combining cultural, political, and economic history with interdisciplinary environmental history and science &amp; technology studies, we will follow historical 'biographies' and 'genealogies' of drugs and chemicals through economies, environments, and bodies, from cellular to planetary scales, comparing and connecting different global settings (including North Carolina). Focal substances may include aluminum, antiretrovirals, DDT, gold, indigo, mercury, nicotine, quinine, and opioids.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>236S</td>
<td>From Ottoman Empire to the Modern Middle East</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Major cultural, political and historical issues in the transition from the late Ottoman Empire to the Modern Middle East. Emphasis on Ottoman legacies in the 20th century. Readings and discussions analyze end of empire through colonial intervention, WWI, the caliphate, political violence, cultural revolution, national self-determination, coups, post-colonial states, and Islamist mobilization. Interdisciplinary focus on cultural texts, including film, popular culture and literature. Thematic discussions on women/gender, identity- and state-formation, historiography, and hierarchies of race and religion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>237</td>
<td>Europe in the Twentieth Century</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>239</td>
<td>The Anthropology of Race</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>240</td>
<td>What Is Europe?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>242S</td>
<td>Nigeria: A Modern History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>243</td>
<td>Dance and Dance Theater of Asia</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>244S</td>
<td>Global Migration and Ethics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS246S - Sound in Social Life

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 246S
Title: Sound in Social Life

Description:
Considers sonic environments as socially cultivated and sound production (recording, processing, mixing) and listening as cultural practices, shaped by acoustic space. Includes study of music, recorded soundscapes (films, games, installations, field recordings), built and ecological environments (rainforests, cities, institutions), and the history and use of sound technology (sound production, reproduction, reception, acoustic materials).

ICS246SA - Sound in Social Life

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 246SA
Title: Sound in Social Life

Description:
Focus on sound in NYC, to consider sonic environments as socially cultivated and listening as a cultural practice, shaped by acoustic space. Includes study of music, recorded soundscapes (films, games, installations), built and ecological environments (parks, subways, streets, institutions, clubs, neighborhoods), the politics of soundmaking, and the history and use of sound technology (sound production, reproduction, reception, acoustic materials). Considers noise ordinances in relation to public life, the representation of public life in sound, the shaping of city living practices by its acoustic architecture, and creative responses in sound as urban activist projects. Offered through the Duke in New York program.

ICS249S - Istanbul: Religion, Politics and Cosmopolitanism

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 249S
Title: Istanbul: Religion, Politics and Cosmopolitanism

Description:
Istanbul is the only city in the world located on two continents. Byzantine, Ottoman, and Turkish cultural legacies allow the city to be read as a 'palimpsest', a multi-layered urban text of multiple, even contradictory meanings. Istanbul is an ideal site to explore imperial history, Islam and Christianity, migration, East/West relations, and cosmopolitanism. Through interdisciplinary sources in history, culture, theory, and politics, students will examine a variety of urban, architectural and social spaces including churches, mosques, public squares, and ethnic neighborhoods. Taught in English.

ICS250 - Love and Loneliness: What's Happening to Relationships in the Twenty-First Century?

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 250
Title: Love and Loneliness: What's Happening to Relationships in the Twenty-First Century?

Description:
Long-standing ties to other—whether of kinship, marriage, or community—have long been considered to be fundamental to the human condition. But in an age of dissipated and shifting social worlds, the relationships we form with others are radically changing in the twenty-first century. The class will critically examine the ideals, premises, and obstacles for forming intimacy with others through such cases as hook-ups, solitary death, solo weddings, domestic violence, human/non-human attachments, and migrancy.
ICS251S - Literatures and Films of Pandemic

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ICS   | 251S | Literatures and Films of Pandemic

Description
This course explores past pandemics as a way to think about how to best live through COVID-19 and prevent or minimize future pandemics. Through examining literature and film, we will analyze the psychosocial dimensions of pandemic. We will read a variety of texts including: histories, fiction (Bulgakov, Porter, Tolstoy, Colson Whitehead); short essays; and films (e.g., Contagion, Outbreak). How do science, medicine, and society interact in a time of pandemic? How do pandemics reveal social inequities, and how could we use this knowledge to decrease disparities? And why do people turn to the humanities and arts in times of pandemic?

ICS253 - Jewish History, 1492 to the Present

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ICS   | 253 | Jewish History, 1492 to the Present

Description
Major developments in Jewish history from the early modern period to today. The Kehillah, the Spanish-Jewish Diaspora, the rise of Polish Jewry, the Safed Kabbalah, Sabbatianism, the emergence of the Chassidut, the Haskalah (Jewish Enlightenment), Emancipation and the nation state, Reform Judaism, economic modernization, racial antisemitism, Zionism, the Holocaust, the State of Israel, flourishing Jewish pluralism in the United States, the future: nation and Diaspora?

ICS254 - Cultures and Politics of the America Borderlands

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ICS   | 254 | Cultures and Politics of the America Borderlands

Description
Americas borderlands refers to the intersection of North and Latin America through the movement of people, products, ideas, and technologies with focus on culture and agri-culture, including the production of food and pharmaceuticals-legal and illegal; explores dirt as concept of matter out of place and people without place and how sustenance can become poison; examines histories of Latin American bodies as ‘terrain’ for US-based scientific experiments.

ICS256S - Shamanism and Spirit Possession

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ICS   | 256S | Shamanism and Spirit Possession

Description
Anthropological, psychological, and Religious Studies approaches to cross-cultural study of spirit possession and shamanism. Examination of in-depth case-studies and comparative works, from both literate civilizations and non-literate cultures. Engage with contemporary concerns with nature and boundaries of personhood and embodiment and their relation to leadership.

ICS259 - African Music: Sound, History, Culture, Politics

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ICS   | 259 | African Music: Sound, History, Culture, Politics

Description
This class is about the sound, culture, politics and history of African music as heard in the world today. We will sample diverse styles and practices from around the continent, including live and recorded musics, ‘popular’ and ‘traditional’ styles, and sacred and secular practices. The class aims to teach you about the music ‘itself’, the African history of the international music industry, and about the social value of music, exploring how the patterns of circulation of African music could augment or diminish African problems, Africa’s promise, and Africans’ creative gifts to the world.

ICS260S - Global Stories, Local Issues

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ICS   | 260S | Global Stories, Local Issues

Description
What stories are there to tell about often overlooked objects and people and places? How can we research and share those stories with generosity and integrity? In every corner of our lives—the stickers on our computers, the plates at a local restaurant, the wood in our guitars—there is a story to be told that connects our individual experiences to broader, often global, phenomena. Participants will learn and use methods of ethnography and archival research to connect their experiences and their observations about a place, community, or thing to larger stories about culture and society, and they will practice writing about their research in engaging and broadly accessible ways.
ICS262 - Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 262
Title: Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage

Description:
When the Cold War erupted in the wake of World War II, filmmakers were poised to screen it as propaganda, entertainment (thriller, horror, science fiction), and morally reflective realism. This course explores the films/television series produced on both sides of the Iron Curtain as well as those made after the Cold War (post-1989). Discussion will focus on ethical justifications and critiques of espionage; the characterizations of the spy and those spied on, and the interactions between these protagonists; and the changing aesthetics of screening espionage.

ICS263 - War, Slavery, and Revolution in the Caribbean, 1700-1800

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 263
Title: War, Slavery, and Revolution in the Caribbean, 1700-1800

Description:
The development of Caribbean society and economy in the contexts of slavery, empire, international rivalry, and democratic revolution.

ICS265 - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 265
Title: Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description:
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

ICS265S - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 265S
Title: Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description:
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

ICS266 - Ritual, Performance, and Religion

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 266
Title: Ritual, Performance, and Religion

Description:
Exposes students to theories of ritual and performance (Turner, Schechner, Grimes, Geertz, Paden) in religious and non-religious contexts; compares contexts as a way of understanding common structures and what differentiates the religious/non-religious. Guest lecturers (from religion, dance, theater, psychology, English, visual and media studies, cultural anthropology) expose students to a range of approaches to specific kinds of ritual and performance. Possibly involves both class and individual trips to local religious events and performances for field work exercises.

ICS268 - Modern Africa

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 268
Title: Modern Africa

Description:
ICS270S - From Al-Qaeda to ISIS: Understanding Terrorism, its Roots, Responses, and Ramifications

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 270S
Title: From Al-Qaeda to ISIS: Understanding Terrorism, its Roots, Responses, and Ramifications

Description
Focus on Al-Qaeda as the preeminent terrorist group of contemporary militant Islam, its roots, ideology, and offshoots such as ISIS and other similar groups in Asia and Africa. Examination of Al-Qaeda’s ideology, political culture, and development through exploring the origins and the narrative discourse of modern Islamic organizations dating back to the Sufi Movement of the nineteenth century. Presentation of the patterns and ramifications of terrorist activities. Use critical thinking in order to differentiate Muslim proper narrative discourse from that of Al-Qaeda and its affiliated groups.

ICS271 - Business Ethics: The Debate Over Corporate Social Responsibility

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 271
Title: Business Ethics: The Debate Over Corporate Social Responsibility

Description

ICS272 - Human Rights in Theory and Practice

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 272
Title: Human Rights in Theory and Practice

Description
The nature and value of human rights; examining some major debates over their status and meaning and assessing the role which the idea of human rights has played in changing lives, practices, and institutions. Questions considered include: whether commitments to human rights depend on a belief in moral truth; whether the idea of universal human rights makes sense in a culturally diverse world; and what forms of social action are most likely to achieve respect for human rights.

ICS273S - Culture and Mental Health

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 273S
Title: Culture and Mental Health

Description
This course examines the social and cultural facets of mental illness, psychological diagnoses, and mental health from the standpoint of cultural psychiatry, medical anthropology, and social medicine. Global case studies will form the basis for several key questions: how do mental distress and forms of treatment differ cross-culturally? How might social differences such as gender, sexuality, and race shape therapeutic encounters in mental health? And what roles do psychology, psychiatry, and the brain sciences play in everyday life?

ICS274S - Masculinities & Global Politics

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 274S
Title: Masculinities & Global Politics

Description
The course uses readings and films to examine masculinities historically and transnationally, including a unit on masculinities in US politics; draws from history, sociology, feminist geography, popular culture studies, Black studies, and sexuality and queer studies; interactive lectures and guest scholars. Each student is guided to complete an interview-based research project with three male-identified persons of multiple generations with serves in lieu of a final exam.

ICS275 - Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 275
Title: Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Description
Analysis of liberalism, conservatism, socialism, and their diverse conceptions of justice, freedom, community, and equality. Exploration of how these political philosophies interpret various social, religious, and political issues. The origins of these ideologies in early modern European thought.
ICS275S - Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
275S

Title
Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Description
Analysis of liberalism, conservatism, socialism, and their diverse conceptions of justice, freedom, community, and equality. Exploration of how these political philosophies interpret various social, religious, and political issues. The origins of these ideologies in early modern European thought.

ICS276 - The Foundations of Modern Terrorism

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
276

Title
The Foundations of Modern Terrorism

Description
An exploration into the problems associated with terrorism in the modern era. The subject will be treated historically, chronologically and thematically, with emphasis on the 19th and 20th centuries. We shall also be examining three main geographic areas -- Europe, Russia and the U. S. Comparisons will therefore be made of the different genres of terrorisms that have functioned in these and other localities, including Latin America and Africa. We conclude with the road to 9/11.

ICS278SA - Transnational Muslims in Germany: Politics of Migration, Religion, and Culture

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
278SA

Title
Transnational Muslims in Germany: Politics of Migration, Religion, and Culture

Description
Critically analyzes political debates about Muslims and Islam in Europe that often cast them as a ‘security threat’ or a ‘problem’ of failed integration. Traces the geographical production of Muslim subjects through transnational flows, networks and imaginaries. Examines a series of topics including debates about the headscarf, Muslim women’s dress, mosque construction, Muslim civil society organizations, and the refugee crisis in Germany. Taught in English as part of the Duke Middle East in Europe program.

ICS282 - Global Bioethics

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number 282

Title
Global Bioethics

Description
Examines various problems of international ethics, discussing them in the context of general ethical theory and then in the specific context of various controversies concerning the conduct of clinical trials in developing countries. Problems include moral universalism and relativism; poverty relief and international aid; international health disparities; human rights; and exploitation.
ICS283S - Death, Burial, and Justice in the Americas

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 283S
Title: Death, Burial, and Justice in the Americas

Description:
This interdisciplinary course explores the phenomenon of necroviolence: attacks on the dignity, integrity, and memory of the dead. Cases come from the United States, Latin America, and Canada. Topics include the rights of the dead, cultural attitudes towards the dead, and the 'ambiguous loss' experienced by loved ones of the disappeared. We also explore the activism of family members, volunteer cemetery reclamation groups, and forensic scientists who exhume mass graves to identify bodies. Students will interact with guest speakers, spend time in a local African American cemetery with ties to Duke, and do community work and research on behalf of the marginalized dead.

ICS285S - Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 285S
Title: Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States

Description:
Drawing on documentaries, historical fiction films, autobiographies and memoirs, this course explores how the diverse spectrum of Ashkenazi Jews living in the Russian empire and then Poland from 1900-1939 conceived of their identities as Jews and how their identities may have altered once they emigrated to the United States. After the Shoah, we examine how Jewish emigrants to the US and those Jews and their descendants who remained in postwar Poland/Ukraine sought contact with each other in attempts to rethink what it means to be a post-Holocaust Jew in their respective contexts and in dialogue with each other.

ICS286 - Introduction to Asian American and Diaspora Studies

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 286
Title: Introduction to Asian American and Diaspora Studies

Description:
What does it mean to be Asian American? Asian American Studies is an interdisciplinary field that draws on social sciences, humanities, and the arts to explore the historical and contemporary experiences of Asian Americans in the western hemisphere. This course provides students with an introduction to this dynamic and growing field of study, taking race, gender, immigration, diaspora, class, labor, and sexuality as primary subjects of the field. The course also historicizes Asian American racialization to better understand the structural forces that have shaped Asian American lives and the ways that writers, scholars, and activists have responded to and resisted these forces.

ICS287 - History of the World Wars

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 287
Title: History of the World Wars

Description:
An examination of the origins, course, and consequences of the world wars of twentieth century. Close attention is paid to impact of warfare on society and the ensuing moral and political controversies.
ICS288S - Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 288S
Title: Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century

Description:
Examines the major thematic focus of East European filmmakers in the 21st century: their efforts to reconstruct and reassess the experience of the Cold War (1945-1989) and the Yugoslav wars (1991-1995). These films from the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Croatia, and Serbia include ironic/sentimental tales of Cold War childhood, thrillers about sleeping with the enemy (political informers), and psychological dramas centering on political trauma, resistance, and compromise. All films shown with English subtitles.

ICS289S - Nationalism and Exile

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 289S
Title: Nationalism and Exile

Description:
The dilemmas confronting Russian and European exiles in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in the context of nation-state identities. Focuses on political and literary exiles forced from their native countries. Central to the study is the role of the modern nation-state, from whose boundaries the exiles were expelled.

ICS290 - Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Description:
Topics vary from semester to semester, focusing either on specific world regions or particular comparative/global issues.

ICS290S - Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Description:
Seminar version of International Comparative Studies 290.

ICS294 - Religion and Race

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 294
Title: Religion and Race

Description:
Discussion of various ways in which 'race' has been defined and constructed in recent centuries using categories from biology, sociology, philosophy, genetics, anthropology, etc. Examines how religious traditions and practitioners have actively sought both to eliminate race and have been complicit in maintaining and defending it. Special focus on Judaism, Christianity, and Islam in the modern period.
ICS295 - Global Narratives of Illness and Disability

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 295
Title: Global Narratives of Illness and Disability

Description:
The humanities help us learn more about the global experiences of people living with illness and disability. Using a global health humanities approach, we study illness and disability through biography, poetry, blogs, and art created by patients, families, friends, doctors, and caregivers. We look beyond data to find meaning through documentaries, theories of representation, and illness narratives. We explore different illness experiences, such as HIV/AIDS and Ebola; different disabilities, such as physical and cognitive; different gender identities and ages; and different locations, such as South Africa, West Africa, Papua New Guinea, Brazil, Haiti, and rural and urban USA.

ICS297S - Cross-Cultural Encounters

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 297S
Title: Cross-Cultural Encounters

Description:
The dynamics of cross-cultural interaction have actively shaped the world for many centuries now. This class explores some of the religious, social, and economic forces that fostered increasingly global contacts in history. In particular, it examines how centrally located and cosmopolitan Muslims played a critical role in connecting people of far-flung regions, cultures, and religions with one another. It surveys the myriad encounters of Muslims, Buddhists, Confucianists, Hindus, Jews, Christians and more across Afro-Eurasia and into the Americas. How did religious networks, processes and events foster historic exchanges of ideas, practices, and commodities across the world?

ICS299 - Ethics of Global Infectious Disease Control

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 299
Title: Ethics of Global Infectious Disease Control

Description:
Examination of the role of ethical decision-making when controlling infectious disease epidemics. Applies classic public health ethics of balancing individual liberty vs. public good to the new global health context of emerging infectious diseases such as HIV/AIDS, Ebola, and SARS, plus re-emerging infectious diseases such as multidrug-resistant TB, polio, and cholera. Explores questions of resource allocation, mandatory or voluntary prevention measures, and ethical obligations of health care workers vs. responsibilities of individuals in the context of new global public health. Prior global health coursework recommended.

ICS302 - Global Chinese Cities through Literature and Film

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 302
Title: Global Chinese Cities through Literature and Film

Description:
Modern Chinese cities in and beyond China, particularly as represented in literature and film. Considers city as object of cultural representation, as well as an engine of cultural production. Examines themes of modernization, alienation, nostalgia, migration, labor, and commoditization, and rethinks the very notion of 'Chineseness' within an increasingly globalized world. Featured cities include Beijing, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Taipei, and New York.
ICS305 - History of International Financial and Monetary Crises

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 305
Title: History of International Financial and Monetary Crises

Description
Course examines monetary/financial crises plaguing world since 16th century. Analyzes origin, unfolding, and impact of crises, debates generated by them, and formulation/implementation of policy measures. Attention to international implications/connections on European/Asian money supply, banking/credit systems; reaction to South Sea Bubble and John Law Credit Systems in numerous European nations; experiments with paper money in America; rise/demise of gold standard in 19th/20th century; currency and exchange rate problems of last three decades. Case studies will be selected and assigned according to participants’ interests. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and 210D.

ICS306 - Africa and Arabia: Cultures, Communities, and Connections

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 306
Title: Africa and Arabia: Cultures, Communities, and Connections

Description
Explores communities, cultures, and connections between Africa and Arabia; Provides concepts and theories on human mobility and interconnectedness in the contexts of the two regions; Examines displacement, migration within and emigration from the two regions, and areas of collaboration and contention in the globalized world; Examines themes of religious terrorism, language, music, and narratives against European colonialism; Explores different intellectual platforms such as political biographies, films, guest experts etc; Interview partners in Egypt, Morocco and Senegal on related intercultural issues and politics.

ICS307S - Political Economy of Financial Crises

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 307S
Title: Political Economy of Financial Crises

Description
Exploration of the political economy of financial crises with central theoretical emphasis on the role of ideas, institutions, and interests. Addresses causes of banking, currency and debt crises as well as their political consequences—both national and international. Geographical and historical coverage will be relatively broad, spanning historical cycles of financial crisis as well as specific boom and bust episodes involving Latin America, Asia, the United States, and countries of the Eurozone.

ICS308 - Development and Africa

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 308
Title: Development and Africa

Description
Addresses the vexed issue of economic development in Africa—its many failures, its occasional successes—from the early colonial period to the present. Focuses especially on the transition from the 1960s ‘modernizing’ moment to the millennium projects and humanitarian aid of the present. Will read the works of development experts, World Bank executives, anthropologists and historians, asking why this massively financed project has experienced such failure and exploring what can be done.
ICS309S - Dancing States of Mind: The Self, Social and Political Practice of Dance

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
309S

Title
Dancing States of Mind: The Self, Social and Political Practice of Dance

Description
Practice-based studio work, discussion, and readings in current political discourse, System Theory, contemporary philosophy and cultural theory. Reveals the culturally constructed nature of dance in Western society - its manner of production, dissemination and aesthetics - and examines the consequences of 'the cultured flesh' as a mode of propaganda. The cultivation of students' radically subjective creativity, artistic experimentation, awareness, perception and expression, in order to understand and challenge the status quo; and to integrate abstract concepts into one's own physical existence and redefine assumptions by moving right through them.

ICS310S - Imagining Human Rights: Science Fiction, Culture, and the Creation of Rights

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
310S

Title
Imagining Human Rights: Science Fiction, Culture, and the Creation of Rights

Description
This course engages students in the intersection of speculative fiction and the history of ideas about human rights and what it means to be human. Using interdisciplinary tools, including history, anthropology, and public policy, students will explore created worlds and new ways of thinking about what rights humans—and other beings—have, how those rights are proposed, and what happens when those rights are contested. The course focuses on how the imaginary influences or presages the real, allowing us to experiment with what-ifs. Students will work in Duke's Locus Archives of primary documents on 20th-century science fiction spanning writers from China, the USSR, and Japan.

ICS311S - Poetic Cinema

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
311S

Title
Poetic Cinema

Description
Inquiry into sources of 'resonance' in international cinema with emphasis on films from Asia and the Middle East. The object of the course is to attempt a description of aspects of film construction which conduce to intense experience for viewers. Readings in indigenous aesthetics.

ICS312 - Europe's Colonial Encounter, 1492-1992: Political Economy and International Thought

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
312

Title
Europe's Colonial Encounter, 1492-1992: Political Economy and International Thought

Description
The impact of colonial expansion on European economic development, political culture, international thought, and popular identity from the 'age of discovery' through the present. Particular attention to the ethical implications of colonialism's influence on Western 'civilization.'
ICS314S - Doing Global Research: Ethics, Methods, and Impact

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
314S

Title
Doing Global Research: Ethics, Methods, and Impact

Description
Introduces students to interdisciplinary research methods and theories to conduct global research. Students build on concepts foundational to global studies by reading about and practicing a variety of research methods including archival and oral history, interviews, mapping, textual analysis, and ethnography. Texts, discussions, and projects focus on theoretical frameworks engaging politics of research, approaching global research from below, reaching underrepresented populations and social groups, exploring connections between power and knowledge, nontraditional and creative formats for research. Course examines how interdisciplinary research can expand traditional fields.

ICS316 - East Africa and the World

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
316

Title
East Africa and the World

Description
An interconnected history of East Africa and the many places linked to the region by trade, migration, and politics. Using archival, oral, and artistic source materials, considers how East Africans' lives have been shaped by mobility, from the dhow trade of the Indian Ocean, to the commercial hustle of contemporary Guangzhou and Dubai. Analyzes how ideas about race, class, gender, and sex changed over time in this complex setting.

ICS317S - Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
317S

Title
Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab

Description
An exploration of human rights advocacy from a legal, political science, and comparative perspective. Will focus on issues related to corporate accountability. A core component of the course will include a human rights 'lab' in which students work in teams on policy-oriented projects, potentially in collaboration with community partners.

ICS318 - Visualizing the Caribbean

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number 318

Title
Visualizing the Caribbean

Description
Art (paintings, installations, performance art) and film on the Caribbean offer vantage points for analyzing alternative ways through which the region has been thought, imagined and produced. They are periodized semiotic productions that feed into and are marked by perspectives that are at once global, national, and even personal. Considering the constitutive contexts of these productions and performances, we will attempt to glean the diverse perspectives, and the way these have influenced sociocultural policy and offer alternative interpretations of diasporic lifeways of Caribbean people.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS319</td>
<td>319</td>
<td>The Modern Caribbean after Emancipation</td>
<td>Focus on the Caribbean region as it transitioned from a collection of slave and colonial societies into a region of postcolonial and independent nations. Topics may include: postemancipation political and cultural struggles, pan-Africanism and Rastafarianism, nationalist and anticolonial movements, American economic and political influence in the region, Caribbean emigration to Europe and the United States, and global spread of Caribbean culture.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS320S</td>
<td>320S</td>
<td>Social Movements and Social Media</td>
<td>Examines uses and abuses of social media by social movements. Interested in a broader historical study of mediating technologies and oppositional public sphere, course considers the uses of cameras, phones, cassette players, radio, and social media platforms, but also books, bodies, art, fashion, and automobiles as oppositional technologies. Studies political and ethical uses of technologies in social unrest. Investigates impact of technologies on social movements and social transformations in contemporary history. Student driven case studies will highlight contemporary engagement with social media by networked social movements.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS321S</td>
<td>321S</td>
<td>Manger: Foodways and Food Systems</td>
<td>This course seeks to deepen our understanding of foodways and food systems, and of the roles that nourishment and nourishers play in our lives, while regenerating connections with food practices and food creators through the study of global French narratives, scholarships on foodways and foodscape, and hands-on, in-person experiences with nourishers in our local community. A strong emphasis on experiential learning, including community engagement in systems of food access and production as well as work with chefs and farmers, and the study of French-language narrative, culinary, scholarly, journalistic writing, and other cultural documents.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS321SA</td>
<td>321SA</td>
<td>Manger: Food and Food Systems in the French-Speaking World</td>
<td>An exploration of our relationship with food and its cultural and societal roles in French-speaking countries, from French gastronomy to the historical and economic influences that have determined our current systems of food production, what effects those systems have on immigration, equity, and climate, and the movements that seek to bring about changes in the ways people produce and consume food. A strong emphasis on experiential learning, including community engagement in systems of food access and production, as well as work with chefs and the study of French-language narrative, culinary, scholarly, and journalistic writing and other cultural documents. Recommended prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS324 - International Law and International Institutions
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 324
Title: International Law and International Institutions
Description: The relationship between international politics and international law; how international institutions operate and affect social practices, and how legalization of institutions changes the manner of interpretation of legal texts. The nature of legal and political discourse over issues subject to international law such as human rights; issues of compliance with rules, the connections between international relations and domestic law, and the overall effects of international law and institutions on world politics; cross-national differences in attitudes toward issues such as environmental regulation, trade liberalization, and military intervention on behalf of human rights. Prerequisite: Political Science 160 or equivalent.

ICS325 - Culture and Politics in Latin America
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 325
Title: Culture and Politics in Latin America
Description: Key themes in Latin American societies, including art, literature, history, violence and human rights, economic development, and rebellion and revolution.

ICS326 - Colonial Latin America
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 326
Title: Colonial Latin America
Description: The pre-Columbian cultures, European conquest and its effects on the Amerindian peoples, and development of the Spanish and Portuguese Empires to the wars of independence with special emphasis upon colonial institutions and socioeconomic developments. Not open to students who have taken History 174.

ICS328 - Anthropology of Money
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 328
Title: Anthropology of Money
Description: We will explore the history and theory of money – what it represents, how it circulates, the meanings it carries, its contemporary transformations – not only in the West but also in the global south. Some of the topics to be considered include shell currencies, gift economies, Ponzi schemes, paperless money, derivatives and futures, hedge funds, and global debt.

ICS329 - Latin America Since Independence
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 329
Title: Latin America Since Independence
Description: A survey of nineteenth- and twentieth-century economic, social, and cultural change.

ICS329S - Politics in Violence
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 329S
Title: Politics in Violence
Description: Exploration of the role of violence in politics. What is the role of violence in the formation and consolidation of states? What is the relationship between violence and political regimes? In-depth analysis of the varieties of political violence in contemporary world: terrorism, coups, riots, wars, protest violence, revolutions. Combination of theoretical analysis and empirical exploration of cases. Exploration of non-violent forms of resistance and protest. Reading responses and final research paper required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>330S</td>
<td>Narratives of Migration</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Stories of migration captivate us because they touch on universally important themes: home, family, belonging, identity, pain, loss. In this course, we will explore narratives, or stories, of migration, as told by refugees and immigrants from across the world, through different media: written, spoken, photographed, and constructed digitally on social media. This course approaches narratives of migration primarily from the perspective of sociocultural linguistics and discourse analysis, but we will refer to other scholarly traditions as well. This is a Service-Learning course: students will engage in a mentoring relationship with an immigrant student in a Durham high school.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>331S</td>
<td>Islamic Media</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: How contemporary technologies reawaken the sense of the sacred in daily life, rather than destroy it. How technologies new and old circulate the Word in its multiple incarnations, but also cultivate modes of communal identification. How Islamic media transform the social and political landscape, as well as the way we see/feel and perceive the world. How religion has been intensified, diversified, and inflected by the information age. How this media constitutes the very experience of religion. Film, video, digital media, satellite television, social media, print media, audiocassettes, radio, music.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>Global Displacement: Voix Francophones</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Explores migration and resettlement of Francophone refugees in North America through examination of current policy, law, and practice. Analysis of personal interviews and narratives with attention to ethical questions related to politics of listening to and speaking for other communities. Community-based language component (20 hours) engages students with refugee community in Durham. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: one course at 300-level or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>333S</td>
<td>Storyworlds: The Art, Technology, and Pleasure of Narrative</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Is 'tell me a story' an universal imperative? Seminar examines storytelling practices across a broad span of histories and cultures, and the creation of storyworlds through multiple media, genres, and platforms. Topics include comparative oral traditions, Medieval story cycles, serial tales, textual poaching and fanfic, alternate reality gameworlds (ARG), social media, transmedia storytelling and transcultural fandoms.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS334 - Globalization of Democracy

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 334
Title: Globalization of Democracy

Description
The past three decades have witnessed an unprecedented upsurge in democratic forms of rule in Asia, Africa, Eastern Europe, Latin America, and Middle East. Course explores reasons for this global pattern of political change, analyzes the process of political transition in a variety of empirical settings, and provides comparative perspective on challenges facing political leaders in new democracies.

ICS335S - Decolonization: Histories, Meanings, Struggles

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 335S
Title: Decolonization: Histories, Meanings, Struggles

Description
This course explores decolonization as an historical event, a category of theoretical analysis, and a series of contemporary social movements. Course material will introduce students to the history of decolonization as both idea and event, putting global anti-colonial movements of the twentieth century into conversation with contemporary struggles for the decolonization of occupied land, institutions, and epistemologies. This interdisciplinary course draws on work in history, geography, anthropology, women's studies, and postcolonial and decolonial Studies. Students will also read and research manifestos, memoirs, archival documents, documentary films, oral histories, and museum exhibits.

ICS336 - Chinatowns: A Cultural History

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 336
Title: Chinatowns: A Cultural History

Description
Explores the intersection of space and ethnicity through the myriad ways Chinatown has circulated as memory, fantasy, narrative, myth, in the dominant cultural imagination, and how lived realities of overseas Chinese communities, Asian American history, and changing conceptions of 'Chineseness' have productively engaged with real and phantom Chinatowns. Research will emphasize multi-disciplinary approaches, such as urban history, architecture, ethnography, economics; or engagement in a creative project.

ICS337 - Hollywood and Africa: Case Studies in Filmic Representation

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 337
Title: Hollywood and Africa: Case Studies in Filmic Representation

Description
This course on Hollywood films about Africa—from classics such as 'African Queen' (East Africa), 'Tarzan' (Equatorial Africa) and 'Out of Africa' (Kenya) to recent productions such as 'Blood Diamond' (Sierra Leone), 'The Last King of Scotland' (Uganda), 'Lord of War' (arms trade), 'The Constant Gardner' (Kenya) and 'Black Hawk Down' (Somalia)—will tack back and forth between filmic representation and case study, using the latter to critique the former. As contrastive material, the class will also draw on non-Hollywood films about Africa, for example 'Hotel Rwanda' (Rwanda) or 'Lumumba' (DRC).
ICS340 - North American Environmental History

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 340
Title: North American Environmental History

Description: Historical roles of nature—as a cultural construct and a set of biological relationships—in shaping human choices in North America, from colonial times to the present. Special attention to historical origins of contemporary environmental politics, including the origins of wilderness; environmental justice movements; the changing politics of food, animal rights, and pollution; and tragedies of the commons, and the ethical challenges posed by global warming and population growth.

ICS344S - Our Culinary Cultures

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 344S
Title: Our Culinary Cultures

Description: Documentary approach to the world of food using fieldwork research. Topics of food and its preparation examined through deep stories of how food is raised, prepared, and presented in order to explore how the myriad ways in which what we eat reveal key biographical, economic, religious, and other truths about our cultures. Introduces students to the history of food writing and the concept of food in general as a nonverbal tool of communication. Photography, audio, and documentary writing employed.

ICS345S - Turkish History through the Novels of Orhan Pamuk

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 345S
Title: Turkish History through the Novels of Orhan Pamuk

Description: An introduction into Turkish history (including the Ottoman Empire) through a comparative study of the historical novels and nonfiction of Nobel Laureate Orhan Pamuk. Addresses Pamuk’s role as an intellectual-author who mediates between Islamic culture, secular modernity, the Turkish national tradition and an international canon of literature. Political implications of Sufism, cultural revolution, Orientalism, and post-colonialism. Secondary focus on representations of cosmopolitan Istanbul, political Islam and the military coup. Taught in English.

ICS346S - Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 346S
Title: Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia

Description: As of 2016, only 11% of the countries in the world are liberal democracies. Some insight about how illiberal regimes function is a must to understand what is going on in the world. In this course, we explore illiberal and/or nondemocratic regimes of Eastern Europe and Asia—a perfect laboratory for the subject. We develop nuanced ideas about key concepts such as elections, representation, party rule, dictatorship, populism, patronalism, authoritarianism, and totalitarianism as well as the dilemmas of freedom, security, corruption, and development. We study the regimes of countries such as Hungary, Russia, Turkey, China and follow the news to see how political regimes evolve in real time.
ICS347S - Islam, Medicine, and Healing
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 347S
Title: Islam, Medicine, and Healing

Description:
This course explores the global history of Islamic medicine and healing through the intersections of religion and medicine in multiple contexts. It investigates how questions of health, healing, and illness have been addressed across premodern patterns, colonial and post-colonial transitions, up to the present. Students will examine how different approaches to spirituality, law, and science congeal and compete in relation to the human body, animals, food, pharmaceuticals, medicine, and hospitals. Through considering traditional healing practices to contemporary bioethics, this class analyzes how religion and medicine have been constituted, lived, and experienced around the world.

ICS348 - Gender in the Economy
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 348
Title: Gender in the Economy

Description:
Economics of gender including the status of women in the labor market; feminist economic theories; ethical considerations of gender-based inequalities; gendered division of labor within the family and between the household and labor market. Comparisons of women’s status across different cultures and geographic areas; gender-related measurements and indicators; explanations and remedies for female/male occupational segregation and wage differentials. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.

ICS349 - Global Health Ethics in Research
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 349
Title: Global Health Ethics in Research

Description:
Introduces ethical and human rights concepts in Global Health and current issues in health ethics. Explores how to understand and engage in ethical health service, intervention, research and education. Requires students analyze and critique ethical choices of individuals, policymakers and health workers. Explores standards of care, access to care, best outcomes vs. distributed justice. Focuses on ethics related to infectious diseases; obesity, alcohol and tobacco; and environmental health.

ICS350 - International Political Economy
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 350
Title: International Political Economy

Description:
Examination of the politics of international economic relations from the perspective of both advanced industrialized and developing countries. Focus on international trade; money and finance; multinational corporations and global value chains; foreign aid and the politics of development; distributional consequences of economic globalization; and the role of power and institutions in the governance of world economy.

ICS351S - Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 351S
Title: Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa

Description:
This course uses a comparative framework to assess race in two societies founded on premises of racial inequality: South Africa and the United States. We will explore some of the social, cultural and political exchanges that have taken place between African Americans and Black South Africans over the course of the twentieth century. Additional topics include segregation, twentieth century struggles for civil rights/liberation, the American anti-apartheid movement, and the possibilities for restitution.

ICS352 - History of Photography, 1839 to the Present
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 352
Title: History of Photography, 1839 to the Present

Description:
Major artists and movements in the history of the photographic medium, including visual and critical traditions inherited and manipulated by photographers, the ways photography participated in nineteenth- and twentieth-century art movements as well as documentation and social change, and critical photographic discourse throughout this period. Topics include the invention of photography, ‘Art’ photography and documentary photography in the nineteenth century, pictorialism, ‘straight’ and purist photography, photography and modernist art movements (dada, surrealism, Bauhaus, Russian avant-garde), twentieth-century documentary, and photography of the 1950s, 1960s, 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>353</td>
<td>ICS353 - Life and Death: Global Perspectives</td>
<td>Anthropological investigation of customs, practices, and beliefs that get activated when people (and other living beings) die. What constitutes life as in when does it start, what determines well-being, how is it measured; and what constitutes death as in a good versus bad death, by what medical definition, and according to what rituals and beliefs. Comparative inquiry into such questions as why brain-death is not accepted in some cultures and why people in some places prefer to die rather than live after an amputation. Topics will include organ transplants, gang warfare, cancer, and warzones from China and Botswana to Mexico and the United States.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>354</td>
<td>ICS354 - Political Economy of Latin America</td>
<td>Study of interaction between politics and economies in Latin America with central emphasis on political correlates of alternative strategies of economic development, the impact of global economic forces on domestic policy choice, and interrelationships among political institutions, electoral choice, public policy, and economic performance. Topics include financial meltdowns, market-oriented reform, democratic transitions, ethnic mobilization, and rise of leftist-populism in the region. Readings will combine discussion of specific countries with broader theoretical literature addressing major debates in study of political economy of development.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>355S</td>
<td>ICS355S - Refugee Policy and Practice</td>
<td>Only open to DukeImmerse students. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>357S</td>
<td>ICS357S - Globalization and Theater</td>
<td>This course surveys the various ways in which contemporary theatre has been created and circulated in a global context.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>358S</td>
<td>ICS358S - Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present</td>
<td>Scholars, pundits and historical actors have long drawn parallels between the United States &amp; South Africa-two countries founded on the premises of racial inequality. This course explores the machinations of race from the quickening of industrial development to present. We will consider the benefits and pitfalls of thinking comparatively. Topics include segregation, transatlantic cultural exchanges, living apartheid and Jim Crow, government surveillance of political opponents, the American anti-apartheid movement, mass incarceration and privatization of prisons, memory and the struggles for social change as well as the persistence of racial inequality in two country's contemporary societies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>360S</td>
<td>ICS360S - Interpreting Bodies: Identity and Beyond</td>
<td>How the body has come to define the human in language, law, science, politics and economics. The body's relation to identity and subjectivity. The representation of the body in particular cultural discourses and the social history and dynamic in which that representation has taken place.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS361 - Violent Jihad in the Twentieth Century - A Global History

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 361
Title: Violent Jihad in the Twentieth Century - A Global History

Description
This course focuses on the history of Muslim groups and social movements which are often regarded as politically fundamentalists or radical in the twentieth-century Middle East. We shall critically survey the intellectual origins of radical ideologies, the social history of the 'Muslim Brotherhood' in Egypt and Syria, the politics of Saudi Arabia, the rise of Hizbullah, the question of the caliphate, the interaction between foreign intervention and the approval of violence as a legitimate means in politics, a history of al-Qaeda, and finally of what we know about ISIS.

ICS362A - Religion, Security and Global Citizenship in the Arab World

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 362A
Title: Religion, Security and Global Citizenship in the Arab World

Description
Examine how the Arab world is embodied in the global or world system of the 21st century. Learn the specific accents that inform its citizens and shape its prospects locally, regionally and internationally. Examine how the major Abrahamic traditions - Judaism, Christianity and Islam - had their historical origins in the eastern Mediterranean world, and how they continue to have adherents that populate the region and challenge the modern notion of citizenship. Explore how the current uprising reflects the challenges of reconciling local aspirations with global forces. STUDY ABROAD: Duke in the Arab World Summer 2012

ICS364 - France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 364
Title: France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality

Description
Examination of the Franco-African relationship over time, from the four 'communes' in Senegal to the present, through a political but also broader cultural lens. France’s colonial doctrine and practices, African resistance and collaboration, 'la francophonie' and the postcolonial 'Françafrique' are analyzed as well as collective imaginaries on either side and how they shaped each other in literature, film, the social sciences or everyday life. The course is taught in English but a preceptorial class in French is offered in addition so that students can meet the requirement for their major or minor in French. Newcomers to Africa are welcome.

ICS365S - Muslim Women Across the Ages

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 365S
Title: Muslim Women Across the Ages

Description
This course explores the diverse realities of Muslim women’s lives, from the origins of Islam to the present, through autobiographical and biographical accounts situated in their social, economic, political, and cultural contexts. The women we will encounter through textual and audiovisual materials represent a wide range of personal backgrounds, including scholars, mystics, merchants, philanthropists, poets, slavegirls, feminists, and Islamists. We will metaphorically travel across the globe and time to understand the multifarious facets of Muslim women’s lived experiences.
ICS367 - Gender and Political Theory

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 367
Title: Gender and Political Theory

Description
Feminist analyses and engagements with some of the canonical texts and traditional concepts of Western political theory. Feminist contributions to, challenges to, and revisions of the terms of key conceptual and political debates in political theory.

ICS369 - Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 369
Title: Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Description
Examination of the Apple Corporation's development from a Silicon Valley garage operation to a company with unprecedented global reach; the Cult of Steve Jobs, the Apple Launch and the design and development of the Apple Store; labor and environmental struggles over Apple supply chain and production processes, from cobalt mining in Africa to Foxconn factories in China; migrant worker suicide and poetry as forms of protest in China; e-waste villages and digital rubbish; everyday uses of Apple technology and the ethics of consuming Apple products.

ICS369S - Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 369S
Title: Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Description
Examination of the Apple Corporation's development from a Silicon Valley garage operation to a company with unprecedented global reach; the Cult of Steve Jobs, the Apple Launch and the design and development of the Apple Store; labor and environmental struggles over Apple supply chain and production processes, from cobalt mining in Africa to Foxconn factories in China; migrant worker suicide and poetry as forms of protest in China; e-waste villages and digital rubbish; everyday uses of Apple technology and the ethics of consuming Apple products.

ICS370S - Islam in Asia

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 370S
Title: Islam in Asia

Description
Focus on the northern tier of Muslim-inhabited lands. The early spread of Islam among continental Asia's non-Arab peoples. The evolution of Muslim religious and cultural institutions under Mongol, Central Asian, Russian and Chinese empires. Asian Muslim encounters with European modernity and experience of Muslims under and after Soviet/Chinese socialist regimes.
ICS371 - Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number 371

Title
Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future

Description
Explores friendship and why it matters in the frenzied world of 'likes' and 'swipes.' The average Facebook user has 155 friends. Instagram added a 'Close Friends' feature to distinguish friends from followers. Social media has weakened our sense of friendship. Still, Facebook users say that, of those 155 friends, they would trust only four in a crisis. Pursues the importance of friendship, not only as a place of private refuge but as a relationship of trust that facilitates insight and innovation and that has public purchase. Classes center on conversations between pairs of friends who bring their friendship, their work, and their imaginations to bear on the shape of the world in the future.

ICS373S - Between Moscow, Beijing and Delhi: Narratives of Europe and Asia

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
373S

Title
Between Moscow, Beijing and Delhi: Narratives of Europe and Asia

Description
Exercise in reconstructing Eurasian history from the 13th century Mongol invasions to post-Soviet era through critical reading of eyewitness accounts—travel notes and memoirs. Reflects on political, religious, and cultural evolution, expansion, and rivalry as well as cross-cultural and trans-regional exchange.

ICS374S - Urban Yiddish Culture: The Urban Imagination in Yiddish Culture from Warsaw to Buenos Aires

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
374S

Title
Urban Yiddish Culture: The Urban Imagination in Yiddish Culture from Warsaw to Buenos Aires

Description
This course offers a panoramic view of Yiddish culture in the twentieth century through a focus on the diverse cities inhabited by its audiences and creators across Europe and the Americas. Each week we will encounter a new city through the eyes of a novelist or poet, filmmaker, musician or visual artist. As we proceed from the turn of the twentieth century to the post-Holocaust era, we will consider the broad aesthetic and ideological tendencies that inform representations of urban Jewish life in Yiddish, English, Spanish and other languages while also charting an ever-expanding geography including Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Rio de Janeiro. All material in English.

ICS375S - Art and Activism: Manifestos, Revolutions, and the Avant-gardes

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
375S

Title
Art and Activism: Manifestos, Revolutions, and the Avant-gardes

Description
Discussion-based seminar and survey of the literature of manifestos and their role in revolutionary and avant-garde traditions of thought from the mid-19th century to the present. Topics covered include: connections between literary forms and political activism; history of modern revolutionary movements and their impacts on intellectual and artistic production; contemporary developments in manifesto writing in a global context. Sample movements include Communism, Surrealism, Anti-Fascism, Black Power, Feminism, Environmentalism. Final project: students undertake an independent research project and write their own manifestos on a topic of their choosing. Taught entirely in English.
ICS376S - Language & Identity: How We Construct Identities and Reproduce Social Hierarchies Through Language

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 376S
Title: Language & Identity: How We Construct Identities and Reproduce Social Hierarchies Through Language

Description
Language is a central and pervasive feature of human identity through which we portray ourselves and negotiate social identities. With such practices we re-produce values, norms, social hierarchies, and the privilege these entail. Using examples from media, literature, and ethnographic data we will explore how speakers negotiate social identities through language and how ideas about it inform our understanding and interpretation of society and speakers within it. Topics include language, racism, gender, sexuality, class, ethnicity and ways that language and discourse construct and maintain a sense of belonging, otherness, truth, and value. Not open to students who have taken Romance Studies 207FS.

ICS377 - Contemporary Novel

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 377
Title: Contemporary Novel

Description
Major trends in fiction since 1950: modernism/postmodernism, ethnicity and ethnic identity, feminism, postcoloniality, genre-bending, and more. Readings from the United States and from Great Britain, India, Canada, South Africa, and the Caribbean. Satisfies Area III for English majors.

ICS377S - Contemporary Novel

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 377S
Title: Contemporary Novel

Description
Seminar version of English 377.

ICS379 - Emerging Markets: Finance, Trade, Institutions and the World Economy

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 379
Title: Emerging Markets: Finance, Trade, Institutions and the World Economy

Description
Analyzes rise of emerging markets/economies and their new role in the context of global economy. Focus on post-1970s growth of countries such as China, India, South Korea, Chile, Mexico, and Brazil (and/or other countries according to students' interests) with particular emphasis on financial, industrial/trading and institutional aspects, linking such rise to the emergence of vast global economic imbalances and new trend in capital and trade flows of the last decade. Explores economic and policy challenges these countries and their companies increasingly face and implications for the world economy. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and 210D.
ICS380S - Islamic Mysticism

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
3805

Title
Islamic Mysticism

Description
This course introduces the history and key concepts of Islamic spirituality through the lives, writings, institutions, and influence of Muslim sages, ascetics, and saints across Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Americas. Critical topics include Sufi origins, psychology, healing, music, poetry, politics, and the aspiration to beautify one's self and society through connection with the Divine.

ICS382 - Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
382

Title
Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Description
An opportunity to study with the Somali-Italian author Igiaba Scego, this English-language course explores representations of race, class, and families in contemporary fiction. The course has three parts: 1) Analysis of Scego's work, which is crucial to debates on migration, decolonization, racism, feminism, and translation; 2) read Italian and Brazilian authors to examine the intersection of color and class that cross Italy and Brazil from the colonial period to today, including the journeys and interactions between parents, siblings; 3) discussion of Scego's just-translated 'The Color Line,' which moves between the U.S., Italy, and Somalia, and final projects.

ICS383 - The Actress: Celebrity and the Woman

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
383

Title
The Actress: Celebrity and the Woman

Description
Explores through fiction, film, autobiographies, and biographies the significance and influence of the actress (on stage and screen) from eighteenth century to present day. Highlighted topics: actress's self-image and perception of her art; relationship between her public profession and private life; how she reflects/sets contemporary standards for beauty and lifestyle; how she provokes public debate over women's 'appropriate' sexual, familial, professional, and public roles; her function as symbol/role model for her gender, race, nation. Includes Sarah Bernhardt's memoirs, Chekhov's The Seagull, Susan Sontag's In America, films All About Eve and Mommie Dearest. Taught in English.

ICS388S - Global South Asia: History and Culture of Diaspora

Subject
ICS

Catalog Number
3885

Title
Global South Asia: History and Culture of Diaspora

Description
This course examines the making of South Asia (Afghanistan, Bangladesh, India, Myanmar, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka) as a global space from the early 20th-century until today. In addition to an examination of the region, course material will also address the South Asian Diaspora, particularly throughout Australia, East Africa, Southern Africa, Canada, the Caribbean, France, Germany, the United Kingdom, and the United States. Topics may include imperialism and decolonization; the making of postcolonial nation-states; migration, labor, and citizenship; and the global circulation of caste, class, religion, gender, and sexuality.
ICS390 - Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number 390
Title
Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Description
Topics vary from semester to semester, focusing either on specific world regions or particular comparative/global issues.

ICS390SA - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in International Comparative Studies

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number
390SA
Title
Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in International Comparative Studies

Description
Topics differ by section.

ICS390S - Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number
390S
Title
Selected Topics in International Comparative Studies

Description
Topics vary from semester to semester, focusing either on specific world regions or particular comparative/global issues.

ICS391 - Independent Study

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number 391
Title
Independent Study

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ICS392 - Independent Study

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number 392
Title
Independent Study

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ICS393 - Research Independent Study

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number 393
Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ICS394 - Research Independent Study

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number
394
Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>395</td>
<td>Language and Society</td>
<td>Course examines language as a social practice, focusing on different aspects of its role in social life. Topics addressed include: language and social identity, such as ethnicity, social class, age, and gender; variation in language, including dialects, accents, and registers; multilingualism and language contact; new languages such as pidgins and creoles; language, culture, and intercultural communication; language and ideology; language in education and in the media. Through the discussion of these topics and homework including reading and small research projects, students are introduced to key concepts, theories, and methods in sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>396S</td>
<td>Language in Immigrant America</td>
<td>Discussion of issues of language in the context of immigration in the United States, from the turn of the 20th century until the present, combining approaches from literature, memoirs, language policy, media studies, and linguistic anthropology. Some fieldwork in an immigrant community. Topics include: identity, assimilation, race, bilingual communities, bilingual education, foreign accents, language contact.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>397</td>
<td>Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict</td>
<td>The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>397D</td>
<td>Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict</td>
<td>The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>398S</td>
<td>Global Humanitarianism</td>
<td>This course explores humanitarianism as both a global phenomenon and a western model for engaging with the world. It examines the cultural and political conditions that make it possible for some people to be saviors and others to require saving. It focuses on the ways humanitarian interventions are increasingly as much about alleviating poverty and supporting political change, as about responding to crises caused by health epidemics, conflict or war, and environmental disasters. We will pay close attention to the impacts of humanitarian interventions good and bad, while critically exploring how local agendas and conditions shape and respond to these programs.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>399</td>
<td>Global Russia</td>
<td>This course will examine the process of globalization of Russian culture and institutions as manifested in political, economic, and legal institutions; religion; education; popular and academic cultural forms, including media and artistic texts, film, theatre and television; diplomacy; reproductive rights; health care; the role of censorship; views of citizenship, patriotism, and sport. We will evaluate the ethical issues, potential shift of cultural values, and their impact on 21st century Russian institutions.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS399A - Global Russia

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number
399A
Title
Global Russia
Description
Globalization of Russian culture as manifested in popular/academic cultural forms, including political ideologies, media/artistic texts, film, theater/television, markets, educational/legal institutions, historical/contemporary social movements. Examination of ethical issues in context of such topics as the relationship between church and state; evolution of a totalitarian government into a democratic state; reproductive rights; struggle against corruption in education, finance, police; role of censorship; views of citizenship, patriotism, valor, and treason; historical perspectives on prison camps, abuses of psychiatry. Offered in the Duke in Russia Program. Instructor consent required.

ICS404 - Globalization and Anti-Globalization

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number
404
Title
Globalization and Anti-Globalization
Description
The politics and process of globalization in light of the responses, ideologies, and practices of the anti-globalization movement. Focus on the interrelationship between the analysis of globalization and policy formulation on such topics as social justice, labor, migration, poverty, natural resource management, and citizenship. Case studies from the United States, Latin America, South and East Asia, Africa, and Europe.

ICS407S - Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number
407S
Title
Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction
Description
Course examines global Science Fiction genres in literature, film, and social media as case studies to understand broad historical and social formations of Otherness, the Alien, Citizenship, (Im)migration. Studies racial assumptions in popular culture, domestic and international law, discourse of the human and human rights, science and technology industries, and other disciplines. Explores interdisciplinary intersections of race, gender, sexuality, class, and geopolitical divisions and interactions in Asian/American Studies and Postcolonial Studies from the past to the present.

ICS410S - Trauma and Space in Asia

Subject
ICS
Catalog Number
410S
Title
Trauma and Space in Asia
Description
Space and Trauma across Asia. Introduces theoretical framework of 'trauma discourse;' examines how the experience of space in Asia broadly defined has shaped historical traumas, which have marked the transition from colonialism to postcolonialism. Focus on Israel/Palestine, India/Pakistan, China/Taiwan, Japan/Korea; examine how critical terms originating in one historico-geographical context are translated across geographical boundaries.
ICS411S - Archiving and Visualizing Asia: Politics and Poetics of Knowledge Production

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 411S
Description

Engages students in the practices and theories of archiving, documenting and curating marginal histories. Hands-on research in the archives of Duke’s Rubenstein Special Collections and elsewhere. Examines histories of movements and encounters between the ‘West’ and ‘Asia.’ Teaches original archival research and documentary methods through guided excavations in digital, audiovisual, and material resources. Directed readings and special guest lectures guide students on how to think critically on the theories and praxis of knowledge production, collection, documentation, circulation, and consumption. Students curate projects for final research assignment.

ICS412S - Capstone Seminar - Globalization: Asia and Asian America

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 412S
Title: Capstone Seminar - Globalization: Asia and Asian America
Description

‘Globalization’: a shorthand for describing the period of extraordinary change that we are living through, our lives, and our worlds as defined by global connections, from the internet technologies and rapid mass communication to issues of mobilization for social justice. This course focuses on two main themes: global moments of common struggle against racism in Asian, Asian American, and African American contexts, and global manufacture and the ways in which the microprocessor chip technology has come to bind Asia, Africa, and America, with a special focus on women and Asian Americans in the IT sector.

ICS413S - France-Asia: Cultural Transfers and Translations in a Globalized Context

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 413S
Title: France-Asia: Cultural Transfers and Translations in a Globalized Context
Description

This class explores the dynamic contemporary Franco-Asian dialogue with a specific focus on China, Japan, Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. Seeking to go beyond the East-West divide, the seminar investigates the current stakes of this dialogue, given its growing complexity after 1945. It examines the postcolonial legacy of France’s occupation of Indochina, and how East Asia has also often been viewed as an ‘Other,’ serving to crystallize French anxieties over political and cultural power. It uses an interdisciplinary perspective encompassing novels, cinema, dance, visual arts, and critical theory to trace a web of exchanges in a globalized context. Taught in French.

ICS414S - Indigenous Americas

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 414S
Title: Indigenous Americas
Description

Explores histories, experiences, struggles, art, and philosophies of indigenous peoples in the Americas, meaning both Latin and North America. Acknowledging 500 years of genocidal practices, will focus on concepts of ‘the good life’ and the complex relations of the spiritual and the material. Roles of gender and sexuality within indigenous worlds and in the often violent relations with settler societies will be a special focus. Explore relations between past, present, and the future under burden of Anthropocene.
ICS416S - Media and Conflict

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 416S
Title: Media and Conflict

Description
Focus on the role of media in the context of colonialism, war and conflict across various historical periods. Attentive to the ways that media technologies have been employed both as tools of power and vehicles of protest and resistance. Theoretical readings are paired with a set of international case studies -- e.g. colonial atrocity archives, #BlackLivesMatter, Syrian civil war, the Abu Ghraib torture scandal, the Israeli military occupation, drone strikes -- that enable us to test the applicability of theoretical discussions to contemporary case studies. Readings in Butler, Kaplan, Sontag, Stein and Kuntsman, Virilio and others.

ICS417S - The Middle East: From Facebook to Film

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 417S
Title: The Middle East: From Facebook to Film

Description
Studying the Middle East through the lens of popular culture, with a focus on the cultural changes of the digital era. Focus on social media, film, graphic novels, amateur cameras. Studies how popular cultural forms relate to concurrent political and historical processes. Themes include: digital media and society, state violence and terrorism, human rights, sexuality and youth culture.

ICS418S - The Global Caribbean

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 418S
Title: The Global Caribbean

Description
The course introduces students to the Caribbean as a transnational space that reflects the global dynamics associated with flows of bodies via migration, labor, and goods all of which have undergirded the birth and evolution of the (primarily) Atlantic world economy. The Global Caribbean will have a historical sociological bent that frames the region as the first modern colonial space which has served as a template for other projects of colonial and postcolonial development elsewhere in the world. Emphasis will be on the way that freedoms and unfreedoms operate in the Caribbean and elsewhere. Discussions of how knowledge has conditioned the representation of the region will be entertained.

ICS419S - Meaning, Mattering, and Black Being-in-the-World: Towards a Critical Theory of Race and Value

Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 419S
Title: Meaning, Mattering, and Black Being-in-the-World: Towards a Critical Theory of Race and Value

Description
This course interrogates the ways scholars in the social sciences and humanities have conceptualized and theorized value, and the curious absence of race/racism from this discourse. Drawing from scholarship in the fields of history, anthropology, African diaspora studies, and (ethno)musicology, students will develop a better understanding of the interrelationship between race and value and the distinct ways that race has been one of the most pervasive ‘value regimes’ in the making of the modern world. Topics include the transatlantic slave trade and plantation societies in the Americas; intersections of race with science and technology; and black radical politics and expressive culture.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code: ICS420S</th>
<th>Course Title: Music and The Black Radical Imagination</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject: ICS</td>
<td>Catalog Number: 420S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title: Music and The Black Radical Imagination</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This seminar introduces students to key texts on histories and theories of Black radicalism, and spotlights the role of the imagination and creativity within modern Black political struggles. Building on the foundational scholarship of Cedric Robinson, Robin D. G. Kelley, and others, students will investigate how the philosophical and ideological foundations of the Black Radical Tradition have been nurtured and transmitted across time and space as culture. Special emphasis will be placed on the study of sound, music, and performance as manifestations of the Black radical imagination, from the era of Atlantic slavery to the contemporary Black Lives Matter Movement.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code: ICS421S</th>
<th>Course Title: The Geopolitics of Islamophobia from Bosnia to Xinjiang</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject: ICS</td>
<td>Catalog Number: 421S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title: The Geopolitics of Islamophobia from Bosnia to Xinjiang</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Comparative study of geopolitical attitudes toward Muslim minorities in and majority Muslim nations of the greater Middle East beginning with the Ottomans and including Bosnia, Chechnya, Iran, Afghanistan and/or Xinjiang. These polities have histories of colonialism, contested Islamic and secular state traditions, and experiences of anti-Muslim racism, religious and ethnic conflict and political violence. Theoretical analysis of historiography, Islamophobia, gender, identity, and policy. Discussion of US, European, and regional geopolitical interests through cultural texts including literature and film. This course does not fulfill the History capstone requirement.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code: ICS423S</th>
<th>Course Title: City Stories, Eastern Europe: Prague, Warsaw, Budapest, Sarajevo</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject: ICS</td>
<td>Catalog Number: 423S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title: City Stories, Eastern Europe: Prague, Warsaw, Budapest, Sarajevo</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores the multicultural histories, landmarks, and architectural styles of these four major European capitals. Drawing on paintings, photos, films, histories, memoirs, and fiction, we’ll trace the aesthetic, religious, and political imprints of overlapping empires—Hapsburg, Russian, Ottoman, and Soviet—on these fascinating cities; consider how their urban communities accommodated influential religious minorities (Jews, Muslims, Christians); and study the roles they played in their respective nations. All readings in English translation and films screened with English subtitles.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code: ICS424-1</th>
<th>Course Title: Medical Anthropology</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject: ICS</td>
<td>Catalog Number: 424-1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title: Medical Anthropology</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Cross-cultural study of health and illness. Prerequisites: Completion of both Writing 101 and any First Year Seminar.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>425S</td>
<td>Mobility</td>
<td>Examine how individual humans move within a network or system through theories (e.g. Locke on portable property), vehicles (boats), travelers (pirates, pilgrims, migrants), media (books, money, gravestones, genealogies) to recognize the phenomenon of mobility and its consequences. This course enables you to cultivate an eye for seeing mobile phenomena, and to analyze how they are at the heart of the big issues: capitalism, colonialism, imperialism, race, religion, diaspora, migration and security.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>427S</td>
<td>Ethics of Hope</td>
<td>Hope involves the expectation or desire for good things to happen. Yet, does this set up people for despair when hopes get dashed or have no possibility of realization? Or, is the conjuring of something better—somewhere, sometime—what enables life to be sustained in the face of difficulties or just the daily grind of making do? In this class we raise the issue of the ethics, politics, and tactics of hope, drawing on philosophy, feminism, and anthropology.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>428S</td>
<td>Gender, Sex and Citizenship</td>
<td>Explore current issues and debates relating to the relationship between gender, sexuality and global flows of people, labor, capital and ideas. Consider feminist analyses of the citizen-subject and foundational questions central to this area of study relationship between cultural representation, queer subjectivities, and sexual citizenship. Examine scholarship on gendered vulnerability and the welfare state; the politics of ‘terror’, security, and stereotyped masculinities; domestic labor and contemporary slavery; and the controversial debates about the connections between sex tourism, human trafficking and commercial sex work. Prerequisite: Previous gender studies course or consent of the instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>432S</td>
<td>Cultures of New Media</td>
<td>Anthropological look at 'new media’- their varied forms and histories, how they are used and understood, and their meanings and effects within different communities of users. Charts a number of technologies deemed ‘new’ in their day and the social meanings and communities that such technologies generated. Explores new media in domains of art and literature, as well as issues of race, gender, sexuality and how other indices of difference come to bear on new media and its use. Grounded in anthropology, readings will also draw on media studies, visual studies, cultural studies and critical theory, queer and gender theory, history and geography.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>434S</td>
<td>South Africa and the World</td>
<td>Throughout the 20th century, South Africa had the largest economy and military on the African continent. Its strategic geographic position and mineral wealth in gold and uranium made it an important ally for the largest economies in the world. The Cold War enhanced its significance. However, in the second half of the twentieth century, its policies of apartheid rendered it an international pariah. This course examines the ways in which countries, international institutions, and millions of ‘ordinary’ people shaped the course of South African history. How did South Africa interact with the broader world, and how did the world try to affect South Africa’s policies of white supremacy?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ICS</td>
<td>435S</td>
<td>Atlantic Constellations: Migration, Exile, Second Slavery</td>
<td>This seminar explores the collective identities of Afro-descendant slaves in the Americas as well as migrant and exiled Spaniards away from the homeland. We will consider three main themes: 1) chattel or second slavery in Cuba, and, secondarily, in the U.S. and/or Brazil; 2) Ibero-Atlantic diasporas since the mid-nineteenth century, including so-called white slavery; and 3) the career of María Zambrano, an expatriate intellectual who turned her banishment from Spain in 1939 into the enabling condition of her radical revision of Western philosophy and the ethics of exile. Prerequisite: 300-level or above Spanish course that meets foreign language (FL) requirement.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ICS459S - Photography in the Americas: War, Tourism, Art, and Protest
Description
Since it emerged in the 19th century until today, the camera has framed our way of seeing and understanding the world. In this course, students accompany the camera in its path through major events in the Americas—North, South, and Central—and examine the profound connections between them. We discuss photography as a weapon of war, a souvenir for tourists, an instrument of protest, an illustration of history, a journalistic and ethnographic tool, and an artistic medium. Key developments in photographic processes, from halftone printing to digital imaging, offer opportunities to reflect on the relationship between visual culture and technology, and art and politics. Taught in Spanish.

ICS460S - Mayas, Aztecs, and Incas: The World According to the Indigenous People of Latin America
Description
The basic philosophical architecture of the three great civilizations of America; Maya, Aztec, and Inca civilizations. Links the current indigenous revival in the Andes (Bolivia and Ecuador) and in the South of Mexico and Guatemala with the survival of their historical legacies.

ICS479S - Screening Europe
Description
Course debates identification of Europe as a political, historical and social entity from the standpoint of cinema. Provides students with an introduction to the notion of ‘European cinema’ from 1945 to the present-day crisis of Brexit and migration. Explores issues concerning interactions and relations between national and transnational identities, the local and the global, post-colonialism and multiculturalism, migration and nationalism, and Eastern versus Western Europe.

ICS489S - Capstone: Global Studies Seminar
Description
Interdisciplinary seminar for senior ICS majors; uses scholarship, literature and film to revisit critical global and transnational studies concepts and themes from ICS 195 at a level appropriate for seniors; writing-intensive, with assignments to facilitate analytical thinking; individual reflection on classroom, study away, and work experiences; library research; and engagement with the university intellectual and creative environment. Prerequisite: International Comparative Studies 195/History 103/Political Science 178/Religion 195/Sociology 195. Open to senior International Comparative Studies majors only.

ICS490S - Advanced Seminar in Topics in International Comparative Studies
Description
Topics vary from semester to semester.

ICS495S - Senior Honors Seminar
Description
First semester of a two course sequence. Open to seniors pursuing Distinction in International Comparative Studies. Course supports beginning stages (project design, research, draft composition) of an interdisciplinary research-based project on a question of interest relevant to critical transnationalism. Course fulfills senior capstone requirement for ICS. Consent of instructor based on application and project proposal.
ICS496S - Senior Honors Seminar
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 496S
Title: Senior Honors Seminar
Description: Continuation of International Comparative Studies 495S. Open to seniors majoring in International Comparative Studies. Consent of instructor required.

ICS89S - First Year Seminar
Subject: ICS
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First Year Seminar
Description: Topics vary each semester offered.

IDS190S - Special Topics: Discovering the Social Sciences
Subject: IDS
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics: Discovering the Social Sciences
Description: Introduction to research methods in the social sciences with the chance to learn about the range of research questions, methods used across various fields that study how people think, act, and impact the world. Duke faculty from a wide range of departments will discuss their own research to showcase the range of quantitative and qualitative methods. By the end of the course, students should be able to: describe a good research question and how it affects choices in analytical methods, critically evaluate examples of social science research that use the tools explored in the class, and understand where at Duke they can learn and use the different methodologies covered in the class.

IMMUNOL493 - Research Independent Study
Subject: IMMUNOL
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: Individual research and reading of the primary literature in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the major product of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor required.

IMMUNOL494 - Research Independent Study
Subject: IMMUNOL
Catalog Number: 494
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: Individual research and reading of the primary literature in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the major product of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor required.

ISS101L - Technical and Social Analysis of Information and the Internet
Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 101L
Title: Technical and Social Analysis of Information and the Internet
Description: Study of standards, software, policy, and the impact of computing and the Internet on science and society. Analysis and creation of software and other computational and digital artifacts to solve problems in many domains using different approaches, including data mining, web-based communication, algorithmic and data-driven approaches, crowdsourcing. Use of real-world problems in understanding evolving international standards. Analysis of tradeoffs in ethical, economic, and technical areas.
ISS110 - Information, Society & Culture: Bass Connections Gateway

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>110</td>
<td></td>
<td>Information, Society &amp; Culture: Bass Connections Gateway</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Information, Society, and Culture across disciplines. How all aspects of information theory and practice, including computational and mathematical and those from social sciences and the humanities are transforming research, reframing intellectual questions in research and its application, and having an impact on interactions within societies, cultures, ideologies, economics, politics. Modules presented by faculty from all areas and schools, contrasting and comparative perspectives in research-driven modules focused on interdisciplinary project questions and ideas. Lecture/section activities. Course Gateway for the Bass Connections theme in Information, Society and Culture.

ISS112 - The Googlization of Knowledge: Information, Ethics, and Technology

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>112</td>
<td></td>
<td>The Googlization of Knowledge: Information, Ethics, and Technology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Google has altered the way we see the world and ourselves. Its biases, valuing popularity over accuracy, affect how we value information and navigate news and ideas. This course examines information from different angles within the context of social justice, open access to information, and how the Internet and Google affect our lives. Themes include knowledge as a public good, Internet policies, data and visual literacies, social media, and artificial intelligence. Hands-on work researching how technology affects the access, understanding, and reliability of information in students' lives. Analysis, discussions, and reflection assignments with ongoing application to team-based projects.

ISS125FS - Foundations of Game Design

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>125FS</td>
<td></td>
<td>Foundations of Game Design</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Exploration of the theory and practice of game design with a focus on critical play, game decomposition, and iterative design. Students explore a range of non-digital games to discover how design elements combine to form meaningful systems of play. Readings, discussion, and hands-on design exercises prepare students as they design, develop, and document meaningful games in a collaborative environment. Programming experience is not required.

ISS125L - Foundations of Game Design

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>125L</td>
<td></td>
<td>Foundations of Game Design</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Exploration of the theory and practice of game design with a focus on critical play, game decomposition, and iterative design. Students explore a range of non-digital games to discover how design elements combine to form meaningful systems of play. Readings, discussion, and hands-on design exercises prepare students as they design, develop, and document meaningful games in a collaborative environment. Programming experience is not required.
ISS135 - Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 135
Title: Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art

Description
This course explores ideas surrounding the creation of experimental sculpture. Employs non-traditional methods: 'readymades,' non-traditional materials, conceptual processes, digital interaction and fabrication techniques (rapid prototyping), mixed media including video, and projection technologies. Content of work driven by individual student interests—sustainability, the anthropocene, feminism, social and political commentary, and/or more formal, abstract sculptural relations. Instructor consent required.

ISS172 - The Anthropology of Design and User Experience (UX) Research

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 172
Title: The Anthropology of Design and User Experience (UX) Research

Description
The field of design and the burgeoning field of User Experience (UX) research has recently applied the methods anthropologists have used for over a century. The methods of cultural anthropology are distinctly aligned to ask questions about motivations, beliefs, values, and relationships within cultural systems through direct participant observation, surveys, focus groups, and archival research. Privileging critical listening, empathy, and perspective-taking, we try to discern why people do what they do, and apply these questions to human-centered design.

ISS187FS - Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 187FS
Title: Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Description

ISS188FS - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 188FS
Title: Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

ISS190 - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description
Topics vary by semester.

ISS190FS - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies - Focus

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Special Topics in Information Science + Studies - Focus

Description
Special Topics in Information Science + Studies in the Focus Program
ISS190S - Special Topics in ISS: Introductory Seminar

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Special Topics in ISS: Introductory Seminar</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics vary per semester.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ISS198 - Experimental Interface Design

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>198</td>
<td>Experimental Interface Design</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Class explores issues surrounding embodied approaches to interface design. Articulates methodology for generating new forms of human/computer interface; includes workshops, discussions, student presentations, critiques and group brainstorming sessions. Content related to biomimetics; haptic body knowledge; multi-modal sensing; physical computing; physical</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ISS209 - 3D Modeling and Animation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>209</td>
<td>3D Modeling and Animation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Basic concepts of 3D modeling and animation; fundamentals of computer geometry; knowledge of basic tools of 3D software (Maya); introduction to modeling, animation, texturing, lighting, and rendering; combination of these techniques in a final project. Recommended prerequisite: Visual and Media Studies 206 or 396.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ISS211 - Animated Film: A History and Aesthetic

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>211</td>
<td>Animated Film: A History and Aesthetic</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Evolution of animation from the philosophical 'toys' of the late eighteenth century to the major international entertainment form of today. Special focus on American animation as it evolved from inspired individuals like Emile Cohl and Winsor McCay to a full-blown industrial model allowing for the creation of the animated feature and contemporary special effects.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ISS214S - Media Theory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>214S</td>
<td>Media Theory</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Introduction to the material and technical infrastructure that informs and constrains the production and dissemination of knowledge. Exploration of cultural impact of technical media from writing to the internet. Combines historical and theoretical discussion with hands-on experimentation with various media, including the codex book, phonography and sound registration technology, photography, cinematography, video, virtual reality, digital computation, and the internet.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ISS222D - Introduction to Digital Humanities

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>222D</td>
<td>Introduction to Digital Humanities</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Digital approaches to humanistic research and its expression, across disciplines and fields. Critical approaches to the digital turn in contemporary culture; theoretical approaches to digital creation and digital remediation of analog sources. Topics include aesthetics, cultural impact, opportunities for global circulation. Critical contextualization around access, authorship, diversity and inclusion, media effects, and evaluation. Exercises in text analysis, digital mapping, data visualization, databases, networks, online archives and exhibitions, immersive media, situated within broader cultural debates on digital cultures, and on best practices for interdisciplinary collaboration.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>228FS</td>
<td>Human Rights on Camera</td>
<td>This course studies the interplay between cameras and human rights; how media technologies are used by activists and human rights workers to amplify grievances. Focus on cases studies where state violence was captured on camera: the Rodney King beating; the Abu Ghraib torture images; the Syrian revolution; and the Black Lives Matter movement. How are legal assessments impacted by visual aesthetics? How much faith do we have in the power of cameras to deliver justice? Readings in foundational theoretical texts about media, technology, and visuality. Open only to students in the Focus Program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>240A</td>
<td>Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications</td>
<td>Same as ISS 240. Offered through the Duke-In-Venice Program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>240L</td>
<td>Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications</td>
<td>Laboratory version of Information Science + Studies 240. Multimedia information systems, including presentation media, hypermedia, graphics, animation, sound, video, and integrated authoring techniques; underlying technologies that make them possible. Practice in the design innovation, programming, and assessment of web-based digital multimedia information systems. Intended for students in non-technical disciplines. Engineering or Computer Science students should take Engineering 206 or Computer Science 408.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>240S</td>
<td>Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications</td>
<td>Multimedia information systems, including presentation media, hypermedia, graphics, animation, sound, video, and integrated authoring techniques; underlying technologies that make them possible. Practice in the design innovation, programming, and assessment of web-based digital multimedia information systems. Intended for students in non-technical disciplines. Engineering or Computer Science students should take Engineering 206 or Computer Science 408.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>241L</td>
<td>Web Project Design and Development</td>
<td>Follow-on to ISS 240/240L. Students should be experienced with basic HTML and CSS. Information and graphic design; use-case development; readings and group critiques. Continued work with HTML, CSS, HTML5, Javascript. Introduction to PHP, MySQL and/or other server-based authoring techniques. Creation and templating of blogs, wikis, and content management systems. Web 2.0 and 3.0 technology implementation. Embedded media and objects. Intellectual property and fair use. User testing. Short exercises, group work, individual semester project, and public site launch. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>242</td>
<td>Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games</td>
<td>Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. how games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ISS242S - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

ISS250 - Building Global Audiences

Description
Marketing and publicity are so important to audience building that, 20 years ago, expanding beyond local audiences usually couldn’t be accomplished without huge advertising budgets. However, thanks to the Internet, you can build a global audience from your dorm room. This class explores how. Learn about social media, search engine optimization, virality, content marketing, growth hacking, and other digital audience building strategies. They’re difficult to learn and time consuming to execute, so expect to struggle. We’ll learn as much from our failures as we will from our successes as we discover what it takes to cultivate global awareness for an idea without ever leaving Durham.

ISS252 - Learning to Fail

Description
Most people spend their lives afraid of failing. Yet, many of the world’s most successful people failed numerous times on their paths toward success. The underlying question of this class is if failing is as antithetical to learning as we’re taught to believe. To explore this question, we will test ways of using failure as a strategy for learning. We will experiment with failure to learn how it can make us better as we develop our skills as innovators, specifically focusing on the earliest stage of creativity: ideation. We will use failure through experimentation as a technique for problem definition and needs discovery which, in turn, will help us validate the quality of our ideas.

ISS253 - Social Marketing: From Literary Celebrities to Instagram Influencers

Description
Typical Duke students spend hours each day using social media. You’ve surely heard the platforms described as ‘revolutionary,’ and you’ve also heard them described as ‘time wasters.’ What you probably haven’t thought about is how similar they are to previous ‘revolutionary’ communications technologies like novels, newspapers, and even language itself. This course explores ways in which studying the masters of previous ‘social’ media technologies—the Shakespeares, Whitmans, and Eliots of the world—can help us understand how influencers on digital social media leverage the same platforms you use every day to market themselves, build their brands, and grow their audiences.
ISS255 - Humanities Text Mining and Meaning

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 255
Title: Humanities Text Mining and Meaning

Description
The digital text has led to new forms of research and is receiving increasing attention from artificial intelligence (AI). The application of machine learning to text, known as text mining, presents unique intellectual challenges that require major contributions from the humanities. This course introduces students to the interdisciplinary domain of text mining through a humanities-based media-theoretic framework. Students will first learn text data prep skills and practices fundamental to meaningful analysis. The semester will later introduce unsupervised machine learning and topic modeling, and culminate in a group project. Not recommended for advanced CS students.

ISS262 - Designing Transformative Learning

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 262
Title: Designing Transformative Learning

Description
The term ‘open source’ is frequently used to denote software source code that is freely available, modifiable, and shareable. However, the term has much wider applicability and relevance. The core values of open source—open knowledge and access to information, collaboration and community, transparency and meritocracy, inclusion and diversity, and iterative creation and adaptability—have profound implications for 21st century learning. In this learner-centered, project-based course, students will research the intersection of open source concepts, technology, and education innovation and share their knowledge across public-facing open-access media.

ISS265S - Introduction to Digital Feminism

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 265S
Title: Introduction to Digital Feminism

Description
The aim of this course is to critically analyze digital culture from a feminist and gender studies perspective. We will address topics related to digital innovation and its history, unpacking and questioning them through the insights offered by genders studies analytical tools. Subjects such as the rise of the Silicon Valley, gaming culture, social media, algorithms, Artificial Intelligence, extraction of data applied to biotechnology, macroeconomic development of IT platforms and the impact of technology on ecology will be discussed starting from a current event or debate, to which we will give a historical, ethical, sociological, theoretical, literary or cinematographic perspective.

ISS268 - Media History: Old and New

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 268
Title: Media History: Old and New

Description
Development of various media forms in historical and social contexts. Impact of old ‘new’ media on established art, commerce, education, politics, entertainment from 19th c. on. Changing ideas about authenticity, authority, agency, reception, identity, and power relating to emerging media forms, production, circulation. Overlaps, disjunctures, convergences, persistences and antiquations via case studies and examples. Technologies include print publishing, photography, audio recording, film, telegraph, maps, exhibitions, architecture and installations alongside contemporary web, multimedia, database, game, virtual reality, and telepresence systems. Final rich media research project required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>270S</td>
<td>Constructing Immersive Virtual Worlds</td>
<td>Theory, practice, and creation of 3D virtual worlds. Hands-on design and development of online collaborative simulation environments. Critical exploration of state-of-the-art virtual world technologies; 3D graphics, chat, voice, video, and mixed reality systems. Topics include: history/culture of virtual worlds, identity and avatars; behavioral norms; self-organizing cultures; user-generated content, virtual world economies; architectural scalability.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISSN</td>
<td>275</td>
<td>Performance Art History and Theory</td>
<td>Performance Art History and Theory explores cultural experimentation, theoretical strategies, and ideological aims of performance art internationally; examines interchanges between artists’ theories of performance, stylistic development, and impact in the context of cultural criticism and art history; traces interdisciplinary genealogies of performance globally; thinks about the body as a vehicle for aesthetic expression, communication, and information in its critique of social and political conditions; studies performance and gender, sexuality, race, and class; asks how performance alters the semiotics of visual culture and contributes to a paradigm shift from modernism to postmodernism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>279S</td>
<td>Visual Cultures of Medicine</td>
<td>Exploration of the visual culture(s) of medicine. The changing role of diagnostic visuality and medical imaging from various philosophical and historical perspectives. The connections between medical ways of seeing and other modes of visuality, photography, cinema, television, computer graphics. The circulation of medical images and images of medicine in popular culture as well as in professional medical cultures.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISSN</td>
<td>285S</td>
<td>Religion and Technology</td>
<td>Explores the production and consumption of technologies that were either inspired by spiritual views or made for religious purposes. Using primary and secondary sources, archival manuscripts, film, photography, and field trips to better understand these technologies and their place in the human imaginary.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISSN</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Special Topics in Information Science +</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Studies</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Topics vary by semester and instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>ISS Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>291-1</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>292</td>
<td>ISS Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>293</td>
<td>ISS Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>294L</td>
<td>Interactive Graphics: Critical Code</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ISS</td>
<td>302</td>
<td>Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ISS291 - ISS Independent Study

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 291
Title: ISS Independent Study
Description: Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of both the instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ISS291-1 - Independent Study

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 291-1
Title: Independent Study
Description: Half-credit Independent Study in Information Science + Studies.

ISS292 - ISS Independent Study

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 292
Title: ISS Independent Study
Description: Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of both the instructor and director of undergraduate studies is required.

ISS293 - ISS Research Independent Study

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 293
Title: ISS Research Independent Study
Description: Individual research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of both the instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ISS294L - Interactive Graphics: Critical Code

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 294L
Title: Interactive Graphics: Critical Code
Description: Introduction to interactive graphics programming for artists. Explores object-oriented programming via the Processing programming environment as well as historical and theoretical appreciation of interactivity and computer graphics as artistic media. Combines discussions of key concepts from the readings with hands-on Processing projects and critiques. No previous programming experience or prerequisites required. Enrollment limited to 15 students.

ISS302 - Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 302
Title: Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes
Description: Tracks digital life and creative expression of groups online in a close study of images, captions and hyperlinked tags. Examines rituals, symbols and cultural patterns that structure everyday life of digital tribes online and investigates impact of digital and social media (Twitter, Instagram Facebook, Periscope) on the constitution of communities online and offline. Studying varied array of digital tribes: tribes of the deaf, of oil rig workers, of Hindu worshippers, of prison wives and laptop entrepreneurs, students learn about underlying myths, rituals, and cultural symbols that connect groups of people online.
ISS302S - Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes

Subject
ISS
Catalog Number
302S
Title
Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes

Description
Tracks digital life and creative expression of groups online in a close study of images, captions and hyperlinked tags. Examines rituals, symbols and cultural patterns that structure everyday life of digital tribes online and investigates impact of digital and social media (Twitter, Instagram Facebook, Periscope) on the constitution of communities online and offline. Studying varied array of digital tribes: tribes of the deaf, of oil rig workers, of Hindu worshipers, of prison wives and laptop entrepreneurs, students learn about underlying myths, rituals, and cultural symbols that connect groups of people online.

ISS304S - Introduction to Digital Culture: Media Theory, Politics, Aesthetics

Subject
ISS
Catalog Number
304S
Title
Introduction to Digital Culture: Media Theory, Politics, Aesthetics

Description
What is digital culture today? In the first two decades of the 00s, digital culture has become more directly related to the emergence of social media platforms (from Youtube to Instagram, from Snapchat to Tiktok). Digital culture is now shaped by artificial intelligence. We make new friends through dating apps and by becoming followers. We know that biases of race, class, gender and sexuality are embedded in everyday search algorithms. This course welcomes students to participate in these emerging discussions and experiment with new ideas that are shaping digital culture today.

ISS305L - Virtual Museums: Theories and Methods of Twenty-First-Century Museums

Subject
ISS
Catalog Number
305L
Title
Virtual Museums: Theories and Methods of Twenty-First-Century Museums

Description
The future of museums will be one of immateriality and interaction. Course focuses on how the ‘Internet of Things,’ augmented reality technologies, new data analyses of artifacts will transform missions, roles, and goals of museums and collections. Core of course will be digital lab sessions focused on virtual reconstruction of lost heritage—e.g., museums and sites destroyed and damaged by ISIS and other conflicts in Iraq and the Middle East (Hatra, Nineveh, Nimrud, Baghdad).

ISS313L - Advanced Data Visualization

Subject
ISS
Catalog Number
313L
Title
Advanced Data Visualization

Description
This course is all about the art and science of visualizing data. Learn about the what (types of visualizations, tools to produce them), the how (start with a design, pre-process the data, map it to graphical attributes, make strategic decisions about visual encoding, post-process for readability and visual appeal), and the why (the theory behind the grammar of graphics). Evaluate the clarity, effectiveness, and honesty of visualization choices and improve (your and others’) visualizations through an iterative design process. Discuss the role of statistical graphics in modeling and inference. Do it all in R, reproducibly, and using a variety of modern data visualization packages. Prerequisite: Prerequisite: Statistical Science 198L or (198L-1 and 198L-2) or 199L or (199L-1 and 199L-2) or 210L.
ISS315 - Mapping History with Geographic Information Systems

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 315
Title: Mapping History with Geographic Information Systems

Description
Beginner/intermediate Geographic Information System (GIS) course designed to help students learn how to investigate history spatially. Emphasizes perspectives, procedures, and tools that are relevant to applications of GIS in Art History and Humanistic disciplines. Designed as a hybrid lecture/lab format in which direct instruction is supplemented by hands on learning labs using ArcGIS software and real-world spatial data. The main skills students will gain are: integration of spatial and tabular data, geoprocessing, data visualization, creating features, editing features, vector and raster integration, spatial analysis, georeferencing.

ISS317 - User Experience and User Interface Design and Development

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 317
Title: User Experience and User Interface Design and Development

Description
How do we build knowledge about computational, aesthetic, product and spatial experience? What tools and methods enable our work in the design of these interactions? This course applies methods and technologies found in the User Experience (UX) and User Interface (UI) disciplines to analyze, document, design and prototype a number of spatial and product interactions.

ISS320 - Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 320
Title: Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D

Description
Practical concepts and exercises with the C# programming language. Basic concepts of algorithms and data structures. Discussion of basic computer graphics concepts. Introduction to the Unity3D game engine. Importing various model formats into Unity3D. User interface design in Unity3D. Advanced scripting using C# for Unity3D. Unity3D common pitfalls and tips for optimizations. Usage of augmented and virtual reality libraries. Weekly homework and final project. No prior coding experience is assumed.

ISS320S - Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 320S
Title: Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D

Description
Practical concepts and exercises with the C# programming language. Basic concepts of algorithms and data structures. Discussion of basic computer graphics concepts. Introduction to the Unity3D game engine. Importing various model formats into Unity3D. User interface design in Unity3D. Advanced scripting using C# for Unity3D. Unity3D common pitfalls and tips for optimizations. Usage of the MiddleVR virtual reality library. Weekly homework and final project. No prior coding experience is assumed.
ISS321 - Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number 321

Title
Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

Description
Sampling & remixing of previous works is a major mode of contemporary cultural production cutting across media and cultural practices. This course analyzes its genealogy, technological underpinnings, legal presuppositions and aesthetic consequences. Tensions between copy and copyright, between claims to originality and mechanical reproduction characterize this contemporary regime, now deployed globally. Its cultural implications will be distinguished from related modes of making art and meaning (imitation, citation, collage, montage...) and tracked through various objects: popular and avant-garde cinema; videogames, ready-mades and Pop Art; Hip-Hop and Electro; literature and DJ culture.

ISS323S - Social Movements and Social Media

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
323S

Title
Social Movements and Social Media

Description
Examines uses and abuses of social media by social movements. Interested in a broader historical study of mediating technologies and oppositional public sphere, course considers the uses of cameras, phones, cassette players, radio, and social media platforms, but also books, bodies, art, fashion, and automobiles as oppositional technologies. Studies political and ethical uses of technologies in social unrest. Investigates impact of technologies on social movements and social transformations in contemporary history. Student driven case studies will highlight contemporary engagement with social media by networked social movements.

ISS351S - Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
351S

Title
Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Description

ISS354S - Web Design and Narrative: Artists, Documentarians, Art Historians, and Entrepreneurs

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
354S

Title
Web Design and Narrative: Artists, Documentarians, Art Historians, and Entrepreneurs

Description
Professional practices course for students in creative fields without a computer science background: for artists and documentarians to create robust web-based portfolios; for art historians to showcase curatorial and scholarly projects; for entrepreneurs to demonstrate ideas, concepts, and products to the public. Develop customized, individual websites using CMS platforms. Hone and workshop artistic/curatorial/product statements. Develop teaching philosophies, exhibition imagery, and video documentation of artistic, curatorial, or product talks. Publish a blog magazine on arts and innovation topics. Guest speakers visit the course on a regular basis to review the students’ work.
ISS355S - Videogame Design and Critique

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 355S
Title: Videogame Design and Critique

Description
Surveys history, art, technology, narrative, ethics, and design of interactive computer games. Games as systems of rules, games of emergence and progression, state machines. Flow, systems of pleasure, goals, rewards, reinforcement schedules, fictional and narrative elements of game worlds. Responses to immersive & interactive media; experience of gamified systems in diverse contexts. Social, artistic, and cultural effects of games: impact, harm, benefits. Team design and development of game-design storyboards and stand-alone games. Interplay between narrative, graphics, rule systems, and artificial intelligence in the creation of interactive games. Programming experience not required.

ISS356S - Digital Durham

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 356S
Title: Digital Durham

Description
Representing Durham past and present with digital media. Digitize historical and cultural materials, research in archives and public records and present information through various forms including web pages, databases, maps, video and other media. Analysis of social impact of new representations of place and space.

ISS360 - The History of the Book

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 360
Title: The History of the Book

Description
The history of the 'book' as physical object from its earliest forms (clay tablets, papyrus scrolls) through to texts in the digital age. Introduction to manuscript and early print culture in the West – scribes, scripts and book production. The role of the book in different cultures, and in intellectual history. Hands-on experience with, and study of materials in the Rubenstein Rare Book and Manuscript Library.

ISS366L - Theories and Practices of Data Visualization

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 366L
Title: Theories and Practices of Data Visualization

Description
Combination of lectures, labs, and workshops on the theories and practices of data visualization, focused on creative applications of advanced tools and software, including introduction to data scraping, data cleaning, and elementary coding. Students will use innovative strategies to develop new databases with imperfect information, combining qualitative and quantitative data on the interface of the humanities and the social sciences. Individual and collaborative research projects will combine qualitative and quantitative analysis with weekly feedback and assessment.
ISS376 - Performance and Technology: Composition Workshop

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 376

Title: Performance and Technology: Composition Workshop

Description
Workshop exploration of technologies embedded in performance: robots, media, computer interface. Students create performance projects and discuss theoretical and historical implications of technologies in performance. Open to dancers, actors, musicians, spoken word artists and all those interested in technology and the arts. No previous experience or programming skills required.

ISS380 - Visualizing Cities: Representing Urban Landscapes, Cultures, and Environments

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 380

Title: Visualizing Cities: Representing Urban Landscapes, Cultures, and Environments

Description
Visualizing cities in theory and practice. Exploring digital and visual representation of landscapes, structures, environments, history, culture, architecture, events, and populations. Change over time, cultural heritage, possible futures, and alternate pasts from historical, cultural, documentary, and scientific evidence and archives. The idea of the city as a conceptual category and metaphor. Ubiquitous computing in urban environments as a medium for interaction. Global cities and diaspora. Visual imagery and written accounts. Use of mapping, imaging, 3D, augmented reality, games. Individual and group research and production of visualizing cities projects. Topics and temporal foci vary.

ISS380SA - Digital Cities and the Cartographic Imagination

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 380SA

Title: Digital Cities and the Cartographic Imagination

Description

ISS390 - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 390

Title: Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description
Topics vary per semester. Information science and studies areas as understood historically, thematically, and in contemporary cultures. Theoretical readings coupled with hands-on work with technology and new media applications.

ISS390A - Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 390A

Title: Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description
Topics differ each semester.

ISS390S - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 390S

Title: Seminar version of ISS 390.
ISS390S-1 - Topics in Digital History and Humanities

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
390S-1

Title
Topics in Digital History and Humanities

Description
Digital History and Digital Humanities in theory and practice. Students plan, research and develop new technology projects which present archival material and historical interpretations to scholars and the general public through research papers, websites, and museum exhibits. The course meets weekly to discuss readings in American history, southern history, and digital history/humanities. Students explore archival material in the Rubenstein Library, learn how to use digital tools for humanities projects, develop principles of effective digital project management, create cross-disciplinary collaborations and learn about the ethics for creating research projects in the humanities.

ISS390SA - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
390SA

Title
Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description
Seminar version of Information Science + Studies 390.

ISS390T - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies: Tutorial

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
390T

Title
Special Topics in Information Science + Studies: Tutorial

Description
Topics vary per semester. Information science and studies areas as understood historically, thematically, and in contemporary cultures. Theoretical readings coupled with hands-on work with technology and new media applications.

ISS391 - Bass Connections in Information Science and Culture: Independent Study Project

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number 391

Title
Bass Connections in Information Science and Culture: Independent Study Project

Description
Bass Connections Information Science and Culture related, individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member affiliated with Bass Connections, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of both the instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ISS392 - Independent Study

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
392

Title
Independent Study

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Instructor consent required.

ISS393 - Research Independent Study in Information Science + Studies

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
393

Title
Research Independent Study in Information Science + Studies

Description
Individual research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product.
ISS393T - Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team
Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 393T
Title: Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team
Description: Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to explore the evolution of society and culture through the lens of information, using the latest computational methods to address pressing problems in new and creative ways. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ISS394T - Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team
Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 394T
Title: Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team
Description: Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students will work with faculty to explore the evolution of society and culture through the lens of information, using the latest computational methods to address pressing problems in new and creative ways. A team's work may run parallel with, or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work, and other learning experiences relevant to the project. This course requires a final paper, or product containing significant analysis, and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ISS395T - Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team
Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 395T
Title: Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team
Description: Tutorial course for Bass Connections yearlong project team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to explore the evolution of society and culture through the lens of information, using the latest computational methods to address pressing problems in new and creative ways. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation.

ISS396 - Graphic Design in Multimedia: Theory and Practice
Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 396
Title: Graphic Design in Multimedia: Theory and Practice
Description: Design history and theory. Lectures and projects focused on direct interaction with digitized elements of historically significant designs. Design elements and principles. Comparison of the language and tools of old and new media. Analysis of visual materials, discovering conceptual and stylistic connections, including Illustrator and Photoshop. Consent of instructor required.
ISS396T - Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 396T
Title: Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team

Description:
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to explore the evolution of society and culture through the lens of information, using the latest computational methods to address pressing problems in new and creative ways. A team’s work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ISS397 - Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 397
Title: Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team

Description:
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to explore the evolution of society and culture through the lens of information, using the latest computational methods to address pressing problems in new and creative ways. A team’s work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ISS398 - Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 398
Title: Bass Connections Information, Society & Culture Research Team

Description:
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to explore the evolution of society and culture through the lens of information, using the latest computational methods to address pressing problems in new and creative ways. A team’s work may run in parallel with or contribute to an on-going research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

ISS425 - Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy & Entrepreneurship

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 425
Title: Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy & Entrepreneurship

Description:
Course examines the tightly linked roles of intellectual property law and innovation in the 21st century global economy; offers an overview of the use of intellectual property in business, law and public policy, as well as in-depth coverage of current controversies impacting the future of the global information economy: gene patents; online piracy; music sampling; open source business models; access to medicines; and the impact of the 3D printing revolution. Besides overviews of trends in intellectual property law, research and development strategies, university technology transfer, and government and private sector investment, examine case studies of specific innovators, companies, places.

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
435S

Title
Chinese Media and Popular Culture: Politics, Ideology, and Social Change

Description
Examines contemporary Chinese media and popular culture, including traditional news press, radio and TV, and new media such as the internet and social media, and popular culture, including cinema, popular music and fashions. Uses a cross-cultural, interdisciplinary, and comparative approach. Focuses on how China views itself and constructs its global images, and how the world views China through media and popular culture. Primary objective is to understand political, ideological, and social changes since the Reform Era that began in 1978. No foreign language prerequisites are required.

ISS436 - Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
436

Title
Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art

Description
This course explores ideas surrounding the creation of experimental sculpture. Employing non-traditional methods: 'readymades,' non-traditional materials, conceptual processes, digital interaction and fabrication techniques (rapid prototyping), mixed media including video, and projection technologies. Content of work driven by individual student interests, sustainability, the anthropocene, feminism, social and political commentary, and/or more formal, abstract sculptural relations. Instructor consent required.

ISS490 - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number 490

Title
Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description
Topics vary per semester. Information science and studies areas as understood historically, thematically, and in contemporary cultures. Theoretical readings coupled with hands-on work with technology and new media applications.

ISS490S - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject
ISS

Catalog Number
490S

Title
Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description
Seminar version of Information Science + Studies 490.
ISS490S-1 - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 490S-1
Title: Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description:
Topics vary per semester. Information science and studies areas as understood historically, thematically, and in contemporary cultures. Theoretical readings coupled with hands-on work with technology and new media applications. Primarily for Information Science + Studies certificate students. Instructor consent required.

ISS490T - Collaborative Computational Media Project Design and Development Topics

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 490T
Title: Collaborative Computational Media Project Design and Development Topics

Description:
Interdisciplinary teams of students work with faculty to design and develop a computational media project. A team’s work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project, which will be determined in advance. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. This course is designed to fulfill the project requirement for the Interdepartmental Major in Computational Media, Certificate in Information Science + Studies, or for Bass projects. Students from other disciplines welcome.

ISS491 - ISS Independent Study

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 491
Title: ISS Independent Study

Description:
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of both the instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ISS493 - ISS Research Independent Study

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 493
Title: ISS Research Independent Study

Description:
Individual research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of both the instructor and director of graduate studies is required.
ISS495S - Research Capstone

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 495S
Title: Research Capstone

Description
Course limited to ISS certificate students. Students plan, research, and create new technology projects designed to facilitate interdisciplinary collaborative research, synthesizing their coursework in the program. Discussion sections meet weekly to discuss project goals and progress, learn principles of effective research project management, interdisciplinary collaboration, and ethical conduct of research.

ISS495T - Collaborative Computational Media Project Design and Development

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 495T
Title: Collaborative Computational Media Project Design and Development

Description
Interdisciplinary teams of students work with faculty to design and develop a computational media project. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project, which will be determined in advance. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires a final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. This course is designed to fulfill the project requirement for the Interdepartmental Major in Computational Media, Certificate in Information Science + Studies, or for Bass projects. Students from other disciplines welcome.

ISS496 - Experiential Research Capstone

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 496
Title: Experiential Research Capstone

Description
Students plan, research, and create new technology projects designed to facilitate interdisciplinary collaborative research, synthesizing and building upon their co-curricular experiences in the program. Discussion sections meet weekly to discuss project goals and progress, learn principles of effective research project management, interdisciplinary collaboration, and ethical conduct of research. Course limited to ISS students who are enrolled in the experiential certificate program. Instructor consent required.

ISS89S - Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Subject: ISS
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: Special Topics in Information Science + Studies

Description
Topics vary by semester.

ITALIAN101 - Elementary Italian 1

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Italian 1

Description
Introduction to Italian language, culture and society through its peoples' products, practices and perspectives. Students will interact with a wide variety of multimodal texts and materials and engage in communicative activities with real world relevance. Equal attention to listening, speaking, reading, writing in order to build a solid foundation that allows students to interact with communities of speakers extending beyond the classroom. Conducted in Italian 4 class meetings a week.

ITALIAN101A - Italian for Beginners

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 101A
Title: Italian for Beginners

Description
Practice in understanding, speaking, reading, and writing. (Taught in Duke-administered programs in Italy.) Placement tests administered to returning students intending to continue in Italian language studies.
ITALIAN102 - Elementary Italian 2

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Italian 2

Description
Continues the study of Italian language, culture and society expanding on work done in 101. Students will consolidate and develop their ability to engage with Italian speakers in varied social interactions, share opinions on personal and societal topics, and develop intercultural competence by engaging with authentic multimodal texts, materials and activities. Equal attention to listening, speaking, reading, writing. Conducted in Italian 4 class meetings a week.

ITALIAN112 - Accelerated Elementary Italian

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 112
Title: Accelerated Elementary Italian

Description
Covers the elementary Italian Language curriculum (Italian 101-102) in one semester. Development of understanding, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Introduction to aspects of Italian life and culture. Four class meetings a week. This is a 1 credit class and counts as 1 FL credit.

ITALIAN190FS - Focus Topics in Italian Literature and Culture

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Focus Topics in Italian Literature and Culture

Description
Topics on single authors, genres, movements, or themes across centuries. Taught in English. Topics course. Open only to students in the Focus program.

ITALIAN203 - Intermediate Italian

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Italian

Description
Building on the elementary sequence, this course is more in-depth exploration of Italian language, culture, and society through a multimodal project-based and collaborative approach. Students will interact with a wide variety of written, oral, and visual texts (mass and social media, literature, film, music art) to observe, document and reflect on Italian society, culture, and perspectives, comparing them to their own. Equal emphasis on speaking, listening, reading and writing and development of intercultural competence. Conducted in Italian, 3 class meetings a week.

ITALIAN208FS - Gendering the Renaissance

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 208FS
Title: Gendering the Renaissance

Description
Course studies the debates around women, gender, and sexuality in Renaissance Italy and Europe (ca.1400–1700). Framed historically as ‘the woman question’ (la querelle des femmes), these debates challenged women’s nature, capabilities, and intellect, sparking robust response by women poets and philosophers, as well as by male defenders of the female sex. An interdisciplinary approach studying how gendered expectations for Renaissance women and men emerged across lyric poetry, conduct manuals, medical treatises, political pamphlets, paintings, theater, and early opera. We will contextualize early examples of premodern feminism, anti-feminism, misogyny, and prejudice compared to models today.

ITALIAN213A - Accelerated Intermediate Italian

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 213A
Title: Accelerated Intermediate Italian

Description
Covers the intermediate Italian Language curriculum (Italian 203 and 204) in one semester. Attention to vocabulary development and grammatical accuracy. Writing practice and development of reading skills with emphasis on analysis of cultural and literary texts. Prepares students to enroll in courses at the 300 level. Four class meetings a week. Prerequisite: Italian 112 or consent of the Italian Language Director. Offered through the Duke in Bologna program.
ITALIAN225 - The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 225
Title: The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Description
Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia – Plato’s erotic ascent, Virgil’s deceived Dido, Ovid’s rules of seduction, Boccaccio’s legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo’s homoerotic poetry, Leonardo’s sublimated impulses, Foscolo’s tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo’s modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.

ITALIAN225P - The Problem of Love in Western Literature - Preceptorial

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 225P
Title: The Problem of Love in Western Literature - Preceptorial

Description
A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 205 or Italian 225. Further information available from instructor.

ITALIAN225S - The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 225S
Title: The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Description
Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia – Plato’s erotic ascent, Virgil’s deceived Dido, Ovid’s rules of seduction, Boccaccio’s legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo’s homoerotic poetry, Leonardo’s sublimated impulses, Foscolo’s tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo’s modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.

ITALIAN235T-3 - Voices in Music: Italian

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 235T-3
Title: Voices in Music: Italian

Description
Voices in Music explores how language and culture impact the production and reception of music in Italian-speaking communities. Texts include compositions, lyrics, music videos, interviews, visual texts, and documentaries, allowing students to examine music from multiple perspectives in Italian. Discussions will include ethnomusicology, representations of culture and identity, performance, and the music industry. Tutorials are taught in Italian. Recommended prerequisite: 4 semesters-level of language study (ITAL 204) or equivalent.
ITALIAN256 - Italian Baroque Art

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 256
Title: Italian Baroque Art

Description:
This course will trace the development of the Italian baroque in architecture, sculpture, and painting. It will consider a variety of themes relevant to Baroque artistic production, including religious influences on the art of the period, namely the Reformation and the Catholic Counter Reformation; economic influences; central versus peripheral locations; issues of gender and sexuality; patronage; architectural site and meaning; urban planning and transformation; the artist, his workshop and rivalries; decoding the myths of artistic genius; and seventeenth-century primary sources.

ITALIAN258 - Renaissance Architecture in Italy: Brunelleschi to Michelangelo

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 258
Title: Renaissance Architecture in Italy: Brunelleschi to Michelangelo

Description:

ITALIAN261 - Michelangelo in Context

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 261
Title: Michelangelo in Context

Description:
Historical and cultural contextualization of the work of Michelangelo Buonarroti (1475-1564), painting, sculpture and architecture. History, historiography, contemporary debate and scholarship concerning his work of artistic training and workshop practice, techniques, centers of production, art markets and consumption, antiquarianism and art collections, patronage, identity, gender, artistic rivalry, spread of knowledge and models, relationship with the spectator, social life, sacred and secular spaces and objects. Field trip to the Metropolitan Museum of Art collection of Renaissance architectural drawings and prints in New York.

ITALIAN281 - Dante's Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 281
Title: Dante's Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise

Description:
A voyage through the three otherworldly places of Dante's philosophical poem (Hell, Purgatory, Paradise) whose transformation of human actions into an ordered ethical system continues to captivate readers.

ITALIAN281P - Dante's Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory, and Paradise: Preceptorial

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 281P
Title: Dante's Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory, and Paradise: Preceptorial

Description:
A preceptorial requiring concurrent enrollment in Italian 281. Additional information available from instructor.

ITALIAN290A-1 - Special Topics in Italian Language, Literature, or Culture

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 290A-1
Title: Special Topics in Italian Language, Literature, or Culture

Description:
Topics in Italian language, literature or culture. Offered in Duke in Venice.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>301S</td>
<td>Introduction to Italian Studies: Language, Literature, Film</td>
<td>Introduction to Italian literature, thought and cultural practices. Focus on one or more authors, genres, social and political movements, cultural institutions, from middle ages to present, exposing students to a range of critical and theoretical tools. Engagement with social, political and philosophical issues and debates of enduring importance within literary and cultural texts and traditions. Strong emphasis on development of composition skills, writing and discourse strategies, vocabulary development, rhetorical techniques and conventions. Prerequisite: an Italian 200 level FL course or above.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>302S</td>
<td>Italian Conversations: Explore Italy and Italians through Media, Film, Literature</td>
<td>A high-intermediate/advanced language course designed for students who wish to learn about contemporary Italy and improve their conversation skills, including their listening and speaking competencies and pragmatic sensibilities. The aim of this course is to develop students' ability to participate in culturally nuanced discussions, successfully negotiate transactions and gain greater confidence in giving presentations. Emphasis on discussion of cultural topics explored through film, media and news, and specific student interests. Prerequisite: an Italian 200 level FL course or above.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>303S</td>
<td>Italian Sociolinguistics</td>
<td>Linguistic diversity in modern Italy. Social and geographic language variation, multilingualism, and the relationship between language and dialect. Special codes, including youth slang, language and politics, language and bureaucracy. Discussion of language and gender, language and racism, linguistic etiquette within Italian society.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>327S</td>
<td>Introduction to Italian Culture</td>
<td>An introduction to Italian culture through the cross-cultural analysis of its history, literature, cinema and arts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>328S</td>
<td>Italian Studies Seminar</td>
<td>An introduction to Italian culture through the cross-cultural analysis of its history, literature, cinema and arts. Through readings and discussions of primary and secondary texts, students will encounter and examine a range of Italian cultural topics. The course may be organized around a theme, like revolution, postcolonialism, or feminism in the Renaissance. Students will consider the topic from an Italian perspective, developing a greater understanding of both the theme and Italian society, culture, literature, and film. Taught in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>Global Italy</td>
<td>This .5 credit class conducted in English meets once a week and explores interdisciplinary perspectives on Italy. It is aimed at students returning from an Italian abroad experience (who wish to develop further their recently acquired cultural knowledge), students of Italian who want to expand on their language course knowledge in an additional setting, and any other students interested in the incredible diversity of Italian food, science, politics, sports, culture, and history.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ITALIAN335 - Major Italian Authors

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>335</td>
<td>Major Italian Authors</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Textual studies of the most important authors of the Italian literary tradition. Authors may vary. At times the course devoted to single author: Dante, Boccaccio, Pirandello; or, two or three authors studies together in the context of the culture of their time or of their influence on subsequent centuries or authors: Petrarch and Petrarchist phenomenon of the sixteenth century, Morante and the historical novel, Machiavelli and Vico. Not open to students who have taken this course as Italian 165S.

ITALIAN336 - Modern European Short Fiction

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>336</td>
<td>Modern European Short Fiction</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Comprehensive examination of several important works of modern European short fiction by authors such as Kafka, Woolf, Svevo, Sartre, Joyce, Proust, Mann, Schnitzler, Gogol, and Calvino. While stories will be contextualized historically, culturally, and geographically, course is organized into thematic units, including animals, home, punishment, and love, to facilitate comparative analysis. Students engage critically with concepts such as identity, trauma, genre, and narrative form.

ITALIAN336P - Modern European Short Fiction Preceptorial

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>336P</td>
<td>Modern European Short Fiction Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Modern European Short Fiction. Further information available from instructor.

ITALIAN337 - America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>337</td>
<td>America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course explores the portrayals of America, especially the United States, from authors and directors who are not American and who often have never even seen America. We will read short stories, novels, and graphic novels and watch films. What do these works from other parts of the world have to say about dreams, race, love, immigration, and space in America? We will discuss imaginary Americas in order to understand these important works within their contexts, to examine how foreign representations of America have contributed to our idea of America, and to consider what imagined Americas suggest about us here in North Carolina.

ITALIAN337P - America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema Preceptorial

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>337P</td>
<td>America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema. Further information available from instructor.

ITALIAN338S - Boccaccio's Decameron

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>338S</td>
<td>Boccaccio's Decameron</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The Decameron has surprised and shocked readers for centuries. This course asks why—and how. Investigating censored editions and translations, along with visual and cinematic adaptations, we will scrutinize Boccaccio's innovative representations of sex, women, and the disenfranchised to understand the overlooked political dimension of Boccaccio's attempt to re-imagine the world after a global pandemic.
ITALIAN338SP - Boccaccio's Decameron - Preceptorial

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ITALIAN | 338SP | Boccaccio’s Decameron - Preceptorial

Description
A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Italian 338S. Further information available from instructor.

ITALIAN340SA - Performing Italy

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ITALIAN | 340SA | Performing Italy

Description
Studies the role of the performing arts in Italian cultural and national identity (1600-1900). Navigates the intersections between performance and political histories. Studies the crossroads of personal and collective identity, issues of gender relations, factors of agency and exclusion, and the instruments of power that make performance possible. Readings and listenings include works by Monteverdi, Vivaldi, Puccini, Verdi, and others. Thematic units featured: the myth of opera, opera and empire, affect and history, women's musical education, gender and the ‘femme fatale,’ nationalism and the stage, and the performing arts today. Taught in English through the Duke in Bologna program.

ITALIAN342A - Dante and the Art of Hell

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ITALIAN | 342A | Dante and the Art of Hell

Description
Dante’s Divine Comedy, has inspired medieval illuminations, Renaissance frescoes, Surrealist paintings, and modern sculptures. This course explores this remarkable visual history to interpret Dante’s poem. What new features of Dante’s world do these visual adaptations bring into focus? Visiting sites throughout Italy, we will also aim to reconstruct Dante’s visual and built environment to understand what is distinctive about his vision. Taught in English. Offered through Duke in Venice and Duke in Bologna programs.

ITALIAN343S - The Acoustic Image in the Renaissance

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ITALIAN | 343S | The Acoustic Image in the Renaissance

Description
Examines the dynamics between Renaissance voice, sound, and the body. Navigates the intersections between literary and performance histories. Studies the crossroads of personal and collective identity, issues of gender relations, factors of agency and exclusion, and the instruments of power that govern vocal expression. Readings and listenings include works by Homer, Ovid, Sappho, Petrarch, Costa, Monteverdi, Behn, Lope de Vega, Corneille, and others. Thematic units featured: voice in theory, the autobiographical pen, the political chorus, and performing the resilient body. Questions discussed: Who is allowed a voice? What do voices measure? What voices get heard? And who listens?

ITALIAN350S - Italian Migration Stories

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ITALIAN | 350S | Italian Migration Stories

Description
This course examines Italian literature that portrays and reflects on migration. We will read a range of authors who wrote in Italian but were often born elsewhere, including in Togo, Hungary, China, Egypt, India, and Somalia. We will discuss the multiple identities of Italian migrants and how they navigate between where they lived and their life in Italy.

ITALIAN370T - Italian Tutorial

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
ITALIAN | 370T | Italian Tutorial

Description
Dynamic discussion-based course in Italian. Each week, students prepare a brief statement about something they learned, a question relating to Italian culture, society, or literature, and reflect on a relevant Italian vocabulary word related to their course material. They discuss how the varied materials form a broader picture of Italian culture and society, while improving their spoken Italian. Course counts toward the Italian major or minor when taken concurrently with a related course. May be repeated. Recommended prerequisite: Knowledge of Italian and concurrent enrollment in a course taught in English by an Italian department professor.
ITALIAN380 - Italian Cinema

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 380
Title: Italian Cinema

Description
Introduction course to Italian cinema including silent films, Neorealism, fascist productions, Commedia all’italiana and experimentalism. Taught in English, Italian majors and minors should inquire with the professor about the possibility of concurrently enrolling in a tutorial for credit towards the language requirement for the major or minor.

ITALIAN381S - Mapping Jewish Modernism

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 381S
Title: Mapping Jewish Modernism

Description
Students research Jewish modernism through questions of geography and movement, pointing to the many places where modern Jewish art has been created and the experiences of migration, exile, diaspora, and resettlement that shaped this work. We discuss the varieties of ways that different art forms, including literature, theater, music, art, film, architecture, and dance, can be mapped. We analyze mapping in terms of the movements of people (artists, authors, and directors), of objects (paintings, literature, performances, and films), and within the works themselves. Work with the Rubenstein Library will lead to projects that contribute to an exhibit in Perkins Library and a digital site.

ITALIAN382 - Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 382
Title: Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Description
An opportunity to study with the Somali-Italian author Igiaba Scego, this English-language course explores representations of race, class & families in contemporary fiction. The course has three parts: 1) Analysis of Scego’s work, which is crucial to debates on migration, decolonization, racism, feminism & translation; 2) read Italian and Brazilian authors to examine the intersection of color and class that cross Italy & Brazil from the colonial period to today, including the journeys and interactions between parents, siblings; 3) discussion of Scego’s just-translated ‘The Color Line,’ which moves between the U.S., Italy, and Somalia, & final projects.

ITALIAN384 - Avant-Garde Art 1900-1945

Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 384
Title: Avant-Garde Art 1900-1945

Description
Major artistic movements and theoretical aims of early modernism: fauvism, cubism, expressionism, futurism, constructivism, suprematism, dada, surrealism, deStijl, Bauhaus, and Neue Sachlichkeit in France, Italy, Germany, America.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN385</td>
<td>Mafia at the Movies</td>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>385</td>
<td>A study of the mafia, and by extension, of Italy’s ‘dark heart,’ in its historical, social, economic, cultural, and political dimensions, as represented in a wide range of Italian and American films and television productions, from documentary to comedy. Course will also consider possibilities and limits inherent to cinema in representing, and influencing cultural and social realities. Taught in English. Italian majors and minors should inquire with the professor about the possibility of concurrently enrolling in a tutorial for credit towards the language requirement for the major or minor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN386</td>
<td>Art in Renaissance Italy</td>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>386</td>
<td>The course provides a panorama of Italian Renaissance art including theory, painting, print, sculpture, and architecture. The objectives are to ensure knowledge of Renaissance artistic production and related historiography and to develop students' analytical and research skills. Materials are organized thematically around notions of artistic training and workshop practice, techniques, centers of production, art markets, antiquarianism and collections, patronage, gender, artistic rivalry, dissemination of knowledge, relationship with the spectator, social structures, sacred and secular spaces and objects, among others, which will be considered in relation to specific case studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN386FS</td>
<td>Art in Renaissance Italy</td>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>386FS</td>
<td>The course provides a panorama of Italian Renaissance art including theory, painting, print, sculpture, and architecture. The objectives are to ensure knowledge of Renaissance artistic production and related historiography, and to develop students' analytical and research skills. Materials are organized thematically around notions of artistic training and workshop practice, techniques, centers of production, art markets, antiquarianism and collections, patronage, gender, artistic rivalry, dissemination of knowledge, relationship with the spectator, social structures, sacred and secular spaces and objects, among others, which will be considered in relation to specific case studies. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN388S</td>
<td>Food, Culture, and Society</td>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>388S</td>
<td>This DukeImmerse course provides a broad overview of food as culture and its role in society. Exploration of the intersections between food and identity from gender, ethnic, class, religious, and political identities to how people use food to develop a sense of themselves as ethical beings. Food and democracy and food activism. Readings from anthropological, sociological, linguistic, and literary writings with ethnographic observations in local communities of practice. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN390</td>
<td>Topics in Italian Civilization</td>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>A cross-cultural study of Italy through history, culture, people, and institutions. Topics may vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN390A</td>
<td>Topics in Italian Literature and Culture</td>
<td>ITALIAN</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Topics to be announced. Offered to students enrolled in Duke approved courses in Italy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN390A-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Italian Language, Literature or Culture</td>
<td>Topics in Italian language, literature or culture. Offered through Duke in Venice.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN390P</td>
<td>Topics in Italian Civilization: Preceptorial</td>
<td>Preceptorial attached to Italian 390. Please see instructor for more information.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN390S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Italian Studies</td>
<td>A cross-cultural study of Italy through history, culture, people, and institutions. Topics may vary each semester.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN390SA</td>
<td>Topics in Italian Studies</td>
<td>A cross-cultural study of Italy through history, culture, people, and institutions. Topics may vary each semester. For Study Abroad and Duke Intense Global students only.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN390SP</td>
<td>Topics in Italian Studies: Preceptorial</td>
<td>A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Italian 390S. See instructor for further details.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITALIAN393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ITALIAN394 - Research Independent Study
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See Italian 393. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

ITALIAN483 - What Machiavelli Really Says
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 483
Title: What Machiavelli Really Says
Description: Everyone knows what 'Machiavellian' means, but what does Machiavelli really say? Reading his classical political texts, 'The Prince,' the 'Discourses on Livy,' and 'The Art of War' in the company of his literary works, including 'Mandragola,' we will examine how Machiavelli's ideas about power, deception, language, ethics, and representation emerged from his reading of Plato, Livy, Ovid, and Dante, while also exploring the reception and consequences of his ideas. Just as Machiavelli searched history for answers to his own political situation, our guiding question cannot help but be 'What would Machiavelli do?'

ITALIAN490S - Advanced Topics in Italian Literature and Culture
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Advanced Topics in Italian Literature and Culture
Description: Topics may include: the Enlightenment, romanticism, modernism, avant-garde. Taught in English.

ITALIAN490SP - Topics in Modern Literature and Culture, Preceptorial
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 490SP
Title: Topics in Modern Literature and Culture, Preceptorial
Description: A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Italian 490S. Further information available from instructor.

ITALIAN493 - Research Independent Study
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See Italian 393. Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

ITALIAN494 - Research Independent Study
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 494
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See Italian 393. Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

ITALIAN495 - Honors Thesis
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 495
Title: Honors Thesis
Description: Preparation and writing of research paper for 'departmental distinction.' Consent of both the instructor and the director of undergraduate studies required.

ITALIAN89S - First Year Seminar in Italian
Subject: ITALIAN
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First Year Seminar in Italian
Description: Topics vary each semester offered. This course is restricted to first-year students.
JEWISHST101 - Elementary Modern Hebrew

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Modern Hebrew

Description: Introduction to speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew.

JEWISHST102 - Elementary Modern Hebrew

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Modern Hebrew

Description: Continuation of Hebrew 101. Introduction to speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew. Prerequisite: Hebrew 101 or equivalent.

JEWISHST140 - Judaism

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 140
Title: Judaism

Description: Introduction to Judaic civilization from its origins to modern times.

JEWISHST141 - Judaism Through Film

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 141
Title: Judaism Through Film

Description: An overview of major themes in Jewish practice, belief, identity, and history as presented through the medium of film. Emphasis will be on contemporary Judaism in Europe, America, and the Middle East.

JEWISHST145 - The Old Testament/Hebrew Bible

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 145
Title: The Old Testament/Hebrew Bible

Description: Historical, literary, ethical, and theological investigations of the ancient Near Eastern context of Israelite religion and culture.

JEWISHST148 - Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 148
Title: Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives

Description: Introduction to the Israel/Palestine conflict, studied through an interdisciplinary lens, including scholarship from the fields of anthropology, environmental studies, history, geography and cultural studies. Themes include: competing nationalisms, environmental politics and resource management, peace building, refugees and displacement, humanitarian crises and challenges, representational politics. Range of primary sources will be used including human rights reports and testimonials, natural resource policies, feature and documentary film, memoirs, political treatises, and maps.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST156</td>
<td>156</td>
<td>Scripture: Judaism, Christianity, and Islam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Judaism, Christianity, and Islam are characterized as religions of the book. Their sacred texts are foundational to the faiths they represent. In spite of shared histories, overlapping contents, and parallel perspectives, their Sacred Scriptures diverge in key points of content, interpretation, and uses by their communities. In this course, students will be introduced to the history, contours, and content of the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament, the New Testament, and the Qur'an and hadith, exploring issues of scripture and authority, texts and manuscripts, translation and interpretation, performance, canonicity, ethical issues, and contemporary use.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST190FS</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Special Topics: Jewish Studies Focus Seminar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics vary by semester when offered. Open only to students in Focus Program</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST203</td>
<td>203</td>
<td>Intermediate Modern Hebrew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Continuation of Hebrew 102. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the intermediate level; exploring Israeli culture through texts and other media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 102 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST204</td>
<td>204</td>
<td>Intermediate Modern Hebrew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Continuation of Hebrew 203. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the intermediate level; exploring Israeli culture through texts and other media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 203 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST206FS</td>
<td>206FS</td>
<td>Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This course focuses on the battle between barbarian invaders, established communities, and new religions in the Middle Ages. What became Spain and Portugal were battlegrounds between faiths old and new, a clash of civilizations between Christianity, Judaism, and Islam that would inform future global conflicts. We explore the history of this confrontation at the crossroad of civilizations—between East and West, Africa and Europe—and its effect on our worldview today. A common culture was forged in science, mathematics, music, literature, philosophy, and mysticism, a shared legacy shaping world history and the current world order. Part of the 'Geopolitics and Culture' Focus Cluster.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST206S</td>
<td>206S</td>
<td>The Israeli-Palestinian Conflict in Films</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Explores cinematic representations of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict; probes the history and the current state of the conflict through its visual representations. Focuses on representations of violence: of state violence vs. non-state terrorism; probes the relationship between spectatorship and violence.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
JEWISHST215S - Hinduism and Judaism: Culture, Religion, and Identity

Subject JEWISHST
Catalog Number 215S
Title Hinduism and Judaism: Culture, Religion, and Identity

Description Using interdisciplinary comparative frameworks, this course will study how two major world religions, Hinduism and Judaism, create a dynamic cosmos that brings abiding meaning to the daily lives of millions of believers. Explores concepts such as 'ritual' and 'myth' by examining Jewish and Hindu materials from early to modern times. The broader aims of the course are to understand how each tradition imagines time, space, and matter, and to explore how claims about the sacred are transformed in modernity. Ultimately, it aims to inspire reflection on how religion, identity and culture function in the modern world.

JEWISHST241 - Contemporary Israeli Cinema

Subject JEWISHST
Catalog Number 241
Title Contemporary Israeli Cinema

Description A comparative approach to Israeli cinema, in the context of American and European cinemas. Cinema and nationalism. Cinematic representations of social, political, racial, and ethnic tensions and fissures: social gap, immigration to and emigration from Israel, militarism and civil society, masculinity and femininity, and the Israeli-Arab conflict. Popular culture and its relationship with high culture.

JEWISHST243 - Modern European Short Fiction

Subject JEWISHST
Catalog Number 243
Title Modern European Short Fiction

Description Comprehensive examination of several important works of modern European short fiction by authors such as Kafka, Woolf, Svevo, Sartre, Joyce, Proust, Mann, Schnitzler, Gogol, and Calvino. While stories will be contextualized historically, culturally, and geographically, course is organized into thematic units, including animals, home, punishment, and love, to facilitate comparative analysis. Students engage critically with concepts such as identity, trauma, genre, and narrative form.

JEWISHST245 - Introduction to Israeli Culture

Subject JEWISHST
Catalog Number 245
Title Introduction to Israeli Culture

Description Surveys of Israeli culture from the late 1940s to the present. Examines Israeli fiction, cinema, popular music, visual culture. Major themes include ethnicity, the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, class, the Jewish Holocaust, religion and secularism. Legal and economic aspects of culture.

JEWISHST251 - Jewish History, 1492 to the Present

Subject JEWISHST
Catalog Number 251
Title Jewish History, 1492 to the Present

Description Major developments in Jewish history from the early modern period to today. The Kehillah, the Spanish-Jewish Diaspora, the rise of Polish Jewry, the Safed Kabbalah, Sabbatianism, the emergence of the Chassidut, the Haskalah (Jewish Enlightenment), Emancipation and the nation state, Reform Judaism, economic modernization, racial antisemitism, Zionism, the Holocaust, the State of Israel, flourishing Jewish pluralism in the United States., the future: nation and Diaspora?

JEWISHST258 - The Modern Middle East

Subject JEWISHST
Catalog Number 258
Title The Modern Middle East

Description The historical development of the Middle East in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The emergence of nation-states in the region following World War I.
JEWISHST269S - Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
269S

Title
Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film

Description
Analyzes, compares, and assesses representations of Polish Christians and Polish Jews—their life experiences, interactions, shared and separate fates—in documentaries and fiction films made in Poland from the 1930s to the present day. Includes films by Wajda, Polanski, Munk, Kieslowski; also a 2008 documentary about pre-World War II Christian-Jewish relations in Poland by Jolanta Dylewska. All films screened with English subtitles.

JEWISHST271 - Sex and Gender in the Hebrew Bible

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
271

Title
Sex and Gender in the Hebrew Bible

Description
Women in ancient Israel, early Christianity, and early Judaism in their contexts in the Near Eastern and Greco-Roman worlds, with attention to the relation between textual depictions and social reality and to the ethical issues raised by the continuing authority of biblical texts for matters of gender. Sources include the Bible, images from art, and archaeological remains.

JEWISHST275S - Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
275S

Title
Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States

Description
Drawing on documentaries, historical fiction films, autobiographies and memoirs, this course explores how the diverse spectrum of Ashkenazi Jews living in the Russian empire and then Poland from 1900-1939 conceived of their identities as Jews and how their identities may have altered once they emigrated to the United States. After the Shoah, we examine how Jewish emigrants to the US and those Jews and their descendants who remained in postwar Poland/Ukraine sought contact with each other in attempts to rethink what it means to be a post-Holocaust Jew in their respective contexts and in dialogue with each other.

JEWISHST290S - Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
290S

Title
Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Description
Topics vary by semester. Consent of instructor is required.
JEWISHST301D - Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
301D

Title
Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Description
An examination of the historical roots and current manifestations of religiously-justified violence and disenfranchisement, with a focus on the Abrahamic traditions (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam). The violence treated will include the expressly physical as well as the more insidiously existential, including political and cultural marginalization. Major loci of exploration will include gender and sexuality, Israel-Palestine, and the intersection of contemporary identities. Topics include the nature of extremisms within each tradition, the challenges of assimilation and ‘modernity,’ and the role and nature of citizenship and territory.

JEWISHST305S - Advanced Modern Hebrew

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
305S

Title
Advanced Modern Hebrew

Description
Continuation of Hebrew 204. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the advanced level; exploring Israeli culture through critical reading of literary texts (prose and poetry) and other contemporary media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 204 or equivalent.

JEWISHST306S - Advanced Modern Hebrew

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
306S

Title
Advanced Modern Hebrew

Description
Continuation of Hebrew 204 and/or 305S. Speaking, understanding, reading, and writing Modern Hebrew at the advanced level; exploring Israeli culture through critical reading of literary texts (prose and poetry) and other contemporary media. Prerequisite: Hebrew 204 or equivalent.

JEWISHST310S - Literary Translation: History, Theory, and Practice

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
310S

Title
Literary Translation: History, Theory, and Practice

Description
A study of the theory and practice of translation from antiquity to the present, with a focus on religious, literary, and philosophical texts and the distinctive challenges involved in rendering such works into a different language. Topics include analysis of historically-significant translations, a survey of the history and theory of translation as a practice, a close study of the ethics of translation, and a workshop in which students will prepare, revise, and analyze their own translations. Prerequisite: Three semesters of language.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST</td>
<td>315SA</td>
<td>New York Scenes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

New York Scenes will focus on the various cultural institutions, scenes, establishments, happenings, hang-outs, movements, etc., that make up New York City. Early in the semester, students will select a particular ‘scene’ to research over the course of the term. For example: Tin Pan Alley (popular music, theater), The Lafayette Theatre (black arts), St. Mark’s Church (poetry, punk rock), the Chelsea Hotel (mid-century writers, pop stars and outcasts), La MaMa (experimental theater), the Christopher Street Piers (queer history, lgbtq youth) and Union Square Park (leftist organizing history). Open to students in the Duke in New York program.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST</td>
<td>319S</td>
<td>Andalusia: Muslim, Jewish, Christian Spain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Intersection of cultures, religions, languages, & peoples through history, poetry, music, architecture, & philosophy in Spain. Cultural flourishing from the contact—and sometimes clash—of European, Spanish, Islamic, Arab, African, Middle Eastern, and Jewish civilizations and Arabic, Spanish, and Hebrew languages. Ends with Andalusian culture in modern music, poetry, art, dance, & architecture at the crossroads of civilizations. Includes travel to Spain over spring break so students witness firsthand the coexistence of different religious traditions and cultures. Instructor consent required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST</td>
<td>337</td>
<td>America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course explores the portrayals of America, especially the United States, from authors and directors who are not American and who often have never even seen America. We will read short stories, novels, and graphic novels and watch films. What do these works from other parts of the world have to say about dreams, race, love, immigration, and space in America? We will discuss imaginary Americas in order to understand these important works within their contexts, to examine how foreign representations of America have contributed to our idea of America, and to consider what imagined Americas suggest about us here in North Carolina.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEWISHST</td>
<td>342</td>
<td>The Holocaust</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Antisemitism and the Jewish question in Central Europe, the development of Nazi policy, the Final Solution in its different sites (ghetto, labor camps, extermination camps) and institutions (SS, Judenrat), the Holocaust’s legacy. Historiographical debates and documentary research.
JEWISHST369 - Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 369
Title: Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust

Description
The ways in which official German culture comes to terms with its Nazi past. Background reading in history and politics; primary focus on films, dramas, novels, and poetry, as well as public memorials, monuments, and museums. Authors treated include: Wolfgang Borchert, Rolf Hochhuth, Peter Weiss, Ruth Klüger. Taught in English.

---

JEWISHST374S - Urban Yiddish Culture: The Urban Imagination in Yiddish Culture from Warsaw to Buenos Aires

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 374S
Title: Urban Yiddish Culture: The Urban Imagination in Yiddish Culture from Warsaw to Buenos Aires

Description
This course offers a panoramic view of Yiddish culture in the twentieth century through a focus on the diverse cities inhabited by its audiences and creators across Europe and the Americas. Each week we will encounter a new city through the eyes of a novelist or poet, filmmaker, musician or visual artist. As we proceed from the turn of the twentieth century to the post-Holocaust era, we will consider the broad aesthetic and ideological tendencies that inform representations of urban Jewish life in Yiddish, English, Spanish and other languages while also charting an ever-expanding geography including Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Rio de Janeiro. All material in English.

---

JEWISHST381S - Mapping Jewish Modernism

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 381S
Title: Mapping Jewish Modernism

Description
Students research Jewish modernism through questions of geography and movement, pointing to the many places where modern Jewish art has been created and the experiences of migration, exile, diaspora, and resettlement that shaped this work. We discuss the varieties of ways that different art forms, including literature, theater, music, art, film, architecture, and dance, can be mapped. We analyze mapping in terms of the movements of people (artists, authors, and directors), of objects (paintings, literature, performances, and films), and within the works themselves. Work with the Rubenstein Library will lead to projects that contribute to an exhibit in Perkins Library and a digital site.

---

JEWISHST390 - Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Description
Topics vary from semester to semester.

---

JEWISHST390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Topics

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Topics

Description
Topics differ by section.

---

JEWISHST390S - Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Subject: JEWISHST
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Description
Seminar version of Jewish Studies 390.
JEWISHST432S - Modern German-Jewish Culture: Vienna, Prague, Berlin

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
432S

Title
Modern German-Jewish Culture: Vienna, Prague, Berlin

Description
Explores the outsized intellectual and cultural output of Jews in pre-WWII Europe. The birth of psychoanalysis and the fallout of Jewish assimilation in Vienna. The legendary Golem figure and the writings of Franz Kafka and his circle in Prague. Avant-garde Jewish artists, writers, and filmmakers in Weimar Berlin. Each unit examines specific historical contexts and broader artistic movements. Topics include secularization and conversion; hybrid identities; emigration to Palestine and the U.S.; antisemitism and rising fascism; and ‘authentic’ Jewishness in Eastern Europe. Taught entirely in German. Recommended prerequisite: a 300-level German course or equivalent.

JEWISHST455S - Introduction to Israeli Culture

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
455S

Title
Introduction to Israeli Culture

Description
Historical survey of Israeli culture from 1948 to the present. All reading materials and class discussion in Hebrew. Prerequisite: Hebrew 306 or above, or placement test or instructor's consent.

JEWISHST490S - Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
490S

Title
Special Topics in Jewish Studies

Description
Topics vary by semester.

JEWISHST80S - Special Topics in Writing

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
80S

Title
Special Topics in Writing

Description
Various topics with diverse readings and intensive writing.

JEWISHST89S - First Year Seminar

Subject
JEWISHST

Catalog Number
89S

Title
First Year Seminar

Description
Topics vary by semester.

JPN101 - Elementary Japanese

Subject
JPN

Catalog Number
101

Title
Elementary Japanese

Description
Introduction to speaking, listening, reading, and writing.

JPN102 - Elementary Japanese

Subject
JPN

Catalog Number
102

Title
Elementary Japanese

Description
Continuation of Japanese 101. Recommended prerequisite: Japanese 101 or equivalent.

JPN121 - Elementary Japanese for Learners with Kanji Background

Subject
JPN

Catalog Number
121

Title
Elementary Japanese for Learners with Kanji Background

Description
Elementary Japanese for beginning learners knowing kanji; thorough mastery of the basic structure of Japanese through aural-oral exercises and practice; develop grammatical accuracy and socially appropriate language use; carry on basic daily conversations; prerequisite: passing a kanji recognition test.
JPN203 - Intermediate Japanese
Subject: JPN
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Japanese
Description: Continuation of Japanese 102. Continued development of the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Cultural component emphasized through short readings.

JPN204 - Intermediate Japanese
Subject: JPN
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Intermediate Japanese
Description: Continuation of Japanese 203. Prerequisite: Japanese 203 or equivalent.

JPN305 - Advanced Japanese
Subject: JPN
Catalog Number: 305
Title: Advanced Japanese
Description: Readings and other materials, including video. Exercises in composition and conversation.

JPN306 - Advanced Japanese
Subject: JPN
Catalog Number: 306
Title: Advanced Japanese
Description: Continuation of Japanese 305. Prerequisite: Japanese 305 or equivalent.

JPN391 - Independent Study
Subject: JPN
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study
Description: Individual study of language for conducting research involving sources written or spoken in the language. Students have to submit a proposal describing the purported research, types of sources to be analyzed, and kinds of language knowledge or skills they need to be equipped with. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

JPN407S - Issues in Japanese Language and Society I
Subject: JPN
Catalog Number: 407S
Title: Issues in Japanese Language and Society I
Description: Readings and other materials, including television and radio broadcasts. Exercises in composition.

JPN471S - Topics in Classical Japanese (Bungo)
Subject: JPN
Catalog Number: 471S
Title: Topics in Classical Japanese (Bungo)
Description: Selected readings in ancient, medieval, early modern, and modern texts, prose and poetry. Examples: Heike monogatari, Makura no sōshi, Oku no hosomichi, Hyakunin isshu, Tsurezuregusa, and Gakumon no susume. Emphasis on nuanced, in depth understandings of classical grammar. Translation of major texts in the classical tradition. Prerequisite: Japanese 408S or permission of instructor.

KICHE101 - Elementary K'iche' Maya I
Subject: KICHE
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary K'iche' Maya I
Description: Introduction to essential elements of K'iche' Maya language and aspects of Maya culture. K'iche' Maya, a language spoken by about a million people in the western Highlands of Guatemala, is one of the major indigenous languages in the Americas. Emphasis on active language production to develop basic conversational skills for everyday interactions. Course taught at Vanderbilt University; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom. No prerequisite.
KICHE102 - Elementary K’iche’ Maya II

Subject: KICHE
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary K’iche’ Maya II

Description
Continuation of K’iche’ Maya I. Second semester course that introduces the essential elements of K’iche’ Maya language and aspects of Maya culture. K’iche’ Maya, a language spoken by about a million people in the western Highlands of Guatemala, is one of the major indigenous languages in the Americas. Emphasis on active language production to develop basic conversational skills for everyday interactions. Course taught at Vanderbilt University; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom. Prerequisite: K’iche’ Maya 101 or equivalent.

---

KICHE203 - Intermediate K’iche’ Maya I

Subject: KICHE
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate K’iche’ Maya I

Description
Develops greater competencies in writing in K’iche’ and translation to/from K’iche’. Covers more advanced grammar (verb modalities) and broader range of scripts (colonial vs. modern orthography). Research conducted in K’iche’ using the Oral History archive at the University of New Mexico (https://laii.unm.edu/kiche.html). Students select a story from the online archive, listen to audio, correct transcription, rewrite it in modern orthography and translate it into contemporary English to present to classmates. Taught at Vanderbilt University; Duke students participate through video conference/telepresence classroom. Prerequisite: K’iche’ Maya 102 or equivalent.

---

KICHE204 - Intermediate K’iche’ Maya II

Subject: KICHE
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Intermediate K’iche’ Maya II

Description
Students read and discuss K’iche’ language socio-historical context beginning with colonial texts to the present. Primarily a translating class, students read primary sources in K’iche’ going back to the 16th century using philological methods. Texts include colonial dictionaries and grammars, phrase books, wills and testaments, missionary texts from colonial period and late 19th century, dance dramas, and the Popol Wuj. Learn about the range of materials available in K’iche’ and the tools and methods used to work with these sources. Taught at Vanderbilt University; Duke students participate through video conference/telepresence classroom. Prerequisite: K’iche’ Maya 203 or equivalent.

---

KOREAN101 - Elementary Korean

Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Korean

Description
Introduces sounds of spoken Korean, the writing system, foundational grammar, and socio-linguistic and cultural practices for communication of everyday service needs and basic information. Designed for true beginners with no prior knowledge of Korean. Students should contact instructor for a permission number to verify the requisite beginner status.

---

KOREAN102 - Elementary Korean

Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Korean

Description
Continuation of Korean 101. Developing speaking and listening skills for everyday personal communication; reading simple narratives and descriptions; learning core grammatical patterns. Prerequisite: Korean 101 or equivalent (knowledge of Hangul and rudimentary speaking ability).

---

KOREAN203 - Intermediate Korean

Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Korean

Description
Develops skills for reading and responding to narrative and descriptive texts, advances conversational fluency, and cultivates socio-linguistic and cultural awareness for interaction involving different social relationships. Popular media as well as folktales are introduced for exposure to authentic language use and for discussion of evolving cultural norms and perspectives. Recommended prerequisite: Korean 102 or equivalent (ability to manage face-to-face service encounters and everyday conversation and to comprehend complex sentences and simple multi-sentence texts). Students with equivalent preparation to the prerequisite course should contact instructor for a permission number.
KOREAN204 - Intermediate Korean
Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Intermediate Korean
Description: Continuation of Korean 203. Listening and speaking about cultural practices and historical events, reading and writing informative and expository texts, and honing grammatical usage and vocabulary choice. Prerequisite: Korean 203 or equivalent (ability to speak on daily topics fluently and to read simple stories).

KOREAN207 - High Intermediate Korean
Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 207
Title: High Intermediate Korean
Description: Designed for students who are fluent in conversational Korean but never had formal instruction in written Korean, this course aims to develop literacy skills for participation in broader social and academic discourses. Organized around socio-cultural topics, students will read and discuss a range of texts including folk tales and multimedia contents, and write about their experiences, readings of texts, and opinions on a variety of topics. Larger vocabulary and complex sentence structure needed for advancing reading and writing skills will be developed through homework and interactive practices in class. No prerequisites but students are requested to get permission before the registration.

KOREAN273T-2 - Voices in Music : Korean
Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 273T-2
Title: Voices in Music : Korean
Description: Voices in Music explores how language and culture impact the production and reception of music in Korean-speaking communities. Texts include compositions, lyrics, music videos, interviews, visual texts, and documentaries, allowing students to examine music from multiple perspectives in Korean. Discussions will include ethnomusicology, representations of culture and identity, performance, and the music industry. Tutorials are taught in Korean. Recommended prerequisite: 4 semesters-level of language study (KOREAN 204) or equivalent.

KOREAN305 - Advanced Korean
Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 305
Title: Advanced Korean
Description: Expands interpersonal, interpretive and presentational skills of communication on enduring social and cultural topics, such as food or Chunhyang stories, with grounded understanding with historical and transnational perspectives. Course reading and materials introduce and analyze historical changes, cultural practices, and ethical issues revolving around the topics, which students explore further in individual and group projects. Recommended prerequisite: Korean 204 or equivalent (fluency in speaking, familiarity with culture, some experience in reading and ability to write a short description).

KOREAN306S - Advanced Korean
Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 306S
Title: Advanced Korean
Description: Continuation of Korean 305. Introduction to Chinese characters; focus on reading and discussing authentic texts on modern Korean history and its social and cultural legacies. Prerequisite: Korean 305 or equivalent (fluency in speaking, familiarity with culture, and experience in reading at grade 4 or 5 level).

KOREAN391 - Independent Study
Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study
Description: Individual study of language for conducting research involving sources written or spoken in the language. Students have to submit a proposal describing the purported research, types of sources to be analyzed, and kinds of language knowledge or skills they need to be equipped with. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
KOREAN407S - Issues in Korean Language and Society I

Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 407S
Title: Issues in Korean Language and Society I
Description: Focus on developing interpretive and expressive abilities through reading and discussions of essays, short stories, and newspaper articles. Prerequisite: Korean 306S or equivalent.

KOREAN408S - Issues in Korean Language and Society II

Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 408S
Title: Issues in Korean Language and Society II
Description: Continue developing interpretive and expressive abilities through reading and discussions of essays, short stories, and newspaper articles. Prerequisite: Korean 407S or equivalent. Students with equivalent preparation to the prerequisite course may contact instructor for a permission number.

KOREAN455S - Korean Politics and Society: Academic Reading and Writing

Subject: KOREAN
Catalog Number: 455S
Title: Korean Politics and Society: Academic Reading and Writing
Description: An advanced class for students having completed a fourth year course in Korean, or for international students schooled in Korea. Explores controversial issues in contemporary South Korea such as economic aid to North Korea, restrictions on online anonymity, legal status of immigrants, the US-Korea Free Trade Agreement, revision of National Security Laws, with focus on their ethical dimensions, diverging perspectives, underlying ideologies, and historical contexts. Course materials drawn from media and academic publications in Korean. Prerequisite: Korean 407S or 408S. Students with equivalent preparation to the prerequisite course may contact instructor for a permission number.

LATAMER121 - Introduction to Contemporary Latin America

Subject: LATAMER
Catalog Number: 121
Title: Introduction to Contemporary Latin America
Description: This is an introductory, interdisciplinary survey course on modern Latin America focusing on contemporary social issues especially from the past five years. Each week will be dedicated to a different social problematic, including: political indigeneity; the legacy of African slavery; feminism and femicide; drug wars; migration and border issues; student movements; neoliberalism and resource struggles; and ecological contestation. Weekly meetings are driven by reading discussion, with context provided in lectures. You will conduct independent research in at least one group presentation and one final project. Required for students seeking the certificate in Latin American Studies.
LATAMER122 - History of Latinxs in the United States

Subject: LATAMER
Catalog Number: 122
Title: History of Latinxs in the United States

Description: This introductory course will cover the social, cultural, and political histories of Latino/as in the United States from 1848 to the present including the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the Great Depression, WWII/WWII, the creation of Latino/a civil rights organizations, and the civil wars and free trade agreements of the 1980s and 1990s that have spurned so much of contemporary migration. Themes include colonialism and conquest, sexuality and gender, race and ethnicity, transnationalism and migration, social inequality and practices of resistance. This class will highlight the diversity of the Latino/a experience—focusing on the history of Afro-Latino/as, queer Latino/as, and undocumented Latino/as.

LATAMER190FS - Focus Program Topics in Latin American Studies

Subject: LATAMER
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Focus Program Topics in Latin American Studies

Description: Open only to students in the Focus Program. Topics vary each semester offered.

LATAMER190S - Special Topics in Latin American Studies

Subject: LATAMER
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Latin American Studies

Description: Opportunities to engage with a specific issue on Latin America. Topics will vary.

LATAMER222 - Environment and Global Capitalism in Latin America

Subject: LATAMER
Catalog Number: 222
Title: Environment and Global Capitalism in Latin America

Description: Global capitalism relies on the ever increasing extraction and displacement of natural resources around the world. The discovery and subsequent colonization of Latin America by European powers meant the massive circulation of organisms (from germs to human beings) and natural resources (organic and mineral) across continents with lasting consequences for humans, animals and landscapes. Focusing on Latin America, this course analyzes the environmental history of global capitalism. Our aim will be to explore what happens when massive amounts of natural resources are relocated from one place to another.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>223</td>
<td>Mexico Since Before Cortes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Survey of Mexican history since before the encounter between European and native peoples, the experience of conquest, independence rebellions, liberal reforms, revolution, and modernization.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>246S</td>
<td>Human Rights in the Americas</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course introduces students to the history of human rights in Latin America, with a focus on certain regions. We will begin with the Conquest and cover the emergence of independent nation-states; the role of imposed economic policies, including neoliberalism; indigenous protest movements and their relationships to corporate interests; and the influence of the United States on human rights, government formation, immigration and the drug trade. Instructor consent required. Open only to students in the DukeImmerse program.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>283S</td>
<td>Death, Burial, and Justice in the Americas</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This interdisciplinary course explores the phenomenon of necroviolence: attacks on the dignity, integrity, and memory of the dead. Cases come from the United States, Latin America, and Canada. Topics include the rights of the dead, cultural attitudes towards the dead, and the ‘ambiguous loss’ experienced by loved ones of the disappeared. We also explore the activism of family members, volunteer cemetery reclamation groups, and forensic scientists who exhume mass graves to identify bodies. Students will interact with guest speakers, spend time in a local African-American cemetery with ties to Duke, and do community work and research on behalf of the marginalized dead.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>290A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Latin American Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics differ by section.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>315DS</td>
<td>Environmental Issues &amp; the Documentary Arts</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Survey how filmmakers, authors, photographers, and other artists have brought environmental issues to the public’s attention in the last century, and in some cases instigated profound societal and political change. Examine the nebulous distinctions between persuasion and propaganda, agenda and allegory, point of view and content. Evolve as a viewer of the environment and a maker of documentary art. Initiate your own projects to address and/or depict environmental issues in one form of a broad range of media.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>315S</td>
<td>Environmental Issues &amp; the Documentary Arts</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Survey how filmmakers, authors, photographers, and other artists have brought environmental issues to the public’s attention in the last century, and in some cases instigated profound societal and political change. Examine the nebulous distinctions between persuasion and propaganda, agenda and allegory, point of view and content. Evolve as a viewer of the environment and a maker of documentary art. Initiate your own projects to address and/or depict environmental issues in one form of a broad range of media.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>320S</td>
<td>Social Movements and Social Media</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines uses and abuses of social media by social movements. Interested in a broader historical study of mediating technologies and oppositional public sphere, course considers the uses of cameras, phones, cassette players, radio, and social media platforms, but also books, bodies, art, fashion, and automobiles as oppositional technologies. Studies political and ethical uses of technologies in social unrest. Investigates impact of technologies on social movements and social transformations in contemporary history. Student driven case studies will highlight contemporary engagement with social media by networked social movements.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>321</td>
<td>Visualizing the Caribbean</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Art (paintings, installations, performance art) and film on the Caribbean offer vantage points for analyzing alternative ways through which the region has been thought, imagined and produced. They are periodized semiotic productions that feed into and are marked by perspectives that are at once global, national, and even personal. Considering the constitutive contexts of these productions and performances, we will attempt to glean the diverse perspectives, and the way these have influenced sociocultural policy and offer alternative interpretations of diasporic lifeways of Caribbean people.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>327</td>
<td>El cine político en américa Latina</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines question of political cinema through Latin American works from 1960s to present, including examples from 'New Latin American Cinema', with special focus on Brazil and Cuba. Emblematic films, manifestos and critical texts will define and contextualize alternate conceptions of 'political' cinema. Examination of modes of production and distribution of 'guerrilla' films; politics of film language inspiring experimentation of avant-garde aesthetics in fictional and documentary works; relationship between cinema and political memory; politics of gender, race, and sexual orientation; representations of social problems, including contemporary blockbuster thrillers. Conducted in Spanish.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>328</td>
<td>Global Brazil</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Analysis of Brazilian history and culture from 1500 to the present in transnational context, with an emphasis on themes like slavery and race, regional cleavages, authoritarian rule, social inequality, and innovative attempts to expand democracy. Facilitates broad-based knowledge of a country of increasing global economic and diplomatic clout. Close examination of primary sources, including texts, images, music, and film.
LATAMER335S - Brazil and Lusophone Africa

Description
This seminar examines three historical components of the South Atlantic in terms of history, culture, and contemporary political and economic consequences. European colonialism in Africa and Brazil constitutes the baseline for this exploration, but the long and tardy nature of Portuguese colonialism in Africa in comparison with other European colonial powers, especially in its post-World War II manifestations, is our starting point. We will examine the last stages of Portuguese colonialism in Lusophone Africa, the African liberation movements and the efforts to forge new transnational relations among Portugal, Lusophone Africa and Brazil.

LATAMER338S - Race and Memory in the Americas

Description
This course confronts this relationship between memory and narrative and their role in addressing the trauma of colonization and the slave trade in its many iterations within Latino, Latin American and at times West African literature. Often pairing the readings with prominent UNESCO-sponsored memorials or other landmarks, this course endeavors to have students question how a transnational Americas remembers itself through narrative and memorialization, despite colonization, imperialism, neoliberalism, and heteronormative hegemonies. Taught in Spanish.

LATAMER341S - Perspectives on the Amazon

Description
The Amazon has been a source of awe to outsiders at least since the first Europeans navigated the Amazon River in 1542. While early explorers searched the forest for a mythic city of gold, contemporary travelers, scientists, and concerned citizens look to the Amazon as the key to our endangered future. Focusing on a variety of textual and visual representations, we will deal with major themes in the history of the Amazon and consider the ways in which this vast and widely depicted region eludes representation, holding entirely different and contending meanings to distinct socio-cultural groups. Our sources include works by indigenous thinkers and cultural producers.

LATAMER343 - Displacements: Migration and Human Trafficking

Description
Examination of the meaning of migration in the global world through cross-disciplinary texts and visual media. Situates the phenomenon of human trafficking within the context of these general movements focusing on the risks involved when people endanger their lives to find a better and more strategic position in the world. Explores how these experiences should be interpreted, and how processes and the politics of race, space and place are a condition and/or outcome of these movements. Investigates and considers ways to resolve some of the problems associated with such movements.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>349</td>
<td>Political Economy of Latin America</td>
<td>Study of interaction between politics and economies in Latin America with central emphasis on political correlates of alternative strategies of economic development, the impact of global economic forces on domestic policy choice, and interrelationships among political institutions, electoral choice, public policy, and economic performance. Topics include financial meltdowns, market-oriented reform, democratic transitions, ethnic mobilization, and rise of leftist-populism in the region. Readings will combine discussion of specific countries with broader theoretical literature addressing major debates in study of political economy of development.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>374S</td>
<td>Urban Yiddish Culture: The Urban Imagination in Yiddish Culture from Warsaw to Buenos Aires</td>
<td>This course offers a panoramic view of Yiddish culture in the twentieth century through a focus on the diverse cities inhabited by its audiences and creators across Europe and the Americas. Each week we will encounter a new city through the eyes of a novelist or poet, filmmaker, musician or visual artist. As we proceed from the turn of the twentieth century to the post-Holocaust era, we will consider the broad aesthetic and ideological tendencies that inform representations of urban Jewish life in Yiddish, English, Spanish and other languages while also charting an ever-expanding geography including Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Rio de Janeiro. All material in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>380S</td>
<td>Political Cinema in Latin America</td>
<td>What counts as ‘political cinema’? What are the possible relations between cinema and politics, particularly in Latin America? How can cinema not only comment on political issues but also perform politics through practices of production and aesthetic choices that are germane to film as a cultural form? This course explores these and related questions through a survey of landmark Latin American works from the mid-twentieth century to the present. Taught in Spanish.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies</td>
<td>Interdisciplinary study of geographical, historical, economic, governmental, political, and cultural aspects of modern Latin America and the current issues facing the region. Specific topics will vary from year to year. For all undergraduates.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LATAMER390S - Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Culture and Society

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Culture and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course covers a broad range of cultural topics in Latin American and Caribbean studies from music, art, language, film, journalism, dance, poetry, etc. and explores the ways in which cultural expression reflects and criticizes social, economic and political forces in the region. Different topics will be chosen each term.

LATAMER412S - Afro-Latin America

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>412S</td>
<td>Afro-Latin America</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course focuses on the position of Blacks in the national histories and societies of Latin America from slavery to the present day. Emphasis is on an interdisciplinary engagement with issues and critical discussion of national images contrasted with the realities of blackness. We will explore the connections between race, gender, sexuality, and representation in national and transnational encounters and the consequences of the migration of people and ideas within the hemisphere. Countries to be explored include Cuba, Brazil, the Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico, Argentina, Mexico, Haiti, and Peru.

LATAMER438SA - Global Madrid

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>438SA</td>
<td>Global Madrid</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Focusing on Madrid’s porous LatinX landscape, this course draws comparative perspectives across countries and cultures. Madrid’s demographic growth, at least since the late-1980s, includes migrants from Bolivia, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Honduras, Paraguay, Peru, and Venezuela. Rather than drawing clear-cut ‘authenticating’ distinctions between LatinX and ‘the rest,’ this seminar places Latin and X—LatinX—in dialogue with the Iberian Peninsula and Spanish-speaking ‘communities’ alongside sociocultural imaginaries that enmesh Spaniards, Latin Americans, Latino/a/Xs, and beyond. Taught at Duke in Madrid.

LATAMER439SA - Global Spain

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATAMER</td>
<td>439SA</td>
<td>Global Spain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This Duke in Spain course draws from comparative perspectives across countries and cultures. It links Madrid’s socio-cultural turning points vis-à-vis national and international migration to other geographies where Spanish is spoken. Forming a nexus with broader Spanish-language mobile circuits—as evinced, for example, through U.S. Latino/a/x populations—this seminar explores the Spanish capital as a global urban epicenter and primary destination site for migrants from Africa, the Americas, Europe, and Asia. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.
LATAMER450S - The Global Caribbean

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LATAMER | 450S | The Global Caribbean

Description
The course introduces students to the Caribbean as a transnational space that reflects the global dynamics associated with flows of bodies via migration, labor, and goods all of which have undergirded the birth and evolution of the (primarily) Atlantic world economy. The Global Caribbean will have a historical sociological bent that frames the region as the first modern colonial space which has served as a template for other projects of colonial and postcolonial development elsewhere in the world. Emphasis will be on the way that freedoms and unfreedoms operate in the Caribbean and elsewhere. Discussions of how knowledge has conditioned the representation of the region will be entertained.

LATAMER471S - Capstone Seminar: Latin American Left Turns: A New Politics for the 21st Century?

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LATAMER | 471S | Capstone Seminar: Latin American Left Turns: A New Politics for the 21st Century?

Description
Examination of issues surrounding the upsurge of leftist governments elected by the popular vote in the wake of the perceived failures of neoliberalism and the Washington consensus of 1989. Looks at ways Washington has had to come to terms with an unexpected revival on the left that threatens U.S. hegemony while offering an alternative path to achieve national development, distribution of wealth, and recognition of diversity and pluralism. Students will examine these issues from multiple viewpoints and develop projects based on choosing specific research foci within the general enterprise of what these government share in common and how they differ.

LATAMER490A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Latin American Studies

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LATAMER | 490A | Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Latin American Studies

Description
Topics differ by section.

LATAMER490S - Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LATAMER | 490S | Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies

Description
Interdisciplinary study of geographical, historical, economic, governmental, political, and cultural aspects of modern Latin America and the current issues facing the region. Specific topics will vary from year to year.

LATAMER89S - First Year Seminar in Latin American and Caribbean Studies

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LATAMER | 89S | First Year Seminar in Latin American and Caribbean Studies

Description
Topics vary by semester.

LATIN101 - Elementary Latin

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LATIN | 101 | Elementary Latin

Description
Study of the structure of the language (i.e., forms, vocabulary, syntax, and pronunciation); selected readings in prose and poetry.
LATIN102 - Elementary Latin

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Latin

Description: Second half of Latin 101, 102. Prerequisite: Latin 101.

LATIN203 - Intermediate Latin

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Latin

Description: Readings in Latin literature: Cicero, Livy, Pliny the Younger, and Ovid. Review of grammar essentials accompanies students' transition to reading some of the Latin greats.

LATIN203A-1 - Intermediate Latin: Caesar's Civil War

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 203A-1
Title: Intermediate Latin: Caesar's Civil War

LATIN25 - Introduction to Literature

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 25
Title: Introduction to Literature

Description: This number represents course credit for a score of 4 or 5 on one or more of the College Board Advanced Placement tests in Latin

LATIN251 - Refresher Latin for First-Year Students

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 251
Title: Refresher Latin for First-Year Students

Description: This course is for first-year students who have had high school Latin and want or need a single refresher or preparatory course to transition to advanced (300-level) Latin. It includes grammar review and readings of real (un simplified) prose and poetry texts not read in high school. Students must have at least 3 years of high school Latin (or the equivalent).

LATIN252 - Advanced Intermediate Latin

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 252
Title: Advanced Intermediate Latin

Description: The culture of Republican and Augustan Rome: selections from Cicero, Catullus, Vergil, Horace, Ovid or similar. Recommended prerequisite: Latin 203 or equivalent.

LATIN291 - Independent Study

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 291
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

LATIN293 - Research Independent Study

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 293
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or project containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors; for seniors, the paper or project may partially fulfill the requirements for graduation with distinction. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
LATIN301A-1 - Advanced Latin

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 301A-1
Title: Advanced Latin

Description:

LATIN302S - The Catilinarian Conspiracy

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 302S
Title: The Catilinarian Conspiracy

Description:
Examines the primary evidence surrounding Cato the Younger's plot to seize power at Rome. The affair involved some of Republican Rome's greatest leaders—Cicero, Caesar, and Cat. But did one of history's most famous conspiracies actually take place? Readings in Latin from Cicero and Sallust.

LATIN304S - History and Biography

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 304S
Title: History and Biography

Description:
Readings in one or more Roman historical works, illuminating key themes, periods, historiographical conventions, and especially ancient historiography's role as font of moral and ethical exempla. Authors might include Caesar, Sallust, Livy, Tacitus, Ammianus Marcellinus, Gregory of Tours, Suetonius, vel sim. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.

LATIN305S - Roman Historians

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 305S
Title: Roman Historians

Description:
Readings in one or more Roman historians, illuminating historiographical conventions and social, cultural, and political history. Authors might include Caesar, Livy, Tacitus, vel sim. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.

LATIN307S - Philosophy in Rome

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 307S
Title: Philosophy in Rome

Description:
Study of literary works that incorporate philosophical content. Identification and evaluation of this content and of the interaction between literary setting and philosophical material.

LATIN308S - Latin Epistle

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 308S
Title: Latin Epistle

Description:
Readings in the form, function, history, and conventions of the Latin epistle. Material might range from the letters of Cicero, Cyprian, Augustine, Jerome, or medieval collections; from Seneca’s Letters to Lucilius to Ovid’s Heroïdes or Pliny’s correspondence with the Emperor Trajan. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.

LATIN312S - Oratory/Rhetoric

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 312S
Title: Oratory/Rhetoric

Description:
Readings in Roman oratory and rhetoric. Focus on negotiation of power through public speech, definitions of identity, and public construction of cultural norms. Authors and works might include Cicero, Quintilian’s Institutes of Oratory, Tacitus’ Dialogue on Oratory, Seneca the Elder, selected speeches from Roman historians, vel sim. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.

LATIN316S - Latin Novel

Subject: LATIN
Catalog Number: 316S
Title: Latin Novel

Description:
Readings in Latin novel, with special attention to the form’s literary predecessors and its particular illumination of social, economic, and cultural features of the Roman world. Authors include Petronius and/or Apuleius. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>320S</td>
<td>Ovid</td>
<td>Study of Ovid’s epic poem, the Metamorphoses, and/or his elegiac and exilic poetry. Translation and interpretation of these works in their literary and cultural contexts. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>322S</td>
<td>Vergil</td>
<td>Study of Latin poetry, poetic syntax, meter, and style through readings from Vergil. Translation and interpretation of the Aeneid, the Georgics, and/or the Eclogues in their literary and cultural contexts. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>324S</td>
<td>Latin Epic</td>
<td>Readings in Roman Epic with attention to genre, language, meter, characterization, narrative structure, ancient and modern interpretation, the epic tradition in and beyond Greece and Rome, and the genre’s role in construction of cultural identity. Authors might include Vergil, Ovid, and Lucan. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>326S</td>
<td>Latin Lyric</td>
<td>Readings in Latin Lyric, with special attention to Roman responses to Greek literary traditions. Authors include Catullus, Horace, Statius, and others. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>328S</td>
<td>Elegy</td>
<td>Readings in Latin Elegy, with special attention to the contemplation of human passions and vices within Roman culture and to Roman responses to Greek literary traditions. Authors might include Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, Ovid, Horace, and Martial. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>Drama</td>
<td>Readings in Roman Comedy and Tragedy. Special attention to Roman ‘translation’ and reception of the Greek literary tradition before it; the genre’s illumination of social, economic, and cultural conditions; the form’s scrutiny of core cultural ideals. Authors include Plautus, Terence, and Seneca.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>336S</td>
<td>Satire</td>
<td>Readings in Roman Satire with special attention to the genre’s self-critical posture and its ethical critique of Roman culture and the Latin literary tradition. Authors might include Lucilius, Horace, Persius, and Juvenal. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>356S</td>
<td>Lucretius: On the Nature of Things</td>
<td>Study of the poetry and philosophy of Lucretius’ De rerum natura and of its influence on modern science and philosophy. Topics include Epicurean physics and ethics, free will, contingency and design in nature, death and human mortality, romantic love, religion, politics, and technological progress. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LATIN360S - Latin of the Late Roman Republic

Description
Course designed to study literature of the Roman Republic’s final years, prior to transition to imperial rule. Texts will offer primary evidence of how Roman citizens viewed the radical changes taking place in Republican Rome, and how these created the social ‘stress fractures’ that led to prolonged, bloody civil war, and finally to one-man rule. Readings could include such authors as Catullus, Cicero, Sallust, Caesar, Varro. Prerequisite: Latin 101, 102, 203, and 204 or the equivalent.

LATIN362S - Latin Panegyric: Praise and Blame in Latin Letters and Life

Description
Readings in the peculiarly Roman tradition of praise for public figures, which often includes censure of others. Authors and works might include Cicero, Pliny the Younger, and the XII Panegyrici Latin, and readings will be in both prose and poetry. Attention will be paid to genre and to the widely varied historical contexts of our readings.

LATIN368S - Pliny and Martial

Description
Study of Roman history and society from Domitian to Trajan through the writings of Pliny the Younger and Martial. Emphasis on how literature and society construct and inform each other at critical moments in Roman history. Students must have two years of Latin or equivalent.

LATIN370S - Ancient Autobiography: Augustine’s Confessions

Description
Readings in Latin and in English translation from the Confessions, St. Augustine’s intimate and influential spiritual autobiography. Important topics include the genre of ancient autobiography, the relation of Christianity to Greco-Roman literature and culture, the nature of good and evil, memory and time, human motivation, self-transformation, and self-knowledge.

LATIN376S - Medieval Latin

Description
Survey of medieval Latin literature, sampling authors and genres from Late Antiquity through the Italian Renaissance. Genres may include biblical literature, late ancient and medieval hymns, letters, medieval plays, sacred and secular poetry including epic, historiography, and Arthurian literature.

LATIN390S - Special Topics in Latin Literature

Description
Prerequisite: the completion of second-year or third-year Latin, depending on the topic.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>491</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LATIN</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>113FS</td>
<td>Race and Language</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>121FS</td>
<td>Sleep in Society: History, Culture, and Medicine</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Latin 491 - Independent Study

Description

Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product. Consent of instructor and Director of Undergraduate Studies required.

Latin 493 - Research Independent Study

Description

Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or project containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors and seniors; for seniors, the paper or project may partially fulfill the requirements for graduation with distinction. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

Linguist 113FS - Race and Language

Description

We will examine the relationship between race and language by interrogating texts in medical ethics, gleaning from them wider lessons for navigating prior controversies at the juncture of racial and social difference and medicine (for instance, phrenology and eugenics). We will also examine features of medical and scientific practice that overlap with the study of language, such as contract, disclosure, survey design and policymaking, and how the medical profession and medical practice work to correct past mistakes in interactions with different communities of race.

Linguist 121FS - Sleep in Society: History, Culture, and Medicine

Description

Exploration of sleep as it intersects anthropology, history, psychology, neurology, sociology, linguistics, and public policy. Topics range from normal sleep and circadian rhythms to the evolution of sleep and sleep habits around the world. Social determinants of sleep in the United States are considered. Students discuss racism and public policies in sleep health, the costs of massive societal sleep deprivation, the history and cultural narratives of dream interpretation, and principles of clinical sleep medicine. Open only to students in the Focus Program.
LINGUIST125FS - Languages, Margins, Borders: Representations, Practices, and Policies

Subject
LINGUIST

Catalog Number
125FS

Title
Languages, Margins, Borders: Representations, Practices, and Policies

Description
Examines the relationships between language and contemporary migration patterns that, directly or indirectly, affect millions of people across the globe, focusing especially on migration flows related to humanitarian challenges. Divided into three key themes, it analyzes the representation of migrants and migration in media and culture; language practices of migrants, including translanguaging and language learning; and policies towards migrants and their languages that pertain to governance in linguistically diverse societies. Interdisciplinary in approach, readings are drawn from linguistic anthropology and sociolinguistics, as well as political sociology and public policy studies.

LINGUIST170 - Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Subject
LINGUIST

Catalog Number 170

Title
Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Description
History and development of commercial advertising; advertising as a reflector and/or creator of social and cultural values; advertisements as cultural myths; effects on children, women, and ethnic minorities; advertising and language; relation to political and economic structure; and advertising and world culture. Emphasis on American society complemented by case studies of advertising in Canada, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Western Europe, and selected other countries.

LINGUIST170D - Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Subject
LINGUIST

Catalog Number
170D

Title
Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Description
Same as Cultural Anthropology 170 except instruction is provided in lecture and discussion group each week.

LINGUIST190A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Linguistics

Subject
LINGUIST

Catalog Number
190A

Title
Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Linguistics

Description
The study of linguistics and languages on Duke-approved programs at foreign institutions of higher learning. Topics differ by section.

LINGUIST190FS - Special Topics in Linguistics

Subject
LINGUIST

Catalog Number
190FS

Title
Special Topics in Linguistics

Description
Topics vary by semester. For students in the FOCUS program.

LINGUIST201 - Introduction to Linguistics

Subject
LINGUIST

Catalog Number 201

Title
Introduction to Linguistics

Description
Introduction to the scientific study of linguistics and languages. Topics include the origin and nature of language, methods of historical and comparative linguistics, theories and schools of linguistics, empirical and descriptive approaches to the study of language, including phonology, morphology, semantics, and syntax.
LINGUIST202 - Languages of the World

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Languages of the World
Description: The major languages of the world viewed in the context of the communicative and significate functions of language as parameters that shape and define society. The role of language in defining and structuring culturally-based relationships from a semiotic point of view. The structure, writing systems, phonology, morphology, and lexicon of languages from the following groups: Indo-European, Semitic, Turkic, Finno-Ugric, Caucasian, Afroasiatic, Sino-Tibetan, Niger-Kordofanian, Dravidian, and Native American languages.

LINGUIST203 - Elements of Linguistic Structure

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Elements of Linguistic Structure
Description: Examination of the main aspects of the phonemic systems and sound patterns and alternations of various languages that belong to different linguistic families, their word formation processes and mechanisms, and their phrasal and sentential syntactic structures and representations. Topics include the main issues in the field and theoretical approaches to natural languages and to language variation and change.

LINGUIST204 - History of English

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 204
Title: History of English
Description: Introduction to methods and principles of historical linguistics, as exemplified by the history of the English language from Proto-Indo-European to the present. Not open to students who have taken English 208S. Satisfies the Criticism, Theory, and Methodology (CTM) for English majors.

LINGUIST206 - Variety in Language: English in the United States

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 206
Title: Variety in Language: English in the United States
Description: English language variation in the United States considered from a current sociolinguistic perspective. Social, regional, ethnic, gender, and stylistic-related language variation, along with models for describing and applying knowledge about language variation. Language variation focused on vernacular varieties of American English in general and on North Carolina in particular.

LINGUIST207 - Psychology of Language

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 207
Title: Psychology of Language
Description: Examination of linguistic structures and their psychological 'reality,' language and cognition, biological bases, animal communication, language pathologies, nonverbal communication, and bilingualism. Everyday language phenomena (such as slips of the tongue) as well as experimental and theoretical research. Emphasis on research designs, methods and reasoning used to study the role of language in cognition and action. Research proposal required.
LINGUIST207-2 - Psychology of Language
Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 207-2
Title: Psychology of Language
Description: Examination of linguistic structures and their psychological 'reality,' language and cognition, biological bases, animal communication, language pathologies, nonverbal communication, and bilingualism. Everyday language phenomena (such as slips of the tongue) as well as experimental and theoretical research. Emphasis on research designs, methods and reasoning used to study the role of language in cognition and action. Research proposal required.

LINGUIST208 - Philosophy of Mind
Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 208
Title: Philosophy of Mind
Description: Such topics as mind and body, the nature of thought, perception, consciousness, personal identity, and other minds. The relevance of cognitive psychology, neuroscience, and computer science to the philosophy of mind.

LINGUIST209 - Philosophy of Language
Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 209
Title: Philosophy of Language
Description: A philosophical analysis of problems arising in the study of language and symbolism. Topics include: theories of language, the nature of signs and symbols, theories of meaning, types of discourse (scientific, mathematical, poetic), definition, ambiguity, metaphor.

LINGUIST211 - Computational Approaches to Human Language
Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 211
Title: Computational Approaches to Human Language
Description: This course will explore a range of techniques designed to help machines perform tasks involving human language. We will cover both rules-based and machine learning approaches for morphological, syntactic, semantic, co-reference, and discourse processing. We will also touch on issues involved in natural language understanding, such as cognitive and linguistic phenomena and applications that can benefit from natural language processing such as question answering, machine translation, and spoken language understanding.

LINGUIST212FS - Law, Ethics & Responsibility
Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 212FS
Title: Law, Ethics & Responsibility
Description: Examines the intersection of law and neuroscience, including the use of neuroimaging to determine if a witness is telling the truth; the implications of neuroscience for determining the mental competency of defendants, the insanity defense, the imposition of punishment on defendants. Considers the extent to which recent advances in brain science cause us to reevaluate fundamental legal concepts of 'intent,' 'insanity,' and responsibility; the ways in which neuroscience may be applied to these and related issues; and the inherent limitations and incongruities of applying brain science to legal questions.

LINGUIST213FS - The Politics of Language
Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 213FS
Title: The Politics of Language
Description: Examines the political role of language in societies as diverse as China, India, the former Soviet Union, the UK and the US. Looks at how state and non-state actors influence citizens' language practices, and their beliefs about language. Drawing on political theory, sociology and sociolinguistics, we look at how language policies reflect and produce sociopolitical realities. Topics covered include migration, citizenship, nationalism and decolonization. Open to students in the Focus Program only.
LINGUIST216FS - Neuroscience and Human Language

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>216FS</td>
<td>Neuroscience and Human Language</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Same as Linguist 216S; open only to students in the Focus Program. Prerequisite: Advanced placement credit in Biology.

LINGUIST217FS - Language, Thought, and Culture

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>217FS</td>
<td>Language, Thought, and Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines how language, thought, and culture are interrelated processes and structures. Takes a sociolinguistic perspective that language and society are intertwined, to understand how language either constrains or influences thought, how culture and language interact, and how culture is constructed through cognition. Course covers the study of signs (semiotics), cultural and linguistic depictions of people, groups, and issues (representation and discourse analysis), individual and societal beliefs about language itself (language ideologies), how meaning is created and perceived (semantics), and how speakers use language in real-life situations (linguistic anthropology). Open only to students in Focus Program. Department consent required.

LINGUIST219S - North Indian Classical Music: Structure, Culture and Lyric

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>219S</td>
<td>North Indian Classical Music: Structure, Culture and Lyric</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
North Indian classical music (NICM) has a rich history of three thousand years with influences from multiple cultures/languages. This course will explore linguistic/cultural/musical aspects of NICM culture. Texts and music include Bandishes (songs), using four different languages – Sanskrit, Hindi, Urdu, and Brajbasha, exploration of multilingual and multicultural aspects of text and melody construction, fundamental monophonic musical structure and improvisation (NICM-based definitions of raaga (melody) and thala(rhythm). Theoretical principles include the Bhatkandes notation system. Live performances of main ragas and compositions in different dialects. Students learn to play tanpura, a traditional instrument.

LINGUIST250 - Symbolic Logic

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>250</td>
<td>Symbolic Logic</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Detailed analysis of deduction and of deductive systems. Open to sophomores by consent of instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>301</td>
<td>Advanced Spanish Grammar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Intended to foster students’ reflection on Spanish grammar and to consolidate students’ knowledge of the system of rules underlying the Spanish language. Special attention is given to grammar in oral and written communication. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 204 or appropriate placement test score.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>302S</td>
<td>French Phonetics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Theory and practice of French pronunciation, corrective phonetics, intonation, accentuation, syllabification, elision and liaison. Focus on areas of speech production in French that are generally the most difficult for native speakers of English. Comprehension, dictation, and recitation exercises; interactive video and audio activities; self-assessment tasks; and end-of-term individual improvement grade.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>304S</td>
<td>French Composition and Translation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Advanced translation and stylistics. Cultural and social difference between French and English patterns in written and oral expression. Extensive practice in translation of different types of texts. Equivalencies between French and English. Recommended prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>305S</td>
<td>Italian Sociolinguistics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Linguistic diversity in modern Italy. Social and geographic language variation, multilingualism, and the relationship between language and dialect. Special codes, including youth slang, language and politics, language and bureaucracy. Discussion of language and gender, language and racism, linguistic etiquette within Italian society.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>306S</td>
<td>Korean Sociolinguistics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examination of Korean language in social and cultural contexts from sociolinguistic and linguistic anthropological points of view. Focus on construction of cultural identities, social order and interpersonal relationships through everyday language use. Honorifics and language ideology, language and gender, regional and social variations, language contact and language policy in contemporary Korea. Sociolinguistics literature introducing conceptual frameworks and empirical research on specifics of language in use and synchronic and diachronic variations. Readings and class conducted in English. Prerequisite: Familiarity with Korean or basics of Linguistics.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>308S</td>
<td>Bilingualism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examination of bilingualism at the individual, interpersonal, and social levels from psycholinguistic, socio-linguistic, anthropological, and educational perspectives. Issues to include the relation between language and cognition, language development, language identity, socio-linguistic practices in multicultural settings, language maintenance, and language policy and planning.
LINGUIST309S - Spanish in the U.S.

Description
Focus on linguistic development and current presence of Spanish in the United States. Students will develop linguistic and critical awareness about the relationship between Spanish language and society, with special emphasis on topics such as language variety, language contact from a social, political and educational perspective, types of bilingualism, sociolinguistic issues, migration patterns and settlements, etc. Readings in English and in Spanish with class discussion in Spanish. Previous 300-level Spanish work strongly recommended, or bilingual or nearly bilingual proficiency in Spanish.

LINGUIST310 - Translating Spanish-English and English-Spanish

Description
Introduction to theories of translation and practice translating Spanish to English and English to Spanish. Students explore key ethical concerns related to translation and interpretation, negotiate translation of cultural references, and give each other feedback on translation drafts and editing. Products created individually or in collaboration include ads, comics, articles, subtitling and dubbing, and reflections on the translation process. This is a community-engaged course. Engagement may include project-based service with community partners among other engaged practices. Prerequisite: 300-level Spanish course or equivalent. Consent of instructor is required.

LINGUIST315S - Acquisition of Japanese as a Second Language

Description
Examining the Japanese language data used in the development of second language acquisition theories; learning syntactic and semantic properties of the Japanese language and their comparisons with English; reading published empirical studies about acquiring Japanese as a second language and evaluate their arguments; designing an original research to address the current issues in learning and teaching Japanese.

LINGUIST325S - Literary Translation: History, Theory, and Practice

Description
A study of the theory and practice of translation from antiquity to the present, with a focus on religious, literary, and philosophical texts and the distinctive challenges involved in rendering such works into a different language. Topics include analysis of historically-significant translations, a survey of the history and theory of translation as a practice, a close study of the ethics of translation, and a workshop in which students will prepare, revise, and analyze their own translations. Prerequisite: Three semesters of language.
LINGUIST337S - Chinese Sociolinguistics

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 3375
Title: Chinese Sociolinguistics

Description
Investigation of the complex interaction between Chinese linguistic practices and Chinese-speaking societies. Integration of conceptual framework in sociolinguistics and empirical research on sociolinguistics issues in Chinese-speaking societies. Topics including the historical development of the modern Chinese language, regional and social variations, language ideology and language policies, language and identity, language and gender, politeness and cross-cultural communication, language and social media, and language and education. Readings and class conducted in English.

LINGUIST342S - Languages in Southwest China: Grammar of Multilingualism

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 342S
Title: Languages in Southwest China: Grammar of Multilingualism

Description
Issues in bilingualism and multilingualism under the context of Southwest China; experimental approaches to bilinguals of Nuosu Yi and Mandarin Chinese/bilinguals of Kham Tibetan and Mandarin Chinese, a total of 4 million people living in Southwest China; theoretical and pedagogical issues specific to minority group languages in China.

LINGUIST358S - Sociolinguistic Landscapes: German Language, Society, and Identity

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 358S
Title: Sociolinguistic Landscapes: German Language, Society, and Identity

Description
Introduction to German sociolinguistics. Explores socio-cultural aspects of German language variation (spatial, chronological, social) and construction of social identities through language. Questions addressed: What is the German language, who are its speakers, and what do standard and non-standard varieties look like? How has German evolved, how does it continue to develop, and what factors impact its development? How do social variables (age, gender, social distance, etc.) relate to language use? Texts from linguistics, literature, film/music, and news media analyzed to understand impact of linguistic variation on human, personal experience in German-speaking world. Taught in German.

LINGUIST364 - Gender and Language

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 364
Title: Gender and Language

Description
Theoretical approaches to the question of the interrelationship of gender and language including neurobiology, psychology, semiotics, feminist critical theory, philosophy of language, discourse analysis, and linguistic theory. Taught in English.
LINGUIST377S - Language & Identity: How We Construct Identities and Reproduce Social Hierarchies Through Language

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>377S</td>
<td>Language &amp; Identity: How We Construct Identities and Reproduce Social Hierarchies Through Language</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Language is a central and pervasive feature of human identity through which we portray ourselves and negotiate social identities. With such practices we re/produce values, norms, social hierarchies, and the privilege these entail. Using examples from media, literature, and ethnographic data we will explore how speakers negotiate social identities through language and how ideas about it inform our understanding and interpretation of society and speakers within it. Topics include language, racism, gender, sexuality, class, ethnicity and ways that language and discourse construct and maintain a sense of belonging, otherness, truth, and value. Not open to students who have taken Romance Studies 207FS.

LINGUIST389S - Linguistic Human Rights in the Americas

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>389S</td>
<td>Linguistic Human Rights in the Americas</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This DukeImmerse course brings together topics of language and human rights, focusing on situations of linguistic disparities in the Americas. Explores questions of language contact, bilingualism and endangered languages from perspective of social injustices and human rights. Examines how language aids in the construct of social context and institutions and how it reflects and sustains social realities, reflecting on situations of oppression and how they are associated to sociolinguistic attitudes and behavior. Explores overlap of linguistic human rights with cultural and minority rights; all in connection to the right of maintaining one’s identity as well as sustaining human rights. Instructor consent required.

LINGUIST390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Linguistics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Linguistics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Advanced study of linguistics and languages on Duke-Approved programs at foreign institutions of higher learning. Topics differ by section.

LINGUIST390S - Special Topics in Linguistics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Linguistics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary each semester.
LINGUIST396S - Language in Immigrant America

Subject LINGUIST
Catalog Number 396S
Title Language in Immigrant America

Description
Discussion of issues of language in the context of immigration in the United States, from the turn of the 20th century until the present, combining approaches from literature, memoirs, language policy, media studies, and linguistic anthropology. Some fieldwork in an immigrant community. Topics include: identity, assimilation, race, bilingual communities, bilingual education, foreign accents, language contact.

LINGUIST397S - Narratives of Migration

Subject LINGUIST
Catalog Number 397S
Title Narratives of Migration

Description
Stories of migration captivate us because they touch on universally important themes: home, family, belonging, identity, pain, loss. In this course, we will explore narratives, or stories, of migration, as told by refugees and immigrants from across the world, through different media: written, spoken, photographed, and constructed digitally on social media. This course approaches narratives of migration primarily from the perspective of sociocultural linguistics and discourse analysis, but we will refer to other scholarly traditions as well. This is a Service-Learning course: students will engage in a mentoring relationship with an immigrant student in a Durham high school.

LINGUIST409S - Identity and Linguistic Rights in the Spanish Speaking Americas

Subject LINGUIST
Catalog Number 409S
Title Identity and Linguistic Rights in the Spanish Speaking Americas

Description
This course focuses on linguistic justice and linguistic rights in interaction with other human rights. The class explores concepts of language, power, linguistic discrimination, and raciolinguistics in the context of bilingualism/multilingualism, indigenous languages, and endangered languages. We will examine how language is used to shape and negotiate identities, and how it reflects and sustains social realities and situations of social inequality. Methodologically, we will use linguistic and sociolinguistic analysis and elements of critical discourse analysis.

LINGUIST410S - Linguistics and Law (DS4)

Subject LINGUIST
Catalog Number 410S
Title Linguistics and Law (DS4)

Description
Topics include surreptitious recordings as criminal evidence; pornography, slander, defamation, and libel; interpretation of laws and contracts; copyright, patents, and trademarks; jury instructions; jury selection; courtroom language as a unique register; the language of judges' decisions; interrogations and confessions; official bilingualism; product warnings; clarity of instructions leading to potential liability issues.

LINGUIST413 - Language and Aging

Subject LINGUIST
Catalog Number 413
Title Language and Aging

Description
This course will examine language acquisition, maintenance and loss across the life cycle. Research will include experiments and data collection with healthy subjects and in pathology (including different aphasias and dementias). Special foci include cognitive neurolinguistic approaches to understanding acquisition and maintenance of languages (first, second, third, etc.) across different age groups, bi- and multilingualism in aging, hypotheses about cognitive reserve, use of imaging in understanding languages in the healthy and pathological brain, and developing new protocols for future research.

LINGUIST437S - Language Development

Subject LINGUIST
Catalog Number 437S
Title Language Development

Description
Focuses on a fundamentally unique human ability: learning language. Covers how young children first learn language, including: 1) how children figure out what sounds their language includes; 2) how infants learn words & their meanings; and (3) what kind of processes help babies figure out the grammar of their particular native language. Since young children understand more than they can say, this course also covers the methods available for figuring out what they know, based on experimental and observational data. Students will discuss and present recent research articles and new study ideas.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST450S</td>
<td>450S</td>
<td>Junior/Senior Seminar in Linguistics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Theory and methods of comparative linguistics. Diachronic and synchronic approaches to the study of comparative linguistics in phonology, morphology, morphophonemics, syntax, and lexical categories in the context of the world's languages. Both Indo-European and non-Indo-European languages included. Topics include theories of reconstruction, languages in contact, abductive processes, and questions of linguistic typology. Major research paper required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST451</td>
<td>451</td>
<td>Language and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Course examines language as a social practice, focusing on different aspects of its role in social life. Topics addressed include: language and social identity, such as ethnicity, social class, age, and gender; variation in language, including dialects, accents, and registers; multilingualism and language contact; new languages such as pidgins and creoles; language, culture, and intercultural communication; language and ideology; language in education and in the media. Through the discussion of these topics and homework including reading and small research projects, students are introduced to key concepts, theories, and methods in sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST471S</td>
<td>471S</td>
<td>Language and Politics: Global Perspectives</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
We will never speak a single language, or agree on the best way to organize society and politics for 'the good life.' How do macro-politics affect the language(s) we choose to speak? What public policy initiatives can be deployed so that language is an accessible resource for all? Are there such things as language rights, and how can they be distributed and defended? These questions are not just academic, but essential to understanding the world(s) that we inhabit. This course takes a global and historical approach to the politics of language, examining the relationships between language, society, and the state.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST473AS</td>
<td>473AS</td>
<td>Neuroscience and Multilingualism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
In-depth analysis of PET, fMRI, MEG, EEG/ERP studies of multilingualism and their implications for linguistic theory. A close examination of the neuroanatomical and neurophysiological aspects of imaging studies and the importance of neurofunctional explanations play a central role in building new theoretical paradigms of acquisition, maintenance and loss of languages. Offered through Duke in Russia program. Instructor consent required.
LINGUIST473S - Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 473S
Title: Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Description: In-depth analysis of PET, fMRI, MEG, EEG/ERP studies of multilingualism and their implications for linguistic theory. A close examination of the neuroanatomical and neurophysiological aspects of imaging studies and the importance of neurofunctional explanations play a central role in building new theoretical paradigms of acquisition, maintenance and loss of languages.

LINGUIST480S - Critical Discourse Analysis: Theory and Method

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 480S
Title: Critical Discourse Analysis: Theory and Method

Description: Presents key theories and methodologies of critical discourse analysis (CDA) through substantive practice in analyzing language and discourse in real-world texts, with a focus on understanding ethical implications of how people, events and issues are represented. Theoretical frameworks from e.g. Foucault and Laclau & Mouffe are examined in the context of linguistic approaches from e.g. Saussure, Halliday and Blommaert. Primarily aimed at junior/senior Linguistics majors but open to upper-class/graduate students majoring in allied humanities/social science fields. Some knowledge of language/linguistics is helpful, though not necessary.

LINGUIST490 - Special Topics in Linguistics

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Special Topics in Linguistics

Description: Topics vary by semester.

LINGUIST490S - Special Topics in Linguistics

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Special Topics in Linguistics

Description: Topics vary by semester.

LINGUIST493 - Research Independent Study

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research and reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

LINGUIST494 - Research Independent Study

Subject: LINGUIST
Catalog Number: 494
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: See Linguistics 493. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>497</td>
<td>Second Language Acquisition and Research</td>
<td>Addresses historical and current perspectives on second language acquisition. SLA is the study of processes that contribute to learning a language other than the first language. The course will focus on linguistic, cognitive, and sociocultural processes that contribute to the acquisition of the L2. Research methodologies, neuroimaging, and data interpretation will be emphasized. Recommended prerequisite (for Neuroscience majors): Neuroscience 101 or 102.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LINGUIST</td>
<td>498</td>
<td>Cyber Law: Law, Language, and Computers</td>
<td>Cyber law refers to the legal principles that govern the creation, use of computers, software, and computer networks, or that relate to the transfer, use, and storage of electronic information. In this course we will analyze the key legal principles concerning: ownership of the designs of integrated circuits and computer software; crimes involving the use of computers; protection of electronic data, with particular concern for the protection of privacy interests; freedom of expression on the internet. There will be several over-arching meta-themes in this course, and other related themes. This course is designed for students with little or no familiarity with the American legal system.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Introduction to African American Studies</td>
<td>A range of disciplinary perspectives on key topics in African American Studies: slavery and abolitionism, theories of race and racism, gender and race, the era of Jim Crow, cultural expressions, political and intellectual thought, African American freedom struggles from the seventeenth through the twentieth centuries, and race and public policy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>103</td>
<td>American Indian Nations Today</td>
<td>This course is an introduction to the tremendous diversity of contemporary American Indian sovereign nations' and their citizens' experiences in the territory now known as the United States. American Indian Nations Today addresses the complexities of contemporary Native Nation topics by providing context for understanding the distinct political, legal, economic, social, and cultural institutions of Native Nations today. These topics and issues are analyzed from individual, local, and national Native and non-Native perspectives through readings, media, and occasional guest speakers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>104</td>
<td>American Indians Go Graphic</td>
<td>Introductory-level American Indian Studies course that explores historic and contemporary Native Nation-centric topics through the medium of comic books and graphic novels. These topics include representation and racialization, differing forms of activism, economic development, and settler-colonial impacts.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIT111S - Embodied Blackness

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 111S
Title: Embodied Blackness

Description: How is race embodied and how are bodies racialized? How do gender, sexuality, class, size, perceived beauty, and ability mutually influence embodiment? This course considers anthropological and historical studies of the body, with a critical focus on Blackness. We investigate how Black human bodies are othered, valued, dehumanized, and experienced, across time and space, with a particular focus on the United States.

---

LIT188FS - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 188FS
Title: Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description: Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

---

LIT190 - Special Topics in Literature

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Special Topics in Literature

Description: Introduction to the study of literature and other forms of cultural expression, such as film. Different introductory approaches will be used in each section (for example, a systematic account of literary genres, a historical survey of ideas and forms of fiction, concepts of authorship and subjectivity, or of literary meaning and interpretation). More than one national literature or culture represented.

---

LIT190FS - Special Topics in the Focus Program

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Special Topics in the Focus Program

Description: Topics vary. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

---

LIT190S - Special Topics: Introduction to Literature

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics: Introduction to Literature

Description: Introduction to the study of literature and other forms of cultural expression, such as film. Different introductory approaches will be used in each section (for example, a systematic account of literary genres, a historical survey of ideas and forms of fiction, concepts of authorship and subjectivity, or of literary meaning and interpretation). More than one national literature or culture represented.

---

LIT198FS - Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 198FS
Title: Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry

Description: Combines a historical survey of science-themed plays with an examination of sci-arts initiatives such as the University of Western Australia’s Symbiotica; the Art & Science Laboratory in New Mexico; and the UK’s Centre for Performance Science. Central course questions: How can performing arts improve public awareness and knowledge about complex scientific ideas and research? What points of view and methods of research do artists bring to scientific inquiry and vice-versa? We will pay particular attention to secondary schools, contemporary art installations, and science museums as public laboratories for experimental, embodied collaborations across the two disciplines. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.
LIT199 - LGBTQ/Queer Cinema and Cultural Production

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>199</td>
<td>LGBTQ/Queer Cinema and Cultural Production</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This class investigates LGBTQ identities, communities and relationships pre, post, and during the Stonewall era through cinema, television, and new media. We will also explore constructions of sexuality, gender, class, race, and nationalism within the context of LGBTQ transnational film cultures and scholarship.

LIT202 - Introduction to Performance Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>202</td>
<td>Introduction to Performance Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to field of performance studies, with examples drawn from music, dance, theatre, performance art, protests, rituals, and everyday life. Through comparative study of global performance, we explore the usefulness of concepts of ritual, play, and performativity as they relate to performance and technology, intercultural performance and implications and ethics of appropriation and borrowing; originality and imitation; archive and repertoire; performative writing; and the performative dimensions of gender, race, and sexuality.

LIT201S - Introduction to Global Cultural Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>201S</td>
<td>Introduction to Global Cultural Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introductory course for the Literature Major in Global Cultural Studies. Examines how the work of the humanities provides conceptual and analytic skills for processing complex textual, cultural, scientific, mediatic, and ethical information in circulation in the contemporary world. Begins by asking what Global Cultural Studies is and why exploring culture in a global frame is important in our world today. Focuses on a particular area of cultural production and combines theoretical and historical analysis with concrete exploration of films and other media, literary texts, and other cultural material.

LIT205 - The Problem of Love in Western Literature

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>205</td>
<td>The Problem of Love in Western Literature</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia—Plato’s erotic ascent, Virgil’s deceived Dido, Ovid’s rules of seduction, Boccaccio’s legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo’s homoerotic poetry, Leonardo’s sublimated impulses, Foscolo’s tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo’s modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>205S</td>
<td>The Problem of Love in Western Literature</td>
<td>Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia –Plato’s erotic ascent, Virgil’s deceived Dido, Ovid’s rules of seduction, Boccaccio’s legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo’s homoerotic poetry, Leonardo’s sublimated impulses, Foscolo’s tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo’s modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>210</td>
<td>Robots and Monsters: Unruly Hu</td>
<td>What if humans had the power to create intelligent life. What would they do with that power? What would such creatures be like? These questions have captivated the imagination of storytellers for thousands of years. Prometheus stole the power to create life from the Greek gods. The Rabbi of Prague brought a clay creature to life with magical incantations. Frankenstein accomplished it with science on the operating table. And computer programmers try to build such creatures with AI technology. In stories, the end is always the same: the creature gets out of control, it threatens its creator and needs to be subdued. In this course, we will read stories of human effort to bring to life their own creations. We will discuss the literary features of such fantastical creations as the Golem, Frankenstein’s monster, Androids and AI. Over the semester we will come to appreciate the human desires and fantasies associated with this figure, and ask what these robots and monsters can tell us about our own humanity.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>211</td>
<td>Indian Cinema</td>
<td>Sources of vitality in twentieth-century Indian cinema. The resilience of popular cinema in the face of Hollywood. Narrative and non-narrative expressive forms in folk and high culture in India. The work of Guru Dutt, Satyajit Ray, G. Aravindan, and Mani Kaul.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>212</td>
<td>World of Korean Cinema</td>
<td>The world of Korean cinema, broadly defined in terms of national, generic, theoretical boundaries, beyond conventional auteur, genre, one-way influence, and national cinema theories. Cinematic texts examined in local, regional, and global contexts and intersections, in conversation with global theories and histories of cinema, visual cultures, and other representational forms. Variable topics informed theoretically and politically by discourses on gender/sexuality, race/ethnicity, global flows of people and cultures, popular and ‘high’ culture crossovers, transnational co-productions, remakes, translations and retellings. No knowledge of Korean language/culture presumed.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIT213 - Japanese Cinema
Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LIT | 213 | Japanese Cinema

Description
An introduction to the history of Japanese cinema focusing on issues including the relation between the tradition-modernity or Japan-West in the development of Japanese cinema, the influence of Japanese films on the theory and practice of cinema abroad, and the ways in which cinema has served as a reflection of and an active agent in the transformation of Japanese society.

LIT214 - Master Filmmakers of Chinese Cinemas
Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LIT | 214 | Master Filmmakers of Chinese Cinemas

Description
Films, documentaries, television series, and soap operas produced in Mainland China in the post-Mao era, modern and contemporary Taiwan, and Hong Kong. Topics include the history and aesthetics of the new wave cinema, soap operas as the new forum for public debate on popular culture, and debate over the relationship between Euro-American modernist and the national cinema.

LIT215 - Italian Cinema
Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LIT | 215 | Italian Cinema

Description
Introduction course to Italian cinema including silent films, Neorealism, fascist productions, Commedia all’italiana and experimentalism. Taught in English, Italian majors and minors should inquire with the professor about the possibility of concurrently enrolling in a tutorial for credit towards the language requirement for the major or minor.

LIT216S - Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century
Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LIT | 216S | Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century

Description
Examines the major thematic focus of East European filmmakers in the 21st century: their efforts to reconstruct and reassess the experience of the Cold War (1945-1989) and the Yugoslav wars (1991-1995). These films from the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Croatia, and Serbia include ironic/sentimental tales of Cold War childhood, thrillers about sleeping with the enemy (political informers), and psychological dramas centering on political trauma, resistance, and compromise. All films shown with English subtitles.

LIT217 - Contemporary Israeli Cinema
Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LIT | 217 | Contemporary Israeli Cinema

Description

LIT218 - Cinematic Authorship
Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
LIT | 218 | Cinematic Authorship

Description
Theories of authorship continue to generate heated debates. What is at stake in these debates and for whom? This course will consider both the historical and contemporary debates around the controversial notion of authorship as it relates to signature and style. Drawing on film and media theory, literary theory, and philosophy, we will examine how artists explore and challenge the romantic conflation of the author as a stylistic innovator, site of influence, collaborator, and iconoclast. Throughout the semester we will ask: What is an author? What is the impact of stylistic innovation in media culture? And, why does authorship matter?
LIT220 - Film Genres

Subject
LIT
Catalog Number 220
Title
Film Genres
Description
A historical survey of motion picture genre as a stylistic and narrative device, including comedy, horror, the musical, the western, and science fiction.

LIT225 - Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage

Subject
LIT
Catalog Number
225
Title
Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage
Description
When the Cold War erupted in the wake of World War II, filmmakers were poised to screen it as propaganda, entertainment (thriller, horror, science fiction), and morally reflective realism. This course explores the films/television series produced on both sides of the Iron Curtain as well as those made after the Cold War (post-1989). Discussion will focus on ethical justifications and critiques of espionage; the characterizations of the spy and those spied on, and the interactions between these protagonists; and the changing aesthetics of screening espionage.

LIT222 - Performance Art History and Theory

Subject
LIT
Catalog Number
222
Title
Performance Art History and Theory
Description
Performance Art History and Theory explores cultural experimentation, theoretical strategies, and ideological aims of performance art internationally; examines interchanges between artists’ theories of performance, stylistic development, and impact in the context of cultural criticism and art history; traces interdisciplinary genealogies of performance globally; thinks about the body as a vehicle for aesthetic expression, communication, and information in its critique of social and political conditions; studies performance and gender, sexuality, race, and class; asks how performance alters the semiotics of visual culture and contributes to a paradigm shift from modernism to postmodernism.

LIT220S - American Cinema: Redefined

Subject
LIT
Catalog Number
220S
Title
American Cinema: Redefined
Description
Course examines the way films speak to the history of American nationhood as a whole. Considers the diversity of American Cinema and Hollywood’s international dominance. Explores how varieties of domestic film production develop in the shadow of the commercial film industry, how they differ from mainstream productions, and how they contribute innovations.
LIT226S - World of Gaming: Art, Theory, Technology, and Business of a Multi-Billion Dollar Global Industry

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 226S
Title: World of Gaming: Art, Theory, Technology, and Business of a Multi-Billion Dollar Global Industry

Description: Interdisciplinary and transnational exploration into the multi-billion dollar global gaming industry through social and theoretical lens. Asks what are the possibilities and pitfalls of gaming in our societies? Examines local and global cases, through art, storytelling, theory, design, technology, business, and gamer and fan communities. Select social and theoretical issues explored include im/migration and refugees, identity (race, gender, class and sexuality), environment, education, civic engagement, sports, recreation, war, and technology. Asia is one important case study as one of the most vibrant regions for examining gaming cultures, conflicts, and theories.

LIT229S - Space-Body-Image

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 229S
Title: Space-Body-Image

Description: Analyzes ways the production of space in architecture and urban theory also produce images of the ideal bodies supposed to inhabit them. Explores limits of the production of space from standpoint of feminist, queer, and critical race theory, as well as through current research in disability studies. Surveys efforts by contemporary artists, writers, and filmmakers to interrupt prevailing images of space and imagine new kinds of bodies to move within them.

LIT230A - Introduction to Global Los Angeles: An Interdisciplinary Survey (Service-Learning)

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 230A
Title: Introduction to Global Los Angeles: An Interdisciplinary Survey (Service-Learning)

Description: This course explores the complexities of global Los Angeles by focusing on issues that especially impact its marginalized communities. For the service-learning component, students volunteer at least 20 hours during the semester at nonprofit organizations engaged in the pursuit of social justice. This experience provides an opportunity to observe, participate in and reflect on the day-to-day implementation of social action, policy and organizing initiatives. As part of the volunteer commitment and in lieu of a final paper, students produce a documentary media project that communicates goals identified by and in collaboration with the community partner.

LIT241S - Around the Bloc: Cold War Culture in the USSR and Eastern Europe

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 241S
Title: Around the Bloc: Cold War Culture in the USSR and Eastern Europe

Description: Drawing on oral and written history, memoirs, film, fiction, and essays in anthropology and sociology, we’ll resist the black/white readings imposed by the Iron Curtain and explore the dreams, fears, ethical concerns, cultural trends, and lifestyles of Cold War baby boomers in the USSR, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Romania. Highlighted topics include: the privileges and discontents of postwar youth, the atomic age and its mutations, adventures in socialist consumer culture, gender politics and real life, making art about the socialist state of the absurd. All texts in English translation, films screened with English subtitles.
LIT243 - Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Description
Introduction to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, Latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required introductory course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.

LIT244 - Modern European Short Fiction

Description
Comprehensive examination of several important works of modern European short fiction by authors such as Kafka, Woolf, Svevo, Sartre, Joyce, Proust, Mann, Schnitzler, Gogol, and Calvino. While stories will be contextualized historically, culturally, and geographically, course is organized into thematic units, including animals, home, punishment, and love, to facilitate comparative analysis. Students engage critically with concepts such as identity, trauma, genre, and narrative form.

LIT245 - Dante's Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise

Description
A voyage through the three otherworldly places of Dante's philosophical poem (Hell, Purgatory, Paradise) whose transformation of human actions into an ordered ethical system continues to captivate readers.
LIT246 - Flaubert's Brain: Neurohumanities

Subject  LIT
Catalog Number  246
Title  Flaubert's Brain: Neurohumanities

Description
Consideration of ‘realist’ fiction of Gustave Flaubert from a social and cognitive neuroscience perspective. Investigation of implications of Flaubert’s illustration of cognitive, affective, and somatic experiences of his characters, and his own experience, e.g., lapses of consciousness, convulsions, heightened emotions. Use of digital resources to chart emerging discourses and patterns in documentation of neuropathology, while attempting to define unique properties of fiction as literary ‘technology’, e.g., by consideration of realist mimesis as analogous to mapping and other technologies documenting brain function/dysfunction. A preceptorial may be available for French majors/minors.

LIT249 - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject  LIT
Catalog Number  249
Title  Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia, and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

LIT249S - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject  LIT
Catalog Number  249S
Title  Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia, and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

LIT250S - Indigenous Journeys in South Asian Film and Literature

Subject  LIT
Catalog Number  250S
Title  Indigenous Journeys in South Asian Film and Literature

Description
A survey of real or imagined journeys in South Asian film and literature from the anxieties of modernity towards traces of the indigenous. Combines an interest in travel literature and road movies with inquiry into human values. Examines aesthetic representations of journeys that are made to idealize a particular past or to valorize contemporary traces of indigenous communities, while exploring the perspectives on modernity afforded by these real or imagined journeys.
LIT251 - Arab Cultures: Literature, Politics, History

Description
Explore different facets of modern and contemporary Arab cultures; memoirs, novels, prison notebooks, films, comic books, theoretical tracts, music, psychiatric case-studies, histories, and ethnographies; consider how authors depict key historical transformations taking place in the Arab world; different angles through which political questions are tackled; the negotiation between self and other.

LIT252 - Romantic Fairy Tales: Literary and Folk Fairy Tales from Grimms to Disney

Description
German fairy tales of the Romantic era, including both the 'literary fairy tales' by known authors and the 'folk fairy tales' commonly deemed children's literature. Comparisons to other fairy tale traditions, notably by Perrault and Basile, providing a broader context and perspective. Comparison to the Disney contributions elucidating our own preconceptions and prejudices. Special attention to the literary, feminist, and historical elements of the fairy tale genre. Taught in English.

LIT260S - Representing Breast Cancer: Feminist Literature, Art, and Film

Description
Analyzes representations of breast cancer in feminist literature, art, and film. Drawing on health feminism, feminist medical ethics, and disability studies, explores what those representations tell us about the intersections among gender, race, class, sexuality, and ability in both the Global North and South. Sets artistic representations of breast cancer against the hyper-sexualization of breasts in capitalism's visual cultures and the spectacles of breast cancer activism. Shows how literature, art, and film can reveal health care's material conditions as well as breast cancer's psychic complexities.

LIT265 - Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Description
What is 'virtual reality'? If something is real, isn't it also always actual, and if virtual, only almost or nearly real? What strange, hybrid no-mans-land lies midway between truth and illusion, and how can we learn to navigate inside this space? The puzzle is an old one, even if the technology we call VR is new. In this discussion-intensive course, we will read, watch, and play our way through some of the most powerful attempts to understand humanity's penchant for collective dreaming: from Plato's allegory of the cave, to the immersive spectacles of baroque theater, to the ghostly realms of gothic literature and modern film, to the invention of cyberspace and parallel universe games.
LIT265S - Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 265S

Title: Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Description
What is 'virtual reality'? If something is real, isn't it also always actual, and if virtual, only almost or nearly real? What strange, hybrid no-mans-land lies midway between truth and illusion, and how can we learn to navigate inside this space? The puzzle is an old one, even if the technology we call VR is new. In this course, we will read, watch, and play our way through some of the most powerful attempts to understand humanity's penchant for collective dreaming: from Plato's allegory of the cave, to the immersive spectacles of baroque theater, to the ghostly realms of gothic literature and modern film, to the invention of cyberspace and parallel universe games.

LIT273 - What Is Europe?

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 273

Title: What Is Europe?

Description
Exploration of the idea of Europe as a political, moral, and cultural identity. Examines the construction of such identity throughout history, ending with today's European Union, at a moment in which integration of 'Eastern' countries such as Turkey or Russia remains a hotly debated issue. Consistent attention devoted to literary, cinematic and artistic works which attempt to imagine a European Culture, as well as the evolution of aesthetics, and literary and art history.

LIT274 - Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 274

Title: Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics

Description
Investigation of defining debates on European culture and the fiction which shapes them. In collaboration with Nasher Museum. Focus on literature and the visual arts of France, Italy, Portugal, Spain. Comparative analysis of key issues, including arts of migration, multilingualism, cultural and political relations within and without Europe, development of financial systems. Major authors: Marco Polo, Khatibi, Montaigne, Montesquieu, Balzac, Calvino, Némirovsky, Semprún, Saramago. Research in museum collections on major pieces.

LIT275 - Introduction to Asian American and Diaspora Studies

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 275

Title: Introduction to Asian American and Diaspora Studies

Description
What does it mean to be Asian American? Asian American Studies is an interdisciplinary field that draws on social sciences, humanities, and the arts to explore the historical and contemporary experiences of Asian Americans in the western hemisphere. This course provides students with an introduction to this dynamic and growing field of study, taking race, gender, immigration, diaspora, class, labor, and sexuality as primary subjects of the field. The course also historicizes Asian American racialization to better understand the structural forces that have shaped Asian American lives and the ways that writers, scholars, and activists have responded to and resisted these forces.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>276S</td>
<td>Turkish History through the Novels of Orhan Pamuk</td>
<td>An introduction into Turkish history (including the Ottoman Empire) through a comparative study of the historical novels and nonfiction of Nobel Laureate Orhan Pamuk. Addresses Pamuk’s role as an intellectual-author who mediates between Islamic culture, secular modernity, the Turkish national tradition and an international canon of literature. Political implications of Sufism, cultural revolution, Orientalism, and post-colonialism. Secondary focus on representations of cosmopolitan Istanbul, political Islam and the military coup. Taught in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>278S</td>
<td>Literatures and Films of Pandemic</td>
<td>This course explores past pandemics as a way to think about how to best live through COVID-19 and prevent or minimize future pandemics. Through examining literature and film, we will analyze the psychosocial dimensions of pandemic. We will read a variety of texts including: histories, fiction (Bulgakov, Porter, Tolstoy, Colson Whitehead); short essays; and films (e.g., Contagion, Outbreak). How do science, medicine, and society interact in a time of pandemic? How do pandemics reveal social inequities, and how could we use this knowledge to decrease disparities? And why do people turn to the humanities and arts in times of pandemic?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>279S</td>
<td>Docu-Poetry: Real Life Truths Outside and Inside the Poetic Narrative</td>
<td>Investigates written and oral poetry as a mode of documentary storytelling. Engage with contemporary and historical poetry examining real-life, historical events. Investigate relationship between history, documentary, and poetry. Write poems based on research with multiple forms of archival source material and critical interpretation thereof.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>282S</td>
<td>Modernism and the Arts</td>
<td>This course places international modernism in an intermedial perspective, presenting it as a broad conversation among international artists across various art forms. In addition to reading major literary works by writers such as Baudelaire, Mallarmé, Joyce, Eliot, Kafka, Woolf, Wat, Babel, Rilke, Anand, Césaire, Lu Hsun, students will enhance their understanding of modernism through exposure to other art forms, such as painting (Matisse, Picasso, Marc, Kandinsky, Chagall, Schoenberg), sculpture (Rodin, Brancusi, Giacometti), music (Schuman, Débussy, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Berg, Gershwin), and film (Buñuel, Dalí, Eisenstein, Vertov, Carné, Godard, Ruttmann, Cavalcanti, Vigo).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>285S</td>
<td>Existentialism</td>
<td>Existentialism in philosophy and literature. Key themes will be existence, ethics, meaning of life, freedom, death, and writing. Texts may include writings by Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Heidegger, Sartre, Camus, Beauvoir, Fanon, Murdoch and others.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>286</td>
<td>German History Through Film</td>
<td>Interdisciplinary seminar at intersection of German Studies and History, taught by scholars from both disciplines. Explores ways in which films shape historical imaginations and are in themselves artifacts of history. Provides unique opportunity to learn about German past and present, and reflect on relationship between film and history.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-----------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>LIT290 - Special Topics in International Literature and Culture</td>
<td>Topics in international culture, examined through literary texts, film, and other media. Organized according to trends, topics, and genres.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>290-2</td>
<td>LIT290-2 - Special Topics in National Cinema</td>
<td>Understanding nationhood through film culture. Industrial base, reception history, and critical context for development of national cinemas. Exemplary films from a range of periods.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>290A</td>
<td>LIT290A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Literature</td>
<td>Topics differ by section.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>LIT290S - Special Topics in Literature</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>290S-1</td>
<td>LIT290S-1 - Special Topics in International Literature and Culture</td>
<td>Seminar version of Literature 290</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>290S-2</td>
<td>LIT290S-2 - Special Topics in National Cinema</td>
<td>Understanding nationhood through film culture. Industrial base, reception history, and critical context for development of national cinemas. Exemplary films from a range of periods.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>290SA</td>
<td>LIT290SA - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Literature</td>
<td>Seminar version of 290A. Topics vary by section.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>295S</td>
<td>LIT295S - Sex Work: The Politics of Sexual Labor</td>
<td>Sex work from the perspective of the labor and the purchase. Controversies over questions of gender and power, consent and coercion, sexual practices and labor contracts, trafficking and migration. Cultural representations of sex workers and their clients. Legal regimes from abolition to regulation and decriminalization.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Duke University
LIT298S - Revealing Histories: Polish Cinema

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 298S
Title: Revealing Histories: Polish Cinema

Description: Explores the films of four famous Polish directors—Andrzej Wajda, Andrzej Munk, Krzysztof Kieślowski, and Agnieszka Holland—whose artistic approaches and ethical/political themes greatly influenced Polish and European cinema as well as Polish politics. Through viewing their movies and consulting biographical, historical, and critical materials, we’ll examine how these directors use film to reconstruct history, challenge politically or religiously orthodox myths, and suggest new ways of valuing the complexity and spiritual capacities of the individual. All texts in English translation. All films screened with subtitles.

LIT301S - Theory Today

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 301S
Title: Theory Today

Description: This course is an introduction to fundamental concepts of contemporary critical theory, broadly conceived. Readings will include key texts from the past 50 years in fields including gender and sexuality studies, literary and media studies, critical race studies, Marxism, postcolonial studies, and political theory. The course will involve close reading of difficult texts with the goal of obtaining facility with the concepts and modes of argumentations of contemporary theory.

LIT302 - Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 302
Title: Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes

Description: Tracks digital life and creative expression of groups online in a close study of images, captions and hyperlinked tags. Examines rituals, symbols and cultural patterns that structure everyday life of digital tribes online and investigates impact of digital and social media (Twitter, Instagram Facebook, Periscope) on the constitution of communities online and offline. Studying varied array of digital tribes: tribes of the deaf, of oil rig workers, of Hindu worshippers, of prison wives and laptop entrepreneurs, students learn about underlying myths, rituals, and cultural symbols that connect groups of people online.

LIT302S - Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 302S
Title: Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes

Description: Tracks digital life and creative expression of groups online in a close study of images, captions and hyperlinked tags. Examines rituals, symbols and cultural patterns that structure everyday life of digital tribes online and investigates impact of digital and social media (Twitter, Instagram Facebook, Periscope) on the constitution of communities online and offline. Studying varied array of digital tribes: tribes of the deaf, of oil rig workers, of Hindu worshippers, of prison wives and laptop entrepreneurs, students learn about underlying myths, rituals, and cultural symbols that connect groups of people online.
LIT303S - Fiction/Reality/Autofiction: The Existential Turn in Contemporary Literature

Description
Inspired by Marcel Proust and W. G. Sebald, and working alongside Annie Ernaux, contemporary writers such as Karl Ove Knausgård, Rachel Cusk, Jenny Offill, and Teju Cole undermine traditional divides between fiction, memoir, and essay-writing, and challenge our understanding of what a novel is. Some critics have named this new trend 'autofiction.' Is that a good label? Does the new 'reality hunger' entail new ideas about subjectivity and identity? How does it relate to realism, and modernism. What is 'existential' about it? We will read contemporary literature from different countries alongside theories of language and reality, realism, modernism, the novel, and reading.

LIT304S - Introduction to Digital Culture: Media Theory, Politics, Aesthetics

Description
What is digital culture today? In the first two decades of the 00s, digital culture has become more directly related to the emergence of social media platforms (from Youtube to Instagram, from Snapchat to Tiktok). Digital culture is now shaped by artificial intelligence. We make new friends through dating apps and by becoming followers. We know that biases of race, class, gender and sexuality are embedded in everyday search algorithms. This course welcomes students to participate in these emerging discussions and experiment with new ideas that are shaping digital culture today.

LIT306S - Reading Literature in French

Description
What is literature? Why read literature today? And how do we talk about what we read? This seminar offers an initiation to literature in French from the Enlightenment to the digital age. It introduces a wide range of critical and theoretical tools to study literature and its uses, and aims at developing writing and argumentation across a range of literary genres (theater, essay, novel, poetry...). This seminar explores how most urgent political and philosophical issues of the ages can be read through and unraveled within literary texts. Authors studied may include Montesquieu, Diderot, Balzac, Baudelaire, Flaubert, Sartre, Césaire, Michaux, Duras, Fanon, Perec, and Modiano.

LIT308S - Manger: Foodways and Food Systems

Description
This course seeks to deepen our understanding of foodways and food systems, and of the roles that nourishment and nourishers play in our lives, while regenerating connections with food practices and food creators through the study of global French narratives, scholarships on foodways and foodscapes, and hands-on, in-person experiences with nourishers in our local community. A strong emphasis on experiential learning, including community engagement in systems of food access and production as well as work with chefs and farmers, and the study of French-language narrative, culinary, scholarly, journalistic writing, and other cultural documents.
LIT314 - Introduction to Critical Theory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>314</td>
<td>Introduction to Critical Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course is an introduction to fundamental texts and concepts in the history of critical theory. We will be expanding the scope of our examination well beyond the remit of the Frankfurt School, to which the term 'critical theory' is often linked and look at key texts in the history of political philosophy, social theory, linguistics and language philosophy, gender studies, critical race theory, and postcolonialism. All our readings will be primary literature from what might be dubbed a 'critical theory cannon' and is intended to introduce students in the humanities and qualitative social sciences to essential and foundational materials.

LIT316S - Film Theory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>316S</td>
<td>Film Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Recent critical developments in Marxist aesthetics, structuralism, semiotics of the image, feminist film theory, history and theory of film technology. Both experimental and Hollywood narrative films.

LIT317S - Media Theory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>317S</td>
<td>Media Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduction to the material and technical infrastructure that informs and constrains the production and dissemination of knowledge. Exploration of cultural impact of technical media from writing to the internet. Combines historical and theoretical discussion with hands-on experimentation with various media, including the codex book, phonography and sound registration technology, photography, cinematography, video, virtual reality, digital computation, and the internet.

LIT318S - American Independent Cinema

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>318S</td>
<td>American Independent Cinema</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examination of the emergence, establishment, and transformations of American indie film. Addresses main genres, key films and prominent directors by looking at the aesthetic characteristics of indie films, as well as the social and institutional contexts (primarily its relationship to Hollywood cinema) that led to the creation and important impact of this filmmaking practice. Topics include Midnight Movies of the 70s, New American Cinema, Trash Cinema, Art Cinema, Black Indie Cinema, New Queer Cinema, Generation X, Smart Cinema, Neo Noir, and the Pulp Fiction success story.

LIT319S - Expressing Immigrant Experience: The Russians

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>319S</td>
<td>Expressing Immigrant Experience: The Russians</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Some of the world's greatest artistic works have emerged from the creator’s experience of crossing boundaries—linguistic, geographic, cultural, and social/psychological. This course examines the particular case of Russia's emigre experience in the English-speaking world as recorded in literature and the other creative arts.

LIT320S - Social Movements and Social Media

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>320S</td>
<td>Social Movements and Social Media</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines uses and abuses of social media by social movements. Interested in a broader historical study of mediating technologies and oppositional public sphere, course considers the uses of cameras, phones, cassette players, radio, and social media platforms, but also books, bodies, art, fashion, and automobiles as oppositional technologies. Studies political and ethical uses of technologies in social unrest. Investigates impact of technologies on social movements and social transformations in contemporary history. Student driven case studies will highlight contemporary engagement with social media by networked social movements.
LIT321 - Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 321
Title: Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

Description:
Sampling & remixing of previous works is a major mode of contemporary cultural production cutting across media and cultural practices. This course analyzes its genealogy, technological underpinnings, legal presuppositions and aesthetic consequences. Tensions between copy and copyright, between claims to originality and mechanical reproduction characterize this contemporary regime, now deployed globally. Its cultural implications will be distinguished from related modes of making art and meaning (imitation, citation, collage, montage...) and tracked through various objects: popular and avant-garde cinema; videogames, ready-mades and Pop Art; Hip-Hop and Electro; literature and D.J culture.

LIT325S - Understanding Mediation

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 325S
Title: Understanding Mediation

Description:
Examines experience as always mediated. How does text mediate expression, or language mediate subjectivity? How do images mediate power, or sounds mediate resistance? How does computation mediate agency, or networks mediate thought? But also, how do nations mediate globalization, or oil mediate energy? And how do bodies mediate liveness, or the environment mediate history? Moves from particular media forms and examples (language, literature, the fine and performing arts, audiovisual media, computational media) to focus on key theoretical concepts and debates of critical theory from twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Crosses national boundaries to understand mediation from global perspective.

LIT328S - Literary Islam

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 328S
Title: Literary Islam

Description:
The Quran as scripture; mystical poetry; stories of the early community; literary cultures in the early community; modern reinterpretations of Islamic sources; Islamist literature; modern Islamic poetry, novels, plays, and stories.

LIT329S - Undocumented America in Literature

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 329S
Title: Undocumented America in Literature

Description:
This seminar explores the representation of lived experiences, trajectories, and current events vis-à-vis the figure of the undocumented migrant, in contemporary American literature. Testimonial accounts, journalism chronicles, memoirs, poetry, cinematic works, and critical scholarship inform and propel our study of the experience of (‘illegal’) migrant movement—departure, journey, and arrival—as portrayed in Latino and Latina literature. We will question status designations such as ‘illegal,’ ‘undocumented,’ and ‘unauthorized,’ ‘legitimacy’ and recognition; the inadmissible and the construction of ‘suspect’ bodies; social participation in US society.
LIT332S - Social Movements in Age of Globalization

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 332S
Title: Social Movements in Age of Globalization

Description:
Study of primary models and theories of social movements developed in fields of Sociology and Political Science. Readings provide vocabulary and conceptual framework for understanding how people organize, how social movements use media, role of leadership, meaning of success, and several other basic issues. Focus on social movements of last few decades. Students will conduct group projects on a selected contemporary social movement. Contemporary social movements considered include Occupy, 15M movement in Spain, Gezi Park encampment in Turkey, urban protests in Brazil, and Arab Spring uprisings.

LIT333S - Bad Behavior

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 333S
Title: Bad Behavior

Description:
What does it mean to behave badly? How is ‘bad behavior’ distinguished from actions that are otherwise described as evil or criminal? This course addresses these questions by examining ideas of deviance, wrongdoing, and misconduct in the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first centuries—that is, modern behavioral categories that are considered to be aberrant without necessarily being strictly defined as transgressions of the law. We will consider how bad behavior concerns the disruption of implicit social norms rather than the explicit violation of legal or moral codes.

LIT336 - Introduction to US Latino/a Literature

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 336
Title: Introduction to US Latino/a Literature

Description:
Survey of US Latino/a Literature from 1960s to present. Examines formation of a Latino/a literary canon, its heterogeneous voices and imaginations, thematic strands, historical and political contexts, theoretical approaches, establishing critical overview of the range of nationalities, communities, identifications, and practices falling under the Latino/a designation. Explores how Latina and Latino identities have been envisioned and manifested since the Civil Rights Movement, and how Latina- or Latino-specific cultural production continues in dialogue with US multiracial landscape. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 336A. In English; does not satisfy Trinity FL requirement.

LIT336A - Introduction to LatinX Literature

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 336A
Title: Introduction to LatinX Literature

Description:
An introduction to contemporary LatinX literary production, alongside its heterogeneous voices and creative imaginations. The formation of a Latino/a/X literary canon, its thematic strands, cultural connections, historical and political contexts, theoretical approaches, and circulation in the U.S. world and beyond, exploring the makings of ‘the culture of prestige’—attending to considerations like what produces cultural capital, the marketplace of prizes, and visibility and artistic achievement. A critical and resourceful overview of the range of nationalities, communities, locations, identifications, and practices. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 336. Taught at Duke in Madrid.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>337</td>
<td>America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema</td>
<td>This course explores the portrayals of America, especially the United States, from authors and directors who are not American and who often have never even seen America. We will read short stories, novels, and graphic novels and watch films. What do these works from other parts of the world have to say about dreams, race, love, immigration, and space in America? We will discuss imaginary Americas in order to understand these important works within their contexts, to examine how foreign representations of America have contributed to our idea of America, and to consider what imagined Americas suggest about us here in North Carolina.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>337S</td>
<td>Don Quixote for Beginners</td>
<td>This course introduces students to the overlapping realities and worlds that the novel encompasses to explore, through Don Quixote's knightly ambitions of justice, love, and freedom, the similarities, and differences we see between ourselves and others, in a changing world where chivalry ideals, popular culture, history, and uprooted lives, and early capitalism dialogue to each other. Multiple characters raise questions about escapism, social justice, borders, and exile linking the present and the past.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>339</td>
<td>El cine político en América Latina</td>
<td>Examines question of political cinema through Latin American works from 1960s to present, including examples from 'New Latin American Cinema', with special focus on Brazil and Cuba. Emblematic films, manifestos and critical texts will define and contextualize alternate conceptions of 'political' cinema. Examination of modes of production and distribution of 'guerrilla' films; politics of film language inspiring experimentation of avant-garde aesthetics in fictional and documentary works; relationship between cinema and political memory; politics of gender, race, and sexual orientation; representations of social problems, including contemporary blockbuster thrillers. Conducted in Spanish.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>340S</td>
<td>Reading Like a Queer</td>
<td>Seminar introduces students to theory and practice of reading in Queer Studies through a variety of novels, films, and cultural criticism. Designed for mid level undergraduates who have some familiarity with literary studies and/or queer theory, but does not require prerequisites.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIT341S - Perspectives on the Amazon

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 341S
Title: Perspectives on the Amazon

Description:
The Amazon has been a source of awe to outsiders at least since the first Europeans navigated the Amazon River in 1542. While early explorers searched the forest for a mythic city of gold, contemporary travelers, scientists, and concerned citizens look to the Amazon as the key to our endangered future. Focusing on a variety of textual and visual representations, we will deal with major themes in the history of the Amazon and consider the ways in which this vast and widely depicted region eludes representation, holding entirely different and contending meanings to distinct socio-cultural groups. Our sources include works by indigenous thinkers and cultural producers.

LIT342A - Dante and the Art of Hell

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 342A
Title: Dante and the Art of Hell

Description:
Dante’s Divine Comedy, has inspired medieval illuminations, Renaissance frescoes, Surrealist paintings, and modern sculptures. This course explores this remarkable visual history to interpret Dante’s poem. What new features of Dante’s world do these visual adaptations bring into focus? Visiting sites throughout Italy, we will also aim to reconstruct Dante’s visual and built environment to understand what is distinctive about his vision. Taught in English. Offered through Duke in Venice and Duke in Bologna programs.

LIT343 - African Americans, Mass Incarceration and Citizenship

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 343
Title: African Americans, Mass Incarceration and Citizenship

Description:
Explores in depth the presence of African Americans within the phenomenon of U.S. mass incarceration and its implications for notions of citizenship. Surveys the history of prison build-up resulting from legislation and policy over the past forty years including the governmental discussions of drug policy and welfare reform that disproportionately affected African Americans. Course will explore definitions of citizenship and the means by which African American citizens were and are both included in and excluded from participation in the movement toward mass incarceration as part of their changing position in the U.S. polity.

LIT344 - Poetics of Murder

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 344
Title: Poetics of Murder

Description:
The literature and film of crime and detection in the American, British, and German context. An examination of our fascination with stories about violence and death, as well as the connections between modern social history and narrative form. Includes interpretations of central works in crime fiction history: stories by Poe and Schiller, detective novels by Agatha Christie and Raymond Chandler, the thrillers of Fritz Lang, and postmodern tales by Eco, Auster, and Süskind. Taught in English.

LIT350 - Brains, Everywhere

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 350
Title: Brains, Everywhere

Description:
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some as 'neurocultures' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this course we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'

LIT350S - Brains, Everywhere

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 350S
Title: Brains, Everywhere

Description:
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some as a 'neuro-revolution' that has given rise to a 'neuro-society,' 'neurocultures,' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this seminar we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>351</td>
<td>Contemporary Novel</td>
<td>Major trends in fiction since 1950: modernism/postmodernism, ethnicity and ethnic identity, feminism, postcoloniality, genre-bending, and more. Readings from the United States and from Great Britain, India, Canada, South Africa, and the Caribbean. Satisfies Area III for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>351S</td>
<td>Contemporary Novel</td>
<td>Seminar version of English 377.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>353S</td>
<td>Asian American Literature</td>
<td>The course examines major works of Asian American literature from the nineteenth century to the present. It surveys how Asian American authors of novels, short stories, and poetry have negotiated the historical forces that have shaped Asian American experiences over the past century.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>354S</td>
<td>Intro to Psychoanalytic Theory</td>
<td>In this seminar we will explore psychoanalytic theory by focusing on specific topics such as hysteria, perversion, sexuality, repression, narcissism, the unconscious, and the id/ego/superego. Throughout the semester, we will examine the relationship in psychoanalysis between theory and practice as well as entertain the possibility that the theories based on clinical practice might have some applicability for grappling with questions concerning power, politics, conceived in a global context, and what philosopher Michel Foucault referred to in his later work as the ‘care of the self.’</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>355S</td>
<td>Black Feminism and Fashion</td>
<td>Black feminist perspectives on clothing and fashion. Explores traditions in which Black artists and writers make clothing a primary theme. Presenting photographic, painted, and literary portrayals by and of Black people across the diaspora, and bringing together the study of visual culture, material culture, and literary studies, reveals fashion and clothing as aesthetic practices of everyday life that defy the objectifying effects of racism and sexism. Engages with scholarship that explores slavery’s and colonialism’s impact on gender and sexuality and examines how artists and writers work within and against those impacts to document the self-fashioning in Black cultural life.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIT356S - Michel Foucault and Theories of Power

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 356S
Title: Michel Foucault and Theories of Power

Description: This seminar is aimed at understanding Michel Foucault's innovative theories of how political and social power functions and is organized. Foucault reoriented the understanding of power from a centralized, state-centered attribute to a series of practices distributed in different social institutions. We will approach his theoretical propositions through his writings on the history of the prison and the history of sexuality, along with his journalistic accounts of the revolutionary movement in Iran.

LIT361 - Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 361
Title: Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Description: Examination of the Apple Corporation's development from a Silicon Valley garage operation to a company with unprecedented global reach; the Cult of Steve Jobs, the Apple Launch and use the design and development of the Apple Store; labor and environmental struggles over Apple supply chain and production processes, from cobalt mining in Africa to Foxconn factories in China; migrant worker suicide and poetry as forms of protest in China; e-waste villages and digital rubbish; everyday uses of Apple technology and the ethics of consuming Apple products.

LIT361S - Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 361S
Title: Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Description: Examination of the Apple Corporation's development from a Silicon Valley garage operation to a company with unprecedented global reach; the Cult of Steve Jobs, the Apple Launch and use the design and development of the Apple Store; labor and environmental struggles over Apple supply chain and production processes, from cobalt mining in Africa to Foxconn factories in China; migrant worker suicide and poetry as forms of protest in China; e-waste villages and digital rubbish; everyday uses of Apple technology and the ethics of consuming Apple products.

LIT362D - What Is Beauty?

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 362D
Title: What Is Beauty?

Description: Exploration of Western theories of beauty from Plato to the present. What do we mean when we call something beautiful? Does beauty belong to an object or an observer's mind? Is art or nature the best example of beauty? The class also examines the intertwining of modern theories of beauty with theories of race; analyzes the gender and power dynamics of theories of beauty; and asks about the relationship of aesthetics to society, politics, and biology. Readings include authors such as Plato, Burke, G.E. Lessing, Kant, Schiller, Charles Darwin, George Eliot, Nietzsche, W.E.B. DuBois, Arthur Danto, Elaine Scarry, Alice Walker, and Semir Zeki. Taught in English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>366S</td>
<td>Art and Activism: Manifestos, Revolutions, and the Avant-gardes</td>
<td>Discussion-based seminar and survey of the literature of manifestos and their role in revolutionary and avant-garde traditions of thought from the mid-19th century to the present. Topics covered include: connections between literary forms and political activism; history of modern revolutionary movements and their impacts on intellectual and artistic production; contemporary developments in manifesto writing in a global context. Sample movements include Communism, Surrealism, Anti-Fascism, Black Power, Feminism, Environmentalism. Final project: students undertake an independent research project and write their own manifestos on a topic of their choosing. Taught entirely in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>369</td>
<td>Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust</td>
<td>The ways in which official German culture comes to terms with its Nazi past. Background reading in history and politics; primary focus on films, dramas, novels, and poetry, as well as public memorials, monuments, and museums. Authors treated include: Wolfgang Borchert, Rolf Hochhuth, Peter Weiss, Ruth Klüger. Taught in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>370S</td>
<td>Russian Fiction and Film</td>
<td>Russia's turbulent history recounted through its literature and film. Short works by Russia's most famous authors (Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Chekhov) as well as the writings of lesser-known, but equally important writers (Teffi, Vladimov); comparison of these written works with films made of the stories. Exploration of the main trends of Russian culture through its literature and film; focus on the differences between film and written narratives.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>373S</td>
<td>Recycled Cinema</td>
<td>Found footage filmmaking, cinematic appropriation, the use of archival materials in documentaries, and current day internet mashups. Covering early cinema, experimental and documentary cinema, television, and the internet. Key emphasis on practice based assignments with a concurrent focus on the historical impact of the field from seminal moments to the contemporary moment through films and readings on the subject. Prerequisite: 100-level or above Visual Arts course, or permission of instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIT374S - Masculinities & Global Politics

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 374S
Title: Masculinities & Global Politics

Description:
The course uses readings and films to examine masculinities historically and transnationally, including a unit on masculinities in US politics; draws from history, sociology, feminist geography, popular culture studies, Black studies, and sexuality and queer studies; interactive lectures and guest scholars. Each student is guided to complete an interview-based research project with three male-identified persons of multiple generations which serves in lieu of a final exam.

LIT378 - Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 378
Title: Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Description:
An opportunity to study with the Somali-Italian author Igiaba Scego, this English-language course explores representations of race, class & families in contemporary fiction. The course has three parts: 1) Analysis of Scego's work, which is crucial to debates on migration, decolonization, racism, feminism & translation; 2) read Italian and Brazilian authors to examine the intersection of color and class that cross Italy & Brazil from the colonial period to today, including the journeys and interactions between parents, siblings; 3) discussion of Scego's just-translated 'The Color Line,' which moves between the U.S., Italy, and Somalia, & final projects.

LIT379S - The Detective Novel

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 379S
Title: The Detective Novel

Description:
What is a detective novel, and how does it 'work'? By looking at synchronic and diachronic transformations of the genre—from British Sherlock Holmes to the South African 'noir-fantastic'—the course investigates the structure of literary genres and their adaptability to different social, cultural, and civilizational contexts.

LIT380 - Marxism and Society

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 380
Title: Marxism and Society

Description:
Introduction to Marx's core concepts, such as alienation, commodity, and revolution. Includes examination of Marx's own major historical & political analyses, his economic texts, and his philosophical writings. Students also gain familiarity with the role of Marxist thought in different fields and disciplines, including feminist theory, anthropology, history, political science, and literary studies.

LIT381S - Political Cinema in Latin America

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 381S
Title: Political Cinema in Latin America

Description:
What counts as 'political cinema'? What are the possible relations between cinema and politics, particularly in Latin America? How can cinema not only comment on political issues but also perform politics through practices of production and aesthetic choices that are germane to film as a cultural form? This course explores these and related questions through a survey of landmark Latin American works from the mid-twentieth century to the present. Taught in Spanish.

LIT382S - Fictions That Mark the Moment

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 382S
Title: Fictions That Mark the Moment

Description:
Course is an engagement with novels from spectacular moments of history, an imagination of the future, a response to narrative conventions of realism and thinking with and against the grain of social understandings. Look at examples of historical, speculative, postcolonial, experimental, science, magical realist fictions and theoretical work. Will consider the means by which narratives produce or rely on ethical beliefs and arguments within the specifics of their world-making as well as the ethical problems presented by relations of power within the particular histories of the texts' various moments.
LIT383S - Breakdown: Madness, Self, Fiction

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
383S

Title
Breakdown: Madness, Self, Fiction

Description
Study of madness, mental illness, and psychological distress as experienced and accounted for from literary and philosophical perspectives. How should an individual’s declaration of spiritual health or illness be understood? What critical tools can literature bring to the study of the soul’s suffering? Focus on testimonies of mental strife in a transnational/historical frame. Literary selections range from romanticism and realism to high modernism and contemporary neurofiction.

LIT385 - Mafia at the Movies

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
385

Title
Mafia at the Movies

Description
A study of the mafia, and by extension, of Italy’s ‘dark heart,’ in its historical, social, economic, cultural, and political dimensions, as represented in a wide range of Italian and American films and television productions, from documentary to comedy. Course will also consider possibilities and limits inherent to cinema in representing, and influencing cultural and social realities. Taught in English, Italian majors and minors should inquire with the professor about the possibility of concurrently enrolling in a tutorial for credit towards the language requirement for the major or minor.

LIT386S - Mapping Jewish Modernism

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
386S

Title
Mapping Jewish Modernism

Description
Students research Jewish modernism through questions of geography and movement, pointing to the many places where modern Jewish art has been created and the experiences of migration, exile, diaspora, and resettlement that shaped this work. We discuss the varieties of ways that different art forms, including literature, theater, music, art, film, architecture, and dance, can be mapped. We analyze mapping in terms of the movements of people (artists, authors, and directors), of objects (paintings, literature, performances, and films), and within the works themselves. Work with the Rubenstein Library will lead to projects that contribute to an exhibit in Perkins Library and a digital site.

LIT387 - Moral Panics, Spectacle, and Everyday Life: Social Anxieties and Minorities

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
387

Title
Moral Panics, Spectacle, and Everyday Life: Social Anxieties and Minorities

Description
Moral panic refers to the way a social order becomes hyper aware of activities of groups, objects, or circumstances posing a menace to accepted values. Course explores how everyday life is managed, intensified, and altered by moral panics’ spectacle. Sexual deviance, drugs, popular culture, disease, witch hunts, gender fears, etc., are not only creations of pre-existing fears, they make various kinds of sense in specific moments. They are how people recognize themselves and new challenges to that self. From those challenges they try to police others; they are public consensus-building events and the means by which we identity our fears and desires.

LIT390 - Special Topics in Literature

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number 390

Title
Special Topics in Literature

Description
Topics vary by semester.

LIT390-7 - Special Topics in the Study of Literature in Relation to Other Disciplines

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number 390-7

Title
Special Topics in the Study of Literature in Relation to Other Disciplines

Description
Lecture version of Literature 390S-7.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390A-13</td>
<td>LIT390A-13 - Special Topics in World</td>
<td>Studies in literature and culture in a national or comparatist mode; offered</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Literature and Culture</td>
<td>only in a Duke study abroad program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>LIT390S - Special Topics in Literature</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-1</td>
<td>LIT390S-1 - Special Topics in Literary</td>
<td>Studies in one or more literary genres or subgenres, such as the novel, drama,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Genres</td>
<td>poetry, or the documentary novel, epic poetry, love lyrics, modernist drama,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and so on. Focus on questions of genre and form, but other themes discussed</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>may vary widely.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-10</td>
<td>LIT390S-10 - Special Topics in Literature</td>
<td>Seminar version of Literature 390-10.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and National Cultures, Ethnicity, Race</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-12</td>
<td>LIT390S-12 - Topics in Psychoanalytic</td>
<td>In this seminar we will read key works in psychoanalytic theory by its inventor,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Theory and Criticism</td>
<td>Sigmund Freud such as Three Essays on a Theory of Sexuality, Interpretation of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Dreams, Dora: An Analysis of a Case of Hysteria, and The Ego and the Id. We'll</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>also read the work of important psychoanalytic theorists, commentators, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>historians that include Adam Phillips, Eli Zaretsky, Elisabeth Roudinesco, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Alenka Zupancic. We will explore psychoanalytic theory by focusing on specific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>topics such as hysteria, perversion, sexuality, repression, the unconscious,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and the id/ego/superego.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>American Literature and Culture</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course Code</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>------------------------------------------</td>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in Literary Movements</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-3</td>
<td>Special Topics in Individual Authors</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-4</td>
<td>Special Topics in Film</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-5</td>
<td>Selected Topics in Feminist Studies</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-6</td>
<td>Special Topics in Gender and Sexuality</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-7</td>
<td>Special Topics in the Study of Literature in Relation to Other Disciplines</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-8</td>
<td>Special Topics in Culture and the Arts</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT390S-9</td>
<td>Special Topics in Science and Culture</td>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390S-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>390SA</td>
<td>Special Topics in Literature</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Non-research directed study on a previously-approved topic under the direction of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>409D</td>
<td>Black (In) Translation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Examines the meanings of Blackness as it moves through the Atlantic world from 18th century to present. Readings explore theories of race and representation, and ways that translation conveys, shapes, and disrupts ideas about Blackness as cultural identity, lived experience, political claim. Course materials include works of literature, history, anthropology, and film. Taught in English, though, students enrolled under foreign language discussion sections will do reading, writing, research, and discussion in the language, requiring 2 years of foreign language study for language credit for the major or minor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>410S</td>
<td>Contemporary French Fiction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Novels published in France during the past decade. Fashions, fads, new trends, succès de scandale, and prize winners.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIT</td>
<td>412S</td>
<td>Cultures of New Media</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Anthropological look at 'new media' - their varied forms and histories, how they are used and understood, and their meanings and effects within different communities of users. Charts a number of technologies deemed 'new' in their day and the social meanings and communities that such technologies generated. Explores new media in domains of art and literature, as well as issues of race, gender, sexuality and how other indices of difference come to bear on new media and its use. Grounded in anthropology, readings will also draw on media studies, visual studies, cultural studies and critical theory, queer and gender theory, history and geography.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIT416S - Strange Masterpieces: Major Authors in French and Francophone Modernity

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
416S

Title
Strange Masterpieces: Major Authors in French and Francophone Modernity

Description
Introduction to the work of major authors from the eighteenth through twentieth centuries in the French language tradition. Topics include literary movements and their relationships to political, economic, or other social contexts; authorial personae and roles; print culture and its relation to nations, diasporas, and other social collectivities; narratology; and gender and literature.

LIT418S - Art & Democracy: Madrid/Barcelona/Valencia/Bilbao

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
418S

Title
Art & Democracy: Madrid/Barcelona/Valencia/Bilbao

Description
Beyond the poster, mural and graffiti, was there a painterly art in the pre-digital age that found a fitting place on the street and the square, the citizen venues where direct democracy and the people’s rights first emerged? Is there an ethically responsive and socially responsible praxis which may yield visual works of enduring value without sacrificing the humanistic imperative of communicability? Since the 1950s such questions concerned Spanish artists in all styles (Tapies, Genoves, Ibarrola, Equipo Cronica). Like Goya before them, these painters tried to help their society transition from political tyranny to more inclusive forms of participation. Prerequisite: Advanced reading knowledge of Spanish.

LIT420 - Biography, Life Writing, Autofiction

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number 420

Title
Biography, Life Writing, Autofiction

Description
History and art of the life story, examining biography as it drives research and contemporary writing. From Montaigne to Rousseau, the biopic to the lives of troubadours, we will study modes, media and social functions: portrait, caricature, meditation, fragments, selfies. The subjects: famous or anonymous people; those who are not human, landscapes, the sea—even inanimate objects. The accounts of radical change or metamorphosis, personal epiphanies, self-conscious reflection. The aims of depicting lives as they unfold. Texts include Foucault, Augustine, Flora Tristan, Pascal, Ferraoun. Critical readings will be coupled with creative work culminating in a research project around your life.

LIT420A - Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
420A

Title
Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Description
An overview of current Spanish and Transatlantic poetry, with special attention to poetics (i.e. how poetry thinks the world while it thinks itself). Following critical interventions of authors like Gertrude Stein or Octavio Paz, and poems and reflections of contemporary authors like Antonio Gamoneda, Olvido García Valdés, or Eduardo Milán, course considers theoretical issues such as subjectivity, poetry’s relation to thought, its formal, or the question about reality. Also explores the possibilities of language to serve as a powerful tool of resistance and memory. Students will have the opportunity to meet and converse with some of these poets. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.
LIT421 - Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number 421

Title
Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Description
An overview of current Spanish and Transatlantic poetry, with special attention to poetics (i.e. how poetry thinks the world while it thinks itself). Following critical interventions of authors like Gertrude Stein or Octavio Paz, and poems and reflections of contemporary authors like Antonio Gamoneda, Olvido García Valdés, or Eduardo Milán, course considers theoretical issues such as subjectivity, poetry’s relation to thought, its formal, or the question about reality. Also explores the possibilities of language to serve as a powerful tool of resistance and memory. Students will have the opportunity to meet and converse with some of these poets.

LIT426S - France-Asia: Cultural Transfers and Translations in a Globalized Context

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
426S

Title
France-Asia: Cultural Transfers and Translations in a Globalized Context

Description
This class explores the dynamic contemporary Franco-Asian dialogue with a specific focus on China, Japan, Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. Seeking to go beyond the East-West divide, the seminar investigates the current stakes of this dialogue, given its growing complexity after 1945. It examines the postcolonial legacy of France's occupation of Indochina, and how East Asia has also often been viewed as an 'Other,' serving to crystallize French anxieties over political and cultural power. It uses an interdisciplinary perspective encompassing novels, cinema, dance, visual arts, and critical theory to trace a web of exchanges in a globalized context. Taught in French.

LIT427S - Banlieues and Peripheries in French Contemporary Literature and Cinema

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
427S

Title
Banlieues and Peripheries in French Contemporary Literature and Cinema

Description
This seminar explores figurations of banlieues and peripheries in contemporary French literature and cinema, and how they are inherently intertwined with a deep renewal of realist aesthetics. We will study the recent tendency to approach margins as metonymic and conflicted geopolitical configurations, articulating issues of gender, class and race. We will examine a constellation of recent films and narratives that can be anticipatory and expressive of the French social discontent in all its complexity, from the banlieues riots to the yellow vest movement.

LIT428S - Reading Contemporary Literature in French for the 'Choix Goncourt' Prize

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
428S

Title
Reading Contemporary Literature in French for the 'Choix Goncourt' Prize

Description
Why read literature today? And how do we talk about what we read? This seminar offers a unique opportunity to participate in the Choix Goncourt Prize in the U.S, and learn how to be a literary critic. Students will engage in dialogue with contemporary authors, acquire theoretical and critical literary tools, and learn the best practices of being part of a selecting literary committee. It is intended for those who want to deepen their knowledge of literature and culture, sharpen their critical spirit, and improve their skills in reading and writing French. One student will be designated as delegate and travel to NYC to attend the Prize ceremony at the Albertine bookshop. Taught in French.
LIT430 - Gender and the Law
Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 430
Title: Gender and the Law
Description: Examination of issues at the intersection of gender and law through a number of different theoretical lenses. Analyzes policy problems with gender implications from the perspective of formal equality, substantive equality, nonsubordination theory, different voice theory, autonomy, and various poststructural critiques. Engages theory at the level of concrete, easily accessible ethical and policy issues, including such topics as employment equality, pregnancy, domestic violence, rape, reproductive rights, sexual orientation and sexual identity discrimination, family equality, sexual harassment, pornography, education equality, affirmative action, and the justice system.

LIT438S - Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction
Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 438S
Title: Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction
Description: Course examines global Science Fiction genres in literature, film, and social media as case studies to understand broad historical and social formations of Otherness, the Alien, Citizenship, (Im)migration. Studies racial assumptions in popular culture, domestic and international law, discourse of the human and human rights, science and technology industries, and other disciplines. Explores interdisciplinary intersections of race, gender, sexuality, class, and geopolitical divisions and interactions in Asian/American Studies and Postcolonial Studies from the past to the present.

LIT439 - Queer China
Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 439
Title: Queer China
Description: Examines queer discourses, cultures, and social formations in China, Greater China, and the global Chinese diaspora from the late imperial period to the present. Course will focus on cultural representations, particularly literary and cinematic, but will also consider a wide array of historical, anthropological, sociological, and theoretical materials.

LIT442S - Jorge Luis Borges and Literary Representation in the Contemporary World
Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 442S
Title: Jorge Luis Borges and Literary Representation in the Contemporary World
Description: This course examines the literary works by Argentinean author Jorge Luis Borges, considered one of the most important and influential writers of the 20th century. While early interpretations of Borges’ work emphasized its aestheticism and the philosophical nature of his literary practice, more recent critics focus on its dialogue with a tradition of ethical and political thought dealing with issues of justice and the law, political representation and theology. We will read major works by Borges, as well as other major literary works from Argentina, representative works from 'high modernism', among others. Prerequisite: Spanish 333 or above, or instructor consent.
LIT450 - Foucault in Slow Motion

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number 450

Title
Foucault in Slow Motion

Description
Michel Foucault's work has been a powerful influence shaping debates in the humanities and social sciences around the world. Intensive study of key aspects of his arguments, including history, discourse, repression, the will to knowledge, visibility, soul production, biopolitics, and the socioeconomics of governance. Will focus on his major books, select essays and interviews, as well as articles by some of his interlocutors. 'Slow motion' is intended here as a methodological emphasis, highlighting both the deliberateness of this course's approach and the intimate ways in which Foucault's thinking partakes of the historically changing aesthetics and politics of seeing as well as of speaking.

LIT450S - Foucault in Slow Motion

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
450S

Title
Foucault in Slow Motion

Description
Michel Foucault's work has been a powerful influence shaping debates in the humanities and social sciences around the world. Intensive study of key aspects of his arguments, including history, discourse, repression, the will to knowledge, visibility, soul production, biopolitics, and the socioeconomics of governance. Will focus on his major books, select essays and interviews, as well as articles by some of his interlocutors. 'Slow motion' is intended here as a methodological emphasis, highlighting both the deliberateness of this course's approach and the intimate ways in which Foucault's thinking partakes of the historically changing aesthetics and politics of seeing as well as of speaking.

LIT460S - Weil, Beauvoir, Murdoch: Three Women Philosophers in Mid-Twentieth Century Europe

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
460S

Title
Weil, Beauvoir, Murdoch: Three Women Philosophers in Mid-Twentieth Century Europe

Description
Simone Weil (1909-44), Simone de Beauvoir (1908-86), and Iris Murdoch (1919-99) are towering figures in the history of European philosophy. Yet they have all, in different ways, become somewhat marginal to the philosophical mainstream. All three wrote on ethics. Weil wrote on labor, society, affliction, and grace. Beauvoir wrote novels, memoirs, and The Second Sex, a groundbreaking feminist analysis of women's situation. Inspired by Weil, Murdoch wrote about attention and the good and became one of the UKs leading novelists. The course will introduce students to their writing across genres, and situate their work about their respective national traditions.

LIT475S - Queer Theory

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
475S

Title
Queer Theory

Description
A seminar designed specifically for advanced study in sexuality and gender. Contextualizes queer theory as a distinct analytic tradition by paying attention to poststructuralist approaches to subjectivity, sociality, power, and knowledge. This course also serves as the capstone required for the Certificate in the program in the study of sexualities.

Duke University
LIT476S - Archiving and Visualizing Asia: Politics and Poetics of Knowledge Production

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 476S
Title: Archiving and Visualizing Asia: Politics and Poetics of Knowledge Production

Description
Engages students in the practices and theories of archiving, documenting and curating marginal histories. Hands-on research in the archives of Duke's Rubenstein Special Collections and elsewhere. Examines histories of movements and encounters between the 'West' and 'Asia.' Teaches original archival research and documentary methods through guided excavations in digital, audiovisual, and material resources. Directed readings and special guest lectures guide students on how to think critically on the theories and praxis of knowledge production, collection, documentation, circulation, and consumption. Students curate projects for final research assignment.

---

LIT483 - What Machiavelli Really Says

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 483
Title: What Machiavelli Really Says

Description
Everyone knows what 'Machiavellian' means, but what does Machiavelli really say? Reading his classical political texts, 'The Prince,' the 'Discourses on Livy,' and 'The Art of War' in the company of his literary works, including 'Mandragola,' we will examine how Machiavelli's ideas about power, deception, language, ethics, and representation emerged from his reading of Plato, Livy, Ovid, and Dante, while also exploring the reception and consequences of his ideas. Just as Machiavelli searched history for answers to his own political situation, our guiding question cannot help but be 'What would Machiavelli do?'

---

LIT489S - Screening Europe

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 489S
Title: Screening Europe

Description
Course debates identification of Europe as a political, historical and social entity from the standpoint of cinema. Provides students with an introduction to the notion of 'European cinema' from 1945 to the present-day crisis of Brexit and migration. Explores issues concerning interactions and relations between national and transnational identities, the local and the global, post-colonialism and multiculturalism, migration and nationalism, and Eastern versus Western Europe.

---

LIT490 - Special Topics in Literature

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Special Topics in Literature

Description
Special Topics in Literature.

---

LIT490-1 - Special Topics in Theory

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 490-1
Title: Special Topics in Theory

Description
An advanced investigation of major concepts and principles in literary and/or cultural theory. Contents and methods vary with instructors.

---

LIT490S-1 - Special Topics Theory

Subject: LIT
Catalog Number: 490S-1
Title: Special Topics Theory

Description
An advanced investigation of major concepts and principles in literary and/or cultural theory. Contents and methods vary with instructors.
LIT490S-2 - Special Topics in Literature

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
490S-2

Title
Special Topics in Literature

Description
Special Topics in Literature.

LIT495 - Honors Thesis I

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
495

Title
Honors Thesis I

Description
First semester of a two-semester sequence, in which Literature majors begin the year-long honors program. No credit given for Literature 495 without completion of Literature 496. Does not count towards the ten Literature courses required for the major. Director of Undergraduate Studies consent required.

LIT496 - Honors Thesis II

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
496

Title
Honors Thesis II

Description
Continuation of Literature 495 in which Literature majors finish the year-long honors program. Does not count towards the ten Literature courses required for the major. Director of Undergraduate Studies consent required. Prerequisite: Literature 495.

LIT80S - Special Topics: Introduction to Literature

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
80S

Title
Special Topics: Introduction to Literature

Description
Introduction to the study of literature and other forms of cultural expression, such as film. Different introductory approaches will be used in each section (for example, a systematic account of literary genres, a historical survey of ideas and forms of fiction, concepts of authorship and subjectivity, or of literary meaning and interpretation). More than one national literature or culture represented. May be taken twice for credit.

LIT89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject
LIT

Catalog Number
89S

Title
First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

LSGS190S - Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Subject
LSGS

Catalog Number
190S

Title
Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Description
Topics vary by semester, but always have at least 50% of course content on Latino/as or Latino/a Studies.
LSGS201 - Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Subject
LSGS

Catalog Number 201

Title
Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Description
Introduction to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, Latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required introductory course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.

---

LSGS201S - Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Subject
LSGS

Catalog Number
201S

Title
Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Description
Intro to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, Latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required intro course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.

---

LSGS209 - Intermediate Spanish for Heritage Learners

Subject
LSGS

Catalog Number
209

Title
Intermediate Spanish for Heritage Learners

Description
This course is the first of a two-course sequence for heritage Spanish learners. It aims to reconnect students with their linguistic and cultural heritage to further them through meaningful experiences. Activities in this course empower heritage learners to apply their bilingual/bicultural knowledge in academic and professional settings. Students have the opportunity to a) discuss topics relevant to their interests, use presentational skills to write and talk about them b) conduct sociolinguistic research, develop critical and integrative thinking skills in Spanish, and c) gain skills required to work professionally in a Spanish-speaking environment. Instructor consent required.

---

LSGS222 - History of Latinxs in the United States

Subject
LSGS

Catalog Number
222

Title
History of Latinxs in the United States

Description
This introductory course will cover the social, cultural, and political histories of Latino/as in the United States from 1848 to the present including the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the Great Depression, WWII/WWII, the creation of Latino/a civil rights organizations, and the civil wars and free trade agreements of the 1980s and 1990s that have spurned so much of contemporary migration. Themes include colonialism and conquest, sexuality and gender, race and ethnicity, transnationalism and migration, social inequality and practices of resistance. This class will highlight the diversity of the Latino/a experience—focusing on the history of Afro-Latino/as, queer Latino/as, and undocumented Latino/as.
Duke University

LSGS235S - Selena: Music, Media, and the Mexican American Experience

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>235S</td>
<td>Selena: Music, Media, and the Mexican American Experience</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

How did singer Selena Quintanilla impact the world and why does she remain as such an important cultural fixture for Mexican-American communities? This class explores the life, music, and legacy of Selena Quintanilla. We will discuss how Selena used music to navigate a complex Mexican-American identity. Focusing on intersectional feminism, sexuality, iconicity, and fandom, we will learn about Selena’s music throughout the years and consider how these themes are interpreted and complicated across borders. Course materials engage readings from pop music studies, gender, sexuality, and feminist studies, Latinx studies and include a range of films, audio recordings, and podcasts.

---

LSGS254 - Cultures and Politics of the America Borderlands

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>254</td>
<td>Cultures and Politics of the America Borderlands</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Americas borderlands refers to the intersection of North and Latin America through the movement of people, products, ideas, and technologies with focus on culture and agri-culture, including the production of food and pharmaceuticals-legal and illegal; explores dirt as concept of matter out of place and people without place and how sustenance can become poison; examines histories of Latin American bodies as ‘terrain’ for US-based scientific experiments.

---

LSGS290 - Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary by semester, but always have at least 50% of course content on Latino/as or Latino/a Studies.

---

LSGS290S - Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary by semester, but always have at least 50% of course content on Latino/as or Latino/a Studies.

---

LSGS305 - Advanced Spanish for Heritage Learners

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>305</td>
<td>Advanced Spanish for Heritage Learners</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course is designed for heritage or bilingual students who grew up speaking Spanish at home, but have been educated almost exclusively in English. Together we will explore, reflect, and express opinions about topics that affect the diverse Latino communities in the United States such as: identity, bilingual education, immigration, health and human rights issues. Through reading current news and literary works, and listening and watching audiovisual media, students will develop the ability to read and write in Spanish in formal contexts, and also comprehend and compare the diversity and commonality of their Hispanic heritage.

---

LSGS306 - Health, Culture, and the Latino Community

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>306</td>
<td>Health, Culture, and the Latino Community</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. Projects include presentations, writing, research, and conversations with local and global contacts. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>306-1</td>
<td>Health, Culture, and the Latino Community: Service Learning</td>
<td>Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. This is a service-learning or community-engaged course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>307S</td>
<td>Issues of Education and Immigration</td>
<td>Topics include Latino/a/x identities, educational pathways for Spanish-speakers in our community, relevant public policy and legislation, and social action. Required 20 hours outside of class with assigned community partners. Assessment on knowledge of content, oral and written Spanish, and participation in service. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>308S</td>
<td>Latinx Voices in Duke, Durham, and Beyond</td>
<td>Construction of Latinx identity(ies) and formation of community voices through the lens of cultural, political, and social issues at local and national level. Assessment on knowledge of content, oral and written Spanish. Includes service-learning component. Recommended students take 300-level Spanish course prior to enrolling.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>Translating Spanish-English and English-Spanish</td>
<td>Introduction to theories of translation and practice translating Spanish to English and English to Spanish. Students explore key ethical concerns related to translation and interpretation, negotiate translation of cultural references, and give each other feedback on translation drafts and editing. Products created individually or in collaboration include ads, comics, articles, subtitling and dubbing, and reflections on the translation process. This is a community-engaged course. Engagement may include project-based service with community partners among other engaged practices. Prerequisite: 300-level Spanish course or equivalent. Consent of instructor is required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>314S</td>
<td>US Latin@ Histories</td>
<td>Content will vary, reflecting the diverse origins and experience of Latin@s in the US. Topics include geopolitics, media depictions, self-depictions, government policies, population flows, community formation and markets.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>316</td>
<td>Sociology of Racism in America</td>
<td>Examines social history of major racial groups in the US and relationships to contemporary standing. Discusses central concepts sociologists use to analyze racial matters. Central theme: 'racism' is not mere 'prejudice,' 'ignorance,' or 'intolerance,' but a comprehensive historical system of racial domination organized around the logic of white supremacy. Discussion of 'whiteness' in the USA—how whiteness emerged as a social category, an identity based on experiences of variety of European 'peoples;' how it dominated the racial structure of the US since the 17th century, how wealth has been distributed along racial lines, racialization of Asians and Latinos, and color blind racism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>330S</td>
<td>Undocumented America in Literature</td>
<td>This seminar explores the representation of lived experiences, trajectories, and current events vis-à-vis the figure of the undocumented migrant, in contemporary American literature. Testimonial accounts, journalism chronicles, memoirs, poetry, cinematic works, and critical scholarship inform and propel our study of the experience of ('illegal') migrant movement—departure, journey, and arrival—as portrayed in Latino and Latina literature. We will question status designations such as 'illegal,' 'undocumented,' and 'unauthorized;' 'legitimacy' and recognition; the inadmissible and the construction of 'suspect' bodies; social participation in US society.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>Farmworkers in North Carolina: Roots of Poverty, Roots of Change</td>
<td>Focus on those who bring food to our tables, particularly those who labor in the fields of North Carolina and the Southeast. Students will learn about farm work from the plantation system and slavery to sharecropping and up to the migrant and seasonal farmworker population today. Study and analysis of media representations of farmworkers and agricultural issues as well as historical and contemporary documentary work and its contributions to farmworker advocacy. Includes a service-learning component involving work in the community.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LSGS336 - Introduction to US Latino/a Literature

Subject: LSGS
Catalog Number: 336
Title: Introduction to US Latino/a Literature

Description:
Survey of US Latino/a Literature from 1960s to present. Examines formation of a Latino/a literary canon, its heterogeneous voices and imaginations, thematic strands, historical and political contexts, theoretical approaches, establishing critical overview of the range of nationalities, communities, identifications, and practices falling under the Latino/a designation. Explores how Latina and Latino identities have been envisioned and manifested since the Civil Rights Movement, and how Latina- or Latino-specific cultural production continues in dialogue with US multiracial landscape. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 336A. In English; does not satisfy Trinity FL requirement.

LSGS336A - Introduction to LatinX Literature

Subject: LSGS
Catalog Number: 336A
Title: Introduction to LatinX Literature

Description:
An introduction to contemporary LatinX literary production, alongside its heterogeneous voices and creative imaginations. The formation of a Latino/a/X literary canon, its thematic strands, cultural connections, historical and political contexts, theoretical approaches, and circulation in the U.S. world and beyond, exploring the makings of 'the culture of prestige'—attending to considerations like what produces cultural capital, the marketplace of prizes, and visibility and artistic achievement. A critical and resourceful overview of the range of nationalities, communities, locations, identifications, and practices. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 336. Taught at Duke in Madrid.

LSGS337 - Latinx Music Cultures

Subject: LSGS
Catalog Number: 337
Title: Latinx Music Cultures

Description:
Focusing on the social and political contexts from which music emerges, this course traces the histories and contemporary adaptations of Latinx music and dance in Latin America, the Caribbean, and the United States. We will center Indigenous and Afro-Indigenous traditions such as wayno in the Andes and samba in Brazil as well as Afro-Latinx styles that have been recently popularized in the U.S. such as bachata and reggaeton. We will also focus on regional music and dance in Mexico, such as música norteña and son, and its transmission across borders. We will engage a variety of multi-media materials from across ethnomusicology, history, Latinx studies, and transnational feminism.

LSGS350 - Brains, Everywhere

Subject: LSGS
Catalog Number: 350
Title: Brains, Everywhere

Description:
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some 'neurocultures' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this course we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'

LSGS350S - Brains, Everywhere

Subject: LSGS
Catalog Number: 350S
Title: Brains, Everywhere

Description:
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some as a 'neuro-revolution' that has given rise to a 'neuro-society,' 'neurocultures,' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this seminar we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of "personhood/subjectivity" "human/post human," "mind/body," "self/ego," and "emotion/affect."
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS365S</td>
<td>365S</td>
<td>Latino/a Popular Culture</td>
<td>Examines connections between US Latina/o and Latin American populations mediated by contemporary popular culture and the world of the commodity. Explores sociocultural and political issues in US national culture, the ways US Latina/o cultures dialogue across the Americas, and how Latina, Latino, LatinX, and Latin American bodies inhabit particular cultural and geographic contexts. Addresses how popular cultural forms are developed, contested, or resolved vis-à-vis issues of difference, multicultural inclusiveness, domestic history, narratives of exile and migration. Materials covered include films, documentaries, television shows, art, advertising, comic strips, food fusions, music.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS366S</td>
<td>366S</td>
<td>Latinx Social Movements</td>
<td>Over the course of the twentieth-century various Latino/a groups have mobilized their growing power to make demands for social justice and equality. This course will study the history of Latino/a organizing from the 1940s to the contemporary moment. Some of the groups we will examine include: the Chicano movement, the Young Lords Party, Chicana feminists, Third World Women's Alliance, DREAMers, resistance to Arizona's SB1070, and UndocuQueer. We will look at the history of political organizations, community formation, identity development, and movement ideology.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS390</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South</td>
<td>A comparative and interdisciplinary approach to Latino/a Studies in the Global South. Topics and instructors vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS390S</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South</td>
<td>A comparative and interdisciplinary approach to Latino/a Studies in the Global South. Topics vary by semester and instructors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS412S</td>
<td>412S</td>
<td>Mayas, Aztecs, and Incas: The World According to the Indigenous People of Latin America</td>
<td>The basic philosophical architecture of the three great civilizations of America; Maya, Aztec, and Inca civilizations. The seminar draws links to the current indigenous revival in the Andes (Bolivia and Ecuador) and the survival of their historical legacies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS438SA</td>
<td>438SA</td>
<td>Global Madrid</td>
<td>Focusing on Madrid's porous Latinx landscape, this course draws comparative perspectives across countries and cultures. Madrid's demographic growth, at least since the late-1980s, includes migrants from Bolivia, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Honduras, Paraguay, Peru, and Venezuela. Rather than drawing clear-cut 'authenticating' distinctions between Latinx and 'the rest,' this seminar places Latinx in dialogue with the Iberian Peninsula and Spanish-speaking 'communities' alongside sociocultural imaginaries that enmesh Spaniards, Latin Americans, Latino/a/Xs, and beyond. Taught at Duke in Madrid.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSGS439SA</td>
<td>439SA</td>
<td>Global Spain</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This Duke in Spain course draws from comparative perspectives across countries and cultures. It links Madrid's socio-cultural turning points vis-à-vis national and international migration to other geographies where Spanish is spoken. Forming a nexus with broader Spanish-language mobile circuits—as evinced, for example, through U.S. Latino/a/x populations—this seminar explores the Spanish capital as a global urban epicenter and primary destination site for migrants from Africa, the Americas, Europe, and Asia. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS490S</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>Special Topics in US Latina/o Literatures and Cultural Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Special topics in United States Latina/o literatures and cultural studies. Topics to be announced. Open to juniors and seniors. Counts towards the Spanish major but can only be counted once toward the core course requirement; subsequent courses would count as related courses. Counts only once for the minor. Taught in English.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS490S-1</td>
<td>490S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Latino/a Studies in the Global South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>A comparative and interdisciplinary approach to Latino/a Studies in the Global South. Topics vary with instructors.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LSGS89S</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First Year Seminar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MALAGASY101</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>Elementary Malagasy I</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This course introduces students to the Malagasy language, which is spoken by 25 million people in Madagascar and the Comoro Islands. This is the first semester of a two-semester sequence, in which students will learn to speak, listen, read, and write basic Malagasy, as well as learn to function appropriately in routine situations in the target culture.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MALAGASY102</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Elementary Malagasy II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Malagasy is spoken by 25 million people in Madagascar and the Comoro Islands. This course is a continuation of Elementary Malagasy I, and continues to build listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills. As students develop interpersonal, interpretive, and presentational skills in Malagasy, they will learn to function appropriately in routine situations in the target culture. Texts include authentic materials and video. Recommended prerequisite: Elementary Malagasy I or permission of instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MALAGASY203 - Intermediate Malagasy
Subject: MALAGASY
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Malagasy
Description: Content-based approach focusing on aspects of Malagasy culture and society, with emphasis on the study of authentic audio and written texts. Course builds on elements of language acquired in the elementary sequence, expanding range and complexity of grammar and vocabulary.

MARSCI201 - The Future of the Oceans: From Science to Policy
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 201
Title: The Future of the Oceans: From Science to Policy
Description: The ocean covers two-thirds of the planet, forming the backbone of healthy ecosystems and many growing economies worldwide. Despite this importance, we know far less about the oceans than terrestrial environments. This course provides an overview of why the oceans matter, including the many ways people use and depend on the oceans. We will discuss the major issues that threaten our oceans, and students will explore emerging solutions to these challenges of changing ocean use using market-based, scientific, and policy approaches. Course will include an optional weekend field trip to the Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort.

MARSCI202 - Marine Biology and Ecology: Fantastic Sea Creatures and Where to Find Them
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Marine Biology and Ecology: Fantastic Sea Creatures and Where to Find Them
Description: Broad foundational knowledge of marine biology with an emphasis on ecology and evolution of marine organisms. Core areas include biodiversity, adaptations to marine environments, population & community ecology, ecosystem processes and services, and human forcing in marine systems. Survey of biodiversity in marine systems spanning microbes to marine mammals, emphasizing taxonomy, habitats and evolutionary history. Explore how marine communities interact with the physical environment to generate ecosystems and accompanying services spanning coastal/estuarine, blue water, and the deep sea. Examine population dynamics, population interactions and the consequences of those interactions.

MARSCI203 - Marine Social Science
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Marine Social Science
Description: Efforts to understand, predict, or manage change in marine systems often fail due to an underappreciation of the tightly coupled relationship between people and the oceans. Correspondingly, identifying sustainable and just solutions to today’s major ocean challenges requires an understanding of the values, processes, and systems that shape ocean connections and uses. Through the eyes of social scientists from various disciplines, this course will introduce students to the concepts and approaches social scientists use to understand major ocean sustainability problems (e.g. climate change, food production) and identify sustainable and just solutions to address them.
MARSCI203A - Marine Social Science

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 203A
Title: Marine Social Science

Description

Efforts to understand, predict, or manage change in marine systems often fail due to an underappreciation of the tightly coupled relationship between people and the oceans. Correspondingly, identifying sustainable and just solutions to today's major ocean challenges requires an understanding of the values, processes, and systems that shape ocean connections and uses. Through the eyes of social scientists from various disciplines, this course will introduce students to the concepts and approaches social scientists use to understand major ocean sustainability problems (e.g. climate change, food production) and identify sustainable and just solutions to address them. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI204 - Integrative Oceanography

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Integrative Oceanography

Description

The oceans and life within them form complex multidimensional systems. Understanding the dynamics of how marine systems work requires an integrative approach. This course will focus on using first principles, following the flow of energy, carbon, and nutrients, to reveal the mechanisms underlying the structure and function of marine ecosystems. The first half of the course will introduce foundational concepts from physical, chemical, and biological oceanography, while the second half will provide synthetic applications. Recommended prerequisite: Math 111L, Physics 141L, and Chemistry 101DL (or equivalent courses).

MARSCI204A - Integrative Oceanography

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 204A
Title: Integrative Oceanography

Description

The oceans and life within them form complex multidimensional systems. Understanding the dynamics of how marine systems work requires an integrative approach. This course will focus on using first principles, following the flow of energy, carbon, and nutrients, to reveal the mechanisms underlying the structure and function of marine ecosystems. The first half of the course will introduce foundational concepts from physical, chemical, and biological oceanography, while the second half will provide synthetic applications. Prerequisite: Math 111L, Physics 141L, and Chemistry 101DL (or equivalent courses). Offered at the Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort.

MARSCI205 - Marine Megafauna

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 205
Title: Marine Megafauna

Description

Ecology, systematics, and behavior of large marine animals including giant squid, bony fishes, sharks, sea turtles, seabirds, and marine mammals. Relations between ocean dynamics, large marine animals, and their role in ocean food webs. Impact of human activities and technological advancement on populations. Economic, social, and policy considerations in the protection of threatened species. Prerequisite: AP Biology, Introductory Biology, or consent of the instructor.

MARSCI270 - Conservation Biology and Policy

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 270
Title: Conservation Biology and Policy

Description

Introduction to the key concepts of ecology and policy relevant to conservation issues at the population to ecosystems level. Focus on the origin and maintenance of biodiversity and conservation applications from both the biology and policy perspectives (for example, endangered species, captive breeding, reserve design, habitat fragmentation, ecosystem restoration/rehabilitation). Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology and a policy and/or introductory ecology course.

MARSCI270A - Conservation Biology and Policy

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 270A
Title: Conservation Biology and Policy

Description

Introduction to the key concepts of ecology and policy relevant to conservation issues at the population to ecosystems level. Focus on the origin and maintenance of biodiversity and conservation applications from both the biology and policy perspectives (for example, endangered species, captive breeding, reserve design, habitat fragmentation, ecosystem restoration/rehabilitation). Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology and a policy and/or introductory ecology course.
MARSCI272A - Analysis of Ocean Ecosystems

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 272A
Title: Analysis of Ocean Ecosystems

Description:
The history, utility, and heuristic value of the ecosystem; ocean systems in the context of Odum's ecosystem concept; structure and function of the earth's major ecosystems. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: one year of biology, one year of chemistry, or consent of instructor.

MARSCI273L - Marine Ecology

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 273L
Title: Marine Ecology

Description:
Distribution, abundance, and diversity of marine organisms, including a survey of the major flora and fauna in the marine environment, including physical characteristics, adaptation to environment, species interactions, biogeography, larval recruitment, and biodiversity and conservation of communities found in rocky shores, tidal flats, beaches, marshes, mangroves, coral reefs, and subtidal areas. Lectures, field excursions, lab exercises and an independent project. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Taught fall, spring, and summer; spring enrollment requires travel. Recommended prerequisite: AP biology or introductory biology.

MARSCI278L - Comparative Physiology of Marine Animals

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 278L
Title: Comparative Physiology of Marine Animals

Description:
Physiology of marine animals with emphasis on comparisons between marine vertebrates and humans. Focus on physiological processes including gas exchange, circulation, osmoregulation, metabolism, thermoregulation, endocrine, neural control and sensory systems. Lectures and laboratories illustrate the methodology, analysis techniques, and written reporting of physiological research. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Taught fall, spring, and summer. Prerequisite: AP biology, introductory biology, or consent of the instructor.

MARSCI280LA - Sound in the Sea: Introduction to Marine Bioacoustics

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 280LA
Title: Sound in the Sea: Introduction to Marine Bioacoustics

Description:
Fundamentals of marine bioacoustics with a focus on current literature and conservation issues. Topics include: introduction to acoustics; acoustic analysis methods and quantitative tools; production and recording of sound; ocean noise; propagation theory; active and passive acoustics; hearing, sound production and communication in marine organisms, potential impacts of anthropogenic noise; and regulation of marine sound. Labs will focus on methodologies used for generating, recording and analyzing marine sounds. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: AP Biology, introductory biology, or consent of instructor; Physics 141L or 164L (or equivalent Physics courses) or consent of instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI286</td>
<td>286</td>
<td>Marine Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI286A</td>
<td>286A</td>
<td>Marine Policy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI287A</td>
<td>287A</td>
<td>Conservation Biology &amp; Service Learning: coastal ecosystems, restoration and communities</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI301LA</td>
<td>301LA</td>
<td>Coastal Restoration Ecology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI286 - Marine Policy

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 286
Title: Marine Policy

Description: Policy and policy-making concerning the coastal marine environment. History of marine-related organizations, legislation, and issues and their effects on local, regional, national, and international arenas. Use of theoretical and methodological perspectives, including political science, sociology, and economics. Duke Marine Lab-based course video linked to Durham.

MARSCI286A - Marine Policy

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 286A
Title: Marine Policy

Description: Policy and policy-making concerning the coastal marine environment. History of marine-related organizations, legislation, and issues and their effects on local, regional, national, and international arenas. Use of theoretical and methodological perspectives, including political science, sociology, and economics. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI287A - Conservation Biology & Service Learning: coastal ecosystems, restoration and communities

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 287A
Title: Conservation Biology & Service Learning: coastal ecosystems, restoration and communities

Description: Introduction to marine conservation biology emphasizing community outreach at local middle schools. Material focuses on issues in marine conservation and how they are addressed. Lectures cover principles of conservation, biodiversity, extinction risks, genetic tools, fishery by-catch, over-exploitation, habitat degradation, invasive species, climate change, and marine protected areas. Based on class discussions, students will develop and teach activities that address local conservation topics for middle school students. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology.

MARSCI301LA - Coastal Restoration Ecology

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 301LA
Title: Coastal Restoration Ecology

Description: This course provides an introduction to restoration ecology and ecological restoration. We will explore the major ecological theories that guide restoration ecology as well as the unique considerations and techniques needed to restore the world’s dominant coastal ecosystems (e.g., saltmarshes, seagrass beds, coral reefs, etc.), and we will conclude by focusing on challenges and opportunities for ecosystem restoration in the 21st century. Students will participate in lectures, discussions, and field trips. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology or environmental science. Taught at the Duke Marine Lab.
MARSCI304SLA - Evolutionary and Ecological Genetics/Genomics of Marine Mammals

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
304SLA

Title
Evolutionary and Ecological Genetics/Genomics of Marine Mammals

Description
Current sequencing technologies have revolutionized the fields of molecular, evolutionary, and ecological genetics. The ability to generate an entire genome worth of sequence data in a single instrument run allows us to study whole genomes in a variety of non-model organisms. We will use the genomes of marine mammals to explore the field of genomics. We will begin with basic genomics (i.e. Genome-101), sequencing technologies and bioinformatics, and explore conservation, ecological and evolutionary genetics of marine mammals using literature and publicly available datasets. Biology 201L is recommended but not required. Offered at the Duke University Marine Lab in Beaufort.

MARSCI305SA - Social Impact Analysis

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
305SA

Title
Social Impact Analysis

Description
Course covers theoretical, methodological and applied aspects of social impact analysis. Students will think sociologically about environmental issues and social impacts they create. Course reviews key US policies and guidelines that require and inform social impact analysis. Students will understand and critique key methods and approaches used in social impact analysis to generate inclusive decisions that protect the environment and health of human communities that share its abundance and meaning. Course will compare and critique a range of national and international social impact examples, including ethical issues associated with the non-human world. Consent of instructor is required. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI308A - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
308A

Title
Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description
Students will gain a grounding in marine sciences to help them to evaluate impacts of anthropogenic activities on marine ecosystems and the humans that rely on them. After developing an understanding of the issues facing environmental and human health and well-being in marine systems, students will travel to the Galapagos to better understand environmental challenges facing biodiversity and tourism hotspot. This course embraces immersive field experiences in North Carolina and the Galapagos to contextualize classroom learning and to develop connections with environmental practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Duke Immerse course. Instructor consent is required.

MARSCI309A - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
309A

Title
Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description
Focus on the concept of 'One Health' that the health of the environment and the people who live in it are linked. The basis (from a biological perspective) of threats facing the marine environment and interactions between environmental and human health and their role in global health disparities. For example, in discussing fisheries and aquaculture, the course will cover environmental impacts of these extractive industries and their importance in human and societal well-being. This course will embrace immersive field experiences in North Carolina that will contextualize classroom learning and develop connections with practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.
MARSCI309DA - Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
309DA

Title
Oceans in Human and Environmental Health

Description
Focus on the concept of 'One Health' that the health of the environment and the people who live in it are linked. The basis (from a biological perspective) of threats facing the marine environment and interactions between environmental and human health and their role in global health disparities. For example, in discussing fisheries and aquaculture, the course will cover environmental impacts of these extractive industries and their importance in human and societal well-being. This course will embrace immersive field experiences in North Carolina that will contextualize classroom learning and develop connections with practitioners and residents. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

---

MARSCI319A - Aquaculture and the Environment

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
319A

Title
Aquaculture and the Environment

Description
The major environmental, social and economic drivers of increasing global aquaculture, with a focus on marine systems. Quantitative evaluation and comparison of the range of species for aquaculture, locations where operations occur, operational aspects including environmental impacts and management considerations. Investigation of alternative approaches and potential future areas for aquaculture expansion as well as social, economic and technical barriers to implementation. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

---

MARSCI321A - Coastal Watershed Management and Restoration

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
321A

Title
Coastal Watershed Management and Restoration

Description
This course will examine management of coastal watersheds and their biological function, focusing on the positive (restoration) and negative (degradation, eutrophication) ways that humans alter ecosystems. Local field trips are an integral part of this class to examine anthropogenic modifications to coastal ecosystems (e.g. farms, wetland restoration) as well as discussing these issues with stakeholders at NGOs, businesses and government. Taught at the Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort.

---

MARSCI323A - Offshore Renewable Energy & Wildlife Conservation

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
323A

Title
Offshore Renewable Energy & Wildlife Conservation

Description
Offshore renewable energy development requires unique considerations as an oceanic venture. Offshore renewable energy (wind and hydrokinetic) operation requires unique strategic preparation and considerations. This course will take a holistic approach to evaluating offshore renewable energy development: benefits and challenges of traditional vs. renewable offshore energy including concerns for wildlife (ocean noise generated by industrial activity, ship strikes, and a range of potential habitat changes); development of environmental impact statements; permitting processes; consultations with industry, government and other stakeholders; and legal implications. Taught in Beaufort.
MARSCI335 - Drones in Marine Biology, Ecology, and Conservation

Description
Includes a full overview of past and emerging applications for ecology and biology of marine species and coastal habitats, with in-depth discussion on future of drone applications in coastal biological and ecological research. Comprehensive exploration of current drone technologies, including detection of target species, payloads, aeronautical concepts, rules and regulations, mission planning, aircraft design, maintenance, data collection, management and analysis. Lab components tailored to student interests: active participation in megafaunal or environmental research and data analysis; building, operating and maintaining aircraft, programming for manual and autonomous flight.

MARSCI335A - Drones in Marine Biology, Ecology, and Conservation

Description
Lecture-based version of Environment 335LA. Includes a full overview of past and emerging applications for ecology and biology of marine species and coastal habitats, with in-depth discussion on future of drone applications in coastal biological and ecological research. Comprehensive exploration of current drone technologies, including detection of target species, payloads, aeronautical concepts, rules and regulations, mission planning, aircraft design, maintenance, data collection, management and analysis. Lab components tailored to student interests: active participation in megafaunal or environmental research and data analysis; building, operating and maintaining aircraft, programming for manual and autonomous flight. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI350S - Marine Science and Conservation Leadership

Description
Course will explore the complex interactions among science, policy and economics in the use of marine resources and the role individuals play in promoting marine conservation and environmental sustainability. Utilizing case studies ranging from fisheries to offshore energy, students will evaluate trade-offs systematically and learn to assess how different policy options affect the incentives of resource users. Serves as the capstone for the Marine Science and Conservation Leadership Certificate. Prerequisite: none.

MARSCI369LA - Biological Oceanography

Description
Discusses patterns of abundance, diversity and activity of organisms in major ocean ecosystems. Identifies major physical, chemical and ecological processes that affect these patterns, and analyzes impact of biology on ecosystems. Uses a 'flipped' classroom for enhanced development of quantitative skills to measure these patterns, emphasizing hands-on data collection and analyses, multiple field trips aboard DUML research vessels, and participatory activities to demonstrate core concepts in biological oceanography. Taught at Duke Marine Lab. Spring section requires travel. Recommended intro bio or AP Bio credit. Instructor consent required, visit DUML website for details.
MARSCI370A - Physical Oceanography
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 370A
Title: Physical Oceanography
Description:
Fundamental physical principles of ocean circulation. Physical properties of seawater; forces acting on the ocean such as heat, pressure gradients, wind stress, rotation, and friction; and conservation equations for heat, mass and momentum. Applications include geostrophic balances, thermal wind, coastally trapped waves, El Nino/ENSO, and tidal circulation. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: one year of calculus and one semester of physics, or permission of instructor.

MARSCI373LA - Sensory Physiology and Behavior of Marine Animals
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 373LA
Title: Sensory Physiology and Behavior of Marine Animals
Description:
Sensory physiological principles with emphasis on visual and chemical cues. Laboratories will use behavior to measure physiological processes. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: AP Biology or introductory biology or consent of instructor and Chemistry 101DL.

MARSCI375A - Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 375A
Title: Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Description:
Essential biology of sea turtles (evolution, anatomy, physiology, behavior, life history, population dynamics) and their conservation needs; emphasis on their role in marine ecosystem structure and function. Basic ecological concepts integrated with related topics including the conservation and management of endangered species, the role of research in national and international law and policy, and the veterinary aspects of conservation. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.

MARSCI375A-1 - Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 375A-1
Title: Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Description:
Essential biology of sea turtles (evolution, anatomy, physiology, behavior, life history, population dynamics) and their conservation needs; emphasis on their role in marine ecosystem structure and function. Basic ecological concepts integrated with related topics including conservation and management of endangered species, contributions of technology to the management of migratory marine species, the role of research in national and international law and policy, and veterinary aspects of conservation. Taught at Duke Marine Lab. Travel required. Recommended intro Bio or AP Bio credit. Instructor consent required, visit DUML website for details.

MARSCI375L - Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 375L
Title: Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Description:
Includes laboratory and field experience with animals and with their habitat requirements. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology.

MARSCI375LA - Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 375LA
Title: Biology and Conservation of Sea Turtles
Description:
Laboratory version of Biology 375A. Includes laboratory and field experience with animals and with their habitat requirements. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.
MARSCI376A - Marine Mammals

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 376A
Title: Marine Mammals

Description
The biology of cetaceans, pinnipeds, sirenians, and sea otters. Topics covered include the diversity, evolution, ecology, and behavior of marine mammals and their interactions with humans. Detailed consideration given to the adaptations that allow these mammals to live in the sea. Evaluation of the scientific, ethical, and aesthetic factors influencing societal attitudes toward these animals and of their conservation management in light of domestic legislation and international treaties. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.

MARSCI376L - Marine Mammals

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 376L
Title: Marine Mammals

Description
Laboratory and field exercises consider social organization, behavior, ecology, communication, and anatomy of local bottlenose dolphins. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology.

MARSCI376LA - Marine Mammals

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 376LA
Title: Marine Mammals

Description
Laboratory version of Biology 376A. Laboratory and field exercises consider social organization, behavior, ecology, communication, and anatomy of local bottlenose dolphins. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: introductory biology.

MARSCI377L - Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 377L
Title: Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Description
An introduction to the biodiversity represented by major marine invertebrate groups, with emphasis on the diversity of body forms and behaviors and on anatomical structures and functions. Field trips primarily by boat allow students to explore invertebrates characteristic of a variety of coastal habitats in North Carolina, including mud flats, sandy beaches, salt marshes, oyster reefs, piers and docks, and the water column. Live invertebrates maintained in the laboratory serve as models for detailed study of form and function. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI377LA - Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 377LA
Title: Biodiversity of Marine Invertebrates

Description
An introduction to the biodiversity represented by major marine invertebrate groups, with emphasis on the diversity of body forms and behaviors and on anatomical structures and functions. Field trips primarily by boat allow students to explore invertebrates characteristic of a variety of coastal habitats in North Carolina, including mud flats, sandy beaches, salt marshes, oyster reefs, piers and docks, and the water column. Live invertebrates maintained in the laboratory serve as models for detailed study of form and function. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI390 - Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation

Subject: MARSCI
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation

Description
Content varies by semester.
MARSCI390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI390LA - Duke-Administered Study Away: Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>390LA</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Away: Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI390SA - Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>390SA</td>
<td>Special Topics in Marine Science Conservation</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI391 - Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual readings course or other non-research-based independent course under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI391-1 - Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>391-1</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual readings course or other non-research-based independent course under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI391A - Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>391A</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual readings course or other non-research-based independent course under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI393 - Research Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MARSCI393A - Research Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MARSCI</td>
<td>393A</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MARSCI394 - Research Independent Study

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number 394

Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic.

MARSCI394A - Research Independent Study

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
394A

Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI427A - Current Topics in Sensory Biology

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
427A

Title
Current Topics in Sensory Biology

Description
Exploration of recent and classic studies in sensory biology. Topics are chosen by students at the start of the semester. Usually includes vision, hearing, smell, taste, pheromones, electrorception, magnetoreception, bioluminescence, touch, time, and music. Taught at the Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L, or 201L and 202L, or 203L or the equivalent, and one course in Neuroscience, or consent of instructor.

MARSCI445A - Climate Change in the Marine Environment

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
445A

Title
Climate Change in the Marine Environment

Description
Exploration of climate change science focusing on marine ecosystems and inhabitants - specifically ocean acidification, warming and sea level rise. Factors causing climate change, and how those vary spatially, focusing on sensitive polar ecosystems and marine mammal populations. Critical examination of climate change modeling using EdGCM (research-grade Global Climate Model), focusing on how scientists use models, observations/theory to predict climate, and assumptions/uncertainty implicit in modeling. Discussion of potential human impacts including consequences of sea level rise and potential increases in disease due to climate change. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

MARSCI476A - Data and Time Series Analysis in Marine Sciences

Subject
MARSCI

Catalog Number
476A

Title
Data and Time Series Analysis in Marine Sciences

Description
This course is designed for students in marine and environmental science disciplines to learn data analysis skills, including analysis techniques and their implementation using MATLAB or R. Topics include: discrete sampling issues, data outlier and rejection tests, interpolation and gridding, error and propagation of uncertainty, coordinate rotations and principal axes, curve fits, regression, bootstrapping, filtering, spectral and harmonic analysis, spatial analyses. Other topics may be included or substituted depending on student interests. The course is structured as mix of weekly lectures and linked workshops applying methods to marine and environmental data sets. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Instructor consent is required.

MATH105L - Laboratory Calculus and Functions I

Subject
MATH

Catalog Number
105L

Title
Laboratory Calculus and Functions I

Description
A study of functions with applications, and an introduction to differential calculus, with a laboratory component. Topics include a review of algebra and functions, mathematical modeling with elementary functions, rates of change, inverse functions, logarithms and exponential functions, the derivative, graphical interpretations of the derivative, optimization, related rates. Not open to students who have credit for Mathematics 21 or 111L(31L) or 121.
MATH106L - Laboratory Calculus and Functions II

Subject
MATH

Catalog Number
106L

Title
Laboratory Calculus and Functions II

Description
A continuation of Mathematics 105L. Topics include zeros of functions, antidifferentiation, initial value problems, differential equations, Euler's method, slope fields, review of trigonometric functions, Riemann sums, the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus, integration by substitution, integration by parts, separation of variables, systems of differential equations. Students who complete this course can enroll in Mathematics 112L. Prerequisite: Mathematics 105L. Not open to students who have credit for Mathematics 21 or 111L or 121.

MATH111L - Laboratory Calculus I

Subject
MATH

Catalog Number
111L

Title
Laboratory Calculus I

Description
Introductory calculus with a laboratory component. Emphasis on laboratory projects, group work, and written reports. Differentiation, transcendental functions, optimization, differential equations, numerical approximations, Euler's method, the Fundamental Theorem, separation of variables, slope fields, and mathematical modeling. Not open to students who have credit for Mathematics 105L, 106L, or 121. Registration contingent on proctored Calculus I Placement Test on the first day of class.

MATH112L - Laboratory Calculus II

Subject
MATH

Catalog Number
112L

Title
Laboratory Calculus II

Description
Second semester of introductory calculus with a laboratory component. Emphasis on laboratory projects, group work, and written reports. Methods of integration, applications of integrals, functions defined by integration, improper integrals, introduction to probability and distributions, infinite series, Taylor polynomials, series solutions of differential equations, systems of differential equations, Fourier series. Not open to students who have had Mathematics 122 or 122L. Prerequisite: Mathematics 106L or 111L (AP/IPC/PMC placement credit for Math 21 is not sufficient if Math 122L is offered) or consent.

MATH122L - Introductory Calculus II with Applications

Subject
MATH

Catalog Number
122L

Title
Introductory Calculus II with Applications

Description
Topics include sequences and series, the definition of the integral and its uses, Taylor and Fourier Series, differential equations and mathematical models. Weekly labs will involve explorations of applications, techniques, and Theory. Prerequisite: Advanced placement credit for Mathematics 21. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 105L, 106L, 111L, 112L, or 122.

MATH163FS - Mathematics of Data Science

Subject
MATH

Catalog Number
163FS

Title
Mathematics of Data Science

Description
Introduction to the mathematics and algorithms that are central to a variety of data science applications. Basic mathematical concepts underlying popular data science algorithms will be introduced and students will write code implementing these algorithms. We will discuss the impact of these algorithms on society and ethical implications. Algorithms examined include: Google's pagerank, principal component analysis for visualizing high dimensional data, hidden Markov models for speech recognition, and classifiers detecting spam emails. Linear algebra and basic probability will be the mathematical focus and there will be a programming component to this class using the R programming language. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

MATH165FS - Cryptography and Society

Subject
MATH

Catalog Number
165FS

Title
Cryptography and Society

Description
Introduction to topics in mathematical cryptography, and the role of cryptography within society, in both historic and modern contexts. Cryptographic systems studied will include: early historical ciphers; the Enigma machines of WWII; modern public channel cryptography. Students will learn to encode/decode using each system; to quantify the complexity, strength, and weaknesses of each system; to use elementary techniques from combinatorics, graph theory, abstract algebra, and number theory; about the role cryptography plays in human society. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.
MATH181 - Math Everywhere: Mathematical Concepts and Reasoning in our Modern World

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>181</td>
<td>Math Everywhere: Mathematical Concepts and Reasoning in our Modern World</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Mathematical concepts and reasoning, and their essential and exciting roles in our modern world. Topics include but not limited to: storage and communication of data, images, and music; social networks; evaluation of assessments based on statistics; design of visuals for video games and animated movies. Designed for students without college math but with interest in mathematical concepts important to modern applications. Six largely independent units, focused on building understanding and appreciation rather than development of mathematical techniques. Transfer credit not accepted as equivalent.

MATH183 - Biological Clocks: How Organisms Keep Time

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>183</td>
<td>Biological Clocks: How Organisms Keep Time</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

From sleep/wake cycles to flower openings to cell division and malaria infections, all organisms and cells display rhythmic behaviors. The course will focus on genetic and molecular networks that comprise clocks regulating cell division and circadian rhythms. Quantitative aspects of clock networks will be examined from the perspective of data analysis and dynamical systems models. Class will include lectures, primary literature readings, and in-class projects. Recommended prerequisite: Math 112L or equivalent, and Biology 20, 21, 201L, or 203L.

MATH185 - The Art of Proof

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>185</td>
<td>The Art of Proof</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course is an introduction to mathematical proofs as a creative endeavor. The intended audience of this course are students who would not normally take Math 245. Students in the arts, humanities, life sciences, and social sciences are encouraged to enroll. Students will learn problem solving, abstraction, symbolic logic; proof by construction, induction, contradiction; and basic set theory, number theory, and combinatorics. The course will be highly interactive, with emphasis placed on group learning. Students will practice communicating mathematical and logical arguments in both written (using LaTeX) and oral (via board talk) forms.

MATH190 - Special Topics in Mathematics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>190</td>
<td>Special Topics in Mathematics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary.

MATH190L - Special Topics in Mathematics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>190L</td>
<td>Special Topics in Mathematics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary.

MATH190S - Seminar on Special Topics in Mathematics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Seminar on Special Topics in Mathematics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Seminar version of Math 190. Topics vary.
MATH191 - Independent Study

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 191
Title: Independent Study

Description:
Directed reading in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member. This course does not contribute to the requirements of a mathematics major. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

MATH202 - Multivariable Calculus for Economics

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Multivariable Calculus for Economics

Description:
Gaussian elimination, matrix algebra, determinants, linear independence. Calculus of several variables, chain rule, implicit differentiation. Optimization, first order conditions, Lagrange multipliers. Integration of functions of several variables. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 212, 216, 218D-1, 218D-2, 219, 221, or 222.

MATH202D - Multivariable Calculus for Economics

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 202D
Title: Multivariable Calculus for Economics

Description:
Gaussian elimination, matrix algebra, determinants, linear independence. Calculus of several variables, chain rule, implicit differentiation. Optimization, first order conditions, Lagrange multipliers. Integration of functions of several variables. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 212, 216, 218D-1, 218D-2, 219, 221, or 222.

MATH21 - Introductory Calculus I

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 21
Title: Introductory Calculus I

Description:
Credit awarded on the basis of national/international examinations in mathematics such as College Board, International Baccalaureate, British Advanced Level. Equivalent to Mathematics 111L as a prerequisite, except that students entering Mathematics 112L in the fall must have taken Mathematics 111L or Mathematics 106L at Duke.

MATH212 - Multivariable Calculus

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 212
Title: Multivariable Calculus

Description:
Partial differentiation, multiple integrals, and topics in differential and integral vector calculus, including Green's theorem, the divergence theorem, and Stokes's theorem. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 202, 219, or 222. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L.

MATH212A - Multivariable Calculus

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 212A
Title: Multivariable Calculus

Description:
Partial differentiation, multiple integrals, and topics in differential and integral vector calculus, including Green's theorem, the divergence theorem, and Stokes's theorem. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 202, 219, or 222. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L.
MATH212D - Multivariable Calculus

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 212D
Title: Multivariable Calculus

Description:
Partial differentiation, multiple integrals, and topics in differential and integral vector calculus, including Green's theorem, the divergence theorem, and Stokes's theorem. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 202, 219, or 222. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L.

MATH216 - Linear Algebra and Differential Equations

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 216
Title: Linear Algebra and Differential Equations

Description:
Systems of linear equations, matrix operations, vector spaces, linear transformations, orthogonality, determinants, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, diagonalization, linear differential equations, systems of differential equations with constant coefficients, applications, computer simulations. Intended primarily for engineering students. Prospective math majors should take Math 221 instead. Prerequisite: Mathematics 202, 212 or 222. Not open to students who have had Mathematics 218 or 221.

MATH216D - Linear Algebra and Differential Equations (Discussion)

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 216D
Title: Linear Algebra and Differential Equations (Discussion)

Description:
Discussion component of Mathematics 216.

MATH218D - Matrices and Vector Spaces

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 218D
Title: Matrices and Vector Spaces

Description:
Solving systems of linear equations, matrix factorizations and fundamental vector subspaces, orthogonality, least squares problems, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, the singular value decomposition and principal component analysis, applications to data-driven problems. Prospective math majors should take Mathematics 221 instead. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 216 or 221. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 21, 121, 106L, or 111L.

MATH218D-1 - Matrices and Vector Spaces

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 218D-1
Title: Matrices and Vector Spaces

Description:
Solving systems of linear equations, matrix factorizations and fundamental vector subspaces, orthogonality, least squares problems, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, the singular value decomposition and principal component analysis, applications to data-driven problems. Intended primarily for students in computer science and other data-focused sciences. Prospective math majors should take Mathematics 221 instead. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 216 or 221. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 21, 121, 106L, or 111L.

MATH218D-2 - Matrices and Vectors

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 218D-2
Title: Matrices and Vectors

Description:
Solving systems of linear equations, matrix factorizations and fundamental vector subspaces, orthogonality, least squares problems, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, the singular value decomposition and principal component analysis, applications to engineering problems. Intended primarily for students in engineering. Prospective math majors should take Mathematics 221 instead. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 216 or 221. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 21, 121, 106L, or 111L.
MATH218L - Matrices and Vector Spaces: Optional Lab Section

Description
Optional lab section for Mathematics 218-1: solving systems of linear equations, matrix factorizations and fundamental vector subspaces, orthogonality, least squares problems, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, the singular value decomposition and principal component analysis, applications to data-driven problems. Intended primarily for students in computer science and other data-focused sciences. Prospective math majors should take Mathematics 221 instead. Corequisite: Mathematics 218-1.

MATH22 - Introductory Calculus II

Description
Credit awarded on the basis of national/international examinations in mathematics such as College Board, International Baccalaureate, British Advanced Level. Equivalent to Mathematics 112L as a prerequisite.

MATH221D - Linear Algebra and Applications

Description
Systems of linear equations and elementary row operations, Euclidean n-space and subspaces, linear transformations and matrix representations, Gram-Schmidt orthogonalization process, determinants, eigenvectors and eigenvalues; applications. Introduction to proofs. A gateway to more advanced math courses. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 216 or 218. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 122, 112L or 122L.

MATH222 - Advanced Multivariable Calculus

Description
Partial differentiation, multiple integrals, and topics in differential and integral vector calculus, including Green's theorem, Stokes's theorem, and Gauss's theorem for students with a background in linear algebra. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 202, 212, or 219. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221.
MATH228L - Probability for Statistical Inference, Modeling, and Data Analysis

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 228L
Title: Probability for Statistical Inference, Modeling, and Data Analysis

MATH230 - Probability

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 230
Title: Probability

Description: Probability models, random variables with discrete and continuous distributions. Independence, joint distributions, conditional distributions. Expectations, functions of random variables, central limit theorem. Prerequisite: Calculus II (Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L) OR credit for multivariable calculus (Mathematics 202, 212, 219, or 222) OR graduate student standing. Not open to students who have credit for Mathematics 340.

MATH230S - Probability Inquiry Based Learning

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 230S
Title: Probability Inquiry Based Learning

Description: Students will spend class time working in groups to solve problems, prove statements, generate examples and present their work to the class. Probability models, random variables with discrete and continuous distributions. Independence, joint distributions, conditional distributions. Expectations, functions of random variables, central limit theorem. Prerequisite: Calculus II (Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L) OR credit for multivariable calculus (Mathematics 202, 212, 219, or 222) OR graduate student standing. Not open to students who have credit for Mathematics 340.

MATH232S - Math, Ethics, and Society

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 232S
Title: Math, Ethics, and Society

Description: Today, more than any time in history, mathematics builds and maintains the engines of power. What does it mean to use math ethically? Who should math benefit, and how does math culture, research, and education impact the world in which we live? We examine these questions through case studies covering a range of topics, including cryptography, algorithmically generated knowledge, AI, math education, and the underlying culture of mathematics. Students will learn through a combination of readings, discussions, group activities, and an open-ended cumulative project dealing with the interactions between math and community. Prerequisites: MATH 21, 105L, 111L, or 121.
MATH238L - Fundamentals of Data Analysis and Decision Science

Description
This course provides a mathematically rigorous and broad foundation for key concepts in probability and statistics, as well as the application of probability and statistics to the mathematical modeling of non-deterministic systems. The main motivation of the course is to show how these concepts are fundamental to a variety of current data analysis techniques, and to demonstrate applications of these techniques in situations relevant to all engineering majors. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 216, 218, or 221) and (Engineering 103L, Computer Science 101L, Computer Science 201, or Mathematics 218L).

MATH240 - Introduction to Applied Mathematics: Modeling, Equations and Proofs

Description
The course will consist of 3 or 4 concrete applications, for which precise mathematical questions will be formulated, and a mathematical framework developed that will make it possible to answer these questions. In doing so, we will encounter and explore portions of real analysis, probability, linear algebra, convex analysis, information theory and maybe others. We will also learn how to construct watertight mathematical arguments, and explore different proof techniques. Prerequisites: none, beyond high school calculus.

MATH245 - Introduction to Mathematics: Example, Conjecture, and Proof

Description
Explorations of interesting problems from a variety of branches of math such as geometry, number theory, combinatorics, logic, and analysis. Students will strengthen their problem solving and proof-writing abilities. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 216, 218, or 221.

MATH260 - Python Programming in Mathematics

Description
Introductory programming course in Python providing a foundational background for programming in a mathematical setting. Students will learn the basics of object orientated programming: memory storage and variable scoping, recursion, objects and classes, and basic data structures. A variety of numerical methods will be introduced, with a focus on their practical implementation, through a series of practice modules covering subjects that may include: linear algebra, machine learning, operations research, and genetics. Recommended prerequisite: linear algebra (Mathematics 216, 218, or 221). No programming background is required. Not open to students who have taken Computer Science 201.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>281S</td>
<td>Problem Solving Seminar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Techniques for attacking and solving challenging mathematics problems and writing mathematical proofs. Course may be repeated. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>282S</td>
<td>Mathematical and interdisciplinary modeling seminar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Introduction to mathematical techniques and their applications to real world problems. Class meetings will start with an introduction to a mathematical tool (and often its implementation), with the remainder of the class devoted to working in teams on modeling strategies for a given problem. Practice problems will be drawn from the COMAP Mathematical or Interdisciplinary Contest for Modeling, and students may have the opportunity to participate in the contest in February. Students will learn about a range of tools useful for modeling and write reports describing models and results. Prerequisite: Math 111 (or 121) and 112 (or 122). Some programming experience is useful but not required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>283S</td>
<td>Advanced Problem Solving Seminar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Students work on challenging mathematics problems and write complete and rigorous proofs. The focus is on preparing for math competitions such as the Putnam. Course may be repeated. Previous math competition experience recommended. Consent of instructor required. Half credit.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Special Topics in Mathematics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>290-1</td>
<td>Topics in Mathematical Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: The selected topics will vary from year to year, depending on the instructors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Seminar in Topics in Mathematics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Seminar in various topics in mathematics. Contents vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MATH298 - Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>298</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Directed reading in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a paper or written report containing analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

MATH304 - Introduction to Cryptography

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>304</td>
<td>Introduction to Cryptography</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to techniques in cryptography, accompanied by analysis of historical and societal consequences. Topics include elementary combinatorics and number theory, including modular arithmetic and prime numbers; classical ciphers and accompanying attacks; the Enigma machines; modern encryption schemes, including public channel cryptography. Prerequisite: Mathematics 212, 216, 219, 221, or 222, or consent of instructor. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 404.

MATH305S - Number Theory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>305S</td>
<td>Number Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Divisibility properties of integers, prime numbers, congruences, quadratic reciprocity, number-theoretic functions, simple continued fractions, rational approximations; contributions of Fermat, Euler, and Gauss. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122, 112L, 122L, or consent of instructor. Individual research paper required.

MATH323S - Geometry

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>323S</td>
<td>Geometry</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Euclidean geometry, inverse and projective geometries, topology (Möbius strips, Klein bottle, projective space), and non-Euclidean geometries in two and three dimensions; contributions of Euclid, Gauss, Lobachevsky, Bolyai, Riemann, and Hilbert. Research project and paper required. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122, 112L, 122L, or consent of instructor.

MATH333 - Complex Analysis

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>333</td>
<td>Complex Analysis</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Complex numbers, analytic functions, complex integration, Taylor and Laurent series, theory of residues, argument and maximum principles, conformal mapping. Prerequisite: Mathematics 212 or 222 as well as Mathematics 221, or consent of instructor.

MATH340 - Advanced Introduction to Probability

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>340</td>
<td>Advanced Introduction to Probability</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Advanced introduction to basic, non-measure theoretic probability covering topics in more depth and with more rigor than MATH 230. Topics include random variables with discrete and continuous distributions. Independence, joint distributions, conditional distributions, generating functions, Bayes’ formula, and Markov chains. Rigorous arguments are presented for the law of large numbers, central limit theorem, and Poisson limit theorems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 202, 212, or 222. Not open to those who have taken Mathematics 230 or Statistics 230.
MATH342D - Statistics

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 342D
Title: Statistics

Description:
An introduction to the concepts, theory, and application of statistical inference, including the structure of statistical problems, probability modeling, data analysis and statistical computing, and linear regression. Inference from the viewpoint of Bayesian statistics, with some discussion of sampling theory methods and comparative inference. Applications to problems in various fields. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 202D, 212, 219, or 222) and (Statistical Science 230, Statistical Science 240L, or Mathematics 340).

MATH343 - Theory and Methods of Statistical Learning and Inference

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 343
Title: Theory and Methods of Statistical Learning and Inference

Description:
Estimators and properties (efficiency, consistency, sufficiency); loss functions. Fisher information, asymptotic properties and distributions of estimators. Exponential families. Point and interval estimation, delta method. Neyman-Pearson lemma; likelihood ratio tests; multiple testing; design and the analysis of variance (ANOVA). High-dimensional data; statistical regularization and sparsity; penalty and prior formulations; model selection. Resampling methods; principal component analysis, mixture models. Prerequisite: (Statistical Science 240L, 230, or 231) and (Mathematics 202, 212, 219, or 222). Not open to students with credit for STA 250. Recommended prerequisite: Statistical Science 210, 360, and (Mathematics 221, 218, or 216).

MATH353 - Ordinary and Partial Differential Equations

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 353
Title: Ordinary and Partial Differential Equations

Description:
First and second order ordinary differential equations with applications, Laplace transforms, series solutions and qualitative behavior, Fourier series, partial differential equations, boundary value problems, Sturm-Liouville theory. Intended primarily for engineering and science students. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 202, 202D, 212, 219, or 222) and (Mathematics 216, 218-1, 218-2, or 221). Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 356.

MATH353A - Ordinary and Partial Differential Equations

Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 353A
Title: Ordinary and Partial Differential Equations

Description:
First and second order ordinary differential equations with applications, Laplace transforms, series solutions and qualitative behavior, Fourier series, partial differential equations, boundary value problems, Sturm-Liouville theory. Intended primarily for engineering and science students. Study-abroad version of Math 353. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 202, 202D, 212, 219, or 222) and (Mathematics 216, 218-1, 218-2, or 221). Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 356.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>356</td>
<td>MATH356 - Elementary Differential Equations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>First and second order differential equations with applications; linear systems of differential equations; Fourier series and applications to partial differential equations. Additional topics may include stability, nonlinear systems, bifurcations, or numerical methods. Not open to students who have had Mathematics 216 or Mathematics 353. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 218 or 221 and one of 202, 212, or 222.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>361S</td>
<td>MATH361S - Mathematical Numerical Analysis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Development of numerical techniques for accurate, efficient solution of problems in science, engineering, and mathematics through the use of computers. Linear systems, nonlinear equations, optimization, numerical integration, differential equations, simulation of dynamical systems, error analysis. Research project and paper required. Not open to students who have had Computer Science 220 or 520. Prerequisites: Mathematics 212 and 221 and basic knowledge of a programming language (at the level of Computer Science 101), or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>371</td>
<td>MATH371 - Combinatorics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Permutations and combinations, generating functions, recurrence relations; topics in enumeration theory, including the Principle of Inclusion-Exclusion and Polya Theory; topics in graph theory, including trees, circuits, and matrix representations; applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122, 112L, 122L or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>375</td>
<td>MATH375 - Introduction to Linear Programming and Game Theory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Fundamental properties of linear programs; linear inequalities and convex sets; primal simplex method, duality, integer programming; two-person and matrix games. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221 or equivalence.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>388</td>
<td>MATH388 - Logic and Its Applications</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics in proof theory, model theory, and recursion theory; applications to computer science, formal linguistics, mathematics, and philosophy. Usually taught jointly by faculty members from the departments of computer science, mathematics, and philosophy. Prerequisite: a course in logic or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>MATH390 - Special Topics in Mathematics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MATH391 - Independent Study
Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study
Description:
Directed reading in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

MATH392 - Independent Study
Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 392
Title: Independent Study
Description:
Directed reading in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required. Prerequisite: Mathematics 391.

MATH393 - Research Independent Study
Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study
Description:
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

MATH394 - Research Independent Study
Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study
Description:
Individual research in mathematics or the applications of mathematics under the supervision of a faculty member. The goal must be a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Prerequisite: Mathematics 393. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

MATH401 - Introduction to Abstract Algebra
Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 401
Title: Introduction to Abstract Algebra
Description:
Groups, rings, and fields. Students intending to take a year of abstract algebra should take Mathematics 501 and 502. Not open to students who have had Mathematics 501. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 221.

MATH403 - Advanced Linear Algebra
Subject: MATH
Catalog Number: 403
Title: Advanced Linear Algebra
Description:
Topics in linear algebra beyond those in a first course. For example: principal component analysis and other decompositions (singular value, Cholesky, etc.); Perron-Frobenius theory; positive semi-definite matrices; linear programming and more general convexity and optimization; basic simplicial topology; Gershgorin theory; classical matrix groups. Applications to computer science, statistics, image processing, economics, or other fields of mathematics and science. Prerequisite: Mathematics 212 or 222 and Mathematics 218 or 221.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>404</td>
<td>Mathematical Cryptography</td>
<td>Mathematics of cryptography and some applications. Topics include finite fields, discrete logarithms, integer factorization and RSA, elliptic curve cryptography, hash functions, digital signatures, DES and AES. Open to students who have taken Mathematics 304. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221 or 218 or 216, Computer Science 101L or equivalent. Mathematics 401 or 501 would be useful.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>411</td>
<td>Topology</td>
<td>Elementary topology, surfaces, covering spaces, Euler characteristic, fundamental group, homology theory, exact sequences. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>412</td>
<td>Topological Data Analysis</td>
<td>Introduction to topology from a computational view-point, with a focus on applications. Themes include: basic notions of point-set topology, persistent homology, finding multi-scale topological structure in point cloud data. Algorithmic considerations emphasized. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>421</td>
<td>Differential Geometry</td>
<td>Geometry of curves and surfaces, the Serret-Frenet frame of a space curve, Gauss curvature, Cadazzi-Mainardi equations, the Gauss-Bonnet formula. Prerequisite: Mathematics 221 and one of 202, 212, or 222.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>431</td>
<td>Introduction to Real Analysis</td>
<td>Algebraic and topological structure of the real number system; rigorous development of one-variable calculus including continuous, differentiable, and Riemann integrable functions and the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus; uniform convergence of a sequence of functions; contributions of Newton, Leibniz, Cauchy, Riemann, and Weierstrass. Students intending to continue studying mathematics at a graduate level are encouraged to take Math 531 instead of this class. Not open to students who have taken Mathematics 531. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 202, 212, or 222.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>451S</td>
<td>Nonlinear Dynamics and Chaos</td>
<td>Theory and applications of systems of nonlinear ordinary differential equations. Topics may include qualitative behavior, numerical experiments, oscillations, bifurcations, deterministic chaos, fractal dimension of attracting sets, delay differential equations, and applications to the biological and physical sciences. Research project and paper required. Prerequisite: Mathematics 216 or 356 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MATH453 - Introduction to Partial Differential Equations

Subject  | MATH
Catalog Number  | 453
Title  | Introduction to Partial Differential Equations
Description
Heat, wave, and potential equations: scientific context, derivation, techniques of solution, and qualitative properties. Topics to include Fourier series and transforms, eigenvalue problems, maximum principles, Green's functions, and characteristics. Intended primarily for mathematics majors and those with similar backgrounds. Prerequisite: Mathematics 353 or 356 or consent of instructor.

MATH462 - Graph Analysis with Matrix Computation

Subject  | MATH
Catalog Number  | 462
Title  | Graph Analysis with Matrix Computation
Description
Undergraduate Level. Introduction to analysis of real-world networks and generated graphs via matrix representation, connection and computation. Graphs and networks are characterized, analyzed and categorized by combinatorial, algebraic and probabilistic measures of connectivity and centrality. Probabilistic graph categories include the small-world network model, the scale-free network model as well as the traditional Erdos–Rényi model. Prerequisites: Math 212 or equivalent; Math 216, 218D or 221 or equivalent; CompSci 101L or equivalent.

MATH465 - Introduction to High Dimensional Data Analysis

Subject  | MATH
Catalog Number  | 465
Title  | Introduction to High Dimensional Data Analysis
Description

MATH466 - Mathematics of Machine Learning

Subject  | MATH
Catalog Number  | 466
Title  | Mathematics of Machine Learning
Description
The course will explore mathematics underlying the practice and theory of various machine learning concepts and algorithms. Kernel methods, deep learning, reinforcement learning, generalization error, stochastic gradient descent, and dimension reduction or data embeddings will be introduced. The interplay between the mathematics and real applications will be a component of the course. Students can take both this course and Mathematics 465 for credit. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 230/340 and 218/216/221 and some familiarity with programming, preferably Python.

MATH477S - Seminar in Mathematical Modeling with a Focus on Writing

Subject  | MATH
Catalog Number  | 477S
Title  | Seminar in Mathematical Modeling with a Focus on Writing
Description
Introduction to techniques used in the construction, analysis, and evaluation of mathematical models. Individual modeling projects in biology, chemistry, economics, engineering, medicine, or physics. Considerable attention is given to writing in an interdisciplinary context. Not open to student that have taken Math 476S. Prerequisite: Mathematics 353 or 356 or consent of instructor.

MATH490 - Topics in Mathematics

Subject  | MATH
Catalog Number  | 490
Title  | Topics in Mathematics
Description
Topics vary.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MATH491</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>491</td>
<td>Same as Mathematics 391, but for seniors. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH492</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>492</td>
<td>Directed reading in a field of mathematics or its applications under the supervision of a faculty member resulting in a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. For seniors. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required. Prerequisite: Mathematics 491.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Same as Mathematics 393, but for seniors. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH494</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>494</td>
<td>Individual research in mathematics or the applications of mathematics under the supervision of a faculty member. The goal must be a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. For seniors. Prerequisite: Mathematics 493. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH75</td>
<td>SPIRE Fellows STEM Skills and Identity Building</td>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>75</td>
<td>Introduction to mathematical techniques and applications in science and engineering. Students will participate in group research projects and discussions. Topics vary each semester offered. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MATH89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
<td>MATH</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ME221DL - Structure and Properties of Solids

Subject: ME
Catalog Number: 221DL
Title: Structure and Properties of Solids

Description:
Introduction to materials science and engineering, emphasizing the relationships between the structure of a solid and its properties. Atomic and molecular origins of electrical, mechanical, and chemical behavior are treated in some detail for metals, alloys, polymers, ceramics, glasses, and composite materials. Prerequisite: Chemistry 20, 21, or 101DL and Engineering 201L or Biomedical Engineering 110L.

ME221L - Structure and Properties of Solids

Subject: ME
Catalog Number: 221L
Title: Structure and Properties of Solids

Description:
Introduction to materials science and engineering, emphasizing the relationships between the structure of a solid and its properties. Atomic and molecular origins of electrical, mechanical, and chemical behavior are treated in some detail for metals, alloys, polymers, ceramics, glasses, and composite materials. Prerequisite: Chemistry 20, 21, or 101DL and Engineering 201L or Biomedical Engineering 110L.

ME321L - Mechanical Engineering Analysis for Design

Subject: ME
Catalog Number: 321L
Title: Mechanical Engineering Analysis for Design

Description:
Calculation of 3D stresses, strains, and deflections encountered in mechanical designs. Types of problems include: curved beams, contact stresses, press/shrink fits, etc. Reliability and uncertainty analysis, failure theories, fatigue, and fracture mechanics. Computational methods of analysis, such as finite elements analysis are covered. Prerequisite: Engineering 121L, 211L, 244L, and Mathematics 353.

ME331L - Thermodynamics

Subject: ME
Catalog Number: 331L
Title: Thermodynamics

Description:
The principal laws of thermodynamics for open and closed systems and their application in engineering. Properties of the pure substance, relationships among properties, mixtures and reactions. Power and refrigeration cycle analysis. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 212 or 219) and Physics 151L.

ME336L - Fluid Mechanics

Subject: ME
Catalog Number: 336L
Title: Fluid Mechanics

Description:
An introductory course emphasizing the application of the principles of conservation of mass, momentum, and energy in a fluid system. Physical properties of fluids, dimensional analysis and similitude, viscous effects and integral boundary layer theory, subsonic and supersonic flows, normal shockwaves. Selected laboratory work. Prerequisites: Engineering 244L and Mechanical Engineering 331L, Co-requisite or prerequisite: Mathematics 353.

ME344L - Control of Dynamic Systems

Subject: ME
Catalog Number: 344L
Title: Control of Dynamic Systems

Description:
Model dynamic systems, characterize time and frequency domain response with respect to particular inputs. Characterize systems in terms of rise-time, settling-time, bandwidth. Identify the difference between stable and unstable system. Apply feedback control to modify response of dynamic systems. Develop methods of designing compensators for single-input, single-output, and multiple-input, multiple-output dynamic systems. Introduces optimal control theory, the linear quadratic regulator problem, the linear quadratic Gaussian problem. Gain a physical understanding of role of feedback control in modifying the dynamics of a system. Prerequisite: (Engineering 224L or ECE 280L) and Mathematics 216. Not open to students who have taken ECE 382.
ME391 - Undergraduate Projects in Mechanical Engineering
Subject ME
Catalog Number 391
Title Undergraduate Projects in Mechanical Engineering
Description Individual projects arranged in consultation with a faculty member. Open to students who show special aptitude for research and design. Taught in the Fall. Consent of director of undergraduate studies.

ME392 - Undergraduate Projects in Mechanical Engineering
Subject ME
Catalog Number 392
Title Undergraduate Projects in Mechanical Engineering
Description Individual projects arranged in consultation with a faculty member. Open to students who show special aptitude for research and design. Taught in the Spring. Consent of director of undergraduate studies.

ME394 - Engineering Undergraduate Fellows Projects
Subject ME
Catalog Number 394
Title Engineering Undergraduate Fellows Projects
Description Intensive research project in Mechanical Engineering by students selected as Engineering Undergraduate Fellows. Course credit is contingent upon satisfactory completion of 493 and 494. Consent of instructor and program director required.

ME412 - Modern Materials
Subject ME
Catalog Number 412
Title Modern Materials
Description Modern Materials will examine the underlying molecular details that give materials their specific properties. The course will emphasize polymers, photovoltaics, magnetic materials, and biocompatible ceramics. Each module will begin with an overview of applications, economics, and history of the material. Starting with the standard characterization methods for each material, we will work towards an understanding of the fundamental physics and chemistry that leads to the unique properties of each material. The course will draw upon fundamental concepts in materials science, chemistry, physics, and calculus.

ME419 - Molecular Modeling of Soft Matter
Subject ME
Catalog Number 419
Title Molecular Modeling of Soft Matter
Description Fundamentals and application of statistical mechanics and molecular simulations towards modeling biological and soft materials. Students will learn a variety of computational techniques including energy minimization, molecular dynamics simulations, Monte Carlo simulations, and stochastic dynamics simulations. Students will obtain valuable hands on experience in using molecular simulation software, visualizing molecular systems, and analyzing simulation data for computing material properties. Prerequisites: Basic programming skills in C, MATLAB, Fortran, or Python. Basic undergraduate-level understanding of concepts in mathematics, physics, and chemistry.

ME421L - Mechanical Design
Subject ME
Catalog Number 421L
Title Mechanical Design
Description A study of practical aspects of mechanical design including conceptualization, specifications, and selection of mechanical elements. The design and application of mechanical components such as gears, cams, bearings, springs, and shafts. Practice in application of process through design projects. Prerequisite: Mechanical Engineering 221L and 321L.
ME424L - Mechanical Systems Design

Subject
ME

Catalog Number
424L

Title
Mechanical Systems Design

Description
An integrative design course addressing both creative and practical aspects of the design of systems. Development of the creative design process, including problem formulation and needs analysis, feasibility, legal, economic and human factors, aesthetics, safety, synthesis of alternatives, and design optimization. Application of design methods through several projects including a term design project. Prerequisite: Mechanical Engineering 344L, 421L, and 431L.

ME426 - Ocean Engineering

Subject
ME

Catalog Number
426

Title
Ocean Engineering

Description
A challenging Ocean Engineering project will be undertaken in this class. Past examples include participation in a national XPRIZE contest to build an Ocean Sensor. Students define project scope and form task-oriented sub-teams to make significant progress toward overall class project goal. Students are expected to spend several hours per week outside of class working on the team projects. Students will need to be in teams that can all meet for at least a couple of hours at the same time each week. Prerequisite: one of ECE 230L, ECE 250D, ECE 270DL, ECE 280L, Mechanical Engineering 221L, Engineering 244L, or Environment 102.

ME431L - Heat and Mass Transfer

Subject
ME

Catalog Number
431L

Title
Heat and Mass Transfer

Description

ME438 - Constructal Theory and Design

Subject
ME

Catalog Number 438

Title
Constructal Theory and Design

Description
Flow configuration in nature and engineering emerges from the constructal law of increase of flow access in time, when the flow system is endowed with freedom to morph. The course brings together the basic principles of fluid mechanics, heat transfer and thermodynamics, and teaches how to generate (to ‘discover’) shape and structure for energy flow systems. The course teaches design as science, and presents a paradigm that is applicable across the board, from engineering to biology, geophysics and social dynamics.

ME442 - Introduction to Robotics and Automation

Subject
ME

Catalog Number 442

Title
Introduction to Robotics and Automation

Description
Fundamental notions in robotics, basic configurations of manipulator arm design, coordinate transformations, control functions, and robot programming. Applications of artificial intelligence, machine vision, force/torque, touch and other sensory subsystems. Design for automatic assembly concepts, tools, and techniques. Application of automated and robotic assembly costs, benefits, and economic justification. Selected laboratory and programming assignments. Prerequisites: ECE 280L or EGR 224L.

ME461 - Energy Engineering and the Environment

Subject
ME

Catalog Number
461

Title
Energy Engineering and the Environment

Description
Efficiencies of both new and established energy sources and conversion methods. Evaluation of alternative energy technologies by statistical information and by modeling using principals of fluid mechanics, thermodynamics and heat transfer. Electricity generation by fossil fuels, nuclear, solar, wind and hydro. Space heating and cooling by traditional methods and by solar. Transportation energy in automobiles, mass transit and freight. Environmental consequences of energy choices on local, national and global scales, including toxic emissions, greenhouse gases and resource depletion. Prerequisite: Mechanical Engineering 331L Thermodynamics.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>472</td>
<td>Aircraft Performance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>473</td>
<td>Aerospace Structures</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>490</td>
<td>Special Topics in Mechanical Engineering</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>491</td>
<td>Special Projects in Mechanical Engineering</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>492</td>
<td>Special Projects in Mechanical Engineering</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Engineering Undergraduate Fellows Projects</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ME472 - Aircraft Performance

Description
Brief overview of the aerodynamics of wings and bodies including profile and induced drag, performance of propellers and internal combustion and gas turbine power plants; the power curve and implications on the performance of the aircraft in steady-state and accelerated flight included power required, airspeeds to fly, takeoff and landing performance, performance of aircraft in turning flight; introduction to the conceptual design of new aircraft. Co-requisite: Mechanical Engineering 330L.

ME473 - Aerospace Structures

Description

ME490 - Special Topics in Mechanical Engineering

Description
Study arranged on a special engineering topic in which the faculty has particular interest and competence as a result of research and professional activities. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

ME491 - Special Projects in Mechanical Engineering

Description
Individual projects arranged in consultation with a faculty member. Open only to seniors enrolled in the graduation with distinction program or showing special aptitude for research. Half course to two courses. To be taught in the Fall. Prerequisites: B average and consent of the director of undergraduate studies.

ME492 - Special Projects in Mechanical Engineering

Description
Individual projects arranged in consultation with a faculty member. Open only to seniors enrolled in the graduation with distinction program or showing special aptitude for research. Half course to two courses. To be taught in the Spring. Prerequisites: B average and consent of the director of undergraduate studies.

ME493 - Engineering Undergraduate Fellows Projects

Description
Continuation course for Engineering Undergraduate Fellows, contingent upon satisfactory completion of 394. Consent required.
ME494 - Engineering Undergraduate Fellows Projects

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>494</td>
<td>Engineering Undergraduate Fellows Projects</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Final continuation course for Engineering Undergraduate Fellows, contingent upon satisfactory completion of 394 and 493. Consent required.

ME499 - Undergraduate Research Seminar Series

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ME</td>
<td>499</td>
<td>Undergraduate Research Seminar Series</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
For students enrolled in senior-level undergraduate research. Intended for those pursuing Graduation with Departmental Distinction. Course will give students an opportunity to present research results to their peers and faculty in mechanical engineering throughout the semester, as well as provide exposure to the research of other mechanical engineering seniors. Permission of instructor required.

MEDREN105 - Old Worlds/New Histories, 500-1500 CE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>105</td>
<td>Old Worlds/New Histories, 500-1500 CE</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
New approaches to history of the world from ca. 500 to 1500 CE. Examines the world before European hegemony. Topics may include nature of autonomous centers of production around the globe; characteristics of trade, empire, science, technology, and high culture across Asia, the Middle East, Africa and the Americas; diffusion of inventions, ideas, cultures and religions through travel, trade, state and empire building. Readings and films explore diverse cosmopolitan worlds before the coming of modernity.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Description
A survey of Europe between approx. 1440-1750 that highlights changes in European society including the end of the Renaissance, the Reformation, the Scientific Revolution and the European encounter with other regions of the world.

MEDREN128 - War and Society in the Middle Ages and Renaissance

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>128</td>
<td>War and Society in the Middle Ages and Renaissance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
An introduction to war and society from about 500 to 1600 in western Europe. This course looks at the sources of conflict and the ways warrior identity and violence generally were culturally supported. The course will emphasize reading in primary sources, including documents and literature.

MEDREN135 - Silk Roads and China, Ancient and Medieval Transformations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>135</td>
<td>Silk Roads and China, Ancient and Medieval Transformations</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The Silk Roads are the oldest and longest routes of cultural communication and economic exchange connecting Asia, Europe and Africa. In use since the days of Alexander the Great, the Roads and its rail networks now extend from China to England, connecting 70 countries and forming a vital system. This course introduces the ancient to early modern histories, cultures, and religions of the Silk Roads anchored in four themes: Alexander's empire; life in medieval cities of Chang'an, Baghdad and Constantinople; Silk Roads religions and the interactions of Buddhism, Christianity, Judaism and Islam; and the Mongol empire visited through the travels of Marco Polo.
MEDREN145S - Gateway Seminar: Disease in the Premodern World

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 145S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Disease in the Premodern World

Description
Using primary sources students will explore the impact, management and changing definitions of disease in various pre-modern societies. We look at disease in the context of encounters, environmental change and state formation between 100 and 1700CE. Not just understood as a biological phenomenon, disease can also work as a signifying system, creating status hierarchies and highlighting particular social and political anxieties. Through the study of five or six historical epidemics, students will learn how to create historical resources out of medical sources.

MEDREN190FS - Special Topics in Focus

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Special Topics in Focus

Description
Special topics in Medieval and Renaissance Studies open only to students in the Focus Program.

MEDREN190S - Special Topics in Medieval Renaissance Studies

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Medieval Renaissance Studies

Description
Topics differ each semester.

MEDREN191FS - Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 191FS
Title: Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe

Description
This course focuses on the battle between barbarian invaders, established communities, and new religions in the Middle Ages. What became Spain and Portugal were battlegrounds between faiths old and new, a clash of civilizations between Christianity, Judaism, and Islam that would inform future global conflicts. We explore the history of this confrontation at the crossroad of civilizations—between East and West, Africa and Europe—and its effect on our worldview today. A common culture was forged in science, mathematics, music, literature, philosophy, and mysticism, a shared legacy shaping world history and the current world order. Part of the ‘Geopolitics and Culture’ Focus Cluster.

MEDREN201S - Music History I: Antiquity Through Renaissance

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 201S
Title: Music History I: Antiquity Through Renaissance

Description
The history of music in medieval and early Europe in its cultural and social context. Prerequisite: Music 261 or consent of instructor.

MEDREN202S - Music History II: 1600 through Mozart

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 202S
Title: Music History II: 1600 through Mozart

Description
The history of music in Europe in its cultural and social context. Prerequisite: Music 261 or consent of instructor.
MEDREN215 - Gothic Cathedrals

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 215
Title: Gothic Cathedrals

Description: Great cathedrals of Europe in England, Germany, and Italy, with a special focus on France, from roughly 1140 to 1270, and their construction, financing, and role in the fabric of medieval city life. The urban context of each city, the history of the site and its relics, and the artistic and technological developments that made the construction of these complex and large-scale structures possible. A consideration of Romanesque precedents and the origins of the various structural elements of Gothic architecture.

MEDREN217 - The Body in Art in Early Modern Europe: Power and Limits of Corporeal Representations

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 217
Title: The Body in Art in Early Modern Europe: Power and Limits of Corporeal Representations

Description: This course studies the artistic representations of the human body in many guises: aesthetic, political, social, cultural, and erotic. It analyses the different strategies artists deployed to develop rhetorics of the body both physical and emotional. It considers different media (including painting, sculpture, drawings, prints, architecture, and gardens) and major theoretical frameworks (including feminist theory, phenomenology, social theory and somaesthetics). This course considers the body dynamically through composition, as object of investigation, as locus of meaning and through social understanding. Lectures and discussions are complemented by corporeal performances and improvisations.

MEDREN224S - Islam, Art, and Society

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 224S
Title: Islam, Art, and Society

Description: Explores the historic interweaving of theology, spirituality, art, architecture, mathematics, & astronomy in the beautification of everyday objects & lived spaces. It examines how underlying principles of beauty and geometry shaped places such as hospitals, palaces, gardens, colleges, mosques, inns, and Sufi lodges as well as their historical functions in Muslim societies. Students also study and reconstruct historic examples of artistic patterns. A rotating variety of case studies across Afro-Eurasia may include sites and cultural artifacts from Bukhara, Cairo, Cordoba, Damascus, Delhi, Fes, Granada, Guangzhou, Hyderabad, Istanbul, Isfahan, Jerusalem, Malacca, Samarqand, Timbuktu & more.

MEDREN225 - Art in Renaissance Italy

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 225
Title: Art in Renaissance Italy

Description: The course provides a panorama of Italian Renaissance art including theory, painting, print, sculpture, and architecture. The objectives are to ensure knowledge of Renaissance artistic production and related historiography and to develop students' analytical and research skills. Materials are organized thematically around notions of artistic training and workshop practice, techniques, centers of production, art markets, antiquarianism and collections, patronage, gender, artistic rivalry, dissemination of knowledge, relationship with the spectator, social structures, sacred and secular spaces and objects, among others, which will be considered in relation to specific case studies.
MEDREN225FS - Art in Renaissance Italy

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 225FS
Title: Art in Renaissance Italy

Description:
The course provides a panorama of Italian Renaissance art including theory, painting, print, sculpture, and architecture. The objectives are to ensure knowledge of Renaissance artistic production and related historiography, and to develop students' analytical and research skills. Materials are organized thematically around notions of artistic training and workshop practice, techniques, centers of production, art markets, antiquarianism and collections, patronage, gender, artistic rivalry, dissemination of knowledge, relationship with the spectator, social structures, sacred and secular spaces and objects, among others, which will be considered in relation to specific case studies. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

MEDREN226 - Medieval Castles of Europe

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 226
Title: Medieval Castles of Europe

Description:
This course will examine the transition of Western Europe into a fortified landscape from the mid-11th century until the advent of large-scale artillery in the mid-15th century. In addition to tracking technological and stylistic changes over time, this course will identify the discrete elements of fortification that were combined into a variety of castle plans. Natural resources and physical topography will emerge as central factors in the choice of site and design for medieval castles. As a way of investigating these topics, students will digitally reconstruct a historical or imagined castle in 3D graphics at a specific place and time covered in the course.

MEDREN227 - Renaissance Architecture in Italy: Brunelleschi to Michelangelo

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 227
Title: Renaissance Architecture in Italy: Brunelleschi to Michelangelo

Description:

MEDREN229A - Renaissance and Baroque Art History

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 229A
Title: Renaissance and Baroque Art History

Description:
Introduction to the development of painting, sculpture, and architecture in Rome from the fifteenth to the early seventeenth centuries, focusing on the patronage of the Popes and the Papal court. Consent required. (Taught at the Intercollegiate Center for Classical Studies in Rome.)

MEDREN233 - Michelangelo in Context

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 233
Title: Michelangelo in Context

Description:
Historical and cultural contextualization of the work of Michelangelo Buonarroti (1475-1564), painting, sculpture and architecture. History, historiography, contemporary debate and scholarship concerning his work of artistic training and workshop practice, techniques, centers of production, art markets and consumption, antiquarianism and art collections, patronage, identity, gender, artistic rivalry, spread of knowledge and models, relationship with the spectator, social life, sacred and secular spaces and objects. Field trip to the Metropolitan Museum of Art collection of Renaissance architectural drawings and prints in New York.

MEDREN236 - Pilgrimage and Tourism

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 236
Title: Pilgrimage and Tourism

Description:
Investigation of pilgrimage and tourist destinations (Jerusalem, Rome, Santiago, Orlando, New York) from the Middle Ages to the present through a study of their material remains, primary sources and theoretical texts. Discussion of the moral and ethical issues involved in marketing authenticity from a cross-cultural and comparative perspective. Evaluation based on weekly student written assessments of the texts and the presentation of a pilgrimage site of their choice.
MEDREN240 - Drawing Foundations in Early Modern Europe

Subject | MEDREN
---|---
Catalog Number | 240
Title | Drawing Foundations in Early Modern Europe
Description
Through classroom lectures, museum visits, and studio practice, this course studies the place of drawing since its early modern theorization in the visual arts and in the artistic practice. Drawings can be records of visual observation, or of a speculative thought process; ways of working out ideas, and of presenting plans; they also achieve the status of independent art objects. Students will gain familiarity with drawing as an artistic medium related to major questions about art and society, while also learning fundamental and practical drawing skills that will give deeper insights into theory.

MEDREN244 - Renaissance Architecture: A European Perspective

Subject | MEDREN
---|---
Catalog Number | 244
Title | Renaissance Architecture: A European Perspective
Description
Surveys panorama of European architectural theory and production in fifteenth and sixteenth centuries within a broad geographical area including Italy, France, Spain, Germany, Poland, the Low Countries, and England. Course objectives are to insure knowledge of Renaissance architectural production, related historiography, and contemporary debate and scholarship as well as develop students' analytical and research skills. Reading materials organized chronologically to facilitate students' approach to the field of architectural history, while a thematic, case-study based approach will prevail in class.

MEDREN245S - Women in Visual Arts, 1400-1800: Theory and History

Subject | MEDREN
---|---
Catalog Number | 245S
Title | Women in Visual Arts, 1400-1800: Theory and History
Description
Through lectures, discussion and individual projects, this course considers the roles women have played in the Early Modern art world as makers, buyers, patrons, donors, critics, and art collectors. It also takes up issues of gender, of race, of masculinity as well as femininity. A central theme of this class is how debates about the so-called Woman Question, which was essentially an ongoing quarrel about the nature and social role of women, shaped the representations and experiences of women of different classes and conditions. Our focus will be on visual representations, as well as period writing of and by women.

MEDREN246 - Italian Baroque Art

Subject | MEDREN
---|---
Catalog Number | 246
Title | Italian Baroque Art
Description
This course will trace the development of the Italian baroque in architecture, sculpture and painting. It will consider a variety of themes relevant to Baroque artistic production, including religious influences on the art of the period, namely the Reformation and the Catholic Counter Reformation; economic influences; central versus peripheral locations; issues of gender and sexuality; patronage; architectural site and meaning; urban planning and transformation; the artist, his workshop and rivalries; decoding the myths of artistic genius; and seventeenth-century primary sources.
MEDREN247S - Musical Shakespeare

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 247S
Title: Musical Shakespeare

Description: William Shakespeare exerts a powerful influence, not only on literature and drama, but on the other arts as well. Composers from the Renaissance to present day, have created music expressly for the performance of his plays and sonnets. Our seminar will explore this repertoire by examining masterworks of music in relation to their Shakespearean antecedents.

MEDREN248S - Women and Power in the Renaissance

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 248S
Title: Women and Power in the Renaissance

Description: Explores the intellectual, social, and political history of women in Renaissance Europe. Despite the overwhelmingly patriarchal nature of early modern society, many women wrote treatises, dialogues, and poetry in which they argued for a broader role for women. Students will examine these primary texts (some by famous figures, others by much less well-known writers) within the context of a burgeoning social history that has provided a more nuanced view of gender relations and power in this period.

MEDREN250FS - Gendering the Renaissance

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 250FS
Title: Gendering the Renaissance

Description: Course studies the debates around women, gender, and sexuality in Renaissance Italy and Europe (ca.1400–1700). Framed historically as ‘the woman question’ (la querelle des femmes), these debates challenged women’s nature, capabilities, and intellect, sparking robust response by women poets and philosophers, as well as by male defenders of the female sex. An interdisciplinary approach studying how gendered expectations for Renaissance women and men emerged across lyric poetry, conduct manuals, medical treatises, political pamphlets, paintings, theater, and early opera. We will contextualize early examples of premodern feminism, anti-feminism, misogyny, and prejudice compared to models today.

MEDREN253S - Cross-Cultural Encounters

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 253S
Title: Cross-Cultural Encounters

Description: The dynamics of cross-cultural interaction have actively shaped the world for many centuries now. This class explores some of the religious, social, and economic forces that fostered increasingly global contacts in history. In particular, it examines how centrally located and cosmopolitan Muslims played a critical role in connecting people of far-flung regions, cultures, and religions with one another. It surveys the myriad encounters of Muslims, Buddhists, Confucianists, Hindus, Jews, Christians and more across Afro-Eurasia and into the Americas. How did religious networks, processes and events foster historic exchanges of ideas, practices, and commodities across the world?

MEDREN254 - The Expansion of Medieval Europe

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 254
Title: The Expansion of Medieval Europe

Description: Lecture course follows the transformation of medieval politics, society and culture from the First Crusade to the Reformation. The evolution of secular monarchies and the flourishing of vernacular literature and devotion. The growth of commerce and an urban middle class. New forms of feminine religiosity and fascination with Christ’s humanity. Intensified alienation and persecution of marginal groups such as the Jews. Field trip to the local museum.

MEDREN255 - The Caribbean, 1492-1700

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 255
Title: The Caribbean, 1492-1700

Description: The Caribbean region from the arrival of Columbus (1492) to the emergence of sugar and slavery as powerful shapers of society and culture, by 1700.
MEDREN268 - Islamic Civilization I

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 268
Title: Islamic Civilization I

Description: A global history of Islamic thought, practice, spirituality, politics, and culture. This course analyzes the emergence of Islam and the spread of Muslim culture and learning across Africa, Asia, and Europe. It introduces how Muslims fostered a globalized economy and international community of scientists, scholars, agriculturalists, musicians, artisans, and philosophers of diverse backgrounds – along with other key themes that students may pursue in greater detail in future coursework. Gateway course for an interdisciplinary certificate in Islamic studies.

MEDREN269 - Islamic Civilization II

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 269
Title: Islamic Civilization II

Description: Continuation of Religion 375.

MEDREN270 - Aztecs and Mayans

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 270
Title: Aztecs and Mayans

Description: Within modern imaginaries, Aztecs and Mayans become seen as those who engaged in brutal sacrifice and cannibalism atop their great temples. In order to question this pornographic assumption, this course examines the sources – art available at the Nasher Museum and many visual sources and written texts from the times of the Classic Maya civilization through today. We will collectively think about the ways in which these peoples have lived their lives and responded to the challenges of colonialism and globalization. Students should expect a hands on course as they will examine everything from ancient pottery to weapons, paintings, photographs, films, and written documents.

MEDREN275 - Tudor/Stuart Britain

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 275
Title: Tudor/Stuart Britain

Description: Introduction to the history and culture of sixteenth and seventeenth century England; the Reformation, Colonization, and the Civil war. Changes in legal cultural ideas of identity and authority.

MEDREN281 - Religion, Reform, and Violence in Early Modern Europe

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 281
Title: Religion, Reform, and Violence in Early Modern Europe

Description: The interplay of social, economic, and political developments in Central Europe from the eve of the Reformation to the end of the Thirty Years' War, with particular attention to the links between religion, gender, and the social order.

MEDREN287 - Magic, Religion, and Science since 1400

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 287
Title: Magic, Religion, and Science since 1400

Description: The history of magic and witchcraft in western culture from the Renaissance to the present, with particular attention to the relationship of supernatural beliefs to religion and science. The renewal of magic, astrology, and alchemy in the Renaissance; early modern witch beliefs and the witch hunt; national skepticism in the Enlightenment; modern marginal sciences such as parapsychology; and adaptations of magical beliefs to modern culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.
MEDREN287D - Magic, Religion, and Science since 1400

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 287D
Title: Magic, Religion, and Science since 1400

Description:
The history of magic and witchcraft in Western culture from the Renaissance to the present, with particular attention to the relationship of supernatural beliefs to religion and science. The renewal of magic, astrology, and alchemy in the Renaissance; early modern witch beliefs and the witch hunt; national skepticism in the Enlightenment; modern marginal sciences such as parapsychology; and adaptations of magical beliefs to modern culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

MEDREN290-1 - Topics in Medieval Art and Architecture

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 290-1
Title: Topics in Medieval Art and Architecture

Description:
Specific problems dealing with contextual and cultural issues in medieval art and architecture from c. 300 to 1400.

MEDREN290AS-1 - Topics in Renaissance British Literature

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 290AS-1
Title: Topics in Renaissance British Literature

Description:
(Taught in the Oxford Summer Program). Satisfies Area I for English majors.

MEDREN290S-1 - Special Topics in Medieval and Early Modern Literature

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 290S-1
Title: Special Topics in Medieval and Early Modern Literature

Description:
A major author, topic, or theme of the medieval and early modern period (excluding Chaucer). Satisfies the Area I requirement for English majors. Topics vary each semester.

MEDREN291 - Independent Study

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 291
Title: Independent Study

Description:
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product.

MEDREN292S - The Atlantic Slave Trade

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 292S
Title: The Atlantic Slave Trade

Description:
The development of the slave trade from the fifteenth century to its abolition in the nineteenth century; organization and mechanics, impact on Europe, Africa, and the Americas.
MEDREN293 - Research Independent Study

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 293
Title: Research Independent Study

Description:
Individual research and reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Usually undertaken by a student working on an Honors project in consultation with the student's project advisor. Consent of instructor required.

MEDREN303 - Ancient and Medieval Epic

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 303
Title: Ancient and Medieval Epic

Description:
Reading the major epics of antiquity in translation (Gilgamesh, Homer's Iliad and Odyssey, Vergil's Aeneid) and the European Middle Ages (Beowulf, Song of Roland, Dante's Inferno), emphasizing the changing definition and concept of the hero.

MEDREN304 - The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 304
Title: The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Description:
Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia – Plato's erotic ascent, Virgil's deceived Dido, Ovid's rules of seduction, Boccaccio's legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo's homoerotic poetry, Leonardo's sublimated impulses, Foscolo's tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo's modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.

MEDREN304S - The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 304S
Title: The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Description:
Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia – Plato's erotic ascent, Virgil's deceived Dido, Ovid's rules of seduction, Boccaccio's legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo's homoerotic poetry, Leonardo's sublimated impulses, Foscolo's tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo's modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.

MEDREN305 - The Viking Age

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 305
Title: The Viking Age

Description:
The history of Viking raiding, trading, exploration, and settlement, with attention to the socioeconomic structure, political organization, and naval technology of medieval Scandinavian societies. Focus on topics such as Norse mythology, ritual, and runes, Icelandic sagas, gender roles and social hierarchies in a warrior society, clan-based justice, and the collision between 'heroic' values and the new Christian ethic. Taught in English.

MEDREN305S - The Viking Age

Subject: MEDREN
Catalog Number: 305S
Title: The Viking Age

Description:
The history of Viking raiding, trading, exploration, and settlement, with attention to the socioeconomic structure, political organization, and naval technology of medieval Scandinavian societies. Focus on topics such as Norse mythology, ritual, and runes, Icelandic sagas, gender roles and social hierarchies in a warrior society, clan-based justice, and the collision between 'heroic' values and the new Christian ethic. Taught in English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>314</td>
<td>Introduction to Spanish Literature I</td>
<td>Major writers of the Spanish literary tradition and the historical contexts from which they emerged: Middle Ages through the seventeenth century. Poetry, fiction, theater and essay and historical readings and film. Includes attention to Judaic and Islamic civilizations and expression in medieval Spain. Prerequisite: Spanish 301, 331S, or AP Spanish Literature score of 5.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>315</td>
<td>The Legend of King Arthur in Literature and Film</td>
<td>The legend of the 'Once and Future King,' Arthur of Camelot, has fascinated poets, artists, writers, and filmmakers. Students will read and view different versions of the Arthur legend, from the earliest surviving sixth-century witness to the legend to modern films. Focusing on the themes of leadership, gender, and love, students will explore how each work understands Arthur and his milieu and the implications of each vision for the political and cultural world in which it originates. Taught in English. No prerequisites.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>320S</td>
<td>Chaucer I</td>
<td>The first two-thirds of his career, especially Troilus and Criseyde. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>321</td>
<td>Chaucer II</td>
<td>The Canterbury Tales. Satisfies the Area I requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>323S</td>
<td>Muhammad: The Prophet of Islam</td>
<td>Course will cover the life, legacy, and devotion to the Prophet of Islam. No background needed. All course material in English. Course will include various sources depicting the life of Muhammad, the statements attributed to the Prophet, and also the vast legacy of devotion to the Prophet.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>Shakespeare</td>
<td>Introduction to the major works of Shakespeare. Exploration of the author's central themes and contexts, with particular focus on Shakespeare's exploration of love as a mode of ethical inquiry and moral philosophy. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>331</td>
<td>Shakespeare through 1600</td>
<td>Examination of twelve plays by Shakespeare written before 1600. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>332</td>
<td>Shakespeare After 1600</td>
<td>Examination of ten plays by Shakespeare written after 1600. Not open to students who have taken Theater Studies 239A. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MEDREN334S - Late Medieval Literature and Culture

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
334S

Title
Late Medieval Literature and Culture

Description
Explores a range of medieval writings together with the culture in which they are made. Inquiries involve the close reading of medieval texts to learn about medieval Christianity, ethics, politics and theology in the culture. Considers questions concerning relations between the medieval world and our own.

---

MEDREN335S - Don Quixote for Beginners

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
335S

Title
Don Quixote for Beginners

Description
This course introduces students to the overlapping realities and worlds that the novel encompasses to explore, through don Quixote’s knightly ambitions of justice, love, and freedom, the similarities, and differences we see between ourselves and others, in a changing world where chivalry ideals, popular culture, history, and uprooted lives, and early capitalism dialogue to each other. Multiple characters raise questions about escapism, social justice, borders, and exile linking the present and the past.

---

MEDREN336S - Shakespeare’s Nature

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
336S

Title
Shakespeare’s Nature

Description
This class explores conflicting and competing ideas about nature in Shakespeare’s plays. We examine creatureliness, human and non-human, in relation to ideas of the natural and the supernatural.

---

MEDREN337S - Milton

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
337S

Title
Milton

Description
Poetry and its literary and social background. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

---

MEDREN338S - Boccaccio’s Decameron

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
338S

Title
Boccaccio’s Decameron

Description
The Decameron has surprised and shocked readers for centuries. This course asks why—and how. Investigating censored editions and translations, along with visual and cinematic adaptations, we will scrutinize Boccaccio’s innovative representations of sex, women, and the disenfranchised to understand the overlooked political dimension of Boccaccio’s attempt to re-imagine the world after a global pandemic.

---

MEDREN341 - Dante’s Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
341

Title
Dante’s Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise

Description
A voyage through the three otherworldly places of Dante’s philosophical poem (Hell, Purgatory, Paradise) whose transformation of human actions into an ordered ethical system continues to captivate readers.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>342A</td>
<td>Dante and the Art of Hell</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Dante’s Divine Comedy, has inspired medieval illuminations, Renaissance frescoes, Surrealist paintings, and modern sculptures. This course explores this remarkable visual history to interpret Dante’s poem. What new features of Dante’s world do these visual adaptations bring into focus? Visiting sites throughout Italy, we will also aim to reconstruct Dante’s visual and built environment to understand what is distinctive about his vision. Taught in English. Offered through Duke in Venice and Duke in Bologna programs.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>343S</td>
<td>The Acoustic Image in the Renaissance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines the dynamics between Renaissance voice, sound, and the body. Navigates the intersections between literary and performance histories. Studies the crossroads of personal and collective identity, issues of gender relations, factors of agency and exclusion, and the instruments of power that govern vocal expression. Readings and listenings include works by Homer, Ovid, Sappho, Petrarch, Costa, Monteverdi, Behn, Lope de Vega, Corneille, and others. Thematic units featured: voice in theory, the autobiographical pen, the political chorus, and performing the resilient body. Questions discussed: Who is allowed a voice? What do voices measure? What voices get heard? And who listens?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>344S</td>
<td>Shakespeare Studio</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Study in approaches to acting Shakespeare text which focus on the actor’s embodiment of text in ways which are organic, physical, and truthful. Use of text as the primary source for the actor’s work. Students will have opportunity to act in class exercises and projects. Extensive scenework. Prerequisite: Theater Studies 145S and consent of instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>346</td>
<td>The History of the Book</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The history of the ‘book’ as physical object from its earliest forms (clay tablets, papyrus scrolls) through to texts in the digital age. Introduction to manuscript and early print culture in the West – scribes, scripts and book production. The role of the book in different cultures, and in intellectual history. Hands-on experience with, and study of materials in the Rubenstein Rare Book and Manuscript Library.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>348S</td>
<td>Medieval Latin</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Survey of medieval Latin literature, sampling authors and genres from Late Antiquity through the Italian Renaissance. Genres may include biblical literature, late ancient and medieval hymns, letters, medieval plays, sacred and secular poetry including epic, historiography, and Arthurian literature.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>351</td>
<td>Rumi: Mysticism and Poetry</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Rumi, the iconic poet of Persian Islamic tradition; course examines his writings, context, and legacy. Involves students’ research. Encourages students to cultivate critical skills by assessing relevant scholarship and developing multidisciplinary methodologies. All readings in English; no previous coursework or command of Persian/Arabic required.
MEDREN352S - Andalusia: Muslim, Jewish, Christian Spain

Description
Intersection of cultures, religions, languages, & peoples through history, poetry, music, architecture, & philosophy in Spain. Cultural flourishing from the contact—and sometimes clash—of European, Spanish, Islamic, Arab, African, Middle Eastern, and Jewish civilizations and Arabic, Spanish, and Hebrew languages. Ends with Andalusian culture in modern music, poetry, art, dance, & architecture at the crossroads of civilizations. Includes travel to Spain over spring break so students witness firsthand the coexistence of different religious traditions and cultures. Instructor consent required.

MEDREN353 - The Seven Deadly Sins: Representing Vice and Virtue in Christian Tradition

Description
This course will trace the motif of the seven deadly sins in Western tradition, exploring two methods of understanding human psychology and behavior: the philosophical school of virtue ethics, which provides an account of how our actions and habits shape our characters and identities, and the artistic technique of allegory, which externalizes our inner life in vivid, sometimes shocking images, characters, and stories. Readings are drawn from philosophy (Aristotle, Aquinas), literature (Dante, Chaucer, Spenser), art (Giotto, Bosch), and present-day pop culture. Course assignments include both analytical essays and creative projects.

MEDREN354 - From History to Fantasy: Medieval Religions in Film & Fiction

Description
Explores the intersection of modern popular culture and medieval religious culture. Deep dive into how modern creators of mass entertainment use common notions of medieval faith, power, race, sexualities and violence to capture and hold our interest, teach us lessons about ourselves, and sell products. How do our ideas of faith, sexuality, race and power inspire or constrain the fiction we create about the past? What impact does this have on consumers? Monks, nuns, knights, crusades, secret societies, suffragists, alt-right, plague. Modern novels, commentaries, history, medieval texts, neurobiology, TV, films, ads, games, memes, clubs. Read, discuss, write, research.

MEDREN355S - Augustine's City of God

Description
Study of the literary form and argument of Augustine's epoch-making City of God: a rhetorical tour de force of consummate artistry and stunning originality and scope; and a political, religious, and moral critique of ancient Rome within a comparative, cross-cultural analytical framework that vindicates an alternative vision of society rooted in the Christian scriptures. City of God provides a remarkable example of sophisticated literary construction, rhetorical prowess, cross-cultural examination, and moral reflection. We focus on these four facets of a celebrated synthesis that breaks new ground in historiography, political science, and moral theory.
MEDREN359S - Love, Spirit, and Mysticism: The Path of Love in Middle East and South Asia

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
359S

Title
Love, Spirit, and Mysticism: The Path of Love in Middle East and South Asia

Description
Examination of Love-based spirituality in multiple religious traditions. Focus on material originating from Persian, Urdu, Turkish, and Arabic sources. Readings will include literature and songs in English.

---

MEDREN370S - Understanding the Qur'an

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
370S

Title
Understanding the Qur'an

Description
The Qur'an is the Islamic scripture. This course explores the history of revelation or words of God in Islam; formation of the Qur'an as a book; its interpretation from medieval to modern time; its major themes; how the Qur'an introduces itself: the book of light, guidance, virtues and Islamic values and standards, or the book of law? the question of translatability; teaching the Qur'an as religious literature from a neutral viewpoint that could be understood from a secular, or non-theological perspective; the lessons one might apply from literary criticism, biblical studies, and historical methodology; and its message for the human beings in the contemporary world.

---

MEDREN374S - Islam & the Meaning of Life

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
374S

Title
Islam & the Meaning of Life

Description
The range of topics implicated by 'meaning of life' as essentials of Islamic philosophy and theology includes the features of the good life; true happiness; the quest for eternity and not to be forgotten; overcoming loneliness and alienation; peacefulness; seeking truth and reducing suffering; living in a purposeful universe; free will; the ultimate purpose of the human life; necessary cause for moral obligations; faith and reason; human dignity; the quest for absolute beauty and good; knowing the Beginning and the Return; the observation of transcendence and immanence; the origin of mercy, love, friendship, justice, fairness, and hope; 'the wholly other'; the exemplar of the human being.

---

MEDREN390 - Topics in Medieval and Renaissance Studies

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number 390

Title
Topics in Medieval and Renaissance Studies

Description
Topics may focus on fine arts, history, language and literature, or philosophy and religion, frequently engaging interdisciplinary perspectives.

---

MEDREN390-1 - Topics in Renaissance Art

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number 390-1

Title
Topics in Renaissance Art

Description
Specific problems dealing with the iconography, style, or an individual master from c. 1300 to 1600. Subject varies from year to year.

---

MEDREN390S - Seminar in Medieval and Renaissance Studies

Subject
MEDREN

Catalog Number
390S

Title
Seminar in Medieval and Renaissance Studies

Description
Seminar version of Medieval and Renaissance Studies 390.
MEDREN436 - North America to 1760

Description
Early oceanic explorations, European invasion of North America, the evolution of race slavery, and the responses of the native American peoples.

MEDREN443S - Capstone Seminar: History of Torture

Description
This class offers a history of torture in the western world, from the Renaissance to the present. Students explore the topic primarily within the framework of legal history, from the institution of legal judicial torture in the late Middle Ages, through its formal abolition in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, down to its reemergence as an instrument of combat in wars in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries.

MEDREN458 - Suspicious Truths and Alternative Realities: Spanish Literature of the Renaissance and the Baroque

Description
Concerns about discerning certainty and facts from misinformation and delusion explored in all sorts of intellectual pursuits: from literature and the visual arts to science, politics, and economics across Spain and the Americas during the 16th and 17th centuries. A guided tour of key works and major questions in conversation with contemporary observations about deception and disinformation. Prerequisite: Spanish 332, 333, 334 or 335.

MEDREN459 - Golden Age Literature: Cervantes

Description
Includes reading either selected works by Cervantes (dramas, novellas, and part of Don Quixote) or the Quixote in its entirety. Attention to the Roman and/or Arab conquests of Spain, Spanish relations with Algeria, England, Italy, and the Americas, the obsession with 'limpieza de sangre' and the fate of Spain's 'morisco' population. Prerequisite: Spanish 332, 333, 334 or 335.

MEDREN473 - What Machiavelli Really Says

Description
Everyone knows what 'Machiavellian' means, but what does Machiavelli really say? Reading his classical political texts, 'The Prince,' the 'Discourses on Livy,' and 'The Art of War' in the company of his literary works, including 'Mandragola,' we will examine how Machiavelli's ideas about power, deception, language, ethics, and representation emerged from his reading of Plato, Livy, Ovid, and Dante, while also exploring the reception and consequences of his ideas. Just as Machiavelli searched history for answers to his own political situation, our guiding question cannot help but be 'What would Machiavelli do?'

MEDREN491 - Independent Study: Thesis

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic and/or artistic product that will contribute to developing an honors thesis.
MEDREN493 - Research Independent Study: Thesis

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study: Thesis</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual research and reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Undertaken by a student working on an Honors project in consultation with the student’s project advisor.

---

MEDREN89S - First-Year Seminar

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MEDREN</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

---

MGM120FS - Ethical Implications of Genetic and Genomic Research

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MGM</td>
<td>120FS</td>
<td>Ethical Implications of Genetic and Genomic Research</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course will examine the ethical implications raised by genetic and genomic research. Students will gain an understanding of the historical basis of human subjects’ protections in the United States, the ethical pillars of research, and the issues that arise from genetics and genomics research. Case studies in genomics research will be used to illustrate various ethical implications. Readings will consist of reviews of the history of human subjects’ protections, federal regulations, actual informed consent documents, and scientific papers from the primary literature. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Instructor consent required.

---

MGM222FS - Genetics and Epigenetics: The Codes that Control Our Genomes

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MGM</td>
<td>222FS</td>
<td>Genetics and Epigenetics: The Codes that Control Our Genomes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Many inherited cellular and physiological traits in humans are not due to changes in DNA sequence, but instead are shaped by factors such as age, diet, or environment. This course will examine sequence-independent regulation of the human genome, non-genetic diseases, environmental factors that control the epigenome, and multi-generational inheritance of epigenetic information (how grandparental experiences shape descendants’ genomes). Course readings will be drawn from the primary literature (historical and current) and will be anchored on human genetics, although model systems (yeast, Drosophila, plants) will also be discussed. Only open to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required. Prerequisite: AP Biology or equivalent.

---

MGM293 - Research Independent Study I

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MGM</td>
<td>293</td>
<td>Research Independent Study I</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Independent Research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member. Open to sophomores with consent of supervising instructor required.

---

MGM294 - Research Independent Study II

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MGM</td>
<td>294</td>
<td>Research Independent Study II</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Continuation of Molecular Genetics and Microbiology 293. Independent research in a field of interest under the supervision of a faculty member. Open to sophomores with consent of supervising instructor required.
MGM325 - Current Technologies in Genomics and Precision Medicine

Subject
MGM

Catalog Number
325

Title
Current Technologies in Genomics and Precision Medicine

Description
Comprehensive overview of genome science technologies, analytical tools, clinical applications, and related issues. Exposure to a range of technologies currently used in research and some in clinical practice, as well as the tools to interrogate the large data-sets generated by these technologies. Projects will explore the range of datasets publicly available and analysis of genomic datasets. Prerequisite: Biology 201L or 203L.

MGM370 - Pharmacogenomics and Personalized Medicine

Subject
MGM

Catalog Number 370

Title
Pharmacogenomics and Personalized Medicine

Description
Course discusses personalized drug development for several diseases and examines how genetic variations in enzymes, receptors, and transporters involved in pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics affect drug response. Students are introduced to modern molecular techniques (DNA & RNA sequencing, gene expression-DNA microarrays, proteomics, and metabolomics) used in the development of personalized medicine. Class participation includes presentation and discussion of current journal articles highlighting advances in pharmacogenomics and personalized medicine. Open to juniors and seniors. Highly recommended: Biology 201L or 201LA.

MILITSCI101S - Introduction to the Army

Subject
MILITSCI

Catalog Number
101S

Title
Introduction to the Army

Description
Introduces students to the personal challenges/competencies critical for effective leadership and communication. Students learn fundamentals of Army organization, basic Soldier skills, as well as critical thinking fundamentals and how they apply to the Army context. The course teaches how development of personal skills (cultural understanding, goal setting, time management, stress management, and fitness) relate to leadership, and the Profession of Arms. Army leadership dimensions, attributes, and core leader competencies also discussed.

MILITSCI102S - Foundations of Leadership

Subject
MILITSCI

Catalog Number
102S

Title
Foundations of Leadership

Description
Examines behavioral science theories (individual, group, and organizational) in a small group learning environment to build healthy classroom discourse. It explores the professional challenges and competencies that are needed for effective examination of history, psychology, leadership/management theories, decision sciences, and military doctrine. Through this course, you will examine military ethics, ethical decision making, Geneva Convention rules, and NATO rules of engagement.
MILITSCI201 - Leadership and Ethics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MILITSCI</td>
<td>201</td>
<td>Leadership and Ethics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explore the theory and practical application of group dynamics, team building, and innovative leadership in both civilian and military contexts. Students will participate in the practical application of personal motivation and team-building through planning, executing and assessing team exercises. Builds on concepts taught in Military Science 101 and 102. Leadership Laboratory (91L) and physical training are required for all Enrolled Cadets. Prerequisite: Completion of MILITSCI 101 and 102, unless waived by the DUS - contact the Army ROTC Department for more information. Graduate students contact Army ROTC Department for enrollment eligibility.

MILITSCI202S - Army Doctrine and Decision-Making

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MILITSCI</td>
<td>202S</td>
<td>Army Doctrine and Decision-Making</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines behavioral science theories (individual, group, and organization) in a small group learning environment in order to build healthy classroom discourse. Students will be exposed to the professional challenges and competencies that are needed for effective execution of the profession of arms through the examination of history, psychology, leadership/management theories, decision sciences, and military doctrine. Through this course, students will examine military ethics, ethical decision-making, Geneva Convention rules, and NATO rules of engagement.

MILITSCI291 - Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MILITSCI</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual study under direct faculty supervision. Written consent of instructor and Director of Undergraduate Studies is required.

MILITSCI291-1 - Independent Study - Half Credit

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MILITSCI</td>
<td>291-1</td>
<td>Independent Study - Half Credit</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual study under direct faculty supervision. Written consent of instructor and Director of Undergraduate Studies is required.

MILITSCI301 - Training Management and the Warfighting Functions

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MILITSCI</td>
<td>301</td>
<td>Training Management and the Warfighting Functions</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The study, practice, and evaluation of adaptive leadership skills in the context of squad tactical operations. Focus on developing cadets’ tactical leadership abilities in preparation for ROTC’s summer Advanced Camp leadership course. Laboratory required for Army ROTC cadets. Instructor consent required. Recommended prerequisite: completion of first two years of ROTC or prior military experience.

MILITSCI302S - Applied Leadership in Small Unit Operations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MILITSCI</td>
<td>302S</td>
<td>Applied Leadership in Small Unit Operations</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines behavioral science theories (individual, group, and organizational) in a small group learning environment to build healthy classroom discourse. The student will be exposed to the professional challenges and competencies that are needed for effective execution of the profession of arms through the examination of history, psychology, leadership/management theories, decision sciences, and military doctrine. Through this course, the student will examine military ethics, ethical decision making, Geneva Convention rules, and NATO rules of engagement. Instructor consent required.
MILITSCI401S - The Army Officer

Subject: MILITSCI
Catalog Number: 401S
Title: The Army Officer

Description
Explores dynamics of leading in complex situations of current military operations. Examines differences in customs/courtesies, military law, principles of war, and rules of engagement. Explores aspects of interacting with non-government organizations, civilians on the battlefield, decision making processes, and host nation support. Emphasis placed on preparing students for Basic Officer Leadership Course and first unit of assignment. Uses mission command case studies/scenarios to prepare students to face complex ethical demands of serving an officer in the Army. Instructor consent required. Prerequisite: Military Science 301 and 302.

---

MILITSCI402S - Company Grade Leadership

Subject: MILITSCI
Catalog Number: 402S
Title: Company Grade Leadership

Description
Examines behavioral science theories (individual, group, and organization) in a small group learning environment in order to build healthy classroom discourse. It explores professional challenges and competencies that are needed for effective execution of the profession of arms through the examination of history, psychology, leadership/management theories, decision sciences, and military doctrine. Through this course, students will examine military ethics, ethical decision-making, Geneva Convention rules, and NATO rules of engagement.

---

MILITSCI91L - Leadership Laboratory - Fall Semester Only

Subject: MILITSCI
Catalog Number: 91L
Title: Leadership Laboratory - Fall Semester Only

Description
Introduces students to basic Army operations, including team building, map reading, first aid, confidence training, rifle marksmanship, drill and ceremonies, Army doctrine and small unit tactics. Must be repeated each fall semester while enrolled in Military Science courses. Leadership Laboratory is required for students who are designated as 'enrolled ROTC Cadets' in MS 101, 201, 301, 501, and 601. Students who register for the MS 101 course as a one-time elective 'participating student' are not eligible to attend lab. Instructor consent required.

---

MILITSCI92L - Leadership Laboratory - Spring Semester Only

Subject: MILITSCI
Catalog Number: 92L
Title: Leadership Laboratory - Spring Semester Only

Description
Introduces students to basic Army operations, including team building, map reading, first aid, confidence training, rifle marksmanship, drill and ceremonies, Army doctrine and small unit tactics. Must be repeated each spring semester while enrolled in Military Science courses. Leadership Laboratory required for students who are designated as 'enrolled ROTC Cadets' in MILITSCI102, 202, 302, 502, and 602. Students who register for the MILITSCI102 course as a one-time elective 'participating student' are not eligible to attend lab.

---

MILITSCI93L - Senior Leadership Laboratory - Fall Semester

Subject: MILITSCI
Catalog Number: 93L
Title: Senior Leadership Laboratory - Fall Semester

Description
(Seniors only) Introduces students to Army operations and case studies associated with the areas. The course includes team building, map reading, first aid, confidence training, rifle marksmanship, drill and ceremonies, Army doctrine and small unit tactics. Introduces seniors to Army staff positions and responsibilities and provides leadership opportunities to plan, execute, and assess a variety of training events for the underclass Cadets throughout the semester. Required for all students enrolled in MILITSCI 401 and 701. Instructor consent required.

---

MILITSCI94 - Basic Army Physical Development

Subject: MILITSCI
Catalog Number: 94
Title: Basic Army Physical Development

Description
Introduction to Senior Reserve Officer's Training Corp with studies in basic military fitness. Emphasis on implementation of the Army's physical readiness program through practical exercises. Familiarizes students with the Army's height and weight standards. Requires participation in three testing sessions to track individual improvement, and participation as leaders in the conduct of physical training sessions. Class held on the NCCU Campus or in the vicinity of the Duke track, soccer field, ROTC building, and/or the pool.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MILITSCI</td>
<td>94L</td>
<td>Senior Leadership Laboratory - Spring Semester</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

(Seniors only) Introduces students to Army operations and case studies associated with these areas. Includes team building, map reading, first aid, confidence training, rifle marksmanship, drill and ceremonies, Army doctrine and small unit tactics. Introduces seniors to Army staff positions and responsibilities and provides leadership opportunities to plan, execute, and assess a variety of training events for the underclass Cadets throughout the semester. Required for all students enrolled in MILITSCI 402 and 702. Instructor consent required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MMS</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Special Topics in Markets and Managements</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary by semester. Open to students in the Focus Program only.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MMS</td>
<td>195FS</td>
<td>Freedom and the Market</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduces students to three ethically distinct perspectives on the market using approaches in political philosophy from the right, left and center; explores the works of political theorists and economists such as Robert Nozick, Milton Friedman, John Maynard Keynes, Frederick Hayes and Amartya Sen; examines the ethical stances that these authors take; explores contemporary media to see how the former thinkers have influenced current debate; examines examples of when the free market fails and discuss if, when and how government should respond; investigates how culture influences the market and how globalization has either enhanced or reduced individual freedom. Open only to Focus Program students.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MMS</td>
<td>197</td>
<td>Organizational Leadership &amp; Management</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Study of individual and group behaviors within organized settings and managerial strategies that enhance organizational effectiveness. Topics include leadership, culture and diversity, power and politics, communication, decision making, motivation and reward systems, conflict management, justice and ethics as well as organization structure and design. Special attention to critical assessment of new technological options in organizational settings with an aim to produce informed, ethical consumers and leaders.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MMS</td>
<td>210</td>
<td>Managerial Effectiveness</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduction to study of individual and group behavior within organized settings. Emphasis is given to managerial strategies that enhance organizational effectiveness. Topics include leadership, motivation and reward systems; decision making, power and politics; conflict management; globalization, justice and ethics; and organization culture, structure and design. Special attention to critical assessment of new technological options in organizational settings with an aim to produce informed, ethical consumers and managers.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MMS</td>
<td>220</td>
<td>Marketing Management</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduction to current basic principles and concepts in marketing. Focus on Internet's impact on traditional marketing methods. Exposure to marketing concepts in settings such as: consumer goods firms, manufacturing and service industries, small and large businesses. Development and trends in strategic implications of the Internet for consumer behavior, business opportunities, and marketing strategies.
MMS230 - Game Changers: From Panda Diplomacy to Zipcar

Subject
MMS
Catalog Number 230
Title
Game Changers: From Panda Diplomacy to Zipcar

Description
The course discovers and draws inspiration from different types of game changers in a variety of fields and disciplines—from politics and policy to business/marketing/finance, environment and social movement. Investigations are pursued on how out-of-box thinking has brought creativity to problem solving and changed the ways people live, connect, and contribute around the world. The relevant factors that have helped successfully implement the core ideas as well as the blunders that pioneers have encountered are examined.

MMS272 - Marketing Across Borders, Cultures and Demographics

Subject
MMS
Catalog Number
272
Title
Marketing Across Borders, Cultures and Demographics

Description
Investigates and discusses theories and techniques used to market to the world’s different shoppers and consumers in developing and industrialized economies and countries; gives an understanding of how to target market to shoppers and consumers by varied insights of each target group; focuses on 'Consumer is Boss' and the understanding of how to influence at 'First Moment of Truth' and at the 'Second Moment of Truth'; will include a team project developing collaboration skills and gaining insight into a specific target group and product; local field trips to engage consumers in homes and where they shop; guest lecturers from Fortune 500 corporations.

MMS273T-1 - Voices in Marketing: Advertising in Spanish

Subject
MMS
Catalog Number
273T-1
Title
Voices in Marketing: Advertising in Spanish

Description
Discussion-based course trains students to analyze all forms of advertising in Spanish. Classes explore the history and theories of advertising in the Hispanophone world, as well as hands-on strategies for analyzing ads, with particular attention to issues such as translation, localization, and ethics. Tutorials meet weekly for 75 minutes. Does not count toward Markets & Management Studies certificate program. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.

MMS273T-2 - Voices in Marketing: Advertising in French

Subject
MMS
Catalog Number
273T-2
Title
Voices in Marketing: Advertising in French

Description
Discussion-based course trains students to analyze all forms of advertising in French. Classes explore the history and theories of advertising in the francophone world, as well as hands-on strategies for analyzing ads, with particular attention to issues such as translation, localization, and ethics. Tutorials meet weekly for 75 minutes. S/U. Does not count towards MMS certificate program. Prerequisite: French 204 or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MMS273T-3</td>
<td>273T-3</td>
<td>Voices in Marketing: Advertising in Chinese</td>
<td>Discussion-based course trains students to analyze all forms of advertising in Chinese. Classes explore the history and theories of advertising in China, as well as hands-on strategies for analyzing ads, with particular attention to issues such as translation, localization, and ethics. Tutorials meet weekly for 75 minutes. Does not count for the Markets &amp; Management Studies certificate program. Prerequisite: Chinese 204 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS275</td>
<td>275</td>
<td>Business of Sport: A Comprehensive Look at a Powerhouse Global Industry</td>
<td>Provides a broad overview of ‘Sports’, finance/valuation, professional/college, sponsorship/marketing, teams/leagues, labor/ownership; examines industry from finance perspective in determining valuations; examines role of sports and transformation into entertainment; how web based applications have changed the dynamic of the sports industry; discussion of topics regarding lockouts, free agency, paying college athletes, NCAA tournament, college athletic budgets, Super Bowl, athlete salaries, public/corporate funding.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS325A</td>
<td>325A</td>
<td>International Business</td>
<td>This is a summer study abroad offering. No pre-reqs are required. The course is organized to cover the following topics and to give students an overview of issues important to firms operating in a global context: international trade, business cultures in an international/global context, modes of operation, global business strategy, marketing strategies, ethics and sustainability in a global environment.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS365</td>
<td>365</td>
<td>Strategic Financial Management</td>
<td>Strategic financial issues confronting the firm. Basic problems of strategic direction for the firm with respect to external competitive environment and management of internal strategy processes. Tools and ideas to manage formulation and implementation of strategic choices for the firm. Study of firm’s strategic position relative to rivals, the larger industry, and the customer. Prerequisite: Markets and Management Studies 85 and Economics 271 or Economics 373 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS370</td>
<td>370</td>
<td>Managerial Finance</td>
<td>Concepts and processes of corporate finance; functions, technology and techniques of financial management. Topics include analysis of financial statements, ratio analysis and the statement of cash flows; capital budgeting; risk and return; stocks and bonds; cost of capital; financial institutions; securities markets and international finance. Not open to first year students.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS380</td>
<td>380</td>
<td>Entrepreneurial Marketing</td>
<td>Teaches students how to discover and understand customer wants and needs, understand the impacts of the market environment on customer behavior and product acceptance, define products that will meet customer needs, choose the right distribution channels, price and promote the product or service effectively, understand the unique ways in which the marketing process must be tailored to an entrepreneurial environment.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MMS390 - Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies

Subject
- MMS

Catalog Number
- 390

Title
- Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies

Description
- Topics vary each semester.

---

MMS390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies

Subject
- MMS

Catalog Number
- 390A

Title
- Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies

Description
- Topics differ by section.

---

MMS390S - Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies

Subject
- MMS

Catalog Number
- 390S

Title
- Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies

Description
- Topics vary each semester.

---

MMS395 - New Ventures Development

Subject
- MMS

Catalog Number
- 395

Title
- New Ventures Development

Description
- Do you want to design a business model around either your own idea or someone else’s problem? In New Ventures: Development, you’ll learn to assess opportunities, develop and test business models, understand your financials, and build successful teams. If you’ve validated an idea through New Ventures: Discovery or through your independent customer discovery process, New Venture: Development can facilitate idea to action. In this course, student teams will develop core elements of a strategy for a technology or business idea; detail will be suitable for a business plan document for a company seeking initial investment; strategy will serve as a foundation for a first operating plan for company.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MMS396</td>
<td>396</td>
<td>New Ventures Delivery</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS425</td>
<td>425</td>
<td>Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy &amp; Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS450</td>
<td>450</td>
<td>Markets and Management Capstone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS490</td>
<td>490</td>
<td>Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMS490S</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>Special Topics Seminar in Markets and Management Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC101-1</td>
<td>101-1</td>
<td>Class Piano</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MMS396 - New Ventures Delivery

Description

Did your idea pass muster in New Ventures Development? Do you have early revenue or evidence of product market fit and want to continue to refine your go to market strategy? New Ventures Delivery is the ideal course for serious entrepreneurs ready to push themselves to take the leap. In this course you will continue to test core hypothesis while you develop a milestone driven plan for go-to-market, sales, staffing, and fundraising.

MMS425 - Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy & Entrepreneurship

Description

Course examines the tightly linked roles of intellectual property law and innovation in the 21st century global economy; offers an overview of the use of intellectual property in business, law and public policy, as well as in-depth coverage of current controversies impacting the future of the global information economy: gene patents; online piracy; music sampling; open source business models; access to medicines; and the impact of the 3D printing revolution. Besides overviews of trends in intellectual property law, research and development strategies, university technology transfer, and government and private sector investment, examine case studies of specific innovators, companies, places.

MMS450 - Markets and Management Capstone

Description

Capstone course open only to students in the Markets and Management Studies Program. Includes review of major perspectives and concepts from the program's core courses, plus a team project involving business plans or alternatively a strategic plan to identify and resolve problems confronting actual companies, industries, and communities. Students also develop a case study research paper of a product, firm, industry, occupation, country, or region. Consent of Director of Markets and Management Studies Program required.

MMS490 - Special Topics in Markets and Management Studies

Description

Topics vary each semester.

MMS490S - Special Topics Seminar in Markets and Management Studies

Description

Topics vary each semester.

MUSIC101-1 - Class Piano

Description

A group lesson in which students play assigned pieces for each other and the instructor. The instructor works with each student individually. Beginners are welcome as well as students who have taken other rudimentary lessons. Each student learns at their own pace and is given some practice time during the class period. Assigned pieces will include duets with other members of the class. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>101-2</td>
<td>Class Voice</td>
<td>Group lessons focused on development of basic technique for voice in a master class setting. Students will perform song literature appropriate to the individual skill level. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>101-3</td>
<td>Introductory Guitar Class</td>
<td>Group lessons focused on the development of basic technique for guitar. Students will observe their peers during lessons and will perform literature appropriate to each individual's skill level. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>101-4</td>
<td>Djembe Class</td>
<td>Group lessons focused on the development of basic technique for djembe. Students will observe their peers during lessons and will perform literature appropriate to each individual's skill level. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>101-5</td>
<td>Class Improvisation</td>
<td>Development of musicianship and interpretation through harmony and improvisation, improvisation games, investigations of style and 21st century performance practice. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>101-6</td>
<td>Class Percussion</td>
<td>Group lessons focused on the development of basic technique for percussion. Students will observe their peers during lessons and will perform literature appropriate to each individual's skill level. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>101-7</td>
<td>Class Brass</td>
<td>Group lessons focused on the development of basic technique for brass instrumentalists. Emphasis placed upon a relaxed approach to tone production and the proper use of air and embouchure to produce a musical sound. Students will observe their peers during lessons and will perform literature appropriate to each individual's skill level. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>103-1</td>
<td>Classical Piano</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>103-2</td>
<td>Jazz Piano</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>103-3</td>
<td>Organ</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>103-4</td>
<td>Harpsichord</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>104-1</td>
<td>Violin</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>104-2</td>
<td>Viola</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>104-3</td>
<td>Cello</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>104-4</td>
<td>Double Bass</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>104-5</td>
<td>Classical Guitar</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>104-6</td>
<td>Jazz Guitar</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC104-7</td>
<td>104-7</td>
<td>Harp</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC105-1</td>
<td>105-1</td>
<td>Flute</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC105-2</td>
<td>105-2</td>
<td>Oboe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC105-3</td>
<td>105-3</td>
<td>Clarinet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC105-4</td>
<td>105-4</td>
<td>Bassoon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC105-5</td>
<td>105-5</td>
<td>Saxophone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC105-6</td>
<td>105-6</td>
<td>Jazz Saxophone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC106-1</td>
<td>106-1</td>
<td>Trumpet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>---------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC106-2</td>
<td>106-2</td>
<td>French Horn</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC106-3</td>
<td>106-3</td>
<td>Trombone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC106-4</td>
<td>106-4</td>
<td>Tuba</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Weekly, 30-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC115</td>
<td>115</td>
<td>Vocal Diction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Introduction to the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA) with a focus on diction for singing in English, Italian, French and German. Students will be required to sing in class.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC116</td>
<td>116</td>
<td>Alexander Technique for Musicians, Dancers, and Actors</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>The Alexander Technique provides a structured method of self inquiry which has helped performing artists improve their skills for over 100 years. By uncovering and transforming previously unconscious movement patterns and mental habits, performers can significantly improve their skills by increasing freedom and ease of movement. All instrumentalists and singers with a strong interest and background in performance are welcome.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>120</td>
<td>Music: An Introduction</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Study of the components of music (e.g., melody, rhythm) through comparative listening to styles from different places and times, ranging from current popular artists to classical, jazz, and world music. Discussion of the shared and unique aspects of these styles, their historical and cultural links, and how those shape our tastes.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>121</td>
<td>Discovering Music</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Discovering Music offers a survey of the Western musical tradition from the Middle Ages to the present. We begin by introducing the elements of music (pitch, rhythm, timbre, form), and then proceed historically. Along the way we listen to and examine eighty compositions representative of art music in the West in all its diversity. Students follow the music with enhanced listening diagrams coordinated with streaming audio, read materials about why and how to listen, and watch supplemental videos including members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Duke Symphony Orchestra and Duke Chorale.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>126</td>
<td>Acoustics and Music</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
An introduction to the physics underlying the production, transmission, and reception of musical sounds. Topics covered include sound waves and room acoustics; analysis of pitch, timbre, and loudness; the chromatic scale and tuning systems; resonance and the physics of strings, winds, and brass instruments and the human voice; and the structure of the human ear. Students complete and present an original research project. No previous knowledge of physics assumed.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>130</td>
<td>World Music: Aesthetic and Anthropological Approaches</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Study of musical styles and practices in relation to issues of creativity, forms of power, and cultural survival; focus on the music and experiences of indigenous peoples, refugees, migrants, and immigrants.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>137</td>
<td>Music, Social Life, and Scenes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Study of musical styles and performance practices in relation to issues of identity and other aspects of social life; focus on the diverse local musical scenes and traditions and on learning through doing original fieldwork.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>140</td>
<td>Introduction to Jazz</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Lecture version of Music 140D.
MUSIC141 - The Hollywood Musical: Singing and Dancing the American Dream

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>141</td>
<td>The Hollywood Musical: Singing and Dancing the American Dream</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Beyond its unapologetic praise of spectacularity and entertainment, what makes the Hollywood film musical a quintessential American genre? Since its origins, the Hollywood musical has been channeling various ideologies in its modes of performance and production; it has offered a space to address specific anxieties of the American society: modernity vs. nostalgia, representations of gender, ethnicity, class, and the low/high divide in arts. Emphasis will be given on its performative aspects, the relationship between choreography and song, the changing representations of the dancing body, musical styles, sexual objectification and the star persona.

MUSIC143 - History of Rock: Rhythm & Blues and Rock & Roll to Indie Rock and Hip-Hop

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>143</td>
<td>History of Rock: Rhythm &amp; Blues and Rock &amp; Roll to Indie Rock and Hip-Hop</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The history of rock music from the 1950s to the present. Beginning with its roots in rhythm and blues, country and western, and commercial pop, examination of diverse musical styles, artists and bands, and the many historical, technological, and cultural factors that have contributed to the rise and popularity of rock music.

MUSIC144 - Meet the Beatles and the 1960s

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>144</td>
<td>Meet the Beatles and the 1960s</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The music of the Beatles in the context of 1960s counterculture: rock and roll rebellion, Dylan and psychedelic drugs, recording studio techniques, Eastern religion and the anti-war movement.

MUSIC145 - Hip-Hop/Rap Music Appreciation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>145</td>
<td>Hip-Hop/Rap Music Appreciation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course explores the development of Hip-Hop and Rap music from an inner-city expression of music into a worldwide social and cultural movement. Rap, considered popular music at the beginning of the 21st century, has a huge influence on mainstream culture. Students will have a unique opportunity to develop and/or enhance their knowledge and comprehension of this popular and influential genre.
MUSIC146 - Motown and American Soul Music

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 146
Title: Motown and American Soul Music

Description:
During the 1960's, in Detroit, Michigan, a landmark in music was established: The Motown Sound. This aural kaleidoscope of high quality, dynamic song creation was established through a confluence of talent and hard work by people whose names now line the halls of fame for popular music. Some of these luminaries include Berry Gordy, Diana Ross, Stevie Wonder, Marvin Gaye, and Holland-Dozier-Holland. This course will investigate the societal and musical factors that gave rise to such a distinctive aesthetic, also framing this phenomenon as a point of comparison to a range of commercial music styles, including Philly Soul, Southern Soul, RnB, and current musical trends.

MUSIC147 - Black Music and the Soul of America

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 147
Title: Black Music and the Soul of America

Description:
This course traces the deep and pervasive impact African Americans have had on music in the United States. Musicians include Louis Armstrong, Bessie Smith, James Brown, Aretha Franklin, John Coltrane, Marian Anderson, Sam Cooke, Olly Wilson, Duke Ellington, Florence Price, William Grant Still, Alicia Keys, Kirk Franklin, and Megan Thee Stallion. The course demonstrates musical, cultural and political connections between these different streams of music and American society. Students will discover the myriad ways that the very soul of America has been conditioned by the practices of Black music.

MUSIC148 - Korean Popular Music (K-pop)

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 148
Title: Korean Popular Music (K-pop)

Description:
This course investigates the history, production, reception, and circulation of Korean popular music (K-pop). The course is designed in three modules: the first module offers a critical overview of the history of Korean popular music from 1900 to the present; the second module focuses on the political economy of K-pop; the third module investigates various social issues concerning K-pop, including gender politics, cultural appropriation, visual and aural aesthetics, fandom culture, use of technology, etc. Students will engage with both scholarly articles and popular sources, as well as music videos and albums. Knowledge of the Korean language can be helpful but is not required.

MUSIC161 - Introduction to Music Theory

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 161
Title: Introduction to Music Theory

Description:
This introductory course covers the fundamentals of music theory and music literacy through exploration of European classical repertoire, popular music idioms, written theory exercises, and the development of basic aural skills. Topics include clefs, key signatures, major and minor scales, time signatures, meter, intervals, triads, seventh chords, inversions, basic Roman numeral analysis, and form. Students also write short compositions that explore dynamics, phrasing, texture, dissonance treatment, harmonic function, formal function, and cadential syntax.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>161-2</td>
<td>Introduction to Music Theory Through Music Software and Digital Audio Workspaces</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This introductory course covers the fundamentals of music theory and music literacy through music software and digital audio workspaces like Ableton Live, Logic, Garage Band, and ProTools. Topics include major and minor scales, modes, keys, time signatures, meter, intervals, triads, seventh chords, inversions, basic application of Roman numeral harmonic analysis, and form. Students create short electronic compositions that employ the theoretical concepts explored in the class. Other topics include exploration of popular and classical idioms and the development of basic aural skills.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>162S</td>
<td>Introduction to Composition: Explorations in Musical Time and Space</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Exploration, in seminar/workshop format, of sound and music, expressed through projects involving instruments, voices, and intermedia. Consideration of the current field will provide concrete examples, ranging widely across 'kinds of music.' Investigations will touch on music theory and acoustics, orchestration, music technology and analysis. Primary emphasis on composing: creative discovery of expressive possibilities and compositional value of craft. Intended for students who may have written songs or composed, and who would like to continue their explorations.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>163L</td>
<td>Listening Lab</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
How do we perceive the world around us by listening to sound and music? What can we learn about the world and each other when we tune our ears to particular types of sound, or particular musical traditions? This course offers students an immersive listening environment in which they will be exposed to musics from around the world. Students will practice close listening to connect how music and sound interact with race, gender, sexuality, politics, religion, history, and place. Students will practice writing to understand how language can be used to convey sound and music. No prior technical musical knowledge or experience is required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>165</td>
<td>Let's Dance! Live Art and Performance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This introductory course offers an examination of the major movements in the history of concert and social dance, including ballet, tap, jazz, modern dance, musical theater, and particular cultural forms. Considerations of popular culture and reality competition dance programs; feminist foundations of modern dance; contemporary performance idioms that involve the presence of the body.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>172</td>
<td>Jazz Combo and Improvisation II</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
See Jazz Improvisation I. Prerequisite: Music 171 or consent of instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>176</td>
<td>The Songwriter's Vocabulary</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Writing songs in various twentieth-century popular styles. Fundamentals of form, harmony, voice leading, text setting, and production. Prerequisite: Music 161 or consent of instructor.
MUSIC190 - Special Topics in Music
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Special Topics in Music
Description: Opportunities to engage with a specific issue in music.

MUSIC190FS - Focus Seminar
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Focus Seminar
Description: Topics vary each semester. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

MUSIC190S - Special Topics in Music
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Music
Description: Opportunities to engage with a specific issue in music.

MUSIC199FS - Knowing Through Performance
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 199FS
Title: Knowing Through Performance
Description: Inquiry into the concept of 'performance' broadly construed; not only as it refers to 'staged' performances, but as social ritual and as self-representation, situated in cultural context. Writing experiments aimed at capturing the ephemerality of live performance, with attention to how meaning is enacted through movement, sound, lighting, rhythm, voice, emotion, and audience interaction. Regular writers' workshops and attendance of theater, dance, and musical performances. Students compose critical reviews and a research project on a performance genre, an artist's approach, or other related topic of their choosing.

MUSIC201-3 - Intermediate Guitar Class
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 201-3
Title: Intermediate Guitar Class
Description: This is the follow up to Intro Guitar Class and is mostly pop and folk music with some rock and classical songs added in. This is a challenging class that does require constant daily time practicing on your guitar. Anyone earning an A in Intro Guitar Class is encouraged to enroll. Building on the previous material we will continue working on learning more complicated accompanying patterns, songs with bar chords and intricate picking and more intermediate classical pieces and pop tunes.

MUSIC203-1 - Classical Piano
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 203-1
Title: Classical Piano
Description: Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.

MUSIC203-2 - Jazz Piano
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 203-2
Title: Jazz Piano
Description: Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.

MUSIC203-3 - Organ
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 203-3
Title: Organ
Description: Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC203-4</td>
<td>203-4</td>
<td>Harpsichord</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC203-4</td>
<td>203-4</td>
<td>Harpsichord</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC204-1</td>
<td>204-1</td>
<td>Violin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC204-2</td>
<td>204-2</td>
<td>Viola</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC204-3</td>
<td>204-3</td>
<td>Cello</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC204-4</td>
<td>204-4</td>
<td>Double Bass</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC204-5</td>
<td>204-5</td>
<td>Classical Guitar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC204-6</td>
<td>204-6</td>
<td>Jazz Guitar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC204-7</td>
<td>204-7</td>
<td>Harp</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>205-1</td>
<td>Flute</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>205-2</td>
<td>Oboe</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>205-3</td>
<td>Clarinet</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>205-4</td>
<td>Bassoon</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>205-5</td>
<td>Saxophone</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>205-6</td>
<td>Jazz Saxophone</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>206-1</td>
<td>Trumpet</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>206-2</td>
<td>French Horn</td>
<td>Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MUSIC206-3 - Trombone

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
206-3

Title
Trombone

Description
Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC206-4 - Tuba

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
206-4

Title
Tuba

Description
Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC207-1 - Percussion

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number 207-1

Title
Percussion

Description
Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC208 - Voice

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
208

Title
Voice

Description
Weekly, 60-minute individual private instruction for undergraduate students of varying levels. Ability beyond the beginner stage is required. There is a fee associated with lessons for non-declared music majors. Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC210-1 - Symphony Orchestra

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
210-1

Title
Symphony Orchestra

Description
Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC210-2 - Wind Symphony

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
210-2

Title
Wind Symphony

Description
Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC210-3 - Marching Band

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
210-3

Title
Marching Band

Description
Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC210-4 - Jazz Ensemble

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
210-4

Title
Jazz Ensemble

Description
Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC210-5 - Small Jazz Ensemble

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
210-5

Title
Small Jazz Ensemble

Description
Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC210-6 - Chinese Music Ensemble

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
210-6

Title
Chinese Music Ensemble

Description
Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC211-1</td>
<td>Collegium Musicum</td>
<td>Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC211-2</td>
<td>Chamber Music</td>
<td>Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC211-3</td>
<td>Collaborative Piano (Ensemble)</td>
<td>Chamber music dealing with collaborative piano skills (piano duos,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>vocal/instrumental accompanying, sight reading, transposition and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>orchestral reductions). Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC212-1</td>
<td>Djembe Ensemble</td>
<td>Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC212-2</td>
<td>Afro-Cuban Percussion</td>
<td>Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC213-1</td>
<td>Opera Theater</td>
<td>Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC213-2</td>
<td>Chapel Choir</td>
<td>Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC213-3</td>
<td>Chorale</td>
<td>Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MUSIC214 - The Singing Actor: Song Interpretation for Musical Theater

Subject MUSIC
Catalog Number 214
Title The Singing Actor: Song Interpretation for Musical Theater

Description
The Singing Actor is a research and workshop-based musical theater course designed to introduce students to the analytical and performative demands of acting a song. The course aims to give students a working knowledge of music theory methods, exercises, and essential aesthetics in vocal production and vocal wellness, as well as an in-depth study of script analysis, score analysis, and character development for the musical. Researching and physically preparing songs and scores from various musical genres is the primary focus of the course with the preparation of song pieces for songbooks and audition settings being a secondary focus.

MUSIC215A - The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York

Subject MUSIC
Catalog Number 215A
Title The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York

Description
This course introduces its participants to New York through its rich artistic, cultural, and performance offerings—drawn from art, dance, film, music, literature, and theater. Visiting all five boroughs, they contemplate how the identities of New Yorkers—informed by the city and by ability, class, ethnicity, gender, race, and sexuality—are performed in the theater of everyday life: in parks, streets, subways, and especially the city's diverse neighborhoods and restaurants.

MUSIC216A - Internship in New York

Subject MUSIC
Catalog Number 216A
Title Internship in New York

Description
Participants in this course are immersed in the professional work of New York's arts, culture, and performance industries through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist, institution, or organization. Participants work fifteen hours per week at their internship and meet arts professionals from within and beyond Duke's alumni network. They also meet regularly with their supervising professor. In combination, this work experience, networking opportunity, and academic reflection help interns develop their professional capabilities, refine their interpersonal and workplace skills, and prepare for future work in creative industries.

MUSIC216AS - Duke in London: Arts

Subject MUSIC
Catalog Number 216AS
Title Duke in London: Arts

Description
This course surveys London as a site of dynamic cultural production, whose participation in the global marketplace of artistic commodities reveals the city's restlessly transnational, cosmopolitan character. Studying local institutions, students are introduced to the complex relationship among art, state, and the global cultural marketplace; studying a multiracial and multietnic community, they become familiar with theories of globalization, neoliberalism, and cosmopolitanism, as well as migration and so-called national identity. Students also participate in excursions including dance, opera, and theatre productions and visits to museums and other sites of cultural importance.
MUSIC218 - Musical Theater Workshop: Performance
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 218
Title: Musical Theater Workshop: Performance

Description
Students will develop the three primary skills of musical theater performance (acting, dancing, and singing) in this workshop. Students will also try their hand at choreography, direction, and dramaturgy as we collaboratively stage scenes and songs from musicals throughout the semester. We will analyze what makes musical theatre performance successful as we work to hone your own abilities and talents together. Each student will receive a mixture of individual and group coaching every week. Permission to enroll is granted by instructor consent following a successful audition into the mainstage production.

MUSIC219S - Production Management for Theater
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 219S
Title: Production Management for Theater

Description
What does it mean to successfully manage an artistic endeavor? How does management affect whether or not a project is successful? How can artist managers be more sensitive and responsive to the needs of their fellow collaborators? This course explores theater from the perspective of the production manager. While our focus will be theater, we’ll also discuss how to apply skills such as scheduling, budgeting, writing contracts, and personnel negotiation across the performing and cinematic arts.

MUSIC220S - Writing the Musical Book
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 220S
Title: Writing the Musical Book

Description
Study and create the dramatic text of musical theater. Course starts with grounding in the basics of text writing by studying outstanding examples of book writing, from Arthur Laurent's Gypsy to Brian Yorkey's Pulitzer-winning Next To Normal. Students write a series of short scenes (5-10 pages) to be read aloud and critiqued in class, with ultimate goal of completing an original or adapted book for a one-act musical (30-60 pages.)

MUSIC226S - Performing African Diaspora
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 226S
Title: Performing African Diaspora

Description
The Black cultural contributions of globally popular performance genres such as salsa, capoeira and kizomba often remain unrecognized. The objectives of this class are: 1) to understand the historical, cultural and political forces that created the African Diaspora and its rich tapestry of dances. 2) to question our assumptions that knowledge is only produced through the mind; knowledge is also produced and transmitted through moving bodies. To meet these objectives, the course will be a combination of seminar and studio: in seminar we will engage readings in anthropology, dance and performances studies about specific dances which we will then learn in studio.
MUSIC230S - Arts Policy, Leadership, and Engagement

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 230S
Title: Arts Policy, Leadership, and Engagement

Description: This community-engaged course provides an introduction to contemporary issues in US arts policy and cultural sector leadership across four broad themes: creative institutions; cultural equity and accessibility; creative placemaking/community development; and the creative economy. In addition to policy questions in these areas, we examine leadership practices in arts organizations and cultural institutions, with particular attention to the kinds of leadership the arts require in a post-2020 world. Students will work in teams on a semester-long collaborative project with an arts policy organization and experience the arts in practice through attendance at performances and exhibitions.

MUSIC231S - Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 231S
Title: Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Description: Intro to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required intro course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.

MUSIC235S - Selena: Music, Media, and the Mexican American Experience

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 235S
Title: Selena: Music, Media, and the Mexican American Experience

Description: How did singer Selena Quintanilla impact the world and why does she remain as such an important cultural fixture for Mexican-American communities? This class explores the life, music, and legacy of Selena Quintanilla. We will discuss how Selena used music to navigate a complex Mexican-American identity. Focusing on intersectional feminism, sexuality, iconicity, and fandom, we will learn about Selena’s music throughout the years and consider how these themes are interpreted and complicated across borders. Course materials engage readings from pop music studies, gender, sexuality, and feminist studies, Latinx studies and include a range of films, audio recordings, and podcasts.

MUSIC235T-1 - Voices in Music: Spanish

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 235T-1
Title: Voices in Music: Spanish

Description: Voices in Music explores how language and culture impact the production and reception of music in Spanish-speaking communities. Texts include compositions, lyrics, music videos, interviews, visual texts, and documentaries, allowing students to examine music from multiple perspectives in Spanish. Discussions will include ethnomusicology, representations of culture and identity, performance, and the music industry. Tutorials are taught entirely in Spanish. Prerequisite: 4 semesters-level of language study (SPANISH 204) or equivalent. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>235T-2</td>
<td>Voices in Music: Korean</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Voices in Music explores how language and culture impact the production and reception of music in Korean-speaking communities. Texts include compositions, lyrics, music videos, interviews, visual texts, and documentaries, allowing students to examine music from multiple perspectives in Korean. Discussions will include ethnomusicology, representations of culture and identity, performance, and the music industry. Tutorials are taught in Korean. Recommended prerequisite: 4 semesters-level of language study (KOREAN 204) or equivalent.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| MUSIC     | 235T-3         | Voices in Music: Italian                   |
| Description |
| Voices in Music explores how language and culture impact the production and reception of music in Italian-speaking communities. Texts include compositions, lyrics, music videos, interviews, visual texts, and documentaries, allowing students to examine music from multiple perspectives in Italian. Discussions will include ethnomusicology, representations of culture and identity, performance, and the music industry. Tutorials are taught in Italian. Recommended prerequisite: 4 semesters-level of language study (ITAL 204) or equivalent. |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>236</td>
<td>African Music: Sound, History, Culture, Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This class is about the sound, culture, politics and history of African music as heard in the world today. We will sample diverse styles and practices from around the continent, including live and recorded musics, 'popular' and 'traditional' styles, and sacred and secular practices. The class aims to teach you about the music 'itself', the African history of the international music industry, and about the social value of music, exploring how the patterns of circulation of African music could augment or diminish African problems, Africa's promise, and Africans' creative gifts to the world.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| MUSIC     | 237            | Latinx Music Cultures                      |
| Description |
| Focusing on the social and political contexts from which music emerges, this course traces the histories and contemporary adaptations of Latinx music and dance in Latin America, the Caribbean, and the United States. We will center Indigenous and Afro-Indigenous traditions such as wayno in the Andes and samba in Brazil as well as Afro-Latinx styles that have been recently popularized in the U.S. such as bachata and reggaeton. We will also focus on regional music and dance in Mexico, such as música norteña and son, and its transmission across borders. We will engage a variety of multi-media materials from across ethnomusicology, history, Latinx studies, and transnational feminism. |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>238S</td>
<td>Sound, Music, and the Moving Image</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction to film studies with emphases on uses and functions of sound, film music, sound and other aural objects such as the voice, through a selected body of works. Topics include representations of sound, music and voice, the functions of pre-existing music and their relations with the moving image in cinema and television; gendered representations of music and voice in popular and rock music videos; Hollywood practices and non-Hollywood practices.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| MUSIC     | 239S           | Sound in Social Life                       |
| Description |
| Considers sonic environments as socially cultivated and sound production (recording, processing, mixing) and listening as cultural practices, shaped by acoustic space. Includes study of music, recorded soundscapes (films, games, installations, field recordings), built and ecological environments (rainforests, cities, institutions), and the history and use of sound technology (sound production, reproduction, reception, acoustic materials). |
MUSIC239SA - Sound in Social Life

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 239SA
Title: Sound in Social Life

Description
Focus on sound in NYC, to consider sonic environments as socially cultivated and listening as a cultural practice, shaped by acoustic space. Includes study of music, recorded soundscapes (films, games, installations), built and ecological environments (parks, subways, streets, institutions, clubs, neighborhoods), the politics of soundmaking, and the history and use of sound technology (sound production, reproduction, reception, acoustic materials). Considers noise ordinances in relation to public life, the representation of public life in sound, the shaping of city living practices by its acoustic architecture, and creative responses in sound as urban activist projects. Offered through the Duke in New York program.

MUSIC240S - Composers of Influence

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 240S
Title: Composers of Influence

Description
In the history of the arts, certain individuals have exerted an enormous influence on the trajectory of their art form. Specific composers during different style periods have been profoundly influential on their art and culture, transforming the ways music is made and perceived. This course examines the influence of Bach, Beethoven, Wagner and Stravinsky on their own time periods and subsequent generations of musicians and artists. Part of the 'Transformative Ideas' program.

MUSIC241 - Studio Pop: Histories & Sounds, 1960s to 80s

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 241
Title: Studio Pop: Histories & Sounds, 1960s to 80s

Description
Pop-music styles as the work of studio production techniques, post-1960s. We explore four influential artists--The Beach Boys ('Pet Sounds' 1966, and later albums); Stevie Wonder ('Music of My Mind' 1971 to 'Songs in the Key of Life' 1976); Steely Dan (albums released 1972-79) and Prince (albums 1977 to 1987). Topics include: history of studio production, multi-track tape innovations, orchestrations, backing vocals, sonic balance, space; synthesizer technology; drum-machine grooves. Close reading of songs, producers, studio styles, press/fan reception. Analysis of music in acoustic, narrative, poetic, or structural terms through close listening. Readings from critical literature.

MUSIC242S - Sound, Music, and Gender

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 242S
Title: Sound, Music, and Gender

Description
This seminar explores key topics in gender, sexuality, and feminist studies through musical case studies from contrasting cultural contexts. Through analyses of sonic expressive practices (e.g. drag, queer and trans voices, sex and rock, feminist listening) we consider 1) how genders sound and how sounds gender; 2) music's capacity to transgress, (re)form, and transform—as well as its complicity in perpetuating oppression; 3) music as a resource for dreaming and desiring. No music background is necessary.
MUSIC243S - American Musicals
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 243S
Title: American Musicals
Description: What is it about musicals that made them a uniquely American theatrical form? In this course, we will investigate how musicals represent what it means to be American. Musical theatre history is American history, indebted to and reflective of critical histories of appropriation, capitalism, immigration, and popular entertainment. Musicals seduce us in song and dance; it is easy to ignore the substance beneath the sequins. We will study the texts and historical contexts of musicals over the past century, from Shuffle Along, and Oklahoma!, to A Chorus Line, and Hamilton. Musicals reveal shifting notions of what 'American' means as they stage ability, ethnicity, gender, race, and sexuality.

MUSIC244S - Giants of Jazz: A Journey into the Lives and Music of the Masters of Jazz Music
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 244S
Title: Giants of Jazz: A Journey into the Lives and Music of the Masters of Jazz Music
Description: In the Giants of Jazz Seminar, students will delve deeply into the music and lives of the biggest names in Jazz. Miles Davis, John Coltrane, Charlie Parker, Duke Ellington, Art Blakey and Cannonball Adderly (to name a few) are among those who created various levels of the art form known as jazz, and this course allows students a unique opportunity to get down and dirty with the music and blue print they left for the world to enjoy. This highly interactive course engages students with the Professor, and it is a fun and exciting way to get up close and personal with some of the greatest music and musicians of all time.

MUSIC245S - Musical Shakespeare
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 245S
Title: Musical Shakespeare
Description: William Shakespeare exerts a powerful influence, not only on literature and drama, but on the other arts as well. Composers from the Renaissance to present day, have created music expressly for the performance of his plays and sonnets. Our seminar will explore this repertoire by examining masterworks of music in relation to their Shakespearean antecedents.

MUSIC255S - Music History I: Antiquity Through Renaissance
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 255S
Title: Music History I: Antiquity Through Renaissance
Description: The history of music in medieval and early Europe in its cultural and social context. Prerequisite: Music 261 or consent of instructor.

MUSIC256S - Music History II: 1600 through Mozart
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 256S
Title: Music History II: 1600 through Mozart
Description: The history of music in Europe in its cultural and social context. Prerequisite: Music 261 or consent of instructor.

MUSIC257 - Music History III: Beethoven through WWI
Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 257
Title: Music History III: Beethoven through WWI
Description: The history of music in nineteenth-century through post-WWI Europe and the United States in its cultural and social context. Prerequisite: Music 261 or consent of instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC258</td>
<td>258</td>
<td>Music History IV: Post-WWI through the Present</td>
<td>The history of music in twentieth- and twenty-first-century Europe and the United States in its cultural and social context. Prerequisite: Music 261 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC259</td>
<td>259</td>
<td>Modern and Experimental Music</td>
<td>A survey of Debussy, Stravinsky, Bartók, Varèse, Ives, and other composers who transformed music in Europe and the United States before World War II, as well as prominent post-war figures such as Lutoslawski, Messiaen, and Carter. Topics include the changing role of the composer in society, relationships to literary and visual modernism, the evolution of musical technology, and the composer's dialogues with vernacular music and other traditions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC261</td>
<td>261</td>
<td>Theory and Practice of Tonal Music I</td>
<td>Diatonic harmony; two-part species counterpoint; introduction to classical form and composition of small forms; analysis of popular music and study of popular idioms; and aural skills including singing, dictation, keyboard harmony, and score reading.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC264S</td>
<td>264S</td>
<td>Social Entrepreneurship and the Arts</td>
<td>Will identify and explore the power of the arts to affect positive social change, and train in creative social entrepreneurship. Will learn the fundamentals of nonprofit management, develop personal leadership skills, and create work products that will set them on their path as entrepreneurs and leaders in social change through the arts. Project includes building a company based on their innovative idea for social change in the arts by creating vision and mission statements, company core values, strategic plans, logic models, evaluation plans, marketing and fundraising plans, and a pitch-deck.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC273S</td>
<td>273S</td>
<td>Introduction to Electronic Music Composition</td>
<td>Introduction to composing electronic music using variety of software such as Logic, ProTools, Ableton, Audacity, Max/MSP, SuperCollider, etc. Concepts covered include recording/editing/mixing; plugin FX; MIDI; sampling; synthesis, etc. Readings and listening assignments explore history of electronic music. Course relevant to wide array of student musical interests, from experimental to EDM.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC274S</td>
<td>274S</td>
<td>Computer Music</td>
<td>Computer music composition with an emphasis on digital synthesis, sampling, and related technologies. Study of recent computer music repertory. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MUSIC281S - Composition Seminar - Transcribing and Arranging Music for Chamber Ensembles

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 281S
Title: Composition Seminar - Transcribing and Arranging Music for Chamber Ensembles

Description:
This course is geared toward performers and composers who play chamber music or ensemble music. You will learn how to transcribe your favorite pieces (any style!) for chamber groups such as string quartet, woodwind quintet, piano trio, piano quartet, and other instrumental combinations. While the course is project-based, we will also study transcriptions by other musicians from the 19th through 21st centuries. Prerequisites: 1. Ability to play an instrument and read music fluently (treble and bass clef). 2. Participation in a Duke chamber music group or vocal ensemble is optimal but not required. 3. MUSIC 261 is excellent preparation but not required if you fulfill requirements 1 & 2. 4. Available to meet with collaborating musicians outside of class.

MUSIC281T - Composition I

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 281T
Title: Composition I

Description:
Same as Music 281S, in tutorial format. Composing original music in smaller forms for voice, piano, and other instruments. Studies in compositional techniques. Prerequisites: Music 261 and 361 or consent of instructor. Not open to students who have taken Music 281S.

MUSIC285S - Critical Pedagogy of Hip Hop

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 285S
Title: Critical Pedagogy of Hip Hop

Description:
This course examines the role of critical pedagogy in developing learning environments that engage and empower youth. Emphasis is placed on the context of Hip Hop as a foundation for instructional decision-making and social justice advocacy/activism. Students will explore the historical and socio-cultural foundations of education initiatives, teaching and learning strategies, federal and state mandates and educational policy issues that contribute to marginalization. Innovations, interdisciplinary collaboration and community programs designed to strengthen schools and communities will be highlighted.

MUSIC288S - Music as Biology

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 288S
Title: Music as Biology

Description:
The course will explore the tone combinations that humans consider consonant or dissonant, the scales we use, and the emotions music elicits, all of which provide a rich dataset for exploring music and auditory aesthetics in neurobiological terms. Analyses of speech and music indicate that the chromatic scale (the set of tones used by humans to create music), consonance and dissonance, worldwide preferences for a few dozen scales from the billions that are possible, and the emotions elicited by music in different cultures stem from the relative similarity of musical tonalities and the characteristics of voiced (tonal) speech. Our brains have evidently evolved to associate these two domains.
MUSIC289 - Music and the Brain

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
289

Title
Music and the Brain

Description
Musical perception and performance from artistic, subjective and neuroscientific perspectives. Presentations/didactic musical performances address how our brain detects and represents music, distinguishing music from other sounds, how we learn to perform and create music, the effects of music on brain structure and function, musical schema, and musical antecedents and analogues in non-humans. Dialog between course directors, a professional musician and neuroscientist, highlights the intersection between artistic and scientific perspectives on this fundamental and aesthetic form of human expression. Music and/or neuroscience background preferred, but not required.

MUSIC290 - Special Topics in Music

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
290

Title
Special Topics in Music

Description
Opportunities to engage with a specific issue in music.

MUSIC290A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Music

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
290A

Title
Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Music

Description
Topics differ by section.

MUSIC290S - Special Topics in Music

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
290S

Title
Special Topics in Music

Description
Opportunities to engage with a specific issue in music.

MUSIC290S-1 - Special Topics in Music History

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
290S-1

Title
Special Topics in Music History

Description
Topics vary.

MUSIC290S-2 - Special Topics in Music Theory

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
290S-2

Title
Special Topics in Music Theory

Description
Topics vary. Prerequisite: Music 361 or consent of instructor.

MUSIC290S-3 - Special Topics in Ethnomusicology

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
290S-3

Title
Special Topics in Ethnomusicology

Description
Topics to be announced addressing a range of musical traditions from around the world.

MUSIC290S-4 - Special Topics in Jazz

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
290S-4

Title
Special Topics in Jazz

Description
Topics vary. Also taught as African & African American Studies 141S. Prerequisite: Music 140 or consent of instructor.
MUSIC295S - Arts Entrepreneurship

Subject
MUSIC
Catalog Number
295S
Title
Arts Entrepreneurship
Description
Student teams work on specific arts-based entrepreneurial projects. Teams comprised of students from different backgrounds (arts, engineering, economics, computer science). Goals include creating business plan and launching ventures in areas of the arts. Structure an adaptation of Fuqua Program for Entrepreneurs. Ideal projects have real/positive impact on society. Students learn to situate artistic creativity within projects that meet societal need. Students from any background welcome to apply for enrollment. Must have interest in arts or working with artists in entrepreneurial context. Admission by permission of instructors.

MUSIC296S - Music Entrepreneurship

Subject
MUSIC
Catalog Number
296S
Title
Music Entrepreneurship
Description
Music Entrepreneurship addresses, first and foremost, how to get your art out into the world. This course also explores strategies musicians can use to cultivate an audience and then how to monetize their art and earn an income as a musician. Prerequisites for the course are the ability to perform music (any style, instrument, or voice) and an interest in learning how to get your music out into the world.

MUSIC305S - Writing about Performance

Subject
MUSIC
Catalog Number
305S
Title
Writing about Performance
Description
Inquiry into the concept of ’performance’ broadly construed—not only as it refers to ’staged’ concerts or plays, but also as social ritual and as self-presentation, appropriately situated in cultural context. Writing experiments aimed at capturing the ephemeral nature of live performance, with attention to how meaning is enacted through movement, sound, lighting, rhythm, voice, emotion, and audience interaction. Regular writer’s workshops and field trips to theater, dance, and musical performances. Students compose critical reviews and a research project on a performance genre, an artist’s approach, or other related topic of their choosing. Prerequisite: Writing 101.

MUSIC310S - Non-Profit Cultural Institutions

Subject
MUSIC
Catalog Number
310S
Title
Non-Profit Cultural Institutions
Description
Non-profit cultural institutions are an integral part of arts communities at all levels: national, regional, local. Through readings, projects and service-learning, students gain overview of non-profit cultural organization formation, management, operational structures, governance challenges, board member responsibilities and situational ethics. Explores historical and present functions and social structures in which nonprofit tax-exempt organizations operate. Investigates how nonprofit cultural institutions have increasingly become a vehicle for fostering creativity in the arts and humanities. Students partner with local non-profit arts/cultural organizations to work on specific projects.

MUSIC318 - Instrumental Conducting

Subject
MUSIC
Catalog Number 318
Title
Instrumental Conducting
Description
Development of techniques of conducting instrumental ensembles with emphasis on orchestral repertoire. Score-reading and analysis, principles of interpretation, and practical conducting experience. Prerequisite: Music 361 and consent of instructor. Instructor consent required.

MUSIC319 - Choral Conducting

Subject
MUSIC
Catalog Number
319
Title
Choral Conducting
Description
Development of techniques of conducting vocal repertoire, ranging from church anthems to large-scale works. Score-reading and analysis, principles of interpretation, and practical conducting experience. Prerequisite: Music 361 or consent of instructor. Instructor consent required.
MUSIC321 - Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number 321

Title
Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

Description
Sampling & remixing of previous works is a major mode of contemporary cultural production cutting across media and cultural practices. This course analyzes its genealogy, technological underpinnings, legal presuppositions and aesthetic consequences. Tensions between copy and copyright, between claims to originality and mechanical reproduction characterize this contemporary regime, now deployed globally. Its cultural implications will be distinguished from related modes of making art and meaning (imitation, citation, collage, montage...) and tracked through various objects: popular and avant-garde cinema; videogames, ready-mades and Pop Art; Hip-Hop and Electro; literature and DJ culture.

MUSIC326S - The Art of Performance

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
326S

Title
The Art of Performance

Description
Fundamental issues in musical performance, examined through performing, comparative listening, readings, and discussion. In-class performance required. Prerequisites: Ability to read music and proficiency in instrumental or vocal performance. Consent of instructor required.

MUSIC335 - The History of Hip-Hop

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number 335

Title
The History of Hip-Hop

Description
What began as a localized activity designed to provide a safe haven for Black and Latino youth in New York City, has become a global brand that has had a documented impact on the cultural, political and economic realities of youth throughout the globe. This course will examine the organic social and cultural foundations of hip-hop, as well as the key aesthetic innovators/innovations, and the debates that have arisen over hip-hop's increased influence.

MUSIC336 - The Black Performance Tradition: Michael Jackson and Prince

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number 336

Title
The Black Performance Tradition: Michael Jackson and Prince

Description
Examines the Black Performance context that produced Jackson's singular creative genius within the realms of music, movement and politics, including the influence of Black vernacular practices like signifying and sampling, the network of Black social spaces known as the Chitlin' Circuit, the impact of Black migration patterns to urban spaces in the Midwest, and Black performance traditions including Blackface minstrelsy.
MUSIC337S - Introduction to Hip-Hop Production

Description
Introduction to Hip-Hop Production examines the history, background, functionality, and techniques of hip-hop production. This class will examine the art of sampling, borrowing, context, and practices in hip-hop production, while studying the history of beat machines and digital audio workstations.

MUSIC340SA - Performing Italy

Description
Studies the role of the performing arts in Italian cultural and national identity (1600-1900). Navigates the intersections between performance and political histories. Studies the crossroads of personal and collective identity, issues of gender relations, factors of agency and exclusion, and the instruments of power that make performance possible. Readings and listenings include works by Monteverdi, Vivaldi, Puccini, Verdi, and others. Thematic units featured: the myth of opera, opera and empire, affect and history, women's musical education, gender and the 'femme fatale,' nationalism and the stage, and the performing arts today. Taught in English through the Duke in Bologna program.

MUSIC342 - Music for Dancers

Description
Exploration of the elements of music, music structures, and their relationship to movement and dance. Practical emphasis on rhythmic fundamentals, rhythm notation, musicality, mindful listening, and how they apply to choreography/composition and dance class. In-class movement, rhythm, and listening exercises, both solo and in groups, along with written and creative assignments, using drums, voice, body percussion and digital audio. The goal of this course is to provide musical training for dance/movement artists. Requirements: no musical training required to take the class, however, students should be able to create/choreograph/improvise movement phrases.

MUSIC361 - Theory and Practice of Tonal Music II

Description
Chromatic harmony including modulation; sequences and figuration; continuing study of classical form and analysis of popular music; composition of larger forms; and aural skills including singing, dictation, keyboard harmony, and score reading.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC366S - Versailles and the Arts</td>
<td>366S</td>
<td>Versailles and the Arts</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Taught in French, this course examines the political, cultural, and artistic history of Versailles in the 17th and 18th centuries, emphasizing its role in the history of music. It analyzes the ways in which the Sun-King achieved the unification and centralization of the French nation through certain artistic politics which likewise set the scene for musical institutions. This seminar therefore seeks to investigate how these artists’ creations articulated evolving ideas around the court, the monarchy, the State, and the private and public spheres, while exploring their resonances in present art and literature.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC367S - Soundscapes of Migration: Music and Migration in Paris from the Interwar Years to the Present</td>
<td>367S</td>
<td>Soundscapes of Migration: Music and Migration in Paris from the Interwar Years to the Present</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This class studies migration through the prism of music, focusing on Paris as a node of networks of musical migration. It analyzes how the metropolis has been a site of musical encounters, as well as a recipient, catalyzer, and disseminator of migrating musical practices. It studies music as a transnational and diasporic cultural process. Although our musical journey will be structured chronologically, its frontiers will encompass the soundscapes of the capital's peripheries. The range of music considered will be varied: from the Eastern European classical repertoire and African American Jazz to contemporary Rap, through Algerian Raï and Arab-Andalusian popular music. Taught in French.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Description

The economically over-burdened US health care system and extended life expectancies for older adults offer a unique opportunity for working artists—not arts therapists—to intervene in the rapidly expanding field of integrative art and health. Rather than study health outcomes as indicators of 'success,' we centralize creative practice as our axis of inquiry. Course readings, interviews, and field visits to a Durham-based intervention highlight power imbalances and cultural sensitivities in hospitals, clinical care, assisted living, and nonprofit community care contexts. Culminates in student driven case studies of local arts work and workarounds.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC381T - Composition II</td>
<td>381T</td>
<td>Composition II</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Same as Music 381S, in tutorial format. Individual lessons in compositional techniques. See Music 151 or 151A. Prerequisites: Music 261, 361, and 281S or 281T OR consent of instructor. Not open to students who have taken Music 381S.
MUSIC390 - Advanced Special Topics in Music

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Advanced Special Topics in Music

Description: Opportunities to engage with a specific issue in music.

---

MUSIC390-1 - Special Topics in Interpretation and Performance

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 390-1
Title: Special Topics in Interpretation and Performance

Description: Interpretative analysis of instrumental (piano, strings, winds) and vocal repertoire from baroque to modern composers. Participants expected to perform. Instructor consent required.

---

MUSIC390S-1 - Advanced Special Topics in Music

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 390S-1
Title: Advanced Special Topics in Music

Description: Opportunities to engage with a specific issue in music.

---

MUSIC390T - Special Music Topics Tutorial

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 390T
Title: Special Music Topics Tutorial

Description: Small group instruction on focused music topics. Topics vary each semester.

---

MUSIC391 - Independent Study

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual directed study in a field of special interest on previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic or artistic product. Consent of instructor and the director of undergraduate studies required. May be repeated for credit.

---

MUSIC393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research and/or theoretical analysis in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantial paper that contains significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
MUSIC398S - Meeting the World Through Chamber Music

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
398S

Title
Meeting the World Through Chamber Music

Description
Meeting the World Through Chamber Music is designed for advanced study, collaborative performance and interpretation of 250 years of music; historical context study; understanding of interpretive choices. Topics covered: overtones in blend and tuning; rehearsal techniques; presenting introductions for mature concert-goers; Interactive Performances for school-aged audiences. Performances in the community and a final culmination recital. Community engagement at Fayetteville Elementary School, Durham; potential travel to an American Conservatory of Music. Instructor consent required, and recommended prerequisite or co-requisites: Music 211-2 and Music 204.

MUSIC401 - Advanced Study in Musical Performance

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
401

Title
Advanced Study in Musical Performance

Description
Open only to sophomores, juniors, and seniors possessing an exceptional technical and interpretative command of a musical medium. Requires either a half-length recital at the end of each semester of study or a full-length recital at the end of the second semester. In the latter case, a brief performance before a jury of music department faculty is required at the end of the first semester. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisites: previous registration in private instruction in applied music at Duke, audition, and consent of instructor. Instructor consent required.

MUSIC401-1 - Advanced Study in Vocal Music Performance

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
401-1

Title
Advanced Study in Vocal Music Performance

Description
Open only to sophomores, juniors, and seniors possessing an exceptional technical and interpretative command of a musical medium. Requires either a half-length recital at the end of each semester of study or a full-length recital at the end of the second semester. In the latter case, a brief performance before a jury of music department faculty is required at the end of the first semester. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisites: previous registration in private instruction in applied voice at Duke, audition, consent of instructor, and completion of or concurrent enrollment in Music 115S. Instructor consent required.

MUSIC418 - Advanced Study in Conducting

Subject
MUSIC

Catalog Number
418

Title
Advanced Study in Conducting

Description
Advanced work in reading scores, analysis, principles of interpretation, and practical conducting experience. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Music 318 or 319 or consent of instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>420S</td>
<td>MUSIC420S - Music and The Black Radical Imagination</td>
<td>This seminar introduces students to key texts on histories and theories of Black radicalism, and spotlights the role of the imagination and creativity within modern Black political struggles. Building on the foundational scholarship of Cedric Robinson, Robin D. G. Kelley, and others, students will investigate how the philosophical and ideological foundations of the Black Radical Tradition have been nurtured and transmitted across time and space as culture. Special emphasis will be placed on the study of sound, music, and performance as manifestations of the Black radical imagination, from the era of Atlantic slavery to the contemporary Black Lives Matter Movement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>425S</td>
<td>MUSIC425S - Auditory Neuroscience - From Sound to Music</td>
<td>An exploration of how sound is processed in brain, providing an introduction to stages of information processing from ears to auditory cortex and beyond. Methods of data acquisition (e.g., fMRI, electrophysiology, psychoacoustics) are introduced along with their advantages and pitfalls. Sound and auditory perception are discussed, starting with basic properties such as frequency, loudness, pitch, and timbre, progressing to human speech and music. A textbook, primary research papers and scholarly reviews are assigned. An interest in all forms of sound and music and completion of Neuroscience 201 or Neuroscience 212 are strongly recommended.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>430</td>
<td>MUSIC430 - Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa</td>
<td>The objective of the course is to analyze the social, political and cultural dynamics of post-independence African states through the musical archive. The course will analyze the role that music has played in the construction of national identities in post-colonial African states, but also in social, political and cultural dynamics of contemporary Africa. From High-life in Ghana to Congolese rumba, Afrobeat in Nigeria, reggae, Hip Hop and Rai, it will show how music has accompanied societal and political evolutions of African nations. The course will think of music as a landscape and analyze the musical circulation, as a space for the constitution of African societal modernities. In English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>461</td>
<td>MUSIC461 - Theory and Practice of Tonal Music III</td>
<td>Tonal music using advanced chromaticism; analysis of larger classical forms and popular idioms; composition of large-scale instrumental forms, song forms, and projects modeling 19th and 20th century tonality; and aural skills including singing, dictation, keyboard harmony, and score reading.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>463S</td>
<td>MUSIC463S - Theory and Practice of Post-Tonal Music</td>
<td>Analytical studies and compositions in various forms, techniques, and styles, with an emphasis on twentieth-century music. Prerequisite: Music 461 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MUSIC</td>
<td>465S</td>
<td>MUSIC465S - Counterpoint</td>
<td>Polyphonic practice of the late baroque: writing of two- and three-part compositions in a variety of genres (baroque dances, inventions, preludes, fugues). Prerequisite: Music 461 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
MUSIC481T - Advanced Composition

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 481T
Title: Advanced Composition

Description: Individual weekly sessions for advanced students. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisites: Music 281S and 381S or consent of instructor.

MUSIC490S - Advanced Topics in Music

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Advanced Topics in Music

Description: Primarily for junior and senior music majors. Topics to be announced. Prerequisites: Music 255S, 256S, 257, and 461.

MUSIC491 - Independent Study

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 491
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic or artistic product. Consent of instructor and the director of undergraduate studies required. May be repeated for credit.

MUSIC89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject: MUSIC
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar

Description: Topics vary each semester offered.

NAVALSCI101 - Introduction to Naval Science

Subject: NAVALSCI
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Introduction to Naval Science

Description: Introduction to the organization, missions, and branches of specialization within the United States Navy and Marine Corps. Customs, traditions, leadership, career opportunities, and Naval and Marine Corps operations.

NAVALSCI111 - Seapower and Maritime Affairs

Subject: NAVALSCI
Catalog Number: 111
Title: Seapower and Maritime Affairs

Description: This course is a conceptual study of the history and strategy of sea faring nations. The course examines the political and military impact of events from the birth of sea power in the Mediterranean, to the expansion through the Atlantic Ocean, and the spread of sea power to North America. It examines the development of strategy on the seas, and the impact on global economic forces. This course uses examples of military engagements on the seas from the American Revolution to the Global War on Terrorism and Operation Iraqi Freedom.

NAVALSCI189L - First Year Naval Leadership Laboratory

Subject: NAVALSCI
Catalog Number: 189L
Title: First Year Naval Leadership Laboratory

Description: Practical application of military discipline, leadership and management. Also provides general military training. Mandatory for first year Naval ROTC program students.

NAVALSCI213S - Evolution of Warfare

Subject: NAVALSCI
Catalog Number: 213S
Title: Evolution of Warfare

Description: Continuity and change in the history of warfare, with attention to the interrelationship of social, political, technological, and military factors.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI215S</td>
<td>215S</td>
<td>Amphibious Warfare</td>
<td>Development of amphibious doctrine, with attention to its current applications.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI223</td>
<td>223</td>
<td>Naval Leadership and Management</td>
<td>Examination of current and classical leadership and management theories, as well as organizational behavior in the context of military organization. Topics include managerial functions, performance appraisal, motivation theories, group dynamics, leadership theories and communication.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI231</td>
<td>231</td>
<td>Concepts and Analyses of Naval Tactical Systems</td>
<td>The study of weapons systems used aboard naval vessels and aircraft. Detection systems and systems integration into current naval platforms and their offensive and defensive capabilities.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI289L</td>
<td>289L</td>
<td>Second Year Leadership Laboratory</td>
<td>Practical application of military discipline, leadership and management. Also provides general military training. Mandatory for second year Naval ROTC program students.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI331</td>
<td>331</td>
<td>Naval Ship Systems</td>
<td>Quantitative study of basic naval ships' systems. Focus on detailed ship design, hydrodynamic forces, stability, propulsion, electrical theory and distribution, hydraulic theory, and damage control. Includes basic theory/design of various ship propulsion systems and case studies on leadership/ethical issues in the engineering arena.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI353</td>
<td>353</td>
<td>Navigation</td>
<td>Theory, principles, and procedures of ship navigation, movements, and employment. Dead reckoning, piloting, celestial and electronic principles of navigation. Corequisite: Naval Science 353L.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI353L</td>
<td>353L</td>
<td>Navigation Laboratory</td>
<td>Practical application of the theories and principles of navigation as presented in the lecture series.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI389L</td>
<td>389L</td>
<td>Third Year Naval Leadership Laboratory</td>
<td>Practical application of military discipline, leadership and management. Also provides general military training. Mandatory for third year Naval ROTC program students.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI</td>
<td>423S</td>
<td>Leadership and Ethics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI</td>
<td>453</td>
<td>Naval Operations</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAVALSCI</td>
<td>489L</td>
<td>Fourth Year Naval Leadership Laboratory</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NEUROBIO</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>101D</td>
<td>Biological Bases of Behavior: Introduction and Survey</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Biological Bases of Behavior (Team-Based Learning)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NAVALSCI423S - Leadership and Ethics

Subject: NAVALSCI
Catalog Number: 423S
Title: Leadership and Ethics
Description: Capstone Course that examines principles of leadership and ethical decision-making through study and interactive discussion of classical and contemporary course documents and case studies. Coursework includes Constitutional Law, Natural Law Theory, as well as works by Kant, Mill, and Aristotle, among others.

NAVALSCI453 - Naval Operations

Subject: NAVALSCI
Catalog Number: 453
Title: Naval Operations
Description: Components of general naval operations, including concepts and application of tactical formations and dispositions, relative motion, maneuvering board and tactical plots, rules of the road, and naval communications. Prerequisite: Naval Science 353 or consent of instructor.

NAVALSCI489L - Fourth Year Naval Leadership Laboratory

Subject: NAVALSCI
Catalog Number: 489L
Title: Fourth Year Naval Leadership Laboratory
Description: Advanced practical application of military discipline, leadership and management. Also provides general military training.

NEUROBIO393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: NEUROBIO
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: Individual research and reading of the primary literature in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the major product of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor required.

NEUROSCI101D - Biological Bases of Behavior: Introduction and Survey

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 101D
Title: Biological Bases of Behavior: Introduction and Survey
Description: An introduction to the methods, models, and reasoning that have led to discoveries about brain-behavior relations, and a critical evaluation of the current theories that guide our thinking about the neurobiology, development and evolution of sensory and cognitive processes, sleep, pain, emotion, hunger, and thirst as well as maternal and sexual behavior patterns. Recommended background: AP Biology or strong Biology background. Psychology 101 recommended for Psychology majors.

NEUROSCI102 - Biological Bases of Behavior (Team-Based Learning)

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Biological Bases of Behavior (Team-Based Learning)
Description: Introduction to neuroscience that explores methods, models, and reasoning that led to discoveries about brain-behavior relations. Students learn and apply concepts in neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, synaptic transmission, the somatic sensorimotor system, vision, emotions, attention & consciousness, memory & learning, sexual differentiation & orientation, and psychopathology. In-class experiences organized around principles of team-based learning, with students collaborating in small teams for readiness assessments and team applications. Course fulfills gateway requirement for Neuroscience major. First years are welcome.
NEUROSCI103L - Computing and the Brain

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI | 103L | Computing and the Brain

Description
Introductory programming based on problems in neuroscience. Provides foundational skills for using computers to collect and analyze neuroscience data. Study of how computational processes are implemented by information-processing entities: both brains and computers. Python programming to generate sensory stimuli and collect/analyze behavioral and neural data. Scientific and Software Engineering best practices for conducting and verifying neuroscience experiments. Not open to students who have taken Computer Science 101. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

NEUROSCI104L - Interdisciplinary Introduction to Computer Science

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI | 104L | Interdisciplinary Introduction to Computer Science

Description
Introduction to the practices and principles of computer science and programming and their impact on and potential to change the world motivated by problems drawn from natural science, social science, engineering, and humanities. Programming using Python, appropriate libraries, and APIs to process, analyze, and visualize data. Design, implementation, and analysis emphasizing abstraction, encapsulation, and problem decomposition. No previous programming experience required.

NEUROSCI116FS - Neuroscience and Human Language

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI | 116FS | Neuroscience and Human Language

Description
Same as Linguist 216S; open only to students in the Focus Program. Prerequisite: Advanced placement credit in Biology.

NEUROSCI121FS - Sleep in Society: History, Culture, and Medicine

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI | 121FS | Sleep in Society: History, Culture, and Medicine

Description
Exploration of sleep as it intersects anthropology, history, psychology, neurology, sociology, linguistics, and public policy. Topics range from normal sleep and circadian rhythms to the evolution of sleep and sleep habits around the world. Social determinants of sleep in the United States are considered. Students discuss racism and public policies in sleep health, the costs of massive societal sleep deprivation, the history and cultural narratives of dream interpretation, and principles of clinical sleep medicine. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

NEUROSCI150 - Research Practicum

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI | 150 | Research Practicum

Description
Introduction to faculty-directed research, often preparing the student for independent study. Preliminary research activities include readings, regular research discussions, and, for some, data collection and analysis, as a means to explore the potential for the more formally planned and intensive Research Independent Study and the greater level of commitment required; does not obligate student or faculty to subsequent Research Independent Study. Instructor consent required. Satisfactory/unsatisfactory grading only.

NEUROSCI153FS - Drugs and the Law

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI | 153FS | Drugs and the Law

Description
Exploration of the relationship between addictive drugs and the law. Examine mechanisms by which drugs of abuse affect the brain and decision-making on the individual level, and consequences of those effects on the societal level, then examine how society responds to these behaviors in terms of attitudes and laws. Compare perspectives of the criminal justice system with that of drug users. Class consists of lectures, discussions, guest speakers, and media presentations and a project examining cross-generational views on drug use, abuse, and laws. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Instructor consent required.
NEUROSCI190S - Special Topics in Neuroscience
Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Neuroscience
Description: Topics vary by semester.

NEUROSCI191FS - Intersections of the Sexual Brain
Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 191FS
Title: Intersections of the Sexual Brain
Description: Understanding how the human brain and environment interconnect evolved dramatically with recent advances in neuroscience research methods. Students analyze such interconnections and the impact on societal theories of human sexuality. Students assess influential factors such as ethnicity/race, culture, and religion, all diversely represented in contemporary America. Students read and discuss scientific and popular articles with historical context and explore the consequences of scientific observations on the personal, societal and political levels. Students develop written and oral communication skills and work collaboratively with fellow peers. Open only to Focus Program students.

NEUROSCI201 - Fundamentals of Neuroscience
Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 201
Title: Fundamentals of Neuroscience
Description: Course covers broad and rapidly evolving field of neuroscience encompassing questions about how humans and other animals experience their world. Learners explore the organization of neural systems that sense our environment, plan and execute complex movements, encode and retrieve memories, and experience a wide range of emotions. Learners examine brain development and how changes in structure and function underlie impacts of neurological and psychiatric disorders. Not recommended for first-year students. Prerequisite: Biology 20, 201L, or 203L and Chemistry 20, 21,101DL, or 110DL or concurrent enrollment in Biology 201L, 202L, or 203L and concurrent enrollment in Chemistry 101DL or 110DL.

NEUROSCI202 - Medical Neuroscience: Foundations for the Neurological Sciences
Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Medical Neuroscience: Foundations for the Neurological Sciences
Description: Examines the functional organization and neurophysiology of the human central nervous system, with a neurobiological framework for understanding human behavior. Students learn the anatomy and function of neural systems in the brain and spinal cord that mediate sensation, motivate bodily action, and integrate sensorimotor signals with memory, emotion, and related cognitive faculties. Provides the foundation for neurological sciences, including understanding the impairments of sensation, action, and cognition that accompany injury, disease, or dysfunction in the human central nervous system. Prior completion of Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107 strongly encouraged.
NEUROSCI211 - Brain and Behavior: Translating Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 211
Title: Brain and Behavior: Translating Neuroscience

Description
This course will focus on how brain mechanisms enable behavior. We will examine the neural basis of homeostatic control, voluntary actions, motivation, emotion, and decision making. We will use systems analysis to elucidate how volition, intentionality, and purpose can be emergent properties of neuronal interactions. We will also explore how different neurological and psychiatric disorders can result from specific defects in hierarchical neural networks. Prerequisite (one of the following): Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101, Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102, Psychology 275/Neuroscience 201, or Psychology 193FS/Neurobiology 193FS/Neuroscience 193FS.

NEUROSCI217 - Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 217
Title: Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Description
The biological bases of higher brain function, including perception, attention, memory, language, emotion, executive functions and consciousness. Emphasis on human brain function at the macroscopic network-level, and the current theories and controversies in this rapidly growing field. Course is not recommended for first years. Prerequisite (one of the following): Neuroscience 101 or 102/ Psychology 106 or 107, or Psychology 102, or Psychology 275/Neuroscience 201/Biology 224, or Neurobiology 195FS/Neuroscience 195FS, or Neurobiology 193FS/Psychology 193FS/Neuroscience 193FS, or permission of instructor.

NEUROSCI217D - Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 217D
Title: Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Description
The biological bases of higher brain function, including perception, attention, memory, language, emotion, executive functions and consciousness. Emphasis on human brain function at the macroscopic network-level, and the current theories and controversies in this rapidly growing field. Course is not recommended for freshmen. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/ Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/ Psychology 107 or Psychology 102 or Neuroscience 201/ Psychology 275/Biology 224 or Neurobiology 195FS/Neuroscience 195FS.

NEUROSCI223 - Cellular and Molecular Neurobiology

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 223
Title: Cellular and Molecular Neurobiology

Description
This course will cover the molecular and cellular components underlying nervous system function. Topics include the regulation of the neuronal cytoskeleton, process outgrowth and axon guidance, transport mechanisms, the generation and propagation of the action potential, components of the presynaptic and postsynaptic terminals, growth factors in development and regeneration, neuronal stem cells, and sensory signal transduction. Lectures by the instructor and expert guests, with regular readings of current and/or historical primary literature. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 20, 21, 201L or 203L or equivalent, and Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.
NEUROSCI233 - Exploring Science and Religion

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>233</td>
<td>Exploring Science and Religion</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This Transformative Ideas course, geared to sophomore STEM majors, introduces the most pressing questions about science and religion. Core topics will include faith and reason; the origins of the universe; the existence of fine-tuning; evolution, randomness and design; the neuroscience of free will; the science of the soul; and science and morality. Other possible topics may include: recent theories of consciousness in psychology; the relationship between God and time; God and the epistemology of mathematics; religion and advances in AI; the neuroscience of religious experience; the possibility of miracles; and historical episodes in the development of science vis-à-vis religion.

NEUROSCI237 - Religion and Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>237</td>
<td>Religion and Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The diverse interactions of religion and science from the Renaissance to the present. The profound transformation of premodern science by seventeenth-century revolutions and nineteenth-century discoveries; in turn, the transformation of society, including religion, by modern science. Some consideration of physics and astronomy, but major focus on the impact of Darwinian anti-teleology and modern biology, especially animal studies, on 'natural theology' and traditional arguments from design. Thinkers to be considered include Francis Bacon, Montaigne, Spinoza, Thomas Huxley, Albert Einstein, and E.O. Wilson. Topics include evolution, human consciousness, human identity, and the human-animal boundary.

NEUROSCI237S - Religion and Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>237S</td>
<td>Religion and Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The diverse interactions of religion and science from the Renaissance to the present. The profound transformation of premodern science by seventeenth-century revolutions and nineteenth-century discoveries; in turn, the transformation of society, including religion, by modern science. Some consideration of physics and astronomy, but major focus on the impact of Darwinian anti-teleology and modern biology, especially animal studies, on 'natural theology' and traditional arguments from design. Thinkers to be considered include Francis Bacon, Montaigne, Spinoza, Thomas Huxley, Albert Einstein, and E.O. Wilson. Topics include evolution, human consciousness, human identity, and the human-animal boundary.

NEUROSCI241 - Flaubert's Brain: Neurohumanities

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>241</td>
<td>Flaubert's Brain: Neurohumanities</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Consideration of 'realist' fiction of Gustave Flaubert from social and cognitive neuroscience perspective. Investigation of implications of Flaubert's illustration of cognitive, affective, and somatic experiences of his characters, and his own experience, e.g. lapses of consciousness, convulsions, heightened emotions. Use of digital resources to chart emerging discourses and patterns in documentation of neuropathology, while attempting to define unique properties of fiction as literary 'technology', e.g. by consideration of realist mimesis as analogous to mapping and other technologies documenting brain function/dysfunction. A preceptorial may be available for French majors/minors.
NEUROSCI250 - Brains, Everywhere

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI  | 250 | Brains, Everywhere

Description
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some 'neurocultures' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this course we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'

NEUROSCI250S - Brains, Everywhere

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI  | 250S | Brains, Everywhere

Description
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some as a 'neuro-revolution' that has given rise to a 'neuro-society,' 'neurocultures,' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this seminar we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'

NEUROSCI252 - Philosophy and Neuroscience

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI  | 252 | Philosophy and Neuroscience

Description
Explores relevance of recent findings in neuroscience (and cognitive neuroscience) to traditional philosophical areas of inquiry. Also addresses philosophical issues regarding practice of neuroscience and relation to other disciplines/sciences. Possible topics include: epistemology of neuroscience data, relation between neuroscience/psychology, neurolinguistics, neuroethics, neural representations, neuroscience & consciousness.

NEUROSCI258 - Decision Neuroscience

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI  | 258 | Decision Neuroscience

Description
How new research in neuroscience, cognitive psychology, and behavioral economics shapes our understanding of decision making. Topics include functional organization of key brain systems, approaches to measuring and interpreting neuroscience data, methods for measuring decision-making behavior, economic and cognitive modeling, and impact of neuroscience on real-world decision-making. Emerging topics will include applications in policy, marketing, and finance. Prior coursework in neuroscience or decision sciences is strongly recommended.

NEUROSCI260 - Human Cognitive Evolution

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI  | 260 | Human Cognitive Evolution

Description
Survey of methods/theories used in the study of human cognitive evolution; development of cognition in children; brain damaged patients; cognitive abilities of great apes; paleoanthropology of early and modern humans and evidence for mental abilities and culture; cross-cultural and sex differences in human cognition; genetics and the evolution of cognition. Recommended prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Psychology 102.

NEUROSCI267 - Neuroethics

Subject  | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
NEUROSCI  | 267 | Neuroethics

Description
Focus on emerging ethical controversies concurrent with advances in neuroscience. Background material covered: concepts and methods in neuroscience; theories of ethics and morality from philosophy, law, and other fields. Ethical topics covered: biological bases of morality; emotions and decision making; neuroeconomics and neuromarketing; pathologies of mind and behavior; volition and legal culpability. Course format: combined lectures, discussion, interactive activities, with case studies and real-world examples (e.g., neuroimaging as legal evidence). Prior coursework in neuroscience and/or ethical inquiry recommended.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI268 - Mechanisms of Animal Behavior</td>
<td>268</td>
<td>Mechanisms of Animal Behavior</td>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>Survey of causal factors underlying the expression of animal behavior, organized around common problems organisms need to solve, such as finding food, avoiding predation, determining when and with whom to reproduce, communicating with other organisms, and extracting information from the environment. These factors are examined from an integrative perspective that includes neurobiology, endocrinology, sensory physiology, genetics, developmental biology, and functional morphology. Prerequisite: Biology 202L, 202LA, or 203L.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI268D - Mechanisms of Animal Behavior</td>
<td>268D</td>
<td>Mechanisms of Animal Behavior</td>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>Survey of causal factors underlying the expression of animal behavior, organized around common problems organisms need to solve, such as finding food, avoiding predation, determining when and with whom to reproduce, communicating with other organisms, and extracting information from the environment. These factors are examined from an integrative perspective that includes neurobiology, endocrinology, sensory physiology, genetics, developmental biology, and functional morphology. Prerequisite: Biology 202L, 202LA, or 203L.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI274S - Aristotle and Neuroscience</td>
<td>274S</td>
<td>Aristotle and Neuroscience</td>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>Explores the relevance of Aristotle's thought, especially his treatise 'On the Soul,' to understanding the research projects and foundations of cognitive psychology and neuroscience and the relationship between them. Brings Aristotle into dialogue with modern scholarship. Topics include: the use of hylomorphism and functionalism; the nature of perception, representation (including knowledge and belief), memory, emotion, and pain; desire, intentionality, and the relationship of perception to action; consciousness; folk psychology, inference, and explanatory reduction; the self; and moral psychology. Prior knowledge of Aristotelian philosophy or neuroscience is not required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI277 - Looking Inside the Disordered Brain</td>
<td>277</td>
<td>Looking Inside the Disordered Brain</td>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>What brain circuits give rise to the dazzling diversity of human behavior, and how do even subtle disturbances within these circuits lead to abnormal behavior or psychopathology? This course provides students with a working knowledge of the brain circuits that create order in our social, emotional and cognitive worlds, and how disorder within these circuits leads to a broad range of psychopathology including depression, anxiety, phobias, PTSD, OCD, addiction, autism, schizophrenia, psychopathy and violence. Prerequisite: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
NEUROSCI278 - Sex/Gender - Nature/Nurture: Intersections of Biology and Society

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 278
Title: Sex/Gender - Nature/Nurture: Intersections of Biology and Society

Description

Debates about sexuality, sex, and gender hinge on radically different ideas about relative effects of biological forces vs. social forces, or nature vs. nurture. Course changes terms of arguments about sexuality and gender and nature/nurture. Explores how nature/nurture emerged as scientific and popular debate. Evaluates new developments in science and cultural fields that are now reconsidering how biology and environments interact. Showcases debates about how sex and sexuality are formed through interplay of genetic information, hormones, material bodies, and social environments.

NEUROSCI282 - Neuroscience of Movement and Athletic Performance

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 282
Title: Neuroscience of Movement and Athletic Performance

Description

Addresses neurobiology of movement, sports and other forms of physical performance at a variety of levels, from biochemical and physiological to cognitive and behavioral. Starting with neurophysiology of muscle development and movement and progressing through use of imagery and cognitive training, we will discuss the variety of neurobiological processes involved in athletic performance, as well as methods used to study these processes. Explores neuromuscular diseases, injuries and dysfunctions as well as use of exercise and movement as therapy for neuromuscular and non-neuromuscular disorders. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

NEUROSCI288S - Music as Biology

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 288S
Title: Music as Biology

Description

The course will explore the tone combinations that humans consider consonant or dissonant, the scales we use, and the emotions music elicits, all of which provide a rich dataset for exploring music and auditory aesthetics in neurobiological terms. Analyses of speech and music indicate that the chromatic scale (the set of tones used by humans to create music), consonance and dissonance, worldwide preferences for a few dozen scales from the billions that are possible, and the emotions elicited by music in different cultures stem from the relative similarity of musical tonalities and the characteristics of voiced (tonal) speech. Our brains have evidently evolved to associate these two domains.

NEUROSCI289 - Music and the Brain

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 289
Title: Music and the Brain

Description

Musical perception and performance from artistic, subjective and neuroscientific perspectives. Presentations/didactic musical performances address how our brain detects and represents music, distinguishing music from other sounds, how we learn to perform and create music, the effects of music on brain structure and function, musical schema, and musical antecedents and analogues in non-humans. Dialog between course directors, a professional musician and neuroscientist, highlights the intersection between artistic and scientific perspectives on this fundamental and aesthetic form of human expression. Music and/or neuroscience background preferred, but not required.

NEUROSCI290 - Special Topics in Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Neuroscience

Description

Topics vary by semester.

NEUROSCI290-1 - Topics in Literature and Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 290-1
Title: Topics in Literature and Neuroscience

Description

Focus on the intersection of literature, culture and neuroscience. Topics vary. Taught in English with French preceptorial available.
NEUROSCI290A - Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 290A
Title: Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Neuroscience

Description: Topics vary by semester.

NEUROSCI290S - Special Topics in Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Neuroscience

Description: Topics vary by semester.

NEUROSCI301L - Bioelectricity (AC or GE)

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 301L
Title: Bioelectricity (AC or GE)

Description: The electrophysiology of excitable cells from a quantitative perspective. Topics include the ionic basis of action potentials, the Hodgkin-Huxley model, impulse propagation, source-field relationships, and an introduction to functional electrical stimulation. Prerequisite: Biomedical Engineering 244L and 260L and Mathematics 353 and (Biomedical Engineering 253L or Electrical and Computer Engineering 110L).

NEUROSCI333S - Neuroscience and Nutrition

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 333S
Title: Neuroscience and Nutrition

Description: Interdisciplinary course examining neurobiological mechanisms and nutrition. Students learn how nutrients and eating behaviors promote brain health and wellness. Students will differentiate foods grown on smaller farms versus those produced for grocery stores. They will study nutrition labels, fad diets, and public resources for nutrition information. Applied learning includes cooking healthy meals and engagement in the Durham community. Co-taught by faculty in Psychology & Neuroscience and Community and Family Medicine using team-based learning. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

NEUROSCI350 - Pharmacology: Drug Actions and Reactions

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 350
Title: Pharmacology: Drug Actions and Reactions

Description: Mechanisms of drug action, concepts of drug toxicity, resistance, tolerance, and drug interactions. Examples of how drugs affect the autonomic and central nervous systems, the cardiovascular and endocrine systems, and how drugs treat infection and cancer. This course is designed for both science and nonscience majors, but preference will be given to junior biology majors concentrating in pharmacology. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology (Biology 201L, 203L, or equivalent) and chemistry (Chemistry 101DL or 110DL).

NEUROSCI352S - Social and Affective Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 352S
Title: Social and Affective Neuroscience

Description: Understanding how individual, interpersonal, and intergroup behaviors are processed in the brain. Topics include neuroscience of self-and group identity, self-regulation, social and affective communication, stereotyping, pro- and anti-social behavior, power motivation, group cooperation and competition, and cultural differences in emotion processing. Prerequisite: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.
NEUROSCI353S - Neuroplasticity and Disease: Molecules, Cells, and Circuits

Description
Explore the cellular and molecular mechanisms in diverse neurological disorders, with an emphasis on understanding how disruptions of neural circuits drive behavioral and cognitive dysfunction. Students critically evaluate primary literature on topics including Alzheimer’s disease, Parkinson’s disease, ALS, autism spectrum disorders, intellectual disabilities, and traumatic brain injuries. Classes utilize a combination of lectures, invited guest speakers, and team-based learning exercises to create a highly interactive learning environment. Prerequisite/Corequisite: Neuroscience 201/Psychology 275/Biology 224 or Neuroscience 202 or Neuroscience 223/Biology 223.

NEUROSCI355S - Visual Perception and the Brain

Description
Course explores how what we see is generated by the visual system. Students learn how the visual system links stimulus patterns with reproductive success without ever recovering real-world properties and without invoking feature detection, image representation in the brain, and probabilistic inference. Course considers in broader terms the relationship between the objective world and subjective human experience. Course delivered in flipped format with all lectures assigned as videos and class time devoted entirely to discussion of papers, problems and different perspectives on how the visual brain operates.

NEUROSCI356S - Educational Neuroscience

Description
Introduction to an emerging field of educational neuroscience. Discussion on how understanding brain development and cognitive development can benefit practices in education. Readings are primary journal articles drawn from fields of cognitive neuroscience and education. Prior coursework in developmental psychology, education, or neuroscience recommended. Prerequisite: Psychology 102 or Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102.

NEUROSCI360 - Drugs, Brain, and Behavior

Description
Mechanisms by which psychoactive drugs act. Changes that occur with chronic use of drugs; drug abuse and dependence. Social and legal implications of psychoactive drugs. Designed for both science and nonscience majors. Emphasis on the reasoning, research designs, and methods for understanding drug effects. Prerequisite: introductory biology (Biology 25L) and chemistry (Chemistry 11L, 12L).
NEUROSCI362S - Psychedelics and Other Illegal Psychoactive Drugs as Medicines

Subject | NEUROSCI
---|---
Catalog Number | 362S
Title | Psychedelics and Other Illegal Psychoactive Drugs as Medicines

Description
Neuroscience and potential clinical use of Cannabis, Ecstasy (MDMA) and psychedelic substances (e.g., psilocybin). Learn what these drugs do in the brain and how they do it. Course covers basic science evidence about potential physiological benefits, current trends in pharmaceutical development, and clinical trial evidence supporting applications of these formerly stigmatized drugs. Outside speakers address the FDA process, therapeutic use of psychoactive drugs, and the legislative process. Prior completion of Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107 strongly encouraged.

NEUROSCI363 - Behavior and Neurochemistry

Subject | NEUROSCI
---|---
Catalog Number | 363
Title | Behavior and Neurochemistry

Description
The role of brain chemicals (neurotransmitters, peptides, and hormones) in behavior. Hypotheses addressing the neurobiology of mental disorders and how they can be treated by pharmacological intervention. Emphasis on the development and critical evaluation of pharmacological models of brain function using mathematical and/or deductive/inductive models of reasoning and experimentation. Recommended prerequisite: Psychology 106 or 107/Neuroscience 101 or 102.

NEUROSCI366S - Behavioral Neuroendocrinology

Subject | NEUROSCI
---|---
Catalog Number | 366S
Title | Behavioral Neuroendocrinology

Description
The neurobiological mechanisms of hormone-brain-behavior interaction through an examination of empirical research and textbook readings. Topics include neuroendocrine systems, hormone cell signaling and physiology, neurodevelopment and sexual differentiation, sex differences in social behaviors across species (parenting and mating), stress response systems, hormone-related mood disorders; with consideration of ethical issues. Research paper required. Strong emphasis on neurobiology. Prerequisite: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102. Recommended prerequisite: background knowledge gained from additional courses in neuroscience, psychology, biology, or evolutionary anthropology.

NEUROSCI373 - Behavioral Neuroimmunology: Brain and Behavior in Health and Disease

Subject | NEUROSCI
---|---
Catalog Number | 373
Title | Behavioral Neuroimmunology: Brain and Behavior in Health and Disease

Description
An exploration of the interactions among the nervous, immune, and endocrine systems, and their consequences for neural function and behavior, using examples from both the human and animal literatures. Topics include the role of the immune system in cognition and emotions, neuroendocrine-immune interactions during stress, and the effects of stress on health and disease. The potential role of infections in the etiology of psychopathology (autism, schizophrenia) and neurodegenerative conditions (Parkinson’s, Alzheimer’s) will also be discussed. Recommended prerequisite: one of the following: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101, Psychology 275/Biology 224/Neuroscience 201, Biology 101L, or equivalent.
NEUROSCI376 - Contemporary Neuroscience Methods

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>376</td>
<td>Contemporary Neuroscience Methods</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explore the wide spectrum of methods commonly used in the field of neuroscience, ranging from molecular/genetic to electrophysiology and whole brain imaging. Multiple units of this team-based learning course will include interaction with a scientist currently practicing the technique. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

NEUROSCI378L - Perception and the Brain

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>378L</td>
<td>Perception and the Brain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores capacities and limitations of human sensory systems. How the sense organs detect objects and events and what brains then do with that information. Concentrates primarily on the visual system, with some forays into other sensory modalities. Prerequisites: Psychology 102 or 106/107/Neuroscience 101/102. Prior course in statistics is strongly recommended.

NEUROSCI379L - Comparative Neuroanatomy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>379L</td>
<td>Comparative Neuroanatomy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
For advanced undergraduate students in the brain-related sciences who want to acquire an in-depth understanding of vertebrate neuroanatomy. Course focused on the primate central nervous system, with aspects of brain organization in rodents and other vertebrates presented throughout the semester. Reading assignments include book chapters, videos, and selected research articles. Grades are based on exams and periodic quizzes that test understanding of material in lectures and reading assignments. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

NEUROSCI380L - Functional Anatomy of the Human Brain

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>380L</td>
<td>Functional Anatomy of the Human Brain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Functional anatomy of the human brain and spinal cord with team-based learning approaches and laboratory-based discovery. Hands-on examination of human specimens with guided explorations of external and internal brain structures and dissections to facilitate discovery. Extensive use of interactive digital media to explore CNS anatomy and the organization of the major neural systems underlying sensory, motor and cognitive function. Analysis of actual clinical cases representing a variety of neurological disorders. Consideration of brain evolution and comparative neuroanatomy. Prior completion of Neuroscience 101/102 or 201 or Evolutionary Anthropology 101 highly recommended.

NEUROSCI381LA - Sensory Physiology and Behavior of Marine Animals

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>381LA</td>
<td>Sensory Physiology and Behavior of Marine Animals</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Sensory physiological principles with emphasis on visual and chemical cues. Laboratories will use behavior to measure physiological processes. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. Prerequisite: AP Biology or introductory biology or consent of instructor and Chemistry 101DL.

NEUROSCI382L - Functional Neuroimaging

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NEUROSCI</td>
<td>382L</td>
<td>Functional Neuroimaging</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Overview of use of functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI) in the investigation of human sensory, motor, and cognitive function. Topics will include fMRI to study human brain systems involved with movement, sensation, perception, and memory. Students will design and execute a neuroimaging experiment. Prior course in Statistics is strongly recommended. Consent of instructor required.
NEUROSCI383L - Brain Waves and Cognition

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 383L
Title: Brain Waves and Cognition

Description: Combined lecture/lab course on the event-related potential (ERP) method and its use in cognitive neuroscience. ERPs, which are electrical brain waves triggered by sensory and cognitive events, provide a powerful means to noninvasively study the timing and sequence of the neural activity underlying cognitive processes in humans. The course covers how ERPs are generated, recorded, and analyzed, and how they are used to study cognitive processes. Students gain substantial hands-on experience in the context of performing a group cognitive neuroscience experiment. Recommended: previous courses in neuroscience/psychology, proficiency with computers, sophomore or higher status.

NEUROSCI385L - Integrative Neuroscience Laboratory

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 385L
Title: Integrative Neuroscience Laboratory

Description: Gain skills necessary to conduct neuroscience research and integrate findings from multiple levels of analysis (molecular, cellular and behavioral). Team-based learning format and collaboration with neuroscience lab to generate, analyze, and communicate novel scientific findings. Experimentation will occur in a model organism and may include PCR, live cell imaging and/or behavioral conditioning experiments.

NEUROSCI388L - Experiments in Animal Models of Human Neurodegenerative Disease

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 388L
Title: Experiments in Animal Models of Human Neurodegenerative Disease

Description: This course will bring students into a basic research setting to directly contribute to our understanding of the molecular and cellular underpinnings of neurodegenerative disease. Classic experimental approaches in the lab (fruit fly genetics, molecular techniques, dissection, immunocytochemistry, microscopy) will be paired with short lectures, literature-based discussions, and data presentations. Students should, through firsthand experience, gain an appreciation for 1) the life cycle of basic research, 2) the utility, challenges, and caveats of various approaches to understanding disease, and 3) the elegance and relevance of gene and cell function across organisms. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L or 203L.

NEUROSCI388LS - Experiments in Animal Models of Human Neurodegenerative Disease

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 388LS
Title: Experiments in Animal Models of Human Neurodegenerative Disease

Description: This course will bring students into a basic research setting to directly contribute to our understanding of the molecular and cellular underpinnings of neurodegenerative disease. Classic experimental approaches in the lab (fruit fly genetics, molecular techniques, dissection, immunocytochemistry, microscopy) will be paired with short lectures, literature-based discussions, and data presentations. Students should, through firsthand experience, gain an appreciation for 1) the life cycle of basic research, 2) the utility, challenges, and caveats of various approaches to understanding disease, and 3) the elegance and relevance of gene and cell function across organisms. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L or 203L.

NEUROSCI390 - Special Topics in Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Neuroscience

Description: Topics vary by semester.

NEUROSCI390S - Special Topics in Neuroscience

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in Neuroscience

Description: Topics vary by semester. Instructor consent required to assure sufficient background knowledge.
NEUROSCI391 - Neuroscience Independent Scholarship 1: Advanced Topics

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Neuroscience Independent Scholarship 1: Advanced Topics

Description:
Readings, discussion, and synthesis of knowledge in a domain of special interest, under the supervision of a Neuroscience faculty member, through weekly meetings. Students produce a substantive, deliverable product by the end of the term that could be a written paper, a multimedia project, a website, an exhibition or performance, or some other original scholarly work that results from multiple iterations of draft, review, incorporation of feedback, and re-synthesis. Intended for students interested in exploring in depth specific topics not covered or only introduced in regularly available Neuroscience courses. Consent from the director of undergraduate studies is required.

NEUROSCI392 - Neuroscience Independent Scholarship 2: Advanced Topics

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 392
Title: Neuroscience Independent Scholarship 2: Advanced Topics

Description:
Second course, to follow Neuroscience 391, on readings, weekly discussion, and synthesis of knowledge in a domain of special interest, under the supervision of a Neuroscience faculty member. Students produce a substantive, deliverable product that could be a written paper, multimedia project, website, exhibition or performance, or some other original scholarly work that results from multiple iterations of draft, review, incorporation of feedback, and re-synthesis. Intended for students interested in exploring in depth specific topics not covered or only introduced in regularly available Neuroscience courses. Consent of the director of undergraduate studies required. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 391.

NEUROSCI413 - Language and Aging

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 413
Title: Language and Aging

Description:
This course will examine language acquisition, maintenance and loss across the life cycle. Research will include experiments and data collection with healthy subjects and in pathology (including different aphasias and dementias). Special foci include cognitive neurolinguistic approaches to understanding acquisition and maintenance of languages (first, second, third, etc.) across different age groups, bi- and multilingualism in aging, hypotheses about cognitive reserve, use of imaging in understanding languages in the healthy and pathological brain, and developing new protocols for future research.

NEUROSCI421S - Biology of Nervous System Diseases

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 421S
Title: Biology of Nervous System Diseases

Description:
Primary literature investigating the underlying molecular and cellular mechanisms of nervous system disorders such as neurodegenerative diseases (Alzheimer’s, Parkinson’s, Huntington’s), mental illness, and epilepsy. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 201 or 223 or Biology 220 or consent of instructor.
NEUROSCI425S - Auditory Neuroscience - From Sound to Music

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 425S
Title: Auditory Neuroscience - From Sound to Music

Description: An exploration of how sound is processed in brain, providing an introduction to stages of information processing from ears to auditory cortex and beyond. Methods of data acquisition (e.g., fMRI, electrophysiology, psychoacoustics) are introduced along with their advantages and pitfalls. Sound and auditory perception are discussed, starting with basic properties such as frequency, loudness, pitch, and timbre, progressing to human speech and music. A textbook, primary research papers and scholarly reviews are assigned. An interest in all forms of sound and music and completion of Neuroscience 201 or Neuroscience 212 are strongly recommended.

NEUROSCI427S - Current Topics in Sensory Biology

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 427S
Title: Current Topics in Sensory Biology

Description: Exploration of recent and classic studies in sensory biology. Actual topics are chosen by students at the start of the semester. Usually includes vision, hearing, smell, taste, pheromones, electroreception, magnetoreception, bioluminescence, touch, time, and music. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L, or 201L and 202L, or 203L or the equivalent, and one course in Neuroscience, or consent of instructor.

NEUROSCI438AS - Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 438AS
Title: Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Description: In-depth analysis of PET, fMRI, MEG, EEG/ERP studies of multilingualism and their implications for linguistic theory. A close examination of the neuroanatomical and neurophysiological aspects of imaging studies and the importance of neurofunctional explanations play a central role in building new theoretical paradigms of acquisition, maintenance and loss of languages. Offered through Duke in Russia program. Instructor consent required.

NEUROSCI439S - Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Subject: NEUROSCI
Catalog Number: 439S
Title: Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Description: In-depth analysis of PET, fMRI, MEG, EEG/ERP studies of multilingualism and their implications for linguistic theory. A close examination of the neuroanatomical and neurophysiological aspects of imaging studies and the importance of neurofunctional explanations play a central role in building new theoretical paradigms of acquisition, maintenance and loss of languages.
NEUROSCI444S - Neuroscience Service Learning: Brain Connections

Subject | NEUROSCI
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 444S
Title | Neuroscience Service Learning: Brain Connections
Description
Learn major scientific discoveries and technological advances in psychology, biology, and neurology that shaped contemporary neuroscience and society. Discuss early and recent works ranging from popular media to scientific journals online and in-class. Improve written communication through self-reflection and weekly feedback from instructor and peers. Develop and assess neuroscience demonstrations in team environment for engaging local communities. Prerequisites: strong competency in foundational knowledge of neuroscience - successful completion of Neuroscience 101 and TWO of the following core courses: Neuroscience 201, 211, 212 or 223 (concurrent enrollment in 2nd core course acceptable).

NEUROSCI450 - Second Language Acquisition and Research

Subject | NEUROSCI
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 450
Title | Second Language Acquisition and Research
Description
Addresses historical and current perspectives on second language acquisition. SLA is the study of processes that contribute to learning a language other than the first language. The course will focus on linguistic, cognitive, and sociocultural processes that contribute to the acquisition of the L2. Research methodologies, neuroimaging, and data interpretation will be emphasized. Recommended prerequisite (for Neuroscience majors): Neuroscience 101 or 102.

NEUROSCI451S - Autobiographical Memory

Subject | NEUROSCI
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 451S
Title | Autobiographical Memory
Description
A review and critical analysis of the literature, theory, and empirical study of autobiographical memory within cognitive psychology and neuroscience. Levels of analysis from the cultural, individual, neural systems, and neurobiological are integrated. Topics include accuracy, functions including planning for future actions, and effects of neural damage. Emphasis on the reasoning, research designs, and methods used in examining autobiographical memory. Research projects use primary and secondary materials, empirical observations, or reanalysis of existing data.

NEUROSCI461S - Neurobiology of Learning and Memory

Subject | NEUROSCI
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 461S
Title | Neurobiology of Learning and Memory
Description
An active, team-based learning seminar addressing the neurobiological mechanisms of learning and memory. Focusing on the cellular basis of information encoding and retrieval, this course enables you to evaluate contemporary findings, design experiments and synthesize and communicate conclusions. Prerequisite: Psychology 257, 275, 276 or Biology 223/Neuroscience 223 or permission of instructor.
NEUROSCI469S - Cognitive Control and the Prefrontal Cortex

Subject
NEUROSCI

Catalog Number
469S

Title
Cognitive Control and the Prefrontal Cortex

Description
Review and critical analysis of current and historical perspectives on functional neuroanatomy of the prefrontal cortex. Discussion is informed by anatomical, neuropsychological, neurological, neuroimaging, animal models, and computational approaches. Open to juniors and seniors majoring in Psychology or Neuroscience, and to graduate students. Instructor consent required.

---

NEUROSCI470S - Cognitive Neuroscience of Memory

Subject
NEUROSCI

Catalog Number
470S

Title
Cognitive Neuroscience of Memory

Description
Research on the neural correlates of memory in humans. Neuropsychological studies with brain-damaged patients and functional neuroimaging studies with healthy individuals. Cognitive neuroscience models of memory, including episodic memory, working memory, semantic memory, priming, and procedural memory. Prerequisite: Psychology 102 or Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102.

---

NEUROSCI478S - Motivation, Action, Choice: Neural and Behavioral Mechanisms

Subject
NEUROSCI

Catalog Number
478S

Title
Motivation, Action, Choice: Neural and Behavioral Mechanisms

Description
Behavioral analysis and neural mechanisms underlying goal-directed and voluntary actions, how they are driven by needs and desires of the organism and controlled by cognitive processes that provide a rich representation of self and world. Discussion of models of behavioral and cognitive control and their neural mechanisms and implications of such models for psychiatric disorders, consciousness, free will, and responsibility. Participation in class discussion and short weekly writing assignments required. Prerequisites: Exploring the Mind courses or Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107 and at least one other psychology or neuroscience class.

---

NEUROSCI490S - Special Topics in Neuroscience

Subject
NEUROSCI

Catalog Number
490S

Title
Special Topics in Neuroscience

Description
Topics vary by semester.
NEUROSCI493 - Research Independent Study 1

Description
First term of Research Independent Study in a subfield of neuroscience of special interest to a student, under the supervision of a faculty member. Concludes with submission of a substantive written report containing background, methods, and significant analysis and interpretation of data. Meets general requirement of a curriculum Research (R) course. Open to students after completion of two NEUROSCI courses; pre-approval of project by supervising faculty and Director of Undergraduate Studies in Neuroscience required. May be repeated with new faculty mentor or continued in NEUROSCI 494.

NEUROSCI494 - Research Independent Study 2

Description
Second term of Research Independent Study in a subfield of neuroscience of special interest to a student, under the supervision of a faculty member. Concludes with submission of a substantive written report containing background, methods, and significant analysis and interpretation of data. Meets general requirement of a curriculum Research (R) course. Open to students continuing same project as for NEUROSCI 493; pre-approval of project by supervising faculty and Director of Undergraduate Studies in Neuroscience required. May be repeated with new faculty mentor or continued in NEUROSCI 495.

NEUROSCI495 - Research Independent Study 3

Description
Third term of Research Independent Study in a subfield of neuroscience of special interest to a student, under the supervision of a faculty member. Concludes with submission of a substantive written report containing background, methods, and significant analysis and interpretation of data. Meets general requirement of a curriculum Research (R) course. Open to students continuing same project as for NEUROSCI 493-494; pre-approval of project by supervising faculty and Director of Undergraduate Studies in Neuroscience required. May be repeated with new faculty mentor or continued in Neuroscience 496.

NEUROSCI496 - Research Independent Study 4

Description
Fourth term of Research Independent Study in a subfield of neuroscience of special interest to a student, under the supervision of a faculty member. Concludes with submission of a substantive written report containing background, methods, and significant analysis and interpretation of data. Meets general requirement of a curriculum Research (R) course. Open to students continuing same project as for Neuroscience 493-495; pre-approval of project by supervising faculty and Director of Undergraduate Studies in Neuroscience required.

NEUROSCI499 - Current Research in Neuroscience

Description
A formal component of the Graduation with Distinction in Neuroscience plan that includes review of directed reading and research in both theoretical and experimental neuroscience. Emphasis on the development of the ability to critically evaluate empirical research and to construct mathematical or deductive-inductive models. Final project includes preparation of a formal research proposal and a review of the role of ethics in science. Enrollment in an independent study and consent of instructor required. Along with research and thesis, required for Graduation with Distinction in Neuroscience.

NEUROSCI89S - First-Year Seminar Special Topics

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.
PATHOL293 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PATHOL
Catalog Number: 293
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research and reading of the primary literature in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the major product of which is a substantive written report or oral presentation containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor required.

PATHOL493 - Independent Study

Subject: PATHOL
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Independent Study

Description: This course consists of higher-level independent laboratory-based work towards a specific project, resulting in publishable results that will be independently evaluated.

PERSIAN101 - Elementary Persian

Subject: PERSIAN
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Persian

Description: Introduction to spoken and literary Persian: understanding, speaking, reading, and writing. Language laboratory drill.

PERSIAN102 - Elementary Persian

Subject: PERSIAN
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Persian

Description: Continuation of Persian 101.

PERSIAN203 - Intermediate Persian

Subject: PERSIAN
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Persian

Description: A continuation of Elementary Persian II; to help students enhance their proficiency in Persian language skills; emphasis on oral fluency, written expression, reading comprehension and developing cultural awareness. Prerequisite: Elementary Persian I or Instructor’s approval based on the placement test score.

PERSIAN204 - Intermediate Persian

Subject: PERSIAN
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Intermediate Persian

Description: A continuation of Intermediate Persian I; to help students further improve their intermediate proficiency in Persian language skill; emphasis on oral fluency, written expression, reading comprehension and developing cultural awareness. Prerequisite: Persian 203 (Intermediate Persian I) or instructor’s approval based on the placement test score.

PERSIAN306 - Advanced Persian

Subject: PERSIAN
Catalog Number: 306
Title: Advanced Persian

Description: Continuation of Persian 305. Reading, speaking and presentations about cultural, social, political and historical issues. Honing grammatical usage at the discourse level. Recommended prerequisite: Persian 305 or equivalent.

PERSIAN391 - Independent Study

Subject: PERSIAN
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual study of language for conducting research involving sources written or spoken in the language. Students have to submit a proposal describing the purported research, types of sources to be analyzed, and kinds of language knowledge or skills they need to be equipped with. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHARM293</td>
<td>293</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Science Education</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Individual research in a field of science education (with reference to pharmacology) at the precollege level, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of study results. Open to (juniors and seniors) with consent of supervising instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHARM294</td>
<td>294</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Science Education</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Continuation of Pharmacology 293. Open to juniors and seniors with consent of supervising instructor. Prerequisite: Biology 25L; Chemistry 21L or 23L; Pharmacology 293. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHARM350</td>
<td>350</td>
<td>Pharmacology: Drug Actions and Reactions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Mechanisms of drug action, concepts of drug toxicity, resistance, tolerance, and drug interactions. Examples of how drugs affect the autonomic and central nervous systems, the cardiovascular and endocrine systems, and how drugs treat infection and cancer. This course is designed for both science and nonscience majors, but preference will be given to junior biology majors concentrating in pharmacology. Recommended prerequisite: introductory biology (Biology 201L, 203L, or equivalent) and chemistry (Chemistry 101DL or 110DL).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHARM360</td>
<td>360</td>
<td>Drugs, Brain, and Behavior</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Mechanisms by which psychoactive drugs act. Changes that occur with chronic use of drugs; drug abuse and dependence. Social and legal implications of psychoactive drugs. Designed for both science and nonscience majors. Emphasis on the reasoning, research designs, and methods for understanding drug effects. Prerequisite: introductory biology (Biology 25L) and chemistry (Chemistry 11L, 12L).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHARM370</td>
<td>370</td>
<td>Pharmacogenomics and Personalized Medicine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Course discusses personalized drug development for several diseases and examines how genetic variations in enzymes, receptors, and transporters involved in pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics affect drug response. Students are introduced to modern molecular techniques (DNA &amp; RNA sequencing, gene expression-DNA microarrays, proteomics, and metabolomics) used in the development of personalized medicine. Class participation includes presentation and discussion of current journal articles highlighting advances in pharmacogenomics and personalized medicine. Open to juniors and seniors. Highly recommended: Biology 201L or 201LA.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHARM393</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Individual research in a pharmacology-related area under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of the study results. Open to first-year students and sophomores with consent of supervising instructor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHARM394 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PHARM
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a pharmacology-related area under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of the study results. Open to first-year students and sophomores with consent of supervising instructor.

---

PHARM493 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PHARM
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a pharmacology-related area under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of the study results. Open to juniors and seniors with consent of supervising instructor.

---

PHARM494 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PHARM
Catalog Number: 494
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a pharmacology-related area under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of the study results. Open to juniors and seniors with consent of supervising instructor.

---

PHARM495 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PHARM
Catalog Number: 495
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a pharmacology-related area under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of the study results. Open to juniors and seniors who have already taken Pharmacology 493 and 494, with consent of supervising instructor.

---

PHIL101 - Introduction to Philosophy

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Introduction to Philosophy

Description: Examination of problems in philosophy; emphasis on metaphysics and theory of knowledge. Open only to first years and sophomores.

---

PHIL103S - Introduction to Philosophy

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 103S
Title: Introduction to Philosophy

Description: Philosophy 101 conducted as a seminar. Open only to first years and sophomores.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>104S</td>
<td>Introduction to Philosophy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>109</td>
<td>Philosophy Through Computer Science</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>110</td>
<td>Information, Society &amp; Culture: Bass Connections Gateway</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>120</td>
<td>The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PHIL104S - Introduction to Philosophy

- Subject: PHIL
- Catalog Number: 104S
- Title: Introduction to Philosophy
- Description: Philosophy 102 conducted as a seminar.

PHIL109 - Philosophy Through Computer Science

- Subject: PHIL
- Catalog Number: 109
- Title: Philosophy Through Computer Science
- Description: In this class we will explore several classic philosophical issues by learning how to program in Python. This is made possible by the close affinity that is shared between a number of computational concepts and their philosophical counterparts. For example, the concept of recursion can help us think about the existence of God by way of infinity. Completing this class will give you rudimentary Python programming skills and the ability to critically engage several philosophical issues. The ideal student will have an interest in both disciplines but have no prior knowledge of either.

PHIL110 - Information, Society & Culture: Bass Connections Gateway

- Subject: PHIL
- Catalog Number: 110
- Title: Information, Society & Culture: Bass Connections Gateway
- Description: Information, Society, and Culture across disciplines. How all aspects of information theory and practice, including computational and mathematical and those from social sciences and the humanities are transforming research, reframing intellectual questions in research and its application, and having an impact on interactions within societies, cultures, ideologies, economics, politics. Modules presented by faculty from all areas and schools, contrasting and comparative perspectives in research-driven modules focused on interdisciplinary project questions and ideas. Lecture/section activities. Course Gateway for the Bass Connections theme in Information, Society and Culture.

PHIL120 - The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life

- Subject: PHIL
- Catalog Number: 120
- Title: The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life
- Description: Familiar but fundamental ethical questions: What is a good, worthy or just life? How is it to be lived, toward what ends? Readings include dramas and philosophical analyses, parables and autobiography, polemics and meditations, novels and political commentaries. Introductory course for the Ethics & Society Certificate.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>123FS</td>
<td>Freedom and Responsibility</td>
<td>Conflicting visions of freedom and responsibility that characterize the modern world; the possibility of leading ethical lives in the face of conflicting demands that a complex vision of the good engenders. Readings include Luther, Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Marx, Kant, and Jack London. Course aims to be an intense introduction to Western philosophical ideas of freedom and responsibility. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>124FS</td>
<td>Freedom and Moral Obligation</td>
<td>Are moral obligations limitations on our freedom, or are they, as some philosophers have insisted, the fullest expression of freedom? To understand the disagreement, we'll look at moral obligations, particularly social and political obligations. How do collective moral obligations, like climate change or reparations for slavery, obligate us individually—or do they? Is freedom of speech morally required? Finally, we will consider Kant's Groundwork of the Metaphysics of Morals, in which Kant argued that we are only free when our actions are dictated entirely by morality.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>150</td>
<td>Logic</td>
<td>The conditions of effective thinking and clear communication. Examination of the basic principles of deductive reasoning.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>155</td>
<td>Reason and Argument</td>
<td>How to analyze, evaluate, and construct arguments of various kinds on a wide range of topics. Web-based lectures, exercises, and quizzes. Class meetings for discussion of short weekly writing with peer assessment.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>163D</td>
<td>Ethics for Robertson Scholars</td>
<td>Robertson Scholars First-Year colloquium; Introduction to ethical reasoning &amp; argument. Asks questions/examines concepts &amp; arguments related to the nature of moral reasoning. Examines contemporary ethical issues to gain understanding of the kinds of reasons/arguments used to establish or support ethical claims. Restricted to Robertson scholars. Class meets half the semester at Duke, half at UNC, with weekly discussion sections on both campuses.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Focus Program Seminar: Topics in Philosophy</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered. Open only to students in the Focus program. Consent of Instructor required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHIL194FS - Beyond Disagreement and Cozy Consensus

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 194FS
Title: Beyond Disagreement and Cozy Consensus

Description:
Part of the 'Ethics, Leadership & Global Citizenship' Focus cluster. Introduction to tools and concepts in ethics, critical reasoning, politics, and psychology. Emphasis on identifying and framing the right questions about justice, democracy, identity, etc.; then criticizing or justifying answers to such questions. Readings range from classics in the history of Western thought, to country and western music, and Kanye West. Open only to students in the Focus program. Instructor consent required.

PHIL201 - History of Modern Philosophy

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 201
Title: History of Modern Philosophy

Description:
Seventeenth and eighteenth century attempts to address philosophical problems concerning knowledge and the nature of reality in Descartes, Spinoza, Malebranche, Leibniz, Locke, Berkeley, Hume, and Kant.

PHIL202 - Aesthetics: The Philosophy of Art

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Aesthetics: The Philosophy of Art

Description:
The concept of beauty, the work of art, the function of art, art and society, the analysis of a work of art, criticism in the arts.

PHIL203 - History of Ancient Philosophy

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 203
Title: History of Ancient Philosophy

Description:
The pre-Socratics, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, and post-Aristotelian systems. Not open to students who have taken Classical Studies 93 or Philosophy 93.

PHIL204S - The Modern Canon: Listening to Neglected Voices

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 204S
Title: The Modern Canon: Listening to Neglected Voices

Description:
Study of philosophy canon formation, analysis of exclusion of women and non-Europeans from philosophy's modern canon, methods of researching neglected historical figures.

PHIL205 - World Philosophy

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 205
Title: World Philosophy

Description:
Course introduces students to several great philosophical traditions worthy of respect in their own right and important for understanding our contemporary world. Surveys, compares, contrasts philosophical thought from classical Greco-Roman world (Plato and Seneca), Middle Eastern and Africa traditions (including African American traditions), India (Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism), and China (Confucianism and Daoism). These traditions, embodied in the modern world, try to answer questions like: Why are we here? Are we fated to live as we do? What is a good human life? Is there God or gods? Is there afterlife? How can we know what is true good? What is a person? How ought humans relate to nature?
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>206</td>
<td>Philosophy of Law</td>
<td>Natural law theory, legal positivism, legal realism, the relation of law and morality.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>207</td>
<td>Political and Social Philosophy</td>
<td>Basic ethical concepts involved in political organization and in a variety of periods, such as equality, human dignity and rights, source of political obligation, political education. Discussion of contemporary problems. Examination of contemporary viewpoints such as liberalism and feminism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>209</td>
<td>Philosophy of Language</td>
<td>A philosophical analysis of problems arising in the study of language and symbolism. Topics include: theories of language, the nature of signs and symbols, theories of meaning, types of discourse (scientific, mathematical, poetic), definition, ambiguity, metaphor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>210</td>
<td>Knowledge and Certainty</td>
<td>Problems in the theory of knowledge: conditions of knowledge, skepticism, perception, memory, induction, knowledge of other minds, and knowledge of necessary truths.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>211</td>
<td>Appearance and Reality</td>
<td>Problems in metaphysics: theories of existence, substance, universals, identity, space, time, causality, determinism and action, and the relation of mind and body.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>212</td>
<td>Philosophy of Mind</td>
<td>Such topics as mind and body, the nature of thought, perception, consciousness, personal identity, and other minds. The relevance of cognitive psychology, neuroscience, and computer science to the philosophy of mind.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>213</td>
<td>Exploring Science and Religion</td>
<td>This Transformive Ideas course, geared to sophomore STEM majors, introduces the most pressing questions about science and religion. Core topics will include faith and reason; the origins of the universe; the existence of fine-tuning; evolution, randomness and design; the neuroscience of free will; the science of the soul; and science and morality. Other possible topics may include: recent theories of consciousness in psychology; the relationship between God and time; God and the epistemology of mathematics; religion and advances in AI; the neuroscience of religious experience; the possibility of miracles; and historical episodes in the development of science vis-à-vis religion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>213S</td>
<td>Paradoxes of Rational Choice</td>
<td>In this course, we will delve into the philosophical foundations of rational choice theory and confront a broad range of decision theoretic puzzles and paradoxes. Along the way, we’ll evaluate several of the most prominent philosophical theories of rational decision making and their relationships to topics in epistemology, causal inference and statistics.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHIL214 - The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life's Ultimate Concerns

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 214
Title: The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life’s Ultimate Concerns

Description
What does it look like for a human life to go well? What leads to human flourishing or ‘happiness’ or ‘success’? What is freedom? Love? Justice? What is the basis for ethics? What is our relationship to the natural world? What is the significance of death? How do our beliefs (or lack thereof) about God or the gods shape how we view the world? We will examine how philosophical or religious traditions around the globe have answered life’s biggest questions. Traditions may include Confucianism, Islam, Christianity, Stoicism, Judaism, Buddhism, Hinduism, scientific naturalism, expressive individualism, and utilitarianism. Part of the Transformative Ideas Sophomore Program.

PHIL215 - Applied and Environmental Ethics

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 215
Title: Applied and Environmental Ethics

Description
A critical examination of ethical dimensions of several contemporary individual and political normative problems, including abortion, affirmative action, national and international economic redistribution, and the environmental impact of economic changes and political decisions.

PHIL216 - Problems in Ethical Theory

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 216
Title: Problems in Ethical Theory

Description
The nature of morality, amoralism, utilitarianism, and deontology. Both historical and contemporary readings.

PHIL217 - Introduction to Ethical Theory

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 217
Title: Introduction to Ethical Theory

Description
Historically informed introduction to ethical theories in the Western tradition. Major historical figures (Aristotle, Kant, Mill) are read as well as some contemporary defenders of views inspired by these thinkers. This course is intended to provide a foundation for further study of ethics in philosophy.

PHIL218 - Medical Ethics

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 218
Title: Medical Ethics

Description
Examination of ethical issues in the practice of medicine. Course examines the concepts of well-being, autonomy, health, and disease; the ethics of informed consent; problems of capacity assessment; ethics of making decisions for incompetent patients; ethical issues of advance directives; the ethics of legalizing assisted suicide and euthanasia. Course also looks at ethical dimensions of decision-making for particular vulnerable groups: elderly dementia patients, permanently unconscious patients, impaired newborns, people with various disabilities. The focus is on clinical medicine, but the course serves also as a foundation for further study in bioethics.

PHIL219D - The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 219D
Title: The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life

Description
Familiar but fundamental ethical questions: What is a good, worthy or just life? How is it to be lived, toward what ends? Readings include dramas and philosophical analyses, parables and autobiographies, polemics and meditations, novels and political commentaries. Introductory course for the Certificate Program in the Study of Ethics.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>220</td>
<td>PHIL220 - Philosophical Perspectives on Disability</td>
<td>Considers core questions about the nature of disability and what this entails for policy. Review of medical and social models of disability, and current philosophical attempts to improve on these models. Careful consideration of the relationship between disability and well-being, including questions about how much weight to give to different kinds of testimony about the quality of life of disabled people. Relates all of this to various topics in practical ethics.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>221S</td>
<td>PHIL221S - Philosophy and Literature</td>
<td>Explores what great literature and drama teach about mind, morals, and meaning of life. Examines how fiction, drama, and poetry speak truthfully about human condition though what they say may be literally false. Can literature answer questions like: What makes life worth living? Why be moral? Selections and films from, and based on the works of Sophocles, Aristotle, Shakespeare, Dostoevsky, Whitman, Camus, T.S. Elliot, Steinbeck, Sylvia Plath, Mary Gordon.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>222</td>
<td>PHIL222 - Gender and Philosophy</td>
<td>Issues in political and moral philosophy in their bearing on feminist concerns, including political equality and rights, preferential treatment, feminist and nonfeminist critiques of pornography, and the morality of abortion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>222S</td>
<td>PHIL222S - Gender and Philosophy</td>
<td>Seminar version of Philosophy 222.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>226</td>
<td>PHIL226 - Philosophy of Sport</td>
<td>Play, sport, and game in western culture: sport and leisure, sport vs. athletics, discipline of the body, spectatorship, the amateur and the professional. Course deals with ethical context and implications of competition and the urge to win, with sport as rule-governed behavior. Also examines significance of infractions of the rules, associated penalties, and ethical issues like cheating, performance-enhancing substances in sport, concept of the 'team' and ideals of individual performance.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>230</td>
<td>PHIL230 - Virtue Theory</td>
<td>Investigation of the virtues and their significance in morality. Readings drawn from both historical and contemporary sources. Some consideration of select individual virtues, such as courage, kindness, and honesty.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>232A</td>
<td>The Cognitive Science of Religion and Morality</td>
<td>Review of recent theories of mind in cognitive science as they pertain to the nature of belief in God, religious practices, and moral attitudes. Arguments in ethics and philosophy of religion as they apply to Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Offered only in the Duke in Istanbul semester study abroad programs. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>236A</td>
<td>The Birth of Reason in Ancient Greece</td>
<td>A study of the Classical Greeks’ pronounced emphasis on the rational aspect of human nature, which enabled them to lay the foundations for subsequent intellectual developments in western thought. The Athenian Empire as a case study for an investigation of the five major ancient ethical systems. Taught only in the Duke Greece Summer Study Abroad program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>237A</td>
<td>Political Philosophy of Globalization</td>
<td>Examination of the claim made for and against the expansion of free exchange on economic, political, and cultural institutions and conditions, from the perspectives of competing ethical theories and political philosophies. Taught only in the Duke in Geneva Summer Study Abroad program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>242</td>
<td>Problems in Philosophy of Science</td>
<td>The principal philosophical problems of scientific practice. Explanation, confirmation, instrumentalist and realist conceptions of scientific theory. Laws and indeterminism in modern science.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>242S</td>
<td>Problems in Philosophy of Science</td>
<td>The principal philosophical problems of scientific practice. Explanation, confirmation, instrumentalist and realist conceptions of scientific theory. Laws and indeterminism in modern science.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>246</td>
<td>Prisoner's Dilemma and Distributive Justice</td>
<td>Economic, political, and philosophical perspectives on distribution justice and the problems in each discipline raised by variations on the prisoner's dilemma. Classic texts include Hobbes and Hume, Smith and Mill, Rawls and Nozick. Gateway course to the Politics, Philosophy, and Economics certificate program. Recommended prerequisite: Economics 101 and a course in ethics or political philosophy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>250</td>
<td>Symbolic Logic</td>
<td>Detailed analysis of deduction and of deductive systems. Open to sophomores by consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>252</td>
<td>Philosophy and Neuroscience</td>
<td>Explores relevance of recent findings in neuroscience (and cognitive neuroscience) to traditional philosophical areas of inquiry. Also addresses philosophical issues regarding practice of neuroscience and relation to other disciplines/sciences. Possible topics include: epistemology of neuroscience data, relation between neuroscience/psychology, neurolinguistics, neuroethics, neural representations, neuroscience &amp; consciousness.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>262</td>
<td>Human Rights in Theory and Practice</td>
<td>The nature and value of human rights; examining some major debates over their status and meaning and assessing the role which the idea of human rights has played in changing lives, practices, and institutions. Questions considered include: whether commitments to human rights depend on a belief in moral truth; whether the idea of universal human rights makes sense in a culturally diverse world; and what forms of social action are most likely to achieve respect for human rights.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>263</td>
<td>Chinese Philosophy</td>
<td>The major schools of classical Chinese philosophy: Confucianism, Moism, and Taoism. Confucianism on the ideals of harmonious human life; Moism’s charge that Confucianism encourages an unjustified partiality toward the family; Taoism’s claim that no logically consistent set of doctrines can articulate the ‘Truth.’ Debates and mutual influences among these philosophies. Comparisons between Chinese and Western cultures with respect to philosophical issues and solutions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>280S</td>
<td>Science and Society</td>
<td>Science and technology are inseparable from the people that engage in them and are influenced by them. In this course we will ask questions such as: what is science? How do scientists go about doing it? Where does science get its authority? What are the responsibilities of scientists to the public? What are the ethical, legal, and political considerations that should accompany scientific development? We will read classic and contemporary texts concerning these issues, and students will develop their critical and philosophical abilities in order to assess and contribute to these debates. Reserved for Sophomores Only.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>281</td>
<td>Global Bioethics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Examine various problems of international ethics, discussing them in the context of general ethical theory and then in the specific context of various controversies concerning the conduct of clinical trials in developing countries. Problems include moral universalism and relativism; poverty relief and international aid; international health disparities; human rights; and exploitation.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>282</td>
<td>Science, Ethics, &amp; Democracy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Examine relationships between scientific knowledge, ethics, &amp; formation of public policies in a democratic society. Science influences public policy &amp; public policy shapes scientific enterprise. How can citizens reliably identify genuine scientific expertise? If scientific expertise conflicts with religious views of some citizens, can public policy rely on scientific expertise without violating principles of religious toleration? What are ethical rules of public deliberation—must citizens appeal only to reasons accessible from secular viewpoints? To what extent should science goals be shaped by scientific community versus democratic processes?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>283S</td>
<td>Philosophy of Death &amp; Dying</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Philosophy of Death &amp; Dying. This course will explore philosophical questions about the nature of death and end-of-life ethics. First we will consider metaphysical questions about the nature of death and dying. Next we will examine the psychological attitudes we have toward death and dying, and whether these attitudes are rational responses to our mortality. Finally, we will consider a range of ethical questions at the end of life, including virtues in the face of dying, whether suicide is permissible, and how to ‘die well.’ A primary aim of the course will be to encourage students to reflect on mortality and ethical dilemmas involved at the end of life.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>285S</td>
<td>Existentialism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Existentialism in philosophy and literature. Key themes will be existence, ethics, meaning of life, freedom, death, and writing. Texts may include writings by Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Heidegger, Sartre, Camus, Beauvoir, Fanon, Murdoch and others.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>286</td>
<td>Marx, Nietzsche, Freud</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>A critical examination and assessment of the thought of Marx, Nietzsche, and Freud: revolutionary theory and practice; nihilism and the challenge of overcoming it; the hidden foundations of the self and of culture.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Special Topics in Philosophy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHIL290S - Seminars in Philosophy

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 2905
Title: Seminars in Philosophy

Description: Individual reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to highly qualified students in the junior and senior year with consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

PHIL291 - Independent Study

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 291
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to highly qualified students in the junior and senior year with consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

PHIL293 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 293
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing a significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to highly qualified students in the junior and senior year with consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

PHIL302 - How to Live and How to Die: Death, Dying, and the Afterlife from Confucius to Cryonics

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 302
Title: How to Live and How to Die: Death, Dying, and the Afterlife from Confucius to Cryonics

Description: Death is one of the only completely universal human experiences, yet we resist talking about it in our everyday lives. In this course, we will investigate some of the biggest questions and issues surrounding death. We will first examine the different ways that philosophical and religious traditions have conceived of death and problems that these conceptions may raise. In the second half of our course we will focus on how death affects our actions and choices in life. How does the prospect of impermanence shape the way we live? Are there causes that are worth dying for? How should we prepare for death? Should we use new technologies to extend our lives and ‘cheat’ death?

PHIL312S - Adam Smith and the System of Natural Liberty

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 312S
Title: Adam Smith and the System of Natural Liberty

Description: A seminar focused on the writings of Adam Smith, including close readings of The Wealth of Nations and The Theory of Moral Sentiments, and selections from Mandeville, Hutcheson, Hume, Quesnay, Turgot, and Bentham. Focus on eighteenth-century views on the nature of society and the origins of prosperity, the luxury debate, and links between natural philosophy (including medical thought), and moral philosophy. Recommended prerequisite: Economics 311.

PHIL314 - Philosophy of Biology

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 314
Title: Philosophy of Biology

Description: An introduction to conceptual and methodological issues raised in contemporary biology, including reductionism, the meaning of chance, laws in biology, the units of natural selection, teleology, and the structure of evolutionary theory. Recommended prerequisite: AP biology or introductory biology.
PHIL317 - Aristotle

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 317
Title: Aristotle

Description:
Survey of principal topics in Aristotelian philosophy. Areas of study include metaphysics, epistemology, philosophy of science, philosophy of language, ethics, and political philosophy.

PHIL331 - Kant

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 331
Title: Kant

Description:

PHIL331T - Voices in Philosophy: German

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 331T
Title: Voices in Philosophy: German

Description:
Discussion-based course trains students with advanced intermediate proficiency in German to read and analyze core philosophical texts in German, typically in conjunction with a lecture course offered in philosophy. Classes include close readings of original texts, discussions of interpretation and application in variety of other forms (including film, documentary, multimedia) and real-life situations. Students examine how language/culture impact our understanding of core philosophical texts through attention to issues such as translation, vernacular, and word choice. Tutorials meet weekly for 75 minutes. Recommended prerequisite: German 204 or equivalent.

PHIL335 - Moral Psychology

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 335
Title: Moral Psychology

Description:
Considers core questions about the proper role of empirical psychology in developing and/or confirming or disconfirming moral theories. Review of contemporary debates about the nature of moral motivation, the role of emotion in moral judgment, the nature of virtues and whether they exist, the nature of agency and moral responsibility, the nature and importance of happiness, and the role of intuitions in developing moral theories. Prerequisite: previous course in moral theory.

PHIL345 - The Philosophy and Methodology of Economics

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 345
Title: The Philosophy and Methodology of Economics

Description:
Introduction to conceptual and methodological issues raised in modern economics. Topics may include choice, rationality and irrationality, realism, models, the relationship between microeconomics and macroeconomics, prediction and explanation, value judgments and policymaking, and causality. Case studies of applications to economic problems. Prerequisites: One course in economics or consent of instructor.

PHIL350 - Logic and Its Applications

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 350
Title: Logic and Its Applications

Description:
Topics in proof theory, model theory, and recursion theory, applications to computer science, formal linguistics, mathematics, and philosophy. Usually taught jointly by faculty members from the departments of computer science, mathematics, and philosophy. Prerequisite: a course in logic or consent of instructor.
PHIL353 - Neuroethics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>353</td>
<td>Neuroethics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Focus on emerging ethical controversies concurrent with advances in neuroscience. Background material covered: concepts and methods in neuroscience; theories of ethics and morality from philosophy, law, and other fields. Ethical topics covered: biological bases of morality; emotions and decision making; neuroeconomics and neuromarketing; pathologies of mind and behavior; volition and legal culpability. Course format: combined lectures, discussion, interactive activities, with case studies and real-world examples (e.g., neuroimaging as legal evidence). Prior coursework in neuroscience and/or ethical inquiry recommended.

PHIL355S - Visual Perception and the Brain

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>355S</td>
<td>Visual Perception and the Brain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Course explores how what we see is generated by the visual system. Students learn how the visual system links stimulus patterns with reproductive success without ever recovering real-world properties and without invoking feature detection, image representation in the brain, and probabilistic inference. Course considers in broader terms the relationship between the objective world and subjective human experience. Course delivered in flipped format with all lectures assigned as videos and class time devoted entirely to discussion of papers, problems and different perspectives on how the visual brain operates.

PHIL380S - The Scientific Revolution

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>380S</td>
<td>The Scientific Revolution</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Study emergence of modern physical sciences as leading means for understanding the natural world; read primary documents from Copernicus, Kepler, Galileo, Descartes, Boyle, Hooke and Newton; learn how past science shaped the modern world; learn how history of science enables understanding of 21st-century science.

PHIL384AS - Classical and Contemporary Political Theory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHIL</td>
<td>384AS</td>
<td>Classical and Contemporary Political Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines crucial debates in classical and contemporary political thought, especially question of individual freedom, from end of English Civil War to present day. Equips students with theoretical expertise to make persuasive arguments of their own. Not open to students who have taken Philosophy 207, Political Science 223, or Political Science 224. If you take this course you cannot get credit for Philosophy 207, Political Science 223, or Political Science 224. Open only to students in the Duke in Oxford program. Consent of instructor required.
PHIL385AS - Science, Ethics, and Society

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 385AS
Title: Science, Ethics, and Society

Description:
Major recent public debates involving science, ethics, and policy in Britain and the United States. Exploration of issues ranging from stem cell research and global warming to health care policy and the teaching of evolution, as differently framed in the two countries. Examination of scientific, philosophical, and theological dimensions of such controversies, and how their manifestations in the public realm illuminate the relationships between scientists and laypersons, academic and popular culture, and public attitudes toward government and regulation. Open only to students in the Duke in Oxford program. Instructor consent required.

PHIL390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Philosophy

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Philosophy

Description:
Topics differ by section.

PHIL411 - Philosophy of Time & Space

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 411
Title: Philosophy of Time & Space

Description:
Topics include: the possibility of time travel, the direction of time, comparisons between space and time, special relativity, and existence of the past and future.

PHIL447 - Philosophical and Conceptual Problems of Entrepreneurship

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 447
Title: Philosophical and Conceptual Problems of Entrepreneurship

Description:
Investigation of the nature of entrepreneurship; its psychological foundations, relation to science and technology, implications for economics, and ramifications for morality and ethics.

PHIL460S - Weil, Beauvoir, Murdoch: Three Women Philosophers in Mid-Twentieth Century Europe

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 460S
Title: Weil, Beauvoir, Murdoch: Three Women Philosophers in Mid-Twentieth Century Europe

Description:
Simone Weil (1909-44), Simone de Beauvoir (1908-86), and Iris Murdoch (1919-99) are towering figures in the history of European philosophy. Yet they have all, in different ways, become somewhat marginal to the philosophical mainstream. All three wrote on ethics. Weil wrote on labor, society, affliction, and grace. Beauvoir wrote novels, memoirs, and The Second Sex, a groundbreaking feminist analysis of women’s situation. Inspired by Weil, Murdoch wrote about attention and the good and became one of the UKs leading novelists. The course will introduce students to their writing across genres, and situate their work about their respective national traditions.

PHIL463S - Eastern & Western Conceptions of Human Nature, Ethics, & Politics

Subject: PHIL
Catalog Number: 463S
Title: Eastern & Western Conceptions of Human Nature, Ethics, & Politics

Description:
Course deals with differences of value by understanding a variety of traditions. Explores conceptions of human nature and how these connect with views about the good human life, duties, responsibilities, rights, and proper forms of political governance. International team leads discussions from comparative and cross-cultural perspectives. Critically examines Western sources, Chinese/Korean sources, Hindu, Buddhist, and Jain sources—analyzing how these ideas shape contemporary Western/East Asian/South Asian culture. All in context of contemporary scientific sources on human nature from psychology, anthropology, and primatology.
PHIL465S - Politics, Philosophy, and Economics Capstone

Subject | PHIL
Catalog Number | 465S
Title | Politics, Philosophy, and Economics Capstone

Description
Capstone course open only to students in the Politics, Philosophy, and Economics program. Integrates and synthesizes the analytical framework and factual studies provided in other PPE courses. Consent of instructor required.

PHIL490S - Seminars in Philosophy

Subject | PHIL
Catalog Number | 490S
Title | Seminars in Philosophy

PHIL495S - Distinction Seminar Program

Subject | PHIL
Catalog Number | 495S
Title | Distinction Seminar Program

Description
Original research project culminating in a 40-60 page thesis. Covers philosophy-specific research techniques as well as fundamentals of academic bibliographic research. Students share their research and receive/provide feedback. Instructor Consent Required.

PHIL89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject | PHIL
Catalog Number | 89S
Title | First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

PHYSEDU101 - Cardio Conditioning

Subject | PHYSEDU
Catalog Number | 101
Title | Cardio Conditioning

Description
Utilizes a variety of exercise modalities (walking, running, cycling, elliptical) and formats (intervals, circuits) to improve cardiovascular fitness.

PHYSEDU102 - Triathlon Training

Subject | PHYSEDU
Catalog Number | 102
Title | Triathlon Training

Description
Course to include running, biking, and swimming techniques and training; Students will increase their cardiorespiratory capacity and learn training and race day strategies such as proper form, transitions and nutrition. Students should be a proficient swimmer and supply their own swimming and running gear. Bike not required.

PHYSEDU104 - Fusion Fitness

Subject | PHYSEDU
Catalog Number | 104
Title | Fusion Fitness

Description
Formerly called Circuit Training. Combines strength and cardiovascular training using a variety of equipment and settings (weight room, studio, outdoors) to provide an efficient and challenging program to develop strength, endurance, flexibility and coordination.

PHYSEDU105 - Pilates Level 1

Subject | PHYSEDU
Catalog Number | 105
Title | Pilates Level 1

Description
This course is for students with no prior experience in Pilates. Emphasis is on improving strength and flexibility through performance of exercises from the beginning and intermediate Pilates series with proper form. Props such as rings, balls, and bands are used to increase intensity and balance. Students will learn about specific muscles involved in each exercise as well as the history and principles of Pilates. Each class will include a core integration, review of exercises, presentation of new material, and a cool down including flexibility.
PHYSEDU106 - Pilates Level 2
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 106
Title: Pilates Level 2
Description: This course is for students who completed Pilates Level 1 or have one year experience and proficiency in beginning series Pilates exercises. Students will improve strength and flexibility throughout the body. The course reviews beginning and intermediate exercises before progressing to advanced series and uses rings, balls, bands, and weights. Barre classes will occasionally be added to increase intensity in lower body exercises. Students will review specific muscles involved in each exercise and history and principles of Pilates. Each class will include a core integration, review of exercises, presentation of new material, and a cool down including flexibility.

PHYSEDU108 - Group Fitness Certification
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 108
Title: Group Fitness Certification
Description: Covers the knowledge and skills needed to design and conduct group fitness programs and to take the group fitness certification test, making participants eligible to apply for a group fitness instructor position. Topics to include anatomy, exercise program design, choreography, special populations, and legal and professional responsibilities.

PHYSEDU109 - Cardio-Kickboxing
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 109
Title: Cardio-Kickboxing
Description: A noncontact activity designed to teach self-defense techniques while building the muscular and cardiovascular systems.

PHYSEDU110 - Intermediate Cardio-Kickboxing
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 110
Title: Intermediate Cardio-Kickboxing
Description: A workout that combines cardiovascular conditioning and body toning while learning more advanced boxing and kickboxing skills for self-defense tactics. Recommended prerequisite: Physical Education 109 or Physical Education 160 or previous kickboxing experience.

PHYSEDU111 - Walking for Wellbeing
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 111
Title: Walking for Wellbeing
Description: Designed for students with little exercise experience, or those desiring to add a gentle form of exercise to their routine. Focus will be on walking for health and lifetime fitness. Includes a variety of campus walks designed to improve physical, mental, and emotional well-being will be introduced. Students will learn proper walking posture and gait as well as appropriate warm and cool down activities. Brief discussions on topics such as components of physical fitness, nutrition, benefits of walking, motivation, physiological adaptations and well as strength, flexibility, and recovery modalities to improve the walking experience.

PHYSEDU112 - Running
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 112
Title: Running
Description: This course will focus on gaining cardiovascular fitness through running. Students of all levels are welcome and will be allowed to progress at their own level. Students will be exposed to proper running and training techniques, gait analysis, core, and upper body strength modalities to improve running economy, flexibility, recovery, nutrition, and knowledge of proper heart rate training zones. The class will alternate through track sets, short and long tempo runs, hill repeats, and recovery runs. Students will also gain an understanding of how running can enhance one's overall fitness program.
PHYSEDU113 - Weight Training

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 113
Title: Weight Training

Description: Develop and implement an individualized weight training program. Learn program design parameters for different goals (bulking, toning, strength, power), proper form for a variety of exercises and equipment, periodization, and safety.

PHYSEDU115 - Fitness for First Years

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 115
Title: Fitness for First Years

Description: This course emphasizes both cardiovascular conditioning and strength training. Get to know fellow first-year students and learn how to design, implement, and progress a personalized fitness program using a variety of exercise formats and equipment. Open only to first-year students.

PHYSEDU116 - Weight Training for Women

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 116
Title: Weight Training for Women

Description: Appropriate for individuals with no experience through regular weight trainers. Emphasizes learning a variety of exercises, proper form, and designing an individualized program. Equipment/exercises covered include machines, free weights, cables, TRX, kettlebells, plyometrics, functional, circuit, and core training. Related topics include weight room safety and etiquette, workout design strategies, pre/post workout nutrition, flexibility/mobility, periodization, and basic muscle anatomy and physiology. Initially workouts will be provided; later students will implement an individualized program. One class per week will include a brief discussion on relevant topics and techniques.

PHYSEDU117 - Fusion Fitness for Women

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 117
Title: Fusion Fitness for Women

Description: Formerly called Fitness for Women. Combines strength and cardiovascular training using a variety of equipment and settings (weight room, studio, outdoors) to provide an efficient and challenging program to develop strength, endurance, flexibility and coordination.

PHYSEDU118 - Personal Trainer Certification

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 118
Title: Personal Trainer Certification

Description: Introduces the knowledge and physical skills needed to prepare for the ACE Personal Training Certification exam and become an effective personal trainer (sitting for the PT Certification exam is optional). Topics include fitness assessment and exercise program design for different exercise goals, as well as business and organizational practices for conducting personal training sessions.

PHYSEDU121 - Basketball for Women

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 121
Title: Basketball for Women

Description: This course will develop individual and team basketball skills through drills, small side play, and full court games. Offensive topics include shooting, passing, rebounding, fast break, cutting, screening, and perimeter and post moves. Defensive topics will include defensive stance, defending on and off the ball, defending the screen, post, and inbounding, and defensive transition.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>122</td>
<td>Basketball</td>
<td>Development of individual and team skills.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>124</td>
<td>Fencing</td>
<td>Foils, epee, and saber.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>125</td>
<td>Soccer</td>
<td>Basic soccer skills.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>126</td>
<td>Volleyball</td>
<td>Increase volleyball knowledge and skill through rules presentation, skill practice, and tournament play. Topics include passing, serving, setting, hitting, offense, defense, and outdoor play.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>131</td>
<td>Golf Level 1</td>
<td>This course is designed for beginner students who have little to no experience in golf skills. Emphasizes learning the fundamentals, practicing different parts of the game, how to play a hole, understanding the rule book, and the spirit of the game. Topics include purpose, grip, posture, alignment, and ball position for different clubs; terminology; swing fundamentals; and technique for putting, chipping, pitching and full swing skills. Semester will start on and around the putting green, then lead into full swing with all different equipment. Video analysis of student's swing will be done during semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>132</td>
<td>Golf Level 2</td>
<td>This course is for students with intermediate skills who have practiced and played golf for several months to years. Emphasis on practice techniques to target strengths and weaknesses along with understanding the rules of the game. Topics and skills will cover the full swing with all clubs from short irons thru metal clubs, including putting, chipping, pitching and sand play. Learn to understand your swing thru video analysis and practice techniques.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>133</td>
<td>Golf Level 3</td>
<td>This class is for students that have played several years with advanced golf skills in all parts of the game, including some competitive rounds, and have an established handicap under 18. Emphasizes refining practice techniques and using video analysis to better understand your swing. Topics include review of equipment from driver to putter, working on all areas of game from short game to full swing, targeting specific areas of game to improve score, improve impact and direction of all shots by understanding distance control and spin, and how to use and look up rules in USGA rule book.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>135</td>
<td>Level 1 Swimming</td>
<td>Intended for students with no formal swimming experience who need to learn the foundation of swimming skills. Will focus on free style, backstroke, putting their face in the water, gaining self confidence in the water, water safety.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHYSEDU136 - Level 2 Swimming
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 136
Title: Level 2 Swimming
Description: Improve on skills learned in Level 1 swimming. Develop strokes in Backstroke, Freestyle, and Breaststroke. Students should be comfortable in the water and be able to effectively swim 25 yards of Freestyle and Backstroke.

PHYSEDU137 - Level 3 Swimming
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 137
Title: Level 3 Swimming
Description: Stroke technique and endurance training. Students should know how to swim Freestyle, Backstroke, and Breaststroke. Students should be able to swim 100 yards (4 lengths) continuously.

PHYSEDU143 - Tennis Level 1
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 143
Title: Tennis Level 1
Description: This course is for students who have little to no previous tennis experience, or a United States Tennis rating of 1.0 – 3.0. Focus is on the introduction and development of knowledge and skills to play tennis. Emphasizes learning rules, scoring, stroke development, court awareness and positioning. Stroke development will focus on groundstrokes, volleys, serves, and serve returns. Initial classes will involve skill development, games, and rules understanding. A variety of activities such as skill-based drills and games will be used throughout the semester to progress students to playing full regulation singles and doubles tennis games.

PHYSEDU144 - Tennis Level 2
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 144
Title: Tennis Level 2
Description: This course is for students with previous tennis experience who have developed intermediate level skills, which would equate to a United States Tennis rating of 3.0 – 4.0. The focus of the course is on further developing the student’s tennis skills, while increasing understanding of the game to effectively play tennis. Throughout the semester, learning will include technique for stroke dependability, and directional intent and control on groundstrokes, volleys, and overheads; improvement of serve and serve return to achieve depth, pace, and spin; developing understanding of strategy, court awareness, and positioning; and doubles and singles play.

PHYSEDU145 - Advanced Tennis
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 145
Title: Advanced Tennis
Description: Stroke development with emphasis on strategy.

PHYSEDU146 - Pickleball Level 1
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 146
Title: Pickleball Level 1
Description: This course is for students who have limited to no previous Pickleball experience, or a USA Pickleball rating of 1.0 – 3.0. Focus is on the introduction and further development of knowledge and skills to play pickleball. Emphasizes learning rules, scoring, stroke development, court awareness and positioning. Stroke development will focus on groundstrokes, dinks, serves, serve returns, and volleys. Initial classes will involve a majority of skill development and rules understanding. A variety of activities such as skill-based drills and games will be used throughout the semester to progress students to playing full regulation doubles and singles games.
PHYSEDU147 - Pickleball Level 2

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 147
Title: Pickleball Level 2

Description:
This course is for students who have previous Pickleball experience, or a USA Pickleball rating of 3.0-4.0+. The focus is on progressing the knowledge and skills required to play competitive Pickleball. Topics covered include understanding rules, further developing all shots/strokes, greater understanding of technical and tactical elements, and use of strategy. Skill-based drills and games will be used throughout the semester to progress students to playing full regulation doubles and singles games.

PHYSEDU150 - Social Dancing

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 150
Title: Social Dancing

Description:
Develop the necessary skills to perform traditional ballroom dances such as the Fox Trot, Waltz, Rumba, Tango, Swing, and Cha-Cha along with an introduction to dance forms from a variety of cultures. By engaging in social dances, students will learn how to be successful followers, as well as successful leaders, increase confidence levels, and build upon social skills. Students will also practice patience, and perseverance throughout the semester, as well as how to adjust and adapt quickly to different situations. Most importantly, students will take with them the knowledge and skill of lifetime fitness through social dance.

PHYSEDU152 - Latin Dance

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 152
Title: Latin Dance

Description:
Merengue, Salsa, Bachata, Cha-Cha, Rumba and others. Students are encouraged to register for the waitlist as the instructor will take students off the waitlist to create an even number of leads and follows.

PHYSEDU159 - Self Defense for Women

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 159
Title: Self Defense for Women

Description:
Learn practical and realistic skills for self-protection and defense for women.

PHYSEDU160 - Mixed Martial Arts Training

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 160
Title: Mixed Martial Arts Training

Description:
A high energy workout designed to develop physical fitness while learning realistic self-defense, kick boxing, and ground fighting techniques, to provide the student with a wide self-defense system.

PHYSEDU161 - Aikido

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 161
Title: Aikido

Description:
Focuses on cooperation rather than competition. Partner practice maximizes the fluidity of delivering the attack, handling an attack, and skills for staying safe.

PHYSEDU162 - Intermediate Aikido

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 162
Title: Intermediate Aikido

Description:
More advanced training for Aikido techniques and more fun. If you've seen movies where the actor rolls across the car you've seen an Aikido roll. Recommended prerequisite: one semester of martial arts and rolling skills.

PHYSEDU163 - Tae Kwon Do/Karate

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 163
Title: Tae Kwon Do/Karate

Description:
Emphasis on teaching excellence, personal attention, and tradition. Covers variety of self-defense technique and fundamentals, which include basic blocks, punches, kicks, joint manipulations, falling techniques, sparring skills (World Taekwondo Federation system), flexibility, and conditioning. Etiquette, history, and philosophy of Tae Kwon Do are also taught during class.

Duke University
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>165</td>
<td>Tai Chi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course is for students with minimal to no prior experience in Tai Chi. Tai Chi is an ancient Chinese martial art developed over many centuries for strengthening physical and mental health as well as martial arts training. Classes start with traditional warmups, a series of breathing exercises, then transitions into form training. Every week new movements of the form will be taught. Movements of the form previously taught will be reviewed and refined. By the end of the semester the entire Chen Essential Tai Chi Short Form will be learned and refined.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>166</td>
<td>Intermediate Tai Chi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Internal martial art develops belly muscles with breathing as the key to moving power and energy. Instructor continues to show applications of Tai Chi through study of Chen long form. Push hands partner practice.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>167</td>
<td>Aikido: Japanese Sword and Staff</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course is for students with little to no experience in Aikido. Aikido sword and staff forms were developed to protect oneself from multiple attackers and involve whole body movements for maximum safety and power. By using traditional Aikido weapons, we develop coordination, flexibility, and strength in joints, muscles &amp; tendons. Aikido weapons are used in solo and partner practices in a non-competitive manner. Emphasis is on increasing self-awareness of the mind/body connection, helping us to improve our own physical and emotional balance. Classes are broken into three parts: warmups, solo and partner practices. The founder of Aikido said, 'the Art of peace begins with you.'</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>170</td>
<td>Yoga Level 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This beginner course is for students with limited or no prior yoga experience. This course introduces the student to foundational yoga philosophy as well as the physical and mindful aspects of yoga. Topics covered will include breathing techniques, postures, alignment, anatomy, meditation, mindfulness, the eight limbs of yoga, various styles of yoga, lifelong benefits of yoga and strategies for maintaining a yoga practice. Each class will introduce a yoga-related topic followed by a series of poses that build on previous lessons. Relaxation and meditation techniques will be practiced in every class.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>171</td>
<td>Yoga Level 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Yoga Level 2 is a progression of Yoga Level 1. Students in this course should have completed Yoga Level 1 or have at least one year of yoga experience. This course focuses on expanding and deepening the student's understanding of yoga philosophy as well as the physical and mindful aspects of yoga. Topics covered will include discussions regarding various yoga texts and current research, breathing techniques, mindfulness and meditation, anatomy, sequencing, bandhas, chakras and inversions. Each class will introduce a yoga-related topic followed by a series of poses that build on previous lessons.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>172</td>
<td>Massage Therapy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Emphasis on techniques and philosophies of massage therapy which enhance the connection of body, mind, and spirit. Benefits and healing potential. Techniques which can be integrated into a healthier lifestyle.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHYSEDU173 - Yoga for First Years
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 173
Title: Yoga for First Years
Description: An introduction to hatha yoga and yoga philosophy with a focus on balance, strength and flexibility of mind, body, and breath. Open to first year students only to provide opportunities for class bonding and to encourage balance and mindfulness during the adjustment to Duke life.

PHYSEDU174 - Yoga for Athletes
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 174
Title: Yoga for Athletes
Description: This class is for active students with moderate to no previous yoga experience. Students will gain flexibility, balance, and strength to improve form, prevent injuries, and enhance participation in other activities and sports. Class will include mindfulness meditation, core integration and strengthening, balance work, and a series of poses and progressions built upon weekly. Props such as blocks, bands, and discs are introduced. Focus on breath control posture is emphasized through each class. Relaxation and recovery techniques will also be covered at the end of each class.

PHYSEDU180 - Outdoor Recreation
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 180
Title: Outdoor Recreation
Description: Provides an introduction to basic skills and concepts in a variety of outdoor adventure pursuits. Covers trip planning, menu preparation, cooking, orienteering, navigation, first aid and safety, with emphasis on 'learning by doing'. Focus is on the fundamentals of backcountry camping, with an introduction to climbing, mountain biking, and kayaking. Includes a 1-2 night trip.

PHYSEDU181 - Rock Climbing
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 181
Title: Rock Climbing
Description: Designed for students with minimal or no experience in rock climbing. Includes top rope climbing technique, fitness, rappelling, anchor systems, and other topics.

PHYSEDU183 - Kayaking
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 183
Title: Kayaking
Description: Prepares students to kayak intermediate rivers with focus on safety, enjoyment, and skill. Topics include equipment, boat control, advanced paddle techniques and boat maneuvers, river classification, trip planning, and fitness. Includes 1-2 night class trip.

PHYSEDU184 - SCUBA Diving
Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 184
Title: SCUBA Diving
Description: Covers knowledge and skills for open water SCUBA dives, including equipment, skills, history, physiology, and safety protocols. Learn to assemble, disassemble, check and use all equipment; and practice safety skills, buddy rescue, snorkeling, free diving, and work up to SCUBA diving in the dive well. After successful completion of course, student is eligible for a SCUBA certification dive, but this dive is not included in the class schedule or fee.
PHYSEDU186 - Stand Up Paddleboard Fitness

Description
This course will introduce students to various aspects of Stand Up Paddleboarding (SUP) including: paddling technique, strokes, turns, water safety, SUP yoga, SUP fitness and SUP bootcamp. Using the SUP, students will have a chance to improve core strength and stability, improve cardiopulmonary fitness level, increase muscular strength and endurance and improve flexibility.

PHYSEDU189 - Campus Recreation

Description
Offers an introduction to activities, programs and services that are commonly offered through recreation programs in a collegiate setting. Students will learn about and participate in activities associated with aquatics, fitness, intramurals, outdoor adventures, special events and sport clubs.

PHYSEDU190 - Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries

Description
Basic instruction in prevention, recognition, care, and rehabilitation of athletic-related injuries.

PHYSEDU192 - Independent Study

Description
Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest on a previously approved topic, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in an academic product.

PHYSEDU203 - Diet and Nutrition

Description

PHYSEDU204 - Women's Health

Description
Introduces students to a variety of women's health issues, as well as mental, physical, emotional, social, and environmental factors affecting college-aged women. A practical, hands on approach will emphasize information, resources, and skills to help students achieve and maintain a healthy lifestyle. Topics include exercise, nutrition, stress and resilience, sleep, substance use, sexual health, mental health, chronic disease, and behavior change models.
PHYSEDU205 - Health Effects of Exercise

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 205
Title: Health Effects of Exercise

Description:
Examines the physical and mental health benefits and risks of exercise, including prevention and treatment effects for cardiovascular disease, diabetes, cancer, depression, anxiety, dementia and improvements in cognitive function. Course includes a service-learning component where students work in the community a minimum of 20 hours across the semester to promote physical activity.

PHYSEDU206 - Exercise Physiology

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 206
Title: Exercise Physiology

Description:
Reviews physiological adaptations (cardiorespiratory, musculoskeletal, nervous, endocrine) that occur with exercise training leading to improved health and performance. Examines practical applications such as workout design, nutrition, fitness testing, and body composition management.

PHYSEDU207 - Exercise and Mental Health

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 207
Title: Exercise and Mental Health

Description:
Examines the neural and psychological correlates of exercise that influence mental and cognitive health. Explores exercise guidelines and theories of exercise behaviors. Topics include exercise and depression, anxiety, stress, self-esteem, body image, circadian rhythms, learning, dementia, and mental states and performance.

PHYSEDU208 - Hot Topics in Health and Wellness

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 208
Title: Hot Topics in Health and Wellness

Description:
This course will provide an overview of the major dimensions of health and wellness, with specific current issues to be explored within each component. Emphasis will be on information, resources, and skills to help students achieve and maintain a healthy lifestyle, as well as an understanding of the broader health issues facing society. Taught online.

PHYSEDU212 - Sports Media

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 212
Title: Sports Media

Description:
Examine the production and consumption of information through various media forms and the impact it has on influencing and shaping the sports industry. Topics include content development and delivery through television, radio, newspaper, and the internet, image shaping through the media, regulatory issues, intellectual property and content, market coverage and current hot topics.

PHYSEDU220 - History and Issues of Sports

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 220
Title: History and Issues of Sports

Description:
Sports from ancient to modern times with an emphasis on sports in America. Not open to students who have taken this course as Health, Physical Education, and Recreation 89S.

PHYSEDU221 - Administration in Sports Management

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 221
Title: Administration in Sports Management

Description:
Philosophy, financial structure, administrative structure, fund-raising, NCAA legislation, personnel decisions, and scheduling events.

PHYSEDU222 - Sports Marketing

Subject: PHYSEDU
Catalog Number: 222
Title: Sports Marketing

Description:
The multi-faceted elements associated with marketing within the sports industry.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>223</td>
<td>Sport Ethics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Moral reasoning and ethical values in sport today. Emphasis on character development and sportsmanship and their influence on fair play for everyone.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>224</td>
<td>Sport Finance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Financial resource management in the sports industry including forms of ownership, financial analysis, feasibility studies, revenue generation, economic impact, and current issues.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>225</td>
<td>Sports Leadership Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Examine the principles and practices of leadership development with an emphasis on their application to sports as applied to the individual and in leading a team and/or organization. Topics to include value based leadership, self-awareness as a leader, ethical leadership, leadership styles, strategies for effective leadership development including and through proper communication, motivation, conflict resolution, team building, group dynamics, and decision making.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>240</td>
<td>Theory and Practice of Coaching</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Fundamentals, strategies, and psychology of coaching. Emphasis on basketball, and track and field. Additional topics such as safety and liability, gender equity, the media, regulations, and ethics.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>241</td>
<td>Psychology of Sport and Performance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>To provide students with an in-depth view of the theoretical and applied aspects of the psychology of sport and physical activity with an emphasis on performance enhancement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSEDU</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Nutrition: Analysis of Dietary Trends</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Brief overview of basic concepts of nutrition. Curriculum includes dietary self-assessment, critical evaluation of popular diets, and examination, evaluation, and discussion of current trends in nutrition.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHYSEDU89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject
PHYSEDU

Catalog Number
89S

Title
First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

---

PHYSICS111 - Introduction to Selected Topics in Modern Physics

Subject
PHYSICS

Catalog Number
111

Title
Introduction to Selected Topics in Modern Physics

Description
Introduction to selected topics in Modern Physics explores some major sub-disciplines of modern physics and their (potential) applications in industry/research. Students learn why society invests so much in physics and what it gets in return, from the origins of electronic devices and novel materials tackling the energy crisis to the large-scale structure of our universe. Students will build up an understanding that modern technologies are developed based on physics, i.e., application of laser in medical treatment, magnetic levitation, etc. This course serves as an introductory course to give them a taste of modern physics and to inspire their interest in physics. Students will work both independently and in small groups to solve problems, prepare and present outreach-style essays in a peer-reviewed approach.

---

PHYSICS131 - Introductory Lecture on Big Questions in Physics

Subject
PHYSICS

Catalog Number
131

Title
Introductory Lecture on Big Questions in Physics

Description
Introduction to six big questions representing frontiers of twenty-first-century physics, such as what are the ultimate laws of nature, how does complex structure arise, and how can physics benefit society. Classes will involve presentations by researchers and by students, discussions of journal articles, and tours of physics labs involved with related research. Recommended prerequisite: precalculus and at least one quantitative science course at the high school level, such as chemistry or physics.

---

PHYSICS131-1 - Introductory Lecture on Big Questions in Physics

Subject
PHYSICS

Catalog Number
131-1

Title
Introductory Lecture on Big Questions in Physics

Description
Introduction to six big questions representing frontiers of twenty-first-century physics, such as what are the ultimate laws of nature, how does complex structure arise, and how can physics benefit society. Classes will involve presentations by researchers and by students, discussions of journal articles, and tours of physics labs involved with related research. Recommended prerequisite: precalculus and at least one quantitative science course at the high school level, such as chemistry or physics.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS133</td>
<td>133</td>
<td>The Physics of Sports</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Examines the physics behind a wide variety of sports, including football, baseball, hockey, soccer, track and field, swimming, and many others. Illuminates how scientific concepts such as force, momentum and energy provide a deeper understanding and appreciation of common sports plays seen or made on the field.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| PHYSICS134 | 134            | Introduction to Astronomy                |
| Description |                | How observation and scientific insights can be used to discover properties of the universe. Topics include an appreciation of the night sky, properties of light and matter, the solar system, how stars evolve and die, the Milky Way and other galaxies, the evolution of the universe from a hot Big Bang, exotic objects like black holes, and the possibility for extraterrestrial life. Prerequisite: high-school-level knowledge of algebra and geometry. |

| PHYSICS136 | 136            | Acoustics and Music                      |
| Description |                | An introduction to the physics underlying the production, transmission, and reception of musical sounds. Topics covered include sound waves and room acoustics; analysis of pitch, timbre, and loudness; the chromatic scale and tuning systems; resonance and the physics of strings, winds, and brass instruments and the human voice; and the structure of the human ear. Students complete and present an original research project. No previous knowledge of physics assumed. |

| PHYSICS137S | 137S           | Energy in the 21st Century and Beyond    |
| Description |                | Concepts of energy from a scientific perspective for understanding problems of energy conversion, storage, and transmission in modern society. Topics include fundamental concepts (kinetic and potential energy, heat, basic thermodynamics, mass-energy equivalence), established power generation methods and their environmental impacts, emerging and proposed technologies (solar, wind, tidal, advanced fusion concepts). Final team project. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors from non-science majors are particularly encouraged to attend; no previous knowledge of physics is assumed. |

| PHYSICS139S | 139S           | Physics and Society: Nuclear Energy      |
| Description |                | Core topics include: science and technology of mass-scale generation of electrical power; history, science and technology of nuclear fission reactors; methods for comparing the cost of different energy generating technologies (from mining raw materials, to constructing power plants, to disposal of byproduct and environmental cleanup, to decommission of power plants); and political and international security issues associated with nuclear fission power reactor technology. This course is highly recommended for juniors and seniors with non-science majors. Not open to students having credit for Physics 137S. |

| PHYSICS141D | 141D           | General Physics I (DIS)                  |
| Description |                | Recitation component for Physics 141L. |
PHYSICS141L - General Physics I
- Subject: PHYSICS
- Catalog Number: 141L
- Title: General Physics I

Description
First part of a two-semester calculus-based course suitable for students in the life sciences. Core topics: kinematics, dynamics, systems of particles, conservation laws, statics, fluids, oscillations, waves. Physics 141 either has either a lecture component supplemented by lab and discussion sections, or one integrated team-based learning arrangement. Physics majors should enroll in Physics 161D/164L, 162D/165L in their first year. Not recommended for students with credit for Physics 151L, 152L, 161D. Recommended prerequisite: college calculus (Mathematics 21, Mathematics 105 and 106, or Mathematics 111). Mathematics 122 also recommended (may be taken concurrently).

PHYSICS141L9 - General Physics I (Lab)
- Subject: PHYSICS
- Catalog Number: 141L9
- Title: General Physics I (Lab)

Description
Lab component for Physics 141L.

PHYSICS141LA - General Physics I
- Subject: PHYSICS
- Catalog Number: 141LA
- Title: General Physics I

Description
First part of a two-semester calculus-based course for students in health or life sciences. Core topics: kinematics, dynamics, systems of particles, conservation laws, statics, fluids, oscillations, waves. Other possible topics: sound, diffusion, thermodynamics, selected applications. For credit, enrollment in Physics 141LA lecture, lab and discussion sections required. Physics majors should enroll in Physics 161D/164L, 162D/165L in their first year. Not recommended for students with credit for Physics 151L, 152L, 161D. Recommended prerequisite: one year of college calculus such as Mathematics 105L, 106L, 21. Mathematics 122 recommended. Open only to students in the Duke Marine Lab. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

PHYSICS142L - General Physics II
- Subject: PHYSICS
- Catalog Number: 142L
- Title: General Physics II

Description
The second semester of a calculus-based course for students in health or life sciences. Core topics: electric fields, circuits, magnetic fields, Faraday's law, Maxwell's equations, electromagnetic waves, properties of light, geometric optics, wave optics. Additional possible topics: optical instrumentation, quantum physics, selected applications. Students must enroll in a lecture (Physics 142L), a lab (Physics 142L9), and a discussion section (Physics 142L9D) to receive credit. Closed to students having credit for Physics 152L, 153L or 162D. Prerequisites: Physics 141L, 151L, or 161D.

PHYSICS142L9 - General Physics II (LAB)
- Subject: PHYSICS
- Catalog Number: 142L9
- Title: General Physics II (LAB)

Description
Lab component for Physics 142L.

PHYSICS142L9D - General Physics II (Discussion)
- Subject: PHYSICS
- Catalog Number: 142L9D
- Title: General Physics II (Discussion)

Description
Discussion components for Physics 142L.
PHYSICS142LA - General Physics II

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 142LA
Title: General Physics II

Description:
The second semester of a calculus-based course for students in health or life sciences. Core topics: electric fields, circuits, magnetic fields, Faraday's law, Maxwell's equations, electromagnetic waves, properties of light, geometric optics, wave optics. Additional possible topics: optical instrumentation, quantum physics, selected applications. Students must enroll in Physics 142LA lecture, lab and discussion sections to receive credit. Closed to students having credit for Physics 152L, 153L or 162D. Prerequisite: Physics 141L, 141LA, 151L, or 161D. Open only to students in the Duke Marine Lab. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

PHYSICS151L - Introductory Mechanics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 151L
Title: Introductory Mechanics

Description:
The fundamentals of classic physics. Topics include: vectors, units, Newton's Laws, static equilibrium, motion in one and two dimensions, rotation, conservation of momentum, work and energy, gravity, simple and chaotic oscillations. Numerical methods used to solve problems in a workstation environment. Intended principally for non-physics majors in the physical sciences and engineering. Students planning a major in physics should enroll instead in Physics 161L, 162L in their first year. Closed to students having credit for Physics 141L or 161L. Prerequisites: Mathematics 21, 122, or equivalent; Mathematics 122 may be taken concurrently with Physics 151L.

PHYSICS151L9 - Introductory Mechanics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 151L9
Title: Introductory Mechanics

Description:
Laboratory component of Physics 151L.

PHYSICS151L9D - Introductory Mechanics (Discussion Component)

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 151L9D
Title: Introductory Mechanics (Discussion Component)

Description:
Recitation component for Physics 151L Lecture.

PHYSICS152L - Introductory Electricity, Magnetism, and Optics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 152L
Title: Introductory Electricity, Magnetism, and Optics

Description:
Intended principally for students in engineering and the physical sciences. Topics include: electric charge, electric fields, Gauss's Law, potential, capacitance, electrical current, resistance, circuit concepts, magnetic fields, magnetic and electric forces, Ampere's Law, magnetic induction, Faraday's Law, inductance, Maxwell's Equations, electromagnetic waves, elementary geometric optics, wave interference, and diffraction. Prerequisites: Physics 151L and Mathematics 122 or equivalents.

PHYSICS152L9 - Introductory Electricity, Magnetism, and Optics (Lab Component)

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 152L9
Title: Introductory Electricity, Magnetism, and Optics (Lab Component)

Description:
Laboratory component of Physics 152L.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS152L9D - Introductory Electricity, Magnetism, and Optics (Discussion Component)</td>
<td>152L9D</td>
<td>Introductory Electricity, Magnetism, and Optics (Discussion Component)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Discussion Component of Physics 152L.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS153L - Applications of Physics: A Modern Perspective</td>
<td>153L</td>
<td>Applications of Physics: A Modern Perspective</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Intended principally for students in engineering and the physical sciences as a continuation of Physics 152L. Topics include: mechanics from a microscopic perspective, the atomic nature of matter, energy, energy quantization, entropy, the kinetic theory of gases, the efficiency of engines, electromagnetic radiation, the photon nature of light, physical optics and interference, waves and particles, applications of wave mechanics. For credit, enrollment in Physics 153L, lab and discussion (Physics 153L9, 153D) sections required. Prerequisite: Physics 26, 142L, 152L, or 162D and Mathematics 212, or permission of instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Description
This course is a one-semester introduction to current research topics in physics, organized around six ‘Big Questions’ in physics, including: what are the ultimate laws of nature, how does complex structure arise, and how can physics benefit society? This course is more quantitative than 131S and is designed for prospective physics majors as well as those interested in deeper understanding of the physical world. Prerequisites: Precalculus and at least one quantitative science course at the high school level, such as chemistry or physics.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS161D - Fundamentals of Physics I</td>
<td>161D</td>
<td>Fundamentals of Physics I</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
First semester of a two-semester sequence intended for potential physics or biophysics majors. Course discusses vector algebra, description of motion, Newton’s laws, work and energy, systems of particles, conservation laws, rotation, gravity, mechanics of fluids, oscillations, mechanical waves, and sound. Prerequisites: Mathematics 21 and 122 or equivalents; Mathematics 122 may be taken concurrently. Recommended that course is taken concurrently with Physics 164L.
PHYSICS162D - Fundamentals of Physics II

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 162D
Title: Fundamentals of Physics II

Description:
Second semester of a two-semester sequence intended for potential physics or biophysics majors. Course discusses basic principles and applications of electrodynamics, including electric fields, Gauss’s Law, electric potential, capacitance, DC and AC circuits, magnetic fields, Ampere’s Law, electric and magnetic forces, magnetic induction, Maxwell’s equations, electromagnetic waves, properties of light, ray optics, and wave optics. Prerequisites: Physics 161D and Math 122 or consent from instructor. Recommended that course is taken concurrently with Physics 165L.

PHYSICS163D - Fundamentals of Mechanics and Electromagnetism

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 163D
Title: Fundamentals of Mechanics and Electromagnetism

Description:
One semester calculus-based course covering the fundamental principles of mechanics, electricity, magnetism, and optics. This team-based course covers topics of Physics 161D and 162D that are not included in the high school AP Physics C curriculum, including fluids, damped and driven oscillations, waves, sound, AC circuits, Maxwell’s equations, light, geometric optics, and physical (wave) optics. Prerequisite: Physics 25, Physics 26, Mathematics 21, and Mathematics 122/122L (Mathematics 122/122L can be taken concurrently). Not open to students who have taken Physics 141L, 142L, 151L, 152L, 161D, or 162D.

PHYSICS164L - Introductory Experimental Physics I

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 164L
Title: Introductory Experimental Physics I

Description:
First in a series of half-courses on experimental physics techniques for physics and biophysics majors. Experiments focus on core physics concepts of mechanics: force, motion, conservation laws, and oscillations. Students work in teams and use computers to collect, visualize, and analyze data. Key components: written documentation of experimental procedures and results in a scientific notebook; interpreting results and testing hypotheses; coding (Python), experimental design and refinement; multiple opportunities for open-ended laboratory activities that inspire team and individual creativity.

PHYSICS165L - Introductory Experimental Physics II

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 165L
Title: Introductory Experimental Physics II

Description:
Second in series of half-courses on experimental physics techniques for physics and biophysics majors. Focus on core physics concepts of electricity, magnetism and optics: electrostatics, magnetostatics, magnetic induction, electromagnetic waves, geometrical and physical optics. Students work in teams and use computers to collect, visualize and analyze data. Key components: written documentation of experimental procedures and results in a scientific notebook; interpreting results and testing hypotheses; coding (Python), experimental design and refinement; multiple opportunities for open-ended laboratory activities that inspire team and individual creativity. Prerequisite: Physics 164L.
PHYSICS174 - Introduction to Frontiers of Biophysics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 174
Title: Introduction to Frontiers of Biophysics

Description
Once-per-week class with goal of introducing students to representative frontiers of biophysics. Course will be a mixture of presentations by researchers, presentations by students of journal articles, and some lab tours. Prerequisites: Knowledge equivalent to Advanced Placement courses in biology, chemistry and physics, or with permission of the instructor.

PHYSICS175 - Introduction to Physics in Medicine

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 175
Title: Introduction to Physics in Medicine

Description
The aim of the course is to introduce to physics and life science students the critical role of medical physics in medicine including clinical service, patient care, scientific innovation and clinical problem solving. Four main areas of professional activities will be covered: Radiation Therapy, Diagnostic Imaging, Health Physics, and Nuclear Medicine. The course will highlight key clinical challenges where medical physicists impact clinical practice and improve patient care and treatment outcomes. This introductory course will be taught by medical physics faculty who work in Duke Hospital Clinics and have joint appointments in the Duke Medical Physics Graduate Program. Prerequisite: Physics 141L/142L, 151L/152L, or 161L/162L.

PHYSICS190 - Special Topics in Physics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Special Topics in Physics

Description
Special topics in physics, intended for non-majors.

PHYSICS190S - Special Topics in Physics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Physics

Description
Special topics in physics, intended for non-majors.

PHYSICS190S-1 - Special Topics in Physics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 190S-1
Title: Special Topics in Physics

Description
Special topics in physics, intended for non-majors.

PHYSICS25 - Introductory Physics I

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 25
Title: Introductory Physics I

Description
Calculus-based Introductory Physics I. Prematriculation credit awarded for students who took a high school calculus-based introductory physics course concerning mechanics (including some material on sound, waves, and thermodynamics), and who got a sufficiently high score on the AP Physics C mechanics exam or on an equivalent national or international exam.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>26</td>
<td>Introductory Physics II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Calculus-based Introductory Physics II. Prematriculation credit awarded for students who took a high school calculus-based introductory physics course concerning electricity and magnetism (including some material on optics, diffraction, and interference), and who got a sufficiently high score on the AP Physics C electricity and magnetism exam or on an equivalent national or international exam.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>264L</td>
<td>Optics and Modern Physics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Third course in sequence for physics and biophysics majors. Introductory treatments of special relativity and quantum mechanics. Topics include: wave mechanics and interference; relativistic kinematics, energy and momentum; the Schrodinger equation and its interpretation; quantum particles in one-dimension; spin; fermions and bosons; the hydrogen spectrum. Applications to crystallography, semiconductors, atomic physics and optics, particle physics, and cosmology. Prerequisites: Physics 162D and Mathematics 212 or their equivalents.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>271L</td>
<td>Electronics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Elements of electronics including circuits, transfer functions, solid-state devices, transistor circuits, operational amplifier applications, digital circuits, and computer interfaces. Lectures and laboratory. Prerequisites: Physics 142L, 152L, or 162D, or equivalent; Mathematics 212 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>305</td>
<td>Introduction to Astrophysics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Basic principles of astronomy treated quantitatively. Cosmological models, galaxies, stars, interstellar matter, the solar system, and experimental techniques. Mathematics 212 and Mathematics 216 strongly encouraged. Prerequisite: Physics 264L or instructor consent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>320L</td>
<td>Optics and Photonics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Ray optics, wave optics, beam optics, resonators, atom-photons, interaction, interference, diffraction, polarization, lasers, light detection, electromagnetic optics. Laboratory experiments apply concepts in basic optics. Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 270L or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>346</td>
<td>Introduction to Methods and Concepts in Particle Physics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Particle physics is the study of the fundamental nature of the universe, including its fundamental constituents and the fields through which they interact. This course introduces our current understanding, starting with a review of special relativity and quantum mechanics, before discussing their application to particle physics, the importance of symmetries, experimental techniques (including introductions to how particle colliders and detectors work), statistical and computing methods for data analysis, philosophical considerations in our quest for a fundamental understanding, and prospects for the future. Prerequisite: Physics 264L. Recommended prerequisite: Physics 141L/142L, 151L/152L, or 161L/162L.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PHYSICS361 - Intermediate Mechanics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 361
Title: Intermediate Mechanics

Description: Newtonian mechanics at the intermediate level, Lagrangian mechanics, linear oscillations, chaos, dynamics of continuous media, motion in noninertial reference frames. Prerequisite: Mathematics 216 or equivalent (may be taken concurrently).

PHYSICS362D - Electricity and Magnetism

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 362D
Title: Electricity and Magnetism

Description: Electrostatic fields and potentials, boundary value problems, magnetic induction, energy in electromagnetic fields, Maxwell's equations, introduction to electromagnetic radiation. Prerequisite: Mathematics 216 or equivalent.

PHYSICS363 - Thermal Physics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 363
Title: Thermal Physics

Description: Thermal properties of matter treated using the basic concepts of entropy, temperature, chemical potential, partition function, and free energy. Topics include the laws of thermodynamics, ideal gases, thermal radiation and electrical noise, heat engines, Fermi-Dirac and Bose-Einstein distributions, semiconductor statistics, kinetic theory, and phase transformations. Also taught as Electrical and Computer Engineering 311. Prerequisite: Physics 264L.

PHYSICS364L - Advanced Experimental Physics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 364L
Title: Advanced Experimental Physics

Description: Last in series of half-courses on experimental physics techniques for physics and biophysics majors. Students will perform a single advanced laboratory project. Biophysics-related laboratory projects are available. Includes written and oral presentation of results. Prerequisite: Physics 264L.

PHYSICS365L - Advanced Experimental Physics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 365L
Title: Advanced Experimental Physics

Description: One of several undergraduate courses on experimental physics techniques suitable for physics and biophysics majors. Identical in content and method to Physics 364L except it requires two half semester advanced laboratory projects for one full semester credit. Biophysics-related laboratory projects are available. Includes written and oral presentation of results. Prerequisite: Physics 264L.

PHYSICS414 - Introduction to Biophysics

Subject: PHYSICS
Catalog Number: 414
Title: Introduction to Biophysics

Description: How theory and experimental techniques from physics can be used to analyze and understand biological structure and function, including chemical, mechanical, electrical, collective, and information-processing aspects. Prerequisite: Biology 201L and knowledge of statistical physics by taking either Physics 363 or Chemistry 311.
PHYSICS415 - Biophysics II

Subject  |  Catalog Number |  Title
--- | --- | ---
PHYSICS | 415 | Biophysics II

Description
Quantitative understanding of biological systems through the application of physical principles. Course will emphasize topics that span multiple length and time scales, and different levels of biological organization. Two to four topics per semester, including possibly organismal motion from molecular processes to whole organisms, nervous systems from membrane channels to neuronal networks, noise in biology, novel biophysical technologies, etc. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L or 203L, Mathematics 212 and 216 or equivalent, and calculus-based introductory physics or permission of the instructors.

PHYSICS417S - Advanced Physics Laboratory and Seminar

Subject  |  Catalog Number |  Title
--- | --- | ---
PHYSICS | 417S | Advanced Physics Laboratory and Seminar

Description
Experiments involving the fields of electricity, magnetism, heat, optics, and modern physics. Written and oral presentations of results. Instructor consent required.

PHYSICS464D - Quantum Mechanics I

Subject  |  Catalog Number |  Title
--- | --- | ---
PHYSICS | 464D | Quantum Mechanics I

Description
Introduction to the non-relativistic quantum description of matter. Topics include experimental foundations, wave-particle duality, Schrodinger wave equation, interpretation of the wave function, the state vector, Hilbert space, Dirac notation, Heisenberg uncertainty principle, one-dimensional quantum problems, tunneling, the harmonic oscillator, three-dimensional quantum problems, angular momentum, the hydrogen atom, spin, angular momentum addition, identical particles, elementary perturbation theory, fine/hyperfine structure of hydrogen, dynamics of two-level systems, and applications to atoms, molecules, and other systems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 216 or 221 and Physics 264L.

PHYSICS465 - Quantum Mechanics II

Subject  |  Catalog Number |  Title
--- | --- | ---
PHYSICS | 465 | Quantum Mechanics II

Description
Advanced topics in quantum mechanics with applications to current research. Topics might include theory of angular momentum, role of symmetry in quantum mechanics, perturbation methods, scattering theory, the Dirac equation of relativistic quantum mechanics, systems of identical particles, and quantum entanglement. Prerequisite: Physics 464.

PHYSICS491 - Independent Study: Advanced Topics

Subject  |  Catalog Number |  Title
--- | --- | ---
PHYSICS | 491 | Independent Study: Advanced Topics

Description
Reading in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member. Intended for students interested in studying topics not offered in regularly available courses. Format and grading are determined by the supervising faculty member and then approved by the DUS. Consent of instructor required.

PHYSICS493 - Research Independent Study

Subject  |  Catalog Number |  Title
--- | --- | ---
PHYSICS | 493 | Research Independent Study

Description
Original research conducted under the supervision of a faculty member. At least one written substantive report or a poster presentation is required. Consent of instructor and DUS required.
PHYSICS495 - Thesis Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>495</td>
<td>Thesis Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Original research conducted under the supervision of a faculty member leading to a substantial written report that follows standard guidelines for the presentation of physics research. The report must be revised at least once in response to feedback from the instructor. Typically taken following Physics 493 or summer research experience with the instructor. Consent of instructor and DUS required.

PHYSICS89S - First-Year Seminar

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICS</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary each semester offered.

PJMS112 - The Googlization of Knowledge: Information, Ethics, and Technology

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>112</td>
<td>The Googlization of Knowledge: Information, Ethics, and Technology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Google has altered the way we see the world and ourselves. Its biases, valuing popularity over accuracy, affect how we value information and navigate news and ideas. This course examines information from different angles within the context of social justice, open access to information, and how the Internet and Google affect our lives. Themes include knowledge as a public good, Internet policies, data and visual literacies, social media, and artificial intelligence. Hands-on work researching how technology affects the access, understanding, and reliability of information in students’ lives. Analysis, discussions, and reflection assignments with ongoing application to team-based projects.

PJMS120 - Internship in Media-Related Field

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>120</td>
<td>Internship in Media-Related Field</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

For students enrolled in the Policy Journalism & Media Studies certificate program. Field work in media-related organization with pre-approval of the program Chair. Must submit approval form in advance, and a brief memo two weeks after internship ends. Director of undergraduate studies consent required.

PJMS135S - Introduction to Audio Documentary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>135S</td>
<td>Introduction to Audio Documentary</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Recording techniques and audio mixing on digital editing software for the production of audio (radio) documentaries. Various approaches to audio documentary work, from the journalistic to the personal; use of fieldwork to explore cultural differences. Stories told through audio, using National Public Radio-style form, focusing on a particular social concern such as war and peace, death and dying, civil rights.

PJMS264S - Religion & Journalism

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>264S</td>
<td>Religion &amp; Journalism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course explores the many and complex ways in which religion converges with and diverges from journalism.
PJMS290 - Special Topics in Policy Journalism & Media Studies
Subject PJMS
Catalog Number 290
Title Special Topics in Policy Journalism & Media Studies
Description Selected Policy Journalism & Media Studies topics.

PJMS290S - Special Topics in Policy Journalism & Media Studies
Subject PJMS
Catalog Number 290S
Title Special Topics in Policy Journalism & Media Studies
Description Selected Policy Journalism & Media Studies topics.

PJMS290T - Special Topics Tutorial Journalism & Media Studies
Subject PJMS
Catalog Number 290T
Title Special Topics Tutorial Journalism & Media Studies
Description Selected topics tutorial course in Journalism and Media Studies. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only. Half course credit.

PJMS291 - Internship in Journalism and Media Studies
Subject PJMS
Catalog Number 291
Title Internship in Journalism and Media Studies
Description For students working in journalism or communications capacities in the journalism, public agency, political campaign, or other media-oriented group under the supervision of a faculty member. Requires a substantive paper (or papers) or project. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only.

PJMS335 - Free Speech: Francophone World-USA
Subject PJMS
Catalog Number 335
Title Free Speech: Francophone World-USA

PJMS361S - Algorithms, Journalism and the Public Interest
Subject PJMS
Catalog Number 361S
Title Algorithms, Journalism and the Public Interest
Description Explores the expanding and evolving role of algorithms in the production, dissemination, and consumption of news. Course considers the political, economic, cultural, legal, public policy, and ethical implications of algorithmically-driven journalism and news consumption. Places algorithmically-driven journalism and news consumption in historical and technological context.
PJMS363 - Podcasting in A Changing Media Landscape: The Art, Craft and Ethics of An Emerging Medium

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>363</td>
<td></td>
<td>Podcasting has exploded in recent years, with hundreds of thousands of shows in production and more than a fifth of Americans listening to podcasts at least weekly. This course will provide a hands-on introduction to the craft of podcasting, combined with critical reflection on various podcast forms. Students will consider the role of podcasts in the changing media equation, including the role of podcasts in local news. They will gain practice with the basics of podcast creation and will apply these lessons by creating podcast episodes focusing on the people, places, and issues of Durham, N.C.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PJMS364S - Art of the Interview

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>364S</td>
<td>Art of the Interview</td>
<td>An exploration of the role of the interview as a core feature of modern American journalism, with focus on its development as a tool of inquiry, a cultural form and news-making event. Students will study examples of media coverage and produce projects involving interviews.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PJMS365S - Video Journalism

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>365S</td>
<td>Video Journalism</td>
<td>Theories and concepts of television broadcasting; writing and editing for electronic media; issues of production. Students will produce a Web portfolio. Approved as a practicum course for the Policy, Journalism and Media Studies certificate.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PJMS366S - Long-form Journalism

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>366S</td>
<td>Long-form Journalism</td>
<td>Storytelling techniques of magazine journalism; reporting and writing strategies; historical and contemporary writing for magazines in print and digital formats. Students develop experience in different kinds of magazine writing. Approved as a practicum course required for the Policy, Journalism and Media Studies certificate.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PJMS367S - News Writing and Reporting

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>367S</td>
<td>News Writing and Reporting</td>
<td>Seminar on reporting and writing news and feature stories. Students required to produce news stories based on original reporting and writing, including interviews, use of the Internet and electronic databases, public records, and written publications. Written assignments critiqued in class; final project.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PJMS371 - News as a Moral Battleground

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>371</td>
<td>News as a Moral Battleground</td>
<td>Ethical inquiry into journalism and its effect on public discourse. Issues include accuracy, transparency, conflicts of interest and fairness. Topics include coverage of national security, government secrecy, plagiarism/fabrication, and trade-offs of anonymous sourcing.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>372</td>
<td>PJMS372 - Information, Technology, Ethics and Policy</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>The evolution of the Internet and other information technologies and the related policies and regulations that have emerged both internationally and nationally (in the United States). The tensions surrounding the access to information and the controversies about content, such as issues of free speech. Includes an Internet monitoring project designed to encourage in-depth analysis in order to place technology and technology policy in their historical evolution and context. Explores the contemporary political and social impacts of the Internet and other information technologies.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>374S</td>
<td>PJMS374S - Watchdog News and Storytelling: Changing Forms of Accountability Journalism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Focus on evolving styles of explanatory reporting and investigative journalism. Practice fundamental research and writing techniques that journalists use to reveal complex issues and hold powerful institutions and people accountable. Identify sources, develop interviewing skills, and tap public records. Analyze stories that can serve as engaging models for your assignments, such as fact-checks, solutions-focused articles, and first-person accounts that turn the reporting process into a narrative device. Learn about editorial rules and writing conventions, including their ethical underpinnings and the role of objective methods. Talk with guest journalists about their experiences.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>375</td>
<td>PJMS375 - Journalism in the Age of Data</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Teaches the tools and techniques used by investigative journalists to acquire and analyze data in order to discover story ideas and draw and evaluate conclusions about politicians, public policy, broader behavior of public institutions. Students should have basic familiarity with journalism concepts, but no specific technical or mathematical skills required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PJMS</td>
<td>376S</td>
<td>PJMS376S - Autobiographical Writing: The Power and the Pitfalls of “Me”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course explores autobiographical writing, primarily through students’ writing and workshopping of essays, opinion pieces and snippets of memoir that the instructor and class discuss and critique, but also through reading a diverse group of past and current practitioners. While students will be able to steer their own efforts toward the manner of first-person writing in which they have the most interest, they will be expected to engage in study and execution of standard forms, such as the opinion column. Students will benefit from instructor’s experience writing memoirs and first-person opinion columns. Prerequisites: Policy Journalism and Media Studies 364S, 366S, or 367S.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PJMS377 - The 21st Century News Leader

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 377
Title: The 21st Century News Leader

Description
Course looks at evolution of news leadership from the latter half of 20th century-present, including decline of newspapers, rise of Internet, collapse of traditional news business model, emergence of attention economy, reinvention of factchecking, and revolutionary arrival of social media. Students will explore key questions regarding news leader’s role in society today, limits of news leadership, continuing changes in technology that impact role of news leader, new knowledge news leaders need, and role government has had in transformation of news landscape and leadership. Exploration of how challenges affect news industry, society, those entering field of journalism. Prerequisite: Policy Journalism 371.

PJMS386S - The Intersection of Politics, Policy, and Media

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 386S
Title: The Intersection of Politics, Policy, and Media

Description
An examination of decision-making at intersection of politics, public policy, and media. Draws on real-world and real-time examples and case studies, readings, and guest speakers. Issues include: role, power and practice of lobbying, rise of think tanks and interest groups as key players, theater of politics and policy, the many faces of media, scandal and commodification of outrage, crisis management and mismanagement.

PJMS390 - Special Topics in Policy Journalism and Media Studies

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Policy Journalism and Media Studies

Description
Selected policy, journalism and media studies topics.

PJMS390A-01 - Study Abroad/Away, Duke Program

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 390A-01
Title: Study Abroad/Away, Duke Program

Description
Study abroad or study away, through a Duke-in-___ program, in which the area of study focuses on policy journalism or media studies.

PJMS390A-02 - Study Abroad/Away, non-Duke Program

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 390A-02
Title: Study Abroad/Away, non-Duke Program

Description
Study Abroad or Study Away, through a program that is not a Duke-in-___ program. The area of academic focus must relate to policy journalism or media studies.

PJMS390S - Special Topics in Policy Journalism and Media Studies

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in Policy Journalism and Media Studies

Description
Selected policy, journalism and media studies topics. Topics vary by semester.
PJMS391 - Independent Study

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study

Description
Independent project in an area of Policy Journalism and Media Studies (PJMS), under the supervision or sponsorship of a faculty member. Projects must be pre-approved by the supervising faculty member, and a PJMS co-chair.

PJMS393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or project containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and chair of policy journalism & media studies certificate program required.

PJMS397S - Advanced Reporting

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 397S
Title: Advanced Reporting

Description
Durham government and community reporting course for students with experience in journalism. Assignments will involve covering meetings of the Durham City Council and Board of Education and other Durham County boards and commissions, covering civil and criminal trials, and conducting interviews with government officials, people affected by government actions, and elected representatives. Resources are provided for students to travel throughout Durham County. Students may contact instructor for consent if they do not meet the pre-req PJMS 367S News Writing & Reporting.

PJMS410 - Policy Journalism and Media Studies Capstone Course

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 410
Title: Policy Journalism and Media Studies Capstone Course

Description
Capstone course for Policy Journalism and Media Studies certificate. Course taken after student completes media internship. Designed to integrate student's practical experience with conceptual and theoretical classroom work. Students meet in formal course setting to discuss what they have learned, present examples of the work they have accomplished, and discuss relevant research, culminating in a final project. Course requires a class presentation about the student's internship and a final project that integrates the internship experience with course content. Open to Policy Journalism and Media Studies certificate students only. Instructor consent required.

PJMS490 - Special Topics in Policy, Journalism, & Media Studies

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Special Topics in Policy, Journalism, & Media Studies

Description
Selected topics for courses offering capstone experiences or advanced research. Instructor consent required.

PJMS490S - Special Topics in Policy Journalism and Media Studies

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Special Topics in Policy Journalism and Media Studies

Description
Selected topics for courses offering advanced research opportunities. Instructor consent required.
PJMS89S - First Year Seminar: Special Topics in Policy, Journalism and Media Studies

Subject: PJMS
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First Year Seminar: Special Topics in Policy, Journalism and Media Studies

Description: Topics vary.

POE190 - Practice Oriented Education

Subject: POE
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Practice Oriented Education

Description: Practice Oriented Education

POLISH101 - Elementary Polish

Subject: POLISH
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Polish

Description: Introduction to understanding, speaking, reading, and writing Polish. No preliminary knowledge of Polish necessary.

POLISH102 - Elementary Polish

Subject: POLISH
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Polish

Description: Introduction to understanding, speaking, reading, and writing Polish. No preliminary knowledge of Polish necessary. Second half of Polish 101,102. Prerequisite: Polish 101.

POLISH203 - Intermediate Polish

Subject: POLISH
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Polish

Description: Intensive classroom and laboratory practice in spoken and written patterns. Readings in contemporary literature. Prerequisites: Polish 101 and 102, or consent of instructor.

POLISH204 - Intermediate Polish

Subject: POLISH
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Intermediate Polish

Description: Continuation of Polish 203. Prerequisite: Polish 203 or consent of instructor.
POLISH275S - Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States

Subject
POLISH

Catalog Number
275S

Title
Modern Jewish Identities: Between Eastern Europe and the United States

Description
Drawing on documentaries, historical fiction films, autobiographies and memoirs, this course explores how the diverse spectrum of Ashkenazi Jews living in the Russian empire and then Poland from 1900-1939 conceived of their identities as Jews and how their identities may have altered once they emigrated to the United States. After the Shoah, we examine how Jewish emigrants to the US and those Jews and their descendants who remained in postwar Poland/Ukraine sought contact with each other in attempts to rethink what it means to be a post-Holocaust Jew in their respective contexts and in dialogue with each other.

POLISH288S - Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century

Subject
POLISH

Catalog Number
288S

Title
Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century

Description
Examines the major thematic focus of East European filmmakers in the 21st century: their efforts to reconstruct and reassess the experience of the Cold War (1945-1989) and the Yugoslav wars (1991-1995). These films from the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Croatia, and Serbia include ironic/sentimental tales of Cold War childhood, thrillers about sleeping with the enemy (political informers), and psychological dramas centering on political trauma, resistance, and compromise. All films shown with English subtitles.

POLISH298S - Revealing Histories: Polish Cinema

Subject
POLISH

Catalog Number
298S

Title
Revealing Histories: Polish Cinema

Description
Explores the films of four famous Polish directors—Andrzej Wajda, Andrzej Munk, Krzysztof Kieślowski, and Agnieszka Holland—whose artistic approaches and ethical/political themes greatly influenced Polish and European cinema as well as Polish politics. Through viewing their movies and consulting biographical, historical, and critical materials, we’ll examine how these directors use film to reconstruct history, challenge politically or religiously orthodox myths, and suggest new ways of valuing the complexity and spiritual capacities of the individual. All texts in English translation. All films screened with subtitles.

POLISH301S - Contemporary Polish Composition and Readings

Subject
POLISH

Catalog Number
301S

Title
Contemporary Polish Composition and Readings

Description
Advanced grammar and syntax with intense composition component. Analytical readings in the original. Prerequisite: Polish 203 and 204, or equivalent.
POLISH302S - Contemporary Polish Composition and Readings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject: POLISH</th>
<th>Catalog Number: 302S</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title: Contemporary Polish Composition and Readings</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description: Continuation of Polish 301S. Prerequisite: Polish 301S.

POLISH308S - Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject: POLISH</th>
<th>Catalog Number: 308S</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title: Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description: Analyzes, compares, and assesses representations of Polish Christians and Polish Jews—their life experiences, interactions, shared and separate fates—in documentaries and fiction films made in Poland from the 1930s to the present day. Includes films by Wajda, Polanski, Munk, Kieslowski; also a 2008 documentary about pre-World War II Christian-Jewish relations in Poland by Jolanta Dylewska. All films screened with English subtitles.

POLSCI101 - Introduction to Political Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject: POLSCI</th>
<th>Catalog Number: 101</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title: Introduction to Political Science</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description: Political science seeks to describe and understand political phenomena, and to explore their ethical and normative dimensions. Course provides a broad introduction to the range of topics covered in political science, from authoritarian to democratic politics, from local governance to international relations, from formal rules and institutions to the psychology and behavior of individuals who participate in political processes.

POLSCI102 - The Science of Politics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject: POLSCI</th>
<th>Catalog Number: 102</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title: The Science of Politics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description: Why and how is political science a science? This course introduces students to the scientific study of the political world. Students are introduced to a broad set of questions and topics that political scientists work on. Students will learn how political scientists build theories, generate hypotheses, and test hypotheses with quantitative and qualitative data. And students will have an opportunity to apply their knowledge as political scientists do—by critiquing scientific research; proposing and testing original hypotheses; and using theory and evidence from the class as a basis for making policy recommendations.

POLSCI105S - The Documentary Experience: A Video Approach

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject: POLSCI</th>
<th>Catalog Number: 105S</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title: The Documentary Experience: A Video Approach</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description: A documentary approach to the study of local communities through video production projects assigned by the course instructor. Working closely with these groups, students explore issues or topics of concern to the community. Students complete an edited video as their final project. Not open to students who have taken this course as Film/Video/Digital 105S.

POLSCI108 - Introduction to African Studies (DS3 or DS4)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject: POLSCI</th>
<th>Catalog Number: 108</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title: Introduction to African Studies (DS3 or DS4)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description: A range of disciplinary perspectives on key topics in contemporary African Studies: nationalism and pan-Africanism, imperialism and colonialism, genocide and famine, development and democratization, art and music, age and gender.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>110</td>
<td>Critical Approaches to Global Issues</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Introduction to critical transnational studies through several disciplinary approaches. Examines capitalism and neo-liberal globalization and their relationships to culture, politics, economics, and other social forms and outcomes; considers transnationalism 'from below'; addresses linear and Western-centric thinking about progress and modernity; focuses a historical lens on political discourses, institutions, and projects to understand them contextually; demonstrates how cultures and identities are dynamically constituted in interaction with historical, material, political, and situational factors; considers how different inequalities and contestations inflect most social formations.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>114</td>
<td>From Voting to Protests: Introduction to Political Attitudes, Groups and Behaviors</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Covers basic core concepts for understanding political behavior—attitudes, beliefs, and actions of the general public in political life—and the development and consequences of racial, ethnic, and other types of (politically relevant) identities. Broadly comparative approach, looking at publics throughout the world. Special focus on political behavior and identities in democracies, where behavior is consequential in ordinary workings of politics. Also examines extraordinary political behavior, such as participation in protests, riots, and civil wars.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>116D</td>
<td>Introduction to American Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Same as Political Science 116 except instruction is provided in two lectures and one small discussion meeting each week.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>120</td>
<td>The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Familiar but fundamental ethical questions: What is a good, worthy or just life? How is it to be lived, toward what ends? Readings include dramas and philosophical analyses, parables and auto-biographies, polemics and meditations, novels and political commentaries. Introductory course for the Ethics &amp; Society Certificate.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>120D</td>
<td>The Challenges of Living an Ethical Life</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Familiar but fundamental ethical questions: What is a good, worthy or just life? How is it to be lived, toward what ends? Readings include dramas and philosophical analyses, parables and auto-biographies, polemics and meditations, novels and political commentaries. Introductory course for the Certificate Program in the Study of Ethics.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>125D</td>
<td>Introduction to Global Development: Politics, Policy and Practice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Introduces intellectual tools for understanding why development varies across the globe and practical tools for designing and evaluating foreign aid programs. Course focuses on foundations for sustained development, including geography, historical legacies, technological innovation and political institutions, and practical challenges associated with aid programming aimed at promoting development. Also explores how international donors work, what constitutes a good development program, and how to evaluate whether a development project 'works.'</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI128 - Climate Change: A Political Economy Perspective

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 128
Title: Climate Change: A Political Economy Perspective

Description
This class introduces students to climate change from a political economy perspective. It reviews the main scientific facts about it and how their evolution traces back to political and economic causes. The bulk of the class is devoted to understand the consequences of climate change for domestic and international politics and to study, with the PE tools, the scope and limits of the solutions being proposed to address it. The class is purposefully interdisciplinary and will make use of academic work and data from different social and applied sciences. It is a class designed for first and second year students that could also be of interest to more advanced ones.

POLSCI140S - Empires in Modern European History

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 140S
Title: Empires in Modern European History

Description
An introduction to political theories of imperialism and a comparative historical analysis of several European empires. Explores questions of nationalism, race, religious pluralism, state formation, globalization, and international governance. Readings drawn from history, sociology, anthropology, and political science.

POLSCI145 - Introduction to Political Economy

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 145
Title: Introduction to Political Economy

Description
Introduction to history of political economy. Three components: (1) history of economic thought as outgrowth of moral philosophy; (2) microeconomics and price theory; (3) macroeconomics and monetary policy. Intended as an economics course for non-majors. No prerequisite except high school mathematics. Does not count toward Economics major or minor.

POLSCI145D - Introduction to Political Economy

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 145D
Title: Introduction to Political Economy

Description
Introduction to history of political economy. Three components: (1) history of economic thought as outgrowth of moral philosophy; (2) microeconomics and price theory; (3) macroeconomics and monetary policy. Intended as an economics course for non-majors. No prerequisite except high school mathematics. Does not count toward Economics major or minor.

POLSCI146 - Politics and Economics

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 146
Title: Politics and Economics

Description
Politics is about choices that affect the distribution of gains and losses, and about societal and political conflicts surrounding them. Course analyzes how political and economic forces shape: (1) Historical origins, such as the industrial revolution, slavery, and the birth of the modern welfare state; (2) Macro-economic policies, such as the taxation of capital, public spending and debt; and (3) Redistributive policies, such as welfare programs, unemployment and health insurance, and the minimum wage.

POLSCI150FS - Citizenship, Patriotism, & Identity

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 150FS
Title: Citizenship, Patriotism, & Identity

Description
This course introduces students to fundamental moral questions about nation states and individuals' membership in them. Do people owe more to their compatriots than to foreigners? Is it desirable—or at least permissible—for countries to have and promote a national identity? What different forms can patriotism take, and in which (if any) of these forms is it a virtue? Should we all be 'citizens of the world'? These questions will be explored primarily through readings in contemporary moral and political philosophy. Open only to students in the Focus Program.
POLSCI159 - Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>159</td>
<td>Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives</td>
<td>Introduction to the Israel/Palestine conflict, studied through an interdisciplinary lens, including scholarship from the fields of anthropology, environmental studies, history, geography and cultural studies. Themes include: competing nationalisms, environmental politics and resource management, peace building, refugees and displacement, humanitarian crises and challenges, representational politics. Range of primary sources will be used including human rights reports and testimonials, natural resource policies, feature and documentary film, memoirs, political treatises, and maps.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

POLSCI160D - Introduction to Security, Peace and Conflict

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>160D</td>
<td>Introduction to Security, Peace and Conflict</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 160 except instruction is provided in two lectures and one small discussion meeting each week.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

POLSCI170FS - Liberty and Equality: Ancient and Modern Perspectives

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

POLSCI172FS - Racial Attitudes and Racial Politics in the United States

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>172FS</td>
<td>Racial Attitudes and Racial Politics in the United States</td>
<td>Course considers the different conceptions and definitions of racial attitudes and racial prejudice in the United States. Compares across the disciplines of social psychology, sociology, and political science, acknowledging debates about both the sources and consequences of these attitudes. Focuses on how in the present day, different theories lead to different understanding of racial conflict and its political consequences. Discusses how racial attitudes, prejudice, and conflict may be mitigated in political world. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI175 - Introduction to Political Philosophy

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number 175

Title
Introduction to Political Philosophy

Description
An intensive comparative examination of the nature and enduring problems of political philosophy through the confrontation, interpretation, and normative assessment of classic texts from the Greek polis to the present. Selected theorists and their arguments and beliefs within the Western political tradition concerning justice, the good life, freedom, community, power, authority, and others. Careful attention to the ways argument and rhetoric operate in texts of political philosophy, as well as diverse modes of interpretation.

POLSCI175D - Introduction to Political Philosophy

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
175D

Title
Introduction to Political Philosophy

Description
An intensive comparative examination of the nature and enduring problems of political philosophy through the confrontation, interpretation, and normative assessment of classic texts from the Greek polis to the present. Selected theorists and their arguments and beliefs within the Western political tradition concerning justice, the good life, freedom, community, power, authority, and others. Careful attention to the ways argument and rhetoric operate in texts of political philosophy, as well as diverse modes of interpretation.

POLSCI175FS - Freedom and Responsibility

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
175FS

Title
Freedom and Responsibility

Description
Conflicting visions of freedom and responsibility that characterize the modern world, the possibility of leading ethical lives in the face of conflicting demands that a complex vision of the good engenders. Readings include Luther, Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Marx, Kant, and Jack London. Course aims to be an intense introduction to Western philosophical ideas of freedom and responsibility. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

POLSCI176FS - Human Rights and World Politics

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
176FS

Title
Human Rights and World Politics

Description
Examines the role of human rights and global justice in world politics. We will consider questions such as whether human rights are universal, what role human rights and global justice should play in U.S. foreign policy, which strategies are most effective in promoting human rights and global justice, and which risk inciting backlash. The course will cover topics including civil and political rights; economic, social and cultural rights; genocide, torture, humanitarian intervention, and the international criminal court.
POLSCI177FS - 9/11 And After: The World We've Inherited and The Quest to Make A Difference

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 177FS
Title: 9/11 And After: The World We've Inherited and The Quest to Make A Difference

Description
This course critically examines the 9/11 attacks and its impact on American politics and culture. It surveys the events, people, and ideologies which led to the 9/11 attacks and its immediate aftermath; examines the US war in Afghanistan, treatment of detainees, surveillance of American Muslim communities, and rise of a national security apparatus in the US; assesses the rise of anti-immigrant, Islamophobic, anti-Semitic and extreme nationalist US domestic terror groups since 9/11; and enables students to interact with local Afghan refugees and encounter global difference. Open only to Focus students.

POLSCI180FS - Hierarchy and Spontaneous Order: The Nature of Freedom in Political and Economic Organizations (C-N)

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 180FS
Title: Hierarchy and Spontaneous Order: The Nature of Freedom in Political and Economic Organizations (C-N)

Description
Course examines themes that emerge from the classics of political thought through contemporary work in the analytic social science tradition. Employs the tools of game theory to consider simple models of social and political interaction that shed light on the emergence of formal and informal institutions that govern individual behavior, and the role of these institutions in securing individual freedom. Reliance on analytic models is what differentiates this course from a historical or philosophical inquiry. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

POLSCI185FS - The Politics of Language

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 185FS
Title: The Politics of Language

Description
Examines the political role of language in societies as diverse as China, India, the former Soviet Union, the UK and the US. Looks at how state and non-state actors influence citizens’ language practices, and their beliefs about language. Drawing on political theory, sociology and sociolinguistics, we look at how language policies reflect and produce sociopolitical realities. Topics covered include migration, citizenship, nationalism and decolonization. Open to students in the Focus Program only.

POLSCI186 - Women and Gender in the Middle East

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 186
Title: Women and Gender in the Middle East

Description
An introductory survey exploring the Middle East through the gender perspective. Introduction to the gender and women's studies in the Middle East and the major issues Cross-cultural and interdisciplinary readings to introduce the diversity of the region. Readings and screenings include the narratives and performances from the region.
POLSCI186FS - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 186FS
Title: Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description:
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

POLSCI188FS - American Perspectives on Citizenship

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 188FS
Title: American Perspectives on Citizenship

Description:
An overview of American perspectives on citizenship. Explores ongoing controversies about the influence of liberalism and republicanism on American conceptions of citizenship, whether American individualism threatens civic duty, whether civil disobedience is justified, whether there are certain values and experiences that all American citizens should share, and whether national identities are relevant in an increasingly global world. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

POLSCI189FS - Introduction to Machine Learning and Computational Models in the Social Sciences

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 189FS
Title: Introduction to Machine Learning and Computational Models in the Social Sciences

Description:
Our goal as social scientists is to build models of the world and provide advice to policy makers. Given that human actors are often strategic and the games they play are complex, building and testing these models is difficult and distinct from common examples of machine learning. A task that is often used to motivate introductions to machine learning is teaching a model to recognize hand-written characters using MNIST data (https://www.tensorflow.org/datasets/catalog/mnist). Our task is harder: we must build models that involve forecasting human behavior ranging from votes in a legislature to changes in stock prices.

POLSCI190 - Special Topics in Political Science

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Special Topics in Political Science

Description:
Topics vary each semester offered.

POLSCI190FS - Special Topics in the Focus Program

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Special Topics in the Focus Program

Description:
Open only to students in the Focus Program. Topics differ by semester.

POLSCI190S - Special Topics in Political Science

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Political Science

Description:
Topics vary each semester offered.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI190S-1</td>
<td>190S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Science</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI195FS</td>
<td>195FS</td>
<td>Freedom and Moral Obligation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI20</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>American Government and Politics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI201</td>
<td>201</td>
<td>Public Opinion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI202</td>
<td>202</td>
<td>Political Parties in Competition. Left, Right and Beyond.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI203</td>
<td>203</td>
<td>Women and the Political Process</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

POLSCI190S-1 - Special Topics in Political Science

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

POLSCI195FS - Freedom and Moral Obligation

Description
Are moral obligations limitations on our freedom, or are they, as some philosophers have insisted, the fullest expression of freedom? To understand the disagreement, we’ll look at moral obligations, particularly social and political obligations. How do collective moral obligations, like climate change or reparations for slavery, obligate us individually—or do they? Is freedom of speech morally required? Finally, we will consider Kant’s Groundwork of the Metaphysics of Morals, in which Kant argued that we are only free when our actions are dictated entirely by morality.

POLSCI20 - American Government and Politics

Description
Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of the College Board examination in American government and politics. Does not satisfy course requirements of the political science major.

POLSCI201 - Public Opinion

Description
Examines nature and role of public opinion in American democracy, providing broad-based introduction to dynamics of citizens’ social and political attitudes in contemporary United States. Goal of course is to help students arrive at a more comprehensive understanding of forces that shape beliefs, attitudes, and opinions of American public, the means by which those views are publicly expressed, and the influence of those opinions on policy outcomes.

POLSCI202 - Political Parties in Competition. Left, Right and Beyond.

Description
Why is electoral participation organized around parties and not individual candidates? What do parties offer and deliver to voters? How did parties and party systems develop in the United States and Europe in the 19th century and what consequences did this have for the rules of the competitive game (electoral laws)? How have American and European parties changed their political appeals in the twentieth century, and then lately into the twenty-first century? Why have some party systems—like the American—sharply polarized, while others—typically in Europe—have fragmented into a multiplicity of political parties?

POLSCI203 - Women and the Political Process

Description
A systematic analysis of the U.S. political system, electoral politics, platform implications, and leadership trends in the context of women’s role in political life, as voters, leaders, and citizens.
POLSCI205 - Introduction to Racial and Ethnic Minorities in American Politics

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number 205

Title
Introduction to Racial and Ethnic Minorities in American Politics

Description
The politics of four of the United States principal racial minority groups—blacks, Latinos, Asians, and American Indians.

POLSCI206 - American Values, Institutions, and Culture

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
206

Title
American Values, Institutions, and Culture

Description
Introduction to American political theory and institutional development from European settlement to Progressive Era; origins and evolution of key political institutions, including congress, federalism, the presidency, the party system, and Supreme Court; ways in which these institutions resolve collective action problems; influence of competing political ideologies—especially, liberalism, puritanism, republicanism—on American political development; role of political ideologies and institutions in re-enforcing and resisting slavery, as well as racial and gender inequality.

POLSCI208 - How to Think in an Age of Political Polarization

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
208

Title
How to Think in an Age of Political Polarization

Description
Americans today live in a time of deep political polarization, cultural tribalism, and self-segregation. To many, it feels like we’re in the middle of a cultural civil war that is turning violent. Those with whom we have deep disagreements, assuming we interact with them at all, are often viewed as not just wrong but as irrational, immoral, even contemptible. Is this a good thing? What sort of habits of mind (e.g. intellectual humility and charity) and practices should we cultivate in response to this reality in order to sustain a healthy democracy? Special attention paid to the university, cancel culture, free speech, social media, and identity politics. Lively discussion is encouraged.

POLSCI209 - Ecology and the Human Good: Sustainability, Community, Nature, and Belonging

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
209

Title
Ecology and the Human Good: Sustainability, Community, Nature, and Belonging

Description
This course examines the complex network of relationships that support flourishing human communities. How do our interactions with each other and the natural world enhance or undermine our ability to grow and live together? How does the structure of human communities shape our relationship with nature? What is the proper role of markets and technological innovation in our quest for a sustainable and flourishing future world? Through an interdisciplinary lens, we will examine topics including sustainable agriculture, community formation, friendship, climate migration, environmental ethics, food, conservation, the politics of belonging and citizenship. This course is part of the Transformative Ideas Sophomore Program.
POLSCI21 - Comparative Government and Politics

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 21
Title: Comparative Government and Politics

Description: Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of the College Board examination in comparative government and politics. Does not satisfy course requirements of the political science major.

POLSCI210 - Conservatism

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 210
Title: Conservatism

Description: Social or 'moral' conservatives are rare birds in the modern university. Who are these people and why do they think as they do? This course will explore the historical and intellectual foundations of this branch of conservatism in the Western world. Topics will include religion and politics, views of 'modernity' and liberalism, the value of tradition, human nature and purpose, social justice, marriage, sexuality, abortion, family, natural law, the sanctity of human life, religious freedom, constitutional law, the basis of rights, free markets, and conservatism in higher education. Authors will include philosophers, theologians, and political theorists. Lively discussion will be encouraged.

POLSCI211 - Democracy: Ancient and Modern

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 211
Title: Democracy: Ancient and Modern

Description: Examines democracy in its ancient and modern forms, with special attention to Athenian and American democracy. Does modern democracy fulfill the promise of ancient democracy, or betray its fundamental tenets? Topics may include freedom, equality, and rights; democratic institutions; citizenship; rhetoric; democratic knowledge and decision-making; foreign policy; corruption; religion; and hope.

POLSCI211D - Democracy: Ancient and Modern

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 211D
Title: Democracy: Ancient and Modern

Description: Examines democracy in its ancient and modern forms, with special attention to Athenian and American democracy. Does modern democracy fulfill the promise of ancient democracy, or betray its fundamental tenets? Topics may include freedom, equality, and rights; democratic institutions; citizenship; rhetoric; democratic knowledge and decision-making; foreign policy; corruption; religion; and hope.

POLSCI213 - Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 213
Title: Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change

Description: Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality.

POLSCI213S - Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 213S
Title: Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)

Description: Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality. Consent of instructor is required.
POLSCI215 - The United States and the World, 1898 to the Present

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 215
Title: The United States and the World, 1898 to the Present

Description
Course explores the evolution of US foreign relations, from the Spanish-American War in 1898 through the challenges facing the Biden Administration. Will consider US foreign relations in a broad sense. US’ political, economic, and cultural relations with other states, organizations, and individuals will all be considered, as will the role that domestic politics play in the making and execution of US foreign policy.

POLSCI217 - Discovering Game Theory: Social Complexity and Strategic Interdependence

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 217
Title: Discovering Game Theory: Social Complexity and Strategic Interdependence

Description
Strategy is all around you: in sports, the economy, law, politics, and your own social interactions. In this course, you will explore one of the foundational tools that social scientists use to analyze the complexity of strategic interactions: Game Theory. To do so, the course employs a highly interactive learning environment, in which you and your peers engage in strategic interactions that illustrate fundamental social dilemmas. In taking this course, you will gain a new analytical perspective into the complexity of social phenomena, and develop a solid foundation for additional course work in social science.

POLSCI221S - South African Past and Present

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 221S
Title: South African Past and Present

Description
Explores the history of modern South Africa from the beginning of the mineral revolution in the 1860s to the post-apartheid present. We will cover mining-centered industrialization, the emergence of Afrikaner and African nationalism, segregationist ideology, and the construction of apartheid. We will examine the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, and the regional and wide-ranging global efforts to end apartheid and usher in democracy. The establishment and promise of multi-party democracy, the AIDS epidemic, and the reemergence of social movements are all topics we will consider and we will conclude by reflecting on the place of South Africa as a regional, continental, and world power.

POLSCI224 - Inequality and Politics

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 224
Title: Inequality and Politics

Description
Inequality, understood as the ultimate allocation of scarce resources in society, plays an important role in way democratic societies work. Course will review the fundamental political theory debates about the relationship between inequality and politics; understanding of how politics shapes the distributions of income and wealth in contemporary democracies; and functioning of democratic polities at different levels of development. Examines its influence on citizens’ political engagement, the extent to which political participation works, and various forms of conflict and political (dis)integration.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>228</td>
<td>Politics of Authoritarian Regimes</td>
<td>Examine the variety of ways in which authoritarian regimes operate. Study the emergence and persistence of authoritarian regimes, the institutions they adopt, leadership change, government/opposition relations, their potential for democratic transition as well as the theories that explain these outcomes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>229</td>
<td>Institutions and Self Governance</td>
<td>Study the history and development of institutions in self-governing communities and societies to gain a deeper understanding of the need for creating and maintaining institutions to resolve specific collection action problems and to achieve social security, political stability and economic prosperity in general for a community. Types of institutions include: mutual-aid associations such as friendly societies in the West and community compacts in the East, Western credit union system and Chinese granary systems, credit and money raising schemes, public security and social control measures, conflict resolution and dispute settlement methods, and collective decision making methods.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>231D</td>
<td>Introduction to Tools of Political Risk Analysis</td>
<td>This course explores the impact of national and subnational government institutions on international business strategy. The course is designed around the theme of political risk analysis, approaching the topic from two perspectives: country and individual firm. Political risk is a type of risk faced by investors, that political decisions, events, or conditions will significantly affect the profitability of a business actor or the expected value of a given economic action. In this course, students will learn tools for measuring and assessing political risk, as well as how smart leaders can make intelligent business strategy decisions in these environments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>232</td>
<td>Introduction to Terrorism</td>
<td>Nature of terrorist organizations and government responses to them. Includes analysis of different aspects of terrorism: historical, social, cultural, economic, political, religious context; determinants of terrorism at state and individual level; organizational structure of terrorist groups' weapons and tactics; mobilization and recruitment within terror networks; terrorist finance; methods of counterterrorism. Details different methods of study of terrorism.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Duke University
POLSCI233 - Nuclear Weapons: US Foreign Policy and the Challenges of Global Proliferation

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
POLSCI | 233 | Nuclear Weapons: US Foreign Policy and the Challenges of Global Proliferation

Description
Implication of nuclear weapons to U.S. foreign policy and international politics. Topics include basic science of nuclear fission and fusion, history of nuclear proliferation, theory of nuclear deterrence, evolution of U.S. nuclear posture during and after Cold War, and case studies of other nuclear proliferation with detailed coverage of North Korea and Iran. Emphasis in readings and assignments will be placed on being able to understand how these weapons apply to theories of international relations and foreign policy and on being able to make causal inferences regarding their importance.

POLSCI235S - Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
POLSCI | 235S | Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Description
DukeImmerse Seminar. A comparative examination and analysis of urban governance in South Africa and the United States. Examines potential consequences of persistent racial and class disparities for housing and neighborhoods, public health, education, community infrastructure, and general economic and social development. Specific attention to how the physical layout, government structures, politics, culture, and the civil society of cities and urban areas may both promote and hinder human development and social justice. Instructor consent required.

POLSCI236S - Advanced Research Seminar in Urban Politics and Policymaking

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
POLSCI | 236S | Advanced Research Seminar in Urban Politics and Policymaking

Description
DukeImmerse Seminar. Advanced research and writing seminar. Participants produce a 30-40 page research paper based on field work and archival research experiences in Durham and an approved South African city. Includes tutorials in research design and comparative research methods. There is a required field work component of the course which entails a two-week trip to South Africa. Students will collect data, do interviews, visit municipal offices, and or spend time at NGOs in Pietermaritzburg. Instructor consent required.

POLSCI237 - Religion and Foreign Policy

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
POLSCI | 237 | Religion and Foreign Policy

Description
Examines ways in which religious ideas, identities, and actors impact the foreign policy actions of states. Topics include just war theory, religious nationalism, public opinion, elites, and faith-based approaches to peacebuilding. Focus on theory as well as comparisons of contemporary case studies. Cases include United States, Turkey, India, Israel, Iran, and Russia and explore various elements of the five major world religions. Major assignments: ongoing blog, policy brief, and final group video project.
POLSCI238 - Racial Attitudes, Racial Prejudice, and Racial Politics

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
238

Title
Racial Attitudes, Racial Prejudice, and Racial Politics

Description
Course delves into work from sociology, social psychology, and political science to explore the development of racial attitudes, stereotypes, and prejudice. Consideration of the way race matters for attitudes and behavior among all racial and ethnic group members and how racial attitudes have changed over time, corresponding to massive social, legal, and political changes in the United States. Examines how individual racial attitudes affect political outcomes, how they relate to individual political preferences, and how they have influenced voting behavior historically and in the present day. Not open to students who have taken Political Science 172FS.

POLSCI239S - Political Communication in a Changing Media Environment

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
239S

Title
Political Communication in a Changing Media Environment

Description
Examination of interaction between citizens, media and political actors in today's fragmented information environment. Topics include evolution of political communication and media, emergence of new communication technologies, changes in campaign communication strategy, nature of news, theories of attitude formation and change, and role of political communications in campaigns and elections. Focus on implications of changing information environment for political communication strategies and for citizen knowledge and engagement in democratic process.

POLSCI240D - Political Psychology

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
240D

Title
Political Psychology

Description
How individuals interact with their political environment and with other individuals and groups. Theories and findings from both disciplines to gain deeper insights into political processes and decisions. Likely topics include individuals' political attitudes, decisions and judgments. Other likely topics include theories of how people cooperate with each other and how groups come into conflict with each other, psychological approaches to analyzing political leaders and/or the way members of different cultures process political information.

POLSCI240SA - Theory and Practice: People, Places and Policy Cases

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
240SA

Title
Theory and Practice: People, Places and Policy Cases

Description
Talks by Congress members, legislative staff members, interest group leaders, journalists, and other members of the public policy community in Washington. Visits to government buildings, historical sites, and other policy-rich attractions in the nation's capital. Discussion and written assignments require analysis and linkages between 'real world' of policy practice and theories and concepts from political science and public policy studies. Offered through the Duke in DC program.
POLSCI241SA - Whose Democracy? Participation and Public Policy in the United States

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 241SA
Title: Whose Democracy? Participation and Public Policy in the United States

Description:
Overview of patterns in Americans' engagement in and disengagement from civic life. Theories of why people do (and do not) participate. Differences across lines of gender, race, ideology, generation, and class. Role of American interest groups and social movements in policy change. Influence of public policies (e.g., federal tax laws, participation requirements, programs such as AmeriCorps) on civic and political participation. Implications for equality, voice, and the health of American democracy. Classroom discussion; guest speakers; short memos. Offered through the Duke in DC program.

POLSCI242D - Campaigns and Elections

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 242D
Title: Campaigns and Elections

Description:
The campaign process, voting and elections in the United States, with emphasis on the varying role of media in campaigns. The nomination and election process; focus on the critical evaluation of various empirical models of voting behavior in presidential and congressional elections and the impact of election outcomes on the content and direction of public policy in various historical eras in American politics.

POLSCI244S - Activism & Christianity in Modern America

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 244S
Title: Activism & Christianity in Modern America

Description:
An exploration of the relation of Christian belief and practices with agitation for social change, with a focus on the United States from the colonial period to the present. Attention given to how identity, power, and suffering shape historical judgments about the intersection of religion and ethics. Close readings of primary sources drawn from autobiographies, letters, sermons, poems, and treatises. Figures may include John Wesley, Sojourner Truth, Frederick Douglass, Martin Luther King Jr., Paul Murray, Dorothy Day, Thomas Merton, Daniel Berrigan.

POLSCI245 - American Constitutional Development and Interpretation I: The Constitutional Structure

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 245
Title: American Constitutional Development and Interpretation I: The Constitutional Structure

Description:
Introduction to primary themes of American constitutional structure (judicial review, democracy, federalism, and separation of powers), their shaping and reshaping through cultural conflict over course of American history, and basic methods of constitutional interpretation (text, structure, history, precedent, consequences, identity, and aspirationalism). Special focus on relationships among constitutional text, judicial doctrine, and constitutional interpretation outside the courts.

Duke University

1167/1526
POLSCI246 - American Constitutional Development and Interpretation II: Individual Rights

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
246

Title
American Constitutional Development and Interpretation II: Individual Rights

Description
Historical, political, and doctrinal introduction to the primary themes of constitutional protection of individual rights in the United States: judicial review, state action, incorporation, fundamental rights (e.g., marriage, contraception, abortion, and speech), and equal citizenship (i.e., discrimination on the basis of race, sex, and sexual orientation). Special emphasis on: (1) the shaping and reshaping of constitutional rights through cultural and political conflict; (2) basic methods of constitutional interpretation and (3) relationships among constitutional text, judicial doctrine, and robust practices of constitutional interpretation outside the courts.

---

POLSCI247S - Liberalism and its Critics

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
247S

Title
Liberalism and its Critics

Description
Examines development of liberalism within political philosophy and economics, and alternatives as articulated by conservative, progressive and socialist critics. Course examines doctrines themselves and place within historical context in which they emerged. Liberal tradition represented by such thinkers as Locke, Hume, Smith, Paine, Constant, J. S. Mill, Hayek and Friedman. Conservative critics will include such writers as Burke, de Maistre, Papal Encyclicals, Carlyle, Meyer, Kirk, Scruton, and Deneen. Socialist and progressive critics will include Saint Simon, Marx and Engels, Sidney and Beatrice Webb, Veblen, Lange, Laski, and Marcuse. Course is part of ‘Transformative Ideas’ curriculum.

---

POLSCI248 - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
248

Title
Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

---

POLSCI248S - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
248S

Title
Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.
POLSCI252 - Life Within Capitalism: A History of its Values, Measures and Struggles

Description
Examination of how capitalism has profoundly shaped people’s ethical values, with focus on United States. Investigates central developments behind history of capitalism; explores key struggles that led to formation of capitalist logic (choices, values, goals); traces impact of capitalist goals and measures on ethical values and choices; examines discussions about possible future developments within capitalism.

POLSCI253 - Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Description
An introduction to Christian ideals of conduct, character, and community, and to modern disputes over their interpretation and application. Are Christian virtues and principles fundamentally at odds with the ethos of liberal democracy oriented toward rights, equality, and freedom? What do Christian beliefs and moral concepts imply about issues related to identity and pluralism? What is the relationship between religious convictions, morality, and law? Special emphasis on selected political and economic problems, sexuality and marriage, capital punishment, animals and the environment, abortion, and the role of religion in public life.

POLSCI253S - Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Description
An introduction to Christian ideals of conduct, character, and community, and to modern disputes over their interpretation and application. Are Christian virtues and principles fundamentally at odds with the ethos of liberal democracy oriented toward rights, equality, and freedom? What do Christian beliefs and moral concepts imply about issues related to identity and pluralism? What is the relationship between religious convictions, morality, and law? Special emphasis on selected political and economic problems, sexuality and marriage, capital punishment, animals and the environment, abortion, and the role of religion in public life.

POLSCI254S - The US Intelligence Enterprise

Description
Course will explore the intelligence discipline through examination of the US Intelligence Enterprise. Students will review pivotal intelligence policies, the organizational design of the US intelligence apparatus, and contemporary ethical issues associated with intelligence collection, both foreign and domestic. Through teams projects and active learning exercises, students will gain exposure to the sub-disciplines of intelligence collection and intelligence analysis. Open to undergraduate sophomores and juniors.
Description
Ancient Greece and Rome offered competing visions of politics based on republics and the cosmopolitan idea of humans as world-citizens. In light of classical political theory and the resurgence of nationalism in current politics, we will consider the following questions: Should politics be based on concern for the individual or the nation? Do we have stronger duties to our nations and fellow citizens than to the rest of the world? If so, can we ignore other countries and focus on our own problems? Should foreign policy further the goals of nation-states or focus on global justice? Are nation-states necessary? How should we address the environment, immigration, and economic globalization?

Description
This course covers the conspiracies, uprisings, and wars that led to the independence of Haiti and the Latin American colonies of Spain and Portugal between 1780 and the 1898 withdrawal of Spain from Cuba. It focuses on the key military and political leaders of anti-colonial struggles conducted on a continental scale from the islands of the Caribbean to the Andean highlands and beyond. Military strategy and political tactics were decisively shaped by modern debates about the meaning of freedom in terms of slavery and national self-determination. No prior knowledge of Latin America and the Caribbean is required.

Description
This is an introductory course in applied social science that examines policy issues in developing countries, with a focus on applied research and statistical methods. The objectives of the course are threefold: 1) to introduce students to a range of topics and puzzles in international development; 2) to introduce the broad range of research methods that social scientists use to rigorously study development; and 3) to apply those tools to topics and data that you care about.

Description
Traces evolution of Russian Federation foreign policy from the collapse of the Soviet Union at the beginning of the 1990s to the 2022 war in Ukraine. Examines elements of Russian grand strategy: military, economic (especially oil and gas), and diplomatic tools. Explores the role of one individual, President Vladimir Putin, in shaping policy in an increasingly autocratic state. Focuses on Russia's relations with its neighbors, former allies, Europe, and the wider world, including the United States. Identifies linkages between domestic politics and events and foreign policy. Assignments focus on translating historical knowledge into actionable policy advice to meet current challenges.
POLSCI260A - Frontier City Berlin: Facing History's Great Challenges

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--------- | ------------------ | ----------
POLSCI | 260A | Frontier City Berlin: Facing History's Great Challenges

Description
This course deals with some of the great challenges and conflicts of the 20th and 21st century, such as capitalism vs. communism; authoritarian vs. democratic governance, and focuses on Berlin as a city at the forefront of historic struggles. In particular, it treats Berlin as the site of the first socialist revolution in a highly industrialized nation (1918/19); the rise of fascism amidst an advanced urban culture, the legacy of world war and totalitarian rule; the Cold War division of Berlin; the fall of communism and the crises of capitalism; and the search for an environmentally sustainable future. Offered in English in the Duke-in-Berlin summer program.

POLSCI262 - The Holocaust

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--------- | ------------------ | ----------
POLSCI | 262 | The Holocaust

Description
Antisemitism and the Jewish question in Central Europe, the development of Nazi policy, the Final Solution in its different sites (ghetto, labor camps, extermination camps) and institutions (SS, Judenrat), the Holocaust's legacy. Historiographical debates and documentary research.

POLSCI263 - The Political History of Modern Architecture: From Revolution through Neoliberalism

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--------- | ------------------ | ----------
POLSCI | 263 | The Political History of Modern Architecture: From Revolution through Neoliberalism

Description
Given the needs for labor, materials, and legal permissions, architects in the modern period by definition intersect with interests of power. This course explores the role of political institutions and ideologies in the history of modern architecture. While the course focuses on European and North American examples, we will also include key case studies of non-Euroamerican architecture and politics. The course provides a foundational knowledge of the history of modern architecture as well as how political institutions and ideologies have influenced that development.

POLSCI264S - Democratic Erosion

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--------- | ------------------ | ----------
POLSCI | 264S | Democratic Erosion

Description
The course is divided into two broad modules. The first module begins by defining democracy and democratic erosion, and then surveys six substantive themes. Each of the first five substantive themes addresses one of the causes, symptoms, and/or consequences of democratic erosion; the sixth—resistance—explores mechanisms for defending democracy from the threat of erosion. In the second module, regional or country case studies are discussed in greater depth. We conclude by returning to the case of the US and our own unique political moment.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI265S</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>265S</td>
<td>Introduction to American Political Thought</td>
<td>Basic elements of the American political tradition examined through a critical analysis of the ethical and political issues and controversies that developed from its historical English roots to the present day.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI267</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>267</td>
<td>Religion and Politics in American History</td>
<td>This course surveys the complex entanglements of religion and politics from the colonial era through the current day. Topics covered include: religious liberty and toleration, secularization, the rise of African-American churches, the Civil War, national identity and the Protestant establishment, the religious politics of women's rights, religion and the market, the Cold War, the civil rights movement, the religious left and right, debates over church-state separation, constructions of religious pluralism, religion after 9/11, and the rise of Christian nationalism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI268</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>268</td>
<td>Politics and Literature</td>
<td>The enduring questions of ethical and political issues and controversies as expressed in political philosophy and politics and as illustrated in literature. Comparative historical, literary, and philosophical analysis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI270</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>270</td>
<td>Ambition and Politics</td>
<td>An examination of the role of great ambition for good and for ill in politics. Readings include Homer’s Iliad, Plutarch’s Life of Alexander the Great, Machiavelli’s The Prince, Shakespeare’s Macbeth, Rosenbaum’s Hitler: The Origin of His Evil, and biographical material on Nelson Mandela.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI272</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>272</td>
<td>Human Rights in Theory and Practice</td>
<td>The nature and value of human rights; examining some major debates over their status and meaning and assessing the role which the idea of human rights has played in changing lives, practices, and institutions. Questions considered include: whether commitments to human rights depend on a belief in moral truth; whether the idea of universal human rights makes sense in a culturally diverse world; and what forms of social action are most likely to achieve respect for human rights.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI273</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>273</td>
<td>The Middle East Through Film</td>
<td>Film as access into the region through a series of direct as well as poetic connections woven across films viewed, filmmakers featured, lectures, discussions, and texts read. By means of the integration of course components and students’ weekly responses, an understanding of the region is developed by way of inquiry into and rigorous engagement with cultural production. From feature length films to shorts, the breadth of the work we will engage with includes documentaries, dramas, and less traditional forms. A substantial midterm paper, and a final project to be in the form of one of three potential possibilities subject to approval of proposal: a paper, a talk, a short film.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI274S - Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present

Subject  POLSCI
Catalog Number  274S
Title  Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present

Description
Scholars, pundits and historical actors have long drawn parallels between the United States & South Africa—two countries founded on the premises of racial inequality. This course explores the machinations of race from the quickening of industrial development to present. We will consider the benefits and pitfalls of thinking comparatively. Topics include segregation, transatlantic cultural exchanges, living apartheid and Jim Crow, government surveillance of political opponents, the American anti-apartheid movement, mass incarceration and privatization of prisons, memory and the struggles for social change as well as the persistence of racial inequality in two country’s contemporary societies.

POLSCI275 - Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Subject  POLSCI
Catalog Number  275
Title  Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Description
Analysis of liberalism, conservatism, socialism, and their diverse conceptions of justice, freedom, community, and equality. Exploration of how these political philosophies interpret various social, religious, and political issues. The origins of these ideologies in early modern European thought.

POLSCI275S - Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Subject  POLSCI
Catalog Number  275S
Title  Left, Right, and Center: Competing Political Ideals

Description
Analysis of liberalism, conservatism, socialism, and their diverse conceptions of justice, freedom, community, and equality. Exploration of how these political philosophies interpret various social, religious, and political issues. The origins of these ideologies in early modern European thought.

POLSCI276 - Contemporary Documentary Film: Filmmakers and the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival

Subject  POLSCI
Catalog Number  276
Title  Contemporary Documentary Film: Filmmakers and the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival

Description
Integrated with the films and filmmakers of the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival. The art form, style, and technology of contemporary documentary films. Issues of autonomy and power, politics, and public policies. Analysis of outstanding films from around the world. Presentations and discussions by filmmakers.
POLSCI277D - The Ethics of War: Self-Defense, Humanitarian Intervention, Terrorism and Law

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
POLSCI | 277D | The Ethics of War: Self-Defense, Humanitarian Intervention, Terrorism and Law

Description
Examines ethical questions of war: 1) when are you justified in taking up arms and killing others?; 2) what limits, if any, does morality place on how wars can be prosecuted?; 3) what is required of combatants in the aftermath of conflict?; 4) how do the existence of international laws and institutions affect our answers to these questions? Will also consider the ethical dilemmas raised by the following issues: preemptive invasions, terrorism, cyber and nuclear weapons, and unmanned drones. Readings include classic and modern works of just war theory.

POLSCI278 - Roman Political Thought and Its Modern Legacy

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
POLSCI | 278 | Roman Political Thought and Its Modern Legacy

Description
Why does Rome still capture the imagination of modern political commentators and theorists? This course examines Roman political thought as it was conceived under the Republic, reimagined under the Empire, and transformed by Christianity. Topics may include the Roman constitution, liberty, equality, property, slavery, rights, citizenship, civil religion, political corruption, rhetoric, imperialism, just war theory, and cosmopolitanism.

POLSCI279 - Professionalization and the Job Search

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
POLSCI | 279 | Professionalization and the Job Search

Description
What will you do with your Duke political science degree? This course will prepare you for your (professional) life after leaving Duke, equipping you with the knowledge, tools, and confidence to thrive in your post-Duke career. The class is tailored for those interested in pursuing internships offered in the following summer.

POLSCI280T - Applied Sociology Research

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
---|---|---
POLSCI | 280T | Applied Sociology Research

Description
Project-based course in which undergraduate and graduate students work collaboratively to produce a significant public-facing research product drawing on sociological contexts and methods. Topics vary depending on section. Students will gain a conceptual understanding of the project topic, develop research plans, conduct new research, and develop a final product containing significant analysis and interpretation (e.g., exhibits, databases, white papers, data visualizations). Graduate students will mentor undergraduate students and take leadership roles in facilitating projects. Some courses will continue in a two-semester sequence. Instructor consent required.
POLSCI281T - Applied Sociology Research

Description
Project-based course in which undergraduate and graduate students work collaboratively to produce a significant public-facing research product drawing on sociological contexts and methods. Topics vary depending on section. Students will gain a conceptual understanding of the project topic, develop research plans, conduct new research, and develop a final product containing significant analysis and interpretation (e.g., exhibits, databases, white papers, data visualizations). Graduate students will mentor undergraduate students and take leadership roles in facilitating projects. Some courses will continue in a two-semester sequence. Instructor consent required.

POLSCI282A - Duke Summer Program: Oxford

Description
Political System of Modern Britain. Open only to students in the Duke Summer Program: Oxford.

POLSCI288S - Transformative Ideas: Power, Theater, and Politics

Description
What is power? How is it created, transferred, or lost within a polity? What happens when one entity seizes power from another? Must violence always be at the center of that event, or can shared culture animate the accumulation and maintenance of power in a society? This Transformative Ideas seminar examines how insights in political theory and theater studies have addressed these questions. Concepts include ambition; sovereignty; violence and coercion; collectivism, especially nationalism; and rhetoric. Key writers include Aristotle; Plato; Machiavelli; Sophocles; Shakespeare; Weber; Arendt; Douglass; Soyinka; Alfred Jarry; Caryl Churchill; June Jordan, and Lynn Nottage.

POLSCI288SA - Political Polarization in Contemporary Western Democracies

Description
This seminar seeks to understand current developments in societal polarization in France, Germany, the UK, and the US, with particular attention to how specific political processes benefit or hamper political polarization.

POLSCI290 - Special Topics in Political Science

Description
Special topics in political science.

POLSCI290A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Political Science

Description
Topics differ by section.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>290D</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Science</td>
<td>Special topics in political science with discussion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Science</td>
<td>Special topics in political science seminar.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>291-1</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Independent Study Political Theory</td>
<td>Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member. Offered only in areas of study not otherwise provided in department course offerings, and with the direct approval and sponsorship of a faculty member. Will not generally be offered unless student has first established an extensive record of work with the faculty member. Written permission of faculty member, and detailed description of course of directed study, required before contacting the Director of Undergraduate Studies for permission number. Fulfills a political theory course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>291-2</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Independent Study Political Institutions</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 291-1 except fulfills a political institutions course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>291-3</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Independent Study Security Peace and Conflict</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 291-1 except fulfills a security, peace and conflict course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>291-4</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Independent Study Political Behavior and Identities</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 291-1 except fulfills a political behavior and identities course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>291-5</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Independent Study Political Methodology</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 291-1 except fulfills a political methodology course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>291-6</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Independent Study Political Economy</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 291-1 except fulfills a political economy course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>292-1</td>
<td>Internship</td>
<td>Open to students engaging in practical or governmental work experience during the summer or a regular semester. A faculty member in the department will supervise a program of study related to the work experience, including a substantive paper on a politics-related topic, containing significant analysis and interpretation. Consent of director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>293A</td>
<td>Research Independent Study on Contemporary China</td>
<td>Research and field studies culminating in a paper approved and supervised by the resident director of the Duke in China program. Includes field trips on cultural and societal changes in contemporary China. Offered only in the Duke in China Program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>294A</td>
<td>Political Economy of Immigration</td>
<td>The regulation of labour immigration is among the most important and controversial public policy issues in high-income countries. Many countries in Europe and North America, including the UK and the US, have experienced very rapid increases in labour immigration over the past 20 years. Instructor consent is required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>295A</td>
<td>Environmental Policy in Europe: Duke in Berlin</td>
<td>Economic concepts and environmental policies with their application to selected environmental issues in Western and Eastern Europe, transboundary pollution problems, and the role of the European Community. Taught by a leading German expert in the Duke-in-Berlin fall semester program.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
296A

Title

Description
The political, military, and economic role of the reunified Germany within the European Union. Analysis of the political system of the Federal Republic of Germany and of the structure of the European Union. Taught by German faculty in the Duke-in-Berlin spring semester program.

---

POLSCI297A - Political Philosophy of Globalization

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
297A

Title
Political Philosophy of Globalization

Description
Examination of the claim made for and against the expansion of free exchange on economic, political, and cultural institutions and conditions, from the perspectives of competing ethical theories and political philosophies. Taught only in the Duke in Geneva Summer Study Abroad program.

---

POLSCI301S - Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
301S

Title
Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia

Description
As of 2016, only 11% of the countries in the world are liberal democracies. Some insight about how illiberal regimes function is a must to understand what is going on in the world. In this course, we explore illiberal and/or nondemocratic regimes of Eastern Europe and Asia—a perfect laboratory for the subject. We develop nuanced ideas about key concepts such as elections, representation, party rule, dictatorship, populism, patronalism, authoritarianism, and totalitarianism as well as the dilemmas of freedom, security, corruption, and development. We study the regimes of countries such as Hungary, Russia, Turkey, China and follow the news to see how political regimes evolve in real time.

---

POLSCI302 - Constitutional Law in the American Political Tradition

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
302

Title
Constitutional Law in the American Political Tradition

Description
The Constitution plays a preeminent role in U.S. political history and public discourse. Yet what does it mean for a government or policy to be constitutional—and why do we care so much? This course studies the concept of constitutionalism in the American political tradition. Why does the Constitution play such a significant role in American politics? What philosophical, moral, economic, and political considerations shaped our Constitution—and what might have been left out? What rights does the U.S. Constitution guarantee? How has our understanding of the Constitution—and its role in our republic—shifted over time?
POLSCI303D - Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
303D

Title
Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Description
An examination of the historical roots and current manifestations of religiously-justified violence and disenfranchisement, with a focus on the Abrahamic traditions (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam). The violence treated will include the expressly physical as well as the more insidiously existential, including political and cultural marginalization. Major loci of exploration will include gender and sexuality, Israel-Palestine, and the intersection of contemporary identities. Topics include the nature of extremisms within each tradition, the challenges of assimilation and 'modernity,' and the role and nature of citizenship and territory.

POLSCI304S - The Democratic Mission of American Higher Education

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
304S

Title
The Democratic Mission of American Higher Education

Description
This seminar will explore the purposes of American higher education, with a focus on the origins of higher education in this country and important period of institutional evolution. We will interrogate the relationship between democracy and higher education in two ways. First, by understanding how democracy provides the necessary conditions for higher education to pursue its core mission. Second, by looking at how higher education promotes democratic values. The course will pay particular attention to post WWII American higher education, with a focus on important contemporary debates on higher education issues.

POLSCI305S - Black Politics

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
305S

Title
Black Politics

Description
Course focuses on the evolution, nature, and role of African-Americans within the American political system. The concern is with African Americans as actors, creators and initiators in the political process. Beginning with an exploration of the historical antecedents of blackness in America, we will explore how the black experience in America has shaped the American political system (specifically public opinion, political institutions, political behavior, and salient public policy debates) and how black Americans have come to understand their position within the American political system.

POLSCI308 - Islam and the State: Political Economy of Governance in the Middle East

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
308

Title
Islam and the State: Political Economy of Governance in the Middle East

Description
Lecture version of Economics 326S. Introduction to political history of Middle East from advent of Islam 14 centuries ago to modern era. Four objectives: (1) familiarize students with institutions responsible for characteristics of political development in region; (2) examine particular transformations/selected cases of inertia to derive lessons about mechanisms that govern political development, including democratization; (3) investigate how religion shaped region's political trajectory; (4) identify social forces, especially economic forces, driving contemporary rediscovery/reinterpretation of Islam's political organization and requirements, by both Islamists and secular political actors.
POLSCI310 - Political Analysis for Public Policy-Making

Description
Analysis of the political and organizational processes which influence the formulation and implementation of public policy. Alternative models. Prerequisite: Public Policy 155D.

POLSCI313S - Social Movements in Age of Globalization

Description
Study of primary models and theories of social movements developed in fields of Sociology and Political Science. Readings provide vocabulary and conceptual framework for understanding how people organize, how social movements use media, role of leadership, meaning of success, and several other basic issues. Focus on social movements of last few decades. Students will conduct group projects on a selected contemporary social movement. Contemporary social movements considered include Occupy, 15M movement in Spain, Gezi Park encampment in Turkey, urban protests in Brazil, and Arab Spring uprisings.

POLSCI315S - Political Economy of Financial Crises

Description
Exploration of the political economy of financial crises with central theoretical emphasis on the role of ideas, institutions, and interests. Addresses causes of banking, currency and debt crises as well as their political consequences—both national and international. Geographical and historical coverage will be relatively broad, spanning historical cycles of financial crisis as well as specific boom and bust episodes involving Latin America, Asia, the United States, and countries of the Eurozone.

POLSCI317 - Global Corruption

Description
Inquiry into causes and political, social, and economic effects of corruption worldwide, with focus on developing countries. Analysis of prospects of success in anticorruption reform and prescriptions for hurrying it along. Examination of role of political institutions, social norms, multinational firms, international organizations, grassroots activists. Readings include legal research, case studies, statistical analyses, policy reports. Prior coursework in political science a prerequisite, basic understanding of multivariate statistics helpful but not required.

POLSCI318 - Congress and the President

Description
Critical interpretations of public policies and institutional practices to better understand the United States system of divided government. Special attention to understanding the consequences of cooperative and adversarial goals of the executive branch and the Congress. Features of this institutional balance of power in policy-making; institutional and political origins of laws and regulations.

POLSCI319S - US Comparative State Politics

Description
Intensive comparative examination of government, political cultures, and politics in the American States, including institutions (governors, legislatures, courts), history of federalism, policies, practices, and diverse cultural factors such as class, race, ethnicity, gender, religion, urban-rural-suburban residencies that affect state politics. DukeImmerse students only. Instructor consent required.
POLSCI 321 - International Law and International Institutions

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 321
Title International Law and International Institutions

Description
The relationship between international politics and international law; how international institutions operate and affect social practices, and how legalization of institutions changes the manner of interpretation of legal texts. The nature of legal and political discourse over issues subject to international law such as human rights; issues of compliance with rules, the connections between international relations and domestic law, and the overall effects of international law and institutions on world politics; cross-national differences in attitudes toward issues such as environmental regulation, trade liberalization, and military intervention on behalf of human rights. Prerequisite: Political Science 160 or equivalent.

---

POLSCI 322 - Introduction to Middle East Politics

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 322
Title Introduction to Middle East Politics

Description
Introduction to political systems, processes, movements, and conflicts in the Middle East.

---

POLSCI 324S - Chinese Politics

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 324S
Title Chinese Politics

Description
Inquiry into politics and policy in contemporary China. Equal focus on political fundamentals and major new policy challenges. Political fundamentals include communist party, elite politics, policy process, political culture, legal reform, representation, interest groups, protests, political dissidence. Policy challenges include economic growth, socioeconomic inequality, political corruption, social media, human rights, population planning, environmental degradation, minority nationalities, China as global player. Course does not assume prior knowledge about China. Prior coursework in political science or policy helpful but not required.

---

POLSCI 325 - Demystifying Academia: The Hidden Curriculum of Graduate School and the Professoriate

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 325
Title Demystifying Academia: The Hidden Curriculum of Graduate School and the Professoriate

Description
The course is designed for students who seek to apply to and attend graduate school, obtain their Ph.D., and live the life of the mind as a professor. The course has three main goals. First, we will gain a foothold of the various processes that are involved in graduate admissions through accepting an offer to attend graduate school. Second, we will consider the hidden curriculum of graduate school and academia, more broadly. Finally, we will learn some of the nuts and bolts of the research process as well as develop/enhance good habits and skills of those who write well and consistently.
POLSCI327S - The Economic and Political Performance of Civilizations

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 327S
Title: The Economic and Political Performance of Civilizations

Description
Critical survey of theories concerning the economic and political development of major civilizations, with an emphasis on the causes of differences that took shape and persisted over long time periods. The theories covered address the roles of institutions, cultures, legal systems, beliefs, family structures, religions, institutions, technologies, geography, and natural resources. Interactions between economic and political development. Prerequisite: Econ 201D, or instructor consent.

---

POLSCI328 - Statecraft and Strategy

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 328
Title: Statecraft and Strategy

Description
Introduces students to the history of how leaders have seen the world and tried to shape it in war and peace. Begins with examination of foundational texts in the history of strategy from around the world. Lectures focus on case studies in diplomatic and military history from the ancient to the contemporary world and spanning the globe. Explores how changes in technology and society have impacted statecraft. Introduces students to the concept of strategy and its applications in statecraft and other fields such as activism, business, and politics. Assignments focus on applying the lessons of history to challenges facing the United States and other countries today.

---

POLSCI329S - Politics in Violence

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 329S
Title: Politics in Violence

Description
Exploration of the role of violence in politics. What is the role of violence in the formation and consolidation of states? What is the relationship between violence and political regimes? In-depth analysis of the varieties of political violence in contemporary world: terrorism, coups, riots, wars, protest violence, revolutions. Combination of theoretical analysis and empirical exploration of cases. Exploration of non-violent forms of resistance and protest. Reading responses and final research paper required.

---

POLSCI330 - Quantitative Political Inquiry and Evaluation

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 330
Title: Quantitative Political Inquiry and Evaluation

Description
Theory and practice of causal inference in political science research and policy impact evaluation. Students master how to test hypotheses and evaluate the substantive impacts of policy treatments using regression, experimental and survey techniques. Also develop skills in software applications such as Stata and R. Assigned texts assist learning of both the quantitative methods and how they are applied in practice and assignments emphasize practical applications. Prerequisites: Statistics 101 or higher; first semester of calculus (Mathematics 21, 111L or 121).

---

POLSCI331 - Prisoner's Dilemma and Distributive Justice

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 331
Title: Prisoner's Dilemma and Distributive Justice

Description
Economic, political, and philosophical perspectives on distribution justice and the problems in each discipline raised by variations on the prisoner's dilemma. Classic texts include Hobbes and Hume, Smith and Mill, Rawls and Nozick. Gateway course to the Politics, Philosophy, and Economics certificate program. Recommended prerequisite: Economics 101 and a course in ethics or political philosophy.

---

POLSCI332 - Games and Politics

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 332
Title: Games and Politics

Description
Applications of modern decision theory to the study of political science. Topics include: individual decision theory and rational choice; game theory and human interaction; and social choice theory and the mechanisms by which individual choices are aggregated into collective ones. Political institutions such as voting rules, legislatures, parties, and hierarchy, alternative voting methods and political institutions, and how societies solve some practical distributive problems. Although course has no mathematical prerequisites, students should be willing to consider abstract models and follow logically rigorous arguments. Not open to students who have taken Political Science 671S.
POLSCI333S - Democracy and Social Choice

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
333S

Title
Democracy and Social Choice

Description
Course introduces students to the study of social choice and democratic theory. Social choice theory studies the properties of political institutions by which individual preferences are aggregated into collective choices. It provides a useful and powerful analytical framework to understand the choice and consequence of political institutions in democratic political systems. Topics include voting methods and theories, electoral systems, theoretical properties of social choice functions, strategic voting, voter qualifications, politics of suffrage, secret vs. open ballot, voting restrictions, representative districting, voting fraud, voting technology, etc.

POLSCI334 - How to Rule the World: Empire and Global Governance from Greece to America

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
334

Title
How to Rule the World: Empire and Global Governance from Greece to America

Description
From Babylon and Persia to Greece and Rome, empires have risen and fallen, but they always seem to make a comeback. Their defenders point to the stability they bring to a chaotic world. Their detractors point to the harsh rule required to maintain them. This course will explore arguments for and against empire, drawing on history, philosophy, and political theory, with a special focus on the Greeks and Romans. Then, in light of the parallel problems of empire and global governance, we will ask what lessons we can learn for the practice of international affairs today. Contemporary topics will include global institutions, foreign intervention, East Asia policy, and NATO and Eastern Europe.

POLSCI335S - Economic, Political, and Social Institutions

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
335S

Title
Economic, Political, and Social Institutions

Description
Considers the following questions in the context of both formal and informal institutions across the social, political and economic worlds: What is an institution? How do institutions arise? How do institutions persist? And how can institutions change? Specific institutions that serve as topics include: Prison gangs, same-sex marriage, capitalism, peace agreements, and many more. Students complete a project in which they study a real-world problem of their choice from an institutional perspective. Projects culminate in a detailed proposal to affect institutional change to solve the problem.

POLSCI336S - Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
336S

Title
Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa

Description
This course uses a comparative framework to assess race in two societies founded on premises of racial inequality: South Africa and the United States. We will explore some of the social, cultural and political exchanges that have taken place between African Americans and Black South Africans over the course of the twentieth century. Additional topics include segregation, twentieth century struggles for civil rights/liberation, the American anti-apartheid movement, and the possibilities for restitution.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>337S</td>
<td>Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy</td>
<td>Working through an array of diverse organizations – including the African National Congress, the Pan African Congress, the Black Consciousness Movement, a host of liberal organizations, the churches, the trade union federations, and countless more - South Africans fought against apartheid from its inception. In 1994 they achieved a multi-racial democracy led by President Nelson Mandela. This seminar explores key themes in post-World War II South African history, paying special attention to the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, while analyzing the tenets of apartheid policies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>338</td>
<td>Political Economy of South East Asia</td>
<td>Course studies the history, political institutions, and economic development of South East Asia. Topics include the history of the region including the pre-colonial period, forms of colonialism, the impact of World War II, the struggles for independence, nationalism, and communism, and the impact of the Asian Financial Crisis; tools of political economy to place the countries in a broader comparative perspective; and issues of great powers in South East Asia and the growing influence of political Islam in the region.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>340D</td>
<td>The Modern Regulatory State</td>
<td>Interdisciplinary inquiry into the origins/evolution of modern regulatory institutions in Western Europe and North America, along with the more recent rise of global regulatory bodies. Examines conceptual frameworks from across the social sciences, and considers the ethical dimensions of current debates over regulatory purposes, strategies, and policies in areas such as finance and the environment.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>341S</td>
<td>Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab</td>
<td>An exploration of human rights advocacy from a legal, political science and comparative perspective. Will focus on issues related to corporate accountability. A core component of the course will include a human rights 'lab' in which students work in teams on policy-oriented projects, potentially in collaboration with community partners.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>342</td>
<td>Strategy and Politics</td>
<td>Introduction to the application of rational choice analysis (or economic models) to the study of political phenomena. Topics include social choice theory, legislative voting, problems of cooperation and collective action, and public choice theory. Familiarity with algebra and geometric reasoning required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>345</td>
<td>Experimental Political Science</td>
<td>Hands-on introduction to experimental work in political science. Course divided into thirds. First third: what are political science theories and how can we test them? Second third: political science in the lab. We'll use behavioral games and incentivized experiments to explore political behavior; students will formulate, run, and write up results from their own game, using classmates as subjects. Last third: political science in the field. We'll turn to survey and field experiments to address external validity; students will create, field, and write up results from their own survey.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI346 - Business, Politics, and Economic Growth

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
346

Title
Business, Politics, and Economic Growth

Description
The historical origins of political institutions affecting economic growth across advanced capitalist countries in Europe, America, and East Asia: capital markets, labor relations, research and development policy, social policy; effect of globalization and technological change on these nationally diverse arrangements; global convergence of corporate governance, national divergence of labor relations, research and development policies, and social policies.

POLSCI348 - Global Environmental Politics

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
348

Title
Global Environmental Politics

Description
This course examines the international community's responses to various global environmental problems. Because many environmental problems cross national borders, solutions require some form of global governance such as state-led mechanisms in the form of international environmental regimes. The course will thus explore how and why states both succeed and fail to negotiate international governance mechanisms. The course will also examine why some international environmental regimes are more effective than others and why states choose to comply with environmental regimes.

POLSCI348D - Global Environmental Politics

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
348D

Title
Global Environmental Politics

Description
This course examines the international community's responses to various global environmental problems. Because many environmental problems cross national borders, solutions require some form of global governance such as state-led mechanisms in the form of international environmental regimes. The course will thus explore how and why states both succeed and fail to negotiate international governance mechanisms. The course will also examine why some international environmental regimes are more effective than others and why states choose to comply with environmental regimes.

POLSCI349 - Political Economy of Latin America

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
349

Title
Political Economy of Latin America

Description
Study of interaction between politics and economies in Latin America with central emphasis on political correlates of alternative strategies of economic development, the impact of global economic forces on domestic policy choice, and interrelationships among political institutions, electoral choice, public policy, and economic performance. Topics include financial meltdowns, market-oriented reform, democratic transitions, ethnic mobilization, and rise of leftist-populism in the region. Readings will combine discussion of specific countries with broader theoretical literature addressing major debates in study of political economy of development.
POLSCI350 - International Political Economy

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 350
Title International Political Economy

Description
Examination of the politics of international economic relations from the perspective of both advanced industrialized and developing countries. Focus on international trade; money and finance; multinational corporations and global value chains; foreign aid and the politics of development; distributional consequences of economic globalization; and the role of power and institutions in the governance of world economy.

POLSCI352S - U.S. Policy in the Middle East

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 352S
Title U.S. Policy in the Middle East

Description
U.S. foreign policy: Middle East; Arab-Israeli-Palestinian conflict; oil and security; cold war; military cooperation and intervention; aid and democracy promotion; Iran, the Arab Spring; realism vs. liberalism in US foreign policy.

POLSCI351 - Economic History and Modernization of the Islamic Middle East

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 351
Title Economic History and Modernization of the Islamic Middle East

Description
Economic development of the Middle East from the rise of Islam to the present. Transformation of the region from an economically advanced area into part of the underdeveloped world. Role of religion in economic successes and failures. Obstacles to development today. Topics: Islamic economic institutions, economic roles of Islamic law, innovation and change, political economy of modernization, interactions with other regions, economic consequences of Islamism. Prerequisite: Economics 101 or 21 and 22 or instructor consent.

POLSCI353 - Globalization of Democracy

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 353
Title Globalization of Democracy

Description
The past three decades have witnessed an unprecedented upsurge in democratic forms of rule in Asia, Africa, Eastern Europe, Latin America, and Middle East. Course explores reasons for this global pattern of political change, analyzes the process of political transition in a variety of empirical settings, and provides comparative perspective on challenges facing political leaders in new democracies.

POLSCI355S - Michel Foucault and Theories of Power

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 355S
Title Michel Foucault and Theories of Power

Description
This seminar is aimed at understanding Michel Foucault's innovative theories of how political and social power functions and is organized. Foucault reoriented the understanding of power from a centralized, state-centered attribute to a series of practices distributed in different social institutions. We will approach his theoretical propositions through his writings on the history of the prison and the history of sexuality, along with his journalistic accounts of the revolutionary movement in Iran.

POLSCI357S - Refugee Policy and Practice (DukeImmerse)

Subject POLSCI
Catalog Number 357S
Title Refugee Policy and Practice (DukeImmerse)

Description
Uses current debates around refugee law and policy as the context in which to develop basic quantitative research design and analysis skills. Course may include data collection with resettled refugee locally and in Jordan and in Nepal. Only open to DukeImmerse students. Instructor consent required.
POLSCI358 - Globalization and Public Policy

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 358
Title: Globalization and Public Policy

Description: How the various aspects of globalization affect and are affected by public policy at the international, national and local levels. Development of an analytic framework for thinking about globalization and its core concepts, major institutions and political dynamics; survey of a range of major policy areas affected by globalization; focus on a policy area of particular interest.

POLSCI359S - Social Engineering and Social Movements in Eastern Europe and Asia

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 359S
Title: Social Engineering and Social Movements in Eastern Europe and Asia

Description: Combining perspectives of political sociology and history, this course questions the respective roles of state policies and social movements in transforming societies. Explores concepts such as social engineering, violence, revolution, totalitarianism, social movements, non-violent resistance, collective action and many others in historically-informed case studies of: colonialism/anticolonial movements (passive resistance and nationalism) in India; revolutionary communism, socialist reconstruction of society, everyday resistance and collective dissent in the Soviet Bloc; authoritarian capitalism and dissent in the form of environmentalist and anti-corruption movements in post-Maoist China.

POLSCI361 - Political and Criminal Armed Groups

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 361
Title: Political and Criminal Armed Groups

Description: Course introduces students to a research agenda on armed groups that operate in the context of intra-state armed conflict or organized crime. Primary focus lies on how political and criminal armed groups interact with state agents and with civilian populations; how they recruit and maintain control over their members; how and why their internal institutions and their strategies of violence vary; and what the consequences of these patterns are. Also explore the role of the state, particularly when it comes to the effects of wartime repression, mass incarceration, and the war on drugs.

POLSCI362 - International Security

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 362
Title: International Security

Description: The various causes, processes and impacts of international conflict in contemporary international affairs. Topics include: causes of war; factors that make international conflict more or less likely; domestic politics of international security; impacts of scientific and technological developments; ethical arguments and beliefs associated with the use of violence; contemporary and non-traditional security threats. No formal prerequisite, but Political Science 160 recommended.
POLSCI364 - Political Violence, Repression, and Organized Crime

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 364
Title: Political Violence, Repression, and Organized Crime

Description: This course introduces students to a research agenda on intra-state armed conflict, repression, and organized crime. The primary focus lies on how political and criminal armed groups interact with state agents and with civilian populations; how they recruit and maintain control over their members; how and why their internal institutions and their strategies of violence vary; and what the consequences of these patterns are. The course also explores the role of the state, particularly when it comes to the effects of wartime repression, mass incarceration, and the war on drugs. Not open to students who have taken Political Science 361.

POLSCI365D - Foreign Policy of the United States

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 365D
Title: Foreign Policy of the United States

Description: Internal and external sources of American Foreign Policy, including the role of ethnicity, nationality, and distinct world views of Americans and other peoples. The formulation and conduct of American foreign policy in different historical periods with an examination of foreign policy in the post-Cold War era and prospects for alternative futures. Instruction is provided in two lectures and one small discussion meeting each week.

POLSCI367DS - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 367DS
Title: Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description: Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.

POLSCI367S - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 367S
Title: Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description: Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>368S</td>
<td>Contemporary South Africa</td>
<td>Nelson Mandela’s presidency in 1994 inaugurated democracy in South Africa. Using a historical lens, this course will explore the promises, possibilities, and disappointments of the democratic era. In what ways has the 1994 election slogan ‘A better life for all’ come to pass? Why and in what ways has the new political elite fallen short in delivering on its promises? How have segments of the public sought to impose accountability and restitution on new democratic governments, as well as on the long-standing titans of industry?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>371</td>
<td>Marxism and Society</td>
<td>Introduction to Marx’s core concepts, such as alienation, commodity, and revolution. Includes examination of Marx’s own major historical &amp; political analyses, his economic texts, and his philosophical writings. Students also gain familiarity with the role of Marxist thought in different fields and disciplines, including feminist theory, anthropology, history, political science, and literary studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>372S</td>
<td>Sex, Politics and Feminist Philosophy</td>
<td>Provides a philosophical framework to think about issues of sex, gender and their political implications. Comparison between different historical traditions and methods. Study of a variety of feminist approaches and their critiques. Study of related questions, such as pornography, prostitution and multiculturalism. Readings include Mill, Beauvoir, Butler, Foucault and contemporary analytical philosophy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>373</td>
<td>Law and Politics</td>
<td>Examination of the nature and functions of law and legal institutions through critical interpretation of legal texts and practices. Relationships among bench, bar, legislators, and administrators in the development of public as well as private law. Attention to judicial reasoning used in the resolution of cases and controversies involving the common law, statutes including selected aspects of civil procedure, and the American Constitution.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>374S</td>
<td>Watchdog News and Storytelling: Changing Forms of Accountability Journalism</td>
<td>Focus on evolving styles of explanatory reporting and investigative journalism. Practice fundamental research and writing techniques that journalists use to reveal complex issues and hold powerful institutions and people accountable. Identify sources, develop interviewing skills, and tap public records. Analyze stories that can serve as engaging models for your assignments, such as fact-checks, solutions-focused articles, and first-person accounts that turn the reporting process into a narrative device. Learn about editorial rules and writing conventions, including their ethical underpinnings and the role of objective methods. Talk with guest journalists about their experiences.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>375</td>
<td>News as a Moral Battleground</td>
<td>Ethical inquiry into journalism and its effect on public discourse. Issues include accuracy, transparency, conflicts of interest and fairness. Topics include coverage of national security, government secrecy, plagiarism/fabrication, and trade-offs of anonymous sourcing.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI377AS - Classical and Contemporary Political Theory

Description
Examines crucial debates in classical and contemporary political thought, especially question of individual freedom, from end of English Civil War to present day. Equips students with theoretical expertise to make persuasive arguments of their own. Not open to students who have taken Philosophy 207, Political Science 223, or Political Science 224. If you take this course you cannot get credit for Philosophy 207, Political Science 223, or Political Science 224. Open only to students in the Duke in Oxford program. Consent of instructor required.

POLSCI378 - Marx, Nietzsche, Freud

Description
A critical examination and assessment of the thought of Marx, Nietzsche, and Freud: revolutionary theory and practice; nihilism and the challenge of overcoming it; the hidden foundations of the self and of culture.

POLSCI379S - Religion and Politics in Post-Revolutionary Iran

Description
The relationship between religion and politics; Islam and politics; Islamic political theology and ethics; stages of Shi’ite Islam and politics; Iran between two revolutions; political Islam; Khomeini’s political thought; Iranian Constitution; tension between theocracies, secularism, and democracy; quasi-democracy and elections; expediency and secularization; civil and Islamic law; Muslim fundamentalists, traditionalists, and reformists; from competitive electoral to the non-competitive electoral authoritarian regime; women’s rights; religious and ethnic minorities; foreign policy; revolutionary guards; Khomenei and Khamenei administrations; the future of Islamic republic of Iran.

POLSCI380 - Ancient Athenian Law

Description
Introduction to ancient Athenian law. Read and discuss court speeches from real trials held 2000+ years ago. Topics range from homicide and banking, citizenship to assault, slavery to inheritance, religion to sexuality, political amnesty to judicial torture. Explore, through in-class discussion, theory and practice of law, aspects of social, economic, political, and cultural history visible through law in action, relationship between Athenian law and Athenian democracy.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>381</td>
<td>Ancient Roman Law</td>
<td>Introduction to Roman law, from the Twelve Tables to the Code of Justinian. Students read Roman texts in translation, learn how to use legal texts as sources for Roman history and society, and make connections between Roman law and modern legal systems. No previous knowledge of Latin or Roman history is required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>382</td>
<td>Violent Jihad in the Twentieth Century - A Global History</td>
<td>This course focuses on the history of Muslim groups and social movements which are often regarded as politically fundamentalists or radical in the twenty-first century Middle East. We shall critically survey the intellectual origins of radical ideologies, the social history of the ‘Muslim Brotherhood’ in Egypt and Syria, the politics of Saudi Arabia, the rise of Hizbullah, the question of the caliphate, the interaction between foreign intervention and the approval of violence as a legitimate means in politics, a history of al-Qaeda, and finally of what we know about ISIS.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>383</td>
<td>Gender and Political Theory</td>
<td>Feminist analyses of and engagements with some of the canonical texts and traditional concepts of Western political theory. Feminist contributions to, challenges to, and revisions of the terms of key conceptual and political debates in political theory.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>384</td>
<td>Inequality in Western Political Thought</td>
<td>Study of egalitarian and inegalitarian theories in the history of Western Political Thought. Distinction between forms of inequality (political, economic, social, racial, gender, etc.). Analysis of what kind of equality should be achieved (resources, opportunities, rights, respect, etc.). Connection of equality with other political and moral issues (freedom, responsibility, class conflict, well-being, poverty, exclusion, solidarity, difference, etc.). Readings include Aristotle, Machiavelli, Locke, Rousseau, Smith, Wollstonecraft, Tocqueville, Marx, Veblen, Du Bois, Friedman, Rawls, and Piketty.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>387</td>
<td>Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Explores friendship and why it matters in the frenzied world of 'likes' and 'swipes.' The average Facebook user has 155 friends. Instagram added a 'Close Friends' feature to distinguish friends from followers. Social media has weakened our sense of friendship. Still, Facebook users say that, of those 155 friends, they would trust only four in a crisis. Pursues the importance of friendship, not only as a place of private refuge but as a relationship of trust that facilitates insight and innovation and that has public purchase. Classes center on conversations between pairs of friends who bring their friendship, their work, and their imaginations to bear on the shape of the world in the future.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>388</td>
<td>Information, Technology, Ethics and Policy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The evolution of the Internet and other information technologies and the related policies and regulations that have emerged both internationally and nationally (in the United States). The tensions surrounding the access to information and the controversies about content, such as issues of free speech. Includes an Internet monitoring project designed to encourage in-depth analysis in order to place technology and technology policy in their historical evolution and context. Explores the contemporary political and social impacts of the Internet and other information technologies.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Special topics in political science.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics in Political Theory. Topics vary from semester to semester.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Institutions</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Special topics in political institutions. Topics vary semester by semester.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390-3</td>
<td>Special Topics in Security, Peace and Conflict</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Special Topics in Security, Peace and Conflict. Topics vary from semester to semester.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390-4</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Behavior and Identities</td>
<td>Special topics in political behavior and identities. Topics vary from semester to semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390-5</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Methodology</td>
<td>Special topics in political methodology. Topics vary from semester to semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390-6</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Economy</td>
<td>Special topics in political economy. Topics vary from semester to semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390D-6</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Economy</td>
<td>Special topics in political economy. Topics vary from semester to semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Theory</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Theory. Same as Political Science 390-1 except in seminar format.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390S-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Institutions</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Institutions. Same as Political Science 390-2 except in seminar format.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390S-3</td>
<td>Special Topics in Security, Peace and Conflict</td>
<td>Special Topics in Security, Peace and Conflict. Same as Political Science 390-3 except in seminar format.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>390S-4</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Behavior and Identities</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Behavior and Identities. Same as Political Science 390-4 except in seminar format.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI390S-5 - Special Topics in Political Methodology

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 390S-5
Title: Special Topics in Political Methodology
Description: Special topics in political methodology. Same as Political Science 390-5 except in seminar format.

POLSCI390S-6 - Special Topics in Political Economy

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 390S-6
Title: Special Topics in Political Economy
Description: Special topics in political economy. Same as Political Science 390-6 except in seminar format.

POLSCI391-1 - Senior Independent Study in Political Theory

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 391-1
Title: Senior Independent Study in Political Theory
Description: Individual non-research directed study in a field of special interest under faculty member supervision. Offered only in areas of study not otherwise provided in department course offerings and with the direct approval and sponsorship of a faculty member. Will not generally be offered unless student has first established an extensive record of work with the faculty member. Written permission of faculty member and detailed description of course of directed study required before contacting the Director of Undergraduate Studies for permission number. Fulfills a political theory course requirement.

POLSCI391-2 - Senior Independent Study in Political Institutions

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 391-2
Title: Senior Independent Study in Political Institutions
Description: Same as Political Science 391-1 except fulfills a political institutions course requirement.

POLSCI391-3 - Senior Independent Study in Security, Peace and Conflict

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 391-3
Title: Senior Independent Study in Security, Peace and Conflict
Description: Same as Political Science 391-1 except fulfills a security, peace and conflict course requirement.

POLSCI391-4 - Senior Independent Study in Political Behavior and Identities

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 391-4
Title: Senior Independent Study in Political Behavior and Identities
Description: Same as Political Science 391-1 except fulfills a political behavior and identities course requirement.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI391-5</td>
<td>391-5</td>
<td>Senior Independent Study in Political Methodology</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 391-1 except fulfills a political methodology course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI391-6</td>
<td>391-6</td>
<td>Senior Independent Study in Political Economy</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 391-1 except fulfills a political economy course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI393-1</td>
<td>393-1</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Research Independent Study Political Theory</td>
<td>Individual directed research under the supervision of a faculty member. Central goal is substantive research paper or report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Offered only in areas of study not otherwise provided in department course offerings and with the direct approval and sponsorship of a faculty member. Will not generally be offered unless student has first established an extensive record of work with the faculty member. Written permission of faculty member and detailed description of course of directed study required before contacting the DUS for permission number. Fulfills a political theory course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI393-2</td>
<td>393-2</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Research Independent Study Political Institutions</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 393-1 except fulfills a political institutions course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI393-3</td>
<td>393-3</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Research Independent Study Security Peace and Conflict</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 393-1 except fulfills a security, peace, and conflict course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI393-4</td>
<td>393-4</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Research Independent Study Political Behavior and Identities</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 393-1 except fulfills a political behavior and identities course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>393-5</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Research Independent Study Political Methodology</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 393-1 except fulfills a political methodology course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>393-6</td>
<td>Sophomore/Junior Research Independent Study Political Economy</td>
<td>Same as Political Science 393-1 except fulfills a political economy course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>395A</td>
<td>Religion, Security and Global Citizenship in the Arab World</td>
<td>Examine how the Arab world is embodied in the global or world system of the 21st century. Learn the specific accents that inform its citizens and shape its prospects locally, regionally and internationally. Examine how the major Abrahamic traditions - Judaism, Christianity and Islam - had their historical origins in the eastern Mediterranean world, and how they continue to have adherents that populate the region and challenge the modern notion of citizenship. Explore how the current uprisings reflects the challenges of reconciling local aspirations with global forces. STUDY ABROAD: Duke in the Arab World Summer 2012</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>396S</td>
<td>Augustine's City of God</td>
<td>Study of the literary form and argument of Augustine’s epoch-making City of God: a rhetorical tour de force of consummate artistry and stunning originality and scope; and a political, religious, and moral critique of ancient Rome within a comparative, cross-cultural analytical framework that vindicates an alternative vision of society rooted in the Christian scriptures. City of God provides a remarkable example of sophisticated literary construction, rhetorical prowess, cross-cultural examination, and moral reflection. We focus on these four facets of a celebrated synthesis that breaks new ground in historiography, political science, and moral theory.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>401S</td>
<td>The Adventure of Citizenship: Lives of Civic Engagement</td>
<td>What does it mean to be a citizen and live a civic life? In this course students will integrate academic content with their own community based experiences to understand and critique their understandings of civic engagement and social change. Students will reflect on their Duke experience and begin to chart their post Duke futures. They will gain knowledge of the historical context of democratic citizenship, understanding of the relationship between theory and practice, and familiarity with the contestations of civic engagement that emerge from considerations of race, class, and gender. Students will undertake independent projects to study those who have lived civic lives.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>402S</td>
<td>Origins of WWI and WWII in Europe</td>
<td>Seminar will examine major scholarly works from History and Political Science that address the same question, namely, how can we explain the origins of World War I and World War II in Europe? Consider how these two disciplines explain why the Cold War did not escalate to full-blown war. Will provide students with an opportunity to undertake a significant research project, with opportunities to use one or another of the two disciplines or to undertake some form of integration across the two fields.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI406S - South African Life Histories

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
406S

Title
South African Life Histories

Description
South Africa presented the world with one of the great moral challenges of the 20th century. We will explore its history through the lens of biography and autobiography. The country underwent major transformations – rapid industrialization, segregation, the rise and fall of apartheid, and the emergence of democracy. How did individuals experience these social changes? In what ways do individual lives illuminate these larger social processes? Protagonists include a prophetess, political artists and writers, exiles, and celebrated figures. Topics cover how segregation and apartheid affected people’s daily lives, opposition to white supremacy, and the personal impact of the AIDS’s epidemic.

---

POLSCI415 - U.S-Russia Relations: 1991-2016

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
415

Title

Description
A survey of relations of United States with Russian Federation since break-up of the Soviet Union. Examines government policies, agreements and disagreements in foreign policy, internal political and economic developments in both countries, and also public opinion, cultural relations, and role of mass media. Lectures, readings (including source documents), and final research paper.

---

POLSCI421S - Constitutionalism and Crisis: From Catalina's Conspiracy to Covid

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
421S

Title
Constitutionalism and Crisis: From Catalina's Conspiracy to Covid

Description
Explores the relationship between constitutionalism and crisis, focusing on how crises shape constitution-making, how constitutional democracies operate during times of crisis, and how constitutional practice is shaped by crises.

---

POLSCI425 - Global Inequality Research

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
425

Title
Global Inequality Research

Description
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas: employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645 or 645S.

---

POLSCI425S - Global Inequality Research Seminar

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
425S

Title
Global Inequality Research Seminar

Description
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas: employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645S.

---

POLSCI427S - World in Your Hand

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
427S

Title
World in Your Hand

Description
Your chance to hold the (simulated) world in your hand. First half of class provides background and tools needed to create computational, simulation models of political, social, and economic phenomena. Second half provides practical experience with class-chosen group computational modeling project(s) that will be submitted for publication. No prior computer programming experience required or expected, and skills gained in class will translate beyond academia.
POLSCI428S - International Conflict Resolution

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 428S
Title: International Conflict Resolution

Description:
The origins of armed conflicts and the means to resolve them, with special attention to strategic interaction, international law and third-party conflict managers. Historical and contemporary case studies used to illustrate theories of the onset and termination of violence in both interstate and intrastate conflicts. Writing developed in a multi-part assessment of an ongoing conflict that include simulation of a peace process.

POLSCI431S - Reason and Passion in Politics

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 431S
Title: Reason and Passion in Politics

Description:
Explores the nature of mass politics in democracies through the distinction between reason and passion and the idea that a well-functioning democracy requires the triumph of cold deliberation over emotion and intuition. Discussion of classic texts on reason and passion from philosophy, politics, and psychology; dual-process models of political judgment and decision making; political belief updating and persistent disagreement over facts; moral psychology and political ideology; emotions and collective action.

POLSCI435S - Chinese Media and Popular Culture: Politics, Ideology, and Social Change

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 435S
Title: Chinese Media and Popular Culture: Politics, Ideology, and Social Change

Description:
Examines contemporary Chinese media traditional news press, radio and TV, new media such as the internet and social media, and popular culture, including cinema, popular music and fashions. Uses cross-cultural, interdisciplinary, and comparative approach. Focuses on how China views itself and constructs its global images, and how the world views China through media and popular culture. Primary objective is to understand political, ideological, and social changes since the Reform Era that began in 1978. No foreign language prerequisites are required.

POLSCI441 - What is Racism? Understanding racism and its consequences

Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 441
Title: What is Racism? Understanding racism and its consequences

Description:
This seminar course explores the way in which racism is defined by academics across disciplines, practitioners, politicians, and the public over time and place. It considers racism as a system of inequalities, as a psychological predisposition, as a legitimizing myth, and more. It considers how and why racism has been defined in different circumstances. The class also digs deep into social science research on the consequences of racism for both dominant and marginalized groups in societies, and particularly in the United States over time.
POLSCI445S - Capstone Seminar: Russia-USSR-Russia: History of Communism

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
445S

Title
Capstone Seminar: Russia-USSR-Russia: History of Communism

Description
The seminar offers an in-depth engagement with Russian modern history. Starting in the late 19th century, the seminar examines the formation of the Russian Communist movement and communist regime as national and transnational phenomena of the 20th Century. A comparative perspective allows students to analyze Russian appropriations of Marxist theory, the Russian Revolution, the making of the Stalinist state, de-Stalinization of the post-World War II period in the context of European and US labor movements and socialist experimentations, on the one hand, and anti-Communist sentiments and Cold War politics, on the other, while engaging with ethical issues raised by conflicting perspectives on the value and meaning of freedom and happiness and the means of achieving it.

POLSCI449S - Politics, Philosophy, and Economics Capstone

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
449S

Title
Politics, Philosophy, and Economics Capstone

Description
Capstone course open only to students in the Politics, Philosophy, and Economics program. Integrates and synthesizes the analytical framework and factual studies provided in other PPE courses. Consent of instructor required.

POLSCI456S - Chinese Culture and Ideology in the 20th Century and Now

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
456S

Title
Chinese Culture and Ideology in the 20th Century and Now

Description
Exposes students to cultural and literary expressions and representations of modern China from the beginning of the 20th century to the present; focus on issues of politics and ideology and the formation of Chinese exceptionalism; the beginning of the 20th century (1900-1949) and the Mao era (1949-1976); contemporary China since the era of reform and opening up (1978-present); comparative, interdisciplinary approaches of intellectual and cultural history, literary and cultural studies, and political science.

POLSCI460SA - Politics and Policy Practicum for Duke in DC

Subject
POLSCI

Catalog Number
460SA

Title
Politics and Policy Practicum for Duke in DC

Description
In this course, students develop policy expertise and professional skills relating to their Washington internship. In their final paper, students analyze a policy issue they have encountered in their internship and develop and evaluate alternative approaches to the issue. The course also provides students with skills that enhance their internship experience and prepare them for future research and policy work. The skill-building components may include: analyzing sources of information, interviewing for research and for policy analysis, doing sensitivity analysis, providing constructive criticism, and briefing expert and non-expert audiences.
POLSCI468S - Wealth and Poverty of Nations: Prosperity and Distribution in the Long Run

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>468S</td>
<td>Wealth and Poverty of Nations: Prosperity and Distribution in the Long Run</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Overview of the different explanations for the economic development of nations in the long run and the differential patterns of distribution within them. Approach is global (what explains the dynamics of global inequality, the contrast between the developed and the developing world), historical (long term structural constraints and early institutional choices and their legacies), and analytical (theoretical identification of the mechanisms driving the wealth and poverty of nations, and the methodological strategies to approach them empirically).

POLSCI483 - What Machiavelli Really Says

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>483</td>
<td>What Machiavelli Really Says</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Everyone knows what 'Machiavellian' means, but what does Machiavelli really say? Reading his classical political texts, 'The Prince,' the 'Discourses on Livy,' and 'The Art of War' in the company of his literary works, including 'Mandragola,' we will examine how Machiavelli's ideas about power, deception, language, ethics, and representation emerged from his reading of Plato, Livy, Ovid, and Dante, while also exploring the reception and consequences of his ideas. Just as Machiavelli searched history for answers to his own political situation, our guiding question cannot help but be 'What would Machiavelli do?'

POLSCI490S - Special Topics in Political Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Political Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Special topics in political science.

POLSCI493-1 - Senior Research Independent Study Political Theory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>493-1</td>
<td>Senior Research Independent Study Political Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual directed research under the supervision of a faculty member. The central goal is a substantive research paper or report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Offered only in areas of study not otherwise provided in department course offerings and with the direct approval and sponsorship of a faculty member. Will not generally be offered unless student has first established an extensive record of work with the faculty member. Written permission of faculty member and detailed description of research project required before contacting the DUS for permission number. Fulfills a political theory course requirement.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI493-2</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>493-2</td>
<td>Senior Research Independent Study Political Institutions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Same as Political Science 493-1 except fulfills a political institutions course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI493-3</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>493-3</td>
<td>Senior Research Independent Study in Security, Peace and Conflict</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Same as Political Science 493-1 except fulfills a security, peace, and conflict course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI493-4</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>493-4</td>
<td>Senior Research Independent Study in Political Behavior and Identities</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Same as Political Science 493-1 except fulfills a behavior and identities course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI493-5</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>493-5</td>
<td>Senior Research Independent Study in Political Methodology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Same as Political Science 493-1 except fulfills a political methodology course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI493-6</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>493-6</td>
<td>Senior Research Independent Study in Political Methodology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Same as Political Science 493-1 except fulfills a political economy course requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POLSCI494A</td>
<td>POLSCI</td>
<td>494A</td>
<td>Politics and Policy Practicum for Duke in DC</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: In this course, students develop policy expertise and professional skills relating to their Washington internship. In their final paper, students analyze a policy issue they have encountered in their internship and develop and evaluate alternative approaches to the issues. The course also provides students with skills that enhance their internship experience and that prepare them for future research and policy work. The skill-building components may include: analyzing sources of information, interviewing for research and for policy analysis, doing sensitivity analysis, providing constructive criticism, and briefing expert and non-expert audiences.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
POLSCI495S - Honors Seminar
Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 495S
Title: Honors Seminar

Description:
Course is open to junior political science majors who intend to write an honors thesis during their senior year. Purpose of course is to develop a thesis project, and to prepare students to conduct independent research under the direction of a faculty advisor. Students will acquire skills required to formulate a research question, develop a research design, conduct literature reviews, and gather appropriate data. Major component of class will be to practice these skills through weekly written assignments, and completion of a research proposal for honors thesis project. Course will not fulfill capstone requirement for political science major. Instructor consent required.

POLSCI497S - Capstone Seminar: Latin American Left Turns: A New Politics for the 21st Century?
Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 497S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Latin American Left Turns: A New Politics for the 21st Century?

Description:
Examination of issues surrounding the upsurge of leftist governments elected by the popular vote in the wake of the perceived failures of neoliberalism and the Washington consensus of 1989. Looks at ways Washington has had to come to terms with an unexpected revival on the left that threatens U.S. hegemony while offering an alternative path to achieve national development, distribution of wealth, and recognition of diversity and pluralism. Students will examine these issues from multiple viewpoints and develop projects based on choosing specific research foci within the general enterprise of what these government share in common and how they differ.

POLSCI497S-6 - Senior Seminar in Political Economy
Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 497S-6
Title: Senior Seminar in Political Economy

Description:
Special topics in political economy; open also, if places are available, to qualified juniors who have earned a 3.0 average and obtain the consent of the instructor.

POLSCI89S - First-Year Seminar
Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar

Description:
Topics vary each semester offered.

POLSCI90S - Special Topics in Political Science
Subject: POLSCI
Catalog Number: 90S
Title: Special Topics in Political Science

Description:
Topics vary each semester offered.

PORTUGUE101 - Elementary Portuguese I
Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Portuguese I

Description:
Course is geared towards communicative skills and is designed for students to complete it with a basic level of proficiency in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. The course focuses on conversation, grammar acquisition, and cultural issues raised in lessons, films, videos, articles, readings, and music. Meets four times a week.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PORTUGUE102</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Elementary Portuguese II</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PORTUGUE112</td>
<td>112</td>
<td>Accelerated Elementary Portuguese</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PORTUGUE203</td>
<td>203</td>
<td>Intermediate Portuguese</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PORTUGUE203A</td>
<td>203A</td>
<td>Intensive Brazilian Portuguese</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PORTUGUE204</td>
<td>204</td>
<td>Advanced Intermediate Portuguese</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PORTUGUE260</td>
<td>260</td>
<td>Afro-Brazilian Culture and History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PORTUGUE102 - Elementary Portuguese II

Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Portuguese II

Description: Builds on the elements of language acquired in Elementary Portuguese 101; enrollment in Portuguese 102 presupposes acquisition of the contents covered in Portuguese 101. Speaking, reading, and writing skills emphasized; exposure to some aspects of Portuguese-speaking cultures an important component. Conducted entirely in Portuguese, using a communicative approach. Four class meetings a week. Prerequisite: Portuguese 101 or consent of instructor.

PORTUGUE112 - Accelerated Elementary Portuguese

Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 112
Title: Accelerated Elementary Portuguese

Description: Designed for highly motivated undergraduate and graduate students as well as fluent speakers of another Romance language, this course covers much of the elementary language sequence (Portuguese 101-102). Most grammar and textbook work is done outside of class, freeing class time for more communicative activities. Conversation sessions provide intensive work on grammar focused through discussion on issues raised in films, news media, reading, music. It is expected that students who take this course will be able to place directly into Portuguese 203; however, placement into Portuguese 102 may be recommended in some cases. Meets four times a week.

PORTUGUE203 - Intermediate Portuguese

Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Portuguese

Description: Intensive language review of reading, writing, and oral practice, with increased attention to grammatical variety and accuracy. Cultural component emphasized through short readings, videos, music. Recommended prerequisite: Portuguese 102 or 112.

PORTUGUE203A - Intensive Brazilian Portuguese

Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 203A
Title: Intensive Brazilian Portuguese

Description: Four week immersion course in Portuguese language and Brazilian culture, offered only in Duke in Brazil. Elementary language prerequisite required. Covers intermediate language curriculum, developing aural comprehension, speaking, reading and writing skills. Provides grammar practice and development of effective strategies for oral communication in conjunction with intensive cultural program activities. Includes strong civics, social, cultural, and environmental components geared to NGOs that engage with these issues. Classes meet five days per week for four hours with additional required extracurricular activities. Instructor consent required.

PORTUGUE204 - Advanced Intermediate Portuguese

Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Advanced Intermediate Portuguese

Description: An advanced grammar review complemented by oral practice, composition, videos, and selected literary readings. Guided essay writing on topics related to the readings and videos. Second part of an intermediate sequence; suggested as preparation for 300-level courses. Prerequisites: Portuguese 203 or consent of instructor.

PORTUGUE260 - Afro-Brazilian Culture and History

Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 260
Title: Afro-Brazilian Culture and History

Description: Slavery and the post-emancipation trajectory of Afro-Brazilians in a racist society that officially proclaims itself a 'racial democracy.' Comparisons drawn with the Afro-American experience elsewhere in Latin America and the United States.
PORTUGUE290S - Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Subject
PORTUGUE

Catalog Number
290S

Title
Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Description
Seminar exploring topics of cultural formation in the Portuguese-speaking world that emphasize autochthonous cultural theory. Topics include slavery, urban development, sexuality, social activism, and cultural production. Taught in English.

---

PORTUGUE301S - Advanced Colloquial Portuguese

Subject
PORTUGUE

Catalog Number
301S

Title
Advanced Colloquial Portuguese

Description
Study of colloquial Portuguese as a catalyst of popular culture; sayings, expressions, and proverbs. Emphasis on oral communication. We will do an examination of the factors that have had a cultural impact in the Portuguese language involving religion, gender, politics, or ethnicity. We will study such things as everyday talk; illiteracy and identity; stories, legends; comedy, poetry, music, advertisements, the influence of English in the Portuguese language; the machismo in the everyday vocabulary. How these linguistic/cultural phenomena both represent and complicate our notions of cultural norms in the learning of the Portuguese language.

---

PORTUGUE301SA - Advanced Colloquial Portuguese

Subject
PORTUGUE

Catalog Number
301SA

Title
Advanced Colloquial Portuguese

Description
Study of colloquial Portuguese as a catalyst of popular culture; sayings, expressions, and proverbs. Emphasis on oral communication. We will do an examination of the factors that have had a cultural impact in the Portuguese language involving religion, gender, politics, or ethnicity. We will study such things as everyday talk; illiteracy and identity; stories, legends; comedy, poetry, music, advertisements, the influence of English in the Portuguese language; the machismo in the everyday vocabulary. How these linguistic/cultural phenomena both represent and complicate our notions of cultural norms in the learning of the Portuguese language. Taught at Duke in Brazil.

---

PORTUGUE327S - Introduction to Portuguese Culture

Subject
PORTUGUE

Catalog Number
327S

Title
Introduction to Portuguese Culture

Description
An introduction to Portuguese culture through the cross-cultural analysis of Brazilian or Global Portuguese history, literature, cinema and arts.
PORTUGUE338SP - Brazil and Lusophone Africa Preceptorial
Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 338SP
Title: Brazil and Lusophone Africa Preceptorial

Description:
A preceptorial, in Portuguese, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 338S. Further information available from instructor.

PORTUGUE341S - Perspectives on the Amazon
Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 341S
Title: Perspectives on the Amazon

Description:
The Amazon has been a source of awe to outsiders at least since the first Europeans navigated the Amazon River in 1542. While early explorers searched the forest for a mythic city of gold, contemporary travelers, scientists, and concerned citizens look to the Amazon as the key to our endangered future. Focusing on a variety of textual and visual representations, we will deal with major themes in the history of the Amazon and consider the ways in which this vast and widely depicted region eludes representation, holding entirely different and contending meanings to distinct socio-cultural groups. Our sources include works by indigenous thinkers and cultural producers.

PORTUGUE341SP - Perspectives on the Amazon Preceptorial
Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 341SP
Title: Perspectives on the Amazon Preceptorial

Description:
A preceptorial, in Portuguese, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 341S or Portuguese 341S. Further information available from instructor.

PORTUGUE382 - Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations
Subject: PORTUGUE
Catalog Number: 382
Title: Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Description:
An opportunity to study with the Somali-Italian author Igiaba Scego, this English-language course explores representations of race, class & families in contemporary fiction. The course has three parts: 1) Analysis of Scego’s work, which is crucial to debates on migration, decolonization, racism, feminism & translation; 2) read Italian and Brazilian authors to examine the intersection of color and class that cross Italy & Brazil from the colonial period to today, including the journeys and interactions between parents, siblings; 3) discussion of Scego’s just-translated ‘The Color Line,’ which moves between the U.S., Italy, and Somalia, & final projects.
PORTUGUESE390 - Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Subject: PORTUGUESE
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Description: Seminar exploring topics of cultural formation in the Portuguese-speaking world that emphasize autochthonous cultural theory. Examples include: Brazilian popular culture, Literatures of Resistance, Lusophone Africa and Independence, Portugal Post-Salazar. Level of Portuguese required varies with semester topic; students should consult instructor.

PORTUGUESE393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PORTUGUESE
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

PORTUGUESE394 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PORTUGUESE
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: See Portuguese 393. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

PORTUGUESE490 - Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Subject: PORTUGUESE
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Description: Exploration of topics of cultural formation in the Portuguese-speaking world that emphasize autochthonous cultural theory. Examples include: Brazilian popular culture, Literatures of Resistance, Lusophone Africa and Independence, Portugal Post-Salazar. Level of Portuguese required varies with semester topic; students should consult instructor.

PORTUGUESE490S - Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Subject: PORTUGUESE
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Topics in Lusophone Literature and Culture

Description: Seminar exploring topics of cultural formation in the Portuguese-speaking world that emphasize autochthonous cultural theory. Examples include: Brazilian popular culture, Literatures of Resistance, Lusophone Africa and Independence, Portugal Post-Salazar. Level of Portuguese required varies with semester topic; students should consult instructor.

PORTUGUESE493 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PORTUGUESE
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: See Portuguese 393. Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.
PORTUGUE494 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PORTUGUE

Catalog Number: 494

Title: Research Independent Study

Description

See Portuguese 393. Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

PORTUGUE89S - First Year Seminar in Portuguese

Subject: PORTUGUE

Catalog Number: 89S

Title: First Year Seminar in Portuguese

Description

Topics vary each semester offered. Prior to the drop/add period, this course is restricted to first-year students who have not fulfilled their seminar requirement.

PSY101 - Introductory Psychology

Subject: PSY

Catalog Number: 101

Title: Introductory Psychology

Description

Broad survey of the field of modern psychology. The class includes a broad study of behavior with emphasis on biological, evolutionary, cognitive, and developmental perspectives while placing this work in its historical, social and philosophical context. Conceptual issues unifying the subfields of psychology are highlighted along with consideration of techniques and methods by which knowledge about the brain, mind, thought and behavior is acquired and refined. There is also discussion about the impacts on life and society of contemporary scientific approaches and technologies. Students are required to participate in psychological research.

PSY102 - Cognitive Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Subject: PSY

Catalog Number: 102

Title: Cognitive Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Description

Overview of cognitive processes including pattern recognition, concept formation, attention, memory, imagery, mental representation, language, problem solving, and modes of thinking. The basic approach is both empirical (using data collection and analysis) and theoretical (building models using inductive/deductive reasoning). Application of basic laboratory results to cognition in everyday life. Students are required to participate in psychological research. Prerequisite: Psychology 101 strongly recommended.

PSY102D - Cognitive Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Subject: PSY

Catalog Number: 102D

Title: Cognitive Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Description

Overview of cognitive processes including pattern recognition, concept formation, attention, memory, imagery, mental representation, language, problem solving, and modes of thinking. The basic approach is both empirical (using data collection and analysis) and theoretical (building models using inductive/deductive reasoning). Application of basic laboratory results to cognition in everyday life. Students are required to participate in psychological research. Prerequisite: Psychology 101 strongly recommended.

PSY103 - Developmental Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Subject: PSY

Catalog Number: 103

Title: Developmental Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Description

Overview of the cognitive, social, and emotional changes that occur throughout the lifespan, with emphasis on the period from infancy to adolescence. Examines both the empirical evidence (data collection and analysis) and the theoretical models (constructs using inductive-deductive reasoning) used in understanding human psychological development. Required participation in psychological research. Prerequisite: Psychology 101 strongly recommended.
PSY103D - Developmental Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 103D
Title: Developmental Psychology: Introduction and Survey

Description
Overview of the cognitive, social, and emotional changes that occur throughout the lifespan, with emphasis on the period from infancy to adolescence. Examines both the empirical evidence (data collection and analysis) and the theoretical models (constructs using inductive-deductive reasoning) used in understanding human psychological development. Required participation in psychological research.
Prerequisite: Psychology 101 strongly recommended.

PSY104 - Social Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 104
Title: Social Psychology

Description
Effects of social interaction and social processes on a wide range of individual attitudes and behaviors (for example, conformity, leadership, prejudice, aggression, altruism). Emphasis on the logic, reasoning, research designs, and methods by which knowledge is generated. Equal attention to experimental and non-experimental research. Students are required to participate in psychological research.
Prerequisite: Psychology 101 strongly recommended.

PSY105D - Clinical Psychology and Mental Health

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 105D
Title: Clinical Psychology and Mental Health

Description
This course provides a broad overview of clinical psychology and mental health. Areas of focus include: Reviewing different theoretical perspectives for conceptualizing adaptive and maladaptive behaviors, emotions, cognitions, and experiences; Approaches to the diagnosis and assessment of mental health and psychopathology; Major classes of psychopathology including how they are defined and treated; Current research in the field of clinical psychology and mental health. There is a research participation requirement for this course.

PSY106D - Biological Bases of Behavior: Introduction and Survey

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 106D
Title: Biological Bases of Behavior: Introduction and Survey

Description
An introduction to the methods, models, and reasoning that have led to discoveries about brain-behavior relations, and a critical evaluation of the current theories that guide our thinking about the neurobiology, development and evolution of sensory and cognitive processes, sleep, pain, emotion, hunger, and thirst as well as maternal and sexual behavior patterns. Recommended background: AP Biology or strong Biology background. Psychology 101 recommended for Psychology majors.
PSY107 - Biological Bases of Behavior (Team-Based Learning)

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 107
Title: Biological Bases of Behavior (Team-Based Learning)

Description
Introduction to neuroscience that explores methods, models, and reasoning that led to discoveries about brain-behavior relations. Students learn and apply concepts in neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, synaptic transmission, the somatic sensorimotor system, vision, emotions, attention & consciousness, memory & learning, sexual differentiation & orientation, and psychopathology. In-class experiences organized around principles of team-based learning, with students collaborating in small teams for readiness assessments and team applications. Course fulfills gateway requirement for Neuroscience major. First years are welcome.

PSY1113L - Computing and the Brain

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 113L
Title: Computing and the Brain

Description
Introductory programming based on problems in neuroscience. Provides foundational skills for using computers to collect and analyze neuroscience data. Study of how computational processes are implemented by information-processing entities: both brains and computers. Python programming to generate sensory stimuli and collect/analyze behavioral and neural data. Scientific and Software Engineering best practices for conducting and verifying neuroscience experiments. Not open to students who have taken Computer Science 101. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

PSY141 - Fundamentals of Decision Science

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 141
Title: Fundamentals of Decision Science

Description
This course is a question-driven introduction to the certificate and the fundamentals of how humans make decisions. The primary goal is to provide hands-on and problem-focused instruction designed to connect students to research as quickly as possible. Substantive topics include behavioral and experimental economics, consumer behavior and marketing research, game theory, medical decision making, neuroeconomics, and political psychology.

PSY121FS - Sleep in Society: History, Culture, and Medicine

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 121FS
Title: Sleep in Society: History, Culture, and Medicine

Description
Exploration of sleep as it intersects anthropology, history, psychology, neurology, sociology, linguistics, and public policy. Topics range from normal sleep and circadian rhythms to the evolution of sleep and sleep habits around the world. Social determinants of sleep in the United States are considered. Students discuss racism and public policies in sleep health, the costs of massive societal sleep deprivation, the history and cultural narratives of dream interpretation, and principles of clinical sleep medicine. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

PSY190 - Psychology Special Topic-Lecture

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 190
Title: Psychology Special Topic-Lecture

Description
Topics vary by semester and section from the areas of Psychology: Abnormal/Health, Biological, Cognitive, Developmental or Social. Consent of instructor and/or specific prerequisites may be required for specific offerings.
PSY190FS - Focus - Special Topics Seminars

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Focus - Special Topics Seminars

Description: Seminar for students in Focus Program only. Content varies by semester. Different courses (and areas of psychology) indicated by section number.

PSY190S - Psychology Special Topic Seminar

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Psychology Special Topic Seminar

Description: Topics vary by semester and section from the areas of Psychology: Abnormal/Health, Biological, Cognitive, Developmental or Social. Consent of instructor and/or specific prerequisites may be required for specific offerings.

PSY190SA - Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 190SA
Title: Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Description: Topics differ by section.

PSY195FS - Intersections of the Sexual Brain

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 195FS
Title: Intersections of the Sexual Brain

Description: Understanding how the human brain and environment interconnect evolved dramatically with recent advances in neuroscience research methods. Students analyze such interconnections and the impact on societal theories of human sexuality. Students assess influential factors such as ethnicity/race, culture, and religion, all diversely represented in contemporary America. Students read and discuss scientific and popular articles with historical context and explore the consequences of scientific observations on the personal, societal and political levels. Students develop written and oral communication skills and work collaboratively with fellow peers. Open only to Focus Program students.

PSY196FS - Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 196FS
Title: Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Description: In the 1960s, patients appropriated the language and tactics of the civil rights movement to advance clinical and research agendas. Today patient activism is evolving, leading to new solutions, dilemmas, and organizational structures. This course will examine patient and research participant activism and the ways it challenges conventional notions of expertise, amateurism, 'human subjects protections,' and minimization of risk. Students will bring the tools of journalism, anthropology, humanities scholarship, public policy and community engagement/citizen science to bear on ethical and policy questions. Open only to students in the Science & the Public Focus Program cluster. Department consent required.

PSY197FS - Addiction and Substance Abuse: Global Health Perspectives

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 197FS
Title: Addiction and Substance Abuse: Global Health Perspectives

Description: The major goal of the course is to develop scientific, clinical, and social perspectives on the issue of addiction and substance abuse disorders. Students will be able to develop a scientific perspective on the etiology of addiction and effects of social factors such as disease pandemic in its manifestation. We will explore the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on substance abuse and mental health. We will also address the positive and negative aspects of legalization of marijuana. Be ready for an exciting scientific debate.
PSY201L - Introduction to Statistical Methods in Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 201L
Title: Introduction to Statistical Methods in Psychology

Description
Introduction to statistical methods used in psychological research. Topics in applied statistical methods: measures of central tendency and variability; probability and distributions; confidence intervals and hypothesis testing; t-test and analysis of variance; correlation and regression; chi-square tests. Calculate and interpret statistics referencing data and research questions typical in psychological research. Includes a lab section with instruction in management and analysis of data using statistical software designed for use in social science research. Required for the major. Prerequisites: two Psychology or two Neuroscience courses (one of which may be taken concurrently with Psychology 201) or one Psychology and one Neuroscience course (one of which may be taken concurrently with Psychology 201). Restriction: Not open to students who have taken Statistical Science 101, 102, 111, 250 or Mathematics 342.

PSY202L - Research Methods in Psychological Science

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 202L
Title: Research Methods in Psychological Science

Description
Same as PSY 202 but with lab sections. Hands-on experience in designing and conducting research in psychology. Theoretical topics include experimental and non-experimental methods, including observational, archival, and case-study methods. Problems of validity and control. Using these theoretical tools, students review literature, design experiments, collect data, analyze data, and write papers on areas such as learning, cognitive science, sensation and perception, and social, clinical and developmental psychology.

PSY202 - Research Methods in Psychological Science

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Research Methods in Psychological Science

Description
Hands-on experience in designing and conducting research in psychology. Theoretical topics include experimental and non-experimental methods, including observational, archival, and case-study methods. Problems of validity and control. Using these theoretical tools, students review literature, design experiments, collect data, analyze data, and write papers on areas such as learning, cognitive science, sensation and perception, and social, clinical and developmental psychology.

PSY203 - Practicum

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Practicum

Description
Introduction to the research of a faculty member, often preparing the student for independent study. Format varies, including readings, data collection and analysis, discussions, or other activities. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only. Does not count toward the major. Department consent required.
PSY204L - Quantitative Research Methods and Statistics for Psychological Science 1

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>204L</td>
<td>Quantitative Research Methods and Statistics for Psychological Science 1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

First part of two-semester series (204L/205L). Design of research studies and use of statistical methods to become better consumers, creators, and communicators of psychological research. First semester (204L) focused on research design and measurement, ethical issues, statistical tests for observational studies (e.g., t-tests, correlation, non-parametric tests), statistical software, and communicating scientific findings. Students will develop the methodological and statistical knowledge and skills to conduct their own psychological research. Includes lab section. Required for psychology major. Recommended prerequisite: two Psychology or Neuroscience courses (one may be taken concurrently with Psychology 204L).

PSY205L - Quantitative Research Methods and Statistics for Psychological Science 2

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>205L</td>
<td>Quantitative Research Methods and Statistics for Psychological Science 2</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Second part of two-semester series (204L/205L). Design of research studies and use of statistical methods to become better consumers, creators, and communicators of psychological research. Second semester (205L) focused on experimental research design, ethical issues, statistical tests for experimental studies (e.g., regression, ANOVA, non-parametric tests), statistical software, and communicating scientific findings. By the end of this course series, students will have the methodological and statistical knowledge and skills to conduct their own psychological research. Includes lab section. Required for psychology major. Prerequisite: Psychology 204L (cannot be taken concurrently with Psychology 205L).

PSY207 - Child Clinical Psychology

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>207</td>
<td>Child Clinical Psychology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The etiology and developmental course of major childhood psychological disorders. Practices of assessment, diagnosis, and treatment of childhood psychological disorders and the research that supports these practices. Emphasis on understanding interactions among individual child, family, and social factors in the etiology, diagnosis, and treatment of childhood psychological disorders. Prerequisite: Psychology 103 or 105.

PSY208 - Behavioral Aspects of Health

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>208</td>
<td>Behavioral Aspects of Health</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Overview of interdisciplinary field of behavioral medicine, emphasizing integration of social and behavioral sciences in the service of understanding physical health and illness. Psychosocial risk factors for medical illness; biobehavioral mechanisms whereby psychosocial risk factors affect pathophysiology; and biobehavioral intervention to treat and rehabilitate patients with major medical disorders in interdisciplinary settings.

PSY209 - Stress and Coping

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>209</td>
<td>Stress and Coping</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Psychological theory and empirical work on stress and coping, with an emphasis on post-traumatic stress. Focus on the research designs, methods and reasoning by which stress is inferred and its effects assessed.

PSY212 - Introduction to Forensic Psychology

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>212</td>
<td>Introduction to Forensic Psychology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examine the role of clinical psychology in forensic evaluations. Introduction: mental status evaluations and assessment for competency to stand trial. Explore impact of mental health disorders on forensic process. Read and discuss related texts regarding legal and social issues related to forensics. Psychology 105 suggested prior to taking this course.
Duke University

PSY213 - Advanced Abnormal Psychology

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
213

Title
Advanced Abnormal Psychology

Description
An advanced course in the lifespan study of adult psychopathology. Lecture and readings emphasize psychological and neuroscience perspectives on disorders such as autism spectrum disorder, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, depression and schizophrenia. Readings are primarily journal articles and other original sources. Topics also include the logic of diagnostic systems, methodological and ethical issues in psychopathology research, integration across levels of analysis, and translating research findings into effective interventions. Prerequisite: Psychology 105.

PSY214 - Exercise and Mental Health

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
214

Title
Exercise and Mental Health

Description
Examines the neural and psychological correlates of exercise that influence mental and cognitive health. Explores exercise guidelines and theories of exercise behaviors. Topics include exercise and depression, anxiety, stress, self-esteem, body image, circadian rhythms, learning, dementia, and mental states and performance.

PSY215FS - The Psychology of Crime: Scientific and Public Perspectives

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
215FS

Title
The Psychology of Crime: Scientific and Public Perspectives

Description
Introduction to theories of criminal behavior from developmental and psychological perspectives, with focus on scientific and public perspectives. Investigate risk and protective factors influencing the development of delinquency and crime, systemic and sociocultural factors, ethical controversies, and applied topics in criminal behavior. Students critically evaluate, synthesize, and debate cases in context of current empirical research. Interactive learning emphasized. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

PSY217 - Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number 217

Title
Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Description
The biological bases of higher brain function, including perception, attention, memory, language, emotion, executive functions and consciousness. Emphasis on human brain function at the macroscopic network-level, and the current theories and controversies in this rapidly growing field. Course is not recommended for freshmen. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101 or 102/Psychology 106 or 107, or Psychology 102, or Psychology 275/Neuroscience 201/Biology 224, or Neurobiology 195FS/Neuroscience 195FS, or Neurobiology 193FS/Psychology 193FS/Neuroscience 193FS, or permission of instructor.

PSY217D - Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
217D

Title
Introduction to Cognitive Neuroscience

Description
The biological bases of higher brain function, including perception, attention, memory, language, emotion, executive functions and consciousness. Emphasis on human brain function at the macroscopic network-level, and the current theories and controversies in this rapidly growing field. Course is not recommended for freshmen. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107 or Psychology 102 or Neuroscience 201/Psychology 275/Biology 224 or Neurobiology 195FS/Neuroscience 195FS.

PSY220 - The Psychology of Gender

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number 220

Title
The Psychology of Gender

Description
The psychology of gender in this country, including sex differences, separation and individuation, and achievement; sexuality; sex-roles; mental health problems particularly salient to genders; cultural influences on gender development and views within the field of psychology of gender.
PSY221 - Personality

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 221
Title: Personality

Description
Theory and research dealing with the human personality, focusing on universal features of personality that are part of human nature, ways in which personality variables and processes differ across people, and the processes through which personality relates to thought, emotion, and behavior. Topics include personality traits, genetic and biological influences on personality, cognitive aspects of personality, motivation and emotion, self and identity, unconscious processes, personality measurement, and personality dysfunctions. Students required to participate in psychological research.

PSY222 - Motivation Theories and Applications in Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 222
Title: Motivation Theories and Applications in Psychology

Description
An overview of the concept of motivation and its use in psychological theory and research. This survey course will examine psychological theory and research on core human motives, such as needs for autonomy, competence, and belonging and the role they may play in determining self-regulation, behavior, and emotional experience. In doing so, this course will also consider how motivations are addressed both deliberately and automatically, through goal setting and goal pursuit and the implications for understanding situational influences, individual difference and psychological well-being.

PSY223 - The Self and Social Identities

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 223
Title: The Self and Social Identities

Description
Course broadly explores definitions of 'the self' and how different social identities develop, change, and overlap with each other across the lifespan. Using both theory and a large body of empirical research from psychology, we investigate how our own sense of self as well as our perceptions of other people's identities guide behavior. Using media examples, peer-reviewed research, and news articles we will examine both personal and societal views of identity that contribute toward the intersectional nature of social existence. Psychology 101 or at least one other psychology course suggested before taking this course.

PSY225D - Political Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 225D
Title: Political Psychology

Description
How individuals interact with their political environment and with other individuals and groups. Theories and findings from both disciplines to gain deeper insights into political processes and decisions. Likely topics include individuals' political attitudes, decisions and judgments. Other likely topics include theories of how people cooperate with each other and how groups come into conflict with each other, psychological approaches to analyzing political leaders and/or the way members of different cultures process political information.
PSY226 - Sex/Gender - Nature/Nurture: Intersections of Biology and Society

Description
Debates about sexuality, sex, and gender hinge on radically different ideas about relative effects of biological forces vs. social forces, or nature vs. nurture. Course changes terms of arguments about sexuality and gender and nature/nurture. Explores how nature/nurture emerged as scientific and popular debate. Evaluates new developments in science and cultural fields that are now reconsidering how biology and environments interact. Showcases debates about how sex and sexuality are formed through interplay of genetic information, hormones, material bodies, and social environments.

PSY227 - Leadership and Collaboration

Description
Leadership is essential to the success of groups, organizations, and societies. To be effective, leaders must possess a clear understanding of human behavior and social processes. This course is an introduction to the study of leadership from the perspective of the social sciences. We will draw on a range of social science research to address key questions about the process and practice of collaborative leadership and followership. The goal of the course is to not only expose students to the empirical study of leadership and followership but also stimulate them to think critically about human behavior.

PSY230 - Relationships across the Lifespan

Description
This course explores the developmental changes that occur in close relationships (e.g., parent, sibling, peer) across the lifespan, from infancy through late adulthood, and the differing roles these relationships play in the development and behavior of the individual. The impact of significant relationship events (e.g., divorce, marriage) on development will also be examined. Recommended prerequisite: Psychology 101, 102, or 104.

PSY232 - Quad Course: The Art and Science of What 'Works' In Life

Description
Multidisciplinary evaluation of artistic portrayals of and social scientific evidence for ways to live a human life. Experiential component of class involves trying new things in life based on existing artistic portrayals and scientific evidence, collecting new quantitative data about these experiences, and learning basic data analysis skills to evaluate the evidence. Overall goal is to provide students with new knowledge and skills to maximize their college experience and prepare for an impactful life beyond Duke.
PSY232A - The Return of the Collective (Psychosocial Approach Contemporary Spain) Theatre, Culture, & Identity

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 232A
Title: The Return of the Collective (Psychosocial Approach Contemporary Spain) Theatre, Culture, & Identity

Description:
The hasty transformation experienced by Spanish society the last 40+ years demands questioning the processes involved in its changing identities. This course delves into the economic, cultural, and linguistic circumstances that shaped the portrait of current Spain. By looking into contemporary theatrical production, we will consider causes, motivations, and consequences of the emergence of new subjectivities linked to the coming of democracy. To reach a better understanding of these new ways of thinking, sentimentalities, and behaviors operating in today's Spain, special attention will be paid to the social conditionings involved in the shaping of identities. Taught at Duke in Madrid.

PSY239 - Adolescence

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 239
Title: Adolescence

Description:
Adolescent development, including identity formation, intelligence, sexuality, peer and parent relationships, vocational choices, drugs, and psychopathology. Theory and empirical findings. Emphasis on the methods and research designs that have led to an understanding of adolescent development. Required participation in service-learning.

PSY239-1 - Adolescence

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 239-1
Title: Adolescence

Description:
Adolescent development, including identity formation, intelligence, sexuality, peer and parent relationships, vocational choices, drugs, and psychopathology. Theory and empirical findings. Emphasis on the methods and research designs that have led to an understanding of adolescent development.

PSY240 - Educational Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 240
Title: Educational Psychology

Description:
Principles of developmental, social, and cognitive psychology as applied to education, with a focus on how children learn. Examination of the impact on learning of race, class, gender, and ethnicity, including a comparative analysis of cultural differences in American schools. Through structured service-learning experiences in local schools, students reflect through writing on ethical issues in teaching. Required service-learning.

PSY240-1 - Educational Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 240-1
Title: Educational Psychology

Description:
Principles of developmental, social, and cognitive psychology as applied to education, with a focus on how children learn. Examination of the impact on learning of race, class, gender, and ethnicity, including a comparative analysis of cultural differences in American schools. Through structured service-learning experiences in local schools, students reflect through writing on ethical issues in teaching. Online equivalent to Education 240. Not open to students who have taken Education 240.

PSY240S - Educational Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 240S
Title: Educational Psychology

Description:
Principles of developmental, social, and cognitive psychology as applied to education, with a focus on how children learn. Examination of the impact on learning of race, class, gender, and ethnicity, including a comparative analysis of cultural differences in American schools. Through structured service-learning experiences in local schools, students reflect through writing on ethical issues in teaching. Required service-learning.
PSY250 - Myths and Mysteries of Memory

Description
Understanding the feats and failures of memory in everyday situations. Exploration of the use and misuse of memory of interest across professions (e.g., medicine, law, advertising, education), via demonstrations, lecture, and readings. Topics include repression, how to study for exams, remembering names, early childhood memories, amnesia, photographic memory, eyewitness testimony, and pharmacological effects.

PSY252 - Psychology of Thinking

Description
Overview of high level cognitive processes in both theoretical and applied areas. Emphasis on the research designs, methods, and reasoning for understanding how people engage in categorization, problem solving and decision making. The social implications of cognitive testing and an appreciation of the role of human factors in a technological age. Recommended prerequisite: one previous psychology course.

PSY254S - Intro to Psychoanalytic Theory

Description
In this seminar we will explore psychoanalytic theory by focusing on specific topics such as hysteria, perversion, sexuality, repression, narcissism, the unconscious, and the id/ego/superego. Throughout the semester, we will examine the relationship in psychoanalysis between theory and practice as well as entertain the possibility that the theories based on clinical practice might have some applicability for grappling with questions concerning power, politics, conceived in a global context, and what philosopher Michel Foucault referred to in his later work as the ‘care of the self.’

PSY255 - Human Cognitive Evolution

Description
Survey of methods/theories used in the study of human cognitive evolution; development of cognition in children; brain damaged patients; cognitive abilities of great apes; paleoanthropology of early and modern humans and evidence for mental abilities and culture; cross-cultural and sex differences in human cognition; genetics and the evolution of cognition. Recommended prerequisite: Evolutionary Anthropology 101 or Psychology 102.

PSY256 - Psychology of Language

Description
Examination of linguistic structures and their psychological ‘reality,’ language and cognition, biological bases, animal communication, language pathologies, nonverbal communication, and bilingualism. Everyday language phenomena (such as slips of the tongue) as well as experimental and theoretical research. Emphasis on research designs, methods and reasoning used to study the role of language in cognition and action. Research proposal required.

PSY256-2 - Psychology of Language

Description
Examination of linguistic structures and their psychological ‘reality,’ language and cognition, biological bases, animal communication, language pathologies, nonverbal communication, and bilingualism. Everyday language phenomena (such as slips of the tongue) as well as experimental and theoretical research. Emphasis on research designs, methods and reasoning used to study the role of language in cognition and action. Research proposal required.
PSY258 - Decision Neuroscience

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 258
Title: Decision Neuroscience

Description: How new research in neuroscience, cognitive psychology, and behavioral economics shapes our understanding of decision making. Topics include functional organization of key brain systems, approaches to measuring and interpreting neuroscience data, methods for measuring decision-making behavior, economic and cognitive modeling, and impact of neuroscience on real-world decision-making. Emerging topics will include applications in policy, marketing, and finance. Prior coursework in neuroscience or decision sciences is strongly recommended.

PSY267 - From Madness to Mental Disorders: Sociology of Mental Health

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 267
Title: From Madness to Mental Disorders: Sociology of Mental Health

Description: Investigates mental health processes and policies in historic, cultural, and socioeconomic context. Explains why definitions of and responses to mental illness have changed across time and place. Probes ethical dilemmas created by the medicalization of deviance. Examines how social conditions shape the development and consequences of mental disorders, treatments, and policies. Evaluates alternative theoretical explanations for how mental well-being and mental health services are linked to socioeconomic status, gender, race, ethnicity, citizenship, age, and sexuality. Assesses ability of alternative policies to improve public mental health.

PSY267S - Culture and Mental Health

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 267S
Title: Culture and Mental Health

Description: This course examines the social and cultural facets of mental illness, psychological diagnoses, and mental health from the standpoints of cultural psychiatry, medical anthropology, and social medicine. Global case studies will form the basis for several key questions: how do mental distress and forms of treatment differ cross-culturally? How might social differences such as gender, sexuality, and race shape therapeutic encounters in mental health? And what roles do psychology, psychiatry, and the brain sciences play in everyday life?

PSY273 - Behavior and Neurochemistry

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 273
Title: Behavior and Neurochemistry

Description: The role of brain chemicals (neurotransmitters, peptides, and hormones) in behavior. Hypotheses addressing the neurobiology of mental disorders and how they can be treated by pharmacological intervention. Emphasis on the development and critical evaluation of pharmacological models of brain function using mathematical and/or deductive/inductive models of reasoning and experimentation. Recommended prerequisite: Psychology 106 or 107/Neuroscience 101 or 102.
PSY274 - Drugs, Brain, and Behavior

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 274
Title: Drugs, Brain, and Behavior

Description:
Mechanisms by which psychoactive drugs act. Changes that occur with chronic use of drugs; drug abuse and dependence. Social and legal implications of psychoactive drugs. Designed for both science and nonscience majors. Emphasis on the reasoning, research designs, and methods for understanding drug effects. Prerequisite: introductory biology (Biology 25L) and chemistry (Chemistry 11L, 12L).

PSY275 - Fundamentals of Neuroscience

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 275
Title: Fundamentals of Neuroscience

Description:
Course covers broad and rapidly evolving field of neuroscience encompassing questions about how humans and other animals experience their world. Learners explore the organization of neural systems that sense our environment, plan and execute complex movements, encode and retrieve memories, and experience a wide range of emotions. Learners examine brain development and how changes in structure and function underlie impacts of neurological and psychiatric disorders. Not recommended for first-year students. Prerequisite: Biology 20, 201L, 202L, or 203L and Chemistry 20, 21, 101DL, or 110DL or concurrent enrollment in Biology 201L, 202L, or 203L and concurrent enrollment in Chemistry 101DL or 110DL.

PSY276 - Brain and Behavior: Translating Neuroscience

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 276
Title: Brain and Behavior: Translating Neuroscience

Description:
This course will focus on how brain mechanisms enable behavior. We will examine the neural basis of homeostatic control, voluntary actions, motivation, emotion, and decision making. We will use systems analysis to elucidate how volition, intentionality, and purpose can be emergent properties of neuronal interactions. We will also explore how different neurological and psychiatric disorders can result from specific defects in hierarchical neural networks. Prerequisite (one of the following): Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101, Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102, Psychology 275/Neuroscience 201, or Psychology 193FS/Neurobiology 193FS/Neuroscience 193FS.

PSY277 - Looking Inside the Disordered Brain

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 277
Title: Looking Inside the Disordered Brain

Description:
What brain circuits give rise to the dazzling diversity of human behavior, and how do even subtle disturbances within these circuits lead to abnormal behavior or psychopathology? This course provides students with a working knowledge of the brain circuits that create order in our social, emotional and cognitive worlds, and how disorder within these circuits leads to a broad range of psychopathology including depression, anxiety, phobias, PTSD, OCD, addiction, autism, schizophrenia, psychopathy and violence. Prerequisite: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>278</td>
<td>Neuroethics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Focus on emerging ethical controversies concurrent with advances in neuroscience. Background material covered: concepts and methods in neuroscience; theories of ethics and morality from philosophy, law, and other fields. Ethical topics covered: biological bases of morality; emotions and decision making; neuroeconomics and neuromarketing; pathologies of mind and behavior; volition and legal culpability. Course format: combined lectures, discussion, interactive activities, with case studies and real-world examples (e.g., neuroimaging as legal evidence). Prior coursework in neuroscience and/or ethical inquiry recommended.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>280S</td>
<td>Social and Affective Neuroscience</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Understanding how individual, interpersonal, and intergroup behaviors are processed in the brain. Topics include neuroscience of self- and group identity, self-regulation, social and affective communication, stereotyping, pro- and anti-social behavior, power motivation, group cooperation and competition, and cultural differences in emotion processing. Prerequisite: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>282</td>
<td>Neuroscience of Movement and Athletic Performance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Addresses neurobiology of movement, sports and other forms of physical performance at a variety of levels, from biochemical and physiological to cognitive and behavioral. Starting with neurophysiology of muscle development and movement and progressing through use of imagery and cognitive training, we will discuss the variety of neurobiological processes involved in athletic performance, as well as methods used to study these processes. Explores neuromuscular diseases, injuries and dysfunctions as well as use of exercise and movement as therapy for neuromuscular and non-neuromuscular disorders. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>283S</td>
<td>Breakdown: Madness, Self, Fiction</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Study of madness, mental illness, and psychological distress as experienced and accounted for from literary and philosophical perspectives. How should an individual’s declaration of spiritual health or illness by understood? What critical tools can literature bring to the study of the soul’s suffering? Focus on testimonies of mental strife in a transnational/historical frame. Literary selections range from romanticism and realism to high modernism and contemporary neurofiction.
PSY288S - Music as Biology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 288S
Title: Music as Biology

Description: The course will explore the tone combinations that humans consider consonant or dissonant, the scales we use, and the emotions music elicits, all of which provide a rich dataset for exploring music and auditory aesthetics in neurobiological terms. Analyses of speech and music indicate that the chromatic scale (the set of tones used by humans to create music), consonance and dissonance, worldwide preferences for a few dozen scales from the billions that are possible, and the emotions elicited by music in different cultures stem from the relative similarity of musical tonalities and the characteristics of voiced (tonal) speech. Our brains have evidently evolved to associate these two domains.

PSY290 - Special Topics in Psychology - Lecture

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Psychology - Lecture

Description: Topics vary by semester and section from the areas of Psychology: Abnormal/Health, Biological, Cognitive, Developmental or Social. Consent of instructor and/or specific prerequisites may be required for specific offerings.

PSY290A - Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 290A
Title: Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Description: Topics differ by section.

PSY290S - Special Topics in Psychology - Seminar

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Psychology - Seminar

Description: Topics vary by semester and section from the different areas of Psychology: Biological, Cognitive, Developmental or Personality/Social. Consent of instructor and/or specific prerequisites may be required for specific offerings.

PSY302L - Brain Waves and Cognition

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 302L
Title: Brain Waves and Cognition

Description: Combined lecture/lab course on the event-related potential (ERP) method and its use in cognitive neuroscience. ERPs, which are electrical brain waves triggered by sensory and cognitive events, provide a powerful means to noninvasively study the timing and sequence of the neural activity underlying cognitive processes in humans. The course covers how ERPs are generated, recorded, and analyzed, and how they are used to study cognitive processes. Students gain substantial hands-on experience in the context of performing a group cognitive neuroscience experiment. Recommended: previous courses in neuroscience/psychology, proficiency with computers, sophomore or higher status.

PSY303L - Functional Neuroimaging

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 303L
Title: Functional Neuroimaging

Description: Overview of use of functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI) in the investigation of human sensory, motor, and cognitive function. Topics will include fMRI to study human brain systems involved with movement, sensation, perception, and memory. Students will design and execute a neuroimaging experiment. Prior course in Statistics is strongly recommended. Consent of instructor required.
PSY304 - Child Observation

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 304
Title: Child Observation

Description
Introduction of research methods used to study children (observational techniques, experimental design). Focus on developing proficiency in research methodology, communicating research findings to other psychologists, and increasing knowledge and expertise with young children. Prior courses in Developmental Psychology and Statistics strongly recommended. Open to junior and senior students only. Instructor consent required.

PSY305 - Research Methods in Social Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 305
Title: Research Methods in Social Psychology

Description
Study of empirical research methods used to study contemporary issues in social psychology, including both experimental and non-experimental strategies. Prerequisite: Psychology 104. Prior course in statistics is strongly recommended.

PSY309 - Research Methods in Global Health

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 309
Title: Research Methods in Global Health

Description
Introduction to research methods through examination of a variety of methodological techniques in behavioral and social sciences and relevant to multidisciplinary GH research. Problem-based approach to practice identifying GH questions of interest, ways to operationalize and test them, including strengths and weaknesses of different approaches. Focus on discussing current GH issues, exploring questions and solutions, reading and evaluating published research and interpreting results. Skills include identification of global health problems, awareness of contextual, behavioral, and ethical issues involved, conceptualization of research questions, and designing a research study.

PSY309D - Research Methods in Global Health

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 309D
Title: Research Methods in Global Health

Description
Introduction to research methods through examination of a variety of methodological techniques in behavioral and social sciences and relevant to multidisciplinary GH research. Problem-based approach to practice identifying GH questions of interest, ways to operationalize and test them, including strengths and weaknesses of different approaches. Focus on discussing current GH issues, exploring questions and solutions, reading and evaluating published research and interpreting results. Skills include identification of global health problems, awareness of contextual, behavioral, and ethical issues involved, conceptualization of research questions, and designing a research study.

PSY313 - Contemporary Neuroscience Methods

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 313
Title: Contemporary Neuroscience Methods

Description
Explore the wide spectrum of methods commonly used in the field of neuroscience, ranging from molecular/genetic to electrophysiology and whole brain imaging. Multiple units of this team-based learning course will include interaction with a scientist currently practicing the technique. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

PSY316S - Clinical Issues for the LGBTQ Community

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 316S
Title: Clinical Issues for the LGBTQ Community

Description
An introduction to LGBTQ issues in the mental-health field and other people-focused professions, e.g., medicine, education, and law. An examination of the historical treatment of the LGBTQ population in psychological practice, the evolution of mental-health care for members of the LGBTQ community, and the psychological effects of social norms on LGBTQ individuals, couples, and families, including non-pathologizing, heterosexual bias, genderism, self-identification, coming out, multiple-minority identities, parenting, and couple dynamics.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>318S</td>
<td>Psychology of Positive Emotion and Experience</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>319S</td>
<td>Virtual Avatars of Peer Health Coaching</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>320</td>
<td>Approaches to Psychotherapy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>321S</td>
<td>Personality and Individual Differences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>323</td>
<td>Fundamentals of Global Mental Health</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>324S</td>
<td>Motivation Science in Social Psychology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PSY318S - Psychology of Positive Emotion and Experience

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
318S

Title
Psychology of Positive Emotion and Experience

Description
Critical examination of the positive psychology movement, including prior contributions to the field. Measures quality of data; issues related to gender, ethnicity, and culture. Focus on application to health. Prerequisite: One prior psychology class.

PSY319S - Virtual Avatars of Peer Health Coaching

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
319S

Title
Virtual Avatars of Peer Health Coaching

Description
This is a training course for students who are interested in becoming peer mental health coaches for other Duke students. As part of a Bass Connections team, we are developing a peer to peer app that uses anonymous avatars to facilitate communication from students needing help to students trained to help them. This is an intense course in which students will learn how to help an individual manage intense emotions and hopelessness in moments of need. Topics include helping a suicidal individual, helping an individual deal with the aftermath of a sexual assault, and related topics. An initial interview and subsequent permission from the instructor is required. Instructor consent required.

PSY320 - Approaches to Psychotherapy

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
320

Title
Approaches to Psychotherapy

Description
This course will survey major approaches to psychotherapy including psychoanalysis/psychodynamic therapy, humanistic/existential therapy, behavior therapy, cognitive therapy, acceptance & commitment therapy, family therapy approaches, and others. Extensive use of videos that demonstrate different therapy approaches will be incorporated. Research support for different psychotherapy models, cultural issues in therapy, ethical issues in therapy, and the importance of common factors across different therapy approaches will be addressed. Prerequisite: Psychology 105.

PSY321S - Personality and Individual Differences

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
321S

Title
Personality and Individual Differences

Description
Study of assessment of personality and cognitive-ability traits, and their influence on the life course. Topics include: assessment of personality traits; behavioral genetics; personality continuity and change across the life course; influence of personality traits and intelligence on health and status attainment. Prerequisite: Introductory course work in psychological methods and statistics in the behavioral sciences.

PSY323 - Fundamentals of Global Mental Health

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number 323

Title
Fundamentals of Global Mental Health

Description
Examines global mental health from perspectives of culture, public health, epidemiology, human rights, policy, and intervention. Readings focus on peer-reviewed research literature highlighting topics such as the prevalence of mental health disorders worldwide, the role of culture in mental health, and the interventions backed by strong evidence for prevention and treatment. Students will discuss and critique study methodologies and explore the needs for future research in this emerging field. Designed for students with prior research methods and psychology coursework.

PSY324S - Motivation Science in Social Psychology

Subject
PSY

Catalog Number
324S

Title
Motivation Science in Social Psychology

Description
Survey of motivational approaches in social psychology. Examines work on specific types of motivation (e.g., achievement, altruism, power) and the manner in which each may come to influence our actions, cognition and emotions. Also focuses on broader implications of motivational approaches for improving psychological health and well-being and for resolving interpersonal and social conflict.
PSY325 - Social Development from Childhood to Early Adulthood

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 325
Title: Social Development from Childhood to Early Adulthood

Description

Examines children's social development from birth to early adulthood. Attention is given to the influences of family, peers, schools, and media on social development, including parent-child attachment, achievement motivation, self-concept, sex-role development, social competence, aggression, and moral development. Throughout the course, attention is also given to major theoretical perspectives, research methodology, the applied and policy implications of research, and to children and families from diverse cultural backgrounds. Recommended prerequisite: Psychology 103 or 104 or 221, or instructor permission.

PSY326S - Reason and Passion in Politics

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 326S
Title: Reason and Passion in Politics

Description

Explores the nature of mass politics in democracies through the distinction between reason and passion and the idea that a well-functioning democracy requires the triumph of cold deliberation over emotion and intuition. Discussion of classic texts on reason and passion from philosophy, politics, and psychology; dual-process models of political judgment and decision making; political belief updating and persistent disagreement over facts; moral psychology and political ideology; emotions and collective action.

PSY330S - Develop Your Life: A Human Development and Human-Centered Design Approach

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 330S
Title: Develop Your Life: A Human Development and Human-Centered Design Approach

Description

This course combines developmental psychology, human development, and human-centered design with a focus on the developing student. Students examine their past development, understand themselves in the present, and consider a plan for future career and life, leveraging their past and present. Students learn others are both like themselves and very different. Varied life experiences, family background, cultural influences, education – all make us unique. Beyond theoretical and substantive knowledge, this course helps students to understand influences and consequences of diversity, gain empathy and appreciation for others, and maximize their own journey.

PSY334 - Cognitive Development

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 334
Title: Cognitive Development

Description

Ever wonder how you came to learn and think? This course looks at the start of these cool human abilities, covering how children learn to perceive, act, talk, understand, and reason with and about the people, concepts, and categories around them. Students will actively engage in mostly primary source readings, scaffolded by lively lecture. Students will leave with the theories, methods, and key findings of cognitive development in their back pocket, ready to interpret primary and media coverage of cognitive development. Prerequisite: At least one Psychology course, including those cross-listed with Psychology.
PSY335S - Moral Development
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 335S
Title: Moral Development
Description: How do children learn to tell right from wrong? How are they socialized into ethical practices of their culture? This course explores the sources of human morality by surveying major theories of moral development and analyzing the latest research on the emergence of the moral sense. It investigates the development of early prosocial behavior, socio-moral emotions (empathy, guilt, pride), cooperation, altruism, concepts of justice, moral identity, moral evaluation, and related phenomena. In addition to age-related changes, special attention is paid to cross-cultural comparisons. Prerequisite: Psychology 103 or Psychology 235 or Psychology 325 or consent of instructor.

PSY337S - Social Processes among Peers
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 337S
Title: Social Processes among Peers
Description: Peers play an intense and important context for development from childhood through adolescence. This course will examine some of the most central social processes (both positive and negative) that occur among peers (e.g., aggression, victimization, rejection, group acceptance, leadership, prosocial behavior), how these processes influence the development of the individual child and adolescent, as well as their predictors and associated outcomes. Gender and ethnicity differences will also be considered. Recommended prerequisite: Psychology 103 or 104.

PSY353S - Neuroplasticity and Disease: Molecules, Cells, and Circuits
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 353S
Title: Neuroplasticity and Disease: Molecules, Cells, and Circuits
Description: Explore the cellular and molecular mechanisms in diverse neurological disorders, with an emphasis on understanding how disruptions of neural circuits drive behavioral and cognitive dysfunction. Students critically evaluate primary literature on topics including Alzheimer’s disease, Parkinson’s disease, ALS, autism spectrum disorders, intellectual disabilities, and traumatic brain injuries. Classes utilize a combination of lectures, invited guest speakers, and team-based learning exercises to create a highly interactive learning environment. Prerequisite/Corequisite: Neuroscience 201/Psychology 275/Biology 224 or Neuroscience 202 or Neuroscience 223/Biology 223.

PSY354A - History of Psychology in France and Europe
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 354A
Title: History of Psychology in France and Europe
Description: This course aims to open students to the place psychology holds and how it is presented culturally and socially, as well as exposing them to French psychological practices. To do so, we will identify historical and conceptual landmarks concerning contemporary psychology in France and Europe. Students will focus on the birth and life of psychology, from its 18th-century beginnings to its current applications in France. Such movements as physiology, associationism, psychoanalysis, Gestalt, cognitivism, and social psychology will be scrutinized through readings, lectures, and co-curricular outings to those places in Paris where psychology is put into practice. Taught at Duke in France.
PSY355S - Visual Perception and the Brain

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 355S
Title: Visual Perception and the Brain

Description:
Course explores how what we see is generated by the visual system. Students learn how the visual system links stimulus patterns with reproductive success without ever recovering real-world properties and without invoking feature detection, image representation in the brain, and probabilistic inference. Course considers in broader terms the relationship between the objective world and subjective human experience. Course delivered in flipped format with all lectures assigned as videos and class time devoted entirely to discussion of papers, problems and different perspectives on how the visual brain operates.

PSY356S - Educational Neuroscience

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 356S
Title: Educational Neuroscience

Description:
Introduction to an emerging field of educational neuroscience. Discussion on how understanding brain development and cognitive development can benefit practices in education. Readings are primary journal articles drawn from fields of cognitive neuroscience and education. Prior coursework in developmental psychology, education, or neuroscience recommended. Prerequisite: Psychology 102 or Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102.

PSY362S - Psychedelics and Other Illegal Psychoactive Drugs as Medicines

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 362S
Title: Psychedelics and Other Illegal Psychoactive Drugs as Medicines

Description:
Neuroscience and potential clinical use of Cannabis, Ecstasy (MDMA) and psychedelic substances (e.g., psilocybin). Learn what these drugs do in the brain and how they do it. Course covers basic science evidence about potential physiological benefits, current trends in pharmaceutical development, and clinical trial evidence supporting applications of these formerly stigmatized drugs. Outside speakers address the FDA process, therapeutic use of psychoactive drugs, and the legislative process. Prior completion of Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107 strongly encouraged.

PSY368 - Behavioral Finance: A Taxonomy of Money Mistakes

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 368
Title: Behavioral Finance: A Taxonomy of Money Mistakes

Description:
Uses popular and accepted theories of human behavior from the fields of psychology and decision-making to characterize some prevalent features of irrational behavior in financial markets. Includes discussion of typical errors made by financial market participants as a result of behavioral biases, and examination of the extent to which irrationality can affect financial markets at the aggregate level ("bubbles"), how long irrationality may persist, and what factors will eventually cause these bubbles to burst ("crashes"). Instructor consent required. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>368A</td>
<td>Behavioral Finance: A Taxonomy of Money Mistakes</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

We will use popular and accepted theories of human behavior from the fields of psychology and decision-making to characterize some prevalent features of irrational behavior in the financial markets. We will discuss typical errors made by financial market participants as a result of behavioral biases, and examine the extent to which irrationality can affect financial markets at the aggregate level (bubbles), how long irrationality may persist, and what factors will eventually cause these bubbles to burst (crashes). Prerequisite: Economics 201D. Instructor consent required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>373</td>
<td>Behavioral Neuroimmunology: Brain and Behavior in Health and Disease</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

An exploration of the interactions among the nervous, immune, and endocrine systems, and their consequences for neural function and behavior, using examples from both the human and animal literatures. Topics include the role of the immune system in cognition and emotions, neuroendocrine-immune interactions during stress, and the effects of stress on health and disease. The potential role of infections in the etiology of psychopathology (autism, schizophrenia) and neurodegenerative conditions (Parkinson’s, Alzheimer’s) will also be discussed. Recommended prerequisite: one of the following: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101, Psychology 275/Biology 224/Neuroscience 201, Biology 101L, or equivalent.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>375L</td>
<td>Functional Anatomy of the Human Brain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Functional anatomy of the human brain and spinal cord with team-based learning approaches and laboratory-based discovery. Hands-on examination of human specimens with guided explorations of external and internal brain structures and dissections to facilitate discovery. Extensive use of interactive digital media to explore CNS anatomy and the organization of the major neural systems underlying sensory, motor and cognitive function. Analysis of actual clinical cases representing a variety of neurological disorders. Consideration of brain evolution and comparative neuroanatomy. Prior completion of Neuroscience 101/102 or 201 or Evolutionary Anthropology 101 highly recommended.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>376S</td>
<td>Behavioral Neuroendocrinology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The neurobiological mechanisms of hormone-brain-behavior interaction through an examination of empirical research and textbook readings. Topics include neuroendocrine systems, hormone cell signaling and physiology, neurodevelopment and sexual differentiation, sex differences in social behaviors across species (parenting and mating), stress response systems, hormone-related mood disorders; with consideration of ethical issues. Research paper required. Strong emphasis on neurobiology. Prerequisite: Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102. Recommended prerequisite: background knowledge gained from additional courses in neuroscience, psychology, biology, or evolutionary anthropology.
PSY378L - Perception and the Brain

Subject

PSY

Catalog Number

378L

Title

Perception and the Brain

Description

Explores capacities and limitations of human sensory systems. How the sense organs detect objects and events and what brains then do with that information. Concentrates primarily on the visual system, with some forays into other sensory modalities. Prerequisites: Psychology 102 or 106/107/Neuroscience 101/102. Prior course in statistics is strongly recommended.

---

PSY379L - Comparative Neuroanatomy

Subject

PSY

Catalog Number

379L

Title

Comparative Neuroanatomy

Description

For advanced undergraduate students in the brain-related sciences who want to acquire an in-depth understanding of vertebrate neuroanatomy. Course focused on the primate central nervous system, with aspects of brain organization in rodents and other vertebrates presented throughout the semester. Reading assignments include book chapters, videos, and selected research articles. Grades are based on exams and periodic quizzes that test understanding of material in lectures and reading assignments. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107.

---

PSY390 - Special Topics in Psychology - Lecture

Subject

PSY

Catalog Number

390

Title

Special Topics in Psychology - Lecture

Description

Topics vary by semester and section from the areas of Psychology: Abnormal/Health, Biological, Cognitive, Developmental or Social. Consent of instructor and/or specific prerequisites may be required for specific offerings.

---

PSY390S - Special Topics in Psychology

Subject

PSY

Catalog Number

390S

Title

Special Topics in Psychology

Description

Topics vary by semester and section from the different areas of Psychology: Biological, Cognitive, Developmental or Personality/Social. Consent of instructor and/or specific prerequisites may be required for specific offerings.

---

PSY390SA - Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Subject

PSY

Catalog Number

390SA

Title

Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Description

Topics differ by section.

---

PSY391 - Independent Study

Subject

PSY

Catalog Number

391

Title

Independent Study

Description

Individual non-research directed study on a previously approved topic under the supervision of a faculty member and resulting in a significant product that promotes understanding or application of psychological science. Junior year fall. Department consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>392</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Individual non-research directed study on a previously approved topic under the supervision of a faculty member and resulting in a significant product that promotes understanding or application of psychological science. Junior year spring. Department consent required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Meets general requirement of a curriculum Research (R) course but does not fulfill major requirement for an advanced seminar or methods course. Junior year fall. Prerequisite: Two courses in Psychology. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>394</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

See Psychology 393. Junior year spring. Prerequisite: Two psychology courses. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>405S</td>
<td>Great Ideas in Psychology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Ideas in psychology drawn from many content areas (including perception, personality, motivation, biological, social, cognitive, developmental) and approaches (including laboratory experiments, questionnaires, observation, imaging, interview, computer simulation). We will examine what makes ideas good, great, and mediocre, and also examine ‘bad ideas’ in psychology. Course functions as a capstone experience -- an opportunity to synthesize previous knowledge, fill in missing areas, and reflect on the nature of ideas in the field. Implications for evaluating ideas in any academic discipline.
PSY411S - Disorders of Anxiety

Description
Provides students with a solid foundation in the DSM anxiety (and anxiety-related) disorders, focusing on presentation and correlates, as well as etiological formulations and treatments associated with multiple theoretical perspectives. Readings include journal articles, case studies, and empirically supported treatment guides; class activities include role-plays and treatment demonstrations. Open to juniors and seniors only, with priority given to psychology majors. Prerequisite: Psychology 105 and consent of instructor.

PSY412S - Clinical Interventions: Treating Emotion Dysregulation and Impulsivity Using DBT

Description
Introduction to the basic principles, strategies and methods of an empirically-based clinical intervention, Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT), a cognitive behavioral based treatment for individuals with severe emotional dysregulation and impulsivity. Seminar includes didactics, discussion, video demonstrations, skills practice, and role-plays as well as experiential homework assignments in order to further understanding of the theoretical underpinnings of DBT, biopsychosocial model of psychopathology, case formulation, and skills needed for conducting both individual DBT therapy and the DBT skills training group (e.g., mindfulness, emotion regulation). Prerequisite: Psychology 105 or instructor consent.

PSY425 - The Psychology of Consumers

Description
The psychology of consumers and ways of influencing consumer behavior. How knowledge of consumer psychology and behavior is used to develop marketing techniques. How to use consumer psychology in making business decisions; the ethical issues associated with consumer influence. Prerequisite: Prior course in Psychology.

PSY426 - Social Psychology of Business

Description
Application of social psychological principles to the understanding of how businesses respond to significant environmental change. Focus on multinational firms to allow for consideration of cross-cultural influences. Recommended prerequisite: Psychology 104/Sociology 104 or a Markets and Management course.
PSY427S - Current Topics in Sensory Biology

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PSY | 427S | Current Topics in Sensory Biology

Description

Exploration of recent and classic studies in sensory biology. Actual topics are chosen by students at the start of the semester. Usually includes vision, hearing, smell, taste, pheromones, electoreception, magnetoreception, bioluminescence, touch, time, and music. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L, or 201L and 202L, or 203L or the equivalent, and one course in Neuroscience, or consent of instructor.

PSY435S - The Role of Race and Culture on Development

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PSY | 435S | The Role of Race and Culture on Development

Description

Critical examination of racial, cultural, and social influences on development of African American children in the U.S. Traditional and nontraditional theoretical and empirical approaches; issues surrounding children's cognitive, language, and psychosocial development, plus educational attainment explored from a socio-cultural perspective. Includes discussion of racial stereotypes, familial interactions, social policy, the media, and peer groups. Prerequisites: Introductory Psych, Developmental, Human Development, Research Methods courses. Juniors andSeniors only.

PSY436S - Clinical Interventions with Children and Families

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PSY | 436S | Clinical Interventions with Children and Families

Description

Study of techniques used by clinical psychologists to treat and prevent psychological disorders of childhood. Focus on a) understanding major types of clinical interventions, b) how clinical psychologists develop, implement, and evaluate interventions, c) ethical issues in treating children and families, d) integration of research and practice in the treatment and prevention of childhood psychological disorders. Prerequisites: Psychology 105 or 207, and a research methods course or statistics course.

PSY437S - Language Development

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PSY | 437S | Language Development

Description

Focuses on a fundamentally unique human ability: learning language. Covers how young children first learn language, including: 1) how children figure out what sounds their language includes; 2) how infants learn words & their meanings; and (3) what kind of processes help babies figure out the grammar of their particular native language. Since young children understand more than they can say, this course also covers the methods available for figuring out what they know, based on experimental and observational data. Students will discuss and present recent research articles and new study ideas.
PSY438S - Children's Peer Relations

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 438S
Title: Children's Peer Relations

Description
Examination of the empirical literature with emphasis on the functions that peers serve for children, the developmental course of these relationships, the clinical ramifications and possible explanations for inadequate peer relations (including an examination of the family's role), and interventions used to improve children's relationships with their peers. Regular opportunities to analyze, critique, and synthesize primary research literature.

PSY440S - Prejudice & Stereotyping

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 440S
Title: Prejudice & Stereotyping

Description
In this upper-level undergraduate seminar, students will be introduced to classic and contemporary research on the psychology of stereotyping, prejudice, and discrimination. We will examine social psychological experimental evidence investigating phenomena and processes associated with people's beliefs about members of social groups (stereotypes), evaluative attitudes toward social group members (prejudice), and behavioral responses toward individuals due to their group membership(s) (discrimination). This course will help you understand when and why people express prejudice and stereotype others as well as to consider how institutions can play a role in perpetuating disparities.

PSY444S - Neuroscience Service Learning: Brain Connections

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 444S
Title: Neuroscience Service Learning: Brain Connections

Description
Learn major scientific discoveries and technological advances in psychology, biology, and neurology that shaped contemporary neuroscience and society. Discuss early and recent works ranging from popular media to scientific journals online and in-class. Improve written communication through self-reflection and weekly feedback from instructor and peers. Develop and assess neuroscience demonstrations in team environment for engaging local communities. Prerequisites: strong competency in foundational knowledge of neuroscience - successful completion of Neuroscience 101 and TWO of the following core courses: Neuroscience 201, 211, 212 or 223 (concurrent enrollment in 2nd core course acceptable).

PSY450S - The Psychology of Trauma and Memory

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 450S
Title: The Psychology of Trauma and Memory

Description
Inquiry into how memory changes in and supports the effects of traumatic events, and its relation to current diagnosis and treatment of posttraumatic stress disorder. Examination of differences across cultures in understanding trauma and responses to it. Integration of behavioral theory and observation with its neural basis, including neuroimaging. Topics include ongoing debates about accuracy, narrative coherence, and involuntary memory. Levels of analysis range from neural substrates, through behavior and thought processes to the social construction of memory and trauma. Research projects use primary and secondary materials, empirical observations, or reanalysis of existing data.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>451S</td>
<td>PSY451S - Autobiographical Memory</td>
<td>A review and critical analysis of the literature, theory, and empirical study of autobiographical memory within cognitive psychology and neuroscience. Levels of analysis from the cultural, individual, neural systems, and neurobiological are integrated. Topics include accuracy, functions including planning for future actions, and effects of neural damage. Emphasis on the reasoning, research designs, and methods used in examining autobiographical memory. Research projects use primary and secondary materials, empirical observations, or reanalysis of existing data.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>453S</td>
<td>PSY453S - Mind Wandering and Inattention</td>
<td>Introduction to theoretical and practical aspects of research in cognitive science. Classes and readings will focus on popular topics in the domain of mind wandering and inattention, with an emphasis on the research process. This course will focus on critically evaluating primary-source material, and on honing presentation and writing skills. Prerequisite: Psychology 102 and any one of the following courses: Psychology 201L; Statistical Science 101, 102, 104, 111, or 250; Mathematics 342; or Sociology 333.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>461S</td>
<td>PSY461S - Neurobiology of Learning and Memory</td>
<td>An active, team-based learning seminar addressing the neurobiological mechanisms of learning and memory. Focusing on the cellular basis of information encoding and retrieval, this course enables you to evaluate contemporary findings, design experiments and synthesize and communicate conclusions. Prerequisite: Psychology 257, 275, 276 or Biology 223/Neuroscience 223 or permission of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>463</td>
<td>PSY463 - Behavioral Economics</td>
<td>Introduction to the insights gained from incorporating psychology into economic modeling. Based exclusively on original, often recent, scientific publications. Focus on empirical evidence, theoretical models and economic implications. Equilibrium analysis is essential analytical tool. Participants will each give a presentation of a scientific paper from the reading list. This course will build on mathematics covered in Mathematics 202/212/222. Prerequisite: Economics 205D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>469S</td>
<td>PSY469S - Cognitive Control and the Prefrontal Cortex</td>
<td>Review and critical analysis of current and historical perspectives on functional neuroanatomy of the prefrontal cortex. Discussion is informed by anatomical, neuropsychological, neurological, neuroimaging, animal models, and computational approaches. Open to juniors and seniors majoring in Psychology or Neuroscience, and to graduate students. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY</td>
<td>470S</td>
<td>PSY470S - Cognitive Neuroscience of Memory</td>
<td>Research on the neural correlates of memory in humans. Neuropsychological studies with brain-damaged patients and functional neuroimaging studies with healthy individuals. Cognitive neuroscience models of memory, including episodic memory, working memory, semantic memory, priming, and procedural memory. Prerequisite: Psychology 102 or Psychology 106/Neuroscience 101 or Psychology 107/Neuroscience 102.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY472S - Everyday Cognition</td>
<td>472S</td>
<td>Everyday Cognition</td>
<td>Key cognitive processes (e.g., attention, memory, comprehension, problem solving) and how they work in everyday settings. Cognition in classrooms, courtrooms, hospitals, grocery stores, kitchens, jobs, sports, and dance. Focus on Medical Cognition, Courtroom Cognition, and Memory for Movement. For each setting—successful vs. mediocre performance, types of errors, and applications. Visits by experts (e.g., pharmacists, doctors, judges, lawyers, chefs, choreographers) to discuss the cognitive processes essential for their jobs.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY474S - Biological Psychology of Human Development</td>
<td>474S</td>
<td>Biological Psychology of Human Development</td>
<td>Multidisciplinary perspectives bearing on key processes in human development from infancy through old age; the way that biological and psychological processes act together in normal and pathological behavior and development. Clinical case material and videotapes. Open to juniors and seniors only, preferably Psychology majors and students in the Program in Human Development.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY477S - Biology of Nervous System Diseases</td>
<td>477S</td>
<td>Biology of Nervous System Diseases</td>
<td>Primary literature investigating the underlying molecular and cellular mechanisms of nervous system disorders such as neurodegenerative diseases (Alzheimer’s, Parkinson’s, Huntington’s), mental illness, and epilepsy. Prerequisite: Neuroscience 201 or 223 or Biology 220 or consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PSY478S - Motivation, Action, Choice: Neural and Behavioral Mechanisms</td>
<td>478S</td>
<td>Motivation, Action, Choice: Neural and Behavioral Mechanisms</td>
<td>Behavioral analysis and neural mechanisms underlying goal-directed and voluntary actions, how they are driven by needs and desires of the organism and controlled by cognitive processes that provide a rich representation of self and world. Discussion of models of behavioral and cognitive control and their neural mechanisms and implications of such models for psychiatric disorders, consciousness, free will, and responsibility. Participation in class discussion and short weekly writing assignments required. Prerequisites: Exploring the Mind courses or Neuroscience 101/Psychology 106 or Neuroscience 102/Psychology 107 and at least one other psychology or neuroscience class.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PSY479S - Auditory Neuroscience - From Sound to Music

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 479S
Title: Auditory Neuroscience - From Sound to Music

Description: An exploration of how sound is processed in the brain, providing an introduction to stages of information processing from ears to auditory cortex and beyond. Methods of data acquisition (e.g., fMRI, electrophysiology, psychoacoustics) are introduced along with their advantages and pitfalls. Sound and auditory perception are discussed, starting with basic properties such as frequency, loudness, pitch, and timbre, progressing to human speech and music. A textbook, primary research papers and scholarly reviews are assigned. An interest in all forms of sound and music and completion of Neuroscience 201 or Neuroscience 212 are strongly recommended.

PSY482S - Psychology of Imagination

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 482S
Title: Psychology of Imagination

Description: Imagination is a core feature of human cognition, and the study of human imagination possibly one of the broadest and least unified topics in psychological science. This course, drawing on readings from cognitive psychology, neuroscience, developmental psychology, and philosophy, is for anyone interested in understanding the psychology of imagination as it functions in everyday thought and action. Topics covered: counterfactual and future thinking, mind-wandering, creativity, children's imaginary friends, pretense, and fantasy, imagination in clinical populations, and imaginations in social life (relationships, organizations, social identity). Prerequisite: Psychology 101 or 102, and one Psychology or Neuroscience course numbered 200 or higher.

PSY490A - Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 490A
Title: Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Psychology

Description: Topics differ by session.

PSY490S - Special Topics in Psychology

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Special Topics in Psychology

Description: Topics differ by section.

PSY491 - Independent Study

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 491
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual non-research directed study on a previously approved topic under the supervision of a faculty member and resulting in a significant product that promotes understanding or application of psychological science. Senior year fall. Department consent required.

PSY492 - Independent Study

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 492
Title: Independent Study

Description: Individual non-research directed study on a previously approved topic under the supervision of a faculty member and resulting in a significant product that promotes understanding or application of psychological science. Senior year spring. Department consent required.

PSY493 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: See Psychology 393. Senior year fall. Prerequisite: Two psychology courses. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

PSY494 - Research Independent Study

Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 494
Title: Research Independent Study

Description: See Psychology 393. Senior year spring. Prerequisite: Two psychology courses. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
PSY496 - Distinction Thesis Workshop
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 496
Title: Distinction Thesis Workshop

Description:
This graded course unit accompanies the writing of the Graduation with Distinction thesis. It is restricted to distinction candidates, and is specifically geared at preparing students for pursuing research at the graduate school level and beyond. Topics cover all phases of research project development, scientific article writing, and poster and oral presentation. In addition, the course includes a variety of professional development sessions, introducing the students to the publication process, graduate school considerations, and grant writing. The students are required to produce several written works and oral presentation. Department consent required.

PSY499 - Current Research in Neuroscience
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 499
Title: Current Research in Neuroscience

Description:
A formal component of the Graduation with Distinction in Neuroscience plan that includes review of directed reading and research in both theoretical and experimental neuroscience. Emphasis on the development of the ability to critically evaluate empirical research and to construct mathematical or deductive/inductive models. Final project includes preparation of a formal research proposal and a review of the role of ethics in science. Enrollment in an independent study and consent of instructor required. Along with research and thesis, required for Graduation with Distinction in Neuroscience.

PSY87 - SPIRE First Year Lecture
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 87
Title: SPIRE First Year Lecture

Description:
This is a course designed for first and second year students who have agreed to join the SPIRE Fellows Program. We will provide a foundational overview of STEM education at Duke while also creating a safe space to discuss systemic inequities for women and underrepresented minorities in the sciences. Students will be encouraged to think critically about Duke campus culture and respectfully engage with their peers on issues of diversity and inclusion in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) initiatives.

PSY91 - General Psychology
Subject: PSY
Catalog Number: 91
Title: General Psychology

Description:
Broad survey of modern psychology that emphasizes biological, evolutionary, cognitive, and developmental perspectives while placing this work in its historical, social and philosophical context. This course provides credit for introductory psychology courses that are offered during summer sessions or taken at other institutions that do not meet the departmental standards for the Introductory Psychology (Psychology 101) course that is required for all majors and minors. This course does not count toward the psychology major or minor.

PUBPOL110 - Information, Society & Culture: Bass Connections Gateway
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 110
Title: Information, Society & Culture: Bass Connections Gateway

Description:
Information, Society, and Culture across disciplines. How all aspects of information theory and practice, including computational and mathematical and those from social sciences and the humanities are transforming research, reframing intellectual questions in research and its application, and having an impact on interactions within societies, cultures, ideologies, economics, politics. Modules presented by faculty from all areas and schools, contrasting and comparative perspectives in research-driven modules focused on interdisciplinary project questions and ideas. Lecture/section activities. Course Gateway for the Bass Connections theme in Information, Society and Culture.
PUBPOL115FS - Human Rights: Back to The Future, Looking at Roots and Current Reality of Human Rights

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 115FS | Human Rights: Back to The Future, Looking at Roots and Current Reality of Human Rights

Description
This Focus course introduces students to a brief history of rights as a way to ground our exploration of current human rights challenges and what rights may be envisioned in the future. Rights have never been static. Recent changes in how we see rights include the right to truth in post-conflict societies and animal rights. We'll explore how cutting-edge thinkers contribute to an expanded horizon of rights. We will be engaging with activists, scholars, and artists. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

PUBPOL120 - Undergraduate Internship Requirement

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 120 | Undergraduates Internship Requirement

Description
Field work in a chosen policy area with pre-approval of the Internship Director. Must submit approval form, five-page memo, and self-evaluation form two weeks after internship ends. Prerequisites: Public Policy 155D, Statistical Science 199L/equivalent, and PUBPOL 301 or PUBPOL 302/equivalent, and approval from Internship Director. Instructor consent required.

PUBPOL123 - History of the Present

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 123 | History of the Present

Description
Examines the history of the past forty years, focusing on the United States in a global context. Themes might include: globalization, inequality, the rise of the alt-right, climate change, the internet, and the emergence of finance and consulting. Prepares students to think historically about their own world, and gives them the opportunity to use historical methods to think about the forces shaping their lives, their families, and their potential careers. Draws on a wide variety of sources and genres: alongside more traditional academic readings, students might be exposed to digital storytelling, journalism, television, and video games.

PUBPOL125A - Undergraduate Internship

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 125A | Undergraduate Internship

Description
Field work in chosen policy area with pre-approval of the Internship Coordinator: must submit approval form, five page memo, and self-evaluation. Prerequisites: Public Policy 155, 301, 302, 303 (or equivalent), Statistical Science 101, and approval from Internship Coordinator. Instructor consent required.
PUBPOL155D - Introduction to Policy Analysis

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
155D

Title
Introduction to Policy Analysis

Description
Gateway course introduces future leaders to the study of Public Policy through an overview of the political and social context in which public policy is made, the common obstacles to good decision-making, and several methodologies used in the field of Public Policy. Students learn to apply these concepts to real-world issues through a series of case-study-driven memos and assignments that introduce enduring problems, landmark policies, and contemporary issues in a topical concentration of their choice. Appropriate for students at any level (freshmen to seniors) and designed for both prospective public policy majors and non-majors with a general interest in public policy.

PUBPOL160 - Intro to the History of Modern Warfare

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
160

Title
Intro to the History of Modern Warfare

Description
The course covers the history of warfare since the end of the eighteenth century. Our explorations focus on the nature and aims of European and US pursuits of war and the practices, languages, and experiences of its participants. We will pay special attention to the different ways in which militaries and civilian populations became the subjects and objects of warfare in the modern age.

PUBPOL162 - Introduction to Human Rights: Gateway for the Human Rights Certificate

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
162

Title
Introduction to Human Rights: Gateway for the Human Rights Certificate

Description
This is the Gateway course for the Human Rights Certificate. Students are introduced to the history, theory, practice of, and current issues in human rights. The course is interdisciplinary.

PUBPOL165 - Introduction to the United States Health Care System

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
165

Title
Introduction to the United States Health Care System

Description
Overview of key health policy issues in the United States. Topics include: (1) sources of morbidity and mortality; (2) access to health care; (3) financing of health care including an overview of how health insurance works, Medicare and Medicaid and why there are uninsured persons and to what effect; (4) health care quality; (5) end-of-life issues and care in advanced stage illness; (6) the role of non-profit versus for-profit ownership of health care facilities and to what effect; (8) long term care and care-giving issues; and (9) the impact of social phenomenon such as income inequality, social class and culture on health care.
PUBPOL166D - Introduction to Security, Peace and Conflict

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 166D
Title: Introduction to Security, Peace and Conflict

Description: Same as Political Science 160 except instruction is provided in two lectures and one small discussion meeting each week.

PUBPOL167FS - Citizenship, Patriotism, & Identity

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 167FS
Title: Citizenship, Patriotism, & Identity

Description: This course introduces students to fundamental moral questions about nation states and individuals' membership in them. Do people owe more to their compatriots than to foreigners? Is it desirable—or at least permissible—for countries to have and promote a national identity? What different forms can patriotism take, and in which (if any) of these forms is it a virtue? Should we all be 'citizens of the world?' These questions will be explored primarily through readings in contemporary moral and political philosophy. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

PUBPOL170S - The Documentary Experience: A Video Approach

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 170S
Title: The Documentary Experience: A Video Approach

Description: A documentary approach to the study of local communities through video production projects assigned by the course instructor. Working closely with these groups, students explore issues or topics of concern to the community. Students complete an edited video as their final project. Not open to students who have taken this course as Film/Video/Digital 105S.

PUBPOL171FS - Beyond Denial - A Thriving Future

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 171FS
Title: Beyond Denial - A Thriving Future

Description: Part of the Focus cluster 'It's Not Too Late to Build a Better World,' requires permission. What are the roots of the climate crisis or unparalleled inequality? This course explores big ideas as well as specific models that envision a radically different future, one that provides for the common good within our given biophysical limits, including discourses such as post-growth, wellbeing, and care economics; eco-feminism; eco-anarchism; decolonization; ecological justice; and commoning. A reading and discussion intensive course that uses an interdisciplinary approach and includes elements of research, individual and group presentations, as well as a writing requirement.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL173S</td>
<td>173S</td>
<td>The Ways and Wisdom of First-Gen College Students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This course examines the experience of first-generation college students, including their unique challenges, strategies, observations, and analyses. It is intended equally for students of all backgrounds and will, through the ethnographic method, train students in empathetic listening and participant-observation, as well as socially contextualized and cross-culturally comparative analysis.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL175S</td>
<td>175S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Civil Rights and Asian Americans</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Study of crucial legal and political moments in the struggle for equal civil rights of minorities, beginning with the laws of Chinese Exclusion, the struggle to define who was 'White,' the Asian Immigration Exclusion Acts, the relationships of Asians and African Americans and the struggle for equal schooling in the American South, the Japanese Concentration camps, the Redress and Reparations Civil Rights struggle, and the involvement of Asians Americans in the African American-led Civil Rights Movement in the 1960s, including working with Martin Luther King and Malcolm X, and Asian Americans in the anti-sweatshop unionization movement.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL177</td>
<td>177</td>
<td>Private Wealth and Public Giving: A Modern History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Surveys the entangled relationship between private wealth and public giving over the past few centuries of capitalist modernity in Asia, Europe, and the United States. Explores how the entrepreneurial impulse to make money has also been shadowed by the ethical imperative to give it away. Analysis of the circumstances and contexts in which the apparent altruism of givers is also motivated by self-interest. The major topics include study of religious giving; the historical roots of philanthropy in the age of imperialism; the evolution of ideas of 'trusteeship' and 'creative capitalism;' gender and philanthropy; and 'celebrity' philanthropy.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL178</td>
<td>178</td>
<td>Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Introduction to the Israel/Palestine conflict, studied through an interdisciplinary lens, including scholarship from the fields of anthropology, environmental studies, history, geography and cultural studies. Themes include: competing nationalisms, environmental politics and resource management, peace building, refugees and displacement, humanitarian crises and challenges, representational politics. Range of primary sources will be used including human rights reports and testimonials, natural resource policies, feature and documentary film, memoirs, political treatises, and maps.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PUBPOL179FS - Neoliberalism and US Politics

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 179FS
Title: Neoliberalism and US Politics

Description
Neoliberalism is a philosophical framework so intrinsic to contemporary US politics that it can be difficult for Americans to articulate, contemplate, and critique. In this course, we will define neoliberalism, evaluate its role in US politics and society, and discuss alternative social and political worldviews.

PUBPOL180FS - Dynamics of Environmental & Climate Justice: Movements, Counter Movements, & Institutional Response

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 180FS
Title: Dynamics of Environmental & Climate Justice: Movements, Counter Movements, & Institutional Response

Description
This course examines the contentious politics of the environmental justice and climate justice movements. We explore how these movements and their opposition work to shape political opportunities and responses. We will consider the substantive concerns of the environmental justice movement, the climate justice movement, their methods, and the scales at which they operate (local, national, global). Social movements of political significance will generate opposition. So, we will consider the countermovements that challenge both justice movements. These topics will be explored using a range of materials as well as through field observations of movement activities and other events. FOCUS program students only.

PUBPOL181FS - Human Rights and World Politics

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 181FS
Title: Human Rights and World Politics

Description
Examines the role of human rights and global justice in world politics. We will consider questions such as whether human rights are universal, what role human rights and global justice should be play in U.S. foreign policy, which strategies are most effective in promoting human rights and global justice, and which risk inciting backlash. The course will cover topics including civil and political rights; economic, social and cultural rights; genocide, torture, humanitarian intervention, and the international criminal court.

PUBPOL183FS - Medical Ethics, Aging, and End of Life Care in the US

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 183FS
Title: Medical Ethics, Aging, and End of Life Care in the US

Description
Study of medical ethics, policy, clinical, and personal issues in working with dying and bereaved people. Focuses on diverse populations in ethnicity, culture, socioeconomic status, education, sexual orientation, and more. Various models for providing care to the dying and bereaved. Visits from medical personnel. Works to be read/viewed may include 'Me, Earl, and the Dying Girl,' Charon's 'Narrative Medicine,' Gawande's 'Being Mortal,' Tolstoy's 'Death of Ivan Ilich,' Kalanithi's 'When Breath Becomes Air,' and policy articles on end of life care and physician assisted suicide. Focus Program students only. Service-Learning course. Instructor consent required.
PUBPOL185FS - Drugs and the Law

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 185FS
Title: Drugs and the Law

Description

Exploration of the relationship between addictive drugs and the law. Examine mechanisms by which drugs of abuse affect the brain and decision-making on the individual level, and consequences of those effects on the societal level, then examine how society responds to these behaviors in terms of attitudes and laws. Compare perspectives of the criminal justice system with that of drug users. Class consists of lectures, discussions, guest speakers, and media presentations and a project examining cross-generational views on drug use, abuse, and laws. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Instructor consent required.

PUBPOL186FS - Ethical Implications of Genetic and Genomic Research

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 186FS
Title: Ethical Implications of Genetic and Genomic Research

Description

This course will examine the ethical implications raised by genetic and genomic research. Students will gain an understanding of the historical basis of human subjects’ protections in the United States, the ethical pillars of research, and the issues that arise from genetics and genomics research. Case studies in genomics research will be used to illustrate various ethical implications. Readings will consist of reviews of the history of human subjects’ protections, federal regulations, actual informed consent documents, and scientific papers from the primary literature. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Instructor consent required.

PUBPOL187FS - Globalization and Corporate Citizenship

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 187FS
Title: Globalization and Corporate Citizenship

Description

Are corporations citizens? And if so who defines their rights and responsibilities? To whom are they obligated? This course will critically examine the origins and diffusion of increasingly prevalent notions of corporate citizenship and corporate social responsibility from an anthropological perspective. Particular emphasis will be upon corporate environmental and conservation policies in East Africa and the United States. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Director of undergraduate studies consent required.

PUBPOL188FS - Economics, Policy, and Global Health

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 188FS
Title: Economics, Policy, and Global Health

Description

Imagine driving a car, blindfolded, with instructions from the backseat on what to do and they are rarely in agreement. How do you decide what to do, which instructions to rely on? Policy making in a fast-moving epidemic (such as the COVID-19) can often look like this. This course will help students understand: Where does data for policy come from? How is data on epidemics generated and synthesized? Why does data become controversial … what is the ‘truth’? Responding to data – differences between clinical settings and population settings. How does data inform policy – or more precisely, why does it not inform policy. How can future leaders do better? Consent required.
PUBPOL189FS - Documenting Youth Movements for Environment and Racial Justice Since 2010

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>189FS</td>
<td>Documenting Youth Movements for Environment and Racial Justice Since 2010</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Immersion in the dangerous and contentious recent history of youth activism in environmental and racial justice movements worldwide. Using oral history, archival research methods, and cultural production, students explore methods for researching documenting and creating narratives of youth social activism. Historical and contemporary youth campaigns explored in this course include those to protect land, soil, air and people from pollutants in Black, Indigenous, and Global South communities. All of these movements have expanded the legal, narrative, and practical understanding of environmental and human rights in US and global frameworks.

PUBPOL190A - Public Policy Special Topics Away

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>190A</td>
<td>Public Policy Special Topics Away</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Selected topics away. Transfer grading only.

PUBPOL190FS - Focus Program Introductory Special Topics in Public Policy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Focus Program Introductory Special Topics in Public Policy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introductory and basic topics in public policy. Topics vary each semester. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

PUBPOL190S - Special Topics in Public Policy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Public Policy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary each semester.
PUBPOL196FS - Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
196FS

Title
Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Description
In the 1960s, patients appropriated the language and tactics of the civil rights movement to advance clinical and research agendas. Today patient activism is evolving, leading to new solutions, dilemmas, and organizational structures. This course will examine patient and research participant activism and the ways it challenges conventional notions of expertise, amateurism, 'human subjects protections,' and minimization of risk. Students will bring the tools of journalism, anthropology, humanities scholarship, public policy and community engagement/citizen science to bear on ethical and policy questions. Open only to students in the Science & the Public Focus Program cluster. Department consent required.

PUBPOL199FS - Imagining American Health

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
199FS

Title
Imagining American Health

Description
How has landmark public policy changed the health landscape in the United States and influenced the way we think and talk about health as a social fact? How has cultural expression both registered these changes and sought to influence law and policy? What debates have played out in public discourse regarding policies that impact health and how can attention to language and narrative literacy help us to understand both the potential and the limits of policy work? This course will explore these interactions between policies that impact health in its social context and cultural expression, focusing on photography, literature, and film.

PUBPOL201A - Environmental Policy in Europe: Duke in Berlin

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
201A

Title
Environmental Policy in Europe: Duke in Berlin

Description
Economic concepts and environmental policies with their application to selected environmental issues in Western and Eastern Europe, transboundary pollution problems, and the role of the European Community. Taught by a leading German expert in the Duke-in-Berlin fall semester program.

PUBPOL202 - How to Think in an Age of Political Polarization

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
202

Title
How to Think in an Age of Political Polarization

Description
Americans today live in a time of deep political polarization, cultural tribalism, and self-segregation. To many, it feels like we’re in the middle of a cultural civil war that is turning violent. Those with whom we have deep disagreements, assuming we interact with them at all, are often viewed as not just wrong but as irrational, immoral, even contemptible. Is this a good thing? What sort of habits of mind (e.g., intellectual humility and charity) and practices should we cultivate in response to this reality in order to sustain a healthy democracy? Special attention paid to the university, cancel culture, free speech, social media, and identity politics. Lively discussion is encouraged.
PUBPOL203 - Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number 203

Title
Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change

Description
Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality.

PUBPOL204A - Political Philosophy of Globalization

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
204A

Title
Political Philosophy of Globalization

Description
Examination of the claim made for and against the expansion of free exchange on economic, political, and cultural institutions and conditions, from the perspectives of competing ethical theories and political philosophies. Taught only in the Duke in Geneva Summer Study Abroad program.

PUBPOL205 - The United States and the World, 1898 to the Present

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number 205

Title
The United States and the World, 1898 to the Present

Description
Course explores the evolution of US foreign relations, from the Spanish-American War in 1898 through the challenges facing the Biden Administration. Will consider US foreign relations in a broad sense. US' political, economic, and cultural relations with other states, organizations, and individuals will all be considered, as will the role that domestic politics play in the making and execution of US foreign policy.

PUBPOL206S - Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
206S

Title
Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)

Description
Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality. Consent of instructor is required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL207</td>
<td>207</td>
<td>Development and Africa</td>
<td>Addresses the vexed issue of economic development in Africa - its many failures, its occasional successes - from the early colonial period to the present. Focuses especially on the transition from the 1960s 'modernizing' moment to the millennium projects and humanitarian aid of the present. Will read the works of development experts, World Bank executives, anthropologists and historians, asking why this massively financed project has experienced such failure and exploring what can be done.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL208S</td>
<td>208S</td>
<td>Language and Politics: Global Perspectives</td>
<td>We will never speak a single language, or agree on the best way to organize society and politics for 'the good life.' How do macro-politics affect the language(s) we choose to speak? What public policy initiatives can be deployed so that language is an accessible resource for all? Are there such things as language rights, and how can they be distributed and defended? These questions are not just academic, but essential to understanding the world(s) that we inhabit. This course takes a global and historical approach to the politics of language, examining the relationships between language, society, and the state.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL209S</td>
<td>209S</td>
<td>Human Rights and Legal Redress: Seeking Justice through Human Rights</td>
<td>In this course, students will analyze through case studies the issues that confront the implementation of human rights ethics down through the layers separated by geography and culture to local implementation and enforcement. They will acquire an understanding of the international, regional and local human rights conventions and structures which propose, cultivate and enforce the ethical norms of the international human rights regime. This class addresses questions including: in what respects do enforcement options differ from place to place? When, where and under what circumstances is the human rights apparatus most effective in providing redress for rights violations? And, what are the alternatives to the human rights approach to justice?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL210A</td>
<td>210A</td>
<td>Frontier City Berlin: Facing History's Great Challenges</td>
<td>This course deals with some of the great challenges and conflicts of the 20th and 21st century, such as capitalism vs. communism; authoritarian vs. democratic governance, and focuses on Berlin as a city at the forefront of historic struggles. In particular, it treats Berlin as the site of the first socialist revolution in a highly industrialized nation (1918/19); the rise of fascism amidst an advanced urban culture, the legacy of world war and totalitarian rule; the Cold War division of Berlin; the fall of communism and the crises of capitalism; and the search for an environmentally sustainable future. Offered in English in the Duke-in-Berlin summer program.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PUBPOL211-20 - Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Structural Focus
Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number
211-20
Title
Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Structural Focus
Description
Design and testing of solutions to complex interdisciplinary design products in a service-learning context with a focus on structural products. Technical design principles; sustainable and engineering best practices; prototype formation, testing and evaluation; and establishment of research and analysis methodologies in a community-based research experience. Working in partnership with a community agency (local, national, or international) and participation in an experimental learning process by engineering a design solution for an identified community need. Evaluation focused on design deliverables, fabricated prototypes and a critical reflection of the experimental learning process.

PUBPOL211-60 - Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Environmental Focus
Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number
211-60
Title
Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Environmental Focus
Description
Design and testing of solutions to complex interdisciplinary design products in a service-learning context with a focus on structural products. Technical design principles; sustainable and engineering best practices; prototype formation, testing and evaluation; and establishment of research and analysis methodologies in a community-based research experience. Working in partnership with a community agency (local, national, or international) and participation in an experimental learning process by engineering a design solution for an identified community need. Evaluation focused on design deliverables, fabricated prototypes and a critical reflection of the experimental learning process. Prerequisite: Engineering 201L or Electrical and Computer Engineering 110L or consent of instructor.

PUBPOL212 - Globalization and Public Policy
Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number
212
Title
Globalization and Public Policy
Description
How the various aspects of globalization effect and are affected by public policy at the international, national and local levels. Development of an analytic framework for thinking about globalization and its core concepts, major institutions and political dynamics; survey of a range of major policy areas affected by globalization; focus on a policy area of particular interest.

PUBPOL213S - Arts Policy, Leadership, and Engagement
Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number
213S
Title
Arts Policy, Leadership, and Engagement
Description
This community-engaged course provides an introduction to contemporary issues in US arts policy and cultural sector leadership across four broad themes: creative institutions; cultural equity and accessibility; creative placemaking/community development; and the creative economy. In addition to policy questions in these areas, we examine leadership practices in arts organizations and cultural institutions, with particular attention to the kinds of leadership the arts require in a post-2020 world. Students will work in teams on a semester-long collaborative project with an arts policy organization and experience the arts in practice through attendance at performances and exhibitions.
PUBPOL214S - South African Past and Present

Subject | PUBPOL
---|---
Catalog Number | 214S
Title | South African Past and Present

Description
Explores the history of modern South Africa from the beginning of the mineral revolution in the 1860s to the post-apartheid present. We will cover mining-centered industrialization, the emergence of Afrikaner and African nationalism, segregationist ideology, and the construction of apartheid. We will examine the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, and the regional and wide-ranging global efforts to end apartheid and usher in democracy. The establishment and promise of multi-party democracy, the AIDS epidemic, and the reemergence of social movements are all topics we will consider and we will conclude by reflecting on the place of South Africa as a regional, continental, and world power.

PUBPOL215S - Just Work: Restorative Justice Models and Applications

Subject | PUBPOL
---|---
Catalog Number | 215S
Title | Just Work: Restorative Justice Models and Applications

Description
Rooted in ancient practices from indigenous cultures & religious texts, Restorative Justice (RJ) has gained interest as a means to reform the modern justice system and manage wrongdoing in schools and workplaces. This course takes an interdisciplinary approach to consider RJ as an alternative to typical retributive justice models. Examines RJ theory, RJ diversion programs, & the strengths and limitations of RJ's application, including Victim-Offender Mediated Dialogues, Community Conflict Councils, and Truth & Reconciliation Commissions. Asks: does RJ offer the paradigm shift our society needs to address the failings in our justice systems in our communities, institutions, & personal lives?

PUBPOL217SA - Theory and Practice: People, Places and Policy Cases

Subject | PUBPOL
---|---
Catalog Number | 217SA
Title | Theory and Practice: People, Places and Policy Cases

Description
Talks by Congress members, legislative staff members, interest group leaders, journalists, and other members of the public policy community in Washington. Visits to government buildings, historical sites, and other policy-rich attractions in the nation's capital. Discussion and written assignments require analysis and linkages between 'real world' of policy practice and theories and concepts from political science and public policy studies. Offered through the Duke in DC program.

PUBPOL218S - Conflict Analysis in Africa (Case Studies)

Subject | PUBPOL
---|---
Catalog Number | 218S
Title | Conflict Analysis in Africa (Case Studies)

Description
Utilizes four case studies to outline components of conflict analysis in Africa. Examines regional crisis nexus between Darfur, Chad and Central African Republic. Looks at issues of postcoloniality, autochthony, migration, citizenship, land tenure, and inequality. On a theoretical level, identifies potentially crosscutting, deeper layers of contemporary crises in Africa with the objective of establishing a series of templates, a 'protocol', for comparative conflict analysis and conflict management in Africa.
PUBPOL219D - The Modern Regulatory State

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 219D
Title: The Modern Regulatory State

Description
Interdisciplinary inquiry into the origins/evolution of modern regulatory institutions in Western Europe and North America, along with the more recent rise of global regulatory bodies. Examines conceptual frameworks from across the social sciences, and considers the ethical dimensions of current debates over regulatory purposes, strategies, and policies in areas such as finance and the environment.

PUBPOL220 - Immigrant Dreams, U.S. Realities: Immigration Policy History

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 220
Title: Immigrant Dreams, U.S. Realities: Immigration Policy History

Description
Immigrants and immigration policy in the United States from 1850 to the present, with focus on origins and power of immigrant exclusion during three waves of migration: Northern European and Asian migrations between 1850 and 1880, Eastern European, Latin American, and Asian migrations, 1880-1920, and Latin American, African, and Asian migrations, post 1965. Immigrant roles in shaping policy debates, citizenship rights, labor movements, and American culture, past and present.

PUBPOL222 - International Political Economy

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 222
Title: International Political Economy

Description
Examination of the politics of international economic relations from the perspective of both advanced industrialized and developing countries. Focus on international trade, money and finance; multinational corporations and global value chains; foreign aid and the politics of development; distributional consequences of economic globalization; and the role of power and institutions in the governance of world economy.

PUBPOL223 - Global Russia

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 223
Title: Global Russia

Description
This course will examine the process of globalization of Russian culture and institutions as manifested in political, economic, and legal institutions; religion; education; popular and academic cultural forms, including media and artistic texts, film, theatre and television; diplomacy; reproductive rights; health care; the role of censorship; views of citizenship, patriotism, and sport. We will evaluate the ethical issues, potential shift of cultural values, and their impact on 21st century Russian institutions.
PUBPOL224 - Russia in the World: From Cold War to Putin's Wars

Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number 224
Title
Russia in the World: From Cold War to Putin's Wars

Description
Traces evolution of Russian Federation foreign policy from the collapse of the Soviet Union at the beginning of the 1990s to the 2022 war in Ukraine. Examines elements of Russian grand strategy: military, economic (especially oil and gas), and diplomatic tools. Explores the role of one individual, President Vladimir Putin, in shaping policy in an increasingly autocratic state. Focuses on Russia’s relations with its neighbors, former allies, Europe, and the wider world, including the United States. Identifies linkages between domestic politics and events and foreign policy. Assignments focus on translating historical knowledge into actionable policy advice to meet current challenges.

PUBPOL226S - From Al-Qaeda to ISIS: Understanding Terrorism, its Roots, Responses, and Ramifications

Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number
226S
Title
From Al-Qaeda to ISIS: Understanding Terrorism, its Roots, Responses, and Ramifications

Description
Focus on Al-Qaeda as the preeminent terrorist group of contemporary militant Islam, its roots, ideology, and offshoots such as ISIS and other similar groups in Asia and Africa. Examination of Al-Qaeda’s ideology, political culture, and development through exploring the origins and the narrative discourse of modern Islamic organizations dating back to the Sufi Movement of the nineteenth century. Presentation of the patterns and ramifications of terrorist activities. Use critical thinking in order to differentiate Muslim proper narrative discourse from that of Al-Qaeda and its affiliated groups.

PUBPOL227 - Women and the Political Process

Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number
227
Title
Women and the Political Process

Description
A systematic analysis of the U.S. political system, electoral politics, platform implications, and leadership trends in the context of women’s role in political life, as voters, leaders, and citizens.

PUBPOL228 - Politics of Authoritarian Regimes

Subject
PUBPOL
Catalog Number 228
Title
Politics of Authoritarian Regimes

Description
Examine the variety of ways in which authoritarian regimes operate. Study the emergence and persistence of authoritarian regimes, the institutions they adopt, leadership change, government/opposition relations, their potential for democratic transition as well as the theories that explain these outcomes.
PUBPOL228S - Documentary and Policy: How Documentary Influences Policy

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 228S
Title: Documentary and Policy: How Documentary Influences Policy

Description:
Examines documentaries as catalysts for change in local, state, and federal laws and regulations, with special attention to relationships between film and organizations with political influence. Looks at how documentaries have altered public sentiment and political outcomes. Uses case studies of documentary films (essay-style, journalistic, information-driven films; narrative, story-driven films; propaganda; art films; and hybrids of all of the above). Explores the question of how a film achieves influence: for example, with a high-profile theatrical and/or television release, by utilization as an educational tool, or by 'going viral' to become part of a public conversation.

PUBPOL229 - The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life's Ultimate Concerns

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 229
Title: The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life's Ultimate Concerns

Description:
What does it look like for a human life to go well? What leads to human flourishing or 'happiness' or 'success'? What is freedom? Love? Justice? What is the basis for ethics? What is our relationship to the natural world? What is the significance of death? How do our beliefs (or lack thereof) about God or the gods shape how we view the world? We will examine how philosophical or religious traditions around the globe have answered life's biggest questions. Traditions may include Confucianism, Islam, Christianity, Stoicism, Judaism, Buddhism, Hinduism, scientific naturalism, expressive individualism, and utilitarianism. Part of the Transformative Ideas Sophomore Program.

PUBPOL230 - Just Laws: Inequalities in the U.S. Legal System

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 230
Title: Just Laws: Inequalities in the U.S. Legal System

Description:
Introduction to the study of law as a social institution. Investigates how legal rules reflect and shape historical contexts, ethical values, social interactions, economic conditions, and political conflicts. Focuses on how and why laws create and maintain hierarchies of privilege and disadvantage by race, social class, gender, sexuality, nationality, and age. Collaborative research and classroom learning applied to analysis of currently debated legislation. Development of information resources for stakeholders and decision-makers.

PUBPOL231 - Human Rights in Theory and Practice

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 231
Title: Human Rights in Theory and Practice

Description:
The nature and value of human rights; examining some major debates over their status and meaning and assessing the role which the idea of human rights has played in changing lives, practices, and institutions. Questions considered include: whether commitments to human rights depend on a belief in moral truth; whether the idea of universal human rights makes sense in a culturally diverse world; and what forms of social action are most likely to achieve respect for human rights.

PUBPOL232 - The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 232
Title: The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Description:
Social movements in the South from Reconstruction to the present. Includes Populism, Women's Suffrage, the Interracial Movement, labor, civil rights, post-1960s conservatism, environmental justice, and LGBTQ activism. Attention to public policy positions espoused by social movement organizations and activists.

PUBPOL232S - The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 232S
Title: The Insurgent South: Movements for Social Change

Description:
Social movements in the South from Reconstruction to the present. Includes Populism, Women's Suffrage, the Interracial Movement, labor, civil rights, post-1960s conservatism, environmental justice, and LGBTQ activism. Attention to public policy positions espoused by social movement organizations and activists.
PUBPOL234 - Religion and Foreign Policy

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 234 | Religion and Foreign Policy

Description
Examines ways in which religious ideas, identities, and actors impact the foreign policy actions of states. Topics include just war theory, religious nationalism, public opinion, elites, and faith-based approaches to peacebuilding. Focus on theory as well as comparisons of contemporary case studies. Cases include United States, Turkey, India, Israel, Iran, and Russia and explore various elements of the five major world religions. Major assignments: ongoing blog, policy brief, and final group video project.

PUBPOL235 - Risk

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 235 | Risk

Description
Simply put, risk is ‘the possibility of something bad happening.’ Defined in this way, increased attentiveness to risk has the potential to be paralyzing because it is present in nearly every aspect of human existence. This course, organized by the Duke Center on Risk, capitalizes on this ubiquity by bringing together ideas and approaches from all corners of the university. A unifying perspective is the recognition that risk involves elements of both chance (‘possibility’) and value (‘something bad’). Therefore, students will learn the languages of probability and economics within the cultural settings of public policy, law, engineering, business, and medicine.

PUBPOL236 - Globalization and History

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 236 | Globalization and History

Description
Examination of globalization issues in a historical perspective. Reviews phenomena, institutions, e.g. empires, states, religion, corporation, and international agencies, and policies which enabled exchange of commodities, people, and cultures. Explores empirical evidence on growth and development for different world regions and historians’ and social scientists’ interpretations. Examines benefit of maintaining fine balance between quantitative evidence and historical analysis in assessing waning international integration of societies, markets, and cultures from first wave of European expansion to the present.

PUBPOL242S - Child Policy Research

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 242S | Child Policy Research

Description
Major developmental stages of childhood and influences in a child’s life: parents/family life, schools, communities, and the economy. Emphasis on 1) applying theory for analyzing complex societal problems (often involving issues of race, class, and gender); 2) using material and methodologies from psychology, sociology, economics, and public policy. Required course for certificate program Child Policy Research, but open to all undergraduate students.

PUBPOL243S - Children, Schools, and Society

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 243S | Children, Schools, and Society

Description
The processes by which children are educated in the United States. Ways children acquire through schooling social skills, moral values, and a sense of their role in society. Evaluation of the appropriateness of these goals for schooling, how schooling shapes children’s development, and how the education policies that sanction these processes are formed. Application of theory and research for solving complex societal problems that confront children, schools, and communities. Required participation in service-learning.

PUBPOL245 - Promising Paradigms: Issues and Innovations in American Classrooms

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 245 | Promising Paradigms: Issues and Innovations in American Classrooms

Description
Examination of promising educational initiatives and reform efforts, analysis of federal and state mandates and policies concerning educational issues, and exploration of innovative ideas and programs designed to advance classrooms into the 21st century. Focus given to the ethical and political implications of reforming America’s schools within the context of policy development. Note: This is an online course with both synchronous and asynchronous components. Contact the instructor for additional information. Consent of instructor required.
PUBPOL246 - Public Policy, Political Power, and Social Change

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 246 | Public Policy, Political Power, and Social Change

Description
Course asks how public policies influence who has political power in the United States. Investigate how policy design and implementation creates, reproduces, or mitigates political inequality for individuals and groups. Consider how policy design can be used to build political power to facilitate social change, especially for historically marginalized communities. We will do so in the context of key issues like voting rights, criminal justice, immigration, housing, healthcare, predatory lending, and others. Students will also learn to conduct original survey experimental research (no previous experience required).

PUBPOL247 - American Constitutional Development and Interpretation II: Individual Rights

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 247 | American Constitutional Development and Interpretation II: Individual Rights

Description
Historical, political, and doctrinal introduction to the primary themes of constitutional protection of individual rights in the United States: judicial review, state action, incorporation, fundamental rights (e.g., marriage, contraception, abortion, and speech), and equal citizenship (i.e., discrimination on the basis of race, sex, and sexual orientation). Special emphasis on: (1) the shaping and reshaping of constitutional rights through cultural and political conflict; (2) basic methods of constitutional interpretation and (3) relationships among constitutional text, judicial doctrine, and robust practices of constitutional interpretation outside the courts.

PUBPOL248S - History of Political Nonviolence

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 248S | History of Political Nonviolence

Description
In this seminar, we will investigate cases of peaceful resolutions of intractable conflicts during the 20th century as alternatives to tactics of warfare and counter-terrorism. The focus will include the dissolution of the Soviet Union and its Eastern European subordinate states; the end of British rule in India, the transition from the apartheid regime in South Africa; the plebiscite ending the Pinochet dictatorship in Chile; the accords ending the violence in Ireland; and the successful nonviolent strategies of the civil rights movement in the U.S.

PUBPOL249 - Life Within Capitalism: A History of its Values, Measures and Struggles

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
PUBPOL | 249 | Life Within Capitalism: A History of its Values, Measures and Struggles

Description
Examination of how capitalism has profoundly shaped people’s ethical values, with focus on United States. Investigates central developments behind history of capitalism; explores key struggles that led to formation of capitalist logic (choices, values, goals); traces impact of capitalist goals and measures on ethical values and choices; examines discussions about possible future developments within capitalism.
PUBPOL250FS - Law, Ethics & Responsibility

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 250FS
Title: Law, Ethics & Responsibility

Description
Examines the intersection of law and neuroscience, including the use of neuroimaging to determine if a witness is telling the truth; the implications of neuroscience for determining the mental competency of defendants, the insanity defense, the imposition of punishment on defendants. Considers the extent to which recent advances in brain science cause us to reevaluate fundamental legal concepts of 'intent,' 'insanity,' and responsibility; the ways in which neuroscience may be applied to these and related issues; and the inherent limitations and incongruities of applying brain science to legal questions.

PUBPOL251 - American Constitutional Development and Interpretation I: The Constitutional Structure

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 251
Title: American Constitutional Development and Interpretation I: The Constitutional Structure

Description
Introduction to primary themes of American constitutional structure (judicial review, democracy, federalism, and separation of powers), their shaping and reshaping through cultural conflict over course of American history, and basic methods of constitutional interpretation (text, structure, history, precedent, consequences, identity, and aspirationalism). Special focus on relationships among constitutional text, judicial doctrine, and constitutional interpretation outside the courts.

PUBPOL252 - Amazon.com and the Cybereconomy

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 252
Title: Amazon.com and the Cybereconomy

Description
This course will introduce students to the complexities and controversies around the meteoric growth of the digital economy, with a focus on the biggest company of them all, Amazon. We will examine questions that range from labor conditions and consumerism to data harvesting, algorithmic marketing, and monopoly concerns. By drawing on insights from cultural anthropology, economics, history, and other disciplines, the course will give students a new understanding of how e-commerce is changing the structure of our economy, society, and everyday lives. Students will do an individual research project on some aspect of Amazon for a final project.

PUBPOL253 - Martin Luther King and the Prophetic Tradition

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 253
Title: Martin Luther King and the Prophetic Tradition

Description
Situates Martin Luther King as a preacher in the black Christian tradition with a liberationist reading. Traces the movement from civil rights to opposition to economic injustice, war, and militarism. Analyzes what the prophetic voices of today have to say about issues of poverty, racism, environmental destruction, militarism, homophobia, drones, sexism.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL255</td>
<td>255</td>
<td>Introduction to Cyber Policy</td>
<td>Policy and technical elements of activity in cyberspace will continue to impact and shape global society. Provide a basic understanding of fundamental of cyber technologies and threats, national and international cyber policies and frameworks, and key topical issues in cyber. Students will be required to complete a written mid-term based on lectures and readings, present short classroom briefings, and engage in class discussions. The final will be a capstone written and oral presentation on a realistic cyber scenario applying knowledge from classwork and their own research. No prior skills or knowledge is required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL256</td>
<td>256</td>
<td>Social Innovation</td>
<td>This course will provide an introduction to the field of social innovation. Through readings, classroom discussion, experiential learning, and individual and team assignments, the course will provide students with concepts and frameworks for understanding and practicing effective social innovation. The course develops a theory of innovation and describes examples of persons and organizations demonstrating innovative approaches. We will look at how to innovate effectively and the attributes and skills that cultivate such innovation. We will also explore the limitations of social innovation and consider critical arguments that the field must address.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL257S</td>
<td>257S</td>
<td>Shakespeare &amp; Financial Markets: Why This Time is Never Different</td>
<td>Course discusses how lessons from Shakespeare’s plays can provide insight into human behavior in today’s financial markets. Plays will include Hamlet, Julius Caesar, Twelfth Night, and others. Lessons about policy errors, cultural and political dislocation, regime changes, demographic conflicts etc. in current financial and macroeconomic environments. Discussion will include human biases in decision-making, and how these transcend cultural and historic boundaries. An important component of this class is understanding how to integrate themes from classical literature to better understand current socioeconomic trends.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL258AS</td>
<td>258AS</td>
<td>Science, Ethics, and Society</td>
<td>Major recent public debates involving science, ethics, and policy in Britain and the United States. Exploration of issues ranging from stem cell research and global warming to health care policy and the teaching of evolution, as differently framed in the two countries. Examination of scientific, philosophical, and theological dimensions of such controversies, and how their manifestations in the public realm illuminate the relationships between scientists and laypersons, academic and popular culture, and public attitudes toward government and regulation. Open only to students in the Duke in Oxford program. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PUBPOL259S - Women as Leaders
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 259S
Title: Women as Leaders
Description: Explore the long history of women's activism in the United States, and how that history has shaped current debates about women leaders. Explore the variety of ways that women exercise leadership not just in party politics and corporations, but in neighborhoods, schools, and unions among other places. Learn about theories of leadership and connect theory to practice through the process of articulating your own theory of change for your leadership journey. All are welcomed.

PUBPOL260S - Leadership, Policy, and Change
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 260S
Title: Leadership, Policy, and Change
Description: Seminar will examine the implications of declining trust in our institutions for leadership in the 21st Century. Considers this country's rich tradition of skepticism about its public institutions, as well as the vital role that societal trust has played in allowing leaders to craft and carry out meaningful public policy, dispense justice, and effect social change. Studies contemporary case studies and the role of increasing political polarization, seeking to understand why some institutions have maintained public confidence while others have not, and whether trust in the latter can be restored.

PUBPOL261SA - Whose Democracy? Participation and Public Policy in the United States
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 261SA
Title: Whose Democracy? Participation and Public Policy in the United States
Description: Overview of patterns in Americans' engagement in and disengagement from civic life. Theories of why people do (and do not) participate. Differences across lines of gender, race, ideology, generation, and class. Role of American interest groups and social movements in policy change. Influence of public policies (e.g., federal tax laws, participation requirements, programs such as AmeriCorps) on civic and political participation. Implications for equality, voice, and the health of American democracy. Classroom discussion; guest speakers; short memos. Offered through the Duke in DC program.

PUBPOL262S - Ethical Dimensions of Environmental Policy
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 262S
Title: Ethical Dimensions of Environmental Policy
Description: Uses case studies from different arenas of environmental policy (e.g., climate and clean air, water and waste, forests, oceans, energy) to surface normative assumptions often implicit in policy design and implementation. Links ethics to ethos (beliefs, aspirations, and spirit of a community or culture) to suggest that policies are not only pragmatic guidelines for decision-making and action, but also fundamental declarations concerning the character of human flourishing and the shape of the natural world, which is why environmental policies are often so contentious. Seeks to help students understand this aspect of environmental policy and to negotiate these deep-seated ethical conflicts.
PUBPOL263S - Leading In and With Community

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
263S

Title
Leading In and With Community

Description
As the gateway course for Service Opportunities in Leadership (SOL), this class explores the theory and practice of ethical community engagement, as well as frameworks for leadership that enable social change to flourish within communities. In preparation for SOL summer experiences, students will create ethical community engagement memos articulating their commitments to living into their values, honoring community self-determination, and acknowledging their social location when choosing how to exercise their citizenship in communities. Foundational texts for this class will be narrative stories, guest interviews, and case studies. Students will practice reflective and reflexive writing.

PUBPOL264S - Social Entrepreneurship and the Arts

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
264S

Title
Social Entrepreneurship and the Arts

Description
Will identify and explore the power of the arts to affect positive social change, and train in creative social entrepreneurship. Will learn the fundamentals of nonprofit management, develop personal leadership skills, and create work products that will set them on their path as entrepreneurs and leaders in social change through the arts. Project includes building a company based on their innovative idea for social change in the arts by creating vision and mission statements, company core values, strategic plans, logic models, evaluation plans, marketing and fundraising plans, and a pitch-deck.

PUBPOL265S - Enterprising Leadership

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
265S

Title
Enterprising Leadership

Description
The central goal of Enterprising Leadership is to provide students with analytical competence, enterprising leadership identity, and personal agency important to exercising leadership in organizations, in communities, and in life. The course explores the many facets of leadership and leadership development including the processes by which people affect change in a variety of roles and situations. Leadership within a framework of ethics, values, and innovative action are emphasized as a basis for contributing to the process of making good things happen without reliance on formal authority. This is not a traditional course in leadership studies or leading organizations.

PUBPOL266S - Critical Pedagogy of Hip Hop

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
266S

Title
Critical Pedagogy of Hip Hop

Description
This course examines the role of critical pedagogy in developing learning environments that engage and empower youth. Emphasis is placed on the context of Hip Hop as a foundation for instructional decision-making and social justice advocacy/activism. Students will explore the historical and socio-cultural foundations of education initiatives, teaching and learning strategies, federal and state mandates and educational policy issues that contribute to marginalization. Innovations, interdisciplinary collaboration and community programs designed to strengthen schools and communities will be highlighted.
PUBPOL267S - Global Cold War

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 267S
Title: Global Cold War

Description

Traditional narratives of the Cold War focus on a bi-polar series of conflicts that pit the United States against the Soviet Union in a good-versus-evil battle for global political and military supremacy. This course destabilizes this account of a process that affected every continent on earth – and even reached into space – over the period of more than half a century. It explores the Cold War from East-West, North-South, global, and interstellar perspectives. In addition to political and military issues, the course will also discuss the Cold War in social, cultural, intellectual, and economic spheres.

PUBPOL269S - The US Intelligence Enterprise

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 269S
Title: The US Intelligence Enterprise

Description

Course will explore the intelligence discipline through examination of the US Intelligence Enterprise. Students will review pivotal intelligence policies, the organizational design of the US intelligence apparatus, and contemporary ethical issues associated with intelligence collection, both foreign and domestic. Through team projects and active learning exercises, students will gain exposure to the sub-disciplines of intelligence collection and intelligence analysis. Open to undergraduate sophomores and juniors.

PUBPOL270S - Lead the Way Durham: Civic Engagement, Social Innovation, and Community Leadership in the Bull City

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 270S
Title: Lead the Way Durham: Civic Engagement, Social Innovation, and Community Leadership in the Bull City

Description

Let's explore how Durhamites shape and are shaped by the local policy environment and the creativity they employ to address social/civic issues in Durham. Who defines community? How does that inform our community participation? What are the core tenets of ethical community engagement? How do we implement them in our daily lives? How do geography, race, class, power, and privilege influence our conception of engagement? We’ll learn from leaders in education, housing, government, criminal justice, and food security, and leave the classroom to discuss with Durham locals. Through active participation and mindful reflection, students refine their personal models of social change. All are welcome.

PUBPOL272S - Overlooked Children: Topics of Equity and Access in Gifted Education

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 272S
Title: Overlooked Children: Topics of Equity and Access in Gifted Education

Description

The underrepresentation of certain groups in gifted programs persists. This course will examine the enrollment disparities that exist in gifted and advanced programs, critically review the assessment practices used to identify gifted students, and explore educational policy designed to reconcile equity and access issues in education. A variety of partners will host students for the service-learning component for this course. Potential partners include, but are not limited to, local schools, non-profit organizations, and research centers focusing on equity and access issues in education.
PUBPOL273T-1 - Voices in Public Policy: Spanish Tutorial

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 273T-1
Title: Voices in Public Policy: Spanish Tutorial

Description
Students explore how language and culture impact public policy and practice. Through authentic texts, video, and case studies in Spanish, students analyze policy issues in the Latino/a community to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. 1/2 credit. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in Spanish. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of equivalent of Spanish.

PUBPOL273T-2 - Voices in Public Policy: French Tutorial

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 273T-2
Title: Voices in Public Policy: French Tutorial

Description
Students explore how language and culture impact public policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in French, students will analyze public policy issues in the French-speaking world, in order to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. 1/2 credit. S/U. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in the target language.

PUBPOL273T-3 - Voices in Public Policy: Mandarin Chinese Tutorial

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 273T-3
Title: Voices in Public Policy: Mandarin Chinese Tutorial

Description
Students will explore how language and culture impact public policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in Chinese, students will analyze public policy issues in the Chinese-speaking world, in order to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. 1/2 credit. S/U. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in the target language.

PUBPOL273T-4 - Voices in Public Policy: Russian Tutorial

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 273T-4
Title: Voices in Public Policy: Russian Tutorial

Description
Students will explore how language and culture impact public policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in Russian, students will analyze public policy issues in the Russian-speaking world, in order to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. 1/2 credit. S/U. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in the target language.

PUBPOL275 - United States Environmental Policy

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 275
Title: United States Environmental Policy

Description
An overview of the major environmental legislation in the United States. Topics include: air and water pollution, hazardous waste, agriculture, wildlife, and institutions. Political, economic, ethical, and scientific analysis. Open to juniors or seniors or by consent of instructor.

PUBPOL275D - United States Environmental Policy

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 275D
Title: United States Environmental Policy

Description
An overview of the major environmental legislation in the United States. Topics include: air and water pollution, hazardous waste, agriculture, wildlife, and institutions. Political, economic, ethical, and scientific analysis. Open to juniors or seniors or by consent of instructor.
PUBPOL276S - Masculinities & Global Politics

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
276S

Title
Masculinities & Global Politics

Description
The course uses readings and films to examine masculinities historically and transnationally, including a unit on masculinities in US politics; draws from history, sociology, feminist geography, popular culture studies, Black studies, and sexuality and queer studies; interactive lectures and guest scholars. Each student is guided to complete an interview-based research project with three male-identified persons of multiple generations with serves in lieu of a final exam.

PUBPOL277S - Sexuality and the Law

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
277S

Title
Sexuality and the Law

Description
This course will introduce students to legal and ethical issues at the intersection of law, gender and sexuality. The course will use interpretive methods used in jurisprudence, as well as conceptual tools developed by feminist, critical race and queer theoreticians to explore such issues as the criminalization of gay sex, the equal protection of all persons regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity, and the role of the state in resolving perceived conflicts between that right to equal protection and the right to religious freedom. The course will take a cross-cultural/multi-jurisdictional comparative approach to these issues.

PUBPOL278 - North American Environmental History

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
278

Title
North American Environmental History

Description
Historical roles of nature—as a cultural construct and a set of biological relationships—in shaping human choices in North America, from colonial times to the present. Special attention to historical origins of contemporary environmental politics, including the origins of wilderness; environmental justice movements; the changing politics of food, animal rights, and pollution; and tragedies of the commons, and the ethical challenges posed by global warming and population growth.

PUBPOL279DS - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
279DS

Title
Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description
Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.
PUBPOL279S - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>279S</td>
<td>Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.

PUBPOL280S - Marine Science and Conservation Leadership

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>280S</td>
<td>Marine Science and Conservation Leadership</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Course will explore the complex interactions among science, policy and economics in the use of marine resources and the role individuals play in promoting marine conservation and environmental sustainability. Utilizing case studies ranging from fisheries to offshore energy, students will evaluate trade-offs systematically and learn to assess how different policy options affect the incentives of resource users. Serves as the capstone for the Marine Science and Conservation Leadership Certificate. Prerequisite: none.

PUBPOL281 - Marine Policy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>281</td>
<td>Marine Policy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Policy and policy-making concerning the coastal marine environment. History of marine-related organizations, legislation, and issues and their effects on local, regional, national, and international arenas. Use of theoretical and methodological perspectives, including political science, sociology, and economics. Duke Marine Lab-based course video linked to Durham.

PUBPOL281A - Marine Policy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>281A</td>
<td>Marine Policy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Policy and policy-making concerning the coastal marine environment. History of marine-related organizations, legislation, and issues and their effects on local, regional, national, and international arenas. Use of theoretical and methodological perspectives, including political science, sociology, and economics. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.
PUBPOL282S - Social Engineering and Social Movements in Eastern Europe and Asia

Subject | PUBPOL
Catalog Number | 282S
Title | Social Engineering and Social Movements in Eastern Europe and Asia

Description
Combining perspectives of political sociology and history, this course questions the respective roles of state policies and social movements in transforming societies. Explores concepts such as social engineering, violence, revolution, totalitarianism, social movements, non-violent resistance, collective action and many others in historically-informed case studies of: colonialism/anticolonial movements (passive resistance and nationalism) in India; revolutionary communism, socialist reconstruction of society, everyday resistance and collective dissent in the Soviet Bloc; authoritarian capitalism and dissent in the form of environmentalist and anti-corruption movements in post-Maoist China.

PUBPOL283 - Ethics in an Unjust World

Subject | PUBPOL
Catalog Number | 283
Title | Ethics in an Unjust World

Description
The course considers the question, 'How can we fix poverty?' It begins by exploring the nature of poverty through a variety of descriptive metaphors (for example, poverty as a 'trap' or a 'disease'). It then considers the word 'we,' and in doing so introduces several basic understandings of ethics (deontology, utilitarianism, virtue ethics, etc.) Finally it considers the word 'fix' and offers three models for responding to poverty: working for, working with, and being with. Each model explores several examples of good practice followed by critical reflection as students engage with opportunities in Durham displaying each approach.

PUBPOL283S - Ethics in an Unjust World

Subject | PUBPOL
Catalog Number | 283S
Title | Ethics in an Unjust World

Description
The course considers the question, 'How can we fix poverty?' It begins by exploring the nature of poverty through a variety of descriptive metaphors (for example, poverty as a 'trap' or a 'disease'). It then considers the word 'we,' and in doing so introduces several basic understandings of ethics (deontology, utilitarianism, virtue ethics, etc.) Finally it considers the word 'fix' and offers three models for responding to poverty: working for, working with, and being with. Each model explores several examples of good practice followed by critical reflection as students engage with opportunities in Durham displaying each approach. Open only to Duke Immerse students.

PUBPOL284 - Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival

Subject | PUBPOL
Catalog Number | 284
Title | Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival

Description
This course investigates both theory and history of the concept of sustainability, and explores its various economic and political manifestations over time. What are the historical roots of the sustainability debate? What aspects of life do various concepts of sustainability entail, and how do they inform modern ethics? What, in the end, does the history of political economics teach us about the possibility of sustainable development?
PUBPOL285S - Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 285S
Title: Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Description: Duke Immerse Seminar. A comparative examination and analysis of urban governance in South Africa and the United States. Examines potential consequences of persistent racial and class disparities for housing and neighborhoods, public health, education, community infrastructure, and general economic and social development. Specific attention to how the physical layout, government structures, politics, culture, and the civil society of cities and urban areas may both promote and hinder human development and social justice. Instructor consent required.

PUBPOL286S - The Democratic Mission of American Higher Education

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 286S
Title: The Democratic Mission of American Higher Education

Description: This seminar will explore the purposes of American higher education, with a focus on the origins of higher education in this country and important period of institutional evolution. We will interrogate the relationship between democracy and higher education in two ways. First, by understanding how democracy provides the necessary conditions for higher education to pursue its core mission. Second, by looking at how higher education promotes democratic values. The course will pay particular attention to post-WWII American higher education, with a focus on important contemporary debates on higher education issues.

PUBPOL287 - The Political History of Modern Architecture: From Revolution through Neoliberalism

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 287
Title: The Political History of Modern Architecture: From Revolution through Neoliberalism

Description: Given the needs for labor, materials, and legal permissions, architects in the modern period by definition intersect with interests of power. This course explores the role of political institutions and ideologies in the history of modern architecture. While the course focuses on European and North American examples, we will also include key case studies of non-Euroamerican architecture and politics. The course provides a foundational knowledge of the history of modern architecture as well as how political institutions and ideologies have influenced that development.

PUBPOL288 - International Trade

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 288
Title: International Trade

Description: Topics include United States trade policies and protectionism, the North American Free Trade Area, trade and economic relations with industrialized countries, policies toward developing countries and multilateral institutions, macroeconomic policy coordination, and relations with Europe. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.

PUBPOL289 - Public Finance

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 289
Title: Public Finance

Description: Economic aspects of the allocative and distributive role of government in the economy, the incidence and efficiency of taxation, the effects of taxation on behavior, and analysis of major government spending programs. Prerequisite: Economics 201D or Public Policy 303D.

PUBPOL290 - Selected Public Policy Topics

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Selected Public Policy Topics
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL290-2</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>290-2</td>
<td>Selected Public Policy Topics</td>
<td>Selected Public Policy topics that will vary.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL290A</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>290A</td>
<td>Public Policy Special Topics Away</td>
<td>Transfer grading only.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL290D</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>290D</td>
<td>Selected Topics Public Policy</td>
<td>Topics vary. Discussion version of Public Policy Studies 290.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL290S</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Selected Public Policy Topics</td>
<td>Seminar version of Public Policy Studies 290.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL290S-1</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>290S-1</td>
<td>Selected Topics in Public Policy</td>
<td>Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL291T</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>291T</td>
<td>Special Topics Tutorial Journalism &amp; Media Studies</td>
<td>Selected topics tutorial course in Journalism and Media Studies. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory grading only. Half course credit.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL298</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>298</td>
<td>Authentic Leadership in Private, Public, and Not-for-Profit Organizations</td>
<td>Exploration of the attributes of leadership, why some leaders fail and other succeed; identification of the core values each student possesses which will bring success to organizations throughout their lives. Case study format, class participation is critical to success. Each student will develop a personal perspective on leadership, learn from examples of success and failure, look at the ethical challenges facing leaders today, learn the tools leaders use to support successful cultures, enhance self-awareness, and prepare to become successful leaders. Strong emphasis on writing skills, how to communicate briefly and effectively in written memos. Students will also work in teams.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>301</td>
<td>Political Analysis for Public Policy-Making</td>
<td>Analysis of the political and organizational processes which influence the formulation and implementation of public policy. Alternative models. Prerequisite: Public Policy 155D.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>302D</td>
<td>Policy Choice as Value Conflict</td>
<td>Theoretical and practical problems in decision making in relation to conflicts of value and of interest. The manifestation of norms deriving from professional ethics, ideology, law, and other sources in such policy issues as welfare, environmental management, and national defense. Prerequisites: Public Policy 155D.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>303D</td>
<td>Microeconomic Policy Tools</td>
<td>Introduction and application of microeconomic tools as a framework for public policy. Topics include models of economic actors' (e.g., consumers', workers', firms') decision-making under constraints and their strategic interactions, and supply and demand of goods and services in different market environments. Policy applications include price and labor market discrimination, distribution of income and wealth, promotion of innovation, taxation in various contexts, and government subsidization of goods and services. A key theme is understanding efficiency and distribution of market allocation, who benefits and who doesn't, and how policy can intervene.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>304</td>
<td>Economics of the Public Sector</td>
<td>Applies tools of intermediate microeconomics to the public sector. Develops economic justifications for government intervention into the economy and examines and evaluates various government policies and programs including regulation of externalities, welfare programs, social security and other social insurance programs. Provides a solid foundation for applied benefit cost analysis. Analyzes tax policy and other forms of government financing, both at national and subnational levels. Prerequisites: Public Policy 303D or Economics 201D.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>305</td>
<td>Africa and Arabia: Cultures, Communities, and Connections</td>
<td>Explores communities, cultures, and connections between Africa and Arabia; Provides concepts and theories on human mobility and interconnectedness in the contexts of the two regions; Examines displacement, migration within and emigration from the two regions, and areas of collaboration and contention in the globalized world; Examines themes of religious terrorism, language, music, and narratives against Eurocentrism; Explores different intellectual platforms such as political biographies, films, guest experts, etc; Interview partners in Egypt, Morocco and Senegal on related intercultural issues and politics.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>306</td>
<td>Anthropology of Money</td>
<td>We will explore the history and theory of money – what it represents, how it circulates, the meanings it carries, its contemporary transformations – not only in the West but also in the global south. Some of the topics to be considered include shell currencies, gift economies, Ponzi schemes, paperless money, derivatives and futures, hedge funds, and global debt.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PUBPOL307S - Democracy: Crisis and Opportunity

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 307S
Title: Democracy: Crisis and Opportunity
Description: Democracy Lab will involve students in the practice of revitalizing our democracy, on campus, in Durham, and in our nation. Lab-based model will allow students to experiment with solutions, working together in teams to create innovative projects addressing political issues. Course will include instruction on history and reflective writing as well as theories of innovation and leadership. Work will largely consist of client-based projects in which teams will produce a substantial report or the equivalent activity that contributes to the health of political processes. Course offered through the Hart Leadership Program.

PUBPOL310 - Market Power and Public Policy

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 310
Title: Market Power and Public Policy
Description: The purpose of antitrust laws is to control how firms attain and maintain their market position, presumably for the betterment of consumers, or at least for the benefit of society. Using a rigorous set of tools from microeconomic and game theory, this class will investigate the underpinnings of policies meant to deal with market power broadly defined, such as antitrust laws, the regulation of public utilities, the regulation of financial markets, and anti-dumping rules. Prerequisite: Economics 201D.

PUBPOL311S - Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 311S
Title: Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab
Description: An exploration of human rights advocacy from a legal, political science and comparative perspective. Will focus on issues related to corporate accountability. A core component of the course will include a human rights ‘lab’ in which students work in teams on policy-oriented projects, potentially in collaboration with community partners.

PUBPOL312A - The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 312A
Title: The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach
Description: Duke in New York. Various topics dealing with the arts in New York. Group attendance at, and subsequent seminar discussion of, performances, exhibitions, films, and lectures. Research or critical paper required. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.

PUBPOL313D - Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 313D
Title: Religion, Restrictions, and Violence
Description: An examination of the historical roots and current manifestations of religiously-justified violence and disenfranchisement, with a focus on the Abrahamic traditions (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam). The violence treated will include the expressly physical as well as the more insidiously existential, including political and cultural marginalization. Major loci of exploration will include gender and sexuality, Israel-Palestine, and the intersection of contemporary identities. Topics include the nature of extremisms within each tradition, the challenges of assimilation and ‘modernity,’ and the role and nature of citizenship and territory.

PUBPOL315 - Gender and the Law

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 315
Title: Gender and the Law
Description: Examination of issues at the intersection of gender and law through a number of different theoretical lenses. Analyzes policy problems with gender implications from the perspective of formal equality, substantive equality, nonsubordination theory, different voice theory, autonomy, and various poststructural critiques. Engages theory at the level of concrete, easily accessible ethical and policy issues, including such topics as employment equality, pregnancy, domestic violence, rape, reproductive rights, sexual orientation and sexual identity discrimination, family equality, sexual harassment, pornography, education equality, affirmative action, and the justice system.
PUBPOL316S - Global Displacement: Voix Francophones
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 316S
Title: Global Displacement: Voix Francophones
Description:
Explores migration and resettlement of Francophone refugees in North America through examination of current policy, law, and practice. Analysis of personal interviews and narratives with attention to ethical questions related to politics of listening to and speaking for other communities. Community-based language component (20 hours) engages students with refugee community in Durham. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: one course at 300-level or equivalent.

PUBPOL317S - Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 317S
Title: Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia
Description:
As of 2016, only 11% of the countries in the world are liberal democracies. Some insight about how illiberal regimes function is a must to understand what is going on in the world. In this course, we explore illiberal and/or non-democratic regimes of Eastern Europe and Asia—a perfect laboratory for the subject. We develop nuanced ideas about key concepts such as elections, representation, party rule, dictatorship, populism, patronalism, authoritarianism, and totalitarianism as well as the dilemmas of freedom, security, corruption, and development. We study the regimes of countries such as Hungary, Russia, Turkey, China and follow the news to see how political regimes evolve in real time.

PUBPOL318S - Non-Profit Cultural Institutions
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 318S
Title: Non-Profit Cultural Institutions
Description:
Non-profit cultural institutions are an integral part of arts communities at all levels: national, regional, local. Through readings, projects and service-learning, students gain overview of non-profit cultural organization formation, management, operational structures, governance challenges, board member responsibilities and situational ethics. Explores historical and present functions and social structures in which nonprofit tax-exempt organizations operate. Investigates how nonprofit cultural institutions have increasingly become a vehicle for fostering creativity in the arts and humanities. Students partner with local non-profit arts/cultural organizations to work on specific projects.

PUBPOL319 - International Security
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 319
Title: International Security
Description:
The various causes, processes and impacts of international conflict in contemporary international affairs. Topics include: causes of war; factors that make international conflict more or less likely; domestic politics of international security; impacts of scientific and technological developments; ethical arguments and beliefs associated with the use of violence; contemporary and non-traditional security threats. No formal prerequisite, but Political Science 160 recommended.
PUBPOL320 - Statecraft and Strategy

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
320

Title
Statecraft and Strategy

Description
Introduces students to the history of how leaders have seen the world and tried to shape it in war and peace. Begins with examination of foundational texts in the history of strategy from around the world. Lectures focus on case studies in diplomatic and military history from the ancient to the contemporary world and spanning the globe. Explores how changes in technology and society (and social mores) have impacted statecraft. Introduces students to the concept of strategy and its applications in statecraft and other fields such as activism, business, and politics. Assignments focus on applying the lessons of history to challenges facing the United States and other countries today.

---

PUBPOL321S - Contemporary South Africa

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
321S

Title
Contemporary South Africa

Description
Nelson Mandela's presidency in 1994 inaugurated democracy in South Africa. Using a historical lens, this course will explore the promises, possibilities, and disappointments of the democratic era. In what ways has the 1994 election slogan 'A better life for all' come to pass? Why and in what ways has the new political elite fallen short in delivering on its promises? How have segments of the public sought to impose accountability and restitution on new democratic governments, as well as on the long-standing titans of industry?

---

PUBPOL322SA - Political Polarization in Contemporary Western Democracies

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
322SA

Title
Political Polarization in Contemporary Western Democracies

Description
This seminar seeks to understand current developments in societal polarization in France, Germany, the UK, and the US, with particular attention to how specific political processes benefit or hamper political polarization.

---

PUBPOL323 - Chicago: Architecture, Urbanism, Politics

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number 323

Title
Chicago: Architecture, Urbanism, Politics

Description
Building has often been at the center of major social, economic and political struggles of the modern era. This course will analyze the development of architecture and urbanism in Chicago, from its incorporation to the present day, in relation to these historical struggles. Focusing particularly on the concept of place and space, the course will give the student an overview of building in Chicago and analyze in detail the theories and practices which govern urban planning up to our own times. Select sections of the course will particularly emphasize Chicago 1920-1975, and how questions of class and race intersect with a political economy of architecture.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>324</td>
<td>Global Health Policy: Transforming Evidence into Action</td>
<td>In-depth examination of how to close the gap between evidence and practical policy making as a way to improve global health. How global health policies are shaped; identifying key actors and their power; understanding/influencing the processes that drive large scale change in global health; exploring ways in which health issues reach the top of the agenda; analyzing how decisions are made by policy makers; implementing policies from the 'top down' and 'bottom up.' The interplay between the different worlds of research and policy. Practical tools for becoming a policy broker, skilled in transforming evidence to action. Real world case studies. Case-based competition.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>325S</td>
<td>Equity in Early Childhood Programs and Policies</td>
<td>This course will explore contemporary theories and empirical research that address issues of equity and early childhood development from birth to age 8. We will examine factors related to individuals and systems (e.g., child care, public health, housing, workforce, social services) that impact early childhood development. Students will critically consider the developmental science that has informed early childhood policies and programs; the social, political and economic forces that shape the study of young children and contributed to developmental trajectories that benefit some children while disadvantaging others; the changing roles of families; and the implications of these policies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>326S</td>
<td>Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa</td>
<td>This course uses a comparative framework to assess race in two societies founded on premises of racial inequality: South Africa and the United States. We will explore some of the social, cultural and political exchanges that have taken place between African Americans and Black South Africans over the course of the twentieth century. Additional topics include segregation, twentieth century struggles for civil rights/liberation, the American anti-apartheid movement, and the possibilities for restitution.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>327S</td>
<td>Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy</td>
<td>Working through an array of diverse organizations – including the African National Congress, the Pan African Congress, the Black Consciousness Movement, a host of liberal organizations, the churches, the trade union federations, and countless more - South Africans fought against apartheid from its inception. In 1994 they achieved a multi-racial democracy led by President Nelson Mandela. This seminar explores key themes in post-World War II South African history, paying special attention to the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, while analyzing the tenets of apartheid policies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>PUBPOL330 - Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict</td>
<td>The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>330D</td>
<td>PUBPOL330D - Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict</td>
<td>The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>331</td>
<td>PUBPOL331 - Health Economics</td>
<td>Economic aspects of the production, distribution, and organization of health care services, such as measuring output, structure of markets, demand for services, pricing of services, cost of care, financing, mechanisms, and their impact on the relevant markets. Prerequisite: Economics 201D or Public Policy 303D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>PUBPOL332S - Documenting US Women’s Health Post-Roe v. Wade</td>
<td>The overturning of Roe v. Wade in June 2022 led to the deaths of two women in South Carolina. One woman died from sepsis following self-instrumentation, and the second died after giving birth to a healthy baby. She began to hemorrhage; hospital administrators were afraid that the 'D&amp;C' she needed to survive was too close to the abortion procedure. A physician team at Duke University Hospitals, led by Dr. Beverly Clark, began to see similar cases in North Carolina. The aim of this course is to document—in real time—the political and ethical dimensions of the situation that healthcare providers now find themselves in as they attempt to provide women the nationwide medical ‘standard of care.’</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course Code</td>
<td>Course Title</td>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL333</td>
<td>War and Public Health in Africa</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>333</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL340S</td>
<td>De/Re/Segregation in Education: A Case of Back to the Future?</td>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>340S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PUBPOL342 - History of Modern America: The United States from 1930 to present

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>342</td>
<td>History of Modern America: The United States from 1930 to present</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
United States history since the Great Depression, with emphasis on the shaping influence of the New Deal and war. Examines transformations of everyday life and culture and the movements for social change they generated, including the labor, civil rights, and women's movements, and explores the nation's dominant role on the world stage and the impact of a global economy.

PUBPOL343 - Journalism in the Age of Data

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>343</td>
<td>Journalism in the Age of Data</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Teaches the tools and techniques used by investigative journalists to acquire and analyze data in order to discover story ideas and draw and evaluate conclusions about politicians, public policy, broader behavior of public institutions. Students should have basic familiarity with journalism concepts, but no specific technical or mathematical skills required.

PUBPOL344 - History of U.S. Social Movements

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>344</td>
<td>History of U.S. Social Movements</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines the social movements that have shaped U.S. history, starting with the American Revolution itself and covering others including the anti-slavery movement, women's rights, Populism, Socialism, the Ku Klux Klan, the labor movement, the Black Freedom Movement and broader New Left, lesbian and gay liberation, and the recent conservative movement, focusing on the ethical issues arguments they raised, and how new civil, political, and social rights were created through social movement organizing. Lectures and readings explore why these movements arose, what they achieved, why many opposed them, and what we can learn about American history writ large from their experiences.

PUBPOL345 - Genocide and Human Rights

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>345</td>
<td>Genocide and Human Rights</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Analyzes the phenomenon of genocide from an interdisciplinary perspective, exploring the ways that violence intersected with gender, race, and religion. Combines the history of genocide with the history of humanitarianism, international law, and human rights, seeking to understand their successes and failures. Case studies cover the twentieth century up to the present and may include mass violence in Armenia, the Congo, the Holocaust, Nigeria/Biafra, Cambodia, Rwanda, and Sudan. An interdisciplinary approach will be used, seeking to investigate genocide and human rights from the heights of international law to the depths of the human heart, using tools of political science, literature, and history.
PUBPOL346S - Family Rights/Human Rights
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 346S
Title: Family Rights/Human Rights
Description: Explores relationship between state, family formation, and individuals. Surveys regulation of sexuality, reproduction, adoption, immigration, and incarceration with focus mainly on U.S. and past 200 years.

PUBPOL347S - The Connection between Human Rights, Memory and How Societies Create Memorials
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 347S
Title: The Connection between Human Rights, Memory and How Societies Create Memorials
Description: This seminar introduces students to multiple approaches to how to create memory, with a focus on building a proposal for Duke to expand the sites where stories are told. We are particularly interested in how to tell difficult stories of slavery, segregation and inequality through new sites and interpretive plans. Students will create a Duke memory map and develop a Story Bank. The class is in part funded by Bass Connections and is affiliated with the Story Lab.

PUBPOL349 - Global Environmental Politics
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 349
Title: Global Environmental Politics
Description: This course examines the international community's responses to various global environmental problems. Because many environmental problems cross national borders, solutions require some form of global governance such as state-led mechanisms in the form of international environmental regimes. The course will thus explore how and why states both succeed and fail to negotiate international governance mechanisms. The course will also examine why some international environmental regimes are more effective than others and why states choose to comply with environmental regimes.

PUBPOL349D - Global Environmental Politics
Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 349D
Title: Global Environmental Politics
Description: This course examines the international community's responses to various global environmental problems. Because many environmental problems cross national borders, solutions require some form of global governance such as state-led mechanisms in the form of international environmental regimes. The course will thus explore how and why states both succeed and fail to negotiate international governance mechanisms. The course will also examine why some international environmental regimes are more effective than others and why states choose to comply with environmental regimes.
PUBPOL350S - The University as a Culture: A Survivor’s Guide

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 350S
Title: The University as a Culture: A Survivor’s Guide

Description
The university generates some of the most influential forms of knowledge in the world, yet we seldom examine the historically specific cultural, social, political, and economic conditions under which knowledge is produced in the laboratories, classrooms, offices, dormitories, Greek-letter societies, and sports complexes that are the infrastructure of the academy. This course will employ readings from a range of disciplines, as well as the investigative and interpretive methods of cultural anthropology, to examine the taken-for-granted context of university life.

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 352
Title: U.S-Russia Relations: 1991-2016

Description
A survey of relations of United States with Russian Federation since break-up of the Soviet Union. Examines government policies, agreements and disagreements in foreign policy, internal political and economic developments in both countries, and also public opinion, cultural relations, and role of mass media. Lectures, readings (including source documents), and final research paper.

PUBPOL353S - U.S. Policy in the Middle East

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 353S
Title: U.S. Policy in the Middle East

Description
U.S. foreign policy: Middle East; Arab-Israeli-Palestinian conflict; oil and security; cold war; military cooperation and intervention; aid and democracy promotion; Iran, the Arab Spring; realism vs. liberalism in US foreign policy.

PUBPOL355A - Political Economy of Immigration

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 355A
Title: Political Economy of Immigration

Description
The regulation of labour immigration is among the most important and controversial public policy issues in high-income countries. Many countries in Europe and North America, including the UK and the US, have experienced very rapid increases in labour immigration over the past 20 years. Instructor consent is required.
PUBPOL357S - Watchdog News and Storytelling: Changing Forms of Accountability Journalism

Description
Focus on evolving styles of explanatory reporting and investigative journalism. Practice fundamental research and writing techniques that journalists use to reveal complex issues and hold powerful institutions and people accountable. Identify sources, develop interviewing skills, and tap public records. Analyze stories that can serve as engaging models for your assignments, such as fact-checks, solutions-focused articles, and first-person accounts that turn the reporting process into a narrative device. Learn about editorial rules and writing conventions, including their ethical underpinnings and the role of objective methods. Talk with guest journalists about their experiences.

PUBPOL358S - Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Description
Examination of the Apple Corporation's development from a Silicon Valley garage operation to a company with unprecedented global reach; the Cult of Steve Jobs, the Apple Launch and use the design and development of the Apple Store; labor and environmental struggles over Apple supply chain and production processes, from cobalt mining in Africa to Foxconn factories in China; migrant worker suicide and poetry as forms of protest in China; e-waste villages and digital rubbish; everyday uses of Apple technology and the ethics of consuming Apple products.

PUBPOL359 - Violent Jihad in the Twentieth Century - A Global History

Description
This course focuses on the history of Muslim groups and social movements which are often regarded as politically fundamentalists or radical in the twentieth-century Middle East. We shall critically survey the intellectual origins of radical ideologies, the social history of the 'Muslim Brotherhood' in Egypt and Syria, the politics of Saudi Arabia, the rise of Hizbullah, the question of the caliphate, the interaction between foreign intervention and the approval of violence as a legitimate means in politics, a history of al-Qaeda, and finally of what we know about ISIS.

PUBPOL361S - Algorithms, Journalism and the Public Interest

Description
Explores the expanding and evolving role of algorithms in the production, dissemination, and consumption of news. Course considers the political, economic, cultural, legal, public policy, and ethical implications of algorithmically-driven journalism and news consumption. Places algorithmically-driven journalism and news consumption in historical and technological context.
PUBPOL362S - Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present

Description
Scholars, pundits and historical actors have long drawn parallels between the United States & South Africa-two countries founded on the premises of racial inequality. This course explores the machinations of race from the quickening of industrial development to present. We will consider the benefits and pitfalls of thinking comparatively. Topics include segregation, transatlantic cultural exchanges, living apartheid and Jim Crow, government surveillance of political opponents, the American anti-apartheid movement, mass incarceration and privatization of prisons, memory and the struggles for social change as well as the persistence of racial inequality in two country's contemporary societies.

PUBPOL364S - Art of the Interview

Description
An exploration of the role of the interview as a core feature of modern American journalism, with focus on its development as a tool of inquiry, a cultural form and news-making event. Students will study examples of media coverage and produce projects involving interviews.

PUBPOL365S - Video Journalism

Description
Theories and concepts of television broadcasting; writing and editing for electronic media; issues of production. Students will produce a Web portfolio. Approved as a practicum course for the Policy, Journalism and Media Studies certificate.

PUBPOL366S - Long-form Journalism

Description
Storytelling techniques of magazine journalism; reporting and writing strategies; historical and contemporary writing for magazines in print and digital formats. Students develop experience in different kinds of magazine writing. Approved as a practicum course required for the Policy, Journalism and Media Studies certificate.

PUBPOL367S - News Writing and Reporting

Description
Seminar on reporting and writing news and feature stories. Students required to produce news stories based on original reporting and writing, including interviews, use of the Internet and electronic databases, public records, and written publications. Written assignments critiqued in class; final project.

PUBPOL369S - The Intersection of Politics, Policy, and Media

Description
An examination of decision-making at intersection of politics, public policy, and media. Draws on real-world and real-time examples and case studies, readings, and guest speakers. Issues include: role, power and practice of lobbying, rise of think tanks and interest groups as key players, theater of politics and policy, the many faces of media, scandal and commodification of outrage, crisis management and mismanagement.
PUBPOL371 - News as a Moral Battleground

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
371

Title
News as a Moral Battleground

Description
Ethical inquiry into journalism and its effect on public discourse. Issues include accuracy, transparency, conflicts of interest and fairness. Topics include coverage of national security, government secrecy, plagiarism/fabrication, and trade-offs of anonymous sourcing.

PUBPOL372 - Information, Technology, Ethics and Policy

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
372

Title
Information, Technology, Ethics and Policy

Description
The evolution of the Internet and other information technologies and the related policies and regulations that have emerged both internationally and nationally (in the United States). The tensions surrounding the access to information and the controversies about content, such as issues of free speech. Includes an Internet monitoring project designed to encourage in-depth analysis in order to place technology and technology policy in their historical evolution and context. Explores the contemporary political and social impacts of the Internet and other information technologies.

PUBPOL374 - Contemporary Documentary Film: Filmmakers and the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
374

Title
Contemporary Documentary Film: Filmmakers and the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival

Description
Integrated with the films and filmmakers of the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival. The art form, style, and technology of contemporary documentary films. Issues of autonomy and power, politics, and public policies. Analysis of outstanding films from around the world. Presentations and discussions by filmmakers.

PUBPOL376D - Foreign Policy of the United States

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
376D

Title
Foreign Policy of the United States

Description
Internal and external sources of American Foreign Policy, including the role of ethnicity, nationality, and distinct world views of Americans and other peoples. The formulation and conduct of American foreign policy in different historical periods with an examination of foreign policy in the post-Cold War era and prospects for alternative futures. Instruction is provided in two lectures and one small discussion meeting each week.
PUBPOL376S - Autobiographical Writing: The Power and the Pitfalls of “Me”

Description
This course explores autobiographical writing, primarily through students’ writing and workshops of essays, opinion pieces and snippets of memoir that the instructor and class discuss and critique, but also through reading a diverse group of past and current practitioners. While students will be able to steer their own efforts toward the manner of first-person writing in which they have the most interest, they will be expected to engage in study and execution of standard forms, such as the opinion column. Students will benefit from instructor’s experience writing memoirs and first-person opinion columns. Prerequisites: Policy Journalism and Media Studies 364S, 366S, or 367S.

PUBPOL377S - Medicine and the Vision of Documentary Photography

Description
The intersection of healthcare and documentary photography. Explore work of established photographers engaged with healthcare topics. Produce semester-long documentary photography project and 5-10 page documentary essay on healthcare related topic. Students must have or quickly develop proficiency in the use of a digital SLR camera and Adobe Lightroom. Course materials include photographs, articles, and books. Class sessions combine critique of student work, discussion of course materials, and discussion of ethical questions involved in documentary representation of healthcare-related topics.

PUBPOL378S - Research Seminar in Sexual and Gender Minority Health

Description
This seminar course introduces students to global health policy and research focused on the health of sexual and gender minority (SGM) populations, and is intended for students in preparation for undergraduate research in social sciences and public policy focused on SGM health. Seminars are cooperative ventures and their success depends upon the full and active participation of each member of the class. Therefore, conscientious preparation and regular attendance are required. Each student is expected to develop an independent research project in SGM health.

PUBPOL381 - The 21st Century News Leader

Description
Course looks at evolution of news leadership from the latter half of 20th century-present, including decline of newspapers, rise of Internet, collapse of traditional news business model, emergence of attention economy, reinvention of factchecking, and revolutionary arrival of social media. Students will explore key questions regarding news leader’s role in society today, limits of news leadership, continuing changes in technology that impact role of news leader, new knowledge news leaders need, and role government has had in transformation of news landscape and leadership. Exploration of how challenges affect news industry, society, those entering field of journalism. Prerequisite: Policy Journalism 371.
PUBPOL382S - Refugee Policy and Practice (DukeImmerse)

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 382S
Title: Refugee Policy and Practice (DukeImmerse)

Description
Uses current debates around refugee law and policy as the context in which to develop basic quantitative research design and analysis skills. Course may include data collection with resettled refugee locally and in Jordan and in Nepal. Only open to DukeImmerse students. Instructor consent required.

PUBPOL383S - Politics of Sexuality

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 383S
Title: Politics of Sexuality

Description
Explores intersections among sexual identity, desire, and behavior and political institutions, public policy, and concepts of citizenship. Readings and methods will be interdisciplinary and will examine politics of sexuality in diverse sociocultural, international, and historical contexts. Topics may include: social movements; laws, policing, and incarceration; medicalization and eugenics; militarism and geopolitics; immigration and human rights; welfare policies; nationalism and citizenship; and reproductive rights.

PUBPOL384 - Public Speaking: Policy Advocacy and Communication

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 384
Title: Public Speaking: Policy Advocacy and Communication

Description
Theoretical and practical understanding of the elements of effective advocacy, especially as applied to policy issues. Focus on oral communication (both formal public speaking and interactive exchange), written exposition, and presentation skills. Emphasis on the human dimensions of the communication process—voice and body behavior, audience evaluation, focus, and control and self-awareness. Identifies techniques for minimizing communication distraction, developing confidence in presentation situations, and analyzing informational requirements. Does not apply toward public policy studies major. This course is open to students in their junior or senior year.

PUBPOL385 - Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 385
Title: Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future

Description
Explores friendship and why it matters in the frenzied world of 'likes' and 'swipes.' The average Facebook user has 155 friends. Instagram added a 'Close Friends' feature to distinguish friends from followers. Social media has weakened our sense of friendship. Still, Facebook users say that, of those 155 friends, they would trust only four in a crisis. Pursues the importance of friendship, not only as a place of private refuge but as a relationship of trust that facilitates insight and innovation and that has public purchase. Classes center on conversations between pairs of friends who bring their friendship, their work, and their imaginations to bear on the shape of the world in the future.
PUBPOL386SA - Politics and Culture Between Europe and the Middle East

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 386SA
Title: Politics and Culture Between Europe and the Middle East

Description
Surveys the changing geopolitical context of communities between Europe and the Middle East through an interdisciplinary cultural framework from WWI to the present. Emphasis on German/Turkish relations. Analysis of representations of nationalism, identity, ethnicity, gender and religion. Examines intersections of modernity, revolution, and lived and political Islam to analyze the ways in which political ideologies create and question Middle Eastern identities. Secondary theoretical readings, including work by political scientists, cultural critics, and policy experts. Taught in English as part of the Duke Middle East in Europe program.

PUBPOL387S - Documenting Black Experiences

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 387S
Title: Documenting Black Experiences

Description
Explores how Black experiences have been documented and how crucial stories woven from real life get told. Students engage wide ranging contemporary and historical materials, including nonfiction, memoir, fiction, documentary and dramatic film, theater, poetry and music. Our aspirations are historical, but with an understanding that academic history, though irreplaceable, barely touches the range of storytelling that makes Black lives not only matter but transform the spaces in which they unfold. Our explorations are political, but in the largest sense—how Black power comes from making higher truth a tool, a weapon and a way of being.

PUBPOL389S - Small Town USA: Local Collaborations

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 389S
Title: Small Town USA: Local Collaborations

Description
Theory and practice of documentary photography in a small-town context. Students working in collaboration with one nearby small town complete a documentary photographic study of one individual or group within that town. Includes analysis of the documentary tradition, particularly as it relates to locally situated work and to selected individual projects; building visual narrative, developing honest relationships with subjects, responsibility to subjects and their communities, and engaging with and portraying a community as an outsider. Photo elicitation and editing techniques. Consent of instructor required. Required participation in service-learning.

PUBPOL390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Public Policy Studies

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Public Policy Studies

Description
Topics differ by section.
PUBPOL390T - Bass Connections
Selected Special Topics

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
PUBPOL  390T  Bass Connections Selected Special Topics

Description
Selected Topics. Topics vary. Open to Bass Connections only. Project-based course in which undergraduate and graduate students work collaboratively to produce a significant public-facing research product drawing on analysis from across the social sciences. Topics vary depending on section. Students will gain a conceptual understanding of the project topic, develop research plans, conduct new research, and develop a final product containing significant analysis and interpretation (e.g., exhibits, databases, oral histories, data visualizations). Consent of instructor.

PUBPOL391 - Independent Study

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
PUBPOL  391  Independent Study

Description
Supervised reading in a field of special interest under the sponsorship of a faculty member. Requires a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

PUBPOL393 - Research Independent Study

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
PUBPOL  393  Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

PUBPOL395S - Children and the Experience of Illness

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
PUBPOL  395S  Children and the Experience of Illness

Description
An exploration of how children cope with illness, incorporating the tools of documentary photography and writing. Students will work outside class with children who are ill and teach them how to use a camera, working toward an exhibit of photographs at the end of the semester. Permission required. Required participation in service-learning.

PUBPOL397S - Advanced Reporting

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
PUBPOL  397S  Advanced Reporting

Description
Durham government and community reporting course for students with experience in journalism. Assignments will involve covering meetings of the Durham City Council and Board of Education and other Durham County boards and commissions, covering civil and criminal trials, and conducting interviews with government officials, people affected by government actions, and elected representatives. Resources are provided for students to travel throughout Durham County. Students may contact instructor for consent if they do not meet the pre-req PJMS 367S News Writing & Reporting.

PUBPOL399A - Global Russia

Subject  Catalog Number  Title
PUBPOL  399A  Global Russia

Description
Globalization of Russian culture as manifested in popular/academic cultural forms, including political ideologies, media/artistic texts, film, theater/television, markets, educational/legal institutions, historical/contemporary social movements. Examination of ethical issues in context of such topics as the relationship between church and state; evolution of a totalitarian government into a democratic state; reproductive rights; struggle against corruption in education, finance, police; role of censorship; views of citizenship, patriotism, valor, and treason; historical perspectives on prison camps, abuses of psychiatry. Offered in the Duke in Russia Program. Instructor consent required.
PUBPOL401S - The Adventure of Citizenship: Lives of Civic Engagement

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 401S
Title: The Adventure of Citizenship: Lives of Civic Engagement

Description:
What does it mean to be a citizen and live a civic life? In this course students will integrate academic content with their own community based experiences to understand and critique their understandings of civic engagement and social change. Students will reflect on their Duke experience and begin to chart their post Duke futures. They will gain knowledge of the historical context of democratic citizenship, understanding of the relationship between theory and practice, and familiarity with the contestations of civic engagement that emerge from considerations of race, class, and gender. Students will undertake independent projects to study those who have lived civic lives.

PUBPOL406S - South African Life Histories

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 406S
Title: South African Life Histories

Description:
South Africa presented the world with one of the great moral challenges of the 20th century. We will explore its history through the lens of biography and autobiography. The country underwent major transformations – rapid industrialization, segregation, the rise and fall of apartheid, and the emergence of democracy. How did individuals experience these social changes? In what ways do individual lives illuminate these larger social processes? Protagonists include a prophetess, political artists and writers, exiles, and celebrated figures. Topics cover how segregation and apartheid affected people’s daily lives, opposition to white supremacy, and the personal impact of the AIDS’s epidemic.

PUBPOL409 - Leadership in International Relations

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 409
Title: Leadership in International Relations

Description:
Course analyzes the impact political leaders have on international relations by examining case studies of specific decisions dealing with events of international importance over the past 3 decades, including end of the Cold War; the Falklands War; the unification of Germany; the Gulf War; the Soviet Union collapse; restoring Russian power, the decision to invade Iraq. Considers styles of leadership by American and Russian presidents and provides a basis for comparing the styles of other leaders analyzed. Considers such questions as similarities/differences in qualities of leadership in different societies, extent to which leaders are victims of circumstance, and degree to which decisions can change things.

PUBPOL410 - Policy Journalism and Media Studies Capstone Course

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 410
Title: Policy Journalism and Media Studies Capstone Course

Description:
Capstone course for Policy Journalism and Media Studies certificate. Course taken after student completes media internship. Designed to integrate student’s practical experience with conceptual and theoretical classroom work. Students meet in formal course setting to discuss what they have learned, present examples of the work they have accomplished, and discuss relevant research, culminating in a final project. Course requires a class presentation about the student’s internship and a final project that integrates the internship experience with course content. Open to Policy Journalism and Media Studies certificate students only. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>411S</td>
<td>Historicizing Whiteness</td>
<td>Examine origins, historical development, and consequences of white racial identity, from the 17th century to the present, beginning with the emergence of white racial grammar among trafficked white servants and so-called 'white slaves' to the creation of racialized rights and privileges for white people in Great Britain and the United States in the 19th, 20th, and 21st centuries.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>412S</td>
<td>Mobility</td>
<td>Examine how individual humans move within a network or system through theories (e.g. Locke on portable property), vehicles (boats), travelers (pirates, pilgrims, migrants), media (books, money, gravestones, genealogies) to recognize the phenomenon of mobility and its consequences. This course enables you to cultivate an eye for seeing mobile phenomena, and to analyze how they are at the heart of the big issues: capitalism, colonialism, imperialism, race, religion, diaspora, migration and security.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>413S</td>
<td>The Geopolitics of Islamophobia from Bosnia to Xinjiang</td>
<td>Comparative study of geopolitical attitudes toward Muslim minorities in and majority Muslim nations of the greater Middle East beginning with the Ottomans and including Bosnia, Chechnya, Iran, Afghanistan and/or Xinjiang. These polities have histories of colonialism, contested Islamic and secular state traditions, and experiences of anti-Muslim racism, religious and ethnic conflict and political violence. Theoretical analysis of historiography, Islamophobia, gender, identity, and policy. Discussion of US, European, and regional geopolitical interests through cultural texts including literature and film. This course does not fulfill the History capstone requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PUBPOL</td>
<td>415</td>
<td>Communities of Practice</td>
<td>Capstone course for students completing community-based research projects through Service Opportunities in Leadership, a signature curricular and experiential learning offering in the Hart Leadership Program. Course involves critical reflection on summer projects, exploration of leadership models that center community-led work and systemic analysis, development and practice of skills for lifelong civic leadership, and interrogation of how individual lives of commitment to the common good are formed and sustained in community with others. Instructor consent required. Students must be members of the SOL program and have completed both PUBPOL 263 and an approved summer project.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PUBPOL416S - South Africa and the World

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 416S
Title: South Africa and the World

Description:
Throughout the 20th century, South Africa had the largest economy and military on the African continent. Its strategic geographic position and mineral wealth in gold and uranium made it an important ally for the largest economies in the world. The Cold War enhanced its significance. However, in the second half of the twentieth century, its policies of apartheid rendered it an international pariah. This course examines the ways in which countries, international institutions, and millions of 'ordinary' people shaped the course of South African history. How did South Africa interact with the broader world, and how did the world try to affect South Africa's policies of white supremacy?

PUBPOL420S - Multidisciplinary Approaches to Contemporary Children's Issues

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 420S
Title: Multidisciplinary Approaches to Contemporary Children's Issues

Description:
In this course, you will learn to translate your scholarship into policy-relevant writing and actions. Students must have completed or be in the process of completing an independent research project on a topic related to children, families, or education. You will translate knowledge gained from your independent research project into several products for diverse audiences, including practitioners and policymakers. You will learn to present your academic scholarship in oral, academic, lay-public, and professional forums. Capstone course required for the Child Policy Research certificate program. Consent of Director of that certificate program required.

PUBPOL425 - Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy & Entrepreneurship

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 425
Title: Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy & Entrepreneurship

Description:
Course examines the tightly linked roles of intellectual property law and innovation in the 21st century global economy, offers an overview of the use of intellectual property in business, law and public policy, as well as in-depth coverage of current controversies impacting the future of the global information economy: gene patents; online piracy; music sampling; open source business models; access to medicines; and the impact of the 3D printing revolution. Besides overviews of trends in intellectual property law, research and development strategies, university technology transfer, and government and private sector investment, examine case studies of specific innovators, companies, places.

PUBPOL435 - Global Inequality Research

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 435
Title: Global Inequality Research

Description:
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas, employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area (relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645 or 645S.)
PUBPOL435S - Global Inequality Research Seminar

Description
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas: employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645S.

PUBPOL445A - Climate Change in the Marine Environment

Description
Exploration of climate change science focusing on marine ecosystems and inhabitants - specifically ocean acidification, warming and sea level rise. Factors causing climate change, and how those vary spatially, focusing on sensitive polar ecosystems and marine mammal populations. Critical examination of climate change modeling using EdGCM (research-grade Global Climate Model), focusing on how scientists use models, observations/theory to predict climate, and assumptions/uncertainty implicit in modeling. Discussion of potential human impacts including consequences of sea level rise and potential increases in disease due to climate change. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

PUBPOL450AS - Glasgow Seminar in Public Policy

Description
Analysis of the British political system and important public policy problems in Britain including: privatization, Britain and the European community, and economic and social policy. (Taught in Scotland.) Prerequisite: Public Policy Studies 155D, two of the core courses (Public Policy Studies 301, 302, 303D or equivalent, or Statistical Science 101), and consent of director.

PUBPOL460SA - Politics and Policy Practicum for Duke in DC

Description
In this course, students develop policy expertise and professional skills relating to their Washington internship. In their final paper, students analyze a policy issue they have encountered in their internship and develop and evaluate alternative approaches to the issues. The course also provides students with skills that enhance their internship experience and prepare them for future research and policy work. The skill-building components may include: analyzing sources of information, interviewing for research and for policy analysis, doing sensitivity analysis, providing constructive criticism, and briefing expert and non-expert audiences.
PUBPOL473S - Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 473S
Title: Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Description: Capstone for Certificate in Sustainability Engagement open to senior undergraduates who have completed all other Certificate requirements. Interdisciplinary insights to shed light on major contemporary debates in sustainability and world's most pressing problems. Synthesis and integration of ideas, concepts, and themes from their academic coursework and experiential activities with each dimension of sustainability, enhancing their systems analysis of chosen theme. Classes include discussion, readings, and guest speakers on topics in sustainability. May include fieldwork and other learning experiences relevant to sustainability. Held in Spring semesters. Open only to Sustainability Engagement certificate students. Prerequisite: Sustainability Engagement 245/Environment 245.

PUBPOL473SD - Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 473SD
Title: Building a Sustainable Tomorrow

Description: Capstone for Certificate in Sustainability Engagement open to senior undergraduates who have completed all other Certificate requirements. Interdisciplinary insights to shed light on major contemporary debates in sustainability and world's most pressing problems. Synthesis and integration of ideas, concepts, and themes from their academic coursework and experiential activities with each dimension of sustainability, enhancing their systems analysis of chosen theme. Classes include discussion, readings, and guest speakers on topics in sustainability. May include fieldwork and other learning experiences relevant to sustainability. Held in Spring semesters. Open only to Sustainability Engagement certificate students. Prerequisite: Sustainability Engagement 245/Environment 245.

PUBPOL490S - Capstone Seminars in Special Topics in Public Policy

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Capstone Seminars in Special Topics in Public Policy

Description: Selected topics for courses offering capstone experiences or advanced research. Instructor consent required.

PUBPOL493A - Politics and Policy Practicum for Duke in DC

Subject: PUBPOL
Catalog Number: 493A
Title: Politics and Policy Practicum for Duke in DC

Description: In this course, students develop policy expertise and professional skills relating to their Washington internship. In their final paper, students analyze a policy issue they have encountered in their internship and develop and evaluate alternative approaches to the issues. The course also provides students with skills that enhance their internship experience and that prepare them for future research and policy work. The skill-building components may include: analyzing sources of information, interviewing for research and for policy analysis, doing sensitivity analysis, providing constructive criticism, and briefing expert and non-expert audiences.
PUBPOL494 - Honors Project: Research Independent Study

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
494

Title
Honors Project: Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in field of special interest under supervision of a faculty member leading to completion of an honors thesis in Public Policy Studies. First semester requires substantive paper that outlines thesis. Second semester results in paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of the topic. Open only to students seeking honors via research independent study route. Consent of instructor and honors project director required.

PUBPOL495S - Honors Seminar

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
495S

Title
Honors Seminar

Description
Special research topics. Consent of the honors seminar instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

PUBPOL496S - Honors Seminar

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
496S

Title
Honors Seminar

Description
Continuation of Public Policy Studies 495S. Consent of the honors seminar instructor and director of undergraduate studies required. Prerequisite: Public Policy Studies 495S.

PUBPOL497S - Senior Seminar Special Topics

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
497S

Title
Senior Seminar Special Topics

Description
For special topics courses that are targeted toward upper-level students and capstone experiences.

PUBPOL89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject
PUBPOL

Catalog Number
89S

Title
First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics may vary each semester offered.

RACESOC393T - Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Subject
RACESOC

Catalog Number
393T

Title
Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to investigate how race intersects with various aspects of society and lived experience. Teams often work with external experts and partners. A team’s work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and/or other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.
RACESOC394T - Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Subject: RACESOC
Catalog Number: 394T
Title: Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to investigate how race intersects with various aspects of society and lived experience. Teams often work with external experts and partners. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and/or other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

RACESOC395 - Bass Connections Race & Society Research Independent Study

Subject: RACESOC
Catalog Number: 395
Title: Bass Connections Race & Society Research Independent Study

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project, independent study. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to investigate how race intersects with various aspects of society and lived experience. Projects often involve external experts and partners. Project work may run in parallel with, or contribute to, an ongoing research project. Students will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

RACESOC395T - Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Subject: RACESOC
Catalog Number: 395T
Title: Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to investigate how race intersects with various aspects of society and lived experience. Teams often work with external experts and partners. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.

RACESOC396 - Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Subject: RACESOC
Catalog Number: 396
Title: Bass Connections Race & Society Research Team

Description
Bass Connections Year-long Project Team. Topics vary depending on semester and section. Teams of undergraduate and graduate students work with faculty to investigate how race intersects with various aspects of society and lived experience. Teams often work with external experts and partners. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION101</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>Introduction to Religious Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to leading themes and concepts in the study of religions from the ancient world to the present. Course is divided into two parts: 1) what is religion? and 2) how is religion studied? A variety of religious traditions are examined as well as various theories and definitions of religion. Includes exploration of key ways in which different religions understand such social problems as violence and ideological conflict.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION107</td>
<td>107</td>
<td>Introductory Sanskrit Language and Literature</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduces classical, literary Sanskrit, the ancient and trans-continental language of India's intellectual heritage, history, and sacred scriptures. Teaches students Devanagari script, to learn and analyze grammatical forms and structures, vocabulary, and to interpret meaning. Provides an overview to the literature and civilizational importance of Sanskrit, from the ancient past to the present.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION108</td>
<td>108</td>
<td>Intermediate Sanskrit Grammar and Readings</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Continuation of Sanskrit 101/Religion 107, as prerequisite. Further learning of grammatical forms and structures of the higher language. Introduction of elementary readings from literature and scriptures.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION110</td>
<td>110</td>
<td>Self, Society and Art in Modern Hinduism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
An exploration of the beliefs, ethics, everyday and ceremonial practices, philosophies, mythologies, and movements that are part of the aggregate-named religion of Hinduism.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>118FS</td>
<td>Religious Freedom in America: A Legal History</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course introduces students to the major texts and historical arguments concerning religious liberty in the United States. We will place key constitutional texts and cases into a chronologically organized historical framework, covering: European precedents to English settlement, the colonial period, nation-making and the Constitution, the early national period of religious revival and expansion, the Civil War and 14th Amendment, Mormonism, fundamentalism and secularism in the Progressive Era, WWII and religious pacifism, The Cold War, the 1960s and school prayer, the rise of the Religious Right, and recent cases involving religious freedom. Only offered in the FOCUS program.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>120</td>
<td>Buddhism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>122</td>
<td>Scribes and Scriptures: The Transmission of the Bible in Antiquity</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

A study of the people and communities responsible for the writing and copying of sacred literature in antiquity, with a focus on the transmission of biblical texts. Topics include: scribal education, tools or instruments, methods of copying, and (dis)similarities in practices across time, place, and religious tradition. Ancient texts now held at Duke’s Rubenstein Rare Book and Manuscript Library will form the basis of our inquiry.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>140</td>
<td>Judaism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>141</td>
<td>Judaism Through Film</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

An overview of major themes in Jewish practice, belief, identity, and history as presented through the medium of film. Emphasis will be on contemporary Judaism in Europe, America, and the Middle East.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>145</td>
<td>The Old Testament/Hebrew Bible</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Historical, literary, ethical, and theological investigations of the ancient Near Eastern context of Israelite religion and culture.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION150 - Christianity</td>
<td>150</td>
<td>Christianity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Introduction to Christian doctrine, ritual, social organization and ethics in the past and present.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION151 - Christian Orthodoxy and Heresy</td>
<td>151</td>
<td>Christian Orthodoxy and Heresy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Study of the major theological concepts of Christianity, in an attempt to understand when and why these concepts became part of the Christian legacy. We will study the theology of the Bible, the proclamations of the councils, the authoritative decisions of the churches, and the writings of the most influential Christian authors, up to our own day. For each of the focal points we will consider the historical and cultural contexts, and listen to the various participants in the debates, winners and losers. The course aims to clarify the main topics that are shared by all Christians as well as the topics that have led to division of Christianity in the past and to ongoing debate in the present.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Examination of the major books of the New Testament, covering their contents, ethical implications, historical and social setting, authorship, date, and theology.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION156 - Scripture: Judaism, Christianity, and Islam</td>
<td>156</td>
<td>Scripture: Judaism, Christianity, and Islam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Judaism, Christianity, and Islam are characterized as religions of the book. Their sacred texts are foundational to the faiths they represent. In spite of shared histories, overlapping contents, and parallel perspectives, their Sacred Scriptures diverge in key points of content, interpretation, and uses by their communities. In this course, students will be introduced to the history, contours, and content of the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament, the New Testament, and the Qur’an and hadith, exploring issues of scripture and authority, texts and manuscripts, translation and interpretation, performance, canonicity, ethical issues, and contemporary use.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RELIGION160 - Islam

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
RELIGION | 160 | Islam

Description
Introduction to Islamic theology, practice, social institutions, and ethics in the past and present. This course uses original Islamic texts, academic prose, as well as film and fiction. Two short papers, quizzes, and brief presentation are required.

RELIGION170 - Comparative Religious Studies

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
RELIGION | 170 | Comparative Religious Studies

Description
The category of 'religion' is arguably a Western concept that is applied to Eastern traditions of thought and practice such as Confucianism, Daoism, Buddhism, and Hinduism. What are the differences, and as well as the similarities that might be hidden by the broad application of this concept, if we compare these traditions of thought and practice with the Abrahamic religions of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam? How do ethical values get related to conceptions of human salvation or enlightenment and the ultimate source of the natural order? Is there a conception of free will that exists across these traditions? Is there a distinction between the realms of the secular and the sacred that runs across these traditions?

RELIGION175 - Religions of Asia

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
RELIGION | 175 | Religions of Asia

Description
Problems and methods in the study of religion, followed by a survey of the historical development, beliefs, practices, ethics, and contemporary significance of the Islamic religion and religions of South and East Asia.

RELIGION176 - Japanese Religions: Buddhas, Gods, and Monsters

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
RELIGION | 176 | Japanese Religions: Buddhas, Gods, and Monsters

Description
Buddhas, deities, and demons inhabit daily life in contemporary Japan, but many Japanese people insist that they are not religious. This course examines how 'religion' itself is understood in Japan, as well as the various strands of Japanese religious life from prehistoric times until the present. We will explore traditions including Shinto and kami (deity) worship, Buddhism, Christianity, Confucianism, and the New Religions; and investigate the ethical, social, and political dimensions of these traditions.
RELIGION181 - Silk Roads and China, Ancient and Medieval Transformations

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 181
Title: Silk Roads and China, Ancient and Medieval Transformations

Description
The Silk Roads are the oldest and longest routes of cultural communication and economic exchange connecting Asia, Europe and Africa. In use since the days of Alexander the Great, the Roads and its rail networks now extend from China to England, connecting 70 countries and forming a vital system. This course introduces the ancient to early modern histories, cultures, and religions of the Silk Roads anchored in four themes: Alexander's empire; life in medieval cities of Chang’an, Baghdad and Constantinople; Silk Roads religions and the interactions of Buddhism, Christianity, Judaism and Islam; and the Mongol empire visited through the travels of Marco Polo.

RELIGION185 - America's Gods: Religion in the Public Square

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 185
Title: America's Gods: Religion in the Public Square

Description
This course examines the role and manifestation of religions in American public life. It pays special attention to controversies that have shaped American legal, political, cultural, and social history. Topics include media representation of religions, public monuments, race, gender, sexuality, and religious diversity.

RELIGION186S - Religion & Humor

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 186S
Title: Religion & Humor

Description
Why is so much humor about religion? This course will explore that question in a variety of ways by considering the social and psychological dynamics of humor in relation to the ritual practices and beliefs of several major religions.

RELIGION190A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Religion

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 190A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Religion

Description
Topics differ by section.

RELIGION190FS - Focus Program Seminars: Special Topics

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Focus Program Seminars: Special Topics

Description
Topics vary from semester to semester. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

RELIGION190S - Special Topics Seminar

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics Seminar

Description
Topics and instructors to be announced.
RELIGION201 - Race, Film, and Religion

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 201
Title: Race, Film, and Religion

Description:
In this course, we will examine how cinema both constructs and reproduces anti-black racism and how cinema works to liberate blackness from the strictures of racial domination. We will watch films from the past three decades that provide an opportunity to interrogate the relationship between race, gender, and sexuality. These films will also enable us to think about how cinema introduces unconventional notions of the sacred, a process that involves affect, desire, and imagination. Films that we watch may include: Moonlight, Medicine for Melancholy, Black Panther, Daughters of the Dust, Get Out, US, Pariah, and Selma.

RELIGION202S - Psychedelic Religions

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 202S
Title: Psychedelic Religions

Description:
This course aims to investigate the long history of the relationship between religion and drugs, from prehistoric to contemporary times, when psychedelics are again considered the 'new frontier' of knowledge of mind and soul. In doing so, this course also moves the study of religion to religions beyond Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Buddhism, and Hinduism, to investigate Indigenous religions in South, Central, and North America.

RELIGION203S - Modern Islam: Contemporary Islamic thought between revival and reform

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 203S
Title: Modern Islam: Contemporary Islamic thought between revival and reform

Description:
Course designed to give students mastery over debates in modern Islam. Islam's encounter with modernity, women's rights, fundamentalism, and colonialism. No background is necessary. Readings in English.

RELIGION204S - Neopaganism and Witchcraft

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 204S
Title: Neopaganism and Witchcraft

Description:
Neopaganism and Witchcraft investigate the religious phenomenon loosely called Neopaganism – an inventive mixture of New Age religions, Witchcraft, Druidism, Wicca, Earth Religions, and non-Native American Shamanism. The course focus on practices principally in Europe and the United States for a particular set of reasons. Christianity and its pagan others have played a critical role in the history of modern European and American imagination of the nation-state. Race, religion, and native soil are key aspects of neopaganism's embattled self-concept, particularly in the context of globalization and the perceived menace of multi-ethnic West.
RELIGION205S - Women, Gender, and Christian Origins

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 205S
Title: Women, Gender, and Christian Origins

Description:
A study of early Christian perspectives on women and gender as expressed in the New Testament and other Jewish and early Christian writings within the context of ancient Mediterranean religions. Topics addressed include: women’s roles, ancient discussions of masculinity and femininity, institutional arrangements and the household, and the development of the category ‘virgin.’

RELIGION206FS - Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 206FS
Title: Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe

Description:
This course focuses on the battle between barbarian invaders, established communities, and new religions in the Middle Ages. What became Spain and Portugal were battlegrounds between faiths old and new, a clash of civilizations between Christianity, Judaism, and Islam that would inform future global conflicts. We explore the history of this confrontation at the crossroad of civilizations—between East and West, Africa and Europe—and its effect on our worldview today. A common culture was forged in science, mathematics, music, literature, philosophy, and mysticism, a shared legacy shaping world history and the current world order. Part of the ‘Geopolitics and Culture’ Focus Cluster.

RELIGION208 - Ancient Myth

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 208
Title: Ancient Myth

Description:
Myths are humanity’s longest-lasting and most powerful stories. They shape our understanding of transitions and crises, and explore the boundaries between right and wrong, life and death, and the natural and the supernatural. They can also be playful, exuberant, and highly entertaining. This course introduces students to the myths of Greece and Rome, with comparative material drawn from the Hebrew Bible and other ancient texts. Throughout the course we will also think about the role of mythology today, and the way we use stories to come to terms with ourselves and our world.

RELIGION209 - Selected Sanskrit Readings

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 209
Title: Selected Sanskrit Readings

Description:
This is a reading course building on a prior knowledge of Sanskrit grammar to introduce the skills needed for reading the varieties of different kinds of texts found in Sanskrit literature including basic scriptural texts in the aphoristic ‘sutra’ style, more expanded Epic or lyric styles of narrative and devotional poetry, and the various protocols to be mastered for reading scholastic commentaries. The course has as a prerequisite a basic and overall knowledge of Sanskrit grammar.
RELIGION209S - Love, Spirit, and Mysticism: The Path of Love in Middle East and South Asia

Subject
RELIGION
Catalog Number
209S
Title
Love, Spirit, and Mysticism: The Path of Love in Middle East and South Asia

Description
Examination of Love-based spirituality in multiple religious traditions. Focus on material originating from Persian, Urdu, Turkish, and Arabic sources. Readings will include literature and songs in English.

RELIGION210 - The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life's Ultimate Concerns

Subject
RELIGION
Catalog Number 210
Title
The Good Life: Religion, Philosophy, and Life's Ultimate Concerns

Description
What does it look like for a human life to go well? What leads to human flourishing or 'happiness' or 'success'? What is freedom? Love? Justice? What is the basis for ethics? What is our relationship to the natural world? What is the significance of death? How do our beliefs (or lack thereof) about God or the gods shape how we view the world? We will examine how philosophical or religious traditions around the globe have answered life's biggest questions. Traditions may include Confucianism, Islam, Christianity, Stoicism, Judaism, Buddhism, Hinduism, scientific naturalism, expressive individualism, and utilitarianism. Part of the Transformative Ideas Sophomore Program.

RELIGION211 - Atheism

Subject
RELIGION
Catalog Number 211
Title
Atheism

Description
This course examines atheism from the ancient world to the present as anti-religion, non-religion, disbelief, and religious disaffiliation. The course explores how the practices and positions of atheism have changed in relation to changing understandings of "religion" in a variety of religious and cultural contexts. It will examine depictions of atheism in literature, television, and film. The course will also explore the dynamics of race, class, gender, and sexuality in atheism.

RELIGION213S - Shamanism and Spirit Possession

Subject
RELIGION
Catalog Number
213S
Title
Shamanism and Spirit Possession

Description
Anthropological, psychological, and Religious Studies approaches to cross-cultural study of spirit possession and shamanism. Examination of in-depth case-studies and comparative works, from both literate civilizations and non-literate cultures. Engage with contemporary concerns with nature and boundaries of personhood and embodiment and their relation to leadership.

RELIGION214S - Andalusia: Muslim, Jewish, Christian Spain

Subject
RELIGION
Catalog Number
214S
Title
Andalusia: Muslim, Jewish, Christian Spain

Description
Intersection of cultures, religions, languages, & peoples through history, poetry, music, architecture, & philosophy in Spain. Cultural flourishing from the contact—and sometimes clash—of European, Spanish, Islamic, Arab, African, Middle Eastern, and Jewish civilizations and Arabic, Spanish, and Hebrew languages. Ends with Andalusian culture in modern music, poetry, art, dance, & architecture at the crossroads of civilizations. Includes travel to Spain over spring break so students witness firsthand the coexistence of different religious traditions and cultures. Instructor consent required.

RELIGION215 - Greek and Roman Religion

Subject
RELIGION
Catalog Number 215
Title
Greek and Roman Religion

Description
Topics in Greek and Roman religion from the Bronze Age through the rise of Christianity, based on literary, documentary, and archaeological sources. Coverage within the chronological boundaries via survey, case-studies, or a combination of both. Topics might include the relationship of myth and ritual, hero cult, mysteries, festivals, interface between philosophy and religion, 'public' and 'private' religion, religious 'imports' and exoticism, architecture and landscape of religion.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>216S</td>
<td>Hinduism and Judaism: Culture, Religion, and Identity</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Using interdisciplinary comparative frameworks, this course will study how two major world religions, Hinduism and Judaism, create a dynamic cosmos that brings abiding meaning to the daily lives of millions of believers. Explores concepts such as 'ritual' and 'myth' by examining Jewish and Hindu materials from early to modern times. The broader aims of the course are to understand how each tradition imagines time, space, and matter, and to explore how claims about the sacred are transformed in modernity. Ultimately, it aims to inspire reflection on how religion, identity and culture function in the modern world.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>217</td>
<td>Islamic Civilization I</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>A global history of Islamic thought, practice, spirituality, politics, and culture. This course analyzes the emergence of Islam and the spread of Muslim culture and learning across Africa, Asia, and Europe. It introduces how Muslims fostered a globalized economy and international community of scientists, scholars, agriculturalists, musicians, artisans, and philosophers of diverse backgrounds – along with other key themes that students may pursue in greater detail in future coursework. Gateway course for an interdisciplinary certificate in Islamic studies.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>219S</td>
<td>Muslim Women Across the Ages</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course explores the diverse realities of Muslim women's lives, from the origins of Islam to the present, through autobiographical and biographical accounts situated in their social, economic, political, and cultural contexts. The women we will encounter through textual and audiovisual materials represent a wide range of personal backgrounds, including scholars, mystics, merchants, philanthropists, poets, slavegirls, feminists, and Islamists. We will metaphorically travel across the globe and time to understand the multifarious facets of Muslim women's lived experiences.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>220</td>
<td>Religions of India</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Major religious traditions of the subcontinent: Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism, and Islam.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RELIGION221 - Indian Cinema & Social Change

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 221
Title: Indian Cinema & Social Change

Description: Considers the transnational purchase, aesthetic, and civic sensibilities of Indian cinema focusing on Hindi-language films. Review begins with emergence of Indian cinema in 1890s, then considers how social change became a driving force during anti-colonial resistance and nationalist reform. Course focuses on the post-independence (1947-) period, when social justice activism enters the mainframe of 'Bollywood' film. Core inquiry centers on how the cinematic imaginary of India perceives faultlines in Indian society and expresses its social voice. Themes include caste, gender, sanitation, poverty, successfulness, religious fundamentalism, ageism, and sexuality.

RELIGION222 - Intermediate Sanskrit

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 222
Title: Intermediate Sanskrit

Description: The second semester's follow-up to Introductory Sanskrit, this course completes an overview of the grammar and syntax of Classical Sanskrit, and transitions to primary readings in original sources of the literature. Introductory Sanskrit or its equivalent is prerequisite to this course.

RELIGION223S - Muhammad: The Prophet of Islam

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 223S
Title: Muhammad: The Prophet of Islam

Description: Course will cover the life, legacy, and devotion to the Prophet of Islam. No background needed. All course material in English. Course will include various sources depicting the life of Muhammad, the statements attributed to the Prophet, and also the vast legacy of devotion to the Prophet.

RELIGION224S - Islam, Art, and Society

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 224S
Title: Islam, Art, and Society

Description: Explores the historic interweaving of theology, spirituality, art, architecture, mathematics, & astronomy in the beautification of everyday objects & lived spaces. It examines how underlying principles of beauty and geometry shaped places such as hospitals, palaces, gardens, colleges, mosques, inns, and Sufi lodges as well as their historical functions in Muslim societies. Students also study and reconstruct historic examples of artistic patterns. A rotating variety of case studies across Afro-Eurasia may include sites and cultural artifacts from Bukhara, Cairo, Cordoba, Damascus, Delhi, Fes, Granada, Guangzhou, Hyderabad, Istanbul, Isfahan, Jerusalem, Malacca, Samarqand, Timbuktu & more.

RELIGION225 - Islam in the Age of Trump: Race, Immigration, and Empire

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 225
Title: Islam in the Age of Trump: Race, Immigration, and Empire

Description: Policy and history of treatment of Muslim Americans under Trump administration; Islamophobia as state policy; policy, law, history of both African American Muslims and Muslim immigrants; racism, policies of colonialism and Empire, and anti-immigrant bigotry.

RELIGION228 - The Turks: From Ottoman Empire to European Union

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 228
Title: The Turks: From Ottoman Empire to European Union

Description: Readings in cultural history and literature to examine transformations in Turkish identity from the Ottoman era to EU accession. Discussion of the 'gazi thesis', the 'sultanate of women', religious tolerance (millets), conversion, modernity and nationalism. Secondary topics include Sufism, Islam, gender, and historiography. Interdisciplinary focus. Taught in English.
RELIGION229D - From Agra to Istanbul: Islamic Art and Architecture in the Early Modern Era

Description
From glittering gold domes to vibrantly colored illuminated manuscripts, this course examines Islamic art and architecture from the Indian subcontinent to the eastern Mediterranean from the fifteenth to mid-nineteenth centuries. This period corresponds to the rise of major Islamic empires, most notably the Mughals, Safavids, and Ottomans, whose capital cities became booming centers of art and architecture. This class will explore the artistic production of these empires and consider the rich cross-cultural connections between them, as well as their relationships with the artistic traditions of both Europe and East Asia.

RELIGION230S - Jerusalem

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
230S

Title
Jerusalem

Description
Seminar assesses the contribution of Jerusalem’s buildings to its contentiousness from Biblical to modern times. Particular sites considered in the context of the urban history of the city from the time of Jesus through Arab, Crusader, Turkish and British rule to contemporary Israeli control. How these places act upon the religious imagination and how they affect the ideological positions of their users (and their abusers) discussed on the basis of photographs, archaeological reports, news reports, novels, sacred texts and diaries.

RELIGION231S - Augustine’s City of God

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
231S

Title
Augustine’s City of God

Description
Study of the literary form and argument of Augustine’s epoch-making City of God: a rhetorical tour de force of consummate artistry and stunning originality and scope; and a political, religious, and moral critique of ancient Rome within a comparative, cross-cultural analytical framework that vindicates an alternative vision of society rooted in the Christian scriptures. City of God provides a remarkable example of sophisticated literary construction, rhetorical prowess, cross-cultural examination, and moral reflection. We focus on these four facets of a celebrated synthesis that breaks new ground in historiography, political science, and moral theory.
RELIGION234 - Martin Luther King and the Prophetic Tradition

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 234
Title: Martin Luther King and the Prophetic Tradition

Description: Situates Martin Luther King as a preacher in the black Christian tradition with a liberationist reading. Traces the movement from civil rights to opposition to economic injustice, war, and militarism. Analyzes what the prophetic voices of today have to say about issues of poverty, racism, environmental destruction, militarism, homophobia, drones, sexism.

RELIGION235S - Cross-Cultural Encounters

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 235S
Title: Cross-Cultural Encounters

Description: The dynamics of cross-cultural interaction have actively shaped the world for many centuries now. This class explores some of the religious, social, and economic forces that fostered increasingly global contacts in history. In particular, it examines how centrally located and cosmopolitan Muslims played a critical role in connecting people of far-flung regions, cultures, and religions with one another. It surveys the myriad encounters of Muslims, Buddhists, Confucianists, Hindus, Jews, Christians and more across Afro-Eurasia and into the Americas. How did religious networks, processes and events foster historic exchanges of ideas, practices, and commodities across the world?

RELIGION236S - Religion in Black America

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 236S
Title: Religion in Black America

Description: Seminar version of Religion 236.

RELIGION237 - Religion in American Life

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 237
Title: Religion in American Life

Description: A historical survey, with emphasis on the ways that religious experiences, beliefs, and traditions have found expression in religious communities and institutions, and in American public life.

RELIGION238S - Activism & Christianity in Modern America

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 238S
Title: Activism & Christianity in Modern America

Description: An exploration of the relation of Christian belief and practices with agitation for social change, with a focus on the United States from the colonial period to the present. Attention given to how identity, power, and suffering shape historical judgments about the intersection of religion and ethics. Close readings of primary sources drawn from autobiographies, letters, sermons, poems, and treatises. Figures may include John Wesley, Sojourner Truth, Frederick Douglass, Martin Luther King Jr., Pauli Murray, Dorothy Day, Thomas Merton, Daniel Berrigan.

RELIGION240SL - West African Rootholds in Dance

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 240SL
Title: West African Rootholds in Dance

Description: Lecture and dance laboratory exploring three West African traditional dance forms and their relationship to religious and social life in Africa and the Diaspora. Continuity and transformation of physical texts as cultural heritage, examined historically and aesthetically. Guest lecturers, videos, research project. Two lab sections, one for students with prior training in African Dance, and one for students with no experience.
RELIGION 241 - Dance and Dance Theater of Asia
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 241
Title: Dance and Dance Theater of Asia
Description:
Asian dance and dance theater performance genres and the cultural aesthetics that inform them. Cultural traditions of China, Korean, Japan, India, Indonesia, Thailand and Cambodia. Religious, ritual, folk and royal court forms of artistic performance. The mythology, legends and symbolic interpretations that underlie the thematic core of these performance traditions; spiritual importance of disciplined training; the intercultural translation and adaptation of Asian performance disciplines to the West.

RELIGION 248 - Hip Hop and Religion
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 248
Title: Hip Hop and Religion
Description:
For many people, hip-hop and religion are incompatible. Hip-hop seems to be defined by materialism, arrogance, violence, misogyny, and a general rejection of sacred ideals and values. In this course, we will challenge these assumptions by exploring the intersections between hip hop and religion, while questioning what these terms mean and signify. We will examine aspects of hip-hop (rap lyrics, video images, cultural rituals, films) that explicitly or implicitly express religious commitments and sensibilities.

RELIGION 249 - Religion and Sport
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 249
Title: Religion and Sport
Description:
This course explores the many ways in which sports converge with (and diverge from) religion. Lecture version to Religion 249S.

RELIGION 249S - Religion and Sport
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 249S
Title: Religion and Sport
Description:
This course explores the many ways in which sports converge with (and diverge from) religion.

RELIGION 250 - Art and Christianity: A History of Christian Visual Culture
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 250
Title: Art and Christianity: A History of Christian Visual Culture
Description:
This course is an introduction to the history of Christian visual culture from the early Middle Ages to the present. Beginning with controversies concerning the nature of images and their role in Christian worship, the course moves through successive eras of Christian history, focusing on Western Europe in the medieval and early modern eras, then following Christianity around the globe in the colonial period, ending with examination of modern European and American art that draws in different ways from the history of Christian ideas and practices. Readings and discussion in class focus on objects such as reliquaries, paintings, architectural settings, illustrated books, and prints.

RELIGION 254 - Christian Ethics and Modern Society
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 254
Title: Christian Ethics and Modern Society
Description:
An introduction to Christian ideals of conduct, character, and community, and to modern disputes over their interpretation and application. Are Christian virtues and principles fundamentally at odds with the ethos of liberal democracy oriented toward rights, equality, and freedom? What do Christian beliefs and moral concepts imply about issues related to identity and pluralism? What is the relationship between religious convictions, morality, and law? Special emphasis on selected political and economic problems, sexuality and marriage, capital punishment, animals and the environment, abortion, and the role of religion in public life.
RELIGION257 - Four Funerals and a Wedding: Introduction to Chinese Religious Life

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 257
Title: Four Funerals and a Wedding: Introduction to Chinese Religious Life

Description
This is an introductory course on contemporary Chinese religious life. Students are encouraged to think comparatively about religious life with sociological as well as historical imagination. We examine the major religious traditions in China today—Confucianism, Buddhism, Daoism, Christianity, Islam, and popular religious traditions—through rituals and beliefs related to everyday life, such as birth, marriage, and death. Case studies include a history of the development of Confucianism; an analysis of essential concepts and practices in Daoism; a narrative of Catholicism in a Chinese village; a history of women’s mosques in China; and a study of contemporary popular religious practices.

RELIGION257S - Four Funerals and a Wedding: Introduction to Chinese Religious Life

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 257S
Title: Four Funerals and a Wedding: Introduction to Chinese Religious Life

Description
This is an intensive seminar on contemporary Chinese religious life. Students are encouraged to think comparatively about religious life with sociological as well as historical imagination. We examine the major religious traditions in China today—Confucianism, Buddhism, Daoism, Catholicism, Protestantism, Islam, and popular religious traditions—through rituals and beliefs related to everyday life, such as birth, marriage, and death.

RELIGION258 - Religion and the Novel in Modern India

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 258
Title: Religion and the Novel in Modern India

Description
Indian writing in English, especially the novel, provides a unique understanding of religion in the world’s largest democracy. The novel has come of age in India, seen innovations and has influenced world literature. Indian and Indian-origin novelists have been Booker and Pulitzer winners, Commonwealth awardees, and Sahitya Akademi laureates. Course will examine how the Indian novel in English understands and mediates tradition and modernity, selfhood and society in a deeply diverse culture. Includes novels written during the twilight of British colonial rule, the Partition, and contemporary decades of rapid globalization and diasporic change.

RELIGION260 - Pilgrimage and Tourism

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 260
Title: Pilgrimage and Tourism

Description
Investigation of pilgrimage and tourist destinations (Jerusalem, Rome, Santiago, Orlando, New York) from the Middle Ages to the present through a study of their material remains, primary sources and theoretical texts. Discussion of the moral and ethical issues involved in marketing authenticity from a cross-cultural and comparative perspective. Evaluation based on weekly student written assessments of the texts and the presentation of a pilgrimage site of their choice.
RELIGION261 - From History to Fantasy: Medieval Religions in Film & Fiction

Subject  RELIGION
Catalog Number  261
Title  From History to Fantasy: Medieval Religions in Film & Fiction
Description
Explores the intersection of modern popular culture and medieval religious culture. Deep dive into how modern creators of mass entertainment use common notions of medieval faith, power, race, sexualities and violence to capture and hold our interest, teach us lessons about ourselves, and sell products. How do our ideas of faith, sexuality, race and power inspire or constrain the fiction we create about the past? What impact does this have on consumers? Monks, nuns, knights, crusades, secret societies, suffragists, alt-right, plague. Modern novels, commentaries, history, medieval texts, neurobiology, TV, films, ads, games, memes, clubs. Read, discuss, write, research.

RELIGION262 - Dante's Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise

Subject  RELIGION
Catalog Number  262
Title  Dante’s Divine Comedy: Hell, Purgatory and Paradise
Description
A voyage through the three otherworldly places of Dante’s philosophical poem (Hell, Purgatory, Paradise) whose transformation of human actions into an ordered ethical system continues to captivate readers.

RELIGION264S - Religion & Journalism

Subject  RELIGION
Catalog Number  264S
Title  Religion & Journalism
Description
This course explores the many and complex ways in which religion converges with and diverges from journalism.

RELIGION265 - The Transnational Realities of an Ancient Tradition

Subject  RELIGION
Catalog Number  265
Title  The Transnational Realities of an Ancient Tradition
Description
This course traces the global development of Confucianism as religious, political, and cultural traditions from the eighteenth century to the twentieth-first century. Confucianism has taken a strong hold in East Asia for centuries, and it has also been having significant impact in Southeast Asia, especially in Vietnam, Singapore, Indonesia, and Malaysia, and today in North America as well. By examining textual, historical, and ethnographic data, this course focuses on the most recent developments of Confucianism as a religious and ritual tradition in diverse societies, while taking into account its cultural and political impact on global modernity.
RELIGION266S - Harry Potter and Religion

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 266S
Title: Harry Potter and Religion

Description:
This course explores the response of many Christians to the Harry Potter book series. Some theologically conservative Protestants have claimed that the Potter books contain satanic messages, promote witchcraft, and celebrate practices of the occult. By contrast, many supporters of the books insist they positively convey Christian messages. By investigating the debate, 'Harry Potter & Religion' also examines the history of thought concerning 'magic' and 'religion,' the sometimes blurred boundaries between religion and science, and the place of technologies of enchantment in all of the above--magic, religion, and science alike.

RELIGION267 - Spiritual But Not Religious

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 267
Title: Spiritual But Not Religious

Description:
This course address one of the most pressing questions in the study of religion today: What does it mean to be 'spiritual but not religious'? This is a question that frequently appears in survey research; about a quarter of U.S. adults 'now say they think of themselves as spiritual but not religious' (Pew). In this course, we address the big questions about how to define 'religion' and 'spirituality,' and we use empirical data to acquire a new understanding of the lived experience of people who are 'spiritual but not religious,' not only in the United States, but also in Asia and other parts of the world.

RELIGION268 - Religion and Film

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 268
Title: Religion and Film

Description:
A study of the relationship between motion pictures and religion. Focus on the comparative portrayal of organized religions; expressions of religious life; and religious topics, such as God, evil and morality, in both Western and non-Western films in which contemporary artists and intellectuals explore the challenges of modernity.

RELIGION269S - Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 269S
Title: Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film

Description:
Analyzes, compares, and assesses representations of Polish Christians and Polish Jews—their life experiences, interactions, shared and separate fates—in documentaries and fiction films made in Poland from the 1930s to the present day. Includes films by Wajda, Polanski, Munk, Kieslowski; also a 2008 documentary about pre-World War II Christian-Jewish relations in Poland by Jolanta Dylewska. All films screened with English subtitles.
RELIGION270 - Black Gods and Monarchs: Priests and Practices of the Afro-Atlantic Religions

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
270

Title
Black Gods and Monarchs: Priests and Practices of the Afro-Atlantic Religions

Description
Surveys the spiritual, political and economic experience of those who worship African gods—West and Central Africans, Cubans, Brazilians, Haitians, and North Americans. The gods as sources of power, organization and healing amid local political dominance of Muslims and Christians and seismic expansion of international capitalism. West African Yoruba religion, West-Central African Kongo religion, Brazilian Candomblé and Umbanda, Cuban Santería and Palo Mayombe, Haitian Vodou, and African American Pentecostalism are examined as belief systems, and contextualized to the trans-Atlantic slave trade, long-distance commerce and pilgrimage by free people.

RELIGION271 - Sex and Gender in the Hebrew Bible

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
271

Title
Sex and Gender in the Hebrew Bible

Description
Women in ancient Israel, early Christianity, and early Judaism in their contexts in the Near Eastern and Greco-Roman worlds, with attention to the relation between textual depictions and social reality and to the ethical issues raised by the continuing authority of biblical texts for matters of gender. Sources include the Bible, images from art, and archaeological remains.

RELIGION273 - Astrology and Religion

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
273

Title
Astrology and Religion

Description
Introduces students to astrological divinational systems, methods and thought, with a focus on the astrology of Mesopotamian-Vedic-Greek thought 600 BCE-200 CE and Chinese I-Ching-based divination-astrological systems. Class explores these as key (persistent) examples of what Joseph Needham calls 'correlative thinking,' a mode of thought that attempts to make sense of the world through the prediction/identification of a fundamental, dynamic pattern that is used as a template for making sense of one's place in the world, such as the family, Yin-Yang and Five Element theories, the year and the patterns of the stars day and night, the body, numerological schemas, and so on.

RELIGION276 - Religion and Race

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
276

Title
Religion and Race

Description
Discussion of various ways in which 'race' has been defined and constructed in recent centuries using categories from biology, sociology, philosophy, genetics, anthropology, etc. Examines how religious traditions and practitioners have actively sought both to eliminate race and have been complicit in maintaining and defending it. Special focus on Judaism, Christianity, and Islam in the modern period.

RELIGION278S - Epics of India: Ethics, Politics, and Performance Traditions

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
278S

Title
Epics of India: Ethics, Politics, and Performance Traditions

Description
Wide variety of epics across linguistic, geographical, and community orientations. Moral discourses, literary theory relating to epic form, performance traditions and media representations of epic narrative, and connections between political ideology and epic visions.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>RELIGION</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>281A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>The Cognitive Science of Religion and Morality</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Review of recent theories of mind in cognitive science as they pertain to the nature of belief in God, religious practices, and moral attitudes. Arguments in ethics and philosophy of religion as they apply to Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Offered only in the Duke in Istanbul semester study abroad programs. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>RELIGION283 - History and Culture of Iran</th>
<th>RELIGION284 - Ritual, Performance, and Religion</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>RELIGION</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>283</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>History and Culture of Iran</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>A multi-disciplinary approach to Iran and Persian culture. Covers history, religion, politics, literature, music, and cinema. Focuses on the developments in Iran leading up to and after the 1979 revolution. Does not require any knowledge of Persian or previous background.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>RELIGION285S - Religion and Technology</th>
<th>RELIGION286S - Religion in Cyberspace</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>RELIGION</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>285S</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Religion and Technology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Explores the production and consumption of technologies that were either inspired by spiritual views or made for religious purposes. Using primary and secondary sources, archival manuscripts, film, photography, and field trips to better understand these technologies and their place in the human imaginary.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>RELIGION286S - Religion in Cyberspace</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Course Code</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| RELIGION287 - Religion and Science | Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 287
Title: Religion and Science | The diverse interactions of religion and science from the Renaissance to the present. The profound transformation of premodern science by seventeenth-century revolutions and nineteenth-century discoveries; in turn, the transformation of society, including religion, by modern science. Some consideration of physics and astronomy, but major focus on the impact of Darwinian anti-teleology and modern biology, especially animal studies, on 'natural theology' and traditional arguments from design. Thinkers to be considered include Francis Bacon, Montaigne, Spinoza, Thomas Huxley, Albert Einstein, and E. O. Wilson. Topics include evolution, human consciousness, human identity, and the human-animal boundary. |
| RELIGION287S - Religion and Science | Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 287S
Title: Religion and Science | The diverse interactions of religion and science from the Renaissance to the present. The profound transformation of premodern science by seventeenth-century revolutions and nineteenth-century discoveries; in turn, the transformation of society, including religion, by modern science. Some consideration of physics and astronomy, but major focus on the impact of Darwinian anti-teleology and modern biology, especially animal studies, on 'natural theology' and traditional arguments from design. Thinkers to be considered include Francis Bacon, Montaigne, Spinoza, Thomas Huxley, Albert Einstein, and E. O. Wilson. Topics include evolution, human consciousness, human identity, and the human-animal boundary. |
| RELIGION290 - Special Topics in Religion | Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Religion | Topics vary from semester to semester. |
| RELIGION290S - Special Topics in Religion | Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Religion | Seminar version of Religion 290. |
| RELIGION291 - Independent Study | Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 291
Title: Independent Study | Individual guided readings in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. For first years and sophomores with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required. |
| RELIGION292 - Independent Study | Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 292
Title: Independent Study | See Religion 291. For first years and sophomores with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required. |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION293</td>
<td>293</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION294</td>
<td>294</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION295</td>
<td>295S</td>
<td>Black Muslims: Race, Religion, &amp; Culture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION301</td>
<td>301D</td>
<td>Religion, Restrictions, and Violence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION310</td>
<td>310S</td>
<td>Literary Translation: History, Theory, and Practice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION318</td>
<td>318S</td>
<td>Asian Religion and Knowledge of the Other</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

RELIGION293 - Research Independent Study

- Subject: RELIGION
- Catalog Number: 293
- Title: Research Independent Study

Description

Individual research and readings in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. For first years and sophomores with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

---

RELIGION294 - Research Independent Study

- Subject: RELIGION
- Catalog Number: 294
- Title: Research Independent Study

Description

See Religion 293. For first years and sophomores with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

---

RELIGION295S - Black Muslims: Race, Religion, & Culture

- Subject: RELIGION
- Catalog Number: 295S
- Title: Black Muslims: Race, Religion, & Culture

Description

The intersection of African, American, European, and Islamic cultures studied through the cultural and intellectual flourishing of black Islam. Topics include early Muslim communities established in the Americas through the transatlantic slave trade, Muslim slave rebellions in Brazil and the Caribbean, Muslim slave autobiographies, African Muslims in Europe, the emergence of the Moorish Science Temple and the Nation of Islam, Elijah Muhammad, Malcolm X, Muhammad Ali, women of the Nation of Islam, women’s Qur’an exegeses, Hagar as a black woman, black feminism, the Five-Percent Nation, Islamic hip-hop and rap, ‘the Black Crescent,’ the black international and Islam, and the Black Panthers.

---

RELIGION301D - Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

- Subject: RELIGION
- Catalog Number: 301D
- Title: Religion, Restrictions, and Violence

Description

An examination of the historical roots and current manifestations of religiously-justified violence and disenfranchisement, with a focus on the Abrahamic traditions (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam). The violence treated will include the expressly physical as well as the more insidiously existential, including political and cultural marginalization. Major loci of exploration will include gender and sexuality; Israel-Palestine, and the intersection of contemporary identities. Topics include the nature of extremisms within each tradition, the challenges of assimilation and ‘modernity,’ and the role and nature of citizenship and territory.

---

RELIGION310S - Literary Translation: History, Theory, and Practice

- Subject: RELIGION
- Catalog Number: 310S
- Title: Literary Translation: History, Theory, and Practice

Description

A study of the theory and practice of translation from antiquity to the present, with a focus on religious, literary, and philosophical texts and the distinctive challenges involved in rendering such works into a different language. Topics include analysis of historically-significant translations, a survey of the history and theory of translation as a practice, a close study of the ethics of translation, and a workshop in which students will prepare, revise, and analyze their own translations. Prerequisite: Three semesters of language.

---

RELIGION318S - Asian Religion and Knowledge of the Other

- Subject: RELIGION
- Catalog Number: 318S
- Title: Asian Religion and Knowledge of the Other

Description

This is a course that deals with some of the most fundamental questions in our modern global age: How do we understand societies that seem very different from our own? How do we relate to people who come from different cultural traditions and how do we understand religions that are distinct from our own? In order to answer these questions, we need to comprehend the various conceptualizations of the so-called ‘Other’ and our relationship with ‘the Other.’ We examine the diverse way through which we engage with Asian religions, such as Confucianism and Tibetan Buddhism, in the West, as well as the actual religious experience of Asian Americans, in particular Chinese-Americans.
RELIGION320S - Modern Buddhism in Asia and America

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 320S
Title: Modern Buddhism in Asia and America

Description
An examination of Buddhism in Asia, Europe, and the United States from the mid-nineteenth century to the present. Emphasis on global exchanges that resulted in the emergence of Buddhism in the United States and Europe and the transformation of Buddhism in Asia.

RELIGION321S - Buddhist Ethics

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 321S
Title: Buddhist Ethics

Description
Survey of various Buddhist understandings of ethics, both classical and contemporary. How different Buddhist communities have responded to such ethical problems as the existence of evil, war, injustice, and suffering as well as contemporary Buddhist debates over abortion, ethnic fratricide, human rights, environmental problems, economic justice, and cloning.

RELIGION323 - Buddhist Meditation in Transformation: Historical, Scientific, and Medical Perspectives

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 323
Title: Buddhist Meditation in Transformation: Historical, Scientific, and Medical Perspectives

Description
An in-depth examination of the Buddhist path and techniques of self-transformation in various Buddhist cultures, both premodern and modern. The differing conceptions of the psychophysical person and the goals of Buddhist practice assumed by these meditative techniques will be investigated. As part of the examination of Buddhist meditation, students will have an opportunity to experience a range practices and to reflect on the role of meditation in the construction of Buddhist maps of human development. Not open to students who took this course as an 89S First Year Seminar.

RELIGION323S - Buddhist Meditation: Cultivation Practices and Psychology

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 323S
Title: Buddhist Meditation: Cultivation Practices and Psychology

Description
Buddhist paths and techniques of self-transformation in premodern and modern Buddhist cultures. Conceptions of the psychophysical person and goals of Buddhist practice assumed by these meditative techniques. Reinterpretation and modification of traditional meditation practices in contemporary Buddhist societies. Students who took this course as an 89S First Year Seminar are not eligible to enroll.
RELIGION324 - Zen Buddhism: A Survey from Its Origins to the Present Day

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 324
Title: Zen Buddhism: A Survey from Its Origins to the Present Day

Description:
An examination of Zen Buddhism from its origins to its global spread in the nineteenth-twentieth centuries.

---

RELIGION325 - The Seven Deadly Sins: Representing Vice and Virtue in Christian Tradition

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 325
Title: The Seven Deadly Sins: Representing Vice and Virtue in Christian Tradition

Description:
This course will trace the motif of the seven deadly sins in Western tradition, exploring two methods of understanding human psychology and behavior: the philosophical school of virtue ethics, which provides an account of how our actions and habits shape our characters and identities, and the artistic technique of allegory, which externalizes our inner life in vivid, sometimes shocking images, characters, and stories. Readings are drawn from philosophy (Aristotle, Aquinas), literature (Dante, Chaucer, Spenser), art (Giotto, Bosch), and present-day pop culture. Course assignments include both analytical essays and creative projects.

---

RELIGION326S - Literary Islam

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 326S
Title: Literary Islam

Description:
The Quran as scripture; mystical poetry; stories of the early community; literary cultures in the early community; modern reinterpretations of Islamic sources; Islamist literature; modern Islamic poetry, novels, plays, and stories.

---

RELIGION333S - Buddhism, Death, and Dying: Religious and Medical Perspectives

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 333S
Title: Buddhism, Death, and Dying: Religious and Medical Perspectives

Description:
A consideration how traditional Buddhist conceptions of dying, death, and the after life have shaped 21st-century approaches to death. After examining conceptions of death and end-of-life practices, in Buddhism and the medical profession, we will consider the role played by American Buddhists in shaping contemporary attitudes towards end-of-life care.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION340</td>
<td>340</td>
<td>Jewish History, 1492 to the Present</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION342</td>
<td>342</td>
<td>The Holocaust</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION350S</td>
<td>350S</td>
<td>Non-Canonical Gospels</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION351</td>
<td>351</td>
<td>Jesus and the Gospels</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION352</td>
<td>352</td>
<td>The Life and Letters of Paul</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION353</td>
<td>353</td>
<td>Ethical Issues in Early Christianity</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

RELIGION340 - Jewish History, 1492 to the Present

Description
Major developments in Jewish history from the early modern period to today. The Kehillah, the Spanish-Jewish Diaspora, the rise of Polish Jewry, the Safed Kabbalah, Sabbatianism, the emergence of the Chassidut, the Haskalah (Jewish Enlightenment), Emancipation and the nation state, Reform Judaism, economic modernization, racism, Zionism, the Holocaust, the State of Israel, flourishing Jewish pluralism in the United States, the future: nation and Diaspora?

RELIGION342 - The Holocaust

Description
Antisemitism and the Jewish question in Central Europe, the development of Nazi policy, the Final Solution in its different sites (ghetto, labor camps, extermination camps) and institutions (SS, Judenrat), the Holocaust’s legacy. Historiographical debates and documentary research.

RELIGION350S - Non-Canonical Gospels

Description
Historical-critical study of early non-canonical Christian Gospels, with special reference to the Gospel of Thomas, the Gospel of Peter, the Protevangelium of James, the Infancy Gospel of Thomas, Papyrus Egerton 2, Gospel of Mary, Gospel of Judas, Gospel of Philip, Dialogue of the Savior and Secret Mark; their relationship to other early Christian texts, their view of Jesus, their place in early Christianity; questions of authority, canon, and concepts of heresy and orthodoxy.

RELIGION351 - Jesus and the Gospels

Description
Investigation of Jesus as he is portrayed in the Synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark, and Luke) and John, looking also at literary relationships, dates, and historical contexts, with special focus on the historical Jesus, eschatology, parables, stories about the miraculous, passion narratives, and gospel women.

RELIGION352 - The Life and Letters of Paul

Description
Paul’s biography and character, the social and physical circumstances of his work, his thought, and its relationship to ancient Jewish and Hellenistic ethics and beliefs.

RELIGION353 - Ethical Issues in Early Christianity

Description
Investigation of two major transitions in the early Christian movement and their impact on the formulation of Christian ethics: Christianity’s transition from a sect within Judaism to a Greco-Roman religious movement whose constituency came largely from the ‘pagan’ world, and its transition from a sect in danger of persecution to a religion favored and supported by Roman imperial authorities. How these transitions are reflected in early Christian attitudes toward, and practices concerning, poverty and wealth, war and military service, marriage and sexuality, capital punishment, slavery, and other issues.
RELIGION354S - Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
354S

Title
Christian Ethics and Modern Society

Description
An introduction to Christian ideals of conduct, character, and community, and to modern disputes over their interpretation and application. Are Christian virtues and principles fundamentally at odds with the ethos of liberal democracy oriented toward rights, equality, and freedom? What do Christian beliefs and moral concepts imply about issues related to identity and pluralism? What is the relationship between religious convictions, morality, and law? Special emphasis on selected political and economic problems, sexuality and marriage, capital punishment, animals and the environment, abortion, and the role of religion in public life.

RELIGION360 - Jesus in Film

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
360

Title
Jesus in Film

Description
Studies a variety of cinematic and television films that focus on Jesus; compares and contrasts documentary approaches with dramatic depictions; views the films alongside scholarship on Christian origins and asks what these films reveal about their creators, their social locations and their source material; investigates the reception of these films in both academic and popular culture.

RELIGION361 - The End of The World: Apocalyptic Arguments from Antiquity to the Present Day

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
361

Title
The End of The World: Apocalyptic Arguments from Antiquity to the Present Day

Description
Traces end-time arguments, predictions, and prophecies from the second-century BCE until the present day. Why are prophecies of doom so compelling? Why must time come to a stop? What happens after the world’s end? Who decides? Close study of the role of apocalyptic eschatology in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam across time and place provides a lens for interpreting more recent apocalyptic movements, texts, claims, and artistic productions.

RELIGION367 - Bodies, Sex, & Christianities

Subject
RELIGION

Catalog Number
367

Title
Bodies, Sex, & Christianities

Description
Christian scripture, literature, and art abounds with female figures. From the Virgin Mary to female saints, the Christian tradition has memorialized extraordinary women as models for lay women. How did Christianity challenge and preserve norms for female behavior? How did ascetic women and female martyrs transgress gender expectations? This course navigates the pitfalls and opportunities that the study of women offers for understanding the development of Christian belief and institutions. We will trace how gender was theorized and normative behavior prescribed and enforced within the periods of Late Antiquity, the Middle Ages, Reformation and modern day.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>368S</td>
<td>The Theology and Fiction of C. S. Lewis</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

A study of texts of cultural criticism, fantasy fiction, and theological and moral argument by C. S. Lewis; their dependence on the cultural situation in which they were deployed; an engagement with the interaction of magic, science, and religion; and the reasons for their continuing force and wide appeal.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>370S</td>
<td>Understanding the Qur'an</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The Qur'an is the Islamic scripture. This course explores the history of revelation or words of God in Islam; formation of the Qur'an as a book; its interpretation from medieval to modern time; its major themes; how the Qur'an introduces itself: the book of light, guidance, virtues and Islamic values and standards, or the book of law? the question of translatability; teaching the Qur'an as religious literature from a neutral viewpoint that could be understood from a secular, or non-theological perspective; the lessons one might apply from literary criticism, biblical studies, and historical methodology; and its message for the human beings in the contemporary world.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>371A</td>
<td>Religion, Security and Global Citizenship in the Arab World</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examine how the Arab world is embodied in the global or world system of the 21st century. Learn the specific accents that inform its citizens and shape its prospects locally, regionally and internationally. Examine how the major Abrahamic traditions - Judaism, Christianity and Islam - had their historical origins in the eastern Mediterranean world, and how they continue to have adherents that populate the region and challenge the modern notion of citizenship. Explore how the current uprising reflects the challenges of reconciling local aspirations with global forces. STUDY ABROAD: Duke in the Arab World Summer 2012

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>373S</td>
<td>Islamic Mysticism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course introduces the history and key concepts of Islamic spirituality through the lives, writings, institutions, and influence of Muslim sages, ascetics, and saints across Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Americas. Critical topics include Sufi origins, psychology, healing, music, poetry, politics, and the aspiration to beautify one's self and society through connection with the Divine.
RELIGION374S - Islam & the Meaning of Life

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 374S
Title: Islam & the Meaning of Life

Description:
The range of topics implicated by 'meaning of life' as essentials of Islamic philosophy and theology includes the features of the good life; true happiness; the quest for eternity and not to be forgotten; overcoming loneliness and alienation; peacefulness; seeking truth and reducing suffering; living in a purposeful universe; free will; the ultimate purpose of the human life; necessary cause for moral obligations; faith and reason; human dignity; the quest for absolute beauty and good; knowing the Beginning and the Return; the observation of transcendence and immanence; the origin of mercy, love, friendship, justice, fairness, and hope; 'the wholly other'; the exemplar of the human being.

RELIGION376 - Islamic Civilization II

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 376
Title: Islamic Civilization II

Description:
Continuation of Religion 375.

RELIGION377S - Religion and Politics in Post-Revolutionary Iran

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 377S
Title: Religion and Politics in Post-Revolutionary Iran

Description:
The relationship between religion and politics; Islam and politics; Islamic political theology and ethics; stages of Shi'ite Islam and politics; Iran between two revolutions; political Islam; Khomeini's political thought; Iranian Constitution; tension between theocracy, secularism, and democracy; quasi-democracy and elections; expediency and secularization; civil and Islamic law; Muslim fundamentalists, traditionalists, and reformists; from competitive electoral to the non-competitive electoral authoritarian regime; women's rights; religious and ethnical minorities; foreign policy; revolutionary guards; Khomeini and Khamenei administrations; the future of Islamic republic of Iran.

RELIGION378S - Islam in Asia

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 378S
Title: Islam in Asia

Description:
Focus on the northern tier of Muslim-inhabited lands. The early spread of Islam among continental Asia's non-Arab peoples. The evolution of Muslim religious and cultural institutions under Mongol, Central Asian, Russian and Chinese empires. Asian Muslim encounters with European modernity and experience of Muslims under and after Soviet/Chinese socialist regimes.
RELIGION379S - Islamic Media

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>379S</td>
<td>Islamic Media</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

How contemporary technologies reawaken the sense of the sacred in daily life, rather than destroy it. How technologies new and old circulate the Word in its multiple incarnations, but also cultivate modes of communal identification. How Islamic media transform the social and political landscape, as well as the way we see, feel, and perceive the world. How religion has been intensified, diversified, and inflected by the information age. How this media constitutes the very experience of religion. Film, video, digital media, satellite television, social media, print media, audiocassettes, radio, music.

---

RELIGION380 - Muslim World: Transformations and Continuities

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>380</td>
<td>Muslim World: Transformations and Continuities</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The diversity of social practices within the community of Islam. Particular emphasis on gender relations, religious movements, diaspora communities, and social change.

---

RELIGION381 - Rumi: Mysticism and Poetry

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>381</td>
<td>Rumi: Mysticism and Poetry</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Rumi, the iconic poet of Persian Islamic tradition; course examines his writings, context, and legacy. Involves students' research. Encourages students to cultivate critical skills by assessing relevant scholarship and developing multidisciplinary methodologies. All readings in English; no previous coursework or command of Persian/Arabic required.

---

RELIGION382SA - Transnational Muslims in Germany: Politics of Migration, Religion, and Culture

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RELIGION</td>
<td>382SA</td>
<td>Transnational Muslims in Germany: Politics of Migration, Religion, and Culture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Critically analyzes political debates about Muslims and Islam in Europe that often cast them as a 'security threat' or a 'problem' of failed integration. Traces the geographical production of Muslim subjects through transnational flows, networks, and imaginaries. Examines a series of topics including debates about the headscarf, Muslim women's dress, mosque construction, Muslim civil society organizations, and the refugee crisis in Germany. Taught in English as part of the Duke Middle East in Europe program.
RELIGION384S - Islam in the Americas

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 384S
Title: Islam in the Americas

Description:
Explores how Muslim communities live and practice Islam in the American context. Examines diverse Muslim communities emerging from transatlantic exploration, trade in slaves, and migration as well as indigenous conversion. Discussion of religious and cultural identities of American Muslim peoples and consideration of questions of communal organization, religious authority, gender dynamics, youth culture, political and civic engagement, as well as American Muslim comedy and entertainment. Examination of impact of 9/11 upon American Muslims, their responses to the tragedy, and Americans’ shifting perceptions of Islam and Muslims.

RELIGION385S - Islam, Medicine, and Healing

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 385S
Title: Islam, Medicine, and Healing

Description:
This course explores the global history of Islamic medicine and healing through the intersections of religion and medicine in multiple contexts. It investigates how questions of health, healing, and illness have been addressed across premodern patterns, colonial and post-colonial transitions, up to the present. Students will examine how different approaches to spirituality, law, and science congeal and compete in relation to the human body, animals, food, pharmaceuticals, medicine, and hospitals. Through considering traditional healing practices to contemporary bioethics, this class analyzes how religion and medicine have been constituted, lived, and experienced around the world.

RELIGION388S - Muslim Ethics and Islamic Law: Issues and Debates

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 388S
Title: Muslim Ethics and Islamic Law: Issues and Debates

Description:
Premodern judicial arrangements and the contestations surrounding their modern incarnations. Topics include bioethics, gender and family law, war and peace, environmental issues, and political ethics.

RELIGION389 - Black Religion, Anguish, and Liberation

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 389
Title: Black Religion, Anguish, and Liberation

Description:
In this course, we will study the relationship between race, religion, and politics in the context of black strivings for liberation in the Americas, the trans-Atlantic, and so forth. We will examine how struggles against anti-black violence have been inspired by criticisms and re-interpretations of prevailing religious ideas and practices in addition to the creation of new conceptions of the sacred. We will focus on two different contexts/movements – anti-slavery/abolitionist movements and mid 20th century black freedom/decolonial struggles —considering in each case how religion is both an object of critique and a source of empowerment, agency, and resistance.

RELIGION390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Religion

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Religion

Description:
Topics differ by section.

RELIGION390S - Junior-Senior Seminars

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Junior-Senior Seminars

Description:
Topics and instructors to be announced.
RELIGION391 - Independent Study
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study
Description: See Religion 291. For juniors and seniors with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

RELIGION392 - Independent Study
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 392
Title: Independent Study
Description: See Religion 291. For juniors and seniors with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

RELIGION393 - Research Independent Study
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See Religion 293. For juniors and seniors with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

RELIGION394 - Research Independent Study
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: See Religion 293. For juniors and seniors with departmental approval. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

RELIGION399S - James Baldwin and Toni Morrison
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 399S
Title: James Baldwin and Toni Morrison
Description: This course will examine the novels and essays of James Baldwin and Toni Morrison, focusing on a range of topics: blackness, gender, sexuality, the relationship between race, religion, and nation, and the relationship between anguish and hope. While considering the differences between these authors, we will explore how Baldwin and Morrison converge on a set of ethical and existential themes and concerns. In particular, the course will focus on a shared 'ethics of haunting,' a sense that a better future relies on our capacity to remember, mourn, and be unsettled by forms of racial and gendered violence that mark the past and present.

RELIGION401 - The Problem of Evil: God, Evil, Suffering, Sin, Meaning of Life, and Philosophy of Religion
Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 401
Title: The Problem of Evil: God, Evil, Suffering, Sin, Meaning of Life, and Philosophy of Religion
Description: ‘The problem of evil’ as the challenge of reconciling the existence of an absolutely perfect being (Omnipotent, Omniscient, and omnibenevolent God) with the existence of sin and suffering has one of the greatest problems of intellectual history from ancient to modern times. The problem of evil effects the ‘meaning of life’ deeply, so it is not exclusive to the monotheists, and involves atheists as well. This is an introduction to the problem of evil, and explores its major issues and concepts: the logical problem of evil, the evidential problem of evil, soul-making theodicy, natural law theodicy, process theodicy, anti-theodicy, free will defense, reformed epistemology, and skeptical theism.
RELIGION469S - Capstone Seminar: Islamic Law In History

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 469S
Title: Capstone Seminar: Islamic Law In History

Description:
This seminar focuses on Islamic law and Muslim jurists in social and economic history, with a special attention on the last two hundred years. In a historical anthropology of law, we read primary sources in English translation and secondary literature about the norms and practices of law in Muslim and non-Muslim polities. We look at law as a domain of social interaction, an instrument of government, and part of statecraft in Muslim polities. The main goals of the class are 1) to help students in understanding Islamic legal terms and the difference between norm and practice 2) to help students using the distinction between primary and secondary sources in an original research paper.

RELIGION493 - Honors Research

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 493
Title: Honors Research

Description:
Course credit contingent upon successful completion of Religion 494. Consent of the director of undergraduate studies required.

RELIGION494 - Honors Research

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 494
Title: Honors Research

Description:
Continuation of, and required for credit for, Religion 493. Prerequisite: Religion 493. Consent of the director of undergraduate studies required.

RELIGION80S - Special Topics in Writing

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 80S
Title: Special Topics in Writing

Description:
Various topics with diverse readings and intensive writing.

RELIGION89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject: RELIGION
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar

Description:
Topics vary each semester offered.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>103FS</td>
<td>Human Rights: Back to The Future, Looking at Roots and Current Reality of Human Rights</td>
<td>This Focus course introduces students to a brief history of rights as a way to ground our exploration of current human rights challenges and what rights may be envisioned in the future. Rights have never been static. Recent changes in how we see rights include the right to truth in post-conflict societies and animal rights. We’ll explore how cutting-edge thinkers contribute to an expanded horizon of rights. We will be engaging with activists, scholars, and artists. Open only to students in the Focus Program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>104</td>
<td>Introduction to Human Rights: Gateway for the Human Rights Certificate</td>
<td>This is the Gateway course for the Human Rights Certificate. Students are introduced to the history, theory, practice of, and current issues in human rights. The course is interdisciplinary.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>106FS</td>
<td>Documenting the Middle East: Community and Oral History</td>
<td>Studies the documentary record of the Middle East in photography, film, and oral history. From early studio photography to recent community and student production, considers documentary expression's meaning and function. Analyzes the role of digital humanities and social media in documentary research. Uses best practices of documentary work. Includes a service-learning, hands-on documentary component: recording diverse voices from Iraqi, Syrian, and Palestinian communities. Student-produced fieldwork from the class will be permanently housed at Duke's Archive of Documentary Arts. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>109</td>
<td>American Indians Go Graphic</td>
<td>Introductory-level American Indian Studies course that explores historic and contemporary Native Nation-centric topics through the medium of comic books and graphic novels. These topics include representation and racialization, differing forms of activism, economic development, and settler-colonial impacts.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RIGHTS111FS - Pursuit of Equality: Rethinking Schools - Lens of Social Justice

Description
In 1954 the Supreme Court case Brown versus the Board of Education forever changed American schools by ending segregation and creating educational equity. Or did it? Are today's schools any more inclusive or socially just than schools were 50 years ago? Examination of ways schools may or may not perpetuate and reproduce social inequities. Focus on recent efforts to imagine and create socially-just schools. Discussion of our ethical responsibilities as civically engaged citizens to work towards educational equality and provide support of schools that are inclusive, culturally responsive, and democratic. Required service-learning experience working with children in a Durham public school.

RIGHTS112FS - Medical Ethics, Aging, and End of Life Care in the US

Description
Study of medical ethics, policy, clinical, and personal issues in working with dying and bereaved people. Focuses on diverse populations in ethnicity, culture, socioeconomic status, education, sexual orientation, and more. Various models for providing care to the dying and bereaved. Visits from medical personnel. Works to be read/viewed may include 'Me, Earl, and the Dying Girl,' Charon's 'Narrative Medicine,' Gawande's 'Being Mortal,' Tolstoy's 'Death of Ivan Ilich,' Kalanithi's 'When Breath Becomes Air,' and policy articles on end of life care and physician assisted suicide. Focus Program students only. Service-Learning course. Instructor consent required.

RIGHTS113FS - Enterprising Leadership and Civic Engagement

Description
An exploration of ways that students can exercise enterprising leadership to develop innovative, resourceful solutions to important civic issues within and external to Duke University. Course includes four primary focuses: understanding models of change, exploring and practicing enterprising leadership behaviors, reflecting upon ethical values, and designing and implementing a civic engagement project on campus. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Instructor consent required.

RIGHTS123 - American Indian Nations Today

Description
This course is an introduction to the tremendous diversity of contemporary American Indian sovereign nations' and their citizens' experiences in the territory now known as the United States. American Indian Nations Today addresses the complexities of contemporary Native Nation topics by providing context for understanding the distinct political, legal, economic, social, and cultural institutions of Native Nations today. These topics and issues are analyzed from individual, local, and national Native and non-Native perspectives through readings, media, and occasional guest speakers.
RIGHTS130 - World Music: Aesthetic and Anthropological Approaches

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 130
Title: World Music: Aesthetic and Anthropological Approaches

Description:
Study of musical styles and practices in relation to issues of creativity, forms of power, and cultural survival; focus on the music and experiences of indigenous peoples, refugees, migrants, and immigrants.

RIGHTS148 - Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 148
Title: Israel/Palestine: Comparative Perspectives

Description:
Introduction to the Israel/Palestine conflict, studied through an interdisciplinary lens, including scholarship from the fields of anthropology, environmental studies, history, geography and cultural studies. Themes include: competing nationalisms, environmental politics and resource management, peace building, refugees and displacement, humanitarian crises and challenges, representational politics. Range of primary sources will be used including human rights reports and testimonials, natural resource policies, feature and documentary film, memoirs, political treatises, and maps.

RIGHTS156S - Gateway Seminar: Cold War America

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 156S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Cold War America

Description:
A gateway seminar designed to introduce undergraduates to historical analysis, research, and writing through study of one of the most gripping and hotly debated periods of modern history: the early Cold War contest between the US and the USSR. The course will examine both foreign relations and domestic life, with a focus on the searing impact of a politics of fear. We will explore areas ranging from the dropping of the atomic bomb to McCarthyism, from the crippling of the civil rights movement and the purge of gays from government employment to the devastating 1950s interventions in Iran, Guatemala, and Vietnam.

RIGHTS173S - Human Rights and Legal Redress: Seeking Justice through Human Rights

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 173S
Title: Human Rights and Legal Redress: Seeking Justice through Human Rights

Description:
In this course, students will analyze through case studies the issues that confront the implementation of human rights ethics down through the layers separated by geography and culture to local implementation and enforcement. They will acquire an understanding of the international, regional and local human rights conventions and structures which propose, cultivate and enforce the ethical norms of the international human rights regime. This class addresses questions including: in what respects do enforcement options differ from place to place? When, where and under what circumstances is the human rights apparatus most effective in providing redress for rights violations? And, what are the alternatives to the human rights approach to justice?
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>178FS</td>
<td>Refugees, Rights, and Resettlement</td>
<td>35 million refugees and internally displaced persons in the world. A comparative historical overview of international refugee policy and law dealing with this growing population. Students will grapple with the ethical challenges posed by humanitarian intervention on behalf of refugees and the often unintended consequences of such policies. Students examine case studies to determine how different models for dealing with refugee resettlement affect the life chances of refugees. Service-learning course. Students will work with refugees from Bhutan, Burma and Iraq recently resettled in Durham. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>183S</td>
<td>Gateway Seminar: Civil Rights and Asian Americans</td>
<td>Study of crucial legal and political moments in the struggle for equal civil rights of minorities, beginning with the laws of Chinese Exclusion, the struggle to define who was 'White,' the Asian Immigration Exclusion Acts, the relationships of Asians and African Americans and the struggle for equal schooling in the American South, the Japanese Concentration camps, the Redress and Reparations Civil Rights struggle, and the involvement of Asians Americans in the African American-led Civil Rights Movement in the 1960s, including working with Martin Luther King and Malcolm X, and Asian Americans in the anti-sweatshop unionization movement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>190</td>
<td>Special Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Focus Program Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>Open only to students in the Focus Program. Topics vary each semester offered.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>201</td>
<td>Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change</td>
<td>Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RIGHTS201S - Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 201S
Title: Introduction to Engaged Citizenship and Social Change (Gateway Course)

Description
Introduction to key concepts, theories, and critiques of civic engagement and social change, with a focus on competing notions of democratic citizenship. Examination of voluntarism, philanthropy, community service, political participation, social activism and other forms of community engagement. Critical reflection on ethical issues related to community engagement and social change, including critiques of progressivism and service. Students will also be asked to apply these various approaches to pressing social issues of our time, such as income inequality, environmental justice, education reform and gender and race equality. Consent of instructor is required.

RIGHTS205 - Introduction to Racial and Ethnic Minorities in American Politics

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 205
Title: Introduction to Racial and Ethnic Minorities in American Politics

Description
The politics of four of the United States principal racial minority groups—blacks, Latinos, Asians, and American Indians.

RIGHTS208 - The Anthropology of Race

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 208
Title: The Anthropology of Race

Description
Human variation and the historical development of concepts of race; science and scientific racism; folk-concepts of race; and the political and economic causes of racism; ethics of racism.

RIGHTS211 - Social Inequality

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 211
Title: Social Inequality

Description
The nature, forms, and socioeconomic bases of inequality. Age, gender, race, ethnicity, class, region, and family as dimensions of inequality. Variations in the structure of inequality over time and across nations. How educational institutions, economic development, work institutions, and state welfare programs affect the shape of inequality. Social inequality and social mobility.

RIGHTS213 - United States Environmental Policy

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 213
Title: United States Environmental Policy

Description
An overview of the major environmental legislation in the United States. Topics include: air and water pollution, hazardous waste, agriculture, wildlife, and institutions. Political, economic, ethical, and scientific analysis. Open to juniors or seniors or by consent of instructor.

RIGHTS213D - United States Environmental Policy

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 213D
Title: United States Environmental Policy

Description
An overview of the major environmental legislation in the United States. Topics include: air and water pollution, hazardous waste, agriculture, wildlife, and institutions. Political, economic, ethical, and scientific analysis. Open to juniors or seniors or by consent of instructor.
RIGHTS214S - Ethical Challenges in Environmental Conservation

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
214S

Title
Ethical Challenges in Environmental Conservation

Description
Examination of current ethical challenges in environmental conservation. Topics include the philosophical basis and challenges of mankind's responsibility to the natural world; prioritization of often conflicting conservation efforts; balancing the needs of humans and the environment; the disputed role of scientists as advocates; and the philosophical and political obstacles to conservation efforts. Analysis of the evolving environmental movement, in relation to current issues.

---

RIGHTS215 - Sociology of Racism in America

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
215

Title
Sociology of Racism in America

Description
Examines social history of major racial groups in the US and relationships to contemporary standing. Discusses central concepts sociologists use to analyze racial matters. Central theme: 'racism' is not mere 'prejudice,' 'ignorance,' or 'intolerance,' but a comprehensive historical system of racial domination organized around the logic of white supremacy. Discussion of 'whiteness' in the USA—how whiteness emerged as a social category, an identity based on experiences of variety of European 'peoples;' how it dominated the racial structure of the US since the 17th century, how wealth has been distributed along racial lines, racialization of Asians and Latinos, and color blind racism.

---

RIGHTS216S - Global Migration and Ethics

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
216S

Title
Global Migration and Ethics

Description
Same as Cultural Anthropology 216 except in seminar format.

---

RIGHTS217S - South African Past and Present

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
217S

Title
South African Past and Present

Description
Explores the history of modern South Africa from the beginning of the mineral revolution in the 1860s to the post-apartheid present. We will cover mining-centered industrialization, the emergence of Afrikaner and African nationalism, segregationist ideology, and the construction of apartheid. We will examine the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, and the regional and wide-ranging global efforts to end apartheid and usher in democracy. The establishment and promise of multi-party democracy, the AIDS epidemic, and the reemergence of social movements are all topics we will consider and we will conclude by reflecting on the place of South Africa as a regional, continental, and world power.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS218S</td>
<td>218S</td>
<td>Conflict Analysis in Africa (Case Studies)</td>
<td>Utilizes four case studies to outline components of conflict analysis in Africa. Examines regional crisis nexus between Darfur, Chad and Central African Republic. Looks at issues of postcoloniality, autochthony, migration, citizenship, land tenure, and inequality. On a theoretical level, identifies potentially crosscutting, deeper layers of contemporary crises in Africa with the objective of establishing a series of templates, a 'protocol', for comparative conflict analysis and conflict management in Africa.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS219</td>
<td>219</td>
<td>War, Slavery, and Revolution in the Caribbean, 1700-1800</td>
<td>The development of Caribbean society and economy in the contexts of slavery, empire, international rivalry, and democratic revolution.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS219S</td>
<td>219S</td>
<td>Muslim Women Across the Ages</td>
<td>This course explores the diverse realities of Muslim women's lives, from the origins of Islam to the present, through autobiographical and biographical accounts situated in their social, economic, political, and cultural contexts. The women we will encounter through textual and audiovisual materials represent a wide range of personal backgrounds, including scholars, mystics, merchants, philanthropists, poets, slavegirls, feminists, and Islamists. We will metaphorically travel across the globe and time to understand the multifarious facets of Muslim women's lived experiences.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS220S</td>
<td>220S</td>
<td>Anthropology and Global Health</td>
<td>Investigates connections between anthropology and global health. Readings based on ethnographic research conducted globally. Topics include cross-cultural experiences of epidemics, ethical implications of globalizing clinical trials, moral and political dimensions of health and humanitarian interventions, connections between nationalism and population policy, overlaps between traditional healing systems and public health programs, how gender ideologies shape reproductive health, and questions of identity, power, and ethics amidst global rollout of HIV therapies.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RIGHTS221 - Race, Power, and Identity: From Ali to Kaepernick

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 221
Title: Race, Power, and Identity: From Ali to Kaepernick

Description:
Exploration of historic and contemporary psycho-social and socio-cultural aspects of the African American sport experience. Examination of research that addresses the effect of physical differences, racial stereotyping, identity development, gender issues, and social influences on African American sport participation patterns. Analysis of sport as a microcosm of society with an emphasis on examining associated educational and societal issues.

RIGHTS229DS - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 229DS
Title: Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description:
Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.

RIGHTS229S - Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 229S
Title: Environment and Conflict: The Role of the Environment in Conflict and Peacebuilding

Description:
Environmental and natural resources as a source of conflict and/or peacebuilding between and within nations and states. Analysis of the role of the environment in the conflict cycle and international security. Topics include refugees, climate change, water, and infectious disease. Particular focus on post-conflict and rebuilding in war-torn societies. Examination of the role of international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and emerging standards for environmental management. Examples drawn from conflicts such as Rwanda, Israel/Palestine, Nepal, Sierra Leone and others. Instructor consent required.

RIGHTS235S - Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 235S
Title: Comparative Urban Politics and Policymaking

Description:
DukeImmerse Seminar. A comparative examination and analysis of urban governance in South Africa and the United States. Examines potential consequences of persistent racial and class disparities for housing and neighborhoods, public health, education, community infrastructure, and general economic and social development. Specific attention to how the physical layout, government structures, politics, culture, and the civil society of cities and urban areas may both promote and hinder human development and social justice. Instructor consent required.
RIGHTS236S - Advanced Research Seminar in Urban Politics and Policymaking

Subject  |  Catalog Number  |  Title
--- | --- | ---
RIGHTS | 236S | Advanced Research Seminar in Urban Politics and Policymaking
Description
DukeImmerse Seminar. Advanced research and writing seminar. Participants produce a 30-40 page research paper based on field work and archival research experiences in Durham and an approved South African city. Includes tutorials in research design and comparative research methods. There is a required field work component of the course which entails a two-week trip to South Africa. Students will collect data, do interviews, visit municipals offices, and or spend time at NGOs in Pietermaritzburg. Instructor consent required.

RIGHTS238S - History of Political Nonviolence

Subject  |  Catalog Number  |  Title
--- | --- | ---
RIGHTS | 238S | History of Political Nonviolence
Description
In this seminar, we will investigate cases of peaceful resolutions of intractable conflicts during the 20th century as alternatives to tactics of warfare and counter-terrorism. The focus will include the dissolution of the Soviet Union and its Eastern European subordinate states; the end of British rule in India, the transition from the apartheid regime in South Africa; the plebiscite ending the Pinochet dictatorship in Chile; the accords ending the violence in Ireland; and the successful nonviolent strategies of the civil rights movement in the U.S.

RIGHTS239D - Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History

Subject  |  Catalog Number  |  Title
--- | --- | ---
RIGHTS | 239D | Women, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History
Description
Major questions relating to women and women's place in society over the course of U.S. history, broadly defined, from the colonial period to the present: How did different groups of women see themselves as women? How did views of women's sexuality change? How did men's and women's relationships and roles change? How did women understand their connections to the larger society? How did race, ethnicity, and class shape all those issues? Course uses a variety of materials, including novels, movies, images, and music to explore the ethical contours of women's lives in the past, following change over time to better understand women's position today.

RIGHTS240S - Filming Freedom Movements: Movies, Music, Monuments, Memory

Subject  |  Catalog Number  |  Title
--- | --- | ---
RIGHTS | 240S | Filming Freedom Movements: Movies, Music, Monuments, Memory
Description
This class is a cross-disciplinary exploration of a series of questions about what societies choose to commemorate, what they stay silent about, what they try to repress, and how this changes over time. What impact does this have on public policy and cultural debate? Using a cross-cultural examination of four societies, we will draw on methods from the arts, art history, history, documentary, policy, cultural studies, critical race theory, sound studies, Indigenous studies, and feminist theory.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>245S</td>
<td>Human Rights in the Americas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course introduces students to the history of human rights in Latin America, with a focus on certain regions. We will begin with the Conquest and cover the emergence of independent nation-states; the role of imposed economic policies, including neoliberalism; indigenous protest movements and their relationships to corporate interests; and the influence of the United States on human rights, government formation, immigration and the drug trade. Instructor consent required. Open only to students in the DukeImmerse program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>247</td>
<td>Southern Voices: Activism and Progressive Movements in the US South</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course explores the lesser known, often hidden, and dismissed works of activism in the US South, primarily through an ethnographic lens. While many know key moments of the Civil Rights movement, much equity and justice work today has its roots in large Southern post-Reconstruction efforts and conflicts. Interdisciplinary lectures will examine a wide variety of movements including labor, health, music, sports, food, education, religion, and media representations. The trajectories of these movements will be contextualized over time in order to understand current regional grassroots and policy actions as well as impacts on national policies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>249</td>
<td>Martin Luther King and the Prophetic Tradition</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Situates Martin Luther King as a preacher in the black Christian tradition with a liberationist reading. Traces the movement from civil rights to opposition to economic injustice, war, and militarism.Analyzes what the prophetic voices of today have to say about issues of poverty, racism, environmental destruction, militarism, homophobia, drones, sexism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>254</td>
<td>Cultures and Politics of the America Borderlands</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Americas borderlands refers to the intersection of North and Latin America through the movement of people, products, ideas, and technologies with focus on culture and agri-culture, including the production of food and pharmaceuticals-legal and illegal; explores dirt as concept of matter out of place and people without place and how sustenance can become poison; examines histories of Latin American bodies as 'terrain' for US-based scientific experiments.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RIGHTS262 - Human Rights in Theory and Practice

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 262

Title: Human Rights in Theory and Practice

Description

The nature and value of human rights; examining some major debates over their status and meaning and assessing the role which the idea of human rights has played in changing lives, practices, and institutions. Questions considered include: whether commitments to human rights depend on a belief in moral truth; whether the idea of universal human rights makes sense in a culturally diverse world; and what forms of social action are most likely to achieve respect for human rights.

RIGHTS272 - Genocide and Human Rights

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 272

Title: Genocide and Human Rights

Description

Analyzes the phenomenon of genocide from an interdisciplinary perspective, exploring the ways that violence intersected with gender, race, and religion. Combines the history of genocide with the history of humanitarianism, international law, and human rights, seeking to understand their successes and failures. Case studies cover the twentieth century up to the present and may include mass violence in Armenia, the Congo, the Holocaust, Nigeria/Biafra, Cambodia, Rwanda, and Sudan. An interdisciplinary approach will be used, seeking to investigate genocide and human rights from the heights of international law to the depths of the human heart, using tools of political science, literature, and history.

RIGHTS283S - Death, Burial, and Justice in the Americas

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 283S

Title: Death, Burial, and Justice in the Americas

Description

This interdisciplinary course explores the phenomenon of necroviolence: attacks on the dignity, integrity, and memory of the dead. Cases come from the United States, Latin America, and Canada. Topics include the rights of the dead, cultural attitudes towards the dead, and the 'ambiguous loss' experienced by loved ones of the disappeared. We also explore the activism of family members, volunteer cemetery reclamation groups, and forensic scientists who exhume mass graves to identify bodies. Students will interact with guest speakers, spend time in a local African American cemetery with ties to Duke, and do community work and research on behalf of the marginalized dead.

RIGHTS290 - Special Topics in Human Rights

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 290

Title: Special Topics in Human Rights

Description

Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructors consent may be required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>295S</td>
<td>Black Muslims: Race, Religion, &amp; Culture</td>
<td>The intersection of African, American, European, and Islamic cultures studied through the cultural and intellectual flourishing of black Islam. Topics include early Muslim communities established in the Americas through the transatlantic slave trade, Muslim slave rebellions in Brazil and the Caribbean, Muslim slave autobiographies, African Muslims in Europe, the emergence of the Moorish Science Temple and the Nation of Islam, Elijah Muhammad, Malcolm X, Muhammad Ali, women of the Nation of Islam, women's Qur'an exegeses, Hagar as a black woman, black feminism, the Five-Percent Nation, Islamic hip-hop and rap, 'the Black Crescent,' the black international and Islam, and the Black Panthers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>297</td>
<td>The Holocaust</td>
<td>Antisemitism and the Jewish question in Central Europe, the development of Nazi policy, the Final Solution in its different sites (ghetto, labor camps, extermination camps) and institutions (SS, Judenrat), the Holocaust's legacy. Historiographical debates and documentary research.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>301S</td>
<td>Business and Human Rights Advocacy Lab</td>
<td>An exploration of human rights advocacy from a legal, political science and comparative perspective. Will focus on issues related to corporate accountability. A core component of the course will include a human rights 'lab' in which students work in teams on policy-oriented projects, potentially in collaboration with community partners.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>302</td>
<td>Global Narratives of Illness and Disability</td>
<td>The humanities help us learn more about the global experiences of people living with illness and disability. Using a global health humanities approach, we study illness and disability through biography, poetry, blogs, and art created by patients, families, friends, doctors, and caregivers. We look beyond data to find meaning through documentaries, theories of representation, and illness narratives. We explore different illness experiences, such as HIV/AIDS and Ebola; different disabilities, such as physical and cognitive; different gender identities and ages; and different locations, such as South Africa, West Africa, Papua New Guinea, Brazil, Haiti, and rural and urban USA.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>303S</td>
<td>De/Re/Segregation in Education: A Case of Back to the Future?</td>
<td>Course traces timeline of segregation, desegregation, integration and resegregation in education in the United States, from policies and practices first enacted at this nation's birth through current policies and practices that challenge our commitments to opportunity, equality, and equity. Course invites students to study historical and contemporary practices in education, comparing segregation and resegregation as moments in the education history of the US, taking recent developments in North Carolina education policy and practice as cases to enrich understanding. Students engage in a minimum of 20 hours of planned service activities.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RIGHTS305S - White People: In Anthropological Perspective

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 305S
Title: White People: In Anthropological Perspective

Description: Against the cross-cultural backdrop of other systems of hereditary privilege and of the political and economic changes that threaten them, we will examine the history, the ideologies, and the psychology of white supremacy in the United States. It will be our task to understand both the insiders’ point of view and its social context, which includes the mid-20th-century civil rights reforms, affirmative action, neoliberalism, and the progressive erosion of white monopolies on honor, voting rights, due process, a living wage, and upward mobility in US society.

RIGHTS308S - Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 308S
Title: Fragmented Memories: Polish and Polish Jewish Culture Through Film

Description: Analyzes, compares, and assesses representations of Polish Christians and Polish Jews—their life experiences, interactions, shared and separate fates—in documentaries and fiction films made in Poland from the 1930s to the present day. Includes films by Wajda, Polanski, Munk, Kieslowski; also a 2008 documentary about pre-World War II Christian-Jewish relations in Poland by Jolanta Dylewska. All films screened with English subtitles.

RIGHTS309 - Chinese Immigration: Chinese Migrant Labor and Immigration to the US

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 309
Title: Chinese Immigration: Chinese Migrant Labor and Immigration to the US

Description: Comparative examination of contemporary China’s ‘floating population’ of migrant labor, and of Chinese immigration abroad (particularly to the US). Focus on cultural representation of these phenomena (particularly literary, cinematic, and artistic works), but sociological, anthropological, economic, and political perspectives will also be considered. Topics include cultural alienation, marginalization, and assimilation; education and health care; labor and commodification; gender and ethnicity; narratives of modernization and development; together with the ethical, social, and political implications of migration.

RIGHTS312 - War and Public Health in Africa

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 312
Title: War and Public Health in Africa

Description: An inquiry into the nature of contemporary war in sub-Saharan Africa and its human cost. Uses public health as a parameter to assess the impact of organized collective violence on people’s lives. Link between war and public health established and measured with respect to civilian deaths, gender based violence, physical and psychological trauma, mental disorders, malnutrition and famine, and the spread of epidemic diseases, inter alia HIV/AIDS. Special attention is paid to rape as ‘a weapon of war’, to the trafficking of human beings in war zones, the child soldier phenomenon, and to death counts as a vector of humanitarian or political advocacy.
RIGHTS313S - Social Movements in Age of Globalization

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 313S
Title: Social Movements in Age of Globalization

Description:
Study of primary models and theories of social movements developed in fields of Sociology and Political Science. Readings provide vocabulary and conceptual framework for understanding how people organize, how social movements use media, role of leadership, meaning of success, and several other basic issues. Focus on social movements of last few decades. Students will conduct group projects on a selected contemporary social movement. Contemporary social movements considered include Occupy, 15M movement in Spain, Gezi Park encampment in Turkey, urban protests in Brazil, and Arab Spring uprisings.

RIGHTS314S - Imagining Human Rights: Science Fiction, Culture, and the Creation of Rights

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 314S
Title: Imagining Human Rights: Science Fiction, Culture, and the Creation of Rights

Description:
This course engages students in the intersection of speculative fiction and the history of ideas about human rights and what it means to be human. Using interdisciplinary tools, including history, anthropology, and public policy, students will explore created worlds and new ways of thinking about what rights humans—and other beings—have, how those rights are proposed, and what happens when those rights are contested. The course focuses on how the imaginary influences or presages the real, allowing us to experiment with what-ifs. Students will work in Duke's Locus Archives of primary documents on 20th-century science fiction spanning writers from China, the USSR, and Japan.

RIGHTS315-20 - Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Structural Focus

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 315-20
Title: Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Structural Focus

Description:
Design and testing of solutions to complex interdisciplinary design products in a service-learning context with a focus on structural products. Technical design principles; sustainable and engineering best practices; prototype formation, testing and evaluation; and establishment of research and analysis methodologies in a community-based research experience. Working in partnership with a community agency (local, national, or international) and participation in an experimental learning process by engineering a design solution for an identified community need. Evaluation focused on design deliverables, fabricated prototypes and a critical reflection of the experimental learning process.

RIGHTS315-60 - Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Environmental Focus

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 315-60
Title: Engineering Sustainable Design and the Global Community: Environmental Focus

Description:
Design and testing of solutions to complex interdisciplinary design products in a service-learning context with a focus on structural products. Technical design principles; sustainable and engineering best practices; prototype formation, testing and evaluation; and establishment of research and analysis methodologies in a community-based research experience. Working in partnership with a community agency (local, national, or international) and participation in an experimental learning process by engineering a design solution for an identified community need. Evaluation focused on design deliverables, fabricated prototypes and a critical reflection of the experimental learning process. Prerequisite: Engineering 201L or Electrical and Computer Engineering 110L or consent of instructor.
RIGHTS316S - Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
316S

Title
Apartheid South Africa and Struggles for Democracy

Description
Working through an array of diverse organizations – including the African National Congress, the Pan African Congress, the Black Consciousness Movement, a host of liberal organizations, the churches, the trade union federations, and countless more - South Africans fought against apartheid from its inception. In 1994 they achieved a multi-racial democracy led by President Nelson Mandela. This seminar explores key themes in post-World War II South African history, paying special attention to the plethora of anti-apartheid struggles, while analyzing the tenets of apartheid policies.

RIGHTS317S - Veterans Oral History Project

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
317S

Title
Veterans Oral History Project

Description
Explore methods of oral history, specifically focusing on interviewing U.S. military veterans who have served during times of conflict. Weekly readings concerning ethics of oral history work and the particulars of interviewing veterans. Learn techniques for conducting successful oral history interviews and master technical skills involving recording equipment. Conduct multiple interviews with veterans throughout semester. Discuss interviews and transcriptions with classmates. Assignments include written responses and a final presentation on conducted interviews. Includes a service-learning component involving work in the community.

RIGHTS319S - US Comparative State Politics

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
319S

Title
US Comparative State Politics

Description
Intensive comparative examination of government, political cultures, and politics in the American States, including institutions (governors, legislatures, courts), history of federalism, policies, practices, and diverse cultural factors such as class, race, ethnicity, gender, religion, urban-rural-suburban residencies that affect state politics. DukeImmerse students only. Instructor consent required.

RIGHTS323S - Social Movements and Social Media

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
323S

Title
Social Movements and Social Media

Description
Examines uses and abuses of social media by social movements. Interested in a broader historical study of mediating technologies and oppositional public sphere, course considers the uses of cameras, phones, cassette players, radio, and social media platforms, but also books, bodies, art, fashion, and automobiles as oppositional technologies. Studies political and ethical uses of technologies in social unrest. Investigates impact of technologies on social movements and social transformations in contemporary history. Student driven case studies will highlight contemporary engagement with social media by networked social movements.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS325S</td>
<td>325S</td>
<td>Global Displacement: Voix Francophones</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Explores migration and resettlement of Francophone refugees in North America through examination of current policy, law, and practice. Analysis of personal interviews and narratives with attention to ethical questions related to politics of listening to and speaking for other communities. Community-based language component (20 hours) engages students with refugee community in Durham. Conducted in French. Recommended prerequisite: one course at 300-level or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS326</td>
<td>326</td>
<td>The South in Black and White</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Focus on present-day and historical documentary traditions in American South, with an emphasis on call and response between black and white cultures. The arts and humanities as embedded in particular histories and cultures found in the South, and as performed in music and theater; and portrayed in documentary films, civil rights photography, Southern literature, and historical and autobiographical writing. Includes historical texts, oral histories and testimonies of living persons, along with documentary films, photographs, and writings from people in Durham and elsewhere in the region.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS327</td>
<td>327</td>
<td>Afro-Brazilian Culture and History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Slavery and the post-emancipation trajectory of Afro-Brazilians in a racist society that officially proclaims itself a 'racial democracy.' Comparisons drawn with the Afro-American experience elsewhere in Latin America and the United States.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS328</td>
<td>328</td>
<td>Global Brazil</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Analysis of Brazilian history and culture from 1500 to the present in transnational context, with an emphasis on themes like slavery and race, regional cleavages, authoritarian rule, social inequality, and innovative attempts to expand democracy. Facilitates broad-based knowledge of a country of increasing global economic and diplomatic clout. Close examination of primary sources, including texts, images, music, and film.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS329S</td>
<td>329S</td>
<td>Politics in Violence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Exploration of the role of violence in politics. What is the role of violence in the formation and consolidation of states? What is the relationship between violence and political regimes? In-depth analysis of the varieties of political violence in contemporary world: terrorism, coups, riots, wars, protest violence, revolutions. Combination of theoretical analysis and empirical exploration of cases. Exploration of non-violent forms of resistance and protest. Reading responses and final research paper required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS330</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RIGHTS330D - Global Health Ethics: Policy Choice as Value Conflict

Description
The primary foci of this course are: the ethics of engagement with marginalized/stigmatized populations; understanding the influence of power dynamics; and understanding the ways in which policies create structures that limit abilities. Students explore the roots of their personal value systems and those of others, in an effort to understand causes of conflict and ethical missteps in global health engagement. Involves reading texts and coming to class ready to engage in conversations and activities related to the learning objectives. Weekly 5-question quizzes help to ensure that students come to class prepared to engage with the material.

RIGHTS331 - Prisoner's Dilemma and Distributive Justice

Description
Economic, political, and philosophical perspectives on distribution justice and the problems in each discipline raised by variations on the prisoner's dilemma. Classic texts include Hobbes and Hume, Smith and Mill, Rawls and Nozick. Gateway course to the Politics, Philosophy, and Economics certificate program. Recommended prerequisite: Economics 101 and a course in ethics or political philosophy.

RIGHTS332S - Farmworkers in North Carolina: Roots of Poverty, Roots of Change

Description
Focus on those who bring food to our tables, particularly those who labor in the fields of North Carolina and the Southeast. Students will learn about farm work from the plantation system and slavery to sharecropping and up to the migrant and seasonal farmworker population today. Study and analysis of media representations of farmworkers and agricultural issues as well as historical and contemporary documentary work and its contributions to farmworker advocacy. Includes a service-learning component involving work in the community.

RIGHTS334S - Energy Futures and Environmental Justice

Description
Advanced undergraduate seminar on comparative energy crises and natural resource management. Uses case studies of fossil fuel, nuclear, and renewable energy resources drawn from anthropology, natural sciences, and even business economic readings. Appropriate for students interested in interested in global politics, economic development, human rights, or environmental issues.
RIGHTS335 - Free Speech: Francophone World-USA

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 335
Title: Free Speech: Francophone World-USA

Description: Critical history of free speech in French-speaking world in relation to the US, earliest debates and current controversies. Investigation of key concepts and issues: blasphemy, pornography, hate speech, sedition. Is this freedom absolute? Whose speech is censored? Whose 'unspoken?' Case studies & 'causes célèbres' include Voltaire, Rabelais, Sade, Céline, Camus, Djout. Work culminating in debate around free press and fake news with North African journalists and human rights activists.

RIGHTS337S - Documenting US Women's Health Post-Roe v. Wade

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 337S
Title: Documenting US Women's Health Post-Roe v. Wade

Description: The overturning of Roe v. Wade in June 2022 led to the deaths of two women in South Carolina. One woman died from sepsis following self-instrumentation, and the second died after giving birth to a healthy baby. She began to hemorrhage; hospital administrators were afraid that the 'D&C' she needed to survive was too close to the abortion procedure. A physician team at Duke University Hospitals, led by Dr. Beverly Clark, began to see similar cases in North Carolina. The aim of this course is to document—in real time—the political and ethical dimensions of the situation that healthcare providers now find themselves in as they attempt to provide women the nationwide medical 'standard of care.'

RIGHTS339 - Displacements: Migration and Human Trafficking

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 339
Title: Displacements: Migration and Human Trafficking

Description: Examination of the meaning of migration in the global world through cross-disciplinary texts and visual media. Situates the phenomenon of human trafficking within the context of these general movements focusing on the risks involved when people endanger their lives to find a better and more strategic position in the world. Explores how these experiences should be interpreted, and how processes and the politics of race, space and place are a condition and/or outcome of these movements. Investigates and considers ways to resolve some of the problems associated with such movements.

RIGHTS341 - Ethics of Global Infectious Disease Control

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 341
Title: Ethics of Global Infectious Disease Control

Description: Examination of the role of ethical decision-making when controlling infectious disease epidemics. Applies classic public health ethics of balancing individual liberty vs. public good to the new global health context of emerging infectious diseases such as HIV/AIDS, Ebola, and SARS, plus re-emerging infectious diseases such as multidrug-resistant TB, polio, and cholera. Explores questions of resource allocation, mandatory or voluntary prevention measures, and ethical obligations of health care workers vs. responsibilities of individuals in the context of new global public health. Prior global health coursework recommended.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>343</td>
<td>History of Modern America: The United States from 1930 to present</td>
<td>United States history since the Great Depression, with emphasis on the shaping influence of the New Deal and war. Examines transformations of everyday life and culture and the movements for social change they generated, including the labor, civil rights, and women's movements, and explores the nation's dominant role on the world stage and the impact of a global economy.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>344</td>
<td>History of U.S. Social Movements</td>
<td>Examines the social movements that have shaped U.S. history, starting with the American Revolution itself and covering others including the anti-slavery movement, women's rights, Populism, Socialism, the Ku Klux Klan, the labor movement, the Black Freedom Movement and broader New Left, lesbian and gay liberation, and the recent conservative movement, focusing on the ethical issues arguments they raised, and how new civil, political, and social rights were created through social movement organizing. Lectures and readings explore why these movements arose, what they achieved, why many opposed them, and what we can learn about American history writ large from their experiences.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>345</td>
<td>African Americans, Mass Incarceration and Citizenship</td>
<td>Explores in depth the presence of African Americans within the phenomenon of U.S. mass incarceration and its implications for notions of citizenship. Surveys the history of prison build-up resulting from legislation and policy over the past forty years including the governmental discussions of drug policy and welfare reform that disproportionately affected African Americans. Course will explore definitions of citizenship and the means by which African American citizens were and are both included in and excluded from participation in the movement toward mass incarceration as part of their changing position in the U.S. polity.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>346S</td>
<td>The Connection between Human Rights, Memory and How Societies Create Memorials</td>
<td>This seminar introduces students to multiple approaches to how to create memory, with a focus on building a proposal for Duke to expand the sites where stories are told. We are particularly interested in how to tell difficult stories of slavery, segregation and inequality through new sites and interpretive plans. Students will create a Duke memory map and develop a Story Bank. The class is in part funded by Bass Connections and is affiliated with the Story Lab.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RIGHTS346T - Memory Bandits: Human Rights, Duke's History and a Plan to Expand History-Telling

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>346T</td>
<td>Memory Bandits: Human Rights, Duke's History and a Plan to Expand History-Telling</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This is affiliated with a Bass Connections project that takes on the societal and cultural challenge of historical memory, human rights and memorialization. We intend to mine memory studies to ask how, why and where people use the past for contemporary meaning; how the Duke campus currently embodies and tells its story; and how this team can help chart a deeper engagement with history. Consent of instructor is required.

RIGHTS347S - The University as a Culture: A Survivor's Guide

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>347S</td>
<td>The University as a Culture: A Survivor's Guide</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The university generates some of the most influential forms of knowledge in the world, yet we seldom examine the historically specific cultural, social, political, and economic conditions under which knowledge is produced in the laboratories, classrooms, offices, dormitories, Greek-letter societies, and sports complexes that are the infrastructure of the academy. This course will employ readings from a range of disciplines, as well as the investigative and interpretive methods of cultural anthropology, to examine the taken-for-granted context of university life.

RIGHTS348 - The Civil Rights Movement

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>348</td>
<td>The Civil Rights Movement</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

An interdisciplinary examination of the civil rights movement from World War II through the late 1960s.

RIGHTS349S - Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>349S</td>
<td>Racial Justice in the 20th Century US and South Africa</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course uses a comparative framework to assess race in two societies founded on premises of racial inequality: South Africa and the United States. We will explore some of the social, cultural and political exchanges that have taken place between African Americans and Black South Africans over the course of the twentieth century. Additional topics include segregation, twentieth century struggles for civil rights/liberation, the American anti-apartheid movement, and the possibilities for restitution.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS350S</td>
<td>350S</td>
<td>Documenting Black Experiences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Explores how Black experiences have been documented and how crucial stories woven from real life get told. Students engage wide ranging contemporary and historical materials, including nonfiction, memoir, fiction, documentary and dramatic film, theater, poetry and music. Our aspirations are historical, but with an understanding that academic history, though irreplaceable, barely touches the range of storytelling that makes Black lives not only matter but transform the spaces in which they unfold. Our explorations are political, but in the largest sense—how Black power comes from making higher truth a tool, a weapon and a way of being.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS351S</td>
<td>351S</td>
<td>Contemporary South Africa</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Nelson Mandela’s presidency in 1994 inaugurated democracy in South Africa. Using a historical lens, this course will explore the promises, possibilities, and disappointments of the democratic era. In what ways has the 1994 election slogan 'A better life for all' come to pass? Why and in what ways has the new political elite fallen short in delivering on its promises? How have segments of the public sought to impose accountability and restitution on new democratic governments, as well as on the long-standing titans of industry?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS352</td>
<td>352</td>
<td>Immigrant Dreams, U.S. Realities: Immigration Policy History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Immigrants and immigration policy in the United States from 1850 to the present, with focus on origins and power of immigrant exclusion during three waves of migration: Northern European and Asian migrations between 1850 and 1880, Eastern European, Latin American, and Asian migrations, 1880-1920, and Latin American, African, and Asian migrations, post 1965. Immigrant roles in shaping policy debates, citizenship rights, labor movements, and American culture, past and present.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS360S</td>
<td>360S</td>
<td>Feminist Activism: Social Movements</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Comprehensive introduction to feminist theoretical conceptions of the social, political, economic, and the human. Explores the rise of gender based discourses and social movements in the context of broader considerations of modernity, democracy, and liberal humanism and the value of rights discourse for feminist agendas. Includes a comparative dimension that emphasizes cross cultural and historical analysis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS361</td>
<td>361</td>
<td>Money, Sex, Power</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Feminist research on gender dynamics in markets, economies, and capitalism. Includes empirical studies (e.g., historical, cross-cultural, and sociological research) and theoretical approaches to political-economic critique. Covered topics may include the gender, racial and transnational divisions of labor, the relation between work and family, waged household labor, sex work, sweatshop labor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS369</td>
<td>369</td>
<td>Transnational Feminism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>369S</td>
<td>Transnational Feminism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>371S</td>
<td>News as a Moral Battleground</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Ethical inquiry into journalism and its effect on public discourse. Issues include accuracy, transparency, conflicts of interest and fairness. Topics include coverage of national security, government secrecy, plagiarism/fabrication, and trade-offs of anonymous sourcing.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>371S</td>
<td>South Africa and the World</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Throughout the 20th century, South Africa had the largest economy and military on the African continent. Its strategic geographic position and mineral wealth in gold and uranium made it an important ally for the largest economies in the world. The Cold War enhanced its significance. However, in the second half of the twentieth century, its policies of apartheid rendered it an international pariah. This course examines the ways in which countries, international institutions, and millions of ‘ordinary’ people shaped the course of South African history. How did South Africa interact with the broader world, and how did the world try to affect South Africa’s policies of white supremacy?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>373S</td>
<td>The Spanish Civil War and its Effects Today: History, Literature, Film</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Spanish Civil War of 1936-39 through literary and historical readings, art, music, and film. Special attention given to values held by supporters of each side, and how they put them into practice during and after the war. Consideration of American volunteers who fought fascism in Spain. Emphasis on human rights violations, and how they still affect Spain today. Taught in Spanish. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 431S or Human Rights 431S. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 331S or Spanish 316S, or higher, or permission of instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>374S</td>
<td>Islam in the Americas</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Explores how Muslim communities live and practice Islam in the American context. Examines diverse Muslim communities emerging from transatlantic exploration, trade in slaves, and migration as well as indigenous conversion. Discussion of religious and cultural identities of American Muslim peoples and consideration of questions of communal organization, religious authority, gender dynamics, youth culture, political and civic engagement, as well as American Muslim comedy and entertainment. Examination of impact of 9/11 upon American Muslims, their responses to the tragedy, and Americans’ shifting perceptions of Islam and Muslims.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>375</td>
<td>Global Health Ethics in Research</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduces ethical and human rights concepts in Global Health and current issues in health ethics. Explores how to understand and engage in ethical health service, intervention, research and education. Requires students analyze and critique ethical choices of individuals, policymakers and health workers. Explores standards of care, access to care, best outcomes vs. distributed justice. Focuses on ethics related to infectious diseases; obesity, alcohol and tobacco; and environmental health.
RIGHTS384 - Inequality in Western Political Thought

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 384

Title: Inequality in Western Political Thought

Description
Study of egalitarian and inequitarian theories in the history of Western Political Thought. Distinction between forms of inequality (political, economic, social, racial, gender, etc.). Analysis of what kind of equality should be achieved (resources, opportunities, rights, respect, etc.). Connection of equality with other political and moral issues (freedom, responsibility, class conflict, well-being, poverty, exclusion, solidarity, difference, etc.) Readings include Aristotle, Machiavelli, Locke, Rousseau, Smith, Wollstonecraft, Tocqueville, Marx, Veblen, Du Bois, Friedman, Rawls, and Piketty.

RIGHTS386S - Politics of Sexuality

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 386S

Title: Politics of Sexuality

Description
Explores intersections among sexual identity, desire, and behavior and political institutions, public policy, and concepts of citizenship. Readings and methods will be interdisciplinary and will examine politics of sexuality in diverse sociocultural, international, and historical contexts. Topics may include: social movements; laws, policing, and incarceration; medicalization and eugenics; militarism and geopolitics; immigration and human rights; welfare policies; nationalism and citizenship; and reproductive rights.

RIGHTS387 - Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 387

Title: Germany Confronts Nazism and the Holocaust

Description
The ways in which official German culture comes to terms with its Nazi past. Background reading in history and politics; primary focus on films, dramas, novels, and poetry, as well as public memorials, monuments, and museums. Authors treated include: Wolfgang Borchert, Rolf Hochhuth, Peter Weiss, Ruth Klüger. Taught in English.

RIGHTS389S - Family Rights/Human Rights

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 389S

Title: Family Rights/Human Rights

Description
Explores relationship between state, family formation, and individuals. Surveys regulation of sexuality, reproduction, adoption, immigration, and incarceration with focus mainly on U.S. and past 200 years.

RIGHTS390 - Special Topics in Human Rights

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 390

Title: Special Topics in Human Rights

Description
Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.

RIGHTS390S - Special Topics in Human Rights

Subject: RIGHTS

Catalog Number: 390S

Title: Special Topics in Human Rights

Description
Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.
RIGHTS395 - Language and Society

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 395
Title: Language and Society

Description:
Course examines language as a social practice, focusing on different aspects of its role in social life. Topics addressed include: language and social identity, such as ethnicity, social class, age, and gender; variation in language, including dialects, accents, and registers; multilingualism and language contact; new languages such as pidgins and creoles; language, culture, and intercultural communication; language and ideology; language in education and in the media. Through the discussion of these topics and homework including reading and small research projects, students are introduced to key concepts, theories, and methods in sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology.

RIGHTS396S - Language in Immigrant America

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 396S
Title: Language in Immigrant America

Description:
Discussion of issues of language in the context of immigration in the United States, from the turn of the 20th century until the present, combining approaches from literature, memoirs, language policy, media studies, and linguistic anthropology. Some fieldwork in an immigrant community. Topics include: identity, assimilation, race, bilingual communities, bilingual education, foreign accents, language contact.

RIGHTS401 - Gender and the Law

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 401
Title: Gender and the Law

Description:
Examination of issues at the intersection of gender and law through a number of different theoretical lenses. Analyzes policy problems with gender implications from the perspective of formal equality, substantive equality, nonsubordination theory, different voice theory, autonomy, and various poststructural critiques. Engages theory at the level of concrete, easily accessible ethical and policy issues, including such topics as employment equality, pregnancy, domestic violence, rape, reproductive rights, sexual orientation and sexual identity discrimination, family equality, sexual harassment, pornography, education equality, affirmative action, and the justice system.

RIGHTS406S - South African Life Histories

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 406S
Title: South African Life Histories

Description:
South Africa presented the world with one of the great moral challenges of the 20th century. We will explore its history through the lens of biography and autobiography. The country underwent major transformations – rapid industrialization, segregation, the rise and fall of apartheid, and the emergence of democracy. How did individuals experience these social changes? In what ways do individual lives illuminate these larger social processes? Protagonists include a prophetess, political artists and writers, exiles, and celebrated figures. Topics cover how segregation and apartheid affected people’s daily lives, opposition to white supremacy, and the personal impact of the AIDS’s epidemic.
RIGHTS409S - Identity and Linguistic Rights in the Spanish Speaking Americas

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 409S
Title: Identity and Linguistic Rights in the Spanish Speaking Americas

Description
This course focuses on linguistic justice and linguistic rights in interaction with other human rights. The class explores concepts of language, power, linguistic discrimination, and raciolinguistics in the context of bilingualism/multilingualism, indigenous languages, and endangered languages. We will examine how language is used to shape and negotiate identities, and how it reflects and sustains social realities and situations of social inequality. Methodologically, we will use linguistic and sociolinguistic analysis and elements of critical discourse analysis.

RIGHTS410S - History of Death

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 410S
Title: History of Death

Description
Explores the history of aging and dying in the modern world, focused on the United States and the recent past. Integrates medical and humanistic approaches, giving students the chance to use philosophy, literature, and science together. Brings the history of medicine together with histories of race, gender, and religion. Aimed especially at pre-med students, but open to all.

RIGHTS411S - Historicizing Whiteness

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 411S
Title: Historicizing Whiteness

Description
Examines origins, historical development, and consequences of white racial identity, from the 17th century to the present, beginning with the emergence of white racial grammar among trafficked white servants and so-called ‘white slaves’ to the creation of racialized rights and privileges for white people in Great Britain and the United States in the 19th, 20th, and 21st centuries.

RIGHTS428S - Gender, Sex and Citizenship

Subject: RIGHTS
Catalog Number: 428S
Title: Gender, Sex and Citizenship

Description
Explore current issues and debates relating to the relationship between gender, sexuality and global flows of people, labor, capital and ideas. Consider feminist analyses of the citizen-subject and foundational questions central to this area of study relationship between cultural representation, queer subjectivities, and sexual citizenship. Examine scholarship on gendered vulnerability and the welfare state; the politics of ‘terror’, security, and stereotyped masculinities; domestic labor and contemporary slavery; and the controversial debates about the connections between sex tourism, human trafficking and commercial sex work. Prerequisite: Previous gender studies course or consent of the instructor.
RIGHTS431S - The Spanish Civil War: History, Literature, and Popular Culture

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
431S

Title
The Spanish Civil War: History, Literature, and Popular Culture

Description
The Spanish Civil War of 1936-39 through literary and historical readings, art, music, and film. Special attention given to values held by supporters of each side, and how they put them into practice during and after the war. Consideration of international volunteers who fought in Spain for their own deeply-held values. Research paper and presentation required. Taught in Spanish. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 373S, History 273S-1, or Human Rights 373S. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 331S or higher, or permission of instructor.

RIGHTS432S - Popular Culture and Political Repression in Spain and Latin America

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
432S

Title
Popular Culture and Political Repression in Spain and Latin America

Description
Exploration of a significant body of Spanish and Latin American fiction produced under repressive political regimes. Course explores how fictional characters and real people use popular culture as a coping mechanism in societies which impose severe political and social limitations on acceptable behavior. Also address uses of popular culture in democratic contexts including the US and draw comparisons to its uses under dictatorship. Authors include Cervantes, Galdós, Borges, Marsé, and Puig.

RIGHTS444 - Global Inequality Research

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
444

Title
Global Inequality Research

Description
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas: employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645 or 645S.

RIGHTS444S - Global Inequality Research Seminar

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
444S

Title
Global Inequality Research Seminar

Description
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas: employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645S.

RIGHTS470S - Capstone: Research in Human Rights

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number
470S

Title
Capstone: Research in Human Rights

Description
A primary learning objective is to have students connect the intellectual themes and scholarly knowledge they have developed in the Gateway, Introduction to Human Rights, and the electives they have taken toward the Human Rights Certificate. The course integrates co-curricular rights-related experiences (through DukeEngage, DukeImmerse, internships and volunteer placements). The capstone culminates in a final project. Students may work in teams toward a final project as long as each student's work is evaluated separately and at a high standard. Prerequisite: Cultural Anthropology 104D. Consent of director of undergraduate studies required.

RIGHTS490 - Special Topics in Human Rights

Subject
RIGHTS

Catalog Number 490

Title
Special Topics in Human Rights

Description
Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.
Duke University

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS490S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RIGHTS89S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>RIGHTS</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Human Rights</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. Check individual semester offerings for prerequisites. Instructor consent may be required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST190A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>190A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>Topics differ by section.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST190FS</td>
<td>Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST190S</td>
<td>Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST201</td>
<td>What Is Europe?</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>201</td>
<td>What Is Europe?</td>
<td>Exploration of the idea of Europe as a political, moral, and cultural identity. Examines the construction of such identity throughout history, ending with today's European Union, at a moment in which integration of 'Eastern' countries such as Turkey or Russia remains a hotly debated issue. Consistent attention devoted to literary, cinematic and artistic works which attempt to imagine a European Culture, as well as the evolution of aesthetics, and literary and art history.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>---------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>202</td>
<td>Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Investigation of defining debates on European culture and the fiction which shapes them. In collaboration with Nasher Museum. Focus on literature and the visual arts of France, Italy, Portugal, Spain. Comparative analysis of key issues, including arts of migration, multilingualism, cultural and political relations within and without Europe, development of financial systems. Major authors: Marco Polo, Khatibi, Montaigne, Montesquieu, Balzac, Calvino, Némirovsky, Semprún, Saramago. Research in museum collections on major pieces.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>202P</td>
<td>Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 202 or French 429. Further information available from instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>204FS</td>
<td>Clash of Civilizations: In the Heart of Europe</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course focuses on the battle between barbarian invaders, established communities, and new religions in the Middle Ages. What became Spain and Portugal were battlegrounds between faiths old and new, a clash of civilizations between Christianity, Judaism, and Islam that would inform future global conflicts. We explore the history of this confrontation at the crossroad of civilizations—between East and West, Africa and Europe—and its effect on our worldview today. A common culture was forged in science, mathematics, music, literature, philosophy, and mysticism, a shared legacy shaping world history and the current world order. Part of the ‘Geopolitics and Culture’ Focus Cluster.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>205</td>
<td>The Problem of Love in Western Literature</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia—Plato’s erotic ascent, Virgil’s deceived Dido, Ovid’s rules of seduction, Boccaccio’s legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo’s homoerotic poetry, Leonardo’s sublimated impulses, Foscolo’s tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo’s modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST205P</td>
<td>The Problem of Love in Western Literature - Preceptorial</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>205P</td>
<td>The Problem of Love in Western Literature - Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST205S</td>
<td>The Problem of Love in Western Literature</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>205S</td>
<td>The Problem of Love in Western Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST206</td>
<td>Modern European Short Fiction</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>206</td>
<td>Modern European Short Fiction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST206P</td>
<td>Modern European Short Fiction Preceptorial</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>206P</td>
<td>Modern European Short Fiction Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

ROMST205P - The Problem of Love in Western Literature - Preceptorial

A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 205 or Italian 225. Further information available from instructor.

ROMST205S - The Problem of Love in Western Literature

Love causes problems. It can inspire passion or madness; foster alliances, destroy friendships, provoke war, broker peace. It impacts communities and raises fundamental questions about life. Exploring amorous discourse from two millennia—Plato’s erotic ascent, Virgil’s deceived Dido, Ovid’s rules of seduction, Boccaccio’s legitimation of female desire, Michelangelo’s homoerotic poetry, Leonardo’s sublimated impulses, Foscolo’s tragic obsession, comic uncertainties of Svevo’s modern lovers, and love from afar in Montale—we will see what changes, what persists, and ultimately come to understand what we mean when we talk about love today.

ROMST206 - Modern European Short Fiction

Comprehensive examination of several important works of modern European short fiction by authors such as Kafka, Woolf, Svevo, Sartre, Joyce, Proust, Mann, Schnitzler, Gogol, and Calvino. While stories will be contextualized historically, culturally, and geographically, course is organized into thematic units, including animals, home, punishment, and love, to facilitate comparative analysis. Students engage critically with concepts such as identity, trauma, genre, and narrative form.

ROMST206P - Modern European Short Fiction Preceptorial

A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Italian 336. Further information available from instructor.
ROMST208FS - Gendering the Renaissance

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 208FS
Title: Gendering the Renaissance

Description
Course studies the debates around women, gender, and sexuality in Renaissance Italy and Europe (ca.1400–1700). Framed historically as ‘the woman question’ (la querelle des femmes), these debates challenged women’s nature, capabilities, and intellect, sparking robust response by women poets and philosophers, as well as by male defenders of the female sex. An interdisciplinary approach studying how gendered expectations for Renaissance women and men emerged across lyric poetry, conduct manuals, medical treatises, political pamphlets, paintings, theater, and early opera. We will contextualize early examples of premodern feminism, anti-feminism, misogyny, and prejudice compared to models today.

ROMST217FS - Language, Thought, and Culture

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 217FS
Title: Language, Thought, and Culture

Description
Examines how language, thought, and culture are interrelated processes and structures. Takes a sociolinguistic perspective that language and society are intertwined, to understand how language either constrains or influences thought, how culture and language interact, and how culture is constructed through cognition. Course covers the study of signs (semiotics), cultural and linguistic depictions of people, groups, and issues (representation and discourse analysis), individual and societal beliefs about language itself (language ideologies), how meaning is created and perceived (semantics), and how speakers use language in real-life situations (linguistic anthropology). Open only to students in Focus Program. Department consent required.

ROMST226S - Performing African Diaspora

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 226S
Title: Performing African Diaspora

Description
The Black cultural contributions of globally popular performance genres such as salsa, capoeira and kizomba often remain unrecognized. The objectives of this class are: 1) to understand the historical, cultural and political forces that created the African Diaspora and its rich tapestry of dances. 2) to question our assumptions that knowledge is only produced through the mind; knowledge is also produced and transmitted through moving bodies. To meet these objectives, the course will be a combination of seminar and studio: in seminar we will engage readings in anthropology, dance and performances studies about specific dances which we will then learn in studio.

ROMST235SL - Capoeira: Practice and Culture

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 235SL
Title: Capoeira: Practice and Culture

Description
Lecture/lab course introducing the movement, music and culture of capoeira, an Afro-Brazilian martial art that combines dance, self-defense and acrobatics. Created by male African slaves in Brazil several hundred years ago, viewed as a social threat and outlawed in the 19th century, celebrated as an element of national identity in the 20th century, today capoeira is rapidly crossing national, racial and gender borders as it becomes a popular global practice. Studio classes twice a week focus on the basic movements, percussive music and call-and-response singing. Seminar once a week focuses on the historical, cultural and socio-political dynamics that shape capoeira in Brazil and beyond.
ROMST256 - Italian Baroque Art

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 256
Title: Italian Baroque Art

Description
This course will trace the development of the Italian baroque in architecture, sculpture and painting. It will consider a variety of themes relevant to Baroque artistic production, including religious influences on the art of the period, namely the Reformation and the Catholic Counter-Reformation; economic influences; central versus peripheral locations; issues of gender and sexuality; patronage; architectural site and meaning; urban planning and transformation; the artist, his workshop and rivalries; decoding the myths of artistic genius; and seventeenth-century primary sources.

ROMST258S - Women and Power in the Renaissance

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 258S
Title: Women and Power in the Renaissance

Description
Explores the intellectual, social, and political history of women in Renaissance Europe. Despite the overwhelmingly patriarchal nature of early modern society, many women wrote treatises, dialogues, and poetry in which they argued for a broader role for women. Students will examine these primary texts (some by famous figures, others by much less well-known writers) within the context of a burgeoning social history that has provided a more nuanced view of gender relations and power in this period.

ROMST266 - Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 266
Title: Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Description
What is 'virtual reality'? If something is real, isn't it also always actual, and if virtual, only almost or nearly real? What strange, hybrid no-mans-land lies midway between truth and illusion, and how can we learn to navigate inside this space? The puzzle is an old one, even if the technology we call VR is new. In this discussion-intensive course, we will read, watch, and play our way through some of the most powerful attempts to understand humanity's penchant for collective dreaming: from Plato's allegory of the cave, to the immersive spectacles of baroque theater, to the ghostly realms of gothic literature and modern film, to the invention of cyberspace and parallel universe games.

ROMST266S - Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 266S
Title: Virtual Realities: Collective Dreams from Plato to Cyberspace

Description
What is 'virtual reality'? If something is real, isn't it also always actual, and if virtual, only almost or nearly real? What strange, hybrid no-mans-land lies midway between truth and illusion, and how can we learn to navigate inside this space? The puzzle is an old one, even if the technology we call VR is new. In this course, we will read, watch, and play our way through some of the most powerful attempts to understand humanity's penchant for collective dreaming: from Plato's allegory of the cave, to the immersive spectacles of baroque theater, to the ghostly realms of gothic literature and modern film, to the invention of cyberspace and parallel universe games.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST282S</td>
<td>282S</td>
<td>Modernism and the Arts</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>This course places international modernism in an intermedial perspective, presenting it as a broad conversation among international artists across various art forms. In addition to reading major literary works by writers such as Baudelaire, Mallarmé, Joyce, Eliot, Kafka, Woolf, Wat, Babel, Rilke, Anand, Césaire, Lu Hsun, students will enhance their understanding of modernism through exposure to other art forms, such as painting (Matisse, Picasso, Marc, Kandinsky, Chagall, Schoenberg), sculpture (Rodin, Brancusi, Giacometti), music (Schumann, Débussy, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Berg, Gershwin), and film (Buñuel, Dali, Eisenstein, Vertov, Carné, Godard, Ruttmann, Cavalcanti, Vigo).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST290</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Special Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>A comparative study of languages, literatures, and/or cultures related to Romance Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST290A</td>
<td>290A</td>
<td>Duke Administered Study Abroad: Topics in</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>Topics in languages, literatures, and/or cultures related to Romance Studies. Offered as part of a Duke Administered Global Education program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST290S</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>A comparative study of languages, literatures, and/or cultures related to Romance Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST291-1</td>
<td>291-1</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>Individual study in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and Director of Undergraduate Studies required. In English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST314</td>
<td>314</td>
<td>Introduction to Critical Theory</td>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>This course is an introduction to fundamental texts and concepts in the history of critical theory. We will be expanding the scope of our examination well beyond the remit of the Frankfurt School, to which the term 'critical theory' is often linked and look at key texts in the history of political philosophy, social theory, linguistics and language philosophy, gender studies, critical race theory, and postcolonialism. All our readings will be primary literature from what might be dubbed a 'critical theory cannon' and is intended to introduce students in the humanities and qualitative social sciences to essential and foundational materials.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ROMST317 - The Body in Art in Early Modern Europe: Power and Limits of Corporeal Representations

Description
This course studies the artistic representations of the human body in many guises: aesthetic, political, social, cultural, and erotic. It analyses the different strategies artists deployed to develop rhetorics of the body both physical and emotional. It considers different media (including painting, sculpture, drawings, prints, architecture, and gardens) and major theoretical frameworks (including feminist theory, phenomenology, social theory and somaesthetics). This course considers the body dynamically through composition, as object of investigation, as locus of meaning and through social understanding. Lectures and discussions are complimented by corporeal performances and improvisations.

ROMST319S - Andalusia: Muslim, Jewish, Christian Spain

Description
Intersection of cultures, religions, languages, & peoples through history, poetry, music, architecture, & philosophy in Spain. Cultural flourishing from the contact—and sometimes clash—of European, Spanish, Islamic, Arab, African, Middle Eastern, and Jewish civilizations and Arabic, Spanish, and Hebrew languages. Ends with Andalusian culture in modern music, poetry, art, dance, & architecture at the crossroads of civilizations. Includes travel to Spain over spring break so students witness firsthand the coexistence of different religious traditions and cultures. Instructor consent required.

ROMST321 - The Modern Caribbean after Emancipation

Description
Focus on the Caribbean region as it transitioned from a collection of slave and colonial societies into a region of postcolonial and independent nations. Topics may include: postemancipation political and cultural struggles, pan-Africanism and Rastafarianism, nationalist and anticolonial movements, American economic and political influence in the region, Caribbean emigration to Europe and the United States, and global spread of Caribbean culture.

ROMST322 - Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

Description
Sampling & remixing of previous works is a major mode of contemporary cultural production cutting across media and cultural practices. This course analyzes its genealogy, technological underpinnings, legal presuppositions and aesthetic consequences. Tensions between copy and copyright, between claims to originality and mechanical reproduction characterize this contemporary regime, now deployed globally. Its cultural implications will be distinguished from related modes of making art and meaning (imitation, citation, collage, montage...) and tracked through various objects: popular and avant-garde cinema; videogames, ready-mades and Pop Art; Hip-Hop and Electro; literature and DJ culture.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>324</td>
<td>ROMST324 - Mexico Since Before Cortes</td>
<td>Survey of Mexican history since before the encounter between European and native peoples, the experience of conquest, independence rebellions, liberal reforms, revolution, and modernization.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>327S</td>
<td>ROMST327S - Romance Studies Literature and Culture</td>
<td>A literary, cross-cultural critique focusing on history, literature, cinema and the arts. Open only to first years and sophomores. May be repeated if a different topic.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>327SP</td>
<td>ROMST327SP - Romance Studies Literature and Culture Preceptorial</td>
<td>Offered in either French, Italian, Portuguese, or Spanish, this zero credit preceptorial requires concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 327S. Involves extra class time and assignments in order for Romance Studies 327S to count toward a major or minor. See instructor for additional information.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>330S</td>
<td>ROMST330S - Undocumented America in Literature</td>
<td>This seminar explores the representation of lived experiences, trajectories, and current events vis-à-vis the figure of the undocumented migrant, in contemporary American literature. Testimonial accounts, journalism chronicles, memoirs, poetry, cinematic works, and critical scholarship inform and propel our study of the experience of (‘illegal’) migrant movement—departure, journey, and arrival—as portrayed in Latino and Latina literature. We will question status designations such as ‘illegal,’ ‘undocumented,’ and ‘unauthorized,’ ‘legitimacy’ and recognition; the inadmissible and the construction of ‘suspect’ bodies; social participation in US society.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>336S</td>
<td>ROMST336S - Don Quixote for Beginners</td>
<td>This course introduces students to the overlapping realities and worlds that the novel encompasses to explore, through don Quixote’s knighthly ambitions of justice, love, and freedom, the similarities, and differences we see between ourselves and others, in a changing world where chivalry ideals, popular culture, history, and uprooted lives, and early capitalism dialogue to each other. Multiple characters raise questions about escapism, social justice, borders, and exile linking the present and the past.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>337</td>
<td>ROMST337 - America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema</td>
<td>This course explores the portrayals of America, especially the United States, from authors and directors who are not American and who often have never even seen America. We will read short stories, novels, and graphic novels and watch films. What do these works from other parts of the world have to say about dreams, race, love, immigration, and space in America? We will discuss imaginary Americas in order to understand these important works within their contexts, to examine how foreign representations of America have contributed to our idea of America, and to consider what imagined Americas suggest about us here in North Carolina.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>337P</td>
<td>America from Abroad: Literature and Cinema Preceptorial</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A preceptorial, in Italian, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 337S or Italian 337S. Further information available from instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>338S</td>
<td>Brazil and Lusophone Africa</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This seminar examines three historical components of the South Atlantic in terms of history, culture, and contemporary political and economic consequences. European colonialism in Africa and Brazil constitutes the baseline for this exploration, but the long and tardy nature of Portuguese colonialism in Africa in comparison with other European colonial powers, especially in its post-World War II manifestations, is our starting point. We will examine the last stages of Portuguese colonialism in Lusophone Africa, the African liberation movements and the efforts to forge new transnational relations among Portugal, Lusophone Africa and Brazil.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>338SP</td>
<td>Brazil and Lusophone Africa Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A preceptorial, in Portuguese, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 338S. Further information available from instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST</td>
<td>339S</td>
<td>Brazil, Race, Sex, and the Body</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The approach of the course will be interdisciplinary, drawing upon works from anthropology, literature, history, and film. Topics will include colonialism and enslavement, abolition, nationalism, social activism, and popular culture. We will also consider how Brazilian social relations differ from or conform to other racialized patterns in other nation-states in the Americas. Particular attention will be placed on the impact of the interrelationship between race, gender, class, and nation on the lives of Black Brazilians.
ROMST341S - Perspectives on the Amazon

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 341S
Title: Perspectives on the Amazon

Description:
The Amazon has been a source of awe to outsiders at least since the first Europeans navigated the Amazon River in 1542. While early explorers searched the forest for a mythic city of gold, contemporary travelers, scientists, and concerned citizens look to the Amazon as the key to our endangered future. Focusing on a variety of textual and visual representations, we will deal with major themes in the history of the Amazon and consider the ways in which this vast and widely depicted region eludes representation, holding entirely different and contending meanings to distinct socio-cultural groups. Our sources include works by indigenous thinkers and cultural producers.

ROMST341SP - Perspectives on the Amazon Preceptorial

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 341SP
Title: Perspectives on the Amazon Preceptorial

Description:
A preceptorial, in Portuguese, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 341S or Portuguese 341S. Further information available from instructor.

ROMST343S - The Acoustic Image in the Renaissance

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 343S
Title: The Acoustic Image in the Renaissance

Description:
Examines the dynamics between Renaissance voice, sound, and the body. Navigates the intersections between literary and performance histories. Studies the crossroads of personal and collective identity, issues of gender relations, factors of agency and exclusion, and the instruments of power that govern vocal expression. Readings and listenings include works by Homer, Ovid, Sappho, Petrarch, Costa, Monteverdi, Behn, Lope de Vega, Corneille, and others. Thematic units featured: voice in theory, the autobiographical pen, the political chorus, and performing the resilient body. Questions discussed: Who is allowed a voice? What do voices measure? What voices get heard? And who listens?

ROMST350 - Brains, Everywhere

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 350
Title: Brains, Everywhere

Description:
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some 'neurocultures' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this course we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'
ROMST350S - Brains, Everywhere
Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 350S
Title: Brains, Everywhere

Description
Over the last three decades we have witnessed the speedy rise of the 'neurosciences,' an historical event characterized by some as a 'neuro-revolution' that has given rise to a 'neuro-society,' 'neuro-cultures,' and 'neuro-subjects.' In this seminar we will track this history and ask what change in meaning might 'neuro' effect in the disciplines that were previously 'neuro'-free. If there is a neuro-turn in the humanities and social sciences, what is it that's 'turning'? We will consider the centrality of brain research in these discussions to ask questions about the meaning of 'personhood/subjectivity,' 'human/post human,' 'mind/body,' 'self/ego,' and 'emotion/affect.'

ROMST365S - Latino/a Popular Culture
Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 365S
Title: Latino/a Popular Culture

Description
Examines connections between US Latina/o and Latin American populations mediated by contemporary popular culture and the world of the commodity. Explores sociocultural and political issues in US national culture, the ways US Latina/o cultures dialogue across the Americas, and how Latina, Latino, LatinX, and Latin American bodies inhabit particular cultural and geographic contexts. Addresses how popular cultural forms are developed, contested, or resolved vis-à-vis issues of difference, multicultural inclusiveness, domestic history, narratives of exile and migration. Materials covered include films, documentaries, television shows, art, advertising, comic strips, food fusions, music.

ROMST366S - Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminisms
Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 366S
Title: Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminisms

Description
The term 'pícara' or 'rogue outlaw' was designed to regulate and criminalize the bodies of women transgressing boundaries. This course uses the term to delve into the heroic histories of some of the most prominent women voices across the Global South and the various ways they challenge normalized and heteronormative structures of society. From a Cuban slave revolt leader, or the 17th century colonial 'Memoire of Basque Transvestite in the New World,' to the seminal Borderlands=La Frontera, prominent African Feminist theorists, and pop culture film Real Women Have Curves, we will read and engage in some of the most daring accounts of women power throughout the ages.

ROMST366SP - Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminism Preceptorial
Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 366SP
Title: Picaras and Outlaws: Global South Feminism Preceptorial

Description
A preceptorial, in Spanish, requiring concurrent enrollment in ROMST 366S. Further information available from instructor.
ROMST377S - Language & Identity: How We Construct Identities and Reproduce Social Hierarchies Through Language

Subject: ROMST
Title: Language & Identity: How We Construct Identities and Reproduce Social Hierarchies Through Language
Description: Language is a central and pervasive feature of human identity through which we portray ourselves and negotiate social identities. With such practices we re-produce values, norms, social hierarchies, and the privilege these entail. Using examples from media, literature, and ethnographic data we will explore how speakers negotiate social identities through language and how ideas about it inform our understanding and interpretation of society and speakers within it. Topics include language, racism, gender, sexuality, class, ethnicity and ways that language and discourse construct and maintain a sense of belonging, otherness, truth, and value. Not open to students who have taken Romance Studies 207FS.

ROMST379S - The Detective Novel

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 379S
Title: The Detective Novel
Description: What is a detective novel, and how does it "work"? By looking at synchronic and diachronic transformations of the genre—from British Sherlock Holmes to the South African "noir-fantastic"—the course investigates the structure of literary genres and their adaptability to different social, cultural, and civilizational contexts. The course has no prerequisites and is designed for majors and minors in Romance Studies and the humanities in general.

ROMST380 - France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 380
Title: France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality
Description: Examination of the Franco-African relationship over time, from the four 'communes' in Senegal to the present, through a political but also broader cultural lens. France's colonial doctrine and practices, African resistance and collaboration, 'la francophonie' and the postcolonial 'Françafrique' are analyzed as well as collective imaginaries on either side and how they shaped each other in literature, film, the social sciences or everyday life. The course is taught in English but a preceptorial class in French is offered in addition so that students can meet the requirement for their major or minor in French. Newcomers to Africa are welcome.

ROMST380P - France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality Preceptorial

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 380P
Title: France and Africa: The Politics and Culture of (Post-)Coloniality Preceptorial
Description: A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in African & African American Studies 380 or Romance Studies 380. Course counts toward the language requirement for the French major or minor if student enrolls in the preceptorial. Students need to have the proficiency to partake in discussions in French in the preceptorial, as well as to complete their readings and their final paper in African & African American Studies 380 or Romance Studies 380 in French. Further information available from instructor.
ROMST381S - Mapping Jewish Modernism

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 381S
Title: Mapping Jewish Modernism

Description:
Students research Jewish modernism through questions of geography and movement, pointing to the many places where modern Jewish art has been created and the experiences of migration, exile, diaspora, and resettlement that shaped this work. We discuss the varieties of ways that different art forms, including literature, theater, music, art, film, architecture, and dance, can be mapped. We analyze mapping in terms of the movements of people (artists, authors, and directors), of objects (paintings, literature, performances, and films), and within the works themselves. Work with the Rubenstein Library will lead to projects that contribute to an exhibit in Perkins Library and a digital site.

ROMST382 - Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 382
Title: Race, Class, and Family in Contemporary Literature: Journeys, Generations, and Translations

Description:
An opportunity to study with the Somali-Italian author Igiaba Scego, this English-language course explores representations of race, class & families in contemporary fiction. The course has three parts: 1) Analysis of Scego's work, which is crucial to debates on migration, decolonization, racism, feminism & translation; 2) read Italian and Brazilian authors to examine the intersection of color and class that cross Italy & Brazil from the colonial period to today, including the journeys and interactions between parents, siblings; 3) discussion of Scego's just-translated 'The Color Line,' which moves between the U.S., Italy, and Somalia, & final projects.

ROMST388S - Food, Culture, and Society

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 388S
Title: Food, Culture, and Society

Description:
This DukeImmerse course provides a broad overview of food as culture and its role in society. Exploration of the intersections between food and identity from gender, ethnic, class, religious, and political identities to how people use food to develop a sense of themselves as ethical beings. Food and democracy and food activism. Readings from anthropological, sociological, linguistic, and literary writings with ethnographic observations in local communities of practice. Instructor consent required.

ROMST389S - Linguistic Human Rights in the Americas

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 389S
Title: Linguistic Human Rights in the Americas

Description:
This DukeImmerse course brings together topics of language and human rights, focusing on situations of linguistic disparities in the Americas. Explores questions of language contact, bilingualism and endangered languages from perspective of social injustices and human rights. Examines how language aids in the construct of social context and institutions and how it reflects and sustains social realities, reflecting on situations of oppression and how they are associated to sociolinguistic attitudes and behavior. Explores overlap of linguistic human rights with cultural and minority rights; all in connection to the right of maintaining one’s identity as well as sustaining human rights. Instructor consent required.

ROMST390 - Special Topics in Romance Studies

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Romance Studies

Description:
A comparative study of languages, literatures, and/or cultures related to Romance Studies.

ROMST390S - Special Topics in Romance Studies

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in Romance Studies

Description:
A comparative study of languages, literatures, and/or cultures related to Romance Studies.
ROMST390SP - Romance Studies Topics Preceptorial

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 390SP
Title: Romance Studies Topics Preceptorial
Description: Offered in either French, Italian, Portuguese, or Spanish, this zero credit preceptorial requires concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 390S under the same topic. Involves extra class time and assignments in order for Romance Studies 390S to count towards the language requirement for the major or minor. Enrollment does not satisfy Trinity foreign language requirement.

ROMST391 - Independent Study

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study
Description: Individual study in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and Director of Undergraduate Studies required. In English.

ROMST393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study
Description: Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified students by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

ROMST410D - Black (In) Translation

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 410D
Title: Black (In) Translation
Description: Examines the meanings of Blackness as it moves through the Atlantic world from 18th century to present. Readings explore theories of race and representation, and ways that translation conveys, shapes, and disrupts ideas about Blackness as cultural identity, lived experience, political claim. Course materials include works of literature, history, anthropology, and film. Taught in English, though, students enrolled under foreign language discussion sections will do reading, writing, research, and discussion in the language, requiring 2 years of foreign language study for language credit for the major or minor.

ROMST412S - Afro-Latin America

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 412S
Title: Afro-Latin America
Description: This course focuses on the position of Blacks in the national histories and societies of Latin America from slavery to the present day. Emphasis is on an interdisciplinary engagement with issues and critical discussion of national images contrasted with the realities of blackness. We will explore the connections between race, gender, sexuality, and representation in national and transnational encounters and the consequences of the migration of people and ideas within the hemisphere. Countries to be explored include Cuba, Brazil, the Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico, Argentina, Mexico, Haiti, and Peru.

ROMST430 - Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa

Subject: ROMST
Catalog Number: 430
Title: Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa
Description: The objective of the course is to analyze the social, political and cultural dynamics of post-independence African states through the musical archive. The course will analyze the role that music has played in the construction of national identities in post-colonial African states, but also in social, political and cultural dynamics of contemporary Africa. From High-life in Ghana to Congolese rumba, Afrobeat in Nigeria, reggae, Hip Hop and Rai, it will show how music has accompanied societal and political evolutions of African nations. The course will think of music as a landscape and analyze the musical circulation, as a space for the constitution of African societal modernities. In English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ROMST430P</td>
<td>Music History and Politics in Contemporary Africa Preceptorial</td>
<td>A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 430 or French 430. Further information available from instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST450</td>
<td>Second Language Acquisition and Research</td>
<td>Addresses historical and current perspectives on second language acquisition. SLA is the study of processes that contribute to learning a language other than the first language. The course will focus on linguistic, cognitive, and sociocultural processes that contribute to the acquisition of the L2. Research methodologies, neuroimaging, and data interpretation will be emphasized. Recommended prerequisite (for Neuroscience majors): Neuroscience 101 or 102.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST451S</td>
<td>Theories and Techniques of Teaching Foreign Languages</td>
<td>A survey of approaches to foreign language teaching and their historical development, an introduction to the theoretical notions underlying current trends in second language acquisition and teaching. Language learning, language teaching, bilingual education. Students who have taken French or Spanish FL courses should have language proficiency at the 400 level or higher. Students who have taken Italian or Portuguese FL courses will be interviewed to determine readiness. Prerequisite: One 400-level French or Spanish FL-coded course, or by instructor consent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST489S</td>
<td>Screening Europe</td>
<td>Course debates identification of Europe as a political, historical and social entity from the standpoint of cinema. Provides students with an introduction to the notion of 'European cinema' from 1945 to the present-day crisis of Brexit and migration. Explores issues concerning interactions and relations between national and transnational identities, the local and the global, post-colonialism and multiculturalism, migration and nationalism, and Eastern versus Western Europe.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST489SP</td>
<td>Screening Europe Preceptorial</td>
<td>A preceptorial, in French, requiring concurrent enrollment in Romance Studies 489S or French 489S. For French minors and majors, and all students who want to improve their linguistic skills. Students lead class discussions in French, write all their assignments in French and give an oral presentation in French. Further information available from the instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROMST490</td>
<td>Topics in Romance Studies</td>
<td>A comparative study of languages, literatures, and/or cultures related to Romance Studies.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ROMST490S - Topics in Romance Studies

Subject
ROMST

Catalog Number
490S

Title
Topics in Romance Studies

Description
A comparative study of languages, literatures, and/or cultures related to Romance Studies.

---

ROMST490SP - Preceptorial in Romance Studies

Subject
ROMST

Catalog Number
490SP

Title
Preceptorial in Romance Studies

Description
A preceptorial in French, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian or Creole requiring concurrent enrollment in ROMST 490S. Further information available from instructor.

---

ROMST493 - Research Independent Study

Subject
ROMST

Catalog Number
493

Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

---

ROMST495 - Honors Thesis

Subject
ROMST

Catalog Number
495

Title
Honors Thesis

Description
Preparation and writing of research paper for departmental distinction. Consent of both the instructor and the director of undergraduate studies required. See section on honors in Bulletin.

---

RUSSIAN101 - Elementary Russian I

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number
101

Title
Elementary Russian I

Description
Introduction to understanding, speaking, reading, and writing. Study of contemporary Russian language and important elements of Russian culture.

---

RUSSIAN101SA - Elementary Russian I

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number
101SA

Title
Elementary Russian I

Description
Introduction to understanding, speaking, reading, writing and grammar. Study of contemporary Russian language and important elements of Russian culture. Taught in St. Petersburg, Russia. Course taught in Russian and English. Instructor consent required.

---

RUSSIAN102 - Elementary Russian II

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number
102

Title
Elementary Russian II

Description
Continuation of Russian 101. Introduction to understanding, speaking, reading, and writing. Study of contemporary Russian language and important elements of Russian culture. Second half of Russian 101, 102. Prerequisite: Russian 101.
RUSSIAN102SA - Elementary Russian II
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 102SA
Title: Elementary Russian II
Description: Introduction to understanding, speaking, reading, writing and grammar. Study of contemporary Russian language and important elements of Russian culture. Taught in St. Petersburg, Russia. Course taught in Russian and English. Second half of Russian 101. Instructor consent required.

RUSSIAN103 - Elementary Russian Conversation
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 103
Title: Elementary Russian Conversation
Description: Introduction to spoken Russian with emphasis on basic conversational style and increasing vocabulary. Corequisite: Russian 101 or Russian 111.

RUSSIAN104 - Elementary Russian Conversation
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 104
Title: Elementary Russian Conversation
Description: Continuation of Russian 103. Prerequisite: Russian 101 or Russian 111.

RUSSIAN111 - Intensive Russian
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 111
Title: Intensive Russian
Description: Intensive study of contemporary Russian language and important elements of Russian culture.

RUSSIAN112 - Accelerated Russian Language and Culture I
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 112
Title: Accelerated Russian Language and Culture I
Description: Accelerated study of contemporary Russian language and important elements of Russian culture. Intended for students with no previous knowledge of Russian interested in achieving significant proficiency in speaking, reading, writing, and comprehension based on cultural constructs in one semester of study. Includes significant use of technology to enhance learning.

RUSSIAN112A - Accelerated Russian Language and Culture I
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 112A
Title: Accelerated Russian Language and Culture I
Description: Accelerated study of contemporary Russian language and important elements of Russian culture. Intended for students with no previous knowledge of Russian interested in achieving significant proficiency in speaking, reading, writing, and comprehension based on cultural constructs in one semester of study. Includes significant use of technology to enhance learning.
RUSSIAN121FS - Medical Ethics, Aging, and End of Life Care in the US

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 121FS
Title: Medical Ethics, Aging, and End of Life Care in the US

Description

Study of medical ethics, policy, clinical, and personal issues in working with dying and bereaved people. Focuses on diverse populations in ethnicity, culture, socioeconomic status, education, sexual orientation, and more. Various models for providing care to the dying and bereaved. Visits from medical personnel. Works to be read/viewed may include 'Me, Earl, and the Dying Girl,' Charon's 'Narrative Medicine,' Gawande’s 'Being Mortal,' Tolstoy's 'Death of Ivan Ilich,' Kalanithi's 'When Breath Becomes Air,' and policy articles on end of life care and physician assisted suicide. Focus Program students only. Service-Learning course. Instructor consent required.

---

RUSSIAN190S - Special Topics in Russian Culture

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Russian Culture

Description

Special Topics in Russian Culture. Topics vary each semester.

---

RUSSIAN203 - Intermediate Russian I

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Russian I

Description

Intensive classroom and laboratory practice in spoken and written patterns. Reading in contemporary literature. Prerequisite: Russian 101 and 102, or two years of high school Russian.

---

RUSSIAN204 - Intermediate Russian II

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Intermediate Russian II

Description

Intensive classroom and laboratory practice in spoken and written patterns. Reading in contemporary literature. Prerequisite: Russian 101, 102 and 203 or equivalent.

---

RUSSIAN205 - Intermediate Russian Conversation

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 205
Title: Intermediate Russian Conversation

Description

Consolidation of oral skills. Intensive conversation on a broad range of topics. Prerequisite: Russian 101 and 102, or equivalent.

---

RUSSIAN207AS - Intermediate Russian Language and Culture

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 207AS
Title: Intermediate Russian Language and Culture

Description

Intensive classroom practice in phonetics, conversation, and grammar. Focus on literature and films, with museum and theater performance component. (Taught in St. Petersburg in Russian and English depending on placement.) Prerequisite: Russian 102 or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>208AS</td>
<td>Intermediate Russian Language and Culture</td>
<td>Continuation of Russian 207AS. (Taught in St. Petersburg in Russian and English depending on placement.) Prerequisite: Russian 207AS or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>221A</td>
<td>Russian Language Studies in St. Petersburg</td>
<td>Russian grammar, composition and textual analysis taught only in St. Petersburg for students participating in the semester program. Explicit analysis of historical and contemporary cultural representations and texts in language, literature and the verbal arts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>222A</td>
<td>Language, Culture, and Myth: The Slavic Proverb</td>
<td>The sources of the Slavic proverb, the proverb as microtext of national stereotypes, and its function in modern literature and culture. West, South and East Slavic proverbs contrasted with other Indo-European language families. Theoretical aspects include explications of the relationship of language and culture and problems of translation. Taught in English or Russian. Readings in Russian with excerpts from other Slavic languages. Taught in St. Petersburg, Russia.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>223A</td>
<td>Contemporary Russian Media</td>
<td>Same as Russian 135 but taught only in St. Petersburg. Taught in Russian. Prerequisite: Russian 204 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>224</td>
<td>From Stalin to Putin: The Art of Dictatorship</td>
<td>When the Soviet Union ceased to exist, many believed that Russia's history of autocratic rule might finally end. Today Russia under Putin appears to be retreating from democracy. Putin's rule is routinely compared to a dictatorship. The Soviet most notorious dictator, Stalin is being rehabilitated by the Russian establishment. This course traces the history of modern Russian politics from Stalin to Putin and examines how such completely ordinary individuals managed to amass the kind of power that is best described dictatorial. It examines the complex evolution of communist and post-Soviet leadership. The course is comparative and draws on Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy as case studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>237</td>
<td>Russia in the World: From Cold War to Putin's Wars</td>
<td>Traces evolution of Russian Federation foreign policy from the collapse of the Soviet Union at the beginning of the 1990s to the 2022 war in Ukraine. Examines elements of Russian grand strategy: military, economic (especially oil and gas), and diplomatic tools. Explores the role of one individual, President Vladimir Putin, in shaping policy in an increasingly autocratic state. Focuses on Russia’s relations with its neighbors, former allies, Europe, and the wider world, including the United States. Identifies linkages between domestic politics and events and foreign policy. Assignments focus on translating historical knowledge into actionable policy advice to meet current challenges.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>267S</td>
<td>Global Cold War</td>
<td>Traditional narratives of the Cold War focus on a bi-polar series of conflicts that pit the United States against the Soviet Union in a good-versus-evil battle for global political and military supremacy. This course destabilizes this account of a process that affected every continent on earth – and even reached into space – over the period of more than half a century. It explores the Cold War from East-West, North-South, global, and interstellar perspectives. In addition to political and military issues, the course will also discuss the Cold War in social, cultural, intellectual, and economic spheres.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>273T</td>
<td>Voices in Public Policy: Russian Tutorial</td>
<td>Students will explore how language and culture impact public policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in Russian, students will analyze public policy issues in the Russian-speaking world, in order to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. 1/2 credit. S/U. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in the target language.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>276</td>
<td>From Tsars to Commissars: Russian Cultural History</td>
<td>Medieval origins of the Imperial Russian state, concentrating on the period between the reign of Catherine the Great (1762-1796) and the death of Lenin in 1924. Emphasis on state authority, ruling elites, and the formation of the opposition revolutionary movement leading to the Bolshevik seizure of power in 1917.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>278S</td>
<td>Literatures and Films of Pandemic</td>
<td>This course explores past pandemics as a way to think about how to best live through COVID-19 and prevent or minimize future pandemics. Through examining literature and film, we will analyze the psychosocial dimensions of pandemic. We will read a variety of texts including: histories, fiction (Bulgakov, Porter, Tolstoy, Colson Whitehead); short essays; and films (e.g., Contagion, Outbreak). How do science, medicine, and society interact in a time of pandemic? How do pandemics reveal social inequities, and how could we use this knowledge to decrease disparities? And why do people turn to the humanities and arts in times of pandemic?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>282S</td>
<td>Writing Movies and Plays: Adaptation</td>
<td>Theory and practice of the process of adaptation of serious literary works of fiction to screenplay or play form. Reading and analysis of literary works adapted as screenplays and plays. Project in writing an adaptation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>290A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Russian</td>
<td>Intensive in-country study of Russian language and culture. Analysis of literary and journalistic texts, film, television and popular culture. Specific body of texts differs by section.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
RUSSIAN290S - Topics in Russian Studies
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Topics in Russian Studies
Description: Topics vary each semester.

RUSSIAN301S - Contemporary Russian Composition and Readings
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 301S
Title: Contemporary Russian Composition and Readings
Description: Advanced grammar and syntax with intense composition component. Analytical readings in the original. Prerequisite: Russian 203 and 204, or equivalent.

RUSSIAN302S - Contemporary Russian Composition and Readings
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 302S
Title: Contemporary Russian Composition and Readings
Description: Continuation of Russian 301S. Prerequisite: Russian 301S.

RUSSIAN307AS - Studies in the Russian Language and Culture
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 307AS
Title: Studies in the Russian Language and Culture
Description: Analytical readings including grammatical and textual analysis. Additional work in phonetics and conversation. Literature, films, museums, and theater performances central for analysis and written assignments. (Taught in St. Petersburg in Russian.) Prerequisite: Russian 204 or equivalent.

RUSSIAN308AS - Studies in the Russian Language and Culture
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 308AS
Title: Studies in the Russian Language and Culture
Description: Continuation of Russian 307AS. Prerequisite: Russian 307AS or equivalent.

RUSSIAN310S - The Russian Fairy Tale and Its Cultural Legacy
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 310S
Title: The Russian Fairy Tale and Its Cultural Legacy
Description: Extending beyond both Russian and the fairy tale genre alone, this course explores Slavic folklore in two major categories: cultural practice, from magic to social rites and material culture, and lore, from folktales to epic poetry. We survey the folklore of Eastern (Russian, Ukrainian, Belarusian), Western (Polish, Czech, Slovak) and South (Bulgarian, Croat, Serb, Macedonian, Slovenian) Slavs. This course offers knowledge of these places of the world while also showing how the study of folklore intersects with topics in cultural theory, literature, and history. Assignments will include participation, weekly posts/quizzes, and mid-term and final papers.
RUSSIAN311 - The Quest for Identity: Russian Literature and Culture, 1800-1855

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number 311

Title
The Quest for Identity: Russian Literature and Culture, 1800-1855

Description
Examines how Russian writers and artists distinguished imperial Russia's modern political, social, and cultural identity under 'Western eyes.' Topics include search for 'truly Russian' models, topics, and styles; domestic debate between 'Westernizing' and 'Slavophile' camps; emergence of women writers; relations between urban and provincial cultures; connections between national identity formation and empire building. Course texts may include fiction, memoirs, and drama by Pushkin, Durova, Gogol, Lermontov, and Pavlova; social commentary by Belinsky and Herzen; works of fine art and folk culture.

RUSSIAN313 - The Russian Novel

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number 313

Title
The Russian Novel

Description
Close reading of Tolstoy's Anna Karenina, Dostoevsky's Possessed, Andrey Bely's Petersburg, Bulgakov's Master and Margarita, Nabokov's The Gift, and Makine's Memoirs of my Russian Summers. Discussions will focus on these representative writers' changing perceptions of, and responses to social and ethical issues and of creativity, itself, as the genre evolved in the modern times between the 1870s and now. Final research paper required and can include in-depth discussion of one of the works or the comparison of one or more aspects of several texts. Taught in English.

RUSSIAN314 - The Devil in Russian Literature

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number
314

Title
The Devil in Russian Literature

Description
The symbolic and metaphorical system that surrounds the image of the Fiend; the figure of the Devil in his various manifestations through Russian folklore, culture, and literature. Taught in English.

RUSSIAN316 - Russian Short Fiction

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number 316

Title
Russian Short Fiction

Description
The history, development, and shifts of Russian short fiction in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Authors include Dostoevsky, Vovchok, Leskov, Chekhov, Gippius, and Zoshchenko. Topics include gender, genre, and national identity in historical/cultural context. Taught in English.

RUSSIAN317S - Expressing Immigrant Experience: The Russians

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number
317S

Title
Expressing Immigrant Experience: The Russians

Description
Some of the world's greatest artistic works have emerged from the creator's experience of crossing boundaries—linguistic, geographic, cultural, and social/psychological. This course examines the particular case of Russia's emigre experience in the English-speaking world as recorded in literature and the other creative arts.

RUSSIAN318 - Follow the Ruble: Money in Russian Literature and Culture

Subject
RUSSIAN

Catalog Number 318

Title
Follow the Ruble: Money in Russian Literature and Culture

Description
Reading Russian literature through the lens of economics. Money as a driving plot principle in fiction from the 1600s to the present day. The profit motive underlying Russian artistic depictions of criminality. Gamblers, rogues, smugglers, thieves, tycoons, oligarchs, and 'New Russian' entrepreneurs as protagonists. Swindling and black marketeering as the underside of an economic system that condemns capitalism and the 'middleman.' Financial dealings as a battlefield between Russian and Western cultural values. Students are encouraged to do course projects applying economic analytical models to literary texts and films.
RUSSIAN321 - The New Russia: Reflections of Post-Soviet Reality in Literature and Film

Description

Examination of fiction and film in the post-Soviet period. Topics include: crime and social breakdown in the 1990s and 2000s; transformations of classic character types (anti-hero, virgin-whore, swindler-rogue); religious and ethical quests; taboo-breaking themes. Works by authors Sorokin, Grishkovets, Pelevin, Petrushevskaya, Sadur, Shichkin, Minaev, Tolstaya, Akunin, Litvak and filmmakers Bodrov, Rogozhkin, Bekmambetov, KNebnikov/Popogrebsky, Balabanov, and Sokurov. Readings and class discussions in English.

RUSSIAN323 - Dostoevsky

Subject RUSSIAN
Catalog Number 323
Title Dostoevsky

Description

Introduction to life, works, and criticism. Readings include: Crime and Punishment, The Idiot, and The Brothers Karamazov. Taught in English.

RUSSIAN325 - Tolstoy and the Russian Experience

Subject RUSSIAN
Catalog Number 325
Title Tolstoy and the Russian Experience

Description

Historical approach to Tolstoy's depictions of major societal and ethical issues (e.g., war, peace, marriage, death, religion, relationships). Culture of salons, print culture, censorship, and changing political climate. Central questions on the relationship of fiction and history: uses of fiction for understanding history and dangers of such an approach. Readings include selected fiction of Tolstoy, excerpts from journals and letters, and critical and historical accounts of nineteenth-century Russia.

RUSSIAN327S - Chekhov

Subject RUSSIAN
Catalog Number 327S
Title Chekhov

Description

Drama and prose works. Taught in English. Not open to students who have taken Theater Studies 157S/Russian 174S (Chekhov).
RUSSIAN328S - Bunin: Mystery of the Russian Soul and Metaphysical Memory

Description

RUSSIAN331 - Demons, Rebels, Madmen, Fools: Non-Conformists in Russian Literature, Culture, and Film

Description
Examines the Russian anti-hero as literary figure, social critic, religious seeker, and revolutionary. The non-conformist hero performs an ethical role in culture, speaking truth to power and suffering the consequences. The tension between hero and society produces one of the world's great literary traditions, and offers a framework for understanding Russia's lurid history. Subjects include the scetic monk, holy fool, anarchist, political revolutionary, Gulag prisoner, drunkard, murderer, punk poet, vampire, and demon. The course will discuss folk tales, hagiographies, stories, poems, songs, films, and multimedia. Authors will include Avvakum, Pushkin, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Leskov, Chekhov, Shukshin, Erofeev, Pelevin, Tolstaya, Pussy Riot, and Tarkovsky.

RUSSIAN340S - Reading Chekhov in Russian

Description
Close engagement with Chekhov's stories, plays, and letters in the original. Work with Russian scholarship and scholarly format. Discussions and written assignments in Russian, including short essays and performances. Can be taken together with 327S ('Chekhov,' taught in English), or independently. Open to students at the 300 level of language proficiency.

RUSSIAN350 - Eastern Europe in Transition: Markets, Media, and the Mafia

Description
RUSSIAN351S - Directing Chekhov

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 351S
Title: Directing Chekhov

Description: Seminar in directing with emphasis on directing actors, demonstration and laboratory exercises, text analysis, and rehearsal techniques. Examination of rehearsal working methods, development of performance choices, exploration of material and process with emphasis on the plays of Chekhov. Explores visual and conceptual material of directing, and problems of working in performance. Includes a video project—students videotape their directing work and accomplish post-production—edit and production of a digital video file. Projects evaluated on basis of composition, visual interest, and narrative force. Pre-req: THEATRST 145S and consent of instructor.

RUSSIAN352 - End of Russian Socialism: History of Perestroika

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 352
Title: End of Russian Socialism: History of Perestroika

Description: History of the fall of the Soviet Union as interplay between Russia's economic legacy, a sequence of economic and political decisions undertaken by Gorbachev's government in the 1980s, and international forces that influenced Russia's decision to reform; includes exploration of principles and aspirations that informed Soviet socialist economy in theory and practice; traces the restructuring of Soviet economic system into its present-day capitalism à la Russe.

RUSSIAN356 - The Russian Empire

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 356
Title: The Russian Empire

Description: Russian imperial history from Peter the Great to Bolshevik Revolution: 1700-1917. Focus on formation and governance of multiethnic and multiconfessional Russian empire. Traces expansion of land-locked city state (Muscovy) into world power ruling from Eastern Europe to Alaska. Questions implications of Russia's world-power status. Examines institutions of governance that created this empire and held its various ethnic, religious and ideological groups together for centuries. Readings of English translations of works of Russian literature and historiographic analyses aimed at developing a sound grounding in Russian imperial history and culture.

RUSSIAN362 - Languages of the World

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 362
Title: Languages of the World

Description: The major languages of the world viewed in the context of the communicative and significate functions of language as parameters that shape and define society. The role of language in defining and structuring culturally-based relationships from a semiotic point of view. The structure, writing systems, phonology, morphology, and lexicon of languages from the following groups: Indo-European, Semitic, Turkic, Finno-Ugric, Caucasian, Afroasiatic, Sino-Tibetan, Niger-Kordofanian, Dravidian, and Native American languages.

RUSSIAN363 - Theory and Practice of Translation

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 363
Title: Theory and Practice of Translation

Description: Detailed study of the American, European and Slavic scholarly literature on translation combined with close analysis of existing literary and journalistic translations and a program of practical translation projects from English to Russian and Russian to English.

RUSSIAN364 - Gender and Language

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 364
Title: Gender and Language

Description: Theoretical approaches to the question of the interrelationship of gender and language including neurobiology, psychology, semiotics, feminist critical theory, philosophy of language, discourse analysis, and linguistic theory. Taught in English.
RUSSIAN370S - Islam in Asia
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 370S
Title: Islam in Asia
Description: Focus on the northern tier of Muslim-inhabited lands. The early spread of Islam among continental Asia’s non-Arab peoples. The evolution of Muslim religious and cultural institutions under Mongol, Central Asian, Russian and Chinese empires. Asian Muslim encounters with European modernity and experience of Muslims under and after Soviet/Chinese socialist regimes.

RUSSIAN371S - Russian Fiction and Film
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 371S
Title: Russian Fiction and Film
Description: Russia’s turbulent history recounted through its literature and film. Short works by Russia’s most famous authors (Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Chekhov) as well as the writings of lesser-known, but equally important writers (Teffi, Vladimov). Comparison of these written works with films made of the stories. Exploration of the main trends of Russian culture through its literature and film; focus on the differences between film and written narratives.

RUSSIAN373S - Russian Language and Culture through Film
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 373S
Title: Russian Language and Culture through Film
Description: Study of Russian cultural paradigms and constructs of self and other as demonstrated in Russia and Soviet films, primarily from 1960s to the present. Special attention given to the analysis of linguistic constructs and their cultural semantic content as well as comparative analyses of Soviet and Russian culture and Russian and European/American culture. Film and computer technology, as well as access to these technologies and their implementation, are a central part of the cultural context. Prerequisite: Russian 301S or equivalent or consent of instructor.

RUSSIAN374S - Russian Language and Culture through Film II
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 374S
Title: Russian Language and Culture through Film II
Description: Continuation of Russian 373S. Analysis of Russian cultural paradigms and linguistic issues through contemporary Russian and Soviet film. Film and computer technology, as well as access to these technologies and their implementation, are a central part of the cultural context. Prerequisite: Russian 301S or equivalent, or consent of instructor.

RUSSIAN383 - The Actress: Celebrity and the Woman
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 383
Title: The Actress: Celebrity and the Woman
Description: Explores through fiction, film, autobiographies, and biographies the significance and influence of the actress (on stage and screen) from eighteenth century to present day. Highlighted topics: actress’s self-image and perception of her art; relationship between her public profession and private life; how she reflects/sets contemporary standards for beauty and lifestyle; how she provokes public debate over women’s ‘appropriate’ sexual, familial, professional, and public roles; her function as symbol/role model for her gender, race, nation. Includes Sarah Bernhardt’s memoirs, Chekhov’s The Seagull, Susan Sontag’s In America, films All About Eve and Mommie Dearest. Taught in English.

RUSSIAN386 - The Power of Pushkin: Russia, USSR, and Beyond
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 386
Title: The Power of Pushkin: Russia, USSR, and Beyond
Description: This course, taught in English and with readings in translation, explores the literary works of Alexander Pushkin as well as Pushkin’s elevated place in the culture(s) of pre-revolutionary Russia, the Soviet Union, and post-Soviet Russia. We will also study Pushkin’s connection to Africa and to African American writers of the early twentieth century.
RUSSIAN390 - Special Topics in Russian Culture
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Russian Culture
Description: Special topics in Russian culture. Topics vary each semester.

RUSSIAN399 - Global Russia
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 399
Title: Global Russia
Description: This course will examine the process of globalization of Russian culture and institutions as manifested in political, economic, and legal institutions; religion; education; popular and academic cultural forms, including media and artistic texts, film, theatre and television; diplomacy; reproductive rights; health care; the role of censorship; views of citizenship, patriotism, and sport. We will evaluate the ethical issues, potential shift of cultural values, and their impact on 21st century Russian institutions.

RUSSIAN399A - Global Russia
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 399A
Title: Global Russia
Description: Globalization of Russian culture as manifested in popular/academic cultural forms, including political ideologies, media/artistic texts, film, theater/television, markets, educational/legal institutions, historical/contemporary social movements. Examination of ethical issues in context of such topics as the relationship between church and state; evolution of a totalitarian government into a democratic state; reproductive rights; struggle against corruption in education, finance, police; role of censorship; views of citizenship, patriotism, valor, and treason; historical perspectives on prison camps, abuses of psychiatry. Offered in the Duke in Russia Program. Instructor consent required.

RUSSIAN401 - Advanced Russian
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 401
Title: Advanced Russian
Description: Intensive exposure to Russian word formation with an emphasis on the students' refinement of oral and written language skills. Development of discourse strategies and writing style through textual analysis, compositions and essays. Taught in Russian. Prerequisite: Russian 302S or consent of instructor.

RUSSIAN401A - Advanced Russian
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 401A
Title: Advanced Russian
Description: Intensive exposure to Russian word formation with an emphasis on the students' refinement of oral and written language skills. Development of discourse strategies and writing style through textual analysis, compositions and essays. Taught in Russian. Prerequisite: Russian 302S or consent of instructor.

RUSSIAN402 - Advanced Russian: Readings, Translation, and Syntax
Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 402
Title: Advanced Russian: Readings, Translation, and Syntax
Description: Intensive reading and conversation with emphasis on the analysis of twentieth century Russian literary and culture texts. Russian media, including television and films. Prerequisite: Russian 401 or consent of instructor.
RUSSIAN402A - Advanced Russian: Readings, Translation, and Syntax

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 402A
Title: Advanced Russian: Readings, Translation, and Syntax

Description:
Intensive reading and conversation with emphasis on the analysis of twentieth century Russian literary and culture texts. Russian media, including television and films. Prerequisite: Russian 401 or consent of instructor.

RUSSIAN407 - Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 407
Title: Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History

Description:
This course traces economic factors leading to the downfall of the Russian Empire and the rise of the USSR, followed by an assessment of the collapse of the USSR. Particular attention is devoted to the NEP period, earlier Soviet economic models, the famine of the 1930s, the impact of WWII, industrialization and urbanization, Soviet planning, and declining productivity growth and life expectancy in the 1970s and 1980s. The course then explores the economic consequences of the USSR’s collapse as well as the nature of recovery in various countries that followed. The course concludes with an overview of formal political economy models. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and (Economics 208D or 204D, either of which can be taken concurrently).

RUSSIAN407D - Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 407D
Title: Soviet and Post-Soviet Economic History

Description:
This course traces economic factors leading to the downfall of the Russian Empire and the rise of the USSR, followed by an assessment of the collapse of the USSR. Particular attention is devoted to the NEP period, earlier Soviet economic models, the famine of the 1930s, the impact of WWII, industrialization and urbanization, Soviet planning, and declining productivity growth and life expectancy in the 1970s and 1980s. The course then explores the economic consequences of the USSR’s collapse as well as the nature of recovery in various countries that followed. The course concludes with an overview of formal political economy models. Prerequisite: Economics 201D and (Economics 208D or 204D, either of which can be taken concurrently).

RUSSIAN410 - Leadership in International Relations

Subject: RUSSIAN
Catalog Number: 410
Title: Leadership in International Relations

Description:
Course analyzes the impact political leaders have on international relations by examining case studies of specific decisions dealing with events of international importance over the past 3 decades, including the Cold War; the Falklands War; the unification of Germany; the Gulf War; the Soviet Union collapse; restoring Russian power, the decision to invade Iraq. Considers styles of leadership by American and Russian presidents and provides a basis for comparing the styles of other leaders analyzed. Considers such questions as similarities/differences in qualities of leadership in different societies, extent to which leaders are victims of circumstance, and degree to which decisions can change things.
RUSSIAN415 - U.S-Russia Relations: 1991-2016

Subject | RUSSIAN
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 415
Title | U.S-Russia Relations: 1991-2016
Description
A survey of relations of United States with Russian Federation since break-up of the Soviet Union. Examines government policies, agreements and disagreements in foreign policy, internal political and economic developments in both countries, and also public opinion, cultural relations, and role of mass media. Lectures, readings (including source documents), and final research paper.

RUSSIAN433S - Soviet Life through the Camera's Lens

Subject | RUSSIAN
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 433S
Title | Soviet Life through the Camera's Lens
Description
An in-depth look at images and representations of Soviet life through Soviet and Russian film. Film texts include films shown in theatres, television films and forbidden films/films with a very limited distribution. Emphasis on the period from the mid-1970s through 1991. Course taught in Russian. Prerequisite: Russian 301S or equivalent or consent of instructor.

RUSSIAN438AS - Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Subject | RUSSIAN
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 438AS
Title | Neuroscience and Multilingualism
Description
In-depth analysis of PET, fMRI, MEG, EEG/ERP studies of multilingualism and their implications for linguistic theory. A close examination of the neuroanatomical and neurophysiological aspects of imaging studies and the importance of neurofunctional explanations play a central role in building new theoretical paradigms of acquisition, maintenance and loss of languages. Offered through Duke in Russia program. Instructor consent required.

RUSSIAN439S - Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Subject | RUSSIAN
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 439S
Title | Neuroscience and Multilingualism
Description
In-depth analysis of PET, fMRI, MEG, EEG/ERP studies of multilingualism and their implications for linguistic theory. A close examination of the neuroanatomical and neurophysiological aspects of imaging studies and the importance of neurofunctional explanations play a central role in building new theoretical paradigms of acquisition, maintenance and loss of languages.

RUSSIAN481 - Living, Dying, Healing in Russia

Subject | RUSSIAN
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 481
Title | Living, Dying, Healing in Russia
Description
Explores ways historical, cultural, political forces shape major moments of the life course and the stories told to make sense of them. Team taught by a professor of literature and a professor of anthropology, focus is on family life, sexuality, childbearing and its prevention; biomedical health care and alternative healing; survival in gulag (concentration camp) conditions; care for the dead and dying and their families. By examining compelling works from a range of genres—short story, ethnographic case study, memoir, and novel—students will learn analytical techniques from both fields, and hone interpretive and writing skills. Knowledge of Russian is not required.

RUSSIAN490 - Special Topics in Russian and American Culture

Subject | RUSSIAN
--- | ---
Catalog Number | 490
Title | Special Topics in Russian and American Culture
Description
Addresses the broad, interdisciplinary issue of identity and otherness while studying specifically what happens when the cultures of Russia and the United States come into contact. Taught in English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN490S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Russian and American Culture</td>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>Seminar version of Russian 490.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN493A</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Russia</td>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>493A</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Russia</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN494</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>494</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN494A</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Russia</td>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>494A</td>
<td>Research Independent Study in Russia</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUSSIAN89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
<td>RUSSIAN</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

RUSSIAN490S - Special Topics in Russian and American Culture

Description
Seminar version of Russian 490.

RUSSIAN493 - Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

RUSSIAN493A - Research Independent Study in Russia

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Instructor consent required.

RUSSIAN494 - Research Independent Study

Description
See Russian 493. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

RUSSIAN494A - Research Independent Study in Russia

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Instructor consent required.

RUSSIAN89S - First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics vary each semester offered but are restricted to the study of literature, linguistics, and culture in the Slavic world.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SANSKRIT</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>Introductory Sanskrit Language and Literature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Introduces classical, literary Sanskrit, the</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>ancient and trans-continental language of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>India's intellectual heritage, history, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>sacred scriptures. Teaches students Devanagari</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>script, to learn and analyze grammatical</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>forms and structures, vocabulary, and to</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>interpret meaning. Provides an overview to the</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>literature and civilizational importance of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Sanskrit, from the ancient past to the present.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SANSKRIT</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Intermediate Sanskrit Grammar and Readings</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Continuation of SANSKRIT 101/Religion 107, as</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>prerequisite. Further learning of grammatical</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>forms and structures of the higher language.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Introduction of elementary readings from</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>literature and scriptures.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SANSKRIT</td>
<td>203</td>
<td>Selected Sanskrit Readings</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This is a reading course building on a prior</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>knowledge of Sanskrit grammar to introduce the</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>skills needed for reading the varieties of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>different kinds of texts found in Sanskrit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>literature including basic scriptural texts in</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>the aphoristic 'sutra' style, more expanded</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Epic or lyric styles of narrative and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>devotional poetry, and the various protocols</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>to be mastered for reading scholastic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>commentaries. The course has as a prerequisite</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>a basic and overall knowledge of Sanskrit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SANSKRIT</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Individual study of language for conducting</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>research involving sources written or spoken</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>in the language. Students have to submit a</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>proposal describing the purported research,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>types of sources to be analyzed, and kinds of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>language knowledge or skills they need to be</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>equipped with. Consent of instructor and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>112FS</td>
<td>Medical Ethics, Aging, and End of Life Care in</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>the US</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Study of medical ethics, policy, clinical, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>personal issues in working with dying and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>bereaved people. Focuses on diverse populations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>in ethnicity, culture, socioeconomic status,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>education, sexual orientation, and more.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Various models for providing care to the dying</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and bereaved. Visits from medical personnel.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Works to be read/viewed may include 'Me, Earl,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>and the Dying Girl,' Charon's 'Narrative</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Medicine,' Gawande's 'Being Mortal,' Tolstoy's</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>'Death of Ivan Ilich,' Kalanithi's 'When</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Breath Becomes Air,' and policy articles on</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>end of life care and physician assisted</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>suicide. Focus Program students only. Service-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Learning course. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>118</td>
<td>Science and the Modern World: Introduction to</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>the History of Science</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course surveys the history of science</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>from the sixteenth century through the present</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>day. It addresses science not just as a body of</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>knowledge and methods but as a cultural</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>activity that has shaped and been shaped by</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>modern global history. Topics will range across</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>physical sciences, life sciences, earth and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>environmental sciences, and social sciences.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>This course takes a global perspective, with</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>emphasis on parallels, differences, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>interconnections among ways of knowing nature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>in different places and times, as well as the</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>role of specific materials, environments,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>technologies, and practical problems in the</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>development of modern science.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SCISOC138FS - Genomics of Host-Microbe Interactions: The Symbiotic Web

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 138FS
Title: Genomics of Host-Microbe Interactions: The Symbiotic Web

Description
Genomic insights into the astonishingly diverse microbial world, including microbes that interact with hosts in beneficial and harmful ways. Dominance of microbes in our own bodies, which contain 10 times more bacterial cells than human cells and 150 times more bacterial genes than human genes. Understanding how microbial interactions have impacted life's history, genome evolution, ecology, and human health. Factors that dictate trajectories toward parasitism versus mutualism, how microbial symbionts respond to environmental change, molecular and cellular mechanisms of homeostasis. Readings will focus on primary articles. Open only to students in the Focus Program.

SCISOC140FS - On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 140FS
Title: On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Description
By studying written and oral storytelling (including news articles, research reports, case histories, speeches, etc.), this course explores arguments for, and critiques of, appealing to stories in the face of suffering—personal and environmental—and starts articulating theological and ethical implications of 'being an engaged witness in the world.' We will listen to historical and contemporary voices that have shaped our views of the world, explore characteristics of pseudoscientific movements that make us squirm, and dig into the apparent and real differences between scientific, experiential, and theological reasoning. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

SCISOC148FS - Evolution, ecology, and genomics of symbiotic interactions

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 148FS
Title: Evolution, ecology, and genomics of symbiotic interactions

Description
Symbiotic interactions are the norm rather than the exception in the natural world, yet species are usually seen and studied independently from each other. Here we explore the symbiotic connectivity among microbes and their hosts, ranging from parasitism to mutualism, by addressing questions at the junction of evolutionary biology, ecology, and genomics. Multidisciplinary research on microbiome model systems often translate to major medical advancements. One main goal of this course is for students to experience how scientists do, and think about, research. Readings will focus on primary research articles.

SCISOC153FS - Drugs and the Law

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 153FS
Title: Drugs and the Law

Description
Exploration of the relationship between addictive drugs and the law. Examine mechanisms by which drugs of abuse affect the brain and decision-making on the individual level, and consequences of those effects on the societal level, then examine how society responds to these behaviors in terms of attitudes and laws. Compare perspectives of the criminal justice system with that of drug users. Class consists of lectures, discussions, guest speakers, and media presentations and a project examining cross-generational views on drug use, abuse, and laws. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>165</td>
<td>SCISOC165 - Introduction to the United States Health Care System</td>
<td>Overview of key health policy issues in the United States. Topics include: (1) sources of morbidity and mortality; (2) access to health care; (3) financing of health care including an overview of how health insurance works, Medicare and Medicaid and why there are uninsured persons and to what effect; (4) health care quality; (5) end-of-life issues and care in advanced stage illness; (6) the role of non-profit versus for-profit ownership of health care facilities and to what effect; (8) long term care and care-giving issues; and (9) the impact of social phenomenon such as income inequality, social class and culture on health care.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>165FS</td>
<td>SCISOC165FS - Cryptography and Society</td>
<td>Introduction to topics in mathematical cryptography, and the role of cryptography within society, in both historic and modern contexts. Cryptographic systems studied will include: early historical ciphers; the Enigma machines of WWII; modern public channel cryptography. Students will learn: to encode/decode using each system; to quantify the complexity, strength, and weaknesses of each system; to use elementary techniques from combinatorics, graph theory, abstract algebra, and number theory; about the role cryptography plays in human society. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>189FS</td>
<td>SCISOC189FS - To Boldly Go! Global Health and the American Way of Engagement</td>
<td>Course examines assumptions and language of Global Health in the US and ethical challenges of cross-cultural engagement. Title comes from Roddenberry's Star Trek (1966); course uses the series to think about technology, exploration, and encounter. We will use texts that examine how culture and power in the US have framed interactions with and control of people inside the US and in other countries, from people carrying contagious disease to women whose bodies represent a threat to a proposed social order. Students will analyze historical documents and images from popular culture and write close analyses identifying the underlying ethical and cultural frameworks in these documents.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>SCISOC190FS - Special Topics in Science and Society</td>
<td>Special Topics for Focus Cluster Opportunities in Science and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SCISOC195FS - Medical Instrumentation in the Developing World (GE)

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number
195FS

Title
Medical Instrumentation in the Developing World (GE)

Description
Medical devices have revolutionized healthcare in the developed world. Yet, this technology revolution has failed to reach the developing world. Compared to the estimated 1.5 million medical devices introduced in the developed world in the last 50 years, only a few dozen pieces of medical equipment have been specifically designed to be appropriate and affordable for resource poor settings. We will examine and discuss the factors that make the research, design & development, introduction & marketing, maintenance and use of medical devices in resource poor settings uniquely challenging conditions. Focus students only.

SCISOC196FS - Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number
196FS

Title
Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Description
In the 1960s, patients appropriated the language and tactics of the civil rights movement to advance clinical and research agendas. Today patient activism is evolving, leading to new solutions, dilemmas, and organizational structures. This course will examine patient and research participant activism and the ways it challenges conventional notions of expertise, amateurism, 'human subjects protections,' and minimization of risk. Students will bring the tools of journalism, anthropology, humanities scholarship, public policy and community engagement/citizen science to bear on ethical and policy questions. Open only to students in the Science & the Public Focus Program cluster. Department consent required.

SCISOC197FS - From Siri to Skynet: Our Complex Relationships with Technology

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number
197FS

Title
From Siri to Skynet: Our Complex Relationships with Technology

Description
From mobile phones to driverless cars, modern high-tech devices have human-facing elements that shape our relationships with technology. Some integrate seamlessly into our daily lives, others frustrate us, and some simply captivate us. Students will investigate the intersection between people and technology to better understand how design can influence performance, safety, and user satisfaction. Topics include design principles; user experience concepts; and an overview of human strengths and limitations influencing interactions with technology. Case studies will include various technologies, including emerging systems such as brain-computer interfaces, robotics and artificial intelligence. Open only to students in Focus program. Department consent required.

SCISOC198FS - Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number
198FS

Title
Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry

Description
Combines a historical survey of science-themed plays with an examination of sci+arts initiatives such as the University of Western Australia’s Symbiotica; the Art & Science Laboratory in New Mexico; and the UK’s Centre for Performance Science. Central course questions: How can performing arts improve public awareness and knowledge about complex scientific ideas and research? What points of view and methods of research do artists bring to scientific inquiry and vice-versa? We will pay particular attention to secondary schools, contemporary art installations, and science museums as public laboratories for experimental, embodied collaborations across the two disciplines. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.
SCISOC199FS - Imagining American Health

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number
199FS

Title
Imagining American Health

Description
How has landmark public policy changed the health landscape in the United States and influenced the way we think and talk about health as a social fact? How has cultural expression both registered these changes and sought to influence law and policy? What debates have played out in public discourse regarding policies that impact health and how can attention to language and narrative literacy help us to understand both the potential and the limits of policy work? This course will explore these interactions between policies that impact health in its social context and cultural expression, focusing on photography, literature, and film.

SCISOC201 - Science, Media, & Perception: How Media Affects Our View of Science

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number 201

Title
Science, Media, & Perception: How Media Affects Our View of Science

Description
Examination of how media affects people’s perception of science. Explore how people consume scientific content and develop their perception, linked to the ‘gap’ between science and the public, and how we make our choices and beliefs; discuss different forms of science communication and media, the effects of media manipulation, and how these impact society; analyze current coverage of breaking scientific topics and public perception; and evaluate the effects these have on people’s perception of science, value judgments, and decision making. Ultimately leading to the development and proposal of guidelines to reduce issues we see regarding media coverage of science.

SCISOC210S - Stigma, Mental Illness and Ethnicity: From News Media and Pop Culture to Policy and Back

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number
210S

Title
Stigma, Mental Illness and Ethnicity: From News Media and Pop Culture to Policy and Back

Description
Stigma associated with mental illness, ethnicity and/or race affects individuals, families, communities and societies. This course offers cultural perspectives on how stigma associated with ethnicity, race and mental illness impacts and is impacted by media and pop culture. The course is designed for undergraduate students interested in understanding the complexity and social implications of stigma through analysis of media and pop culture. Assignments include short essays and podcast production.

SCISOC212FS - Law, Ethics & Responsibility

Subject
SCISOC

Catalog Number
212FS

Title
Law, Ethics & Responsibility

Description
Examines the intersection of law and neuroscience, including the use of neuroimaging to determine if a witness is telling the truth; the implications of neuroscience for determining the mental competency of defendants, the insanity defense, the imposition of punishment on defendants. Considers the extent to which recent advances in brain science cause us to reevaluate fundamental legal concepts of ‘intent,’ ‘insanity,’ and responsibility; the ways in which neuroscience may be applied to these and related issues; and the inherent limitations and incongruities of applying brain science to legal questions.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC226S</td>
<td>226S</td>
<td>Politics of Pandemics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC235</td>
<td>235</td>
<td>Risk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC242S</td>
<td>242S</td>
<td>Bodies at Work</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC256</td>
<td>256</td>
<td>Science and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC258D</td>
<td>258D</td>
<td>Race, Genomics, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC260</td>
<td>260</td>
<td>Magic, Religion, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Science since 1400</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SCISOC226S - Politics of Pandemics

Description

Exploration of social, cultural, historical, and political facets of epidemic disease and widespread health crises. Key concepts of medical anthropological research and writing; reading ethnographic texts alongside journalistic, literary, and policy accounts of disease experiences and institutional responses. Assess scope, scale, and genre associated with representing pandemics. Analyze global case studies of both infectious and chronic diseases.

SCISOC235 - Risk

Description

Simply put, risk is 'the possibility of something bad happening.' Defined in this way, increased attentiveness to risk has the potential to be paralyzing because it is present in nearly every aspect of human existence. This course, organized by the Duke Center on Risk, capitalizes on this ubiquity by bringing together ideas and approaches from all corners of the university. A unifying perspective is the recognition that risk involves elements of both chance ('possibility') and value ('something bad'). Therefore, students will learn the languages of probability and economics within the cultural settings of public policy, law, engineering, business, and medicine.

SCISOC242S - Bodies at Work

Description

This course traces the dynamic relationship between bodies and economies over the course of American history. If disability has been defined as the inability to work, then an exploration of disability necessitates an exploration of capitalism. Moving between disability studies and labor history, students will develop the conceptual tools necessary to understand capitalism through the lens of disability, while also generating new ways to think about disability via critical histories of capitalism. We will also look at how disabled people have pushed back, envisioning new ways of valuing bodies beyond productivity.

SCISOC256 - Science and Society

Description

Core Course for relevant Certificate Track. See Class notes for details.

SCISOC258D - Race, Genomics, and Society

Description

The field of genetics has been at the forefront of discourse concerning the concept of 'race' in humans. This course explores human origins, human variation, human identity, and human health through a broad range of enduring and emerging themes and challenging questions related to race and genetics (and now, genomics) on a global scale. Students will acquire knowledge and skills required for integrative analyses of the relevant scientific, ethical, legal, societal, cultural, and psychosocial issues. Open to students at all levels from any discipline in the arts, humanities, and sciences (natural, social, formal, and applied).

SCISOC260 - Magic, Religion, and Science since 1400

Description

The history of magic and witchcraft in western culture from the Renaissance to the present, with particular attention to the relationship of supernatural beliefs to religion and science. The renewal of magic, astrology, and alchemy in the Renaissance; early modern witch beliefs and the witch hunt; national skepticism in the Enlightenment; modern marginal sciences such as parapsychology; and adaptations of magical beliefs to modern culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.
SCISOC272S - Sexuality and the Law
Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 272S
Title: Sexuality and the Law
Description: This course will introduce students to legal and ethical issues at the intersection of law, gender and sexuality. The course will use interpretive methods used in jurisprudence, as well as conceptual tools developed by feminist, critical race and queer theoreticians to explore such issues as the criminalization of gay sex, the equal protection of all persons regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity, and the role of the state in resolving perceived conflicts between that right to equal protection and the right to religious freedom. The course will take a cross-cultural/multi-jurisdictional comparative approach to these issues.

SCISOC290 - Topics in Science & Society
Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Topics in Science & Society
Description: Topics in science and society. Topics may vary.

SCISOC290S - Special Topics in Genome Sciences
Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Genome Sciences
Description: Topics in genome sciences and policy.

SCISOC293 - Research Independent Study in Science & Society
Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 293
Title: Research Independent Study in Science & Society
Description: Individual research in a Science & Society topic of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the major product of which is a substantive paper or written report containing specific analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Meets the research experience requirement for the Certificate in Science & Society as well as a Research (R) mode of inquiry curriculum requirement. Open to all qualified students with consent of supervising instructor and Director of SS Certificate. May be repeated.

SCISOC293-1 - Research Independent Study in Science & Society
Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 293-1
Title: Research Independent Study in Science & Society
Description: Individual research in a Science & Society topic of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the major product of which is a substantive paper or written report containing specific analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Meets the research experience requirement for the Certificate in Science & Society as well as a Research (R) mode of inquiry curriculum requirement. Open to all qualified students with consent of supervising instructor and Director of Science & Society Certificate.

SCISOC294-1 - Research Independent Study in Science & Society
Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 294-1
Title: Research Independent Study in Science & Society
Description: Individual research in a Science & Society topic of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, the major product of which is a substantive paper or written report containing specific analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Meets the research experience requirement for the Certificate in Science & Society as well as a Research (R) mode of inquiry curriculum requirement. Open to all qualified students with consent of supervising instructor. May be repeated.
SCISOC299L - Introduction to Landscape Archaeology and Cultural Landscapes

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 299L
Title: Introduction to Landscape Archaeology and Cultural Landscapes

Description:
From hunter-gatherer to post-modern network societies, human, animal and plant life and evolution depend on the complex relations and affordances of landscape and environment. Climate change, geomorphology, natural resources, land use, and human settlements are complex and inter-related phenomena that invite multidisciplinary study with different technologies and methodologies. Comparative research on paleo-environments, ancient landscapes, and societies are crucial for understanding the future of landscape and environment.

SCISOC302 - Global Narratives of Illness and Disability

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 302
Title: Global Narratives of Illness and Disability

Description:
The humanities help us learn more about the global experiences of people living with illness and disability. Using a global health humanities approach, we study illness and disability through biography, poetry, blogs, and art created by patients, families, friends, doctors, and caregivers. We look beyond data to find meaning through documentaries, theories of representation, and illness narratives. We explore different illness experiences, such as HIV/AIDS and Ebola; different disabilities, such as physical and cognitive; different gender identities and ages; and different locations, such as South Africa, West Africa, Papua New Guinea, Brazil, Haiti, and rural and urban USA.

SCISOC303 - Rise of Modern Science: Newton to Einstein

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 303
Title: Rise of Modern Science: Newton to Einstein

Description:
See History 302.

SCISOC341 - Ethics of Global Infectious Disease Control

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 341
Title: Ethics of Global Infectious Disease Control

Description:
Examination of the role of ethical decision-making when controlling infectious disease epidemics. Applies classic public health ethics of balancing individual liberty vs. public good to the new global health context of emerging infectious diseases such as HIV/AIDS, Ebola, and SARS, plus re-emerging infectious diseases such as multidrug-resistant TB, polio, and cholera. Explores questions of resource allocation, mandatory or voluntary prevention measures, and ethical obligations of health care workers vs. responsibilities of individuals in the context of new global public health. Prior global health coursework recommended.
SCISOC360S - The Environment in Literature, Law, and Science

Description
This class explores changing concepts of 'environment' and 'nature' in lit, law & policy, & science. Using the Duke Campus Farm, the campus, & surrounding areas, we trace those changes across historical periods and cultures, culminating in a consideration of the dismantling of Black Durham (red lining, 147) & the emergence of the Environmental Justice Movement (in Warren County, NC). We explore how those concepts are constructed through science, law & policy, & cultural forms, how those concepts shape our lived experience, & how an understanding of that process might lead to more productive debates in science, law & policy, & ethics, & to constructive social and environmental change.

SCISOC369 - History of Public Health in America

Description
The role of epidemic diseases such as smallpox, cholera, yellow fever, tuberculosis, and polio in shaping public health policy in the United States from the colonial era to World War II.

SCISOC371 - Feast and Famine: Food in Global History

Description
Surveys history of food in global history, beginning with paleolithic and ending with modern era. Focuses on food quality and quantity as a factor in determining health, including problems of global health disparities, food insecurity, and obesity. Topics include the impact of food exchanges across continents and cultures, discovery of vitamins and vitamin deficiencies, growth and impact of food industries, and the rise of diseases of plenty, such as type 2 diabetes.

SCISOC380S - The Scientific Revolution

Description
Study emergence of modern physical sciences as leading means for understanding the natural world; read primary documents from Copernicus, Kepler, Galileo, Descartes, Boyle, Hooke and Newton; learn how past science shaped the modern world; learn how history of science enables understanding of 21st-century science.

SCISOC386S - Science Fiction Film

Description
This class will study science fiction film from 1950 to the present. Discussions will be organized around the relationship between scientific and technological innovation and social and geopolitical transformation: how, for example, the threats of nuclear war and the exhaustion of environmental resources, discoveries in virology and genetics, and the innovations in cybernetics and artificial intelligence all intersect with decolonization and global development, race relations, and new social and geopolitical configurations. We will explore how science fiction film registers and responds to the uncertainties of a changing world: to changing conceptions of the human and of life.

SCISOC390 - Advanced Topics in Science & Society

Description
Topics vary each semester.
SCISOC390-1 - Lectures on Special Topics in Science & Society

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 390-1
Title: Lectures on Special Topics in Science & Society

Description:
The course will look to explore how the topics of bioethics and technology are integrated into our everyday life. The course will aim to bring in experts from different fields to discuss how these areas affect society as a whole. Additionally, students will play a role in leading class discussions by presenting information to the class, and bringing in others to speak.

SCISOC390A - Special Topics in Science and Society

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Special Topics in Science and Society

Description:
Special Topics Class used for Study Away Programs.

SCISOC390S - Special Topics in Science & Society

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in Science & Society

Description:
Topics will vary.

SCISOC417S - Genetic Engineering and Biotechnology

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 417S
Title: Genetic Engineering and Biotechnology

Description:
Applications of recombinant DNA in medicine and in agriculture. Topics include diagnosis of genetic diseases, gene therapy, drugs for AIDS and cancer, DNA fingerprinting, cloning of mammals, phytoremediation, crop improvement, and pharmaceutical protein production in transgenic plants and animals. Social and environmental impacts of biotechnology. Recommended prerequisite: Biology 201L, 203L, or 220, or lab experience or consent of instructor.

SCISOC439S - Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 439S
Title: Neuroscience and Multilingualism

Description:
In-depth analysis of PET, fMRI, MEG, EEG/ERP studies of multilingualism and their implications for linguistic theory. A close examination of the neuroanatomical and neurophysiological aspects of imaging studies and the importance of neurofunctional explanations play a central role in building new theoretical paradigms of acquisition, maintenance and loss of languages.

SCISOC490 - Special Topics in Genome Sciences

Subject: SCISOC
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Special Topics in Genome Sciences

Description:
Topics in genome sciences and policy.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>498S</td>
<td>Science &amp; Society Capstone</td>
<td>Create and apply knowledge gained through certificate course work and research experiences in an intensive, interdisciplinary, small group setting. Students work in small teams learning to analyze current issues in science and society and to consider the issue from scientific, social, and ethical perspectives, often for the benefit of a real-world client. Teams will present their research as an oral and/or written final project. Open only to graduating seniors in the Science and Society program or by consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCISOC</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First Year Seminar Topics in Science and Society</td>
<td>First Year Seminar Topics in Science and Society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>190A</td>
<td>Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>215FS</td>
<td>The Politics of Language</td>
<td>Examines the political role of language in societies as diverse as China, India, the former Soviet Union, the UK and the US. Looks at how state and non-state actors influence citizens' language practices, and their beliefs about language. Drawing on political theory, sociology and sociolinguistics, we look at how language policies reflect and produce sociopolitical realities. Topics covered include migration, citizenship, nationalism and decolonization. Open to students in the Focus Program only.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>237</td>
<td>Russia in the World: From Cold War to Putin's Wars</td>
<td>Traces evolution of Russian Federation foreign policy from the collapse of the Soviet Union at the beginning of the 1990s to the 2022 war in Ukraine. Examines elements of Russian grand strategy: military, economic (especially oil and gas), and diplomatic tools. Explores the role of one individual, President Vladimir Putin, in shaping policy in an increasingly autocratic state. Focuses on Russia’s relations with its neighbors, former allies, Europe, and the wider world, including the United States. Identifies linkages between domestic politics and events and foreign policy. Assignments focus on translating historical knowledge into actionable policy advice to meet current challenges.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>240S</td>
<td>Around the Bloc: Cold War Culture in the USSR and Eastern Europe</td>
<td>Drawing on oral and written history, memoirs, film, fiction, and essays in anthropology and sociology, we’ll resist the black/white readings imposed by the Iron Curtain and explore the dreams, fears, ethical concerns, cultural trends, and lifestyles of Cold War baby boomers in the USSR, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Romania. Highlighted topics include: the privileges and discontents of postwar youth, the atomic age and its mutations, adventures in socialist consumer culture, gender politics and real life, making art about the socialist state of the absurd. All texts in English translation, films screened with English subtitles.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES267S</td>
<td>2675</td>
<td>Global Cold War</td>
<td>Traditional narratives of the Cold War focus on a bi-polar series of conflicts that pit the United States against the Soviet Union in a good-versus-evil battle for global political and military supremacy. This course destabilizes this account of a process that affected every continent on earth – and even reached into space – over the period of more than half a century. It explores the Cold War from East-West, North-South, global, and interstellar perspectives. In addition to political and military issues, the course will also discuss the Cold War in social, cultural, intellectual, and economic spheres.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES270</td>
<td>270</td>
<td>Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage</td>
<td>When the Cold War erupted in the wake of World War II, filmmakers were poised to screen it as propaganda, entertainment (thriller, horror, science fiction), and morally reflective realism. This course explores the films/television series produced on both sides of the Iron Curtain as well as those made after the Cold War (post-1989). Discussion will focus on ethical justifications and critiques of espionage; the characterizations of the spy and those spied on, and the interactions between these protagonists; and the changing aesthetics of screening espionage.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES279FS</td>
<td>279FS</td>
<td>Turkey: Muslim and Modern</td>
<td>Turkish history from the 18th century to the present. Turkey as strategic ally of the US; candidate for membership in European Union; first Muslim country to adopt democracy, secularism, and Westernization, and as political, cultural, and economic model for other Muslim countries. Focus on Turkish people’s encounter with modernity as Muslims; questions about contradictions and promises of Muslim and modern experience; informed consideration of Islam’s encounter with the West. No prerequisites. No knowledge of Turkish required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES279S</td>
<td>279S</td>
<td>Turkey: Muslim and Modern</td>
<td>Turkish history from the 18th century to the present. Turkey as strategic ally of the US; candidate for membership in European Union; first Muslim country to adopt democracy, secularism, and Westernization, and as political, cultural, and economic model for other Muslim countries. Focus on Turkish people’s encounter with modernity as Muslims; questions about contradictions and promises of Muslim and modern experience; informed consideration of Islam’s encounter with the West. No prerequisites. No knowledge of Turkish required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES287</td>
<td>287</td>
<td>The Turks: From Ottoman Empire to European Union</td>
<td>Readings in cultural history and literature to examine transformations in Turkish identity from the Ottoman era to EU accession. Discussion of the ‘gazi thesis’, the ‘sultanate of women’, religious tolerance (millet), conversion, modernity and nationalism. Secondary topics include Sufism, Islam, gender, and historiography. Interdisciplinary focus. Taught in English.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES288S</td>
<td>288S</td>
<td>Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century</td>
<td>Examines the major thematic focus of East European filmmakers in the 21st century: their efforts to reconstruct and reassess the experience of the Cold War (1945-1989) and the Yugoslav wars (1991-1995). These films from the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Croatia, and Serbia include ironic/sentimental tales of Cold War childhood, thrillers about sleeping with the enemy (political informers), and psychological dramas centering on political trauma, resistance, and compromise. All films shown with English subtitles.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SES290 - Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies

Subject: SES
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies
Description: Subject varies from semester to semester.

SES290A - Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies

Subject: SES
Catalog Number: 290A
Title: Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies
Description: Subject varies from semester to semester.

SES290A-1 - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Turkish Studies

Subject: SES
Catalog Number: 290A-1
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Turkish Studies
Description: Special Topics in Turkish Studies. Topics vary by course or section. Consent of department required.

SES290S - Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies

Subject: SES
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies
Description: Subject varies from semester to semester.

SES356 - The Russian Empire

Subject: SES
Catalog Number: 356
Title: The Russian Empire
Description: Russian imperial history from Peter the Great to Bolshevik Revolution: 1700-1917. Focus on formation and governance of multiethnic and multiconfessional Russian empire. Traces expansion of land-locked city state (Muscovy) into world power ruling from Eastern Europe to Alaska. Questions implications of Russia's world-power status. Examines institutions of governance that created this empire and held its various ethnic, religious and ideological groups together for centuries. Readings of English translations of works of Russian literature and historiographic analyses aimed at developing a sound grounding in Russian imperial history and culture.

SES370S - Islam in Asia

Subject: SES
Catalog Number: 370S
Title: Islam in Asia
Description: Focus on the northern tier of Muslim-inhabited lands. The early spread of Islam among continental Asia's non-Arab peoples. The evolution of Muslim religious and cultural institutions under Mongol, Central Asian, Russian and Chinese empires. Asian Muslim encounters with European modernity and experience of Muslims under and after Soviet/Chinese socialist regimes.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>373S</td>
<td>SES373S - Between Moscow, Beijing and Delhi: Narratives of Europe and Asia</td>
<td>Exercise in reconstructing Eurasian history from the 13th century Mongol invasions to post-Soviet era through critical reading of eyewitness accounts—travel notes and memoirs. Reflects on political, religious, and cultural evolution, expansion, and rivalry as well as cross-cultural and trans-regional exchange.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>375S</td>
<td>SES375S - Social Engineering and Social Movements in Eastern Europe and Asia</td>
<td>Combining perspectives of political sociology and history, this course questions the respective roles of state policies and social movements in transforming societies. Explores concepts such as social engineering, violence, revolution, totalitarianism, social movements, non-violent resistance, collective action and many others in historically-informed case studies of: colonialism/anticolonial movements (passive resistance and nationalism) in India; revolutionary communism, socialist reconstruction of society, everyday resistance and collective dissent in the Soviet Bloc; authoritarian capitalism and dissent in the form of environmentalist and anti-corruption movements in post-Maoist China.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>385</td>
<td>SES385 - Language and Society</td>
<td>Course examines language as a social practice, focusing on different aspects of its role in social life. Topics addressed include: language and social identity, such as ethnicity, social class, age, and gender; variation in language, including dialects, accents, and registers; multilingualism and language contact; new languages such as pidgins and creoles; language, culture, and intercultural communication; language and ideology; language in education and in the media. Through the discussion of these topics and homework including reading and small research projects, students are introduced to key concepts, theories, and methods in sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>388S</td>
<td>SES388S - Illiberal Nondemocracies: Focus on Eastern Europe and Asia</td>
<td>As of 2016, only 11% of the countries in the world are liberal democracies. Some insight about how illiberal regimes function is a must to understand what is going on in the world. In this course, we explore illiberal and/or nondemocratic regimes of Eastern Europe and Asia—a perfect laboratory for the subject. We develop nuanced ideas about key concepts such as elections, representation, party rule, dictatorship, populism, patronalism, authoritarianism, and totalitarianism as well as the dilemmas of freedom, security, corruption, and development. We study the regimes of countries such as Hungary, Russia, Turkey, China and follow the news to see how political regimes evolve in real time.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SES396S - Language in Immigrant America

Description
Discussion of issues of language in the context of immigration in the United States, from the turn of the 20th century until the present, combining approaches from literature, memoirs, language policy, media studies, and linguistic anthropology. Some fieldwork in an immigrant community. Topics include: identity, assimilation, race, bilingual communities, bilingual education, foreign accents, language contact.

SES420S - Capstone Seminar: Russia-USSR-Russia: History of Communism

Description
The seminar offers an in-depth engagement with Russian modern history. Starting in the late 19th century, the seminar examines the formation of Russian Communist movement and communist regime as national and transnational phenomena of the 20th Century. A comparative perceptive allows students to analyze Russian appropriations of Marxist theory, the Russian Revolution, the making of the Stalinist state, de-Stalinization of the post-World War II period in the context of European and US labor movements and socialist experimentations, on the one hand, and anti-Communist sentiments and Cold War politics, on the other, while engaging with ethical issues raised by conflicting perspectives on the value and meaning of freedom and happiness and the means of achieving it.

SES423S - City Stories, Eastern Europe: Prague, Warsaw, Budapest, Sarajevo

Description
Explores the multicultural histories, landmarks, and architectural styles of these four major European capitals. Drawing on paintings, photos, films, histories, memoirs, and fiction, we’ll trace the aesthetic, religious, and political imprints of overlapping empires—Hapsburg, Russian, Ottoman, and Soviet—on these fascinating cities; consider how their urban communities accommodated influential religious minorities (Jews, Muslims, Christians); and study the roles they played in their respective nations. All readings in English translation and films screened with English subtitles.

SES433S - Soviet Life through the Camera's Lens

Description
An in-depth look at images and representations of Soviet life through Soviet and Russian film. Film texts include films shown in theatres, television films and forbidden films/films with a very limited distribution. Emphasis on the period from the mid-1970s through 1991. Course taught in Russian. Prerequisite: Russian 301S or equivalent or consent of instructor.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SES</td>
<td>468S</td>
<td>Capstone Seminar: Literature &amp; Terrorism</td>
<td>Explores the manner in which terrorism has been depicted in literature. Emphasis on novels written primarily by Russian writers in the 19th and early 20th centuries when that country experienced waves of political violence unmatched elsewhere in the Western world and writers sought to grapple with the meaning of the violence in vivid and imaginative ways. Readings include: 'The Secret Agent' by Joseph Conrad, 'The Devils' by Fedor Dostoevsky, 'Mother' by Maxim Gorky, and 'Petersburg' by Andrei Belyi.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| SES     | 484S           | Language and Politics: Global Perspectives | We will never speak a single language, or agree on the best way to organize society and politics for 'the good life.' How do macro-politics affect the language(s) we choose to speak? What public policy initiatives can be deployed so that language is an accessible resource for all? Are there such things as language rights, and how can they be distributed and defended? These questions are not just academic, but essential to understanding the world(s) that we inhabit. This course takes a global and historical approach to the politics of language, examining the relationships between language, society, and the state. |

| SES     | 490           | Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies | Subject varies from semester to semester. |

| SES     | 490S          | Special Topics in Slavic and Eurasian Studies | Subject varies every semester. |

| SES     | 491           | Independent Study | Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Instructor consent required. |

| SOCIOL  | 110           | Sociological Inquiry | Introduction to social networks, groups, organizations and institutions with a focus on the contemporary US. The impact of technology on social interaction and cultural change. Investigation of cultural and social construction of individual characteristics (e.g., race, gender) as well as of scientific and professional standards. Ethical controversies surrounding health care, education, income inequality, and related topics. Course will help prepare students for the social and behavioral science portion of the MCAT exam. |
SOCIOL125FS - Languages, Margins, Borders: Representations, Practices, and Policies

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 125FS
Title: Languages, Margins, Borders: Representations, Practices, and Policies

Description: Examines the relationships between language and contemporary migration patterns that, directly or indirectly, affect millions of people across the globe, focusing especially on migration flows related to humanitarian challenges. Divided into three key themes, it analyzes the representation of migrants and migration in media and culture; language practices of migrants, including translanguaging and language learning; and policies towards migrants and their languages that pertain to governance in linguistically diverse societies. Interdisciplinary in approach, readings are drawn from linguistic anthropology and sociolinguistics, as well as political sociology and public policy studies.

SOCIOL140FS - On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 140FS
Title: On Suffering: How Science and Stories Shape Us

Description: By studying written and oral storytelling (including news articles, research reports, case histories, speeches, etc.), this course explores arguments for, and critiques of, appealing to stories in the face of suffering—personal and environmental—and starts articulating the ethical implications of ‘being an engaged witness in the world.’ We will listen to historical and contemporary voices that have shaped our views of the world, explore characteristics of pseudoscientific movements that make us squirm, and dig into the apparent and real differences between scientific, experiential, and theological reasoning. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

SOCIOL148S - Empires in Modern European History

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 148S
Title: Empires in Modern European History

Description: An introduction to political theories of imperialism and a comparative historical analysis of several European empires. Explores questions of nationalism, race, religious pluralism, state formation, globalization, and international governance. Readings drawn from history, sociology, anthropology, and political science.

SOCIOL151S - Sports and Society

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 151S
Title: Sports and Society

Description: This course will examine the giant role that sports play in the modern world. It will explore the history of sports in the U.S. and worldwide, and the role of forces like race, gender, mythmaking, economics, and fan cultures in a variation of games from soccer to basketball and football.

SOCIOL160 - Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 160
Title: Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Description: History and development of commercial advertising; advertising as a reflector and/or creator of social and cultural values; advertisements as cultural myths; effects on children, women, and ethnic minorities; advertising and language; relation to political and economic structure; and advertising and world culture. Emphasis on American society complemented by case studies of advertising in Canada, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Western Europe, and selected other countries.

SOCIOL160D - Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 160D
Title: Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Description: Same as Cultural Anthropology 170 except instruction is provided in lecture and discussion group each week.
SOCIOL167S - Gateway Seminar: Nationalism: Ideology, Technology, Globalization

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 167S
Title: Gateway Seminar: Nationalism: Ideology, Technology, Globalization

Description

What is a nation? What is a nation state? Is the nation state still a useful unit of government today? The goal of this seminar is to teach you theoretical and methodological tools and historical examples to critically think about nationalism in globalization. Readings include primary sources, classic theories on nationalism, fresh arguments from sociology and anthropology. The historical and contemporary case studies include American, Middle Eastern, South Asian, and European examples.

---

SOCIOL171 - Business Anthropology: Anthropologists in the Workplace

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 171
Title: Business Anthropology: Anthropologists in the Workplace

Description

Introduces students to the various applications of anthropological theory and ethnographic method in contemporary institutional settings with the aim of familiarizing students with alternative career opportunities. The course looks at corporate and other private and public-sector use cases as well as the extensive literatures in the fields of organizational management, user, and consumer experience. Students also engage professionals in order to better understand processes of research, hypothesis testing, analysis, and the formulation of organizational management, design, and other strategic solutions for clients.

---

SOCIOL172 - The Anthropology of Design and User Experience (UX) Research

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 172
Title: The Anthropology of Design and User Experience (UX) Research

Description

The field of design and the burgeoning field of User Experience (UX) research has recently applied the methods anthropologists have used for over a century. The methods of cultural anthropology are distinctly aligned to ask questions about motivations, beliefs, values, and relationships within cultural systems through direct participant observation, surveys, focus groups, and archival research. Privileging critical listening, empathy, and perspective-taking, we try to discern why people do what they do, and apply these questions to human-centered design.

---

SOCIOL173S - The Ways and Wisdom of First-Gen College Students

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 173S
Title: The Ways and Wisdom of First-Gen College Students

Description

This course examines the experience of first-generation college students, including their unique challenges, strategies, observations, and analyses. It is intended equally for students of all backgrounds and will, through the ethnographic method, train students in empathetic listening and participant-observation, as well as socially contextualized and cross-culturally comparative analysis.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>176FS</td>
<td>Identity, Action, and Emotion</td>
<td>Uses mathematical models to describe how people import cultural meanings into social interactions. Explains how people maintain identities in role relationships and group interactions. Explores a theory of how people perform normal institutional roles, respond to odd situations, and try to feel good about themselves. Uses computer simulations to model self, identity and emotional processes. Involves reading academic literature, collecting evidence, giving research presentations, and writing a research proposal. Teaches how to think scientifically about routine and unexpected parts of everyday life.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>178FS</td>
<td>Refugees, Rights, and Resettlement</td>
<td>35 million refugees and internally displaced persons in the world. A comparative historical overview of international refugee policy and law dealing with this growing population. Students will grapple with the ethical challenges posed by humanitarian intervention on behalf of refugees and the often unintended consequences of such policies. Students examine case studies to determine how different models for dealing with refugee resettlement affect the life chances of refugees. Service-learning course. Students will work with refugees from Bhutan, Burma and Iraq recently resettled in Durham. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>179FS</td>
<td>Visualizing Society</td>
<td>This class will teach you how to use modern, widely-used tools to create insightful, beautiful, reproducible visualizations of social science data. We will also put the theory and practice of visualization into context throughout the semester. By that I mean that we will think about different ways of looking at social science data, about where data comes from in the first place, and the implications of choosing to represent it in different ways. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>180S</td>
<td>Society, the Self, and the Natural World</td>
<td>Exploration of changing and/or contrasting perceptions, studying how our perceptions are conditioned by the times we live in and reigning assumptions of our societies. Three course components taught by faculty in each discipline including: exploration of perceptions of the self through the arts, the changing role of women in society, and examination of science and society conflicts. Open only to Baldwin Scholars. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>190FS</td>
<td>Topics in Focus Program</td>
<td>Open only to students in the Focus Program. Current list of courses available in the Focus program brochure and online.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Seminar in Special Topics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SOCIOL190S-1 - Seminar in Special Topics

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 190S-1
Title: Seminar in Special Topics

Description: Half-credit version of Sociology 190S.

SOCIOL195 - Critical Approaches to Global Issues

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 195
Title: Critical Approaches to Global Issues

Description: Introduction to critical transnational studies through several disciplinary approaches. Examines capitalism and neo-liberal globalization and their relationships to culture, politics, economics, and other social forms and outcomes; considers transnationalism 'from below'; addresses linear and Western-centric thinking about progress and modernity; focuses a historical lens on political discourses, institutions, and projects to understand them contextually; demonstrates how cultures and identities are dynamically constituted in interaction with historical, material, political, and situational factors; considers how different inequalities and contestations inflect most social formations.

SOCIOL196FS - Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 196FS
Title: Patient and Research Participant Activism and Advocacy

Description: In the 1960s, patients appropriated the language and tactics of the civil rights movement to advance clinical and research agendas. Today patient activism is evolving, leading to new solutions, dilemmas, and organizational structures. This course will examine patient and research participant activism and the ways it challenges conventional notions of expertise, amateurism, 'human subjects protections,' and minimization of risk. Students will bring the tools of journalism, anthropology, humanities scholarship, public policy and community engagement/citizen science to bear on ethical and policy questions. Open only to students in the Science & the Public Focus Program cluster. Department consent required.

SOCIOL197FS - Freedom and the Market

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 197FS
Title: Freedom and the Market

Description: Introduces students to three ethically distinct perspectives on the market using approaches in political philosophy from the right, left and center; explores the works of political theorists and economists such as Robert Nozick, Milton Friedman, John Maynard Keynes, Frederick Hayes and Amartya Sen; examines the ethical stances that these authors take; explores contemporary media to see how the former thinkers have influenced current debate; examines examples of when the free market fails and discuss if, when and how government should respond; investigates how culture influences the market and how globalization has either enhanced or reduced individual freedom. Open only to Focus Program students.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>202</td>
<td>Race, Power, and Identity: From Ali to Kaepernick</td>
<td>Exploration of historic and contemporary psycho-social and socio-cultural aspects of the African American sport experience. Examination of research that addresses the effect of physical differences, racial stereotyping, identity development, gender issues, and social influences on African American sport participation patterns. Analysis of sport as a microcosm of society with an emphasis on examining associated educational and societal issues.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>208S</td>
<td>Transnational Feminism</td>
<td>Explore feminist projects and approaches that cross a variety of borders. Under what conditions is solidarity across difference and inequality possible? This seminar examines this and other questions using relevant theories, film, and scholarship. Topics include activism, human rights, development, capitalism, war/militarization, racism, embodiment, and health. Assigned readings and films largely focus on the Global South but situate the Global North within circuits and relationships. The professor guides each student in preparing an original research paper on a relevant topic of interest to the student.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>210</td>
<td>Contemporary Social Problems</td>
<td>Comparative analysis of social problems across historical periods, nations, and social groups by gender, race/ethnicity, social class, and culture. Major topics: deviant behavior, social conflict and inequality, human progress and social change. Emphasis on research issues, especially how and to what degree the understanding of social problems is a direct result of the inductive processes used to define social problems and the research methods and procedures used to investigate them.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>211</td>
<td>Social Inequality</td>
<td>The nature, forms, and socioeconomic bases of inequality. Age, gender, race, ethnicity, class, region, and family as dimensions of inequality. Variations in the structure of inequality over time and across nations. How educational institutions, economic development, work institutions, and state welfare programs affect the shape of inequality. Social inequality and social mobility.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>215</td>
<td>Sociology of Racism in America</td>
<td>Examines social history of major racial groups in the US and relationships to contemporary standing. Discusses central concepts sociologists use to analyze racial matters. Central theme: 'racism' is not mere 'prejudice,' 'ignorance,' or 'intolerance,' but a comprehensive historical system of racial domination organized around the logic of white supremacy. Discussion of 'whiteness' in the USA—how whiteness emerged as a social category, an identity based on experiences of variety of European 'peoples'; how it dominated the racial structure of the US since the 17th century, how wealth has been distributed along racial lines, racialization of Asians and Latinos, and color blind racism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>217S</td>
<td>Introduction to Digital Feminism</td>
<td>The aim of this course is to critically analyze digital culture from a feminist and gender studies perspective. We will address topics related to digital innovation and its history, unpacking and questioning them through the insights offered by genders studies analytical tools. Subjects such as the rise of the Silicon Valley, gaming culture, social media, algorithms, Artificial Intelligence, extraction of data applied to biotechnology, macroeconomic development of IT platforms and the impact of technology on ecology will be discussed starting from a current event or debate, to which we will give a historical, ethical, sociological, theoretical, literary or cinematographic perspective.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SOCIOL218 - Sex, Gender, and Society

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

SOCIOL219 - Juvenile Delinquency

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>219</td>
<td>Juvenile Delinquency</td>
<td>The concept and measurement of delinquency and status offending; trends and patterns in the delinquency rate. Theoretical models used to explain the onset of delinquent behavior; environmental and individual correlates of delinquency such as gender, race, and social class; influence of families, delinquent subcultures, gangs, schools, and drugs; history of juvenile justice and the philosophy and practice of today's juvenile justice system; legal and ethical issues such as major court decisions on juveniles' rights, the use of detention, and transfer to adult court; models of sentencing, juvenile incarceration, and community treatment programs and their efficacy.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SOCIOL220 - Causes of Crime

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>220</td>
<td>Causes of Crime</td>
<td>The field of criminology and its most basic concepts: the definition of crime, the component areas of criminology, the history of criminology, criminological research methods, and the ethical issues that confront the field. The nature, extent, and patterns of crime, including victimization. Evaluation of criminological theories, including: biological, psychological, sociological, and cultural deviance theories; criminal behavior including violent crime, property crime, white-collar and organized crime, public order crimes, sex offenses, and substance abuse; the justice process, including police, courts, and corrections; the policy implications of criminological research.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SOCIOL221 - Eastern Europe in Transition: Markets, Media, and the Mafia

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

SOCIOL222 - Inequalities in the US Criminal Justice System

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>222</td>
<td>Inequalities in the US Criminal Justice System</td>
<td>Overview of the inner workings and ethics of the US criminal justice process, including criminal legislation, police procedures, courts, and corrections. Explores case studies, empirical research, film, theories, and policies to understand and evaluate how values, culture, and the distribution of power and resources in the United States shape its punishment regime. Focuses on class, gender, ethnic, racial, nationality, and age inequalities in the justice system.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SOCIOL223 - Data Analytics and Visualization for Business

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>223</td>
<td>Data Analytics and Visualization for Business</td>
<td>This course gives students hands-on experience working with and analyzing data. The overarching objective is to learn to use basic statistics and quantitative modeling to understand the large amount of data that are available today.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SOCIOL225 - Intimate Inequalities: The State of American Families

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 225
Title: Intimate Inequalities: The State of American Families

Description:
Most people grow up in families, but few know much about them. Taken for granted beliefs that marriages should be based on love, that heterosexuality is an obvious identity, and that mothers want to care for their children, are recent inventions. Gender, social class, and racial inequalities within and across families. Course focuses on changes over time in family structures and roles. How families experience and generate inequality.

SOCIOL227 - Leadership and Collaboration

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 227
Title: Leadership and Collaboration

Description:
Leadership is essential to the success of groups, organizations, and societies. To be effective, leaders must possess a clear understanding of human behavior and social processes. This course is an introduction to the study of leadership from the perspective of the social sciences. We will draw on a range of social science research to address key questions about the process and practice of collaborative leadership and followership. The goal of the course is to not only expose students to the empirical study of leadership and followership but also stimulate them to think critically about human behavior.

SOCIOL228 - Incarceration and Inequality in the United States

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 228
Title: Incarceration and Inequality in the United States

Description:
Investigates the causes, consequences, experience and potential transformation of US prisons, jails, and detention centers. Stimulates critical thought, discussion, and research on alternative ethical positions on criminal justice policies, such as immigration detention, the war on drugs, prison privatization and mandatory sentencing, which have created and maintain the unequal distribution of mass incarceration. Examines the US carceral state as an institution of stratification that exacerbates social problems it is charged with tackling, prevents social mobility for the most marginalized, and solidifies disadvantages based on age, class, gender, race, ethnicity, sexuality, and citizenship.

SOCIOL230 - Just Laws: Inequalities in the U.S. Legal System

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 230
Title: Just Laws: Inequalities in the U.S. Legal System

Description:
Introduction to the study of law as a social institution. Investigates how legal rules reflect and shape historical contexts, ethical values, social interactions, economic conditions, and political conflicts. Focuses on how and why laws create and maintain hierarchies of privilege and disadvantage by race, social class, gender, sexuality, nationality, and age. Collaborative research and classroom learning applied to analysis of currently debated legislation. Development of information resources for stakeholders and decision-makers.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL230S</td>
<td>230S</td>
<td>Embodied Blackness</td>
<td>How is race embodied and how are bodies racialized? How do gender, sexuality, class, size, perceived beauty, and ability mutually influence embodiment? This course considers anthropological and historical studies of the body, with a critical focus on Blackness. We investigate how Black human bodies are othered, valued, dehumanized, and experienced, across time and space, with a particular focus on the United States.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL232</td>
<td>232</td>
<td>Data Visualization for Social Science</td>
<td>This course introduces modern methods and tools for the visualization of social-scientific data. The course has a theoretical and practical element. We will explore the theory and history of efforts to visualize social data, and society more generally, examining the nature and politics of data generation and consumption, and about the implications of choosing to represent it in different ways. Practically, we will learn how to use R and related tools to produce insightful, beautiful, reproducible data visualizations.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL237</td>
<td>237</td>
<td>Internet, Technology, and Capitalism</td>
<td>This course will explore the role of the internet and new technologies in our society. We will examine the history of the rise of the computer age, and then cover questions that include surveillance and algorithmic targeting; cybersecurity and crypto; AI and robots; social media and celebrity; labor rights and profit-making; and the changing nature of daily life in a wireless world. There will be several guest speakers as well as readings, films, and other content.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL240</td>
<td>240</td>
<td>Love and Loneliness: What’s Happening to Relationships in the Twenty-First Century?</td>
<td>Long-standing ties to others—whether of kinship, marriage, or community—have long been considered to be fundamental to the human condition. But in an age of dissipated and shifting social worlds, the relationships we form with others are radically changing in the twenty-first century. The class will critically examine the ideals, premises, and obstacles for forming intimacy with others through such cases as hook-ups, solitary death, solo weddings, domestic violence, human/non-human attachments, and migrancy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL242S</td>
<td>242S</td>
<td>Bodies at Work</td>
<td>This course traces the dynamic relationship between bodies and economies over the course of American history. If disability has been defined as the inability to work, then an exploration of disability necessitates an exploration of capitalism. Moving between disability studies and labor history, students will develop the conceptual tools necessary to understand capitalism through the lens of disability, while also generating new ways to think about disability via critical histories of capitalism. We will also look at how disabled people have pushed back, envisioning new ways of valuing bodies beyond productivity.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL250</td>
<td>250</td>
<td>Medical Sociology</td>
<td>Interface between sociology and health-related issues. Analysis of macro, mezzo, and micro perspectives as they apply to health and illness. Examination of the social and cultural context in which health care in the United States is delivered, particularly in terms of racial and age disparities, as well as disparities in rural and urban healthcare settings. Objective and subjective experience of health and illness, political, economic and environmental issues, including engagement with ethical issues around end of life care, physician assisted suicide, health rights versus health privileges. Exposure to these areas takes place theoretically in class, as well as in real-world settings.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SOCIOL252A - From Enlightenment Culture to Popular Culture

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
252A

Title
From Enlightenment Culture to Popular Culture

Description
Course constructs a sociological history of French (and partially European) culture by routinely using the city of Paris as an example. Analyzes conflicts inherited by contemporary culture in highlighting major moments that have defined it since pre-revolutionary era. Focuses on theoretical issues raised by each period, and the manner in which sociologists and critical theorists addressed them—from opposition of nature and culture just as it plays out for the pre-romantics, to the criticism of mass-culture by post-modern theorists. Sessions will be chronological, and will introduce and cover principle problems of social sciences. Taught in French through the Duke in France Program.

SOCIOL253A - The Return of the Collective (Psychosocial Approach Contemporary Spain) Theatre, Culture, & Identity

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
253A

Title
The Return of the Collective (Psychosocial Approach Contemporary Spain) Theatre, Culture, & Identity

Description
The hasty transformation experienced by Spanish society the last 40+ years demands questioning the processes involved in its changing identities. This course delves into the economic, cultural, and linguistic circumstances that shaped the portrait of current Spain. By looking into contemporary theatrical production, we will consider causes, motivations, and consequences of the emergence of new subjectivities linked to the coming of democracy. To reach a better understanding of these new ways of thinking, sentimentalities, and behaviors operating in today's Spain, special attention will be paid to the social conditionings involved in the shaping of identities. Taught at Duke in Madrid.

SOCIOL255 - Sociology of Immigration and Health

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
255

Title
Sociology of Immigration and Health

Description
An in-depth exploration of how global migration processes impact population health with particular attention to the social determinants of health. Course focuses on different immigrant groups in U.S. as well as refugee and migrant labor populations in other parts of the world, namely Middle East. Descriptive assessments of immigrant health inequalities and analytic examinations of mechanisms that contribute to disparities will be covered. Readings selected from sociological and medical writings. Not open to students who have taken Sociology 361/Global Health 340.

SOCIOL256S - Just Work: Restorative Justice Models and Applications

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
256S

Title
Just Work: Restorative Justice Models and Applications

Description
Rooted in ancient practices from indigenous cultures & religious texts, Restorative Justice (RJ) has gained interest as a means to reform the modern justice system and manage wrongdoing in schools and workplaces. This course takes an interdisciplinary approach to consider RJ as an alternative to typical retributive justice models. Examines RJ theory, RJ diversion programs, & the strengths and limitations of RJ's application, including Victim-Offender Mediated Dialogues, Community Conflict Councils, and Truth & Reconciliation Commissions. Asks: does RJ offer the paradigm shift our society needs to address the failings in our justice systems in our communities, institutions, & personal lives?
SOCIOL257 - From Madness to Mental Disorders: Sociology of Mental Health

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number 257

Title
From Madness to Mental Disorders: Sociology of Mental Health

Description
Investigates mental health processes and policies in historic, cultural, and socioeconomic context. Explains why definitions of and responses to mental illness have changed across time and place. Probes ethical dilemmas created by the medicalization of deviance. Examines how social conditions shape the development and consequences of mental disorders, treatments, and policies. Evaluates alternative theoretical explanations for how mental well-being and mental health services are linked to socioeconomic status, gender, race, ethnicity, citizenship, age, and sexuality. Assesses ability of alternative policies to improve public mental health.

SOCIOL258 - Markets and Marketing

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
258

Title
Markets and Marketing

Description
Markets as systems of social exchange: their organization and development with special reference to the role of technological change in market evolution in various parts of the industrialized world. Sociological analysis of contemporary marketing including international comparisons and the role of internet technologies; researching and preparing a marketing plan. Coverage of marketing includes attention to issues of values and ethics.

SOCIOL259S - Contemporary South Africa

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
259S

Title
Contemporary South Africa

Description
Nelson Mandela's presidency in 1994 inaugurated democracy in South Africa. Using a historical lens, this course will explore the promises, possibilities, and disappointments of the democratic era. In what ways has the 1994 election slogan 'A better life for all' come to pass? Why and in what ways has the new political elite fallen short in delivering on its promises? How have segments of the public sought to impose accountability and restitution on new democratic governments, as well as on the long-standing titans of industry?

SOCIOL263 - Aging and Health

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
263

Title
Aging and Health

Description
Illness and healthcare utilization among the elderly, comparison to other populations, gender and race differences, Medicare and Medicaid, individual adjustment to aging and illness, social support for sick elderly, the decision to institutionalize, policy debate over euthanasia.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>264</td>
<td>Death and Dying</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The biomedical, economic, social, and psychological issues surrounding death and dying in the twenty-first century in America. Religious and cultural perspectives both in the Judeo-Christian ethic and in other religious frameworks. Theories of dying from sociological and social psychological perspectives. Required participation in service-learning.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>265</td>
<td>Drug Use and Abuse: Getting High in the United States</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Explores trends in the use, abuse, and regulation of mind-altering substances in the United States. Topics include: patterns of drug use over time and across social groups; drug market creation and regulation; media promotion and condemnation of drug activities; drug policy legislation and enforcement; medicalization of deviance; rise and fall of drug panics; and critical analysis of the casualties of the current war on drugs.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>267S</td>
<td>Global Cold War</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Traditional narratives of the Cold War focus on a bi-polar series of conflicts that pit the United States against the Soviet Union in a good-versus-evil battle for global political and military supremacy. This course destabilizes this account of a process that affected every continent on earth – and even reached into space – over the period of more than half a century. It explores the Cold War from East-West, North-South, global, and interstellar perspectives. In addition to political and military issues, the course will also discuss the Cold War in social, cultural, intellectual, and economic spheres.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>272S</td>
<td>Sexuality and the Law</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course will introduce students to legal and ethical issues at the intersection of law, gender and sexuality. The course will use interpretive methods used in jurisprudence, as well as conceptual tools developed by feminist, critical race and queer theoreticians to explore such issues as the criminalization of gay sex, the equal protection of all persons regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity, and the role of the state in resolving perceived conflicts between that right to equal protection and the right to religious freedom. The course will take a cross-cultural / multi-jurisdictional comparative approach to these issues.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>273S</td>
<td>Gender and Media</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The aim of this course is to critically analyze media culture and communication landscapes from a feminist and gender studies perspective. We will address a wide range of media innovations and their histories, unpacking and critically questioning them through the insights offered by feminist, queer, and intersectional analytical tools. To each, we will examine historical, ethical, sociological, theoretical, literary or film perspectives. What roles do media spaces play in our everyday lives and how do our politics and self-understandings inform and reflect burgeoning platforms? This course will consider these questions in terms of US media cultures and its interconnected global frameworks.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>280T</td>
<td>Applied Sociology Research</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Project-based course in which undergraduate and graduate students work collaboratively to produce a significant public-facing research product drawing on sociological contexts and methods. Topics vary depending on section. Students will gain a conceptual understanding of the project topic, develop research plans, conduct new research, and develop a final product containing significant analysis and interpretation (e.g., exhibits, databases, white papers, data visualizations). Graduate students will mentor undergraduate students and take leadership roles in facilitating projects. Some courses will continue in a two-semester sequence. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>281T</td>
<td>Applied Sociology Research</td>
<td>Project-based course in which undergraduate and graduate students work collaboratively to produce a significant public-facing research product drawing on sociological contexts and methods. Topics vary depending on section. Students will gain a conceptual understanding of the project topic, develop research plans, conduct new research, and develop a final product containing significant analysis and interpretation (e.g., exhibits, databases, white papers, data visualizations). Graduate students will mentor undergraduate students and take leadership roles in facilitating projects. Some courses will continue in a two-semester sequence. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>283S</td>
<td>Death, Burial, and Justice in the Americas</td>
<td>This interdisciplinary course explores the phenomenon of necroviolence: attacks on the dignity, integrity, and memory of the dead. Cases come from the United States, Latin America, and Canada. Topics include the rights of the dead, cultural attitudes towards the dead, and the ‘ambiguous loss’ experienced by loved ones of the disappeared. We also explore the activism of family members, volunteer cemetery reclamation groups, and forensic scientists who exhume mass graves to identify bodies. Students will interact with guest speakers, spend time in a local African American cemetery with ties to Duke, and do community work and research on behalf of the marginalized dead.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>285S</td>
<td>Critical Pedagogy of Hip Hop</td>
<td>This course examines the role of critical pedagogy in developing learning environments that engage and empower youth. Emphasis is placed on the context of Hip Hop as a foundation for instructional decision-making and social justice advocacy/activism. Students will explore the historical and socio-cultural foundations of education initiatives, teaching and learning strategies, federal and state mandates and educational policy issues that contribute to marginalization. Innovations, interdisciplinary collaboration and community programs designed to strengthen schools and communities will be highlighted.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>288</td>
<td>History of Inequality</td>
<td>This course familiarizes students with the field of Inequality Studies through examination of the causes and consequences of social inequality throughout history. It addresses theories of group and sub-group social stratification and ways that disparity operates across multiple axes of stigmatized identities. This is a required course for the minor in Inequality Studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>290</td>
<td>Advanced Special Topics in Sociology</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>290A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Sociology</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>290S</td>
<td>Seminar in Special Topics</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>Independent Study for Nonmajors</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>293</td>
<td>Research Independent Study for Non-Majors</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>294A</td>
<td>Political Economy of Immigration</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>295S</td>
<td>Sex Work: The Politics of Sexual Labor</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>302S</td>
<td>South Africa and the World</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description for SOCIOL290S - Seminar in Special Topics
Individual research and reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to qualified juniors and seniors. Consent of instructor and Director of Markets and Management Studies. Does not count toward the Sociology major.

Description for SOCIOL291 - Independent Study for Nonmajors
Individual research and reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to qualified juniors and seniors. Consent of instructor and Director of Markets and Management Studies. Does not count toward the Sociology major.

Description for SOCIOL293 - Research Independent Study for Non-Majors
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to qualified juniors and seniors. Consent of instructor and Director of Markets and Management Studies. Does not count toward the Sociology major.

Description for SOCIOL294A - Political Economy of Immigration
The regulation of labour immigration is among the most important and controversial public policy issues in high-income countries. Many countries in Europe and North America, including the UK and the US, have experienced very rapid increases in labour immigration over the past 20 years. Instructor consent is required.

Description for SOCIOL295S - Sex Work: The Politics of Sexual Labor
Sex work from the perspective of the labor and the purchase. Controversies over questions of gender and power, consent and coercion, sexual practices and labor contracts, trafficking and migration. Cultural representations of sex workers and their clients. Legal regimes from abolition to regulation and decriminalization.

Description for SOCIOL302S - South Africa and the World
Throughout the 20th century, South Africa had the largest economy and military on the African continent. Its strategic geographic position and mineral wealth in gold and uranium made it an important ally for the largest economies in the world. The Cold War enhanced its significance. However, in the second half of the twentieth century, its policies of apartheid rendered it an international pariah. This course examines the ways in which countries, international institutions, and millions of ordinary people shaped the course of South African history. How did South Africa interact with the broader world, and how did the world try to affect South Africa’s policies of white supremacy?
SOCIOL322S - Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
322S

Title
Race and Society: South Africa and the US, 1890-present

Description
Scholars, pundits and historical actors have long drawn parallels between the United States & South Africa—two countries founded on the premises of racial inequality. This course explores the machinations of race from the quickening of industrial development to present. We will consider the benefits and pitfalls of thinking comparatively. Topics include segregation, transatlantic cultural exchanges, living apartheid and Jim Crow, government surveillance of political opponents, the American anti-apartheid movement, mass incarceration and privatization of prisons, memory and the struggles for social change as well as the persistence of racial inequality in two country's contemporary societies.

SOCIOL323S - Social Movements in Age of Globalization

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
323S

Title
Social Movements in Age of Globalization

Description
Study of primary models and theories of social movements developed in fields of Sociology and Political Science. Readings provide vocabulary and conceptual framework for understanding how people organize, how social movements use media, role of leadership, meaning of success, and several other basic issues. Focus on social movements of last few decades. Students will conduct group projects on a selected contemporary social movement. Contemporary social movements considered include Occupy, 15M movement in Spain, Gezi Park encampment in Turkey, urban protests in Brazil, and Arab Spring uprisings.

SOCIOL324S - The University as a Culture: A Survivor's Guide

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
324S

Title
The University as a Culture: A Survivor's Guide

Description
The university generates some of the most influential forms of knowledge in the world, yet we seldom examine the historically specific cultural, social, political, and economic conditions under which knowledge is produced in the laboratories, classrooms, offices, dormitories, Greek-letter societies, and sports complexes that are the infrastructure of the academy. This course will employ readings from a range of disciplines, as well as the investigative and interpretive methods of cultural anthropology, to examine the taken-for-granted context of university life.

SOCIOL325A - International Business

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
325A

Title
International Business

Description
This is a summer study abroad offering. No pre-reqs are required. The course is organized to cover the following topics and to give students an overview of issues important to firms operating in a global context: international trade, business cultures in an international/global context, modes of operation, global business strategy, marketing strategies, ethics and sustainability in a global environment.
SOCIOL330S - Bad Behavior

Description
What does it mean to behave badly? How is 'bad behavior' distinguished from actions that are otherwise described as evil or criminal? This course addresses these questions by examining ideas of deviance, wrongdoing, and misconduct in the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first centuries—that is, modern behavioral categories that are considered to be aberrant without necessarily being strictly defined as transgressions of the law. We will consider how bad behavior concerns the disruption of implicit social norms rather than the explicit violation of legal or moral codes.

SOCIOL331 - Women at Work: Gendered Experience of Corporate Life

Description
Analysis of gender, class and race in contemporary business organizations and roles of men and women within them. Management systems, information technology and human resource systems, as artifacts to larger, gendered environment.

SOCIOL332 - Methods of Social Research

Description
Principles of social research, design of sociological studies, sampling, and data collection with special attention to survey techniques. Open only to Sociology majors. Sociology minors must contact the professor for approval.

SOCIOL333 - Quantitative Analysis of Sociological Data

Description
Introduction to quantitative analysis in sociological research, including principles of research design and the use of empirical evidence, particularly from social surveys. Descriptive and inferential statistics, contingency table analysis, and regression analysis. Emphasis on analysis of data, interpretation and presentation of results. Not open to students who have taken another 100-level (or above) statistics course. Course restricted to first and second Sociology majors.

SOCIOL338 - Theory and Society

Description
Selective survey of major classical and modern social theorists from the Enlightenment to the present. Attention to theories seeking to follow models of the natural sciences and those seeking a more critical and interpretive understanding of modern society. Sociological theory in relation to other modern currents, such as conservatism, socialism, existentialism, anti-colonialism, feminism, post-modernism.

SOCIOL339 - Marxism and Society

Description
Introduction to Marx's core concepts, such as alienation, commodity, and revolution. Includes examination of Marx's own major historical & political analyses, his economic texts, and his philosophical writings. Students also gain familiarity with the role of Marxist thought in different fields and disciplines, including feminist theory, anthropology, history, political science, and literary studies.
SOCIOL341 - The United States and the Asian Pacific Region

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 341
Title: The United States and the Asian Pacific Region

Description
Asian Pacific region is major engine of economic growth in the 21st century likely causing major shift of power and wealth in the world. Study relationships between US and various Asian Pacific nations from the end of World War II to present. Focus on impact of wars, technological development and economic development. Examine differences in various issues such as trade, human rights, environment, territory disputes between US and a variety of Asian Pacific nations.

SOCIOL343 - Displacements: Migration and Human Trafficking

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 343
Title: Displacements: Migration and Human Trafficking

Description
Examination of the meaning of migration in the global world through cross-disciplinary texts and visual media. Situates the phenomenon of human trafficking within the context of these general movements focusing on the risks involved when people endanger their lives to find a better and more strategic position in the world. Explores how these experiences should be interpreted, and how processes and the politics of race, space and place are a condition and/or outcome of these movements. Investigates and considers ways to resolve some of the problems associated with such movements.

SOCIOL344 - Technology and Organizational Environments

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 344
Title: Technology and Organizational Environments

Description
How organizations (governments, private corporations, and non-profit organizations) are affected by the social, technological, and cultural environments in which they operate. Emphasis on how United States and Japanese cultures generate different modes of organization and differing environmental facilitators and obstacles. Competitive strategies (for example, mergers and takeovers) and the impact of technology on organizational structures (for example, the rapid diffusion of information technology). Research paper required, using either quantitative evidence or a case study approach.

SOCIOL345 - Nations, Regions, and the Global Economy

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 345
Title: Nations, Regions, and the Global Economy

Description
The changing configuration of global capitalism, with emphasis on comparing global regions of North America, Latin America, Europe, Africa, and Asia. The internal dynamics of these regions, including the development strategies of selected nations, interregional comparisons (for example, regional divisions of labor, state-society relationships, the nature of their business systems, quality of life issues). Research paper required.
SOCIOL346 - Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 346
Title: Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Description:
Course offers a critical, comprehensive and panoramic approach to the study of fundamental social problems of contemporary Spanish society (inequalities, marginalization and exclusion, social risks, unemployment, housing, education, economic and political crisis, gender equality, etc.) that affect its various institutions (family, work, city, State, etc.). The approach will be twofold: on one hand, it will be carried out from a Sociology and Applied Anthropology theoretical perspective; on the other, it will familiarize students with the point of view of the citizens’ movements with regular encounters with activists and leaders of these organizations.

SOCIOL346A - Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 346A
Title: Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Description:
Course offers a critical, comprehensive and panoramic approach to the study of fundamental social problems of contemporary Spanish society (inequalities, marginalization and exclusion, social risks, unemployment, housing, education, economic and political crisis, gender equality, etc.) that affect its various institutions (family, work, city, State, etc.). The approach will be twofold: on one hand, it will be carried out from a Sociology and Applied Anthropology theoretical perspective; on the other, it will familiarize students with the point of view of the citizens’ movements with regular encounters with activists and leaders of these organizations. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.

SOCIOL346S - Asians in American Higher Education: Trends and Issues

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 346S
Title: Asians in American Higher Education: Trends and Issues

Description:
An interdisciplinary examination of the history and experience of students of Asian descent at the higher education level, including demographic trends, sociocultural development, and access and support. Special attention will be given to intragroup diversity within the Asian/American community in today’s global context.

SOCIOL347 - Managing Networks: Research and Applications of Network Analysis to Business Organizations

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 347
Title: Managing Networks: Research and Applications of Network Analysis to Business Organizations

Description:
The role that networks play in organizations. How networks affect a large number of significant behaviors and processes. Learn to harness the incredible power of social, economic, and political networks. Develop research, writing, and quantitative analysis skills with focus on business organizations. Relevant for students interested in Markets and Management and leadership positions.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL351</td>
<td>351</td>
<td>Life and Death: Global Perspectives</td>
<td>Anthropological investigation of customs, practices, and beliefs that get activated when people (and other living beings) die. What constitutes life as in when does it start, what determines well-being, how is it measured; and what constitutes death as in a good versus bad death, by what medical definition, and according to what rituals and beliefs. Comparative inquiry into such questions as why brain-death is not accepted in some cultures and why people in some places prefer to die rather than live after an amputation. Topics will include organ transplants, gang warfare, cancer, and warzones from China and Botswana to Mexico and the United States.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL352S</td>
<td>352S</td>
<td>Sociology through Photography</td>
<td>Documentary photography used as a tool to see the world through a sociological lens. Photographs and the social construction of reality; generic components of social organization (codes of conduct, mechanisms of social control); power relations and social inequalities; and social identities (how they’re formed in relation to structures, experiences, history and culture).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL355</td>
<td>355</td>
<td>Organizations and Management</td>
<td>Dimensions and aspects of modern organizations and concepts and tools for analyzing them. Special attention to the impact of changing social and technological environments on the evolution of organizational structures and strategies and on issues related to business ethics. The structure and operation of organizations; how organizations are managed by analyzing processes of organizational decision making; business case studies as illustrative of the concepts and the analytical tools.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SOCIOL359 - The Sociology of Entrepreneurship

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 359
Title: The Sociology of Entrepreneurship

Description:
Analysis of the psychological, religious, cultural, economic, political, and historical roots of entrepreneurship. Supply side and demand side perspectives. How to interpret theories at multiple levels of analysis to understanding entrepreneurship. Examines research on new business formation and the likelihood of success.

SOCIOL360 - Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 360
Title: Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Description:
Examination of the Apple Corporation's development from a Silicon Valley garage operation to a company with unprecedented global reach; the Cult of Steve Jobs, the Apple Launch and use the design and development of the Apple Store; labor and environmental struggles over Apple supply chain and production processes, from cobalt mining in Africa to Foxconn factories in China; migrant worker suicide and poetry as forms of protest in China; e-waste villages and digital rubbish; everyday uses of Apple technology and the ethics of consuming Apple products.

SOCIOL360S - Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 360S
Title: Global Apple: Life and Death and the Digital Revolution

Description:
Examination of the Apple Corporation's development from a Silicon Valley garage operation to a company with unprecedented global reach; the Cult of Steve Jobs, the Apple Launch and use the design and development of the Apple Store; labor and environmental struggles over Apple supply chain and production processes, from cobalt mining in Africa to Foxconn factories in China; migrant worker suicide and poetry as forms of protest in China; e-waste villages and digital rubbish; everyday uses of Apple technology and the ethics of consuming Apple products.

SOCIOL361 - Social Determinants of US Health Disparities

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 361
Title: Social Determinants of US Health Disparities

Description:
Introduction to how social factors influence health and well-being, with a particular focus on contemporary US society. Topics include obesity, aging, socioeconomic disadvantage, access to health insurance, public health systems, the role of the media, and racial/ethnic and gender inequalities. The course will provide descriptive assessments of health inequalities and analytic examinations of the mechanisms through which social factors affect health.
SOCIOL364S - Race, Gender, and Sexuality

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>364S</td>
<td>Race, Gender, and Sexuality</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Gender's relationship to race and sexuality explored through a variety of issues, including health, intimacy, family, the state, economic practices, transnational communities and identities, and social movement.

SOCIOL367S - Data Science and Society

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>367S</td>
<td>Data Science and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Interdisciplinary field of computational social science, drawing from sociology, computer science, and related disciplines. Obtain skills to automate collection of social science data from new sources (Twitter, Facebook, Google, etc.), classify unstructured data into discrete variables, analyze them using a combination of techniques that includes screen-scraping, natural language processing and machine learning. Complex ethical and legal issues that arise when working with these novel sources of data. Students develop their imagination about new questions that can be asked with these new data sources. Reading and reproducing exemplary studies produced by computational social scientists.

SOCIOL374 - Pigging Out: The Cultural Politics of Food

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>374</td>
<td>Pigging Out: The Cultural Politics of Food</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines cultural influences of food while linking class, geography, and ethnicity to food practices. Investigates link between overeating and cheap food, under-eating and expensive food; discrepancy between cost and quality; changing diets in US and elsewhere; current debates regarding food production, specifically in the U.S., Americas, Africa and Asia. Discussion of Cargill companies’ restrictions on spread of their hybrid grains; questionable agricultural practices, e.g. animal cruelty, overuse of pesticides, condition of migrants. Environmental policies examined in relation to pursuit of such industrial agricultural practices. Will include hands-on experiments with food preparation and tasting.

SOCIOL375S - Masculinities & Global Politics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>375S</td>
<td>Masculinities &amp; Global Politics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

The course uses readings and films to examine masculinities historically and transnationally, including a unit on masculinities in US politics; draws from history, sociology, feminist geography, popular culture studies, Black studies, and sexuality and queer studies; interactive lectures and guest scholars. Each student is guided to complete an interview-based research project with three male-identified persons of multiple generations with serves in lieu of a final exam.
SOCIOL377S - Language & Identity: How We Construct Identities and Reproduce Social Hierarchies Through Language

Description
Language is a central and pervasive feature of human identity through which we portray ourselves and negotiate social identities. With such practices we re/produce values, norms, social hierarchies, and the privilege these entail. Using examples from media, literature, and ethnographic data we will explore how speakers negotiate social identities through language and how ideas about it inform our understanding and interpretation of society and speakers within it. Topics include language, racism, gender, sexuality, class, ethnicity and ways that language and discourse construct and maintain a sense of belonging, otherness, truth, and value. Not open to students who have taken Romance Studies 207FS.

SOCIOL387 - Reimagining the World Together: Why Friendship Matters for Our Future

Description
Explores friendship and why it matters in the frenzied world of ‘likes’ and ‘swipes.’ The average Facebook user has 155 friends. Instagram added a ‘Close Friends’ feature to distinguish friends from followers. Social media has weakened our sense of friendship. Still, Facebook users say that, of those 155 friends, they would trust only four in a crisis. Pursues the importance of friendship, not only as a place of private refuge but as a relationship of trust that facilitates insight and innovation and that has public purchase. Classes center on conversations between pairs of friends who bring their friendship, their work, and their imaginations to bear on the shape of the world in the future.

SOCIOL388S - Food, Culture, and Society

Description
This DukeImmerse course provides a broad overview of food as culture and its role in society. Exploration of the intersections between food and identity from gender, ethnic, class, religious, and political identities to how people use food to develop a sense of themselves as ethical beings. Food and democracy and food activism. Readings from anthropological, sociological, linguistic, and literary writings with ethnographic observations in local communities of practice. Instructor consent required.

SOCIOL389S - Field Ethics (DukeImmerse)

Description
An introduction to qualitative research design and analysis including interviewing, ethnography, focus groups as well as a variety of visual methods, including mapping and photo elicitation. Emphasis on the ethics of research design, implementation, and presentation and ethics of research with vulnerable populations. Students will collect refugee life stories as the basis of a documentary theater production they will write and perform as their final project. Course may include field research in Jordan and Nepal. Open only to DukeImmerse students. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>390</td>
<td>Special Topics in Sociology</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Sociology</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Seminar in Special Topics</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>390SA</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Sociology</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>391</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>Directed reading or individual projects under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SOCIOL</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SOCIOL425 - Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy & Entrepreneurship

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
425

Title
Intellectual Property and Innovation: Law, Policy & Entrepreneurship

Description
Course examines the tightly linked roles of intellectual property law and innovation in the 21st century global economy; offers an overview of the use of intellectual property in business, law and public policy, as well as in-depth coverage of current controversies impacting the future of the global information economy: gene patents; online piracy; music sampling; open source business models; access to medicines; and the impact of the 3D printing revolution. Besides overviews of trends in intellectual property law, research and development strategies, university technology transfer, and government and private sector investment, examine case studies of specific innovators, companies, places.

SOCIOL430S - What's Next: Women, Leadership, Purpose

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
430S

Title
What's Next: Women, Leadership, Purpose

Description
Interdisciplinary analysis of the history of ideas about women and the professions with emphasis on women's actions, past, present and future. The changing status of women in professional life; ethical and political implications of public and personal decision-making. Study of research and writing by and about women in professional fields; interviews with working women. Research paper integrating students' major, the internship experience and their future goals required. Senior seminar open only to Baldwin Scholars. Consent of instructor required.

SOCIOL442 - Global Inequality Research

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number 442

Title
Global Inequality Research

Description
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas: employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645 or 645S.

SOCIOL442S - Global Inequality Research Seminar

Subject
SOCIOL

Catalog Number
442S

Title
Global Inequality Research Seminar

Description
Engagement of vertically integrated research teams in projects exploring racial and ethnic disparities exhibited and expressed in six arenas: employment, wealth, health, political participation, education, and arts and culture. Each team will produce a major paper that will qualify for submission to a refereed journal in the area relevant to the focus of the study. Course is not open to students who have taken Public Policy 645S.
SOCIOL450S - The Global Caribbean

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 450S
Title: The Global Caribbean

Description
The course introduces students to the Caribbean as a transnational space that reflects the global dynamics associated with flows of bodies via migration, labor, and goods all of which have undergirded the birth and evolution of the (primarily) Atlantic world economy. The Global Caribbean will have a historical sociological bent that frames the region as the first modern colonial space which has served as a template for other projects of colonial and postcolonial development elsewhere in the world. Emphasis will be on the way that freedoms and unfreedoms operate in the Caribbean and elsewhere. Discussions of how knowledge has conditioned the representation of the region will be entertained.

SOCIOL471S - Language and Politics: Global Perspectives

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 471S
Title: Language and Politics: Global Perspectives

Description
We will never speak a single language, or agree on the best way to organize society and politics for 'the good life.' How do macro-politics affect the language(s) we choose to speak? What public policy initiatives can be deployed so that language is an accessible resource for all? Are there such things as language rights, and how can they be distributed and defended? These questions are not just academic, but essential to understanding the world(s) that we inhabit. This course takes a global and historical approach to the politics of language, examining the relationships between language, society, and the state.

SOCIOL490 - Special Topics in Sociology

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Special Topics in Sociology

SOCIOL490S - Seminar in Special Topics

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Seminar in Special Topics

SOCIOL490S-1 - Research Seminar: Special Topics

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 490S-1
Title: Research Seminar: Special Topics

Description
Directed research on a particular theme in a collaborative workshop using basic skills to assist in designing, carrying out, and writing up original research. A substantive paper with significant analysis and interpretation required. Themes vary semester to semester.

SOCIOL495S - Sociology Honors Seminar I

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 495S
Title: Sociology Honors Seminar I

Description
Honors seminar for senior sociology major. Intensive research experience including topic selection, research design, data collection and analysis resulting in substantial, original paper. Research guidance and support provided by instructor and faculty advisor. Consent of instructor required.

SOCIOL496S - Sociology Honors Seminar II

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 496S
Title: Sociology Honors Seminar II

Description
Continuation of Sociology 495S. Consent of instructor required.

SOCIOL89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject: SOCIOL
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.
SPANISH101 - Elementary Spanish 1
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Spanish 1
Description: Introduces the basic elements of the language and includes exposure to aspects of Spanish-speaking cultures. Equal attention to aural comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing skills conducted entirely in Spanish using a task-based approach. Four class meetings a week during the academic year, five days per week during the summer. Not open for credit to students who have had three or more years of Spanish in high school. Prerequisite: No previous college study of Spanish, or no more than three years of high school Spanish, or appropriate language placement score.

SPANISH102 - Elementary Spanish 2
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Spanish 2
Description: This course builds on the elements of the language acquired in Elementary Spanish 101; enrollment in Spanish 102 presupposes acquisition of the contents covered in Spanish 101. Speaking, reading, and writing skills emphasized; exposure to Spanish-speaking cultures. Classes conducted entirely in Spanish, using a task-based approach. Four class meetings a week during the academic year, five days per week during the summer. Prerequisite: Spanish 101 or appropriate placement test score.

SPANISH111 - Intensive Elementary Spanish
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 111
Title: Intensive Elementary Spanish
Description: This 2-credit course covers the elementary Spanish curriculum (Spanish 101 and Spanish 102) in one semester. The course focuses on basic structures, functions and vocabulary with the goal of having students interact, problem solve and collaborate in Spanish. Students work on developing the interpersonal, interpretive and presentational communication modes as well as begin to develop insight into their own language and culture. Not open to students who have had more than one year of Spanish in high school.

SPANISH112 - Accelerated Elementary Spanish
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 112
Title: Accelerated Elementary Spanish
Description: This course is designed for students with 2-3 years of high school Spanish whose level of Spanish places them between Spanish 101 and 102. We review concepts from Spanish 101 at the beginning of the semester before moving on to Spanish 102. The course focuses on basic Spanish structures, functions and vocabulary with the goal of having students interact, problem solve and collaborate in the target language. This course develops the interpersonal, interpretive and presentational communication modes.

SPANISH140A - Duke in Alicante: Intensive Elementary Institute
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 140A
Title: Duke in Alicante: Intensive Elementary Institute
Description: Covers the basic elementary language curriculum (Spanish 101 & 102) in one summer session in Alicante, Spain. Equal attention to aural comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing skills conducted entirely in Spanish using a task-based approach. Includes exposure to aspects of Spanish-speaking cultures. 4 hours a day of classroom instruction (M-TH); required extracurricular activities. For more information see the Global Education Office website.

SPANISH160 - Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 160
Title: Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South
Description: Introduction to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, Latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required introductory course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.
SPANISH160S - Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 160S
Title: Introduction to Latino/a Studies in the Global South

Description: Intro to the interdisciplinary field of Latino/a Studies, and how it reconfigures the study of the United States and the Americas. Considers literature, history, sociology, economics, politics, culture and language in examining terms such as: Latino, latinidad, Global South, transnational, globalization, and multiculturalism. Exploration of alignments and divergences of Latino/a Studies with African and African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and Critical US Studies. Classroom learning will connect with the community outside of Duke. Required intro course for students in the Latino/a Studies in the Global South certificate program.

SPANISH190FS - Focus Topics in Spanish and Latin American Literature and Culture

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Focus Topics in Spanish and Latin American Literature and Culture

Description: Topics on single authors, genres, movements, or themes. Taught in English. Topics course. Open only to students in the Focus program.

SPANISH203 - Intermediate Spanish

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Spanish

Description: This course builds on the elements of the language acquired in the elementary sequence; enrollment in this course presupposes acquisition of Spanish 101 and 102 contents. Continued development of the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Expanding range and complexity of grammar usage and vocabulary. Exposure to Spanish-speaking cultures. Prerequisite: Spanish 102 or 111, or appropriate placement test score.

SPANISH204 - Advanced Intermediate Spanish

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Advanced Intermediate Spanish

Description: This course builds on the elements of the language acquired in Spanish 101 through 203. Further development of the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Expanding range and sophistication of grammar usage and vocabulary. Exposure to Spanish-speaking cultures. Work with comprehension and production of texts of greater extension and complexity. Prepares students for 300-level Spanish courses. Prerequisite: Spanish 203, or appropriate placement test score.

SPANISH205 - Advanced Intermediate Spanish with Service-Learning

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 205
Title: Advanced Intermediate Spanish with Service-Learning

Description: Same as Spanish 204, except with a service-learning component.

SPANISH206 - Advanced Intermediate Spanish with Community Engagement

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 206
Title: Advanced Intermediate Spanish with Community Engagement

Description: Same as Spanish 204, except with community engagement. Course integrates academic language learning and interactions with the local Spanish speaking community to learn about their culture. Instructor consent required.
SPANISH209 - Intermediate Spanish for Heritage Learners

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 209
Title: Intermediate Spanish for Heritage Learners

Description: This course is the first of a two-course sequence for heritage Spanish learners. It aims to reconnect students with their linguistic and cultural heritage to further them through meaningful experiences. Activities in this course empower heritage learners to apply their bilingual/bicultural knowledge in academic and professional settings. Students have the opportunity to a) discuss topics relevant to their interests, use presentational skills to write and talk about them b) conduct sociolinguistic research, develop critical and integrative thinking skills in Spanish, and c) gain skills required to work professionally in a Spanish-speaking environment. Instructor consent required.

SPANISH211 - Intensive Intermediate Spanish

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 211
Title: Intensive Intermediate Spanish

Description: This two-credit course covers the intermediate Spanish language curriculum (Spanish 203 and 204) in one semester. Builds on the elements of the language acquired in the elementary sequence; enrollment in this course presupposes acquisition of Spanish 101 and 102 contents. Further development of the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Expanding range and sophistication of grammar usage and vocabulary. Exposure to Spanish-speaking cultures. Increasing ability to structure ideas in speaking and writing. Work with comprehension and production of texts of greater extension. Prepares students for 300-level Spanish courses. Four class meetings a week.

SPANISH235T - Voices in Music: Spanish

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 235T
Title: Voices in Music: Spanish

Description: Voices in Music explores how language and culture impact the production and reception of music in Spanish-speaking communities. Texts include compositions, lyrics, music videos, interviews, visual texts, and documentaries, allowing students to examine music from multiple perspectives in Spanish. Discussions will include ethnomusicology, representations of culture and identity, performance, and the music industry. Tutorials are taught entirely in Spanish. Prerequisite: 4 semesters-level of language study (SPANISH 204) or equivalent. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory.

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 240A
Title: Duke in Alicante: Intensive Intermediate Institute

Description: Covers intermediate Spanish language curriculum (Spanish 203, 204) in one summer session in Alicante, Spain. Builds on elements of language acquired in Spanish 101 and 102. Further development of listening, speaking, reading, writing skills. Expanding range and sophistication of grammar usage and vocabulary. Exposure to Spanish-speaking cultures. Work with comprehension and production of complex texts. Focus on ability to structure ideas in speaking and writing. Prepares students for 300-level Spanish courses. 4 hours/day classroom instruction (M-Th); required extracurricular activities. Prerequisite: Spanish 102 or 111. For more information see Global Education Office website.
SPANISH270T-1 - Voices in Global Health: Spanish Tutorial

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 270T-1
Title: Voices in Global Health: Spanish Tutorial

Description:
Through practical and theoretical discussions around case studies, visual texts, and interviews in the target language, Voices in Global Health examines emerging health challenges at the local and global level. Through the experiences and knowledge shared from our guest speakers, we will explore the underlying health behaviors and cultural beliefs while producing culturally appropriate health interventions. Tutorials meet weekly for 75 minutes. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of language (Spanish 204) or equivalent – heritage and native speakers are welcome to enroll. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Community-engaged course.

SPANISH271T - Voices in Public Policy: Spanish Tutorial

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 271T
Title: Voices in Public Policy: Spanish Tutorial

Description:
Students explore how language and culture impact public policy and practice. Through authentic texts, video, and case studies in Spanish, students analyze policy issues in the Latino/a community to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. 1/2 credit. Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in Spanish. Prerequisite: 4 semesters of equivalent of Spanish.

SPANISH272T-1 - Voices in the Environment: Spanish

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 272T-1
Title: Voices in the Environment: Spanish

Description:
In this course, students will explore how language and culture impact environmental policy and practice. Through authentic text, video, and case studies in Spanish, students will analyze environmental issues in Latin America to develop their understanding of core issues in the field. Tutorials meet for 75 minutes/week. Taught in Spanish.

SPANISH275T-1 - Voices in Marketing: Advertising in Spanish

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 275T-1
Title: Voices in Marketing: Advertising in Spanish

Description:
Discussion-based course trains students to analyze all forms of advertising in Spanish. Classes explore the history and theories of advertising in the Hispanophone world, as well as hands-on strategies for analyzing ads, with particular attention to issues such as translation, localization, and ethics. Tutorials meet weekly for 75 minutes. Does not count toward Markets & Management Studies certificate program. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.

SPANISH290 - Special Topics in Spanish Studies

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Spanish Studies

Description:
Topics in Spanish literature and culture to be announced.

SPANISH301 - Advanced Spanish Writing

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 301
Title: Advanced Spanish Writing

Description:
Development of academic writing skills in Spanish with a focus on techniques for identifying a topic, conducting research, organizing information to appeal to readers, drafting, revising, and editing. Focus on improving grammatical and lexical variety and accuracy in students’ writing in Spanish. Peer feedback and group work are key activities in the course. Products include a summary, an analysis written collaboratively, and a 6-8 page research paper and presentation. This course is strongly recommended before enrolling in Spanish 331S and higher courses.
SPANISH302 - Advanced Spanish Grammar

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 302
Title: Advanced Spanish Grammar

Description:
Intended to foster students’ reflection on Spanish grammar and to consolidate students’ knowledge of the system of rules underlying the Spanish language. Special attention is given to grammar in oral and written communication. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 204 or appropriate placement test score.

SPANISH303 - Introduction to Cultural Studies

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 303
Title: Introduction to Cultural Studies

Description:
Introduction to ideologies and political debates that shape the cultural configuration of Hispanic communities both within and outside the US Borders. The main goal is to explore and examine critically how particular discourses (within different genres and media) relate to politics, art, culture, and society. Articles, literary texts, films, web sites, etc. will serve as resources. As students engage with cultural studies, it is expected that they achieve discursive complexity and linguistic accuracy through vocabulary development, group and individual presentations, video recordings, writing projects, and debates. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.

SPANISH305 - Advanced Spanish for Heritage Learners

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 305
Title: Advanced Spanish for Heritage Learners

Description:
This course is designed for heritage or bilingual students who grew up speaking Spanish at home, but have been educated almost exclusively in English. Together we will explore, reflect, and express opinions about topics that affect the diverse Latino communities in the United States such as: identity, bilingual education, immigration, health and human rights issues. Through reading current news and literary works, and listening and watching audiovisual media, students will develop the ability to read and write in Spanish in formal contexts, and also comprehend and compare the diversity and commonality of their Hispanic heritage.

SPANISH306 - Health, Culture, and the Latino Community

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 306
Title: Health, Culture, and the Latino Community

Description:
Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. Projects include presentations, writing, research, and conversations with local and global contacts. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>306-1</td>
<td>Health, Culture, and the Latino Community: Service Learning</td>
<td>Exploration of health issues in the Spanish-speaking world shaped by social, cultural, political, ethnic, and economic determinants. Topics: cultural competency, community beliefs, medical practices and policies, preventive medicine, mental health. This is a service-learning or community-engaged course. Engagement may include direct, project-based, or research-focused service with local/global community partners among other engaged practices. Evaluation on knowledge of content, oral and written proficiency in Spanish. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>306A</td>
<td>Language, Culture, and Health in Costa Rica</td>
<td>Builds proficiency in oral and written Spanish through exploration of language, culture, and issues related to health in Costa Rica. Learning through personal observations and classroom discussions based on readings and guest speakers. Interaction with community in interviews and visits to local organizations and health providers to further knowledge on issues that impact community life. Assessment based on language and content of written and oral projects. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent. Taught in Duke-in-Costa Rica summer program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>307S</td>
<td>Issues of Education and Immigration</td>
<td>Topics include Latino/a/x identities, educational pathways for Spanish-speakers in our community, relevant public policy and legislation, and social action. Required 20 hours outside of class with assigned community partners. Assessment on knowledge of content, oral and written Spanish, and participation in service. One 300-level Spanish course recommended prior to enrolling.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>308S</td>
<td>Latinx Voices in Duke, Durham, and Beyond</td>
<td>Construction of Latinx identity(ies) and formation of community voices through the lens of cultural, political, and social issues at local and national level. Assessment on knowledge of content, oral and written Spanish. Includes service-learning component. Recommended students take 300-level Spanish course prior to enrolling.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>309S</td>
<td>Spanish in the U.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Focus on linguistic development and current presence of Spanish in the United States. Students will develop linguistic and critical awareness about the relationship between Spanish language and society, with special emphasis on topics such as language variety, language contact from a social, political and educational perspective, types of bilingualism, sociolinguistic issues, migration patterns and settlements, etc. Readings in English and in Spanish with class discussion in Spanish. Previous 300-level Spanish work strongly recommended, or bilingual or nearly bilingual proficiency in Spanish.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>Translating Spanish-English and English-Spanish</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to theories of translation and practice translating Spanish to English and English to Spanish. Students explore key ethical concerns related to translation and interpretation, negotiate translation of cultural references, and give each other feedback on translation drafts and editing. Products created individually or in collaboration include ads, comics, articles, subtitling and dubbing, and reflections on the translation process. This is a community-engaged course. Engagement may include project-based service with community partners among other engaged practices. Prerequisite: 300-level Spanish course or equivalent. Consent of instructor is required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>313</td>
<td>Bridging Cultures: Latino Lives and Experiences in NC</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Exploration of key issues surrounding Latino communities in Durham and beyond, focusing on issues of culture and immigration, health, education, economy. Course includes a minimum of 15 hours of service-learning with a local organization, plus other out-of-class and weekend community trips. Projects promote the development of intercultural competence, as well as facilitate opportunities for building bridges with the local community. Assessment based on knowledge of content, oral and written Spanish, and community engagement. Previous 300-level course is recommended before taking this class. Minimum requirement: Spanish 204 or equivalent.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>314A</td>
<td>Aproximaciones a la Gastronomía de España: Política, Sociedad y Cultura</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This Duke in Madrid intensive course builds on the elements of the language acquired in Spanish 101 through 203, combining advanced intermediate Spanish (Spanish 204) and advanced 300-level Spanish. Further development of the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Expanding range and sophistication of grammar usage and vocabulary. Exposure to Spanish-speaking cultures. Work with comprehension and production of texts of greater extension and complexity. Satisfies one course requirement for Spanish majors or minors. Instructor consent required. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 203 or equivalent.
SPANISH315A - Language and Culture of Entrepreneurship in Latin America

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 315A
Title: Language and Culture of Entrepreneurship in Latin America

Description
This Duke in Chile course focuses on learning culture through social and for-profit entrepreneurship in Latin America, with an aim at developing proficiency in Spanish through linguistic, social, and cultural immersion through interactions with the entrepreneurial community. Course builds on elements of the language acquired in Spanish 101 - 203, providing continued development of listening, speaking, reading and writing skills; improving range and sophistication of grammar usage and vocabulary. Students complete the equivalent of Spanish 204 and Spanish 303. Satisfies one course requirement for Spanish majors or minors. Prerequisite: Spanish 203 or equivalent. Instructor consent required.

SPANISH316S - Global Humanities in Spanish

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 316S
Title: Global Humanities in Spanish

Description
For students with advanced or native Spanish, a gateway to the Spanish major focusing on global humanities in Spanish. Key humanistic contributions in peninsular, Latin American, and Latinx contexts, as organized around comparative themes, regions, and eras. From colonial/indigenous encounter to border studies, Cervantes to José Martí and Rosario Castellanos to Sandra Cisneros, political economy to food studies, and natural history to decolonial arts and literatures. Novels, films, poems, and paintings, as well as critical and historical writing—in digestible bites. Frequent, diverse writing assignments and group work. A foundation for lifelong cultural navigation/enrichment in Spanish. Recommended prerequisite: native speaker status, AP Spanish exam score of 5, or other advanced Spanish training.

SPANISH327S - Spanish Studies Seminar

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 327S
Title: Spanish Studies Seminar

Description
Selected readings on topics concerning the different national literatures of Spain and Latin America. Open only to first years and sophomores; summer sessions may waive this restriction (check DukeHub to confirm). May be repeated if a different topic. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 204 or AP score of 5 on Spanish Language exam, or SATII score of 660+, or other equivalent experience.

SPANISH331S - Introduction to Literature, Film, and Popular Culture

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 331S
Title: Introduction to Literature, Film, and Popular Culture

Description
Introduction to a wide variety of texts from both Spain and Latin America, with emphasis on how they can mean different things to different readers. Course develops student skills in reading, writing, and speaking, and emphasizes personal approaches to readings. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 301, or AP score of 5 on Spanish Language exam, or SATII score of 660+, or other equivalent experience. Students who have taken more than one course above 331S should not take this course.
SPANISH332 - Introduction to Spanish Literature I

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 332
Title: Introduction to Spanish Literature I

Description
Major writers of the Spanish literary tradition and the historical contexts from which they emerged: Middle Ages through the seventeenth century. Poetry, fiction, theater and essay and historical readings and film. Includes attention to Judaic and Islamic civilizations and expression in medieval Spain. Prerequisite: Spanish 301, 331S, or AP Spanish Literature score of 5.

SPANISH333 - Introduction to Literature and the Visual Arts

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 333
Title: Introduction to Literature and the Visual Arts

Description
Survey of literature and painting in Spain from the mid-17th to the late 20th c., taking as an entry point the work of Velázquez, Goya, Picasso and Maruja Mallo as well as painters and writers from the Generation of 1898. Besides studying comparatively literary and pictorial texts, students will view major historical films that depict and interpret the lives and times of the artists just mentioned. Recurring themes include minority identities, women’s rights, socio-economic exclusion and various forms of protest in addition to such community-making performances as religious worship, popular festivals and public spectacles. Prerequisite: Spanish 301, 331S, or AP Spanish Literature score of 5.

SPANISH333A - Literature and the Arts in Modern Spain

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 333A
Title: Literature and the Arts in Modern Spain

Description
Literature is one of the many genres and media artists have used to capture on-going transformations in our ways of looking at reality. This course will focus on the dialogue that exists between literature, painting, and film. Offered through the Duke in Spain program. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.

SPANISH334 - Introduction to Spanish-American Literature: 16th - 18th C.

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 334
Title: Introduction to Spanish-American Literature: 16th - 18th C.

Description
A survey of major writers and movements from the periods of discovery to conquest, colonial rule, and early independence. Includes works by native Indian, ‘mestizo’, and women writers. Prerequisite: Spanish 301, 331S, or AP Spanish Literature score of 5.

SPANISH335 - Introduction to Spanish-American Literature: 19th - 21st C.

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 335
Title: Introduction to Spanish-American Literature: 19th - 21st C.

Description
A survey from Independence to the Contemporary period. Prerequisite: Spanish 301, 331S, or AP Spanish Language score of 5 or AP Spanish Literature score of 4 or 5.

SPANISH336 - Introduction to US Latino/a Literature

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 336
Title: Introduction to US Latino/a Literature

Description
Survey of US Latino/a Literature from 1960s to present. Examines formation of a Latino/a literary canon, its heterogeneous voices and imaginations, thematic strands, historical and political contexts, theoretical approaches, establishing critical overview of the range of nationalities, communities, identifications, and practices falling under the Latino/a designation. Explores how Latina and Latino identities have been envisioned and manifested since the Civil Rights Movement, and how Latina- or Latino-specific cultural production continues in dialogue with US multiracial landscape. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 336A. In English; does not satisfy Trinity FL requirement.
SPANISH336A - Introduction to LatinX Literature

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 336A
Title: Introduction to LatinX Literature

Description: An introduction to contemporary LatinX literary production, alongside its heterogeneous voices and creative imaginations. The formation of a Latino/a/X literary canon, its thematic strands, cultural connections, historical and political contexts, theoretical approaches, and circulation in the U.S. world and beyond, exploring the makings of 'the culture of prestige'—attending to considerations like what produces cultural capital, the marketplace of prizes, and visibility and artistic achievement. A critical and resourceful overview of the range of nationalities, communities, locations, identifications, and practices. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 336. Taught at Duke in Madrid.

SPANISH338S - Race and Memory in the Americas

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 338S
Title: Race and Memory in the Americas

Description: This course confronts this relationship between memory and narrative and their role in addressing the trauma of colonization and the slave trade in its many iterations within Latino, Latin American and at times West African literature. Often pairing the readings with prominent UNESCO-sponsored memorials or other landmarks, this course endeavors to have students question how a transnational Americas remembers itself through narrative and memorialization, despite colonization, imperialism, neoliberalism, and heteronormative hegemonies. Taught in Spanish.

SPANISH339 - El cine político en América Latina

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 339
Title: El cine político en América Latina

Description: Examines question of political cinema through Latin American works from 1960s to present, including examples from 'New Latin American Cinema', with special focus on Brazil and Cuba. Emblematic films, manifests and critical texts will define and contextualize alternate conceptions of 'political' cinema. Examination of modes of production and distribution of 'guerrilla' films; politics of film language inspiring experimentation of avant-garde aesthetics in fictional and documentary works; relationship between cinema and political memory; politics of gender, race, and sexual orientation; representations of social problems, including contemporary blockbuster thrillers. Conducted in Spanish.

SPANISH342 - Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 342
Title: Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Description: Course offers a critical, comprehensive and panoramic approach to the study of fundamental social problems of contemporary Spanish society (inequalities, marginalization and exclusion, social risks, unemployment, housing, education, economic and political crisis, gender equality, etc.) that affect its various institutions (family, work, city, State, etc.). The approach will be twofold: on one hand, it will be carried out from a Sociology and Applied Anthropology theoretical perspective; on the other, it will familiarize students with the point of view of the citizens' movements with regular encounters with activists and leaders of these organizations.
SPANISH342A - Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 342A
Title: Social Movements and Social Problems in Contemporary Spain

Description
Course offers a critical, comprehensive and panoramic approach to the study of fundamental social problems of contemporary Spanish society (inequalities, marginalization and exclusion, social risks, unemployment, housing, education, economic and political crisis, gender equality, etc.) that affect its various institutions (family, work, city, State, etc.). The approach will be twofold: on one hand, it will be carried out from a Sociology and Applied Anthropology theoretical perspective; on the other, it will familiarize students with the point of view of the citizens' movements with regular encounters with activists and leaders of these organizations. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.

SPANISH343A - Decentering Spanish Otherness: Visual Culture and Coloniality in Contemporary Spain

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 343A
Title: Decentering Spanish Otherness: Visual Culture and Coloniality in Contemporary Spain

Description
This course proposes the study of visual culture in Spain from the nineteenth century to the present day from decolonial and postcolonial perspectives. It will analyze the history and cultural legacies of Spanish colonialism through photography, film, illustration and art from a transdisciplinary point of view, with special emphasis on cultural studies, visual studies and visual anthropology. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.

SPANISH344A - The Ecological Side of Spain: How the Climate, Biology and Territory Define Our Society

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 344A
Title: The Ecological Side of Spain: How the Climate, Biology and Territory Define Our Society

Description
This Duke in Madrid course aims to give a perspective that combines geography, biology, anthropology, and sociology in a joint vision of Spain as a natural space, and how this configuration is reflected in diverse creative environments: the cinema, literature, photography, or art from both past and present. Ecology, territory, the rural world, primary economic activity, and nature will guide us in our journey that, acknowledging Spain's biogeographical and climatic plurality, will take us from the paleolithic paintings in northwest Cantabria and their intimacy with nature to diverse stops in the Spanish context and the interaction of these stops with the environment and society.

SPANISH345A - Mobility, Health and Healthcare Systems

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 345A
Title: Mobility, Health and Healthcare Systems

Description
This Duke in Madrid course reflects on the relation among health as a collective process, with healthcare systems as one element of a whole ecology of care, where global and urban structures determine both people's health and the organization of healthcare systems. Drawing on contemporary situations (pre-covid, covid, and post-covid) and diverse contexts (primarily European, but also North American and Latin American), we will explore the social components of health and how inequality (class, race, gender) affects the health of individuals and groups of population by exploring the role of the state, the market, and other actors (humanitarian, activist actors) in health provision.
SPANISH373S - The Spanish Civil War and its Effects Today: History, Literature, Film

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 373S
Title: The Spanish Civil War and its Effects Today: History, Literature, Film

Description:
The Spanish Civil War of 1936-39 through literary and historical readings, art, music, and film. Special attention given to values held by supporters of each side, and how they put them into practice during and after the war. Consideration of American volunteers who fought fascism in Spain. Emphasis on human rights violations, and how they still affect Spain today. Taught in Spanish. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 431S or Human Rights 431S. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 331S or Spanish 316S, or higher, or permission of instructor.

SPANISH380S - Political Cinema in Latin America

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 380S
Title: Political Cinema in Latin America

Description:
What counts as 'political cinema'? What are the possible relations between cinema and politics, particularly in Latin America? How can cinema not only comment on political issues but also perform politics through practices of production and aesthetic choices that are germane to film as a cultural form? This course explores these and related questions through a survey of landmark Latin American works from the mid-twentieth century to the present. Taught in Spanish.

SPANISH390 - Topics in Spanish Studies

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Topics in Spanish Studies

Description:
Topics in Spanish literature and culture to be announced.

SPANISH390-4 - Topics in Hispanic Civilization

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 390-4
Title: Topics in Hispanic Civilization

Description:
A humanistic, cross-cultural study of Spain or Spanish America through history, culture, people, and institutions. Topics may vary.

SPANISH390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics

Description:
Topics differ by section.

SPANISH390A-1 - Advanced Spanish Language Abroad

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 390A-1
Title: Advanced Spanish Language Abroad

Description:
Topics may vary.
SPANISH390P - Topics in Spanish: Preceptorial

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>390P</td>
<td>Topics in Spanish: Preceptorial</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A preceptorial, in Spanish, requiring concurrent enrollment in Spanish 390. Further information available from instructor.

SPANISH390S - Special Topics in Spanish Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>390S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Spanish Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Topics in Spanish literature and culture to be announced. Topics vary by semester.

SPANISH393 - Research Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>393</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

SPANISH394 - Research Independent Study

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>394</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
See Spanish 393. Open only to qualified juniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

SPANISH409S - Identity and Linguistic Rights in the Spanish Speaking Americas

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>409S</td>
<td>Identity and Linguistic Rights in the Spanish Speaking Americas</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course focuses on linguistic justice and linguistic rights in interaction with other human rights. The class explores concepts of language, power, linguistic discrimination, and raciolinguistics in the context of bilingualism/multilingualism, indigenous languages, and endangered languages. We will examine how language is used to shape and negotiate identities, and how it reflects and sustains social realities and situations of social inequality. Methodologically, we will use linguistic and sociolinguistic analysis and elements of critical discourse analysis.

SPANISH410 - Suspicious Truths and Alternative Realities: Spanish Literature of the Renaissance and the Baroque

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>410</td>
<td>Suspicious Truths and Alternative Realities: Spanish Literature of the Renaissance and the Baroque</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Concerns about discerning certainty and facts from misinformation and delusion explored in all sorts of intellectual pursuits from literature and the visual arts to science, politics, and economics across Spain and the Americas during the 16th and 17th centuries. A guided tour of key works and major questions in conversation with contemporary observations about deception and disinformation. Prerequisite: Spanish 332, 333, 334 or 335.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH411</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>411</td>
<td>Golden Age Literature: Cervantes</td>
<td>Includes reading either selected works by Cervantes (dramas, novellas, and part of Don Quixote) or the Quixote in its entirety. Attention to the Roman and/or Arab conquests of Spain, Spanish relations with Algeria, England, Italy, and the Americas, the obsession with 'limpieza de sangre' and the fate of Spain's 'morisco' population. Prerequisite: Spanish 332, 333, 334 or 335.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH412S</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>412S</td>
<td>Mayas, Aztecs, and Incas: The World According to the Indigenous People of Latin America</td>
<td>The basic philosophical architecture of the three great civilizations of America; Maya, Aztec and Inca civilizations. Links the current indigenous revival in the Andes (Bolivia and Ecuador) and in the South of Mexico and Guatemala with the survival of their historical legacies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH414A</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>414A</td>
<td>Urban Fiction and Collective Imagination: Madrid Through Literature and Film</td>
<td>This Duke in Madrid course offers a panoramic look at some of the most important, contemporary artistic and cultural expressions and how they represent Madrid. While looking at historical, social and artistic contexts, we will spend time reflecting and engaging in debates about issues that have been shaping the dynamics of modern cities such as multiculturalism, migration and the role of women. Also, we will look for a way to position Madrid in the face of global questions about Hispanic culture and how it is perceived in other countries.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH416A</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>416A</td>
<td>Cultural Lab: Walk, Think, Experiment Now</td>
<td>This Duke in Madrid course parts from the present, from what is happening culture-wise today, to offer a wider perspective on cultural systems and creative processes in our recent history. Most class sessions will take place outside the classroom and will have a participative character. One of the central concepts of this course is transversality, which allows the student to organize more dynamic and active comprehension networks than what is usually offered by courses in this field of study. Nevertheless, students will always have a base point to focus their direction of study related to the modules within the course: art, literature, architecture, politics, creation, theatre, technology.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SPANISH417S - Art & Democracy: Madrid/Barcelona/Valencia/Bilbao

Description
Beyond the poster, mural and graffiti, was there a painterly art in the pre-digital age that found a fitting place on the street and the square, the citizen venues where direct democracy and the people’s rights first emerged? Is there an ethically responsive and socially responsible praxis which may yield visual works of enduring value without sacrificing the humanistic imperative of communicability? Since the 1950s such questions concerned Spanish artists in all styles (Tapies, Genoves, Ibarrola, Equipo Cronica). Like Goya before them, these painters tried to help their society transition from political tyranny to more inclusive forms of participation. Prerequisite: Advanced reading knowledge of Spanish.

SPANISH418A - The Return of the Collective (Psychosocial Approach Contemporary Spain) Theatre, Culture, & Identity

Description
The hasty transformation experienced by Spanish society the last 40+ years demands questioning the processes involved in its changing identities. This course delves into the economic, cultural, and linguistic circumstances that shaped the portrait of current Spain. By looking into contemporary theatrical production, we will consider causes, motivations, and consequences of the emergence of new subjectivities linked to the coming of democracy. To reach a better understanding of these new ways of thinking, sentimentalities, and behaviors operating in today’s Spain, special attention will be paid to the social conditionings involved in the shaping of identities. Taught at Duke in Madrid.

SPANISH419 - Spanish Cinema from the Transition to the Present

Description
Overview of Spanish cinema, from transition to our present days. Having undergone dramatic transformation in past years, Spanish film offers privileged area to study main features, novelties, contradictions, and tensions. Analyzes two chronological phases: the mid 70s to late 80s, characterized by intense cinematic negotiation with immediate past that unveils cracks and violences of normalizing erasure proposed from the political institutions; and the 90s until the present, a period marked by Spanish film’s entrance in the global market, with its identitarian reassessment and emphasis in new pressing issues such as immigration, memory, and gender violence.

SPANISH419A - Spanish Cinema from the Transition to the Present

Description
Overview of Spanish cinema, from transition to our present days. Having undergone dramatic transformation in past years, Spanish film offers privileged area to study main features, novelties, contradictions, and tensions. Analyzes two chronological phases: the mid 70s to late 80s, characterized by intense cinematic negotiation with immediate past that unveils cracks and violences of normalizing erasure proposed from the political institutions; and the 90s until the present, a period marked by Spanish film’s entrance in the global market, with its identitarian reassessment and emphasis in new pressing issues such as immigration, memory, and gender violence. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.
SPANISH420 - Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Subject
SPANISH

Catalog Number 420

Title
Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Description
An overview of current Spanish and Transatlantic poetry, with special attention to poetics (i.e. how poetry thinks the world while it thinks itself). Following critical interventions of authors like Gertrude Stein or Octavio Paz, and poems and reflections of contemporary authors like Antonio Gamoneda, Olvido García Valdés, or Eduardo Milán, course considers theoretical issues such as subjectivity, poetry's relation to thought, its formal, or the question about reality. Also explores the possibilities of language to serve as a powerful tool of resistance and memory. Students will have the opportunity to meet and converse with some of these poets.

SPANISH420A - Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Subject
SPANISH

Catalog Number
420A

Title
Poéticas de aquí y de allá / Thinking Language: Poetics from Here and There

Description
An overview of current Spanish and Transatlantic poetry, with special attention to poetics (i.e. how poetry thinks the world while it thinks itself). Following critical interventions of authors like Gertrude Stein or Octavio Paz, and poems and reflections of contemporary authors like Antonio Gamoneda, Olvido García Valdés, or Eduardo Milán, course considers theoretical issues such as subjectivity, poetry's relation to thought, its formal, or the question about reality. Also explores the possibilities of language to serve as a powerful tool of resistance and memory. Students will have the opportunity to meet and converse with some of these poets. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.

SPANISH431S - The Spanish Civil War: History, Literature, and Popular Culture

Subject
SPANISH

Catalog Number
431S

Title
The Spanish Civil War: History, Literature, and Popular Culture

Description
The Spanish Civil War of 1936-39 through literary and historical readings, art, music, and film. Special attention given to values held by supporters of each side, and how they put them into practice during and after the war. Consideration of international volunteers who fought in Spain for their own deeply-held values. Research paper and presentation required. Taught in Spanish. Not open to students who have taken Spanish 373S, History 273S-1, or Human Rights 373S. Recommended prerequisite: Spanish 331S or higher, or permission of instructor.

SPANISH432S - Popular Culture and Political Repression in Spain and Latin America

Subject
SPANISH

Catalog Number
432S

Title
Popular Culture and Political Repression in Spain and Latin America

Description
Exploration of a significant body of Spanish and Latin American fiction produced under repressive political regimes. Course explores how fictional characters and real people use popular culture as a coping mechanism in societies which impose severe political and social limitations on acceptable behavior. Also address uses of popular culture in democratic contexts including the US and draw comparisons to its uses under dictatorship. Authors include Cervantes, Galdós, Borges, Marsé, and Puig.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>433S</td>
<td>Photography in the Americas: War, Tourism, Art, and Protest</td>
<td>Since it emerged in the 19th century until today, the camera has framed our way of seeing and understanding the world. In this course, students accompany the camera in its path through major events in the Americas—North, South, and Central—and examine the profound connections between them. We discuss photography as a weapon of war, a souvenir for tourists, an instrument of protest, an illustration of history, a journalistic and ethnographic tool, and an artistic medium. Key developments in photographic processes, from half tone printing to digital imaging, offer opportunities to reflect on the relationship between visual culture and technology, and art and politics. Taught in Spanish.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>434S</td>
<td>Capitalism in the Modern City: Men, Women and Money in 19th- and 21st-Century Madrid</td>
<td>Exploration of the new culture of nineteenth-century Madrid as a modern city, with its crowds, cafés and shop windows, and how capitalism radically changed relationships, between human beings in general, and between men and women in particular. Course concludes with a look at the crisis of capitalism that began in 2008. Authors include Larra, Galdós, Pardo Bazán, Muñoz Molina, and others. Prerequisite: one Spanish course above Spanish 331S.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>437S</td>
<td>Atlantic Constellations: Migration, Exile, Second Slavery</td>
<td>This seminar explores the collective identities of Afro-descendant slaves in the Americas as well as migrant and exiled Spaniards away from the homeland. We will consider three main themes: 1) chattel or second slavery in Cuba, and, secondarily, in the U.S. and/or Brazil; 2) Ibero-Atlantic diasporas since the mid-nineteenth century, including so-called white slavery; and 3) the career of María Zambrano, an expatriate intellectual who turned her banishment from Spain in 1939 into the enabling condition of her radical revision of Western philosophy and the ethics of exile. Prerequisite: 300-level or above Spanish course that meets foreign language (FL) requirement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>438SA</td>
<td>Global Madrid</td>
<td>Focusing on Madrid’s porous LatinX landscape, this course draws comparative perspectives across countries and cultures. Madrid’s demographic growth, at least since the late-1980s, includes migrants from Bolivia, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Honduras, Paraguay, Peru, and Venezuela. Rather than drawing clear-cut ‘authenticating’ distinctions between LatinX and ‘the rest,’ this seminar places LatinX—LatinX—in dialogue with the Iberian Peninsula and Spanish-speaking ‘communities’ alongside sociocultural imaginaries that enmesh Spaniards, Latin Americans, Latino/a/Xs, and beyond. Taught at Duke in Madrid.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SPANISH439SA - Global Spain
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 439SA
Title: Global Spain
Description: This Duke in Spain course draws from comparative perspectives across countries and cultures. It links Madrid's socio-cultural turning points vis-à-vis national and international migration to other geographies where Spanish is spoken. Forming a nexus with broader Spanish-language mobile circuits—as evinced, for example, through U.S. Latino/a/x populations—this seminar explores the Spanish capital as a global urban epicenter and primary destination site for migrants from Africa, the Americas, Europe, and Asia. Prerequisite: Spanish 204 or equivalent.

SPANISH441A - Spain: Cultural Studies
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 441A
Title: Spain: Cultural Studies
Description: Intensive course. Selected linguistic, literary, social, and political issues. Discussions on the role of the regional autonomies and the place of Spain within the European Union. (Taught in the Duke-in-Madrid and Duke-in-Spain Programs.)

SPANISH441S - Spain: Cultural Studies
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 441S
Title: Spain: Cultural Studies
Description: Selected linguistic, literary, social, and political issues. The selection of topics varies depending on the semester. Examples of previous topics include: 'Spanish Exile and Exiles,' 'A History of Violence in Recent Literature and Cinema,' and 'The Crisis: Between Indignation and Hope.'

SPANISH442S - Jorge Luis Borges and Literary Representation in the Contemporary World
Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 442S
Title: Jorge Luis Borges and Literary Representation in the Contemporary World
Description: This course examines the literary works by Argentinean author Jorge Luis Borges, considered one of the most important and influential writers of the 20th century. While early interpretations of Borges' work emphasized its aestheticism and the philosophical nature of his literary practice, more recent critics focus on its dialogue with a tradition of ethical and political thought dealing with issues of justice and the law, political representation and theology. We will read major works by Borges, as well as other major literary works from Argentina, representative works from 'high modernism,' among others. Prerequisite: Spanish 333 or above, or instructor consent.
SPANISH443S - Spanish American Novel

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 443S
Title: Spanish American Novel

Description:
The course will introduce students to the analysis of Spanish American novels from the second part of the twentieth century to the twenty-first century. We will study the works by Spanish American authors that responded to the crisis induced by capitalist development and dictatorship, colonialism, expropriation, and extractionism, while supremacism and patriarchalism, and how they explore and push the discursive limits of national sovereignty and capitalism and how they imposed their order upon living and non-living beings in the Americas. The course also explores how these novels respond to ecological crisis and the anthropocene, from a racial, gendered and trans-gendered perspective.

SPANISH490 - Spain: Special Topics

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 490
Title: Spain: Special Topics

Description:
A special topics course on various aspects of Spanish art, cinema, painting, drama, and literature. Topics to be announced.

SPANISH490A - Spain: Special Topics Abroad

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 490A
Title: Spain: Special Topics Abroad

Description:
A special topics course on various aspects of Spanish art, cinema, painting, drama, and literature. Topics to be announced. (Taught in Duke-in-Madrid program).

SPANISH490A-1 - Advanced Special Topics Abroad

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 490A-1
Title: Advanced Special Topics Abroad

Description:
A two credit special topics course on various aspects of Spanish art, cinema, painting, drama, and literature. Topics to be announced.

SPANISH490S - Spanish Literature

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 490S
Title: Spanish Literature

Description:
Various aspects of the literatures of Spain and Spanish America with a cross-cultural perspective. Specific topics to be announced. Prerequisite: Spanish 332, 333, 334 or 335.

SPANISH490S-2 - Special Topics in US Latina/o Literatures and Cultural Studies

Subject: SPANISH
Catalog Number: 490S-2
Title: Special Topics in US Latina/o Literatures and Cultural Studies

Description:
Special topics in United States Latina/o literatures and cultural studies. Topics to be announced. Open to juniors and seniors. Counts towards the Spanish major but can only be counted once toward the core course requirement; subsequent courses would count as related courses. Counts only once for the minor. Taught in English.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH494</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>494</td>
<td>Open only to qualified seniors by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH496</td>
<td>Honors Thesis</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>496</td>
<td>Directed research and writing of honors thesis. Open only to qualified seniors pursuing the Graduation with Distinction track by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANISH89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar in Spanish</td>
<td>SPANISH</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>Seminar for first-year undergraduates with the desire and ability to take courses in literature, history, culture, art, cinema, or drama in Spanish at the 300-level. Topics vary each semester offered. For students thinking about majoring or minoring in the language, counts towards both. Prerequisite: SAT II score 660 or above, AP Language score of 5, or Literature score of 4 or 5. Heritage speakers or students who did high school work in Spanish encouraged to enroll after consulting with instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STA101L</td>
<td>Data Analysis and Statistical Inference</td>
<td>STA</td>
<td>101L</td>
<td>Introduction to statistics as a science of understanding and analyzing data. Themes include data collection, exploratory analysis, inference, and modeling. Focus on principles underlying quantitative research in social sciences, humanities, and public policy. Research projects teach the process of scientific discovery and synthesis and critical evaluation of research and statistical arguments. Readings give perspective on why in 1950, S. Wilks said, ‘Statistical thinking will one day be as necessary a qualification for efficient citizenship as the ability to read and write.’ See department website for placement information. Not open to students who have taken Statistical Science 100 or above.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
STA101LA - Data Analysis and Statistical Inference

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 101LA
Title: Data Analysis and Statistical Inference

Description
Introduction to statistics as a science of understanding and analyzing data. Themes include data collection, exploratory analysis, inference, and modeling. Focus on principles underlying quantitative research in social sciences, humanities, and public policy. Research projects teach the process of scientific discovery and synthesis and critical evaluation of research and statistical arguments. Readings give perspective on why in 1950, S. Wilks said 'Statistical thinking will one day be as necessary a qualification for efficient citizenship as the ability to read and write.' See department website for placement information. Not open to students with credit for Statistical Science 102 or higher. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab.

STA102L - Introductory Biostatistics

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 102L
Title: Introductory Biostatistics

Description
Reading and interpretation of statistical analysis from life and health sciences. Topics include: basic concepts and tools of probability, estimation, inference, decisions analysis, and modeling. Emphasizes role of biostatistics in modern society. See department website for placement information. Not open to students who have taken Statistical Science 100 or above.

STA102LA - Introduction to Biostatistics

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 102LA
Title: Introduction to Biostatistics

Description
Reading and interpretation of statistical analysis from life and health sciences. Topics include: basic concepts and tools of probability, estimation, inference, decisions analysis, and modeling. Emphasizes role of biostatistics in modern society. Taught in Beaufort at Duke Marine Lab. See department website for placement information. Not open to students who have taken Statistical Science 100 or above.

STA110FS - Focus Program - Introductory Special Topics in Statistics

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 110FS
Title: Focus Program - Introductory Special Topics in Statistics

Description
In this course, students will learn about statistical modeling, with primary emphasis on developing critical thinking skills. Topics vary, but we often cover statistical genetics, agent-based modeling, Shannon’s theory of communication, game theory, and mathematical models for epidemics. After completing this course, students will be able to design and analyze basic statistical studies, to understand and criticize statistical methods in journals and the media, and to appreciate the power and utility of statistical thinking. Examples and methods are drawn primarily from the behavioral, natural, and social sciences and public policy.
STA111L - Probability and Statistical Inference

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
STA | 111L | Probability and Statistical Inference

Description
Basic laws of probability—random events, independence and dependence, expectations, Bayes theorem. Discrete and continuous random variables, density, and distribution functions. Binomial and normal models for observational data. Introduction to maximum likelihood estimation and Bayesian inference. One- and two-sample mean problems, simple linear regression, multiple linear regression with two explanatory variables. Applications in economics, quantitative social sciences, and natural sciences emphasized. Not open to students who have taken 100-level or higher Statistical Science course. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 21 or equivalent.

STA112FS - Better Living Through Data Science: Exploration and Predictive Modeling

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
STA | 112FS | Better Living Through Data Science: Exploration and Predictive Modeling

Description
Combines techniques from statistics, math, computer science, and social sciences, to learn how to use data to understand natural phenomena, explore patterns, model outcomes, and make predictions. Case studies include examples from election forecasts, movie reviews, and online dating match algorithms. Discussions around reproducibility, data sharing, data privacy will accompany these case studies. Gain experience in data wrangling and munging, exploratory data analysis, predictive modeling, and data visualization, and effective communication of results. Course will focus on R statistical computing language. No computing background necessary. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Prerequisite: Mathematics 21.

STA113FS - Visualizing Data

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
STA | 113FS | Visualizing Data

Description
This class will teach you how to use modern data science tools to visualize data and, through the lens of visualization, it will introduce you to programming and data science concepts and workflows. Working with data on issues of local, national, and global societal importance, we will learn to create elegant, insightful, and impactful data visualizations through iterative and reproducible processes. We will also discuss the role of visualization in exploratory data analyses as well as in communicating the results of statistical inference and modeling. The course will focus on the R statistical computing language. No statistical or computing background is necessary.

STA115FS - Mathematics of Data Science

Subject | Catalog Number | Title
--- | --- | ---
STA | 115FS | Mathematics of Data Science

Description
Introduction to the mathematics and algorithms that are central to a variety of data science applications. Basic mathematical concepts underlying popular data science algorithms will be introduced and students will write code implementing these algorithms. We will discuss the impact of these algorithms on society and ethical implications. Algorithms examined include: Google’s pagerank, principal component analysis for visualizing high dimensional data, hidden Markov models for speech recognition, and classifiers detecting spam emails. Linear algebra and basic probability will be the mathematical focus and there will be a programming component to this class using the R programming language. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.
STA130L - Probability and Statistics in Engineering

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>130L</td>
<td>Probability and Statistics in Engineering</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Introduction to probability, independence, conditional independence, and Bayes' theorem. Discrete and continuous, univariate and multivariate distributions. Linear and nonlinear transformations of random variables. Classical and Bayesian inference, decision theory, and comparison of hypotheses. Experimental design, statistical quality control, and other applications in engineering. Not open to students who have taken Statistical Science 111, 250D, or 611. Recommended prerequisite: Mathematics 212 or equivalent.

---

STA198L - Introduction to Global Health Data Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>198L</td>
<td>Introduction to Global Health Data Science</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Rigorous introduction to health data science using current applications in biomedical research, epidemiology, and health policy. Use modern statistical software to conduct reproducible data exploration, visualization, and analysis. Interpret and translate results for interdisciplinary researchers. Critically evaluate data-based claims, decisions, and policies. Includes exploratory data analysis, visualization, basics of probability and inference, predictive modeling and classification. This course focuses on the R computing language. No statistical or computing background is necessary. Not open to students who have taken a 100-level Statistical Science course, Statistical Science 210, or a Statistical Science course numbered 300 or above.

---

STA198L-1 - Introduction to Health Data Science - Part 1

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>198L-1</td>
<td>Introduction to Health Data Science - Part 1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Rigorous introduction to health data science with applications in biomedical research, epidemiology, and health policy. Conduct reproducible data exploration, visualization, and analysis with R. Interpret and translate results for interdisciplinary researchers. Critically evaluate data-based claims, decisions, and policies. Includes exploratory data analysis, visualization, basics of probability and inference, predictive modeling, and classification. No statistical or computing background is necessary. Not open to students with credit for 100-level STA course, STA 210, or STA 300-level or above. This is a half-credit course, must complete STA 198L-1 AND 198L-2 to get curriculum codes.

---

STA198L-2 - Introduction to Health Data Science - Part 2

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>198L-2</td>
<td>Introduction to Health Data Science - Part 2</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Rigorous introduction to health data science with applications in biomedical research, epidemiology, and health policy. Conduct reproducible data exploration, visualization, and analysis with R. Interpret and translate results for interdisciplinary researchers. Critically evaluate data-based claims, decisions, and policies. Includes exploratory data analysis, visualization, basics of probability and inference, predictive modeling, and classification. No statistical or computing background is necessary. Not open to students with credit for 100-level STA course, STA 210, or STA 300-level or above. This is a half-credit course, must complete STA 198L-1 AND 198L-2 to get curriculum codes.
STA199L - Introduction to Data Science and Statistical Thinking

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 199L
Title: Introduction to Data Science and Statistical Thinking

Description:
Intro to data science and statistical thinking. Learn to explore, visualize, and analyze data to understand natural phenomena, investigate patterns, model outcomes, and make predictions, and do so in a reproducible and shareable manner. Work on problems and case studies inspired by and based on real-world questions and data. The course will focus on the R statistical computing language. No statistical or computing background is necessary. Not open to students who have taken a 100-level Statistical Science course, Statistical Science 210, or a Statistical Science course numbered 300 or above.

STA199L-1 - Introduction to Data Science and Statistical Thinking - Part 1

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 199L-1
Title: Introduction to Data Science and Statistical Thinking - Part 1

Description:
Intro to data science and statistical thinking. Explore, visualize, and analyze data to understand natural phenomena, investigate patterns, model outcomes, and make predictions, and do so in a reproducible and shareable manner with R. Gain experience in data wrangling and munging, exploratory data analysis, predictive modeling, and data visualization, and effective communication of results. Work on problems and case studies inspired by and based on real-world questions and data. No statistical or computing background is necessary. Not open to students with credit for 100-level STA course, STA 210, or STA 300-level or above. This is a half-credit course, must complete STA 199L-1 AND 199L-2 to get curriculum codes.

STA199L-2 - Introduction to Data Science and Statistical Thinking - Part 2

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 199L-2
Title: Introduction to Data Science and Statistical Thinking - Part 2

Description:
Intro to data science and statistical thinking. Explore, visualize, and analyze data to understand natural phenomena, investigate patterns, model outcomes, and make predictions, and do so in a reproducible and shareable manner with R. Gain experience in data wrangling and munging, exploratory data analysis, predictive modeling, data visualization, and effective communication of results with problems and case studies based on real-world questions and data. No statistical or computing background is necessary. Not open to students with credit for 100-level STA course, STA 210, or STA 300-level or above. This is a half-credit course, must complete STA 199L-1 AND 199L-2 to get curriculum codes.

STA20 - General Statistics

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 20
Title: General Statistics

Description:
Credit for Advanced Placement on the basis of College Board Examination in statistical science.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>210L</td>
<td>Regression Analysis</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Extensive study of regression modeling. Multiple regression, weighted least squares, logistic regression, log-linear models, analysis of variance, model diagnostics, and selection. Emphasis on applications. Examples are drawn from a variety of fields. Prerequisite: 100-level STA course or STA 230, 231, or 240L. Interested students with different backgrounds should discuss and seek instructor consent.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>211</td>
<td>The Mathematics of Regression</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Introduction to mathematics underpinning linear regression and logistic regression. Estimation methods, including maximum likelihood and least squares estimation of regression parameters. Linear algebra in regression modeling. Prerequisite: Mathematics 216, 218, or 221; Prerequisite or Corequisite: Statistical Science 210.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>230</td>
<td>Probability</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Probability models, random variables with discrete and continuous distributions. Independence, joint distributions, conditional distributions. Expectations, functions of random variables, central limit theorem. Prerequisite: Calculus II (Mathematics 22, 112L, 122, or 122L) OR credit for multivariable calculus (Mathematics 202, 212, 219, or 222) OR graduate student standing. Not open to students who have credit for Mathematics 340.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>231</td>
<td>Advanced Introduction to Probability</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Advanced introduction to basic, non-measure theoretic probability covering topics in more depth and with more rigor than MATH 230. Topics include random variables with discrete and continuous distributions, generating functions, Bayes’ formula, and Markov chains. Rigorous arguments are presented for the law of large numbers, central limit theorem, and Poisson limit theorems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 202, 212, or 222. Not open to those who have taken Mathematics 230 or Statistics 230.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>240L</td>
<td>Probability for Statistical Inference, Modeling, and Data Analysis</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>250D</td>
<td>Statistics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>30</td>
<td>Basic Statistics and Quantitative Literacy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>Generalized Linear Models</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>313L</td>
<td>Advanced Data Visualization</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>322</td>
<td>Study Design: Design of Surveys and Causal Studies</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STA250D - Statistics

Description
An introduction to the concepts, theory, and application of statistical inference, including the structure of statistical problems, probability modeling, data analysis and statistical computing, and linear regression. Inference from the viewpoint of Bayesian statistics, with some discussion of sampling theory methods and comparative inference. Applications to problems in various fields. Prerequisite: (Mathematics 202D, 212, 219, or 222) and (Statistical Science 230, Statistical Science 240L, or Mathematics 340).

STA291 - Independent Study

Description
Directed readings or work in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper, project, or written report covering a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

STA30 - Basic Statistics and Quantitative Literacy

Description
Statistical concepts involved in making inferences, decisions, and predictions from data. Emphasis on applications, not formal technique. Prerequisite: Director of undergraduate studies consent.

STA310 - Generalized Linear Models

Description
Linear regression and logistic regression can be used analyze multivariable relationships; however, they require data follow a particular structure and that certain assumptions be met. Building upon the the content from STA 210, this course will cover the broader class of generalized linear models, focusing on models for non-normal response variables. Students will also be introduced to multi-level models, and extension of generalized linear models used to analyze data with correlated observations. Focus will be on model fitting and interpretation. Applications will come from a variety of fields. R will be used for computing.

STA313L - Advanced Data Visualization

Description
This course is all about the art and science of visualizing data. Learn about the what (types of visualizations, tools to produce them), the how (start with a design, pre-process the data, map it to graphical attributes, make strategic decisions about visual encoding, post-process for readability and visual appeal), and the why (the theory behind the grammar of graphics). Evaluate the clarity, effectiveness, and honesty of visualization choices and improve (your and others’) visualizations through an iterative design process. Discuss the role of statistical graphics in modeling and inference. Do it all in R, reproducible, and using a variety of modern data visualization packages. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 198L or (198L-1 and 198L-2) or 199L or (199L-1 and 199L-2) or 210L.

STA322 - Study Design: Design of Surveys and Causal Studies

Description
Investigation of study designs collecting data and their implications for statistical inference. Design and analysis of surveys of populations, including stratification, clustering, multi-stage sampling, design-based inference, considerations when analyzing convenience samples and big data. Design and analysis of causal studies including randomized experiments, blocking, fractional factorial designs, non-randomized studies, propensity score analysis. Applications involving big data, health, policy, natural and social sciences. Not open to students who have taken Statistical Science 522. Recommended prerequisite: Statistical Science 210, 521, or the equivalent.
STA323D - Statistical Computing

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 323D
Title: Statistical Computing
Description: A practical introduction to statistical programming focusing on the R programming language. Students will engage with the programming challenges inherent in the various stages of modern statistical analyses including everything from data collection/aggregation/cleaning to visualization and exploratory analysis to statistical model building and evaluation. This course places an emphasis on modern approaches/best practices for programming including source control, collaborative coding, literate and reproducible programming, and distributed and multicore computing. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 210 and Statistical Science 240L or 230 or 231.

STA325L - Machine Learning and Data Mining

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 325L
Title: Machine Learning and Data Mining
Description: The rapid growth of digitalized data and the computer power available to analyze it has created immense opportunities for both machine learning and data mining. This course introduces machine learning and data mining methods. Topics covered include information retrieval, clustering, classification, modern regression, cross validation, boosting and bagging. Course emphasizes selection of appropriate methods and justification of choice, use of programming for implementation of the method, and evaluation and effective communication of results in data analysis reports. Prerequisite: Prerequisite: Statistical Science 210 and (Statistical Science 240L or 230 or 231).

STA340 - Introduction to Statistical Decision Analysis

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 340
Title: Introduction to Statistical Decision Analysis
Description: Quantitative methods for decision making under uncertainty. Probability theory, personal probabilities and utilities, decision trees, ROC curves, sensitivity analysis, dominant strategies, Bayesian networks and influence diagrams, Markov models and time discounting, cost-effectiveness analysis, multi-agent decision making, game theory. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 230, 231, or 240L.

STA344 - Introduction to the Statistical Modeling of Spatial and Time Series Data

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 344
Title: Introduction to the Statistical Modeling of Spatial and Time Series Data
Description: Introduction to modeling of data with spatial and/or time dependence. This course introduces methods and tools for manipulating, exploring, and modeling spatial (point referenced and areal) and time series data (discrete and continuous). Some of the key modeling techniques covered include: Gaussian processes and their generalizations; CAR, SAR, IAR, and kriging models; ARM, ARMA, and dynamic linear models. The course will cover the underlying statistical theory behind these models as well as the use of computational tools for the application of these models to real data. Prerequisites: STA 210 and one of (STA 230, 231 or 240) and pre- or co-requisite: STA 211.
STA360L - Bayesian Inference and Modern Statistical Methods

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 360L
Title: Bayesian Inference and Modern Statistical Methods

Description
Principles of data analysis and advanced statistical modeling. Bayesian inference, prior and posterior distributions, multi-level models, model checking and selection, stochastic simulation by Markov Chain Monte Carlo. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 210 and (Statistical Science 230, 231, or 240L) and (Mathematics 202, 202D, 212, or 222) and (Computer Science 101L, Computer Science 102L, Computer Science 201, or Engineering 103L) and (Mathematics 216, 218, or 221). Corequisite: Statistical Science 211.

STA410L - Multilevel and Hierarchical Models

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 410L
Title: Multilevel and Hierarchical Models

Description
Variance component models with fixed and random effects. Multilevel and hierarchical models for longitudinal and/or clustered data. Focus on model fitting and interpretation. Maximum likelihood and Bayesian inference and computation. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 360. Recommended prerequisite: R programming skills.

STA391 - Independent Study

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study

Description
Directed readings or work in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper, project, or written report covering a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

STA393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

STA432 - Theory and Methods of Statistical Learning and Inference

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 432
Title: Theory and Methods of Statistical Learning and Inference

Description
Estimators and properties (efficiency, consistency, sufficiency); loss functions. Fisher information, asymptotic properties and distributions of estimators. Exponential families. Point and interval estimation, delta method. Neyman-Pearson lemma; likelihood ratio tests; multiple testing; design and the analysis of variance (ANOVA). High-dimensional data; statistical regularization and sparsity; penalty and prior formulations; model selection. Resampling methods; principal component analysis, mixture models. Prerequisite: (Statistical Science 240L, 230, or 231) and (Mathematics 202, 212, 219, or 222). Not open to students with credit for STA 250. Recommended prerequisite: Statistical Science 210, 360, and (Mathematics 221, 218, or 216).

STA440L - Case Studies in the Practice of Statistics

Subject: STA
Catalog Number: 440L
Title: Case Studies in the Practice of Statistics

Description
Students apply statistical analysis skills to in-depth data analysis projects ranging across diverse application areas including but not limited to energy, environmental sustainability, global health, information and culture, brain sciences, and social networks. Students practice cutting-edge statistical methods and communicate their results both technically and non-technically via presentations and written reports. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 360.
STA444L - Statistical Modeling of Spatial and Time Series Data

Subject
STA

Catalog Number
444L

Title
Statistical Modeling of Spatial and Time Series Data

Description
Introduction to Bayesian modeling for data with spatial and/or time dependence. Exploratory analysis of spatial (point referenced and areal) and time series data. Gaussian processes and generalizations. Extending hierarchical Bayesian linear models and generalized linear models. Spatial models: CAR, SAR, kriging and time series models: AR, ARMA, dynamic linear models. Computational methods for model fitting and diagnostics. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 360 or 601 or 602L.

---

STA450L - Theory and Methods for the Analysis of Social Networks

Subject
STA

Catalog Number
450L

Title
Theory and Methods for the Analysis of Social Networks

Description
Introduction to basic principles of analyzing relational data. Consider deterministic and probabilistic specifications of networks and graphs, studying structural blockmodels, the Erdos-Renyi model, the exponential random graph model, the stochastic blockmodel, generalizations to latent space models and to more complex relational data. Development of these models and practical understanding of how to fit them. There is no book, lectures will be supplemented with discussions of relevant papers. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 360.

---

STA465 - Introduction to High Dimensional Data Analysis

Subject
STA

Catalog Number
465

Title
Introduction to High Dimensional Data Analysis

Description

---

STA470S - Introduction to Statistical Consulting

Subject
STA

Catalog Number
470S

Title
Introduction to Statistical Consulting

Description
Immerses students into real world consulting, exposing them to all aspects of research including data collection, modeling, and evaluating results. Through campus-wide consulting program, students work with researchers from various disciplines providing recommendations for statistical methodologies appropriate for their research. Projects examined through lens of research ethics underlying data collection, model assumptions, analysis, reproducibility, and reporting of results. Case studies such as the recent Potti case highlight what can go wrong in interdisciplinary research when researchers are not vigilant of the highest ethical standards. Prerequisite: Statistical Science 360L or 601.

---

STA490 - Special Topics in Statistics

Subject
STA

Catalog Number 490

Title
Special Topics in Statistics

Description
Special topics not covered in core courses and more advanced topics related to current research directions in statistical science. Instructor consent required.

---

STA491 - Independent Study

Subject
STA

Catalog Number
491

Title
Independent Study

Description
Directed readings or work in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper, project, or written report covering a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>493</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required. Prerequisite: Statistics 360.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>STA</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Topics vary each semester offered.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SUSTAIN</td>
<td>245</td>
<td>The Theory and Practice of Sustainability</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Theories and practices of sustainability explored with application to the campus environment, including economic, social and environmental factors, and a local to global reach. The Duke campus is used as a case study to illustrate institutional practices including building design and operations, utility supply and consumption, carbon offsets design and calculation, transportation, water, sustainability education and communication, behavior change, waste production and recycling, and procurement. In a service-learning project, students might perform sustainability inventories and cost/benefit analyses, or gather behavior change data.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SUSTAIN</td>
<td>276</td>
<td>Denial, Faith, Reason: Sustainability and Survival</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This course investigates both theory and history of the concept of sustainability, and explores its various economic and political manifestations over time. What are the historical roots of the sustainability debate? What aspects of life do various concepts of sustainability entail, and how do they inform modern ethics? What, in the end, does the history of political economics teach us about the possibility of sustainable development?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SUSTAIN</td>
<td>498S</td>
<td>Building a Sustainable Tomorrow</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Capstone for Certificate in Sustainability Engagement open to senior undergraduates who have completed all other Certificate requirements. Interdisciplinary insights to shed light on major contemporary debates in sustainability and world's most pressing problems. Synthesis and integration of ideas, concepts, and themes from their academic coursework and experiential activities with each dimension of sustainability, enhancing their systems analysis of chosen theme. Classes include discussion, readings, and guest speakers on topics in sustainability. May include fieldwork and other learning experiences relevant to sustainability. Held in Spring semesters. Open only to Sustainability Engagement certificate students. Prerequisite: Sustainability Engagement 245/Environment 245.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SUSTAIN</td>
<td>498SD</td>
<td>Building a Sustainable Tomorrow</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Capstone for Certificate in Sustainability Engagement open to senior undergraduates who have completed all other Certificate requirements. Interdisciplinary insights to shed light on major contemporary debates in sustainability and world's most pressing problems. Synthesis and integration of ideas, concepts, and themes from their academic coursework and experiential activities with each dimension of sustainability, enhancing their systems analysis of chosen theme. Classes include discussion, readings, and guest speakers on topics in sustainability. May include fieldwork and other learning experiences relevant to sustainability. Held in Spring semesters. Open only to Sustainability Engagement certificate students. Prerequisite: Sustainability Engagement 245/Environment 245.
SWAHILI101 - Elementary Swahili 1

Subject: SWAHILI

Catalog Number: 101

Title: Elementary Swahili 1

Description
Swahili is spoken by tens of millions of people worldwide, primarily in East and Southern Africa. This course provides an introduction to the basic elements of Swahili language and cultures as well as developing skills in listening, speaking, reading and writing. Course taught at University of Virginia, via Zoom.

SWAHILI102 - Elementary Swahili 2

Subject: SWAHILI

Catalog Number: 102

Title: Elementary Swahili 2

Description
The course develops and expands elements acquired in Swahili 101, providing a more thorough introduction to Swahili language skills in listening, speaking, reading and writing. Course taught at University of Virginia, via Zoom. Prerequisite: SWAHILI 101 or students with equivalent Swahili language experience should contact the instructor for a permission code.

SWAHILI203 - Intermediate Swahili 1

Subject: SWAHILI

Catalog Number: 203

Title: Intermediate Swahili 1

Description
This course is an intermediate level course designed to further enhance communicative skills, as well as develop an awareness of the cultural diversity of the Swahili-speaking areas of East Africa through Swahili texts. Course taught at University of Virginia, via Zoom. Prerequisite: Swahili 102 or equivalent Swahili language experience.

SWAHILI204 - Intermediate Swahili 2

Subject: SWAHILI

Catalog Number: 204

Title: Intermediate Swahili 2

Description
This course is the second part of the intermediate sequence, which further develops communication skills, as well as an awareness of the cultural diversity of the Swahili-speaking areas of East Africa. Readings are drawn from a range of literary and journalistic materials. Course taught at University of Virginia, via Zoom. Prerequisite: Swahili 203 or equivalent Swahili language experience.

SXL116 - Sexual Pleasure in the Modern World

Subject: SXL

Catalog Number: 116

Title: Sexual Pleasure in the Modern World

Description
Interdisciplinary study of ways societies around the globe have understood sexual pleasure. Investigates ethics of the manners in which people have explored sexual pleasure and ways that such pleasure relates to creation of the modern person. Emphasizes effects of colonialism and development of race in relation to sexuality. Includes an extensive discussion of pornography, sexual fantasy, orgasm and virtual sex, asking how sexual pleasure relates to histories of danger and violence.

SXL160S - Gateway Seminar: The Global Sixties: Race, Revolution, Sexuality

Subject: SXL

Catalog Number: 160S

Title: Gateway Seminar: The Global Sixties: Race, Revolution, Sexuality

Description
The 1960s in global context, focusing particularly on Europe, Latin America, and the United States. The rise of mass movements dedicated to racial, economic, and sexual justice, against the backdrop of Cold War and decolonization. The mobilization of music, film, and the body in the service of revolution, with attention also to the global backlash and the rise of a new conservatism. Course materials include memoirs, speeches, political treatises, and cultural artifacts from the period.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SXL</td>
<td>190S</td>
<td>Seminars in Selected Topics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Topics vary each semester offered.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SXL</td>
<td>191FS</td>
<td>Intersections of the Sexual Brain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Understanding how the human brain and environment interconnect evolved dramatically with recent advances in neuroscience research methods. Students analyze such interconnections and the impact on societal theories of human sexuality. Students assess influential factors such as ethnicity/race, culture, and religion, all diversely represented in contemporary America. Students read and discuss scientific and popular articles with historical context and explore the consequences of scientific observations on the personal, societal and political levels. Students develop written and oral communication skills and work collaboratively with fellow peers. Open only to Focus Program students.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SXL</td>
<td>199S</td>
<td>Introduction to LGBTQ Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Topics include homosexuality and theory, history, law, religion, education, the arts and literature, the military, and the health sciences.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SXL</td>
<td>235S</td>
<td>Clinical Issues for the LGBTQ Community</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: An introduction to LGBTQ issues in the mental-health field and other people-focused professions, e.g. medicine, education, and law. An examination of the historical treatment of the LGBTQ population in psychological practice, the evolution of mental-health care for members of the LGBTQ community, and the psychological effects of social norms on LGBTQ individuals, couples, and families, including non-pathologizing, heterosexual bias, genderism, self-identification, coming out, multiple-minority identities, parenting, and couple dynamics.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SXL</td>
<td>264S</td>
<td>Race, Gender, and Sexuality</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Gender's relationship to race and sexuality explored through a variety of issues, including health, intimacy, family, the state, economic practices, transnational communities and identities, and social movement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SXL</td>
<td>272S</td>
<td>Sexuality and the Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: This course will introduce students to legal and ethical issues at the intersection of law, gender and sexuality. The course will use interpretive methods used in jurisprudence, as well as conceptual tools developed by feminist, critical race and queer theoreticians to explore such issues as the criminalization of gay sex, the equal protection of all persons regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity, and the role of the state in resolving perceived conflicts between that right to equal protection and the right to religious freedom. The course will take a cross-cultural / multi-jurisdictional comparative approach to these issues.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SXL278 - Sex/Gender - Nature/Nurture: Intersections of Biology and Society

Subject: SXL
Catalog Number: 278
Title: Sex/Gender - Nature/Nurture: Intersections of Biology and Society

Description
Debates about sexuality, sex, and gender hinge on radically different ideas about relative effects of biological forces vs. social forces, or nature vs. nurture. Course changes terms of arguments about sexuality and gender and nature/nurture. Explores how nature/nurture emerged as scientific and popular debate. Evaluates new developments in science and cultural fields that are now reconsidering how biology and environments interact. Showcases debates about how sex and sexuality are formed through interplay of genetic information, hormones, material bodies, and social environments.

SXL290 - Selected Topics

Subject: SXL
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Selected Topics

Description
Lecture version of Study of Sexualities 290S. Topics vary each semester offered.

SXL290S - Seminars in Selected Topics

Subject: SXL
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Seminars in Selected Topics

Description
Topics vary each semester offered.

SXL295S - Sex Work: The Politics of Sexual Labor

Subject: SXL
Catalog Number: 295S
Title: Sex Work: The Politics of Sexual Labor

Description
Sex work from the perspective of the labor and the purchase. Controversies over questions of gender and power, consent and coercion, sexual practices and labor contracts, trafficking and migration. Cultural representations of sex workers and their clients. Legal regimes from abolition to regulation and decriminalization.

SXL386S - Politics of Sexuality

Subject: SXL
Catalog Number: 386S
Title: Politics of Sexuality

Description
Explores intersections among sexual identity, desire, and behavior and political institutions, public policy, and concepts of citizenship. Readings and methods will be interdisciplinary and will examine politics of sexuality in diverse sociocultural, international, and historical contexts. Topics may include: social movements; laws, policing, and incarceration; medicalization and eugenics; militarism and geopolitics; immigration and human rights; welfare policies; nationalism and citizenship; and reproductive rights.

SXL432S - Gender, Sex and Citizenship

Subject: SXL
Catalog Number: 432S
Title: Gender, Sex and Citizenship

Description
Explore current issues and debates relating to the relationship between gender, sexuality and global flows of people, labor, capital and ideas. Consider feminist analyses of the citizen-subject and foundational questions central to this area of study relationship between cultural representation, queer subjectivities, and sexual citizenship. Examine scholarship on gendered vulnerability and the welfare state; the politics of 'terror', security, and stereotyped masculinities; domestic labor and contemporary slavery; and the controversial debates about the connections between sex tourism, human trafficking and commercial sex work. Prerequisite: Previous gender studies course or consent of the instructor.
SXL438S - Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction

Subject
SXL

Catalog Number
438S

Title
Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction

Description
Course examines global Science Fiction genres in literature, film, and social media as case studies to understand broad historical and social formations of Otherness, the Alien, Citizenship, (Im)migration. Studies racial assumptions in popular culture, domestic and international law, discourse of the human and human rights, science and technology industries, and other disciplines. Explores interdisciplinary intersections of race, gender, sexuality, class, and geopolitical divisions and interactions in Asian/American Studies and Postcolonial Studies from the past to the present.

---

SXL470S - Queer Theory

Subject
SXL

Catalog Number
470S

Title
Queer Theory

Description
A seminar designed specifically for advanced study in sexuality and gender. Contextualizes queer theory as a distinct analytic tradition by paying attention to poststructuralist approaches to subjectivity, sociality, power, and knowledge. This course also serves as the capstone required for the Certificate in the program in the study of sexualities.

---

SXL89S - First Year Seminar

Subject
SXL

Catalog Number
89S

Title
First Year Seminar

Description
New concepts and themes in the Study of Sexualities. Topics vary each semester.

---

THEATRST104 - Let's Dance! Live Art and Performance

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
104

Title
Let's Dance! Live Art and Performance

Description
This introductory course offers an examination of the major movements in the history of concert and social dance, including ballet, tap, jazz, modern dance, musical theater, and particular cultural forms. Considerations of popular culture and reality competition dance programs; feminist foundations of modern dance; contemporary performance idioms that involve the presence of the body.
THEATRST125S - American Musicals

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 125S
Title: American Musicals

Description:
What is it about musicals that made them a uniquely American theatrical form? In this course, we will investigate how musicals represent what it means to be American. Musical theatre history is American history, indebted to and reflective of critical histories of appropriation, capitalism, immigration, and popular entertainment. Musicals seduce us in song and dance; it is easy to ignore the substance beneath the sequins. We will study the texts and historical contexts of musicals over the past century, from Shuffle Along, and Oklahoma!, to A Chorus Line, and Hamilton. Musicals reveal shifting notions of what ‘American’ means as they stage ability, ethnicity, gender, race, and sexuality.

THEATRST141 - The Hollywood Musical: Singing and Dancing the American Dream

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 141
Title: The Hollywood Musical: Singing and Dancing the American Dream

Description:
Beyond its unapologetic praise of spectacularity and entertainment, what makes the Hollywood film musical a quintessential American genre? Since its origins, the Hollywood musical has been channelling various ideologies in its modes of performance and production; it has offered a space to address specific anxieties of the American society: modernity vs. nostalgia, representations of gender, ethnicity, class, and the low/high divide in arts. Emphasis will be given on its performative aspects, the relationship between choreography and song, the changing representations of the dancing body, musical styles, sexual objectification and the star persona.

THEATRST145S - Acting

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 145S
Title: Acting

Description:
The fundamentals of acting realism explored through exercises, scene study, and text analysis. Introduction to voice and movement training for the actor. Theory and text analysis studied in their historical context as well as their contemporary relevance.

THEATRST187A - Reading Theater in New York

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 187A
Title: Reading Theater in New York

Description:
Theater is a live art in which one assembly of people tells a story to another: the audience. This course introduces this art from two, interwoven perspectives. First we consider the scripts as artifacts of the past. We uncover the acting, directing, and design conventions that originally animated the scripts; the spaces for which they were intended; the audiences for whom they were performed. Then we consider the scripts as blueprints for the present with the guidance of guest artists in New York (some from Duke’s alumni network) and site visits to theaters and rehearsal rooms. We see productions all plays, which are chosen from that season’s offerings in New York.

THEATRST187S - Reading Theater

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 187S
Title: Reading Theater

Description:
In the theater, what we read on the page is an artifact of performances that once happened as well as a blueprint for stage performances yet to come. In this course, we work as archeologists to explore the meanings of the artifact and as creators—on our feet and with our bodies—to unlock the potential meanings of the blueprint. The course focuses on six plays, drawn from different periods in history and different countries, and includes non-European and non-white perspectives.

THEATRST190A - Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Theater Studies

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 190A
Title: Duke Administered Study Abroad: Special Topics in Theater Studies

Description:
Topics differ by section.
THEATRST190FS - Focus Program Special Topics
Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Focus Program Special Topics
Description: Topics vary semester to semester. Open only to students in the Focus program.

THEATRST198FS - Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry
Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 198FS
Title: Performing Science: Experimentation, Collaboration, and Artistry
Description: Combines a historical survey of science-themed plays with an examination of sci+arts initiatives such as the University of Western Australia's Symbiotica; the Art & Science Laboratory in New Mexico; and the UK's Centre for Performance Science. Central course questions: How can performing arts improve public awareness and knowledge about complex scientific ideas and research? What points of view and methods of research do artists bring to scientific inquiry and vice-versa? We will pay particular attention to secondary schools, contemporary art installations, and science museums as public laboratories for experimental, embodied collaborations across the two disciplines. Open only to students in the Focus Program. Department consent required.

THEATRST199FS - Knowing Through Performance
Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 199FS
Title: Knowing Through Performance
Description: Inquiry into the concept of 'performance' broadly construed; not only as it refers to 'staged' performances, but as social ritual and as self-representation, situated in cultural context. Writing experiments aimed at capturing the ephemerality of live performance, with attention to how meaning is enacted through movement, sound, lighting, rhythm, voice, emotion, and audience interaction. Regular writers' workshops and attendance of theater, dance, and musical performances. Students compose critical reviews and a research project on a performance genre, an artist's approach, or other related topic of their choosing.

THEATRST202 - Introduction to Performance Studies
Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 202
Title: Introduction to Performance Studies
Description: Introduction to field of performance studies, with examples drawn from music, dance, theatre, performance art, protests, rituals, and everyday life. Through comparative study of global performance, we explore the usefulness of concepts of ritual, play, and performativity as they relate to performance and technology; intercultural performance and implications and ethics of appropriation and borrowing; originality and imitation; archive and repertoire; performative writing; and the performative dimensions of gender, race, and sexuality.
THEATRST203A - The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 203A
Title: The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York

Description:
This course introduces its participants to New York through its rich artistic, cultural, and performance offerings—drawn from art, dance, film, music, literature, and theater. Visiting all five boroughs, they contemplate how the identities of New Yorkers—informed by the city and by ability, class, ethnicity, gender, race, and sexuality—are performed in the theater of everyday life: in parks, streets, subways, and especially the city's diverse neighborhoods and restaurants.

THEATRST205A - Internship in New York

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 205A
Title: Internship in New York

Description:
Participants in this course are immersed in the professional work of New York's arts, culture, and performance industries through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist, institution, or organization. Participants work fifteen hours per week at their internship and meet arts professionals from within and beyond Duke's alumni network. They also meet regularly with their supervising professor. In combination, this work experience, networking opportunity, and academic reflection help interns develop their professional capabilities, refine their interpersonal and workplace skills, and prepare for future work in creative industries.

THEATRST209 - How Musicals Work

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 209
Title: How Musicals Work

Description:
What makes a musical a musical? How do musicals create alchemy in song and dance? What is the relationship between content, form, and context? These questions will guide our study of musical theater dramaturgy and its evolution. We will cover everything from contemporary musicals to Sondheim, rock operas, revues, and Rodgers & Hammerstein. By the end of the course, students will become experts at recognizing various forms of musical theatre, gain an understanding of the pivotal relationship between historical context and dramatic form, and be able to chart how innovations often become conventions. Our focus is musical theater on the page and the stage as we explore how musicals work.

THEATRST211 - Musical Theater Workshop: Performance

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 211
Title: Musical Theater Workshop: Performance

Description:
Students will develop the three primary skills of musical theater performance (acting, dancing, and singing) in this workshop. Students will also try their hand at choreography, direction, and dramaturgy as we collaboratively stage scenes and songs from musicals throughout the semester. We will analyze what makes musical theatre performance successful as we work to hone your own abilities and talents together. Each student will receive a mixture of individual and group coaching every week. Permission to enroll is granted by instructor consent following a successful audition into the mainstage production.

THEATRST213A - The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 213A
Title: The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach

Description:
Duke in New York. Various topics dealing with the arts in New York. Group attendance at, and subsequent seminar discussion of, performances, exhibitions, films, and lectures. Research or critical paper required. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.

THEATRST214 - Internship in New York

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 214
Title: Internship in New York

Description:
Immersion in the professional art world through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist or organization. Students spend fifteen hours per week at the internship and write a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of the relation of the students' sponsoring institution to the art form of activity as a whole, the system of production and consumption surrounding that art form or activity, and the sponsor's organizational framework, operating mechanics, and role in the creation, preservation, or interpretation of the art form or activity. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of instructor required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>214A</td>
<td>Internship in New York</td>
<td>Immersion in the professional art world through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist or organization. Students spend fifteen hours per week at the internship and write a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of the relation of the students’ sponsoring institution to the art form of activity as a whole, the system of production and consumption surrounding that art form or activity, and the sponsor’s organizational framework, operating mechanics, and role in the creation, preservation, or interpretation of the art form or activity. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>214A-1</td>
<td>Internship in New York</td>
<td>Immersion in the professional world of the arts and media through working with a sponsoring artist, organization, or business. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts and Media Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of Instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>215</td>
<td>The Singing Actor: Song Interpretation for Musical Theater</td>
<td>The Singing Actor is a research and workshop-based musical theater course designed to introduce students to the analytical and performative demands of acting a song. The course aims to give students a working knowledge of music theory methods, exercises, and essential aesthetics in vocal production and vocal wellness, as well as an in-depth study of script analysis, score analysis, and character development for the musical. Researching and physically preparing songs and scores from various musical genres is the primary focus of the course with the preparation of song pieces for songbooks and audition settings being a secondary focus.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>216S</td>
<td>Writing the Musical Book</td>
<td>Study and create the dramatic text of musical theater. Course starts with grounding in the basics of text writing by studying outstanding examples of book writing, from Arthur Laurent’s Gypsy to Brian Yorkey’s Pulitzer-winning Next To Normal. Students write a series of short scenes (5-10 pages) to be read aloud and critiqued in class, with ultimate goal of completing an original or adapted book for a one-act musical (30-60 pages.)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
THEATRST218SA - New York Scenes

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 218SA
Title: New York Scenes

Description
New York Scenes will focus on the various cultural institutions, scenes, establishments, happenings, hang-outs, movements, etc., that make up New York City. Early in the semester, students will select a particular 'scene' to research over the course of the term. For example: Tin Pan Alley (popular music, theater), The Lafayette Theatre (black arts), St. Mark's Church (poetry, punk rock), the Chelsea Hotel (mid-century writers, pop stars and outcasts), La MaMa (experimental theater), the Christopher Street Piers (queer history, lgbtq youth) and Union Square Park (leftist organizing history). Open to students in the Duke in New York program.

THEATRST219S - Production Management for Theater

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 219S
Title: Production Management for Theater

Description
What does it mean to successfully manage an artistic endeavor? How does management affect whether or not a project is successful? How can artist managers be more sensitive and responsive to the needs of their fellow collaborators? This course explores theater from the perspective of the production manager. While our focus will be theater, we'll also discuss how to apply skills such as scheduling, budgeting, writing contracts, and personnel negotiation across the performing and cinematic arts.

THEATRST220SA - Korea in Performance: Global Culture and Soft Power

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 220SA
Title: Korea in Performance: Global Culture and Soft Power

Description
This course surveys the various ways in which South Korea has emerged as a leading nation in the creation of global culture since the late twentieth century. Exemplified by K-pop and K-drama, various cultural contents created in and promoted by Korea have circulated globally and have had a lasting impact on popular culture, new media, and the arts around the world. By using specific case studies in Seoul and its vicinities and by inviting guest speakers, the course introduces students to topics of globalization, interculturalism, neocolonialism, neoliberalism, transnationalism, and tourism.

THEATRST221 - Manifesto Workshop: Climate Change, Afro-/Solar Punk, and Performance

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 221
Title: Manifesto Workshop: Climate Change, Afro-/Solar Punk, and Performance

Description
Manifesto Workshop: Afro-/Solarpunk, Climate Change, and Performance is a performance-based workshop that seeks to explore radical, embodied storytelling through the lenses of several manifestos: Afrofuturism, Solarpunk, Environmental Justice, and Queer Utopias. Through creative research, embodied 'in(queer)ly,' and collaborative theater-making, the workshop will culminate in a public performance of original student work.
THEATRST222 - Shakespeare

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
222

Title
Shakespeare

Description
Introduction to the major works of Shakespeare. Exploration of the author's central themes and contexts, with particular focus on Shakespeare's exploration of love as a mode of ethical inquiry and moral philosophy. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

THEATRST223S - Modern German Theater and Drama

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
223S

Title
Modern German Theater and Drama

Description
Introduction to some major works of theater and drama of German-speaking central Europe, especially as they attempt to address contemporary social issues. Emphasis primarily on 20th century theater and drama. Authors include Bertolt Brecht, Friedrich Dürrenmatt, Peter Weiss, Peter Handke, Elfriede Jelinek and others whose experiments with dramatic form have drawn international attention. Discussions will explore the relationships between texts and their various theatrical performances on the stage and screen, as well between dramatic form and social-historical context. Final project may include performance of scenes from different plays. Taught in German.

THEATRST224 - Sport As Performance

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
224

Title
Sport As Performance

Description
This course studies athletic cultures under rubrics provided by theater, performance studies, anthropology, media studies, and history to understand sports as ritual, theater, and performance. Our investigation includes professional and collegiate teams sports, as well as individual athletic performances. The course includes examinations of gender, race, and national identity in live events and the media. A twice-weekly seminar format features lectures, discussions, independent research projects, and guest speakers from the worlds of athletics, theater, and media.

THEATRST225S - Transformative Ideas: Power, Theater, and Politics

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
225S

Title
Transformative Ideas: Power, Theater, and Politics

Description
What is power? How is it created, transferred, or lost within a polity? What happens when one entity seizes power from another? Must violence always be at the center of that event, or can shared culture animate the accumulation and maintenance of power in a society? This Transformative Ideas seminar examines how insights in political theory and theater studies have addressed these questions. Concepts include ambition; sovereignty; violence and coercion; collectivism, especially nationalism; and rhetoric. Key writers include Aristotle; Plato; Machiavelli; Sophocles; Shakespeare; Weber; Arendt; Douglass; Soyinka; Alfred Jarry; Caryl Churchill; June Jordan, and Lynn Nottage.
THEATRST226S - World Building for the Theater

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 226S
Title: World Building for the Theater

Description: World Building for the Theater introduces students to the design components used to create a theatrical production: set, costumes, sound, lighting, and projection. Students learn the process that brings these components to life: play analysis for design, artistic research, design, technical and build preparation, construction, and final performance. Each student has the opportunity to focus on their particular area of interest while contributing to the creation of the Theater Studies Mainstage production. Students work in the areas of set, costumes, lights, paint, and backstage support, gaining hands-on practical experience with the tools of their chosen area of interest.

THEATRST227 - Drama of Ancient Rome

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 227
Title: Drama of Ancient Rome

Description: Introduction to the drama and performance cultures of ancient Rome. Students read in translation canonical comedies (Plautus, Terence) as well as tragedies (Seneca) while also studying related genres such as mime, historical drama, and other hybrid forms. Central topics include: conventions of theatrical performance from Republic to Empire, social and political contexts of Roman drama, ancient dramaturgy and theatrical spaces, related performance cultures including the gladiatorial arena, modern reception of Roman drama. No previous knowledge of Classical Studies required or presumed; this course is open to all students interested in drama, literature, and the history of Rome.

THEATRST229 - Stage Management

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 229
Title: Stage Management

Description: This course will familiarize the student with techniques and skills required to be a smart, efficient and effective Stage Manager in a Theatrical Production. We will delve into the principles and processes of stage management through exploration of the tasks required of stage managers throughout the production process.

THEATRST230 - Drama of Ancient Greece

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 230
Title: Drama of Ancient Greece

Description: Introduction to the dramatic art of ancient Greece. Students read in translation tragedies by Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides and comedies by Aristophanes and Menander. Topics discussed include: the conventions of theatrical performance during the classical period; the changing social, economic, and political contexts of drama; costume, mask, and set design; music and dance; modern performances of ancient plays; the art of translation; and the continuing relevance of ancient theater today. No previous knowledge of Classical Studies presumed or required. This course is open to all students interested in Greek drama, literature, and performance.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST231S - Arts Policy, Leadership, and Engagement</td>
<td>231S</td>
<td>Arts Policy, Leadership, and Engagement</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

This community-engaged course provides an introduction to contemporary issues in US arts policy and cultural sector leadership across four broad themes: creative institutions; cultural equity and accessibility; creative placemaking/community development; and the creative economy. In addition to policy questions in these areas, we examine leadership practices in arts organizations and cultural institutions, with particular attention to the kinds of leadership the arts require in a post-2020 world. Students will work in teams on a semester-long collaborative project with an arts policy organization and experience the arts in practice through attendance at performances and exhibitions.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST232S - Asian American Theater</td>
<td>232S</td>
<td>Asian American Theater</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Asian American theater and performance traditions, including major dramatic texts and canon formation. Critical framework for discussing race, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST233 - Dance and Dance Theater of Asia</td>
<td>233</td>
<td>Dance and Dance Theater of Asia</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Asian dance and dance theater performance genres and the cultural aesthetics that inform them. Cultural traditions of China, Korea, Japan, India, Indonesia, Thailand, and Cambodia. Religious, ritual, folk and royal court forms of artistic performance. The mythology, legends and symbolic interpretations that underlie the thematic core of these performance traditions; spiritual importance of disciplined training; the intercultural translation and adaptation of Asian performance disciplines to the West.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST235 - Performance Art History and Theory</td>
<td>235</td>
<td>Performance Art History and Theory</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Performance Art History and Theory explores cultural experimentation, theoretical strategies, and ideological aims of performance art internationally; examines interchanges between artists’ theories of performance, stylistic development, and impact in the context of cultural criticism and art history; traces interdisciplinary genealogies of performance globally; thinks about the body as a vehicle for aesthetic expression, communication, and information in its critique of social and political conditions; studies performance and gender, sexuality, race, and class; asks how performance alters the semiotics of visual culture and contributes to a paradigm shift from modernism to postmodernism.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST236</td>
<td>236</td>
<td>Gender in Dance and Theatre</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST237S</td>
<td>237S</td>
<td>Shakespeare's Nature</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>This class explores conflicting and competing ideas about nature in Shakespeare's plays. We examine creatureliness, human and non-human, in relation to ideas of the natural and the supernatural.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Ways in which gender and sexuality are conceptualized in selected performance cultures. Interprets these historically constituted social formations through an examination of the diverse cultural constructions of gender meanings, representations and ideologies as interpreted and expressed in dance and theatre. Symbolic meanings of gender in relation to forms of social life and theatrical experience. The Devadasi in India, the concept of the male embodied Onnagata, and the notion of the female embodied Otokoyaku in the dance-theatre of Japan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST239AS</td>
<td>239AS</td>
<td>Theater in London: Text</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Drama in performance from the Greeks to the present based on performances offered by the Royal Shakespeare Company, Royal National Theatre, and other theaters in London. Twenty plays will be seen and studied. Satisfies Area I, II, or III requirement for English majors, as determined by instructor. (London summer program.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST240AS</td>
<td>240AS</td>
<td>Theater in London: Performance (DS4)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>The stages of realization of a play or musical from the script to the production, focusing on productions in London. Aspects of theatrical performance through scene work, discussions, and workshops with British theater practitioners, observation of theater at work, and supervised projects. (London summer program.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST241</td>
<td>241</td>
<td>Cabaret Workshop</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>Creation of a cabaret performance (solos and ensemble work) borrowing elements drawn from comedy, drama, music, dance, as well as other contemporary performable art forms, using European Cabaret form at the turn of the twentieth century where social commentary, debate, questioning and provocation prevailed, as a model.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST242S</td>
<td>242S</td>
<td>The Art of Improvising</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
<td>We will explore techniques for spontaneous behavior, immediate creation, and developing your creativity and truth on stage. The goal of the class exercises will be to build community and collaboration, to deepen your communication skills, and to strengthen your natural sense of humor. We will study the works of Viola Spolin, Keith Johnstone, and iO.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>243</td>
<td>Black Theater Workshop</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Explore race and culture in America through texts of Black playwrights. Scene study by racially diverse class to engender feedback process. Juxtaposition of playwright's race to societal standards of universal content; relevance of actor's race to playwright's intent; historical context of Black Arts 'militant' plays of the 1960s-70s. Workshop culminates in public performance.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>244S</td>
<td>Musical Shakespeare</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: William Shakespeare exerts a powerful influence, not only on literature and drama, but on the other arts as well. Composers from the Renaissance to present day, have created music expressly for the performance of his plays and sonnets. Our seminar will explore this repertoire by examining masterworks of music in relation to their Shakespearean antecedents.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>245</td>
<td>The Body in Art in Early Modern Europe: Power and Limits of Corporeal Representations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: This course studies the artistic representations of the human body in many guises: aesthetic, political, social, cultural, and erotic. It analyses the different strategies artists deployed to develop rhetorics of the body both physical and emotional. It considers different media (including painting, sculpture, drawings, prints, architecture, and gardens) and major theoretical frameworks (including feminist theory, phenomenology, social theory and somaesthetics). This course considers the body dynamically through composition, as object of investigation, as locus of meaning and through social understanding. Lectures and discussions are complemented by corporeal performances and improvisations.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>246S</td>
<td>Shakespeare Studio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description: Study in approaches to acting Shakespeare text which focus on the actor's embodiment of text in ways which are organic, physical, and truthful. Use of text as the primary source for the actor's work. Students will have opportunity to act in class exercises and projects. Extensive scenework. Prerequisite: Theater Studies 145S and consent of instructor.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>----------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>247</td>
<td>THEATRST247 - Alexander Technique&lt;br&gt;for Musicians, Dancers, and Actors</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description&lt;br&gt;The Alexander Technique provides a structured method of self inquiry which has helped performing artists improve their skills for over 100 years. By uncovering and transforming previously unconscious movement patterns and mental habits, performers can significantly improve their skills by increasing freedom and ease of movement. All instrumentalists and singers with a strong interest and background in performance are welcome.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>THEATRST248S - The Art of Public Speaking: The Natural Voice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description&lt;br&gt;This course is open to undergraduate and graduate students at all levels of vocal exploration. It is for students who want to explore their own vocal habits and learn how each voice can be strengthened and sculpted. Whether for theater, public speaking, singing, or building confidence, this work addresses the unique possibilities of each individual voice. We will work with breathing exercises, text, tone, resonators, and movements. There will be assigned readings and presentations in class. Please note: it is up to the Director of Graduate Studies for a graduate student's academic program to allow an undergraduate course to count for a master's or doctoral degree.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>THEATRST249S - Understanding Mediation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description&lt;br&gt;Examines experience as always mediated. How does text mediate expression, or language mediate subjectivity? How do images mediate power, or sounds mediate resistance? How does computation mediate agency, or networks mediate thought? But also, how do nations mediate globalization, or oil mediate energy? And how do bodies mediate liveness, or the environment mediate history? Moves from particular media forms and examples (language, literature, the fine and performing arts, audiovisual media, computational media) to focus on key theoretical concepts and debates of critical theory from twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Crosses national boundaries to understand mediation from global perspective.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>THEATRST251AS - Duke in London: Arts</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description&lt;br&gt;This course surveys London as a site of dynamic cultural production, whose participation in the global marketplace of artistic commodities reveals the city’s restless transnational, cosmopolitan character. Studying local institutions, students are introduced to the complex relationship among art, state, and the global cultural marketplace; studying a multiracial and multietnic community, they become familiar with theories of globalization, neoliberalism, and cosmpolitanism, as well as migration and so-called national identity. Students also participate in excursions including dance, opera, and theatre productions and visits to museums and other sites of cultural importance.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Duke University

THEATRST252FS - Performance and Citizenship in Asian America

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 252FS
Title: Performance and Citizenship in Asian America

Description: The course examines the relationship between performance and citizenship with case studies drawn from Asian American history. Performance has been central to the formation and expression of citizenship since the beginning of US history, and for Asian Americans, who are stereotyped as ‘perpetual foreigners,’ the experience of becoming citizens have involved complex legal and cultural challenges that question what ‘American’ means broadly. Providing an interdisciplinary survey, the course includes studies of various forms of performances, including legal cases, activism, political campaigns, theater, film, and new media. Open only to Focus Program students.

THEATRST255S - Directing

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 255S
Title: Directing

Description: Establishment of basic skills of information communication from script to stage to audience; analyzing texts from a director’s point of view; basic stage articulation of viewpoint; development of skills in mechanics and staging techniques. Emphasis on scripts of poetic realists.

THEATRST261S - Costume Design

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 261S
Title: Costume Design

Description: This course is designed to introduce students to the essentials of costume design and rendering. Emphasis will be placed on historical research, applying conceptual thought, and script and character analysis. Students will also explore and deepen visual art skills using figure drawing and various media as communication tools. No previous art or theatre experience necessary.

THEATRST262S - Scene Design

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 262S
Title: Scene Design

Description: Study of theory and methodology of set design for stage through examination of historical and contemporary stage design as well as conceptualization, research, and development of design solutions for assigned plays.

THEATRST263S - Lighting Design

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 263S
Title: Lighting Design

Description: Introduction to the process and practice of lighting design for the theater. Focus on text analysis, research, design process, instrumentation, control, color, design documents, and realization of designs in the theater. Includes the study of principles and practices, labs in design imagery, and projects in lighting design.

THEATRST264S - Puppetry

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 264S
Title: Puppetry

Description: This course explores the conception and creation of various forms of puppetry. Students will investigate methods of building and performing puppets while looking into the strengths of different forms and styles. In addition students will be exposed to the incredible variety of contemporary world puppetry.

THEATRST273S - Screenwriting

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 273S
Title: Screenwriting

Description: Advanced writing projects for feature film. Study of existing scripts and videos, application of techniques.

THEATRST275S - Acting For the Camera

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 275S
Title: Acting For the Camera

Description: Introduction to film and television acting. Prerequisite: Theater Studies 145S Acting.
THEATRST277 - The Dramatic Monster: Horror on Stage and Screen

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 277
Title: The Dramatic Monster: Horror on Stage and Screen

Description
The evolving image of the ‘monster’ on stage and screen, from the Victorian melodrama Sweeney Todd to the psychological-horror shocker Audition. Students will give oral reports (with appropriate clips) on horror movies past and present, beginning with the classic silent Cabinet of Dr. Caligari. Focus on how anxieties of different eras give rise to the different nightmares that play themselves out in the darkness of our theaters.

THEATRST280S - Dramatic Writing

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 280S
Title: Dramatic Writing

Description
Fundamentals of writing for stage.

THEATRST281S - The Dialog Laboratory: Experiences in Group Communication

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 281S
Title: The Dialog Laboratory: Experiences in Group Communication

Description
Interactive, performance-based course grounded in dialog and discussion. Open-ended components of the course make learning emerge through doing, reflecting, and adjusting to the particularities of the people involved. Strong emphasis on student-built directions and norms. The laboratory approach to the classroom empowers students to decide how dialog skills are used and what goals to pursue individually and collectively. A course for self-directed students seeking sustained adventures into new communicative experiences and sharpened audience adaptation. Instructor feedback and readings provide ample concepts to service students’ needs and goals.

THEATRST282S - Writing Movies and Plays: Adaptation

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 282S
Title: Writing Movies and Plays: Adaptation

Description
Theory and practice of the process of adaptation of serious literary works of fiction to screenplay or play form. Reading and analysis of literary works adapted as screenplays and plays. Project in writing an adaptation.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>283S</td>
<td>Writing about Performance</td>
<td>Inquiry into the concept of ‘performance’ broadly construed— not only as it refers to ‘staged’ concerts or plays, but also as social ritual and as self-presentation, appropriately situated in cultural context. Writing experiments aimed at capturing the ephemeral nature of live performance, with attention to how meaning is enacted through movement, sound, lighting, rhythm, voice, emotion, and audience interaction. Regular writer’s workshops and field trips to theater, dance, and musical performances. Students compose critical reviews and a research project on a performance genre, an artist’s approach, or other related topic of their choosing. Prerequisite: Writing 101.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>285S</td>
<td>Ready for Prime Time: Writing the Dramatic TV Episode</td>
<td>Some of the best dramatic writing today can now be found on television. This class will focus on one commercial prime-time drama, past or present. Beginning with a deep immersion into the world of that show—watching all of Season One—students break into groups, coming up with their own long stories to advance the plots. Each student will pitch a story for their particular version of ‘Season Two’—developing an outline, tracking their storylines with the other members of their group, and finally writing a draft of an hour-long TV episode. Each student will write his or her own script—but will need to share notes, thoughts and feedback with their fellow writers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>290-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Dramatic Literature</td>
<td>May be repeated for credit.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>290-4</td>
<td>Special Topics in Theater Studies Workshop</td>
<td>Research, study, and exploration of a selected dramatic text or texts, other performance material, and/or particular aspects of performance (historical, cultural, textual, or stylistic). Emphasis on the process of investigating a text — both in theory and in practice. Culminates in performance or presentation. May be repeated for credit. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>290S-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in Acting</td>
<td>May be repeated for credit. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>290S-4</td>
<td>Special Topics in Theater Studies</td>
<td>Topics vary. May be repeated for credit.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST290S-5 - Special Topics in Arts Management</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
<td>290S-5</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Special Topics in Arts Management</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
<td>Topics in aspects of arts management.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THEATRST290S-6 - Special Topics in Film</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THEATRST291 - Independent Study</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THEATRST291-1 - Independent Study</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THEATRST309S - Dancing States of Mind: The Self, Social and Political Practice of Dance</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THEATRST310S - Non-Profit Cultural Institutions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalog Number</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
THEATRST317 - Professional Internship

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 317
Title: Professional Internship

Description: Supervised work on a professional production; focus may be on acting, design, playwriting, theater administration, or stage management. Written analysis of both the process of producing as well as the final production. Consent of instructor required. Offered only on Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory basis.

THEATRST318 - Professional Internship

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 318
Title: Professional Internship

Description: Same as 317, but for work that extends over a full term. Consent of instructor required. Offered only on Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory basis.

THEATRST320S - Movement in Question: Introduction to Critical Dance Studies

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 320S
Title: Movement in Question: Introduction to Critical Dance Studies

Description: This writing-intensive seminar casts students as a research team engaging in multiple ways with the interdisciplinary field of critical dance studies. Students read and analyze foundational texts and theories, develop capacity to interpretively analyze movement, and practically engage in embodied activities that make gaps between textual representation and embodiment visible. This holistic approach throws movement into question and centralizes dance as a critical way of making the social world. Final Research Projects include conventional academic papers or choreographed performances that engage issues raised in the course. Zero dance experience required. All physical abilities welcomed.

THEATRST322S - Chekhov

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 322S
Title: Chekhov

Description: Drama and prose works. Taught in English. Not open to students who have taken Theater Studies 157S/Russian 174S (Chekhov).

THEATRST323 - The Actress: Celebrity and the Woman

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 323
Title: The Actress: Celebrity and the Woman

Description: Explores through fiction, film, autobiographies, and biographies the significance and influence of the actress (on stage and screen) from eighteenth century to present day. Highlighted topics: actress’s self-image and perception of her art; relationship between her public profession and private life; how she reflects/sets contemporary standards for beauty and lifestyle; how she provokes public debate over women’s ‘appropriate’ sexual, familial, professional, and public roles; her function as symbol/role model for her gender, race, nation. Includes Sarah Bernhardt’s memoirs, Chekhov’s The Seagull, Susan Sontag’s In America, films All About Eve and Mommie Dearest. Taught in English.

THEATRST334S - Modern Drama: 1880-1940

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 334S
Title: Modern Drama: 1880-1940

Description: In this course, we analyze key texts from the history of modern dramatic literature starting in the late nineteenth century and proceeding to 1940. Starting with the flourishing of realism and naturalism in Scandinavia, we trace the rapid evolution of dramatic forms that characterized playwriting in Europe, England, and the United States. We will analyze not only the scripts but also various productions of each of these significant plays by significant playwrights, ranging from Henrik Ibsen and August Strindberg to Gertrude Stein and Eugene O’Neill.
THEATRST335S - Modern Drama: 1940-2000

Subject | THEATRST
Catalog Number | 335S
Title | Modern Drama: 1940-2000
Description
In this course, we analyze key texts from the history of modern dramatic literature starting in 1940 and proceeding to the end of the twentieth century. Starting with the 'non-Aristotelian' drama of Bertolt Brecht, we trace the rapid evolution of dramatic forms that characterized playwriting in Europe, England, and then the United States. We will analyze not only the scripts but also various productions of each of these significant plays by significant playwrights, ranging from Bertolt Brecht and Samuel Beckett to Tony Kushner and Sarah Kane.

THEATRST336 - Shakespeare through 1600

Subject | THEATRST
Catalog Number | 336
Title | Shakespeare through 1600
Description
Examination of twelve plays by Shakespeare written before 1600. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

THEATRST337 - Shakespeare After 1600

Subject | THEATRST
Catalog Number | 337
Title | Shakespeare After 1600
Description
Examination of ten plays by Shakespeare written after 1600. Not open to students who have taken Theater Studies 239A. Satisfies Area I requirement for English majors.

THEATRST338S - Globalization and Theater

Subject | THEATRST
Catalog Number | 338S
Title | Globalization and Theater
Description
This course surveys the various ways in which contemporary theatre has been created and circulated in a global context.

THEATRST340S - Solo Performance

Subject | THEATRST
Catalog Number | 340S
Title | Solo Performance
Description
The makings of solo performance. Creation of personal presentation through journal writing, memory exploration, and personal interests. Exploration of text through voice work, storytelling, and choreography of the solo performer through movement, gesture, and props. Previous theater or dance experience plus instructor consent required.

THEATRST341S - The Black Parades: African Diaspora Parade Culture and Radical Resistance

Subject | THEATRST
Catalog Number | 341S
Title | The Black Parades: African Diaspora Parade Culture and Radical Resistance
Description
The Black Parades: African Diaspora Parade Culture and Radical Resistance explores African diaspora parades as the embodiment of political activism, cultural and social imagination, identity construction, and radical resistance in action. From dance, music, food, socio-political meaning, and cultural symbolism, we will examine Carnival, Oshún Festival in Nigeria and Philadelphia, Emancipation Day in Trinidad, Second Line in New Orleans, USA Juneteenth, Garifuna Settlement Day Belize, Black Pride in Africa and the USA, the 1968 Poor Peoples March, Home Coming Day Parades, West Indian Day Parade in NYC, Martin Luther King Jr. Day Parades, and the Harlem Hell Fighters Parade.
THEATRST343S - The Acoustic Image in the Renaissance

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>343S</td>
<td>The Acoustic Image in the Renaissance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines the dynamics between Renaissance voice, sound, and the body. Navigates the intersections between literary and performance histories. Studies the crossroads of personal and collective identity, issues of gender relations, factors of agency and exclusion, and the instruments of power that govern vocal expression. Readings and listenings include works by Homer, Ovid, Sappho, Petrarch, Costa, Monteverdi, Behn, Lope de Vega, Corneille, and others. Thematic units featured: voice in theory, the autobiographical pen, the political chorus, and performing the resilient body. Questions discussed: Who is allowed a voice? What do voices measure? What voices get heard? And who listens?

THEATRST345S - Advanced Acting: Contemporary Texts

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>345S</td>
<td>Advanced Acting: Contemporary Texts</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Scene study based on reading, analysis, and research. Examination and development of performance/critical choices. Prerequisite: Theater Studies 145S and consent of instructor.

THEATRST347S - The Moving and Sounding Body

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>347S</td>
<td>The Moving and Sounding Body</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This acting course offers a constellation of embodied techniques from the traditions of physical acting, laboratory theater, and devised performance. We will playfully investigate creative articulation of the poetic body and its voice as an integrated system using diverse texts, found objects, site-specific observations, and imagination. The course is intended to support acting performers as they develop strategies for a wider range of creative expression and character interpretation through sensorial awareness, embodied sound production, and transformative gesture for stage, film, and performance art.

THEATRST350-1 - Mainstage Acting (Top)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>350-1</td>
<td>Mainstage Acting (Top)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Students analyze, research, rehearse, and produce a theatrical text for public performance under the direction of a Theater Studies faculty or a guest professional. Because this section focuses on acting, students must audition and be cast for a role by the instructor and/or director before enrolling. Consent of instructor required. Topic vary per semester. This course may be repeated for credit.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>350-2</td>
<td>Mainstage Design and Tech (Topics)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Students analyze, research, design, and produce a theatrical text for public performance under the direction of a Theater Studies faculty or a guest professional. This section focuses on design, dramaturgy, management, or production. No prior experience or audition required. Topics vary per semester. May be repeated for credit.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>351S</td>
<td>Directing Chekhov</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Seminar in directing with emphasis on directing actors, demonstration and laboratory exercises, text analysis, and rehearsal techniques. Examination of rehearsal working methods, development of performance choices, exploration of material and process with emphasis on the plays of Chekhov. Explores visual and conceptual material of directing, and problems of working in performance. Includes a video project—students videotape their directing work and accomplish post-production—edit and production of a digital video file. Projects evaluated on basis of composition, visual interest, and narrative force. Pre-req: THEATRST 145S and consent of instructor.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>364</td>
<td>Performance and Technology: Composition Workshop</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Workshop exploration of technologies embedded in performance: robots, media, computer interface. Students create performance projects and discuss theoretical and historical implications of technologies in performance. Open to dancers, actors, musicians, spoken word artists and all those interested in technology and the arts. No previous experience or programming skills required.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>365S</td>
<td>Modern American Drama</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

While the playwright names—Eugene O'Neill, Tennessee Williams, Edward Albee—may be familiar, do American playgoers know how weird these artists' works can be? This survey course tracks some of twentieth- and twenty-first century's most recognizable dramas, focusing on the theatre's potential for formal innovation as well as social commentary. Plays include Williams's A Streetcar Named Desire, Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman, Anna Deavere-Smith's Twilight Los Angeles, 1992, Tony Kushner's Angels in America, and Annie Baker's The Flick. Evaluation will be based on online response posts, two formal essays, one oral presentation, and class participation. No prerequisites necessary.
THEATRST371 - Artists in Healthcare: Collaborations and Complexities

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
371

Title
Artists in Healthcare: Collaborations and Complexities

Description
The economically over-burdened US health care system and extended life expectancies for older adults offer a unique opportunity for working artists—not arts therapists—to intervene in the rapidly expanding field of integrative art and health. Rather than study health outcomes as indicators of 'success,' we centralize creative practice as our axis of inquiry. Course readings, interviews, and field visits to a Durham-based intervention highlight power imbalances and cultural sensitivities in hospitals, clinical care, assisted living, and nonprofit community care contexts. Culminates in student driven case studies of local arts work and workarounds.

THEATRST375S - Contemporary American Drama

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
375S

Title
Contemporary American Drama

Description
How does an artform like dramatic literature theorize concepts like 'contemporary' or 'American'? This course studies contemporary drama to explore how we might understand our current moment beyond chronology and Americaness beyond national distinctiveness. For instance, did the 'contemporary' begin with 9/11, the Great Recession, or our current political upheavals? Does 'American' signify a set of affects, histories, and discourses that are shared by some but not others? To pursue these and other queries, we will read works by Lynn Nottage, Ayad Akytar, Sarah Ruhl, Matthew Lopez, among others. We plan for at least one trip to see performances in New York City, conditions permitting.

THEATRST380S-1 - Playmaking for Writers: Collaboration from Page to Stage

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
380S-1

Title
Playmaking for Writers: Collaboration from Page to Stage

Description
Dramatic writing for stage, screen or film, is not meant to be read, like a novel or poem, it's meant to be performed. In this class, student writers explore the 'liveness' of dramatic writing in collaboration with actors and directors. Starting with writing exercises that aim at the core concept of 'dramatic action', students' progress to self-generated works. Semester ends with public presentation of student work as brought to the stage by the companion section for actors and directors. Prerequisite: one previous dramatic writing course in playwriting, TV writing, or screenwriting.

THEATRST380S-2 - Playmaking for Actors and Directors: Collaboration from Page to Stage

Subject
THEATRST

Catalog Number
380S-2

Title
Playmaking for Actors and Directors: Collaboration from Page to Stage

Description
Dramatic writing for stage, screen or film is not meant to be read, like a novel or poem, it's meant to be performed. In this class, students collaborate with students in the companion section (Playmaking for Writers) to explore the 'liveness' of dramatic writing as actors and directors. Semester ends with public presentation of the work that's been written and brought to life on stage by the class. Prerequisites: THEATRST 145S or THEATRST 255S.
THEATRST390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Theater Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>390A</td>
<td>Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Theater Studies</td>
<td>Topics differ by section.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

THEATRST390S-1 - Special Topics in Directing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>390S-1</td>
<td>Special Topics in Directing</td>
<td>Topics vary each semester offered.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

THEATRST390S-2 - Special Topics in Dramatic Writing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>390S-2</td>
<td>Special Topics in Dramatic Writing</td>
<td>May be repeated for credit.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

THEATRST390S-3 - Special Topics in Design

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>390S-3</td>
<td>Special Topics in Design</td>
<td>Topics in aspects of theatrical design. Topics vary each semester offered, may be repeated for credit.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

THEATRST390S-4 - Special Topics in Performance Studies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>390S-4</td>
<td>Special Topics in Performance Studies</td>
<td>Topics vary by semester. May be repeated for credit.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

THEATRST390S-6 - Special Topics in Theater History

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>THEATRST</td>
<td>390S-6</td>
<td>Special Topics in Theater History</td>
<td>Special Topics in Theater History. Topics vary per semester. May be repeated for credit.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
THEATRST402S - History of Acting

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 402S
Title: History of Acting

Description:
This course surveys major acting traditions from around the world. Readings provide historical and theoretical perspectives on acting, and assignments require students to engage with the topic as researchers. Students will learn about various philosophical and artistic understandings of embodiment and about the political and societal roles actors have played throughout history. Students will work on research projects and will be required to write a research paper. (Does not fulfill the capstone requirement for History).

THEATRST425S - Advanced Writing for Stage and Screen

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 425S
Title: Advanced Writing for Stage and Screen

Description:
'Advanced Writing for Stage and Screen' will look at the strengths of three dramatic art-forms - playwriting, screen and TV writing - and the particular challenge they share: the concept of 'dramatic action' which provides the 'motor' for a dramatic work. Initial writing exercises will explore these dramatic-writing forms, in conjunction with the study of representative plays, films and TV series. Final projects - a play, screenplay or TV pilot - will be discussed and critiqued in class as they progress, prior to a final rewrite. Prerequisite for this course is one previous dramatic writing course - either playwriting or screenwriting.

THEATRST493-1 - Research Independent Study

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 493-1
Title: Research Independent Study

Description:
Individual research in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

THEATRST495 - Senior Distinction Project

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 495
Title: Senior Distinction Project

Description:
Consent of instructor required.

THEATRST89S - First-Year Seminar

Subject: THEATRST
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar

Description:
Topics vary each semester offered.

TIBETAN101 - Elementary Tibetan I

Subject: TIBETAN
Catalog Number: 101
Title: Elementary Tibetan I

Description:
Introductory Tibetan language course for students who have little to no knowledge of Tibetan. Development of speaking, listening, reading, writing skills through Tibetan concepts, grammar and syntax of spoken and written Tibetan. Topics include situations of everyday life (e.g. greetings, introductions, family, habits/hobbies, making appointments, food, visiting friends, weather, shopping, etc.) as well as aspects of Tibetan people and culture (e.g. songs, short stories, etc.). Course taught at University of Virginia; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Prerequisite:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>TIBETAN102 - Elementary Tibetan II</td>
<td>102</td>
<td>Elementary Tibetan II</td>
<td>Continuation of Tibetan 101. Prerequisite: Tibetan 101 or equivalent. Development of speaking, listening, reading, writing skills through Tibetan concepts, grammar and syntax of spoken and written Tibetan. Topics include situations of everyday life (e.g. greetings, introductions, family, habits/hobbies, making appointments, food, visiting friends, weather, shopping, etc.) as well as aspects of Tibetan people and culture (e.g. songs, short stories, etc.). Course taught at University of Virginia; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom.</td>
<td>Tibetan 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TIBETAN203 - Intermediate Tibetan I</td>
<td>203</td>
<td>Intermediate Tibetan I</td>
<td>Intermediate skill-building in the grammar and syntax of spoken and written Tibetan, along with development of skills in listening, speaking, reading and writing through the integrated use of spoken and literary forms. Students will also enhance their knowledge of Tibetan culture in order to improve their communication skills. Course taught at University of Virginia; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom. Prerequisite: Tibetan 102 or equivalent.</td>
<td>Tibetan 102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TIBETAN204 - Intermediate Tibetan II</td>
<td>204</td>
<td>Intermediate Tibetan II</td>
<td>Intermediate skill-building in the grammar and syntax of spoken and written Tibetan, along with development of skills in listening, speaking, reading and writing through the integrated use of spoken and literary forms. Students will also enhance their knowledge of Tibetan culture in order to improve their communication skills. Course taught at University of Virginia; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom. Prerequisite: Tibetan 203 or equivalent.</td>
<td>Tibetan 203</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TIBETAN301 - Advanced Modern Tibetan I</td>
<td>301</td>
<td>Advanced Modern Tibetan I</td>
<td>A continuation of the Intermediate Tibetan language sequence, focusing on advanced grammar, syntax, and structures. Emphasis is laid on mastering comprehension and communication in colloquial Tibetan, writing skills in the various scripts of literary Tibetan, and integrating comprehension of colloquial and literary forms. Course taught at University of Virginia; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom. Prerequisite: Tibetan 204 or equivalent.</td>
<td>Tibetan 204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TIBETAN302 - Advanced Modern Tibetan II</td>
<td>302</td>
<td>Advanced Modern Tibetan II</td>
<td>A continuation of the Advanced Modern Tibetan I course, focusing on advanced grammar, syntax, and structures, as well as texts from a variety of media and genre: conversation transcripts, lecture transcripts, newspaper articles, academic essays, short stories, dramatic/comedy skits, magazine articles, radio-TV transcripts. Emphasis is laid on mastering comprehension and communication in colloquial Tibetan, writing skills in the various scripts of literary Tibetan, and integrating comprehension of colloquial and literary forms. Course taught at University of Virginia; Duke students participate through video conference and/or telepresence classroom. Prerequisite: Tibetan 301 or equivalent.</td>
<td>Tibetan 301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TURKISH101 - Elementary Turkish</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>Elementary Turkish</td>
<td>Remote synchronous course. Meetings held via Zoom. Introduce basic Turkish language forms and the daily culture in modern-day Turkey. Explore everyday life and culture in Turkish through media such as YouTube videos and songs. Attain the Novice High level according to ACTFL proficiency guidelines: the ability to exchange greetings in appropriate settings, give basic information about self, and identify familiar objects. No prior Turkish is required.</td>
<td>No prior Turkish is required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
TURKISH101D - Elementary Turkish
Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 101D
Title: Elementary Turkish
Description: Remote synchronous course. Meetings held via Zoom. Introduce basic Turkish language forms and the daily culture in modern-day Turkey. Explore everyday life and culture in Turkish through media such as YouTube videos and songs. Attain the Novice High level according to ACTFL proficiency guidelines: the ability to exchange greetings in appropriate settings, give basic information about self, and identify familiar objects. No prior Turkish is required.

TURKISH102 - Elementary Turkish
Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Elementary Turkish
Description: Remote synchronous course. Meetings held via Zoom. Introduce basic Turkish language forms. Explore everyday life and culture in Turkish through media. Attain the Intermediate Low level according to ACTFL proficiency guidelines: the ability to converse about familiar subjects, keep the conversation about self and family, produce more than one sentence, produce present tense, and some past tense. Prior language experience required (Either completing Turkish 101 or its equivalent. Otherwise, please see the Instructor for a placement test).

TURKISH112 - Accelerated Elementary Turkish Language and Culture
Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 112
Title: Accelerated Elementary Turkish Language and Culture
Description: Turkish language course covering both Turkish 101 and 102 in one semester. Introduction to the basic forms of Turkish language and daily culture in modern day Turkey. No prior Turkish is required.

TURKISH203 - Intermediate Turkish
Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 203
Title: Intermediate Turkish
Description: Remote synchronous course. Meetings held via Zoom three times a week. Attain the Intermediate level according to ACTFL proficiency guidelines: ability to produce sentences in various past time frames, easily converse in daily routine and social situations, school, work, personal preferences, narrate a string of sentences and can be understood by native speakers. Prior language experience required (Either completing Turkish 102 or its equivalent. Otherwise, please see the Instructor for a placement test).

TURKISH204 - Intermediate Turkish
Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 204
Title: Intermediate Turkish
Description: Remote synchronous course. Meetings held via Zoom. Attain the Intermediate High level according to ACTFL proficiency guidelines: ability to communicate in both informal and formal settings, to express in all present, past, and future time frames, to write a short narrative. Prior language experience required. (Either completing Turkish 203 or its equivalent. Otherwise, please see the Instructor for a placement test).

TURKISH232A - The Cognitive Science of Religion and Morality
Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 232A
Title: The Cognitive Science of Religion and Morality
Description: Review of recent theories of mind in cognitive science as they pertain to the nature of belief in God, religious practices, and moral attitudes. Arguments in ethics and philosophy of religion as they apply to Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Offered only in the Duke in Istanbul semester study abroad programs. Consent of instructor required.
TURKISH305 - Contemporary Turkish Composition and Readings

Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 305
Title: Contemporary Turkish Composition and Readings

Description: Advanced grammar and syntax with intense composition component. Analytical readings in the original. Prerequisite: Turkish 204 or permission of instructor.

TURKISH306 - Contemporary Turkish Composition and Readings

Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 306
Title: Contemporary Turkish Composition and Readings

Description: Continuation of Turkish 305. Prerequisite: Turkish 305 or permission of instructor.

TURKISH391 - Turkish Independent Study

Subject: TURKISH
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Turkish Independent Study

Description: Guided reading and writing program for students of Turkish with a focus on research into primary source texts in Turkish. Students desiring to take this course must have proficiency at the third year level of higher. Instructor consent required.

UKRAIN111 - Intensive Elementary Ukrainian

Subject: UKRAIN
Catalog Number: 111
Title: Intensive Elementary Ukrainian

Description: Ukrainian 1 and 2 combined in one semester. Two meetings daily. Required recording-listening practice in the language laboratory. Work on understanding, speaking, reading, and writing. Survey of main elements of grammar. No preliminary knowledge of Ukrainian necessary. Director of Undergraduate Studies consent required.

UNIV101D - Let's Talk About Race

Subject: UNIV
Catalog Number: 101D
Title: Let's Talk About Race

Description: This university course will provide foundational knowledge about and explore the origins and meanings of the concept of race. It will examine the evolution, pervasiveness, and consequences of racial classifications and racial hierarchies in the U.S. and around the world. The course will also introduce students to the concept that race is linked to all disciplines and will highlight scholarship and scholars from across Duke. Weekly opportunities for reflection and discussion will be woven into the course, with teaching students how to constructively engage in potentially difficult conversations as an express goal.

UNIV102 - Let's Talk About Climate Change

Subject: UNIV
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Let's Talk About Climate Change

Description: How we speak shapes how we think and act. This course examines how the natural and social sciences, and the humanities and the fine arts, equip people to speak about, analyze and evaluate the many ways climate change is affecting our world today. It gives students the philosophical tools they need to imagine and implement a more just and hopeful future. No prerequisites required.
UNIV103D - Let's Talk About Digital You: A Technical and Ethical Exploration of a Data-Centric World

Subject: UNIV
Catalog Number: 103D
Title: Let's Talk About Digital You: A Technical and Ethical Exploration of a Data-Centric World

Description:
This course explores the technical and ethical aspects of a data-centric world. Students will learn about the technology underlying various digital experiences and then explore the ethical, policy, and social implications of the technology.

URDU101 - The Urdu Script

Subject: URDU
Catalog Number: 101
Title: The Urdu Script

Description:
Learn how to read and write the Urdu script (Nastaliq); review basic grammar topics; reading and writing assignments based on the website Darvazah.

URDU102 - Urdu and Its Cultures

Subject: URDU
Catalog Number: 102
Title: Urdu and Its Cultures

Description:
This course continues with practice in the Urdu script, basic grammar, and sentence structure, including past and future tenses. The focus is on developing practical skills in Urdu through speaking, listening, reading, and writing. Introduces students to critical issues in Indian-Pakistani society, history, and culture. Recommended prerequisite: Urdu 101 or a placement test.

VMS103 - Traditions in Documentary Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 103
Title: Traditions in Documentary Studies

Description:
Traditions of documentary work seen through an interdisciplinary perspective, with an emphasis on twentieth-century practice. Introduces students to a range of documentary idioms and voices, including the work of photographers, filmmakers, oral historians, folklorists, musicologists, radio documentarians, and writers. Stresses aesthetic, scholarly, and ethical considerations involved in representing other people and cultures.

VMS106S - The Documentary Experience: A Video Approach

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 106S
Title: The Documentary Experience: A Video Approach

Description:
A documentary approach to the study of local communities through video production projects assigned by the course instructor. Working closely with these groups, students explore issues or topics of concern to the community. Students complete an edited video as their final project. Not open to students who have taken this course as Film/Video/Digital 105S.
| VMS115S - Introduction to Black and White Photography |
|----|----|----|
| Subject | Catalog Number | Title |
| VMS | 115S | Introduction to Black and White Photography |
| Description |
| Foundation class in photography utilizing black and white film and a wet darkroom. Shoot, process, and print individual student work throughout the semester. Emphasis on the documentary approach and a continual visual exploration of meaning and metaphor in the form of regular assignments, slide lectures of important historic and contemporary photographic work, and critiques of each other's work. No textbooks are required, though students will need to budget a comparable amount for supplies and equipment. |

| VMS125L - Foundations of Game Design |
|----|----|----|
| Subject | Catalog Number | Title |
| VMS | 125L | Foundations of Game Design |
| Description |
| Exploration of the theory and practice of game design with a focus on critical play, game decomposition, and iterative design. Students explore a range of non-digital games to discover how design elements combine to form meaningful systems of play. Readings, discussion, and hands-on design exercises prepare students as they design, develop, and document meaningful games in a collaborative environment. Programming experience is not required. |

| VMS130 - Anthropology and Film |
|----|----|----|
| Subject | Catalog Number | Title |
| VMS | 130 | Anthropology and Film |
| Description |
| The study of feature films and documentaries on issues of colonialism, imperialism, war and peace, and cultural interaction. An introduction to critical film theory and film production in non-Western countries. |

| VMS131 - Experimental Drawing: Image and Bit Play |
|----|----|----|
| Subject | Catalog Number | Title |
| VMS | 131 | Experimental Drawing: Image and Bit Play |
| Description |
| Approaches the creation of digital image-making in collective play. Includes individual and group brainstorming using different digital and traditional analogue processes (drawing, painting, and collage) to study how the ludic (play) enables creative thinking and experimentation in digital image manipulation. Database of images presented from multiple genres. Students work on outside assignment critiqued at end of class. |

| VMS135 - Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art |
|----|----|----|
| Subject | Catalog Number | Title |
| VMS | 135 | Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art |
| Description |
| This course explores ideas surrounding the creation of experimental sculpture. Employs non-traditional methods: 'readymades,' non-traditional materials, conceptual processes, digital interaction and fabrication techniques (rapid prototyping), mixed media including video, and projection technologies. Content of work driven by individual student interests—sustainability, the anthropocene, feminism, social and political commentary, and/or more formal, abstract sculptural relations. Instructor consent required. |

| VMS140 - Create, Innovate, Act: Creativity, Innovation, and Social Action |
|----|----|----|
| Subject | Catalog Number | Title |
| VMS | 140 | Create, Innovate, Act: Creativity, Innovation, and Social Action |
| Description |
| Introductory course for first and second year undergraduates. This course bridges sciences, arts, and humanities, with focus on experiential knowledge and engagement with the everyday. Combines methods from broad range of areas based on creative inquiry and innovation. Students chose particular areas, or combination thereof, discussing their own research, inventions, artworks, compositions, performances, new media, or activist interventions. Specific skills developed at specialized maker spaces, labs, and studios. With exception of guest presentations, lectures delivered in video format to maximize class time production. Guest speakers include artists, activists, innovators, entrepreneurs, curators, and scholars. |

---

Duke University
VMS141S - Audiovisual Cultures in East Asia: Film, Music, and Other Media

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 141S
Title: Audiovisual Cultures in East Asia: Film, Music, and Other Media

Description
This seminar introduces students to various aspects of audiovisual cultures in East Asia, including film, photography, music and other new and emerging media. It focuses on visual and sound studies and their interconnected relationship to the constitution of the sensible world within the East Asian regions while connecting to the larger global context, highlighting the global movement and cross-cultural networks of audiovisual media both enabled and complicated by technologies. Emphases are also placed on hands-on practice with individual and group projects. The goal is to not only understand audiovisual cultures critically but also actively engage in their production.

VMS170 - Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 170
Title: Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Description
History and development of commercial advertising; advertising as a reflector and/or creator of social and cultural values; advertisements as cultural myths; effects on children, women, and ethnic minorities; advertising and language; relation to political and economic structure; and advertising and world culture. Emphasis on American society complemented by case studies of advertising in Canada, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Western Europe, and selected other countries.

VMS170D - Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 170D
Title: Advertising and Society: Global Perspective (DS4)

Description
Same as Cultural Anthropology 170 except instruction is provided in lecture and discussion group each week.

VMS171SA - Capturing the City: Documentary Photography in Berlin

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 171SA
Title: Capturing the City: Documentary Photography in Berlin

Description
History and development of documentary photography in Germany since the 19th century. Photography fieldwork projects focused on interpreting cultural life, public spaces, landscapes, and people in Berlin. Includes techniques and practice of color photography—composition, lighting, color correction, editing, and sequencing. Engagement with contemporary photography scene in Berlin through visits with area artists, museum visits, and mounting of exhibition of student work. Offered through the Duke in Berlin program.
VMS187FS - Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 187FS
Title: Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Description:

VMS188FS - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 188FS
Title: Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

Description:
Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

VMS190FS - Topics in Focus: Visual and Media Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 190FS
Title: Topics in Focus: Visual and Media Studies

Description:
Focus Cluster course. Topics vary by semester.

VMS190S - Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies

Description:
Subjects, areas, or themes that embrace a range of disciplines that relate to visual and media studies.

VMS198 - Experimental Interface Design

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 198
Title: Experimental Interface Design

Description:
Class explores issues surrounding embodied approaches to interface design. Articulates methodology for generating new forms of human/computer interface; includes workshops, discussions, student presentations, critiques and group brainstorming sessions. Content related to biomimetics; haptic body knowledge; multi-modal sensing; physical computing; physical digital relationships; networked relations; the potentials of virtual space and different qualities of space, both visual and sonic. Database potentials discussed and explored in service of developing new approaches to interface. Instructor consent required.

VMS199 - LGBTQ/Queer Cinema and Cultural Production

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 199
Title: LGBTQ/Queer Cinema and Cultural Production

Description:
This class investigates LGBTQ identities, communities and relationships pre, post, and during the Stonewall era through cinema, television, and new media. We will also explore constructions of sexuality, gender, class, race, and nationalism within the context of LGBTQ transnational film cultures and scholarship.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>202</td>
<td>VMS202 - Imagining Europe: Arts, Culture, Politics</td>
<td>Investigation of defining debates on European culture and the fiction which shapes them. In collaboration with Nasher Museum. Focus on literature and the visual arts of France, Italy, Portugal, Spain. Comparative analysis of key issues, including arts of migration, multilingualism, cultural and political relations within and without Europe, development of financial systems. Major authors: Marco Polo, Khatibi, Montaigne, Montesquieu, Balzac, Calvino, Némirovsky, Semprún, Saramago. Research in museum collections on major pieces.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>202D</td>
<td>VMS202D - Introduction to Visual Culture</td>
<td>Survey of visual culture, from issues of production, circulation and reception to how visual media have historically exerted power, elicited desire, and constructed social experience. Topics include: how photography, television, film, video, Internet, advertising, comics, and other imagery code vision and inscribe race, gender, sexuality and class differences, and dominate nature and animals; how the gaze links cultural performativity, from the coliseum to shopping malls and museums to sports events; and how the rhetoric and semiotics of representation provide access to ways in which visual meaning is socially, politically, and culturally produced and obtained. (Team-taught)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>203D</td>
<td>VMS203D - Introduction to Digital Humanities</td>
<td>Digital approaches to humanistic research and its expression, across disciplines and fields. Critical approaches to the digital turn in contemporary culture; theoretical approaches to digital creation and digital remediation of analog sources. Topics include aesthetics, cultural impact, opportunities for global circulation. Critical contextualization around access, authorship, diversity and inclusion, media effects, and evaluation. Exercises in text analysis, digital mapping, data visualization, databases, networks, online archives and exhibitions, immersive media, situated within broader cultural debates on digital cultures, and on best practices for interdisciplinary collaboration.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>204S</td>
<td>VMS204S - Medicine and the Vision of Documentary Photography</td>
<td>The intersection of healthcare and documentary photography. Explore work of established photographers engaged with healthcare topics. Produce semester-long documentary photography project and 5-10 page documentary essay on healthcare related topic. Students must have or quickly develop proficiency in the use of a digital SLR camera and Adobe Lightroom. Course materials include photographs, articles, and books. Class sessions combine critique of student work, discussion of course materials, and discussion of ethical questions involved in documentary representation of healthcare-related topics.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
VMS205 - Introduction to Performance Studies

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number 205

Title
Introduction to Performance Studies

Description
Introduction to field of performance studies, with examples drawn from music, dance, theatre, performance art, protests, rituals, and everyday life. Through comparative study of global performance, we explore the usefulness of concepts of ritual, play, and performativity as they relate to performance and technology; intercultural performance and implications and ethics of appropriation and borrowing; originality and imitation; archive and repertoire; performative writing; and the performative dimensions of gender, race, and sexuality.

VMS206 - Digital Imaging

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
206

Title
Digital Imaging

Description
Photoshop and Illustrator used to introduce single and serial images for print and web output. Consent of instructor required.

VMS207S - Children’s Self Expression: Literacy Through Photography

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
207S

Title
Children’s Self Expression: Literacy Through Photography

Description
Children’s self-expression and education through writing, photography and documentary work. Focus on reading and critical interpretation of images. The history, philosophy, and methodology of Literacy Through Photography. Includes internship in an elementary or middle school classroom. Required participation in service-learning.

VMS208S - The Silent Film: An Introduction

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
208S

Title
The Silent Film: An Introduction

Description
The first thirty-five years of cinema as an emerging art form and mode of communication. Aesthetic, technical, and cultural aspects of the medium will be considered in historical context, from nineteenth-century experiments to nascent narrative conventions and the first disruptive avant-garde movements. Focus is on close reading of relevant films.

VMS209S - Representations of Women in the Classical World

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
209S

Title
Representations of Women in the Classical World

Description
The lives of women in the Classical world viewed through the visual culture of Classical art. Through images of women in statues, reliefs, coins, and painting, the course explores the role of visual representation in communicating complex social and political messages. Issues such as the construction of gender, the expression of power and status, the preservation of social hierarchies, the protection of normative values, and the manipulation and control of sexuality are considered.

VMS211S - Children and the Experience of Illness

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
211S

Title
Children and the Experience of Illness

Description
An exploration of how children cope with illness, incorporating the tools of documentary photography and writing. Students will work outside class with children who are ill and teach them how to use a camera, working toward an exhibit of photographs at the end of the semester. Permission required. Required participation in service-learning.
VMS212FS - Digital Documentary Photography: Education, Childhood, and Growth

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>212FS</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Documentary photography as a tool for exploring public education in Durham. Learn digital techniques including camera function, Photoshop, ink-jet printing, audio capture and production of audio-visual slide shows. Discuss ethical issues that emerge as a result of digital photographic impermanence. Service-learning environment consisting of fieldwork photography in collaboration with community organization, culminating in an exhibit. This is a Focus Program Course for Knowledge in the Service of Society. Department consent is required.

VMS212S - Digital Documentary Photography: Education, Childhood, and Growth

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>212S</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Documentary photography as a tool for exploring public education in Durham. Learn digital techniques including camera function, Photoshop, ink-jet printing, audio capture and production of audio-visual slide shows. Discuss ethical issues that emerge as a result of digital photographic impermanence. Service-learning environment consisting of fieldwork photography in collaboration with community organization, culminating in an exhibit. Consent of instructor required.

VMS213A - Internship in New York

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>213A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Participants in this course are immersed in the professional work of New York's arts, culture, and performance industries through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist, institution, or organization. Participants work fifteen hours per week at their internship and meet arts professionals from within and beyond Duke's alumni network. They also meet regularly with their supervising professor. In combination, this work experience, networking opportunity, and academic reflection help interns develop their professional capabilities, refine their interpersonal and workplace skills, and prepare for future work in creative industries.

VMS214 - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>214</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

VMS214S - Games and Culture: Gateway to the Study of Games

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>214S</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Examines analog and computer games from a cultural perspective. Explores how prevailing culture and values affect game design, popularity, and experience. How games affect those areas of culture, such as imagining disaster, utopia and dystopia. Explores role-playing and identity, ethics, group behavior, competition, politics, gender, race, and aesthetics.

VMS215S - Documentary Photography and the Southern Culture Landscape

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>215S</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

Emphasis on the tradition and practice of documentary photography as a way of seeing and interpreting cultural life. The techniques of color and black-and-white photography - exposure, development, and printing - diverse ways of representing the cultural landscape of the region through photographic imagery. The role issues such as objectivity, clarity, politics, memory, autobiography, and local culture play in the making and dissemination of photographs.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS216</td>
<td>Anime: Origins, Forms, Mutations</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>216</td>
<td>Historical origins of Japanese anime, as well as its status as art, narrative, genre. Ways in which anime mutates: formally (literature, manga, live action), culturally (fashion, otaku, fan communities), geographically. No prior knowledge of subject matter or Japanese language required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS217S</td>
<td>Sound, Music, and the Moving Image</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>217S</td>
<td>Introduction to film studies with emphasis on uses and functions of sound, film music, sound and other aural objects such as the voice, through a selected body of works. Topics include representations of sound, music and voice, the functions of pre-existing music and their relations with the moving image in cinema and television; gendered representations of music and voice in pop and rock music videos; Hollywood practices and non-Hollywood practices.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS218S</td>
<td>Sociology through Photography</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>218S</td>
<td>Documentary photography used as a tool to see the world through a sociological lens. Photographs and the social construction of reality; generic components of social organization (codes of conduct, mechanisms of social control); power relations and social inequalities; and social identities (how they're formed in relation to structures, experiences, history and culture).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS219S</td>
<td>The Tokyo Idea: Visualizing a Global City</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>219S</td>
<td>Tokyo is the political, cultural, and economic center of Japan. This class will focus on the different portrayals of Tokyo over time and how the city has been imagined in art, architecture, literature, film, popular culture, and fashion from the end of the Edo period to the present day.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS220S</td>
<td>Ready for Prime Time: Writing the Dramatic TV Episode</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>220S</td>
<td>Some of the best dramatic writing today can now be found on television. This class will focus on one commercial prime-time drama, past or present. Beginning with a deep immersion into the world of that show—watching all of Season One—students break into groups, coming up with their own long stories to advance the plots. Each student will pitch a story for their particular version of 'Season Two'—developing an outline, tracking their storylines with the other members of their group, and finally writing a draft of an hour-long TV episode. Each student will write his or her own script—but will need to share notes, thoughts and feedback with their fellow writers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS221</td>
<td>Printmaking: Silkscreen</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>221</td>
<td>The silkscreen medium and its stencil-making processes including paper stencils, blockouts, crayon, and photographic methods. Students develop a significant body of prints using these techniques. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
VMS222 - Animated Film: A History and Aesthetic

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number 222

Title
Animated Film: A History and Aesthetic

Description
Evolution of animation from the philosophical 'toys' of the late eighteenth century to the major international entertainment form of today. Special focus on American animation as it evolved from inspired individuals like Emile Cohl and Winsor McCay to a full-blown industrial model allowing for the creation of the animated feature and contemporary special effects.

VMS223 - Melodrama East and West

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number 223

Title
Melodrama East and West

Description
Melodrama as a genre in literature and as a mode of representation in film and other media. Issues include: gender construction, class formation, racial recognition, and national identity-building. Emphasis on comparative method attending American and Chinese cultures and the politics of cross-cultural representation.

VMS224S - Small Town USA: Local Collaborations

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
224S

Title
Small Town USA: Local Collaborations

Description
Theory and practice of documentary photography in a small-town context. Students working in collaboration with one nearby small town complete a documentary photographic study of one individual or group within that town. Includes analysis of the documentary tradition, particularly as it relates to locally situated work and to selected individual projects; building visual narrative, developing honest relationships with subjects, responsibility to subjects and their communities, and engaging with and portraying a community as an outsider. Photo elicitation and editing techniques. Consent of instructor required. Required participation in service-learning.

VMS226S - Space-Body-Image

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
226S

Title
Space-Body-Image

Description
Analyzes ways the production of space in architecture and urban theory also produce images of the ideal bodies supposed to inhabit them. Explores limits of the production of space from standpoint of feminist, queer, and critical race theory, as well as through current research in disability studies. Surveys efforts by contemporary artists, writers, and filmmakers to interrupt prevailing images of space and imagine new kinds of bodies to move within them.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>227S</td>
<td>Color Photography: Fieldwork and Digital Color</td>
<td>Field-based course examining color photography as a documentary tool. Students learn about aesthetic and technical foundations of color photography using recent digital technology. Class-conducted intensive examination of the work of historic and contemporary color documentary photographers. Advanced techniques in film scanning, Photoshop, and color pigment printing. Completion of semester-long color photographic project, and final project consisting of production of a series of color pigment prints.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>228S</td>
<td>World of Gaming: Art, Theory, Technology, and Business of a Multi-Billion Dollar Global Industry</td>
<td>Interdisciplinary and transnational exploration into the multi-billion dollar global gaming industry through social and theoretical lens. Examines local and global cases, through art, storytelling, theory, design, technology, business, and gamer and fan communities. Select social and theoretical issues explored include im/migration and refugees, identity (race, gender, class and sexuality), environment, education, civic engagement, sports, recreation, war, and technology. Asia is one important case study as one of the most vibrant regions for examining gaming cultures, conflicts, and theories.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>229S</td>
<td>Experimental Filmmaking</td>
<td>The history of avant-garde in film and video combined with production exercises.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>230</td>
<td>Black Popular Culture</td>
<td>The production and circulation of African American popular cultural forms including, but not limited to, popular literature, music, film, television, and art in the twentieth century. The ways in which African American popular culture may reflect the particular values and ethos of African Americans and the larger American society. Topics may include black cinema, blues and jazz music, black nationalism, hip hop, black social movements, blacks and sports culture, popular dance, and the cultural history of black style.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>232</td>
<td>Japanese Cinema</td>
<td>An introduction to the history of Japanese cinema focusing on issues including the relation between the tradition-modernity or Japan-West in the development of Japanese cinema, the influence of Japanese films on the theory and practice of cinema abroad, and the ways in which cinema has served as a reflection of and an active agent in the transformation of Japanese society.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
VMS233 - Religion in American Life

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number 233

Title
Religion in American Life

Description
A historical survey, with emphasis on the ways that religious experiences, beliefs, and traditions have found expression in religious communities and institutions, and in American public life.

VMS234 - World of Korean Cinema

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
234

Title
World of Korean Cinema

Description
The world of Korean cinema, broadly defined in terms of national, generic, theoretical boundaries, beyond conventional auteur, genre, one-way influence, and national cinema theories. Cinematic texts examined in local, regional, and global contexts and intersections, in conversation with global theories and histories of cinema, visual cultures, and other representational forms. Variable topics informed theoretically and politically by discourses on gender/sexuality, race/ethnicity, global flows of people and cultures, popular and 'high' culture crossovers, transnational co-productions, remakes, translations and retellings. No knowledge of Korean language/culture presumed.

VMS235 - Master Filmmakers of Chinese Cinemas

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
235

Title
Master Filmmakers of Chinese Cinemas

Description
Films, documentaries, television series, and soap operas produced in Mainland China in the post-Mao era, modern and contemporary Taiwan, and Hong Kong. Topics include the history and aesthetics of the new wave cinema, soap operas as the new forum for public debate of popular culture, and debate over the relationship between Euro-American modernist and the national cinema.

VMS236 - Contemporary Japanese Visual Culture

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
236

Title
Contemporary Japanese Visual Culture

Description
Introduction to the art and visual culture of contemporary Japan concentrating on the postwar period, particularly 1980s to present. Performance art, installations, graphic and industrial design, photography, fashion, animation, and comics (manga). The transnational spread of popular culture within the Asia-Pacific region and the cross-cultural exchanges between East and West; the relationship between high art and popular culture; the impact of economic globalization and consumerism on visual culture.

VMS237 - Global Chinese Cities through Literature and Film

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
237

Title
Global Chinese Cities through Literature and Film

Description
Modern Chinese cities in and beyond China, particularly as represented in literature and film. Considers cities as object of cultural representation, as well as an engine of cultural production. Examines themes of modernization, alienation, nostalgia, migration, labor, and commoditization, and rethinks the very notion of 'Chineseness' within an increasingly globalized world. Featured cities include Beijing, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Taipei, and New York.

VMS240 - Drama of Ancient Rome

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
240

Title
Drama of Ancient Rome

Description
Introduction to the drama and performance cultures of ancient Rome. Students read in translation canonical comedies (Plautus, Terence) as well as tragedies (Seneca) while also studying related genres such as mime, historical drama, and other hybrid forms. Central topics include: conventions of theatrical performance from Republic to Empire, social and political contexts of Roman drama, ancient dramaturgy and theatrical spaces, related performance cultures including the gladiatorial arena, modern reception of Roman drama. No previous knowledge of Classical Studies required or presumed; this course is open to all students interested in drama, literature, and the history of Rome.
VMS241 - Computer Graphics

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 241
Title: Computer Graphics

Description: Overview, motivation, and history; Graphic software and APIs; coordinate systems and geometric transforms; drawing routines, antialiasing, supersampling; 3d object representation, spatial data structures, constructive solid geometry; hidden-surface removal algorithms, z-buffer, A-buffer; illumination and shading models, surface details, radiosity; achromatic light, color specification, colorimetry, different color models; graphics pipeline; animation, levels of detail.
Prerequisites: Computer Science 201.

VMS242 - History of Art Markets

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 242
Title: History of Art Markets

Description: Analytical survey of emergence of art markets, interactions between market behavior(s), visual/media culture(s). Addresses questions regarding the nature of art markets, the specificity of art markets and the application of economic and historical methodologies, how and where players in local markets throughout the world shape visual culture(s), effective causes for art consumption, taste, fashion throughout ages, and methodological implications of art market research at the interface of Economics, Art History, Law and Visual Studies.

VMS242D - History of Art Markets

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 242D
Title: History of Art Markets

Description: Analytical survey and discussion of emergence of art markets, interactions between market behavior(s), visual/media culture(s). Addresses questions regarding the nature of art markets, the specificity of art markets and the application of economic and historical methodologies, how and where players in local markets throughout the world shape visual culture(s), effective causes for art consumption, taste, fashion throughout ages, and methodological implications of art market research at the interface of Economics, Art History, Law and Visual Studies.

VMS243 - Book Art: Typography as Image

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 243
Title: Book Art: Typography as Image

Description: Investigates use of text as vehicle for communication and visual form within book format. Typography, interaction of writing and page design, history of typography, writing and printed page, use of written form as work of art, book design, binding and how text as visual element interacts with and becomes the image.
Prerequisite: Visual Arts 201 preferred. Instructor consent required.

VMS244D - From Caricature to Comic Strip

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 244D
Title: From Caricature to Comic Strip

Description: History of caricature as a medium for political critique and social comment from the eighteenth century to the present, focusing on England, France, Germany, and the United States. Languages of graphic satire in the context of specific historical moments, from the War of Independence to the war in Iraq; history of popular journalism and the comic press; censorship and agitation for press freedom; cartooning and the assault on power; violence against cartoonists and issues of freedom of speech; growth of specialized juvenile graphic magazines and the development of the strip cartoon.

VMS245 - Arts, Film, Or Media Practicum

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 245
Title: Arts, Film, Or Media Practicum

Description: This course will accompany the semester-long internship and will assist students in developing interpersonal and workplace competencies, reflection tools, professional capabilities, and focused expertise. It will also provide students with skills and tools to prepare them for future work in the creative industries. They will attend one group meeting and three one-on-one, half-hour academic supervisor meetings (with assignments due at each meeting designed to move the final research project forward).
VMS247 - Global Culture

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number 247

Title
Global Culture

Description
Globalization examined through some of its dominant cultural forms—the marketing of pop music, the globalization of TV culture, the spread of markets and commodities, the export of political ideologies. Special focus given to the way in which these forms both affect and are transformed by local cultures in Africa, South Asia, East Asia, and Latin America.

---

VMS248 - Contemporary Israeli Cinema

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
248

Title
Contemporary Israeli Cinema

Description

---

VMS249 - Building Global Audiences

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number 249

Title
Building Global Audiences

Description
Marketing and publicity are so important to audience building that, 20 years ago, expanding beyond local audiences usually couldn’t be accomplished without huge advertising budgets. However, thanks to the Internet, you can build a global audience from your dorm room. This class explores how. Learn about social media, search engine optimization, virality, content marketing, growth hacking, and other digital audience building strategies. They’re difficult to learn and time consuming to execute, so expect to struggle. We’ll learn as much from our failures as we will from our successes as we discover what it takes to cultivate global awareness for an idea without ever leaving Durham.

---

VMS250 - Japanese Architecture

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
250

Title
Japanese Architecture

Description
A survey of major architectural traditions of Japan. Sites ranging from prehistoric tombs and dwellings to contemporary design work of architects such as Isozaki Arata and Ando Tadao. Focus on the development of various architectural typologies: Buddhist temples, Shinto shrines, tea ceremony structures, garden design, imperial and shogunal palaces, fortified castles, modern institutional structures, and private residences. Japanese architectural practices compared with other Asian and Euro-American building traditions. Aesthetic, structural, historical, social, and religious issues considered.

---

VMS251S - Indigenous Journeys in South Asian Film and Literature

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
251S

Title
Indigenous Journeys in South Asian Film and Literature

Description
A survey of real or imagined journeys in South Asian film and literature from the anxieties of modernity towards traces of the indigenous. Combines an interest in travel literature and road movies with inquiry into human values. Examines aesthetic representations of journeys that are made to idealize a particular past or to valorize contemporary traces of indigenous communities, while exploring the perspectives on modernity afforded by these real or imagined journeys.

---

VMS253S - Independent African American Cinema

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
253S

Title
Independent African American Cinema

Description
Independent African American Independent cinema from the silent film era to the present. Perspectives on issues of politics, representation, cultural identity, marginality and difference in contemporary American society. Focus on independent directorial figures and their intervention through genres, historical movements, and modes of production to examine how innovation helps define African American cinema’s rich past and possibilities as well as key shifts in the larger social contexts of race, gender, and class in the United States.
VMS254 - Representing Slavery

Description
Examines representations of the Atlantic slave trade in scholarship, literature, film, popular culture, and local site visits. We will examine portrayals of people who were enslaved, people who enslaved, as well as the nature of capture, the Middle Passage, and plantation life. We will also explore contemporary commemorations of the slave trade within museums, and the political mobilization of this history within the reparations movement. Through an examination of these materials, we will ask 'why represent slavery?' and 'what is at stake when representing slavery?'

VMS255 - Social Marketing: From Literary Celebrities to Instagram Influencers

Description
Typical Duke students spend hours each day using social media. You've surely heard the platforms described as 'revolutionary,' and you've also heard them described as 'time wasters.' What you probably haven't thought about is how similar they are to previous 'revolutionary' communications technologies like novels, newspapers, and even language itself. This course explores ways in which studying the masters of previous 'social' media technologies—the Shakespeares, Whitmans, and Eliots of the world—can help us understand how influencers on digital social media leverage the same platforms you use every day to market themselves, build their brands, and grow their audiences.

VMS256 - Drawing Foundations in Early Modern Europe

Description
Through classroom lectures, museum visits, and studio practice, this course studies the place of drawing since its early modern theorization in the visual arts and in the artistic practice. Drawings can be records of visual observation, or of a speculative thought process; ways of working out ideas, and of presenting plans; they also achieve the status of independent art objects. Students will gain familiarity with drawing as an artistic medium related to major questions about art and society, while also learning fundamental and practical drawing skills that will give deeper insights into theory.

VMS257L - Web Project Design and Development

Description
Follow-on to ISS 240/240L. Students should be experienced with basic HTML and CSS. Information and graphic design; use-case development; readings and group critiques. Continued work with HTML, CSS, HTML5, Javascript. Introduction to PHP, MySQL and/or other server-based authoring techniques. Creation and templating of blogs, wikis, and content management systems. Web 2.0 and 3.0 technology implementation. Embedded media and objects. Intellectual property and fair use. User testing. Short exercises, group work, individual semester project, and public site launch. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS257S</td>
<td>257S</td>
<td>American Cinema: Redefined</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS258</td>
<td>258</td>
<td>Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS259A</td>
<td>259A</td>
<td>The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS260S</td>
<td>260S</td>
<td>Cinematography</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS261S</td>
<td>261S</td>
<td>Moving Image Practice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS264</td>
<td>264</td>
<td>Contemporary Documentary Film: Filmmakers and the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VMS257S - American Cinema: Redefined
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 257S
Title: American Cinema: Redefined
Description: Course examines the way films speak to the history of American nationhood as a whole. Considers the diversity of American Cinema and Hollywood's international dominance. Explores how varieties of domestic film production develop in the shadow of the commercial film industry, how they differ from mainstream productions, and how they contribute innovations.

VMS258 - Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 258
Title: Spies Like Us: Screening Cold War Espionage
Description: When the Cold War erupted in the wake of World War II, filmmakers were poised to screen it as propaganda, entertainment (thriller, horror, science fiction), and morally reflective realism. This course explores the films/television series produced on both sides of the Iron Curtain as well as those made after the Cold War (post-1989). Discussion will focus on ethical justifications and critiques of espionage; the characterizations of the spy and those spied on, and the interactions between these protagonists; and the changing aesthetics of screening espionage.

VMS259A - The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 259A
Title: The Arts in New York: A Thematic Approach
Description: Duke in New York. Various topics dealing with the arts in New York. Group attendance at, and subsequent seminar discussion of, performances, exhibitions, films, and lectures. Research or critical paper required. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Satisfies the Area III requirement for English majors.

VMS260S - Cinematography
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 260S
Title: Cinematography
Description: In-depth investigation of cinematographic techniques and principles for motion picture production. Exercises in both film and high definition digital video. Emphasis on advanced lighting techniques, lensing, camera mobility, set operations and close analysis of master works of cinematography.

VMS261S - Moving Image Practice
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 261S
Title: Moving Image Practice
Description: Film and digital video production in conjunction with the history and theory of these technologies. Students may produce work in 8mm, 16mm film and digital video and learn the basics of non-linear digital editing on Final Cut Pro.

VMS264 - Contemporary Documentary Film: Filmmakers and the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 264
Title: Contemporary Documentary Film: Filmmakers and the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival
Description: Integrated with the films and filmmakers of the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival. The art form, style, and technology of contemporary documentary films. Issues of autonomy and power, politics, and public policies. Analysis of outstanding films from around the world. Presentations and discussions by filmmakers.
VMS265 - History of Documentary Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 265
Title: History of Documentary Film

Description: Introduction to the history, theory, and styles of nonfiction film and video. Transformation in technologies and their influence on form, from actuality films to contemporary digital documentaries. Documentary’s marginal status and surprising commercial appeal; the mixing of fiction and nonfiction strategies in cultural construction. Use of documentary as a tool for exploring individual identity, filmmaker/subject relationships, and fomenting political change.

VMS265A - History of Documentary Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 265A
Title: History of Documentary Film

Description: Introduction to the history, theory, and styles of nonfiction film and video. Transformation in technologies and their influence on form, from actuality films to contemporary digital documentaries. Documentary’s marginal status and surprising commercial appeal; the mixing of fiction and nonfiction strategies in cultural construction. Use of documentary as a tool for exploring individual identity, filmmaker/subject relationships, and fomenting political change.

VMS266 - Media History: Old and New

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 266
Title: Media History: Old and New

Description: Development of various media forms in historical and social contexts. Impact of old ‘new’ media on established art, commerce, education, politics, entertainment from 19th c. on. Changing ideas about authenticity, authority, agency, reception, identity, and power relating to emerging media forms, production, circulation. Overlaps, disjunctions, convergences, persistences and antiquations via case studies and examples. Technologies include print publishing, photography, audio recording, film, telegraph, maps, exhibitions, architecture and installations alongside contemporary web, multimedia, database, game, virtual reality, and telepresence systems. Final rich media research project required.

VMS267 - Film Genres

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 267
Title: Film Genres

Description: A historical survey of motion picture genre as a stylistic and narrative device, including comedy, horror, the musical, the western, and science fiction.

VMS268S - American Film Comedy

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 268S
Title: American Film Comedy

Description: A historical survey of American film comedy from silent cinema to contemporary television and film.

VMS269 - Religion and Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 269
Title: Religion and Film

Description: A study of the relationship between motion pictures and religion. Focus on the comparative portrayal of organized religions; expressions of religious life; and religious topics, such as God, evil and morality, in both Western and non-Western films in which contemporary artists and intellectuals explore the challenges of modernity.
VMS270S - Constructing Immersive Virtual Worlds

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 270S
Title: Constructing Immersive Virtual Worlds

Description: Theory, practice, and creation of 3D virtual worlds. Hands-on design and development of online collaborative simulation environments. Introduction to graphics workflow for creating virtual world media assets. Critical exploration of state-of-the-art virtual world technologies; 3D graphics, chat, voice, video, and mixed reality systems. Topics include: history/culture of virtual worlds, identity and avatars; behavioral norms; self-organizing cultures; user-generated content, virtual world economies; architectural scalability.

VMS271S - Film Animation Production

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 271S
Title: Film Animation Production

Description: Experimentation with various media; mastering animation techniques such as metamorphosis, timing, articulation, storytelling, sound design, special effects, and camera. Each student to produce a one-minute animated film on the Oxberry 16mm film animation stand. Not open to students who have taken this course as Film/Video/Digital 102S.

VMS272A - The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 272A
Title: The Arts, Culture, and Performance of New York

Description: This course introduces its participants to New York through its rich artistic, cultural, and performance offerings—drawn from art, dance, film, music, literature, and theater. Visiting all five boroughs, they contemplate how the identities of New Yorkers—formed by the city and by ability, class, ethnicity, gender, race, and sexuality—are performed in the theater of everyday life: in parks, streets, subways, and especially the city’s diverse neighborhoods and restaurants.

VMS273 - The Middle East Through Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 273
Title: The Middle East Through Film

Description: Film as access into the region through a series of direct as well as poetic connections woven across films viewed, filmmakers featured, lectures, discussions, and texts read. By means of the integration of course components and students' weekly responses, an understanding of the region is developed by way of inquiry into and rigorous engagement with cultural production. From feature length films to shorts, the breadth of the work we will engage with includes documentaries, dramas, and less traditional forms. A substantial midterm paper, and a final project to be in the form of one of three potential possibilities subject to approval of proposal at: a paper, a talk, a short film.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>274D</td>
<td>Race, Genomics, and Society</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The field of genetics has been at the forefront of discourse concerning the concept of ‘race’ in humans. This course explores human origins, human variation, human identity, and human health through a broad range of enduring and emerging themes and challenging questions related to race and genetics (and now, genomics) on a global scale. Students will acquire knowledge and skills required for integrative analyses of the relevant scientific, ethical, legal, societal, cultural, and psychosocial issues. Open to students at all levels from any discipline in the arts, humanities, and sciences (natural, social, formal, and applied).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>276</td>
<td>America Dreams American Movies II:Independents Through Streaming</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course studies contemporary American movies as they create and reflect America’s self-image from the rise of independents through the innovations of the 21st century, including digital video, streaming, and the rise of high-quality TV productions. Approaches include U.S. cultural history, industry developments, and technical analysis. Directors such as Kubrick, Coppola, Spielberg, Tarantino, Lee, Moore, Cameron, Campion, Jenkins, Bigelow, Peele, Du Vernay, and others up to today. At least two weeks of the semester will be devoted to TV, such as Game of Thrones, The Americans, or Watchmen. Like the film and TV industries themselves, assignments encourage creativity and collaboration.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>278A</td>
<td>Decentering Spanish Otherness: Visual Culture and Coloniality in Contemporary Spain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
This course proposes the study of visual culture in Spain from the nineteenth century to the present day from decolonial and postcolonial perspectives. It will analyze the history and cultural legacies of Spanish colonialism through photography, film, illustration and art from a transdisciplinary point of view, with special emphasis on cultural studies, visual studies and visual anthropology. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>279AS</td>
<td>Studies in the United States Culture Industries</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
A survey of the major professions in the arts, media, and entertainment industries, featuring prominent speakers from fields such as studio and independent film and television, screenwriting, directing, producing, financing, acting, artist representation, journalism, marketing, animation, and music. Students apply theory and analysis to projects currently in production, observing live tapings, rehearsals, and screenings. Real-world case studies to examine how and why stories chosen for production shape and are shaped by societal values and discourse, domestic and global economies, and the greater world of the arts and media. Only offered on Duke in LA program.
VMS279S - Studies in the United States Culture Industries

Subject | VMS
Catalog Number | 279S
Title | Studies in the United States Culture Industries

Description
A survey of the major professions in the arts, media, and entertainment industries, featuring prominent speakers from fields such as studio and independent film and television, screenwriting, directing, producing, financing, acting, artist representation, journalism, marketing, animation, and music. Students apply theory and analysis to projects currently in production, observing live tapings, rehearsals, and screenings. Real-world case studies to examine how and why stories chosen for production shape and are shaped by societal values and discourse, domestic and global economies, and the greater world of the arts and media.

VMS280 - German Film

Subject | VMS
Catalog Number | 280
Title | German Film

Description
Introduction to German film, film theory, and reception. Emphasis on history and cultural background of films. Topics include Expressionism, Nazi and postwar films, New German cinema, DEFA. Films subtitled; readings and discussion in English.

VMS282 - Drama of Ancient Greece

Subject | VMS
Catalog Number | 282
Title | Drama of Ancient Greece

Description
Introduction to the dramatic art of ancient Greece. Students read in translation tragedies by Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides and comedies by Aristophanes and Menander. Topics discussed include: the conventions of theatrical performance during the classical period; the changing social, economic, and political contexts of drama; costume, mask, and set design; music and dance; modern performances of ancient plays; the art of translation; and the continuing relevance of ancient theater today. No previous knowledge of Classical Studies presumed or required. This course is open to all students interested in Greek drama, literature, and performance.

VMS283S - Filming Freedom Movements: Movies, Music, Monuments, Memory

Subject | VMS
Catalog Number | 283S
Title | Filming Freedom Movements: Movies, Music, Monuments, Memory

Description
This class is a cross-disciplinary exploration of a series of questions about what societies choose to commemorate, what they stay silent about, what they try to repress, and how this changes over time. What impact does this have on public policy and cultural debate? Using a cross-cultural examination of four societies, we will draw on methods from the arts, art history, history, documentary, policy, cultural studies, critical race theory, sound studies, Indigenous studies, and feminist theory.
VMS284S - Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 284S
Title: Trauma and Nostalgia: East European Film in the 21st Century

Description: Examines the major thematic focus of East European filmmakers in the 21st century: their efforts to reconstruct and reassess the experience of the Cold War (1945-1989) and the Yugoslav wars (1991-1995). These films from the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Croatia, and Serbia include ironic/sentimental tales of Cold War childhood, thrillers about sleeping with the enemy (political informers), and psychological dramas centering on political trauma, resistance, and compromise. All films shown with English subtitles.

VMS285 - Ritual, Performance, and Religion

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 285
Title: Ritual, Performance, and Religion

Description: Exposes students to theories of ritual and performance (Turner, Schechner, Grimes, Geertz, Paden) in religious and non-religious contexts; compares contexts as a way of understanding common structures and what differentiates the religious/non-religious. Guest lecturers (from religion, dance, theater, psychology, English, visual and media studies, cultural anthropology) expose students to a range of approaches to specific kinds of ritual and performance. Possibly involves both class and individual trips to local religious events and performances for field work exercises.

VMS286S - Introduction to Digital Feminism

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 286S
Title: Introduction to Digital Feminism

Description: The aim of this course is to critically analyze digital culture from a feminist and gender studies perspective. We will address topics related to digital innovation and its history, unpacking and questioning them through the insights offered by gender studies analytical tools. Subjects such as the rise of the Silicon Valley, gaming culture, social media, algorithms, Artificial Intelligence, extraction of data applied to biotechnology, macroeconomic development of IT platforms and the impact of technology on ecology will be discussed starting from a current event or debate, to which we will give a historical, ethical, sociological, theoretical, literary or cinematographic perspective.

VMS287 - German History Through Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 287
Title: German History Through Film

Description: Interdisciplinary seminar at intersection of German Studies and History, taught by scholars from both disciplines. Explores ways in which films shape historical imaginations and are in themselves artifacts of history. Provides unique opportunity to learn about German past and present, and reflect on relationship between film and history.
VMS288A - Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 288A
Title: Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications

Description:
Same as ISS 240. Offered through the Duke-In-Venice Program.

VMS288L - Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 288L
Title: Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications

Description:
Laboratory version of Information Science + Studies 240. Multimedia information systems, including presentation media, hypermedia, graphics, animation, sound, video, and integrated authoring techniques; underlying technologies that make them possible. Practice in the design innovation, programming, and assessment of web-based digital multimedia information systems. Intended for students in non-technical disciplines. Engineering or Computer Science students should take Engineering 206 or Computer Science 408.

VMS288S - Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 288S
Title: Fundamentals of Web-Based Multimedia Communications

Description:
Multimedia information systems, including presentation media, hypermedia, graphics, animation, sound, video, and integrated authoring techniques; underlying technologies that make them possible. Practice in the design innovation, programming, and assessment of web-based digital multimedia information systems. Intended for students in non-technical disciplines. Engineering or Computer Science students should take Engineering 206 or Computer Science 408.

VMS289 - Introduction to Film Studies
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 289
Title: Introduction to Film Studies

Description:
Basic film theory and history of motion picture technology, introduction to experimental, documentary, and narrative forms of Third World, European, and United States cinemas.

VMS290 - Special Topics in Visual Studies
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 290
Title: Special Topics in Visual Studies

Description:
Subjects, areas, or themes that embrace a range of disciplines that relate to visual studies.

VMS290S - Special Topics in Visual Studies
Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 290S
Title: Special Topics in Visual Studies

Description:
Subjects, areas, or themes that embrace a range of disciplines that relate to visual studies.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Title</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS290SA</td>
<td>Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>290SA</td>
<td>Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS291</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>291</td>
<td>Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS293</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>293</td>
<td>Research Independent Study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS294</td>
<td>Chinese Art 1900 to Present</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>294</td>
<td>Chinese Art 1900 to Present</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS295S</td>
<td>Arts Entrepreneurship</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>295S</td>
<td>Arts Entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS296</td>
<td>Internship in New York</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>296</td>
<td>Internship in New York</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VMS290SA - Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies

Description
Subjects, areas, or themes that embrace a range of disciplines that relate to visual studies.

VMS291 - Independent Study

Description
Directed reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or report. Open to qualified students, by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

VMS293 - Research Independent Study

Description
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to qualified students, by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

VMS294 - Chinese Art 1900 to Present

Description
Study of selected works of Chinese art and visual culture (painting, sculpture, architecture, video, performance, and installation art; fashion design and cinema) from 1900 to the present. Emphasis on the visual analysis of objects as well as their social and historical context.

VMS295S - Arts Entrepreneurship

Description
Student teams work on specific arts-based entrepreneurial projects. Teams comprised of students from different backgrounds (arts, engineering, economics, computer science). Goals include creating business plan and launching ventures in areas of the arts. Structure an adaptation of Fuqua Program for Entrepreneurs. Ideal projects have real/positive impact on society. Students learn to situate artistic creativity within projects that meet societal need. Students from any background welcome to apply for enrollment. Must have interest in arts or working with artists in entrepreneurial context. Admission by permission of instructors.

VMS296 - Internship in New York

Description
Immersion in the professional art world through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist or organization. Students spend fifteen hours per week at the internship and write a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of the relation of the students' sponsoring institution to the art form of activity as a whole, the system of production and consumption surrounding that art form or activity, and the sponsor's organizational framework, operating mechanics, and role in the creation, preservation, or interpretation of the art form or activity. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of instructor required.
VMS296A - Internship in New York

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 296A
Title: Internship in New York

Description: Immersion in the professional art world through apprenticeship to a sponsoring artist or organization. Students spend fifteen hours per week at the internship and write a substantive paper containing significant analysis and interpretation of the relation of the students’ sponsoring institution to the art form of activity as a whole, the system of production and consumption surrounding that art form or activity, and the sponsor’s organizational framework, operating mechanics, and role in the creation, preservation, or interpretation of the art form or activity. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of instructor required.

VMS296A-1 - Internship in New York

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 296A-1
Title: Internship in New York

Description: Immersion in the professional world of the arts and media through working with a sponsoring artist, organization, or business. Open only to students admitted to the Duke in New York Arts and Media Program. Does not count toward the major. Consent of Instructor required.

VMS297S - Revealing Histories: Polish Cinema

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 297S
Title: Revealing Histories: Polish Cinema

Description: Explores the films of four famous Polish directors—Andrzej Wajda, Andrzej Munk, Krzysztof Kieœlowski, and Agnieszka Holland—whose artistic approaches and ethical/political themes greatly influenced Polish and European cinema as well as Polish politics. Through viewing their movies and consulting biographical, historical, and critical materials, we’ll examine how these directors use film to reconstruct history, challenge politically or religiously orthodox myths, and suggest new ways of valuing the complexity and spiritual capacities of the individual. All texts in English translation. All films screened with subtitles.

VMS298S - Film Theory

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 298S
Title: Film Theory

Description: Recent critical developments in Marxist aesthetics, structuralism, semiotics of the image, feminist film theory. History and theory of film technology. Both experimental and Hollywood narrative films.

VMS299 - Aesthetics: The Philosophy of Art

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 299
Title: Aesthetics: The Philosophy of Art

Description: The concept of beauty, the work of art, the function of art, art and society, the analysis of a work of art, criticism in the arts.

VMS301A - The Business of Art and Media

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 301A
Title: The Business of Art and Media

Description: Duke in New York. The changes experienced by print and visual media (book publishing, magazines, newspapers, TV, films, theatre, advertising) in the twenty-first century in how art and business can, and often must, be done and in how they interact with society. Examinations through readings (including selected case histories) and guest speakers of how technology and technological change affect art and society today. Satisfies Area III requirement for English majors.
VMS302 - Philosophy of Mind

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 302
Title: Philosophy of Mind
Description:
Such topics as mind and body, the nature of thought, perception, consciousness, personal identity, and other minds. The relevance of cognitive psychology, neuroscience, and computer science to the philosophy of mind.

VMS303 - History of Photography, 1839 to the Present

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 303
Title: History of Photography, 1839 to the Present
Description:
Major artists and movements in the history of the photographic medium, including visual and critical traditions inherited and manipulated by photographers, the ways photography participated in nineteenth- and twentieth-century art movements as well as documentation and social change, and critical photographic discourse throughout this period. Topics include the invention of photography, 'Art' photography and documentary photography in the nineteenth century, pictorialism, 'straight' and purist photography, photography and modernist art movements (dada, surrealism, Bauhaus, Russian avant-garde), twentieth-century documentary, and photography of the 1950s, 1960s, 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s.

VMS304 - Mapping History with Geographic Information Systems

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 304
Title: Mapping History with Geographic Information Systems
Description:
Beginner/intermediate Geographic Information System (GIS) course designed to help students learn how to investigate history spatially. Emphasizes perspectives, procedures, and tools that are relevant to applications of GIS in Art History and Humanistic disciplines. Designed as a hybrid lecture/lab format in which direct instruction is supplemented by hands-on learning labs using ArcGIS software and real-world spatial data. The main skills students will gain are: integration of spatial and tabular data, geoprocessing, data visualization, creating features, editing features, vector and raster integration, spatial analysis, georeferencing.

VMS305S - Video Journalism

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 305S
Title: Video Journalism
Description:
Theories and concepts of television broadcasting; writing and editing for electronic media; issues of production. Students will produce a Web portfolio. Approved as a practicum course for the Policy, Journalism and Media Studies certificate.
VMS307 - User Experience and User Interface Design and Development

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 307
Title: User Experience and User Interface Design and Development

Description
How do we build knowledge about computational, aesthetic, product and spatial experience? What tools and methods enable our work in the design of these interactions? This course applies methods and technologies found in the User Experience (UX) and User Interface (UI) disciplines to analyze, document, design and prototype a number of spatial and product interactions.

VMS308 - Italian Cinema

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 308
Title: Italian Cinema

Description
Introduction course to Italian cinema including silent films, Neorealism, fascist productions, Commedia all’italiana and experimentalism. Taught in English, Italian majors and minors should inquire with the professor about the possibility of concurrently enrolling in a tutorial for credit towards the language requirement for the major or minor.

VMS309DS - Environmental Issues & the Documentary Arts

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 309DS
Title: Environmental Issues & the Documentary Arts

Description
Survey how filmmakers, authors, photographers, and other artists have brought environmental issues to the public’s attention in the last century, and in some cases instigated profound societal and political change. Examine the nebulous distinctions between persuasion and propaganda, agenda and allegory, point of view and content. Evolve as a viewer of the environment and a maker of documentary art. Initiate your own projects to address and/or depict environmental issues in one form of a broad range of media.

VMS309S - Environmental Issues & the Documentary Arts

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 309S
Title: Environmental Issues & the Documentary Arts

Description
Survey how filmmakers, authors, photographers, and other artists have brought environmental issues to the public’s attention in the last century, and in some cases instigated profound societal and political change. Examine the nebulous distinctions between persuasion and propaganda, agenda and allegory, point of view and content. Evolve as a viewer of the environment and a maker of documentary art. Initiate your own projects to address and/or depict environmental issues in one form of a broad range of media.

VMS316S - Understanding Mediation

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 316S
Title: Understanding Mediation

Description
Examines experience as always mediated. How does text mediate expression, or language mediate subjectivity? How do images mediate power, or sounds mediate resistance? How does computation mediate agency, or networks mediate thought? But also, how do bodies mediate liveness, or the environment mediate history? Moves from particular media forms and examples (language, literature, the fine and performing arts, audiovisual media, computational media) to focus on key theoretical concepts and debates of critical theory from twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Crosses national boundaries to understand mediation from global perspective.

VMS317S - Russian Language and Culture through Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 317S
Title: Russian Language and Culture through Film

Description
Study of Russian cultural paradigms and constructs of self and other as demonstrated in Russia and Soviet films, primarily from 1960s to the present. Special attention given to the analysis of linguistic constructs and their cultural semantic content as well as comparative analyses of Soviet and Russian culture and Russian and European/American culture. Film and computer technology, as well as access to these technologies and their implementation, are a central part of the cultural context. Prerequisite: Russian 301S or equivalent or consent of instructor.
VMS318 - Eastern Europe in Transition: Markets, Media, and the Mafia

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 318
Title: Eastern Europe in Transition: Markets, Media, and the Mafia

Description

---

VMS319S - Russian Language and Culture through Film II

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 319S
Title: Russian Language and Culture through Film II

Description
Continuation of Russian 373S. Analysis of Russian cultural paradigms and linguistic issues through contemporary Russian and Soviet film. Film and computer technology, as well as access to these technologies and their implementation, are a central part of the cultural context. Prerequisite: Russian 301S or equivalent, or consent of instructor.

---

VMS320A - Contemporary Russian Media

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 320A
Title: Contemporary Russian Media

Description
Same as Russian 135 but taught only in St. Petersburg. Taught in Russian. Prerequisite: Russian 204 or equivalent.

---

VMS321S - Writing Movies and Plays: Adaptation

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 321S
Title: Writing Movies and Plays: Adaptation

Description
Theory and practice of the process of adaptation of serious literary works of fiction to screenplay or play form. Reading and analysis of literary works adapted as screenplays and plays. Project in writing an adaptation.

---

VMS322S - Motion Graphics for Film and Video

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 322S
Title: Motion Graphics for Film and Video

Description
An exploration of techniques and theoretical approaches to motion graphics, animation and post-production effects in film and video. Readings and screenings will lead to student-produced exercises through exposure to applications in the Adobe Creative Cloud and digital editing software.

---

VMS323S - Social Movements and Social Media

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 323S
Title: Social Movements and Social Media

Description
Examines uses and abuses of social media by social movements. Interested in a broader historical study of mediating technologies and oppositional public sphere, course considers the uses of cameras, phones, cassette players, radio, and social media platforms, but also books, bodies, art, fashion, and automobiles as oppositional technologies. Studies political and ethical uses of technologies in social unrest. Investigates impact of technologies on social movements and social transformations in contemporary history. Student driven case studies will highlight contemporary engagement with social media by networked social movements.
VMS324 - Sample & Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts & Media

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>324</td>
<td>Sample &amp; Remix: Contemporary Cultural Production Across Arts &amp; Media</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Sampling & remixing of previous works is a major mode of contemporary cultural production cutting across media and cultural practices. This course analyzes its genealogy, technological underpinnings, legal presuppositions and aesthetic consequences. Tensions between copy and copyright, between claims to originality and mechanical reproduction characterize this contemporary regime, now deployed globally. Its cultural implications will be distinguished from related modes of making art and meaning (imitation, citation, collage, montage...) and tracked through various objects: popular and avant-garde cinema; videogames, ready-mades and Pop Art; Hip-Hop and Electro; literature and DJ culture.

VMS325L - Optics and Photonics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>325L</td>
<td>Optics and Photonics</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Ray optics, wave optics, beam optics, resonators, atom-photons, interaction, interference, diffraction, polarization, lasers, light detection, electromagnetic optics. Laboratory experiments apply concepts in basic optics. Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 270L or equivalent.

VMS326 - Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>326</td>
<td>Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Practical concepts and exercises with the C# programming language. Basic concepts of algorithms and data structures. Discussion of basic computer graphics concepts. Introduction to the Unity3D game engine. Importing various model formats into Unity3D. User interface design in Unity3D. Advanced scripting using C# for Unity3D. Unity3D common pitfalls and tips for optimizations. Usage of augmented and virtual reality libraries. Weekly homework and final project. No prior coding experience is assumed.

VMS326S - Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>326S</td>
<td>Introduction to Programming and User Interface Design in Unity 3D</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Practical concepts and exercises with the C# programming language. Basic concepts of algorithms and data structures. Discussion of basic computer graphics concepts. Introduction to the Unity3D game engine. Importing various model formats into Unity3D. User interface design in Unity3D. Advanced scripting using C# for Unity3D. Unity3D common pitfalls and tips for optimizations. Usage of the MiddleVR virtual reality library. Weekly homework and final project. No prior coding experience is assumed.
VMS327S - Theories of Visual and Media Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 327S
Title: Theories of Visual and Media Studies

Description:
Survey of visual and media studies theories. Development of analytical methods to critically engage with analog and digital visual media production, circulation and consumption in a global context. Overview of the historical development of visual studies and media studies as distinct critical fields with intellectual ties to cultural studies, art history, philosophy, sociology, literature, communications, and information science. Exploration of contemporary convergences between visual and media studies, in dialog with scientific visualization, cognitive neuroscience, and quantitative approaches to image processing. Course required for VMS majors. Instructor consent required.

VMS328S - Media Theory

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 328S
Title: Media Theory

Description:
Introduction to the material and technical infrastructure that informs and constrains the production and dissemination of knowledge. Exploration of cultural impact of technical media from writing to the internet. Combines historical and theoretical discussion with hands-on experimentation with various media, including the codex book, phonography and sound registration technology, photography, cinematography, video, virtual reality, digital computation, and the internet.

VMS329S - Non-Profit Cultural Institutions

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 329S
Title: Non-Profit Cultural Institutions

Description:
Non-profit cultural institutions are an integral part of arts communities at all levels: national, regional, local. Through readings, projects and service-learning, students gain overview of non-profit cultural organization formation, management, operational structures, governance challenges, board member responsibilities and situational ethics. Explores historical and present functions and social structures in which nonprofit tax-exempt organizations operate. Investigates how nonprofit cultural institutions have increasingly become a vehicle for fostering creativity in the arts and humanities. Students partner with local non-profit arts/cultural organizations to work on specific projects.

VMS331S - Gender and Popular Culture

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 331S
Title: Gender and Popular Culture

Description:
An analytic investigation of ways popular cultural forms produce and reinforce gender relations.
VMS332L - Virtual Museums: Theories and Methods of Twenty-First-Century Museums

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>332L</td>
<td>Virtual Museums: Theories and Methods of Twenty-First-Century Museums</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The future of museums will be one of immateriality and interaction. Course focuses on how the 'Internet of Things,' augmented reality technologies, new data analyses of artifacts will transform missions, roles, and goals of museums and collections. Core of course will be digital lab sessions focused on virtual reconstruction of lost heritage—e.g., museums and sites destroyed and damaged by ISIS and other conflicts in Iraq and the Middle East (Hatra, Nineveh, Nimrud, Baghdad).

VMS332S - American Independent Cinema

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>332S</td>
<td>American Independent Cinema</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examination of the emergence, establishment, and transformations of American indie film. Addresses main genres, key films and prominent directors by looking at the aesthetic characteristics of indie films, as well as the social and institutional contexts (primarily its relationship to Hollywood cinema) that led to the creation and important impact of this filmmaking practice. Topics include Midnight Movies of the 70s, New American Cinema, Trash Cinema, Art Cinema, Black Indie Cinema, New Queer Cinema, Generation X, Smart Cinema, Neo Noir, and the Pulp Fiction success story.

VMS333S - Photo Workshop

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>333S</td>
<td>Photo Workshop</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Examines historical and contemporary photographic artists for whom a particular photographic technique is essential to the creation of their work. Investigates strategies of intentional lighting. Explores techniques most suited to the documentation of individual student's chosen subject matter and create a cohesive body of work by semester's end employing that strategy. May use digital or analog equipment. No textbooks are required, though students will need to budget a comparable amount for supplies. Instructor consent required. Prerequisite (any one of): DOCST 115S, 119S; ARTSVIS 115S, 119S; VMS 115S; or equivalent experience.

VMS334 - Roman Spectacle

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>334</td>
<td>Roman Spectacle</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Gladiatorial games, wild beast hunts, elaborately-staged executions of condemned criminals, and chariot racing as some of the most popular forms of public entertainment in the Roman world. The ritual of these entertainments and spectacles, the circumstances of and occasions for their performance, and the form and elaboration of the venues - the amphitheater, the circus, the theater, and the stadium - in which they took place. Visual and literary representations of these spectacles.

VMS335 - Black Popular Culture: Black Cinema

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>335</td>
<td>Black Popular Culture: Black Cinema</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The production and circulation of African American popular cultural forms including, but not limited to, popular literature, music, film, television, and art in the twentieth century. The ways in which African American popular culture may reflect the particular values and ethos of African Americans and the larger American society. This course focuses on black cinema.

VMS336 - Pilgrimage and Tourism

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>336</td>
<td>Pilgrimage and Tourism</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
Investigation of pilgrimage and tourist destinations (Jerusalem, Rome, Santiago, Orlando, New York) from the Middle Ages to the present through a study of their material remains, primary sources and theoretical texts. Discussion of the moral and ethical issues involved in marketing authenticity from a cross-cultural and comparative perspective. Evaluation based on weekly student written assessments of the texts and the presentation of a pilgrimage site of their choice.
VMS337 - The History of Hip-Hop

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 337
Title: The History of Hip-Hop

Description: What began as a localized activity designed to provide a safe haven for Black and Latino youth in New York City, has become a global brand that has had a documented impact on the cultural, political and economic realities of youth throughout the globe. This course will examine the organic social and cultural foundations of hip-hop, as well as the key aesthetic innovators/innovations, and the debates that have arisen over hip-hop’s increased influence.

VMS338S - Writing the Short Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 338S
Title: Writing the Short Film

Description: In-depth study of the short format movie. Development of short film concept and script, including pre-production, storyboarding, and look books.

VMS339S - Sound for Film and Video

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 339S
Title: Sound for Film and Video

Description: Theory and practice of sound recording techniques and strategies for film and video. Focus on sound/image relationship, sound design and sound acquisition. Screenings and readings will reinforce practice exercises.

VMS340 - Popular Representations of Black Masculinity

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 340
Title: Popular Representations of Black Masculinity

Description: The course will examine the production and circulation of representations of ‘Black Masculinity’ in post-19th century American culture, within popular realms of expression including film, visual culture, music videos, advertising, popular music, television, drama and stage, literature, and dance/performance. The course will also explore the ways stereotypical images of Black masculinity have impacted public policy perceptions of African Americans and the ways that Black cultural producers have used Black masculinity as sites to stage alternative perceptions of Black humanity.

VMS340S - Producing Docu-Fiction

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 340S
Title: Producing Docu-Fiction

Description: Investigation of hybrid, genre-defying films that question traditional definitions of documentary and fiction. Emphasis on experimental forms, documentary reenactment, mockumentary and dramatized ‘true stories.’ Exploration of both documentary and fiction production techniques, culminating in the production of a final video project.

VMS341S - Farmworkers in North Carolina: Roots of Poverty, Roots of Change

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 341S
Title: Farmworkers in North Carolina: Roots of Poverty, Roots of Change

Description: Focus on those who bring food to our tables, particularly those who labor in the fields of North Carolina and the Southeast. Students will learn about farm work from the plantation system and slavery to sharecropping and up to the migrant and seasonal farmworker population today. Study and analysis of media representations of farmworkers and agricultural issues as well as historical and contemporary documentary work and its contributions to farmworker advocacy. Includes a service-learning component involving work in the community.
VMS342S - Islamic Media

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 342S
Title: Islamic Media

Description:
How contemporary technologies reawaken the sense of the sacred in daily life, rather than destroy it. How technologies new and old circulate the Word in its multiple incarnations, but also cultivate modes of communal identification. How Islamic media transform the social and political landscape, as well as the way we see/feel/perceive the world. How religion has been intensified, diversified, and inflected by the information age. How this media constitutes the very experience of religion. Film, video, digital media, satellite television, social media, print media, audiocassettes, radio, music.

VMS344 - Performance Art History and Theory

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 344
Title: Performance Art History and Theory

Description:
Performance Art History and Theory explores cultural experimentation, theoretical strategies, and ideological aims of performance art internationally; examines interchanges between artists’ theories of performance, stylistic development, and impact in the context of cultural criticism and art history; traces interdisciplinary genealogies of performance globally; thinks about the body as a vehicle for aesthetic expression, communication, and information in its critique of social and political conditions; studies performance and gender, sexuality, race, and class; asks how performance alters the semiotics of visual culture and contributes to a paradigm shift from modernism to postmodernism.

VMS345S - Dance for the Camera

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 345S
Title: Dance for the Camera

Description:
The choreographic and bodily experience essential to dance for the camera. Hands on experience in videodance production through the exploration/production of several short individual and group videodance projects. Issues in creative and conceptual thinking, experimentation, pre/post video production, camera techniques, non-linear editing (Final Cut Pro), choreography for the camera. Viewings of seminal as well as experimental videodance works; discussions; readings; internet site visits; computer lab and dance studio/shooting location time; gallery/museum or video installation site visits.
Prerequisite: Intermediate or above level of any dance technique, or Dance 105S.

VMS346S - Visual Cultures of Medicine

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 346S
Title: Visual Cultures of Medicine

Description:
Exploration of the visual culture(s) of medicine. The changing role of diagnostic visuality and medical imaging from various philosophical and historical perspectives. The connections between medical ways of seeing and other modes of visuality, photography, cinema, television, computer graphics. The circulation of medical images and images of medicine in popular culture as well as in professional medical cultures.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS349</td>
<td>349</td>
<td>Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS349S</td>
<td>349S</td>
<td>Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS350S</td>
<td>350S</td>
<td>The Photobook: History and Practice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS351</td>
<td>351</td>
<td>3D Modeling and Animation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description

- VMS349 - Hashtags Memes, Digital Tribes
  Tracks digital life and creative expression of groups online in a close study of images, captions and hyperlinked tags. Examines rituals, symbols and cultural patterns that structure everyday life of digital tribes online and investigates impact of digital and social media (Twitter, Instagram Facebook, Periscope) on the constitution of communities online and offline. Studying varied array of digital tribes: tribes of the deaf, of oil rig workers, of Hindu worshippers, of prison wives and laptop entrepreneurs, students learn about underlying myths, rituals, and cultural symbols that connect groups of people online.

- VMS350S - The Photobook: History and Practice
  Cultural, intellectual and artistic history and uses of the book in photographic practice. Traces technical, conceptual, formal innovations that mark international history of photography books through lectures/hands-on examination of key books, including lesser known innovations and uses of photobook in Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union and Japan. Marries historical awareness with studio practice. Simultaneous immersion in production of images as well as collecting of archives from various cultures. Crafting of photobooks in several genres as students edit, print, scan, assemble materials. Seminar includes readings, discussions, short writings, field trips. Consent of instructor required.

- VMS351 - 3D Modeling and Animation
  Basic concepts of 3D modeling and animation; fundamentals of computer geometry; knowledge of basic tools of 3D software (Maya); introduction to modeling, animation, texturing, lighting, and rendering; combination of these techniques in a final project. Recommended prerequisite: Visual and Media Studies 206 or 396.
VMS353 - The Black Performance Tradition: Michael Jackson and Prince

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
353

Title
The Black Performance Tradition: Michael Jackson and Prince

Description
Examines the Black Performance context that produced Jackson’s singular creative genius within the realms of music, movement and politics, including the influence of Black vernacular practices like signifying and sampling, the network of Black social spaces known as the Chitlin’ Circuit, the impact of Black migration patterns to urban spaces in the Midwest, and Black performance traditions including Blackface minstrelsy.

VMS354S - Poetic Cinema

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
354S

Title
Poetic Cinema

Description
Inquiry into sources of ‘resonance’ in international cinema with emphasis on films from Asia and the Middle East. The object of the course is to attempt a description of aspects of film construction which conduce to intense experience for viewers. Readings in indigenous aesthetics.

VMS355 - American Dreams, American Movies

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
355

Title
American Dreams, American Movies

Description
A course in selected American films that create as well as reflect American identity from the beginnings of Hollywood moviemaking in the Studio System through the beginnings of Indie spirit. Nine to twelve best-loved movies, such as Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Casablanca, Rear Window, Singin’ in the Rain, and Dr. Strangelove by directors like Frank Capra, John Ford, Alfred Hitchcock, and Stanley Kubrick. The course pays attention to American cultural history, the development of the movie industry, the idea of the director as auteur, narrative form in film, and some fundamentals of film analysis. Assignments are both written and creative experiments in filmmaking, as suits class interests.

VMS355S - Videogame Design and Critique

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
355S

Title
Videogame Design and Critique

Description
Surveys history, art, technology, narrative, ethics, and design of interactive computer games. Games as systems of rules, games of emergence and progression, state machines. Flow, systems of pleasure, goals, rewards, reinforcement schedules, fictional and narrative elements of game worlds. Responses to immersive & interactive media; experience of gamified systems in diverse contexts. Social, artistic, and cultural effects of games: impact, harm, benefits. Team design and development of game design storyboards and stand-alone games. Interplay between narrative, graphics, rule systems, and artificial intelligence in the creation of interactive games. Programming experience not required.
VMS356S - Editing for Film and Video

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 356S
Title: Editing for Film and Video

Description:
Theory and practice of film and video editing techniques. Exploration of traditional film cutting as well as digital non-linear editing. Exercises in narrative, documentary and experimental approaches to structuring moving image materials.

VMS357S - Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 357S
Title: Digital Storytelling and Interactive Narrative

Description:

VMS358S - Digital Durham

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 358S
Title: Digital Durham

Description:
Representing Durham past and present with digital media. Digitize historical and cultural materials, research in archives and public records and present information through various forms including web pages, databases, maps, video and other media. Analysis of social impact of new representations of place and space.

VMS359A - Introduction to Global Los Angeles: An Interdisciplinary Survey (Service-Learning)

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 359A
Title: Introduction to Global Los Angeles: An Interdisciplinary Survey (Service-Learning)

Description:
This course explores the complexities of global Los Angeles by focusing on issues that especially impact its marginalized communities. For the service-learning component, students volunteer at least 20 hours during the semester at nonprofit organizations engaged in the pursuit of social justice. This experience provides an opportunity to observe, participate in and reflect on the day-to-day implementation of social action, policy and organizing initiatives. As part of the volunteer commitment and in lieu of a final paper, students produce a documentary media project that communicates goals identified by and in collaboration with the community partner.
VMS360S - Writing the Movie. Introduction to the Theory and Practice of Writing for the Screen

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
360S

Title
Writing the Movie. Introduction to the Theory and Practice of Writing for the Screen

Description
Theory and practice of the process of writing for the screen. Exploration of visual storytelling; analysis of screenplays and movies; developing original stories into screenplay format. Projects: writing and presenting treatments, outlines and scenes.

VMS362S - 16mm Film Production

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
362S

Title
16mm Film Production

Description
Hands-on experience with 16mm motion picture film and photography. In-depth exploration of the techniques and aesthetics of film production, including basic screen writing, lighting, storytelling, and editing.

VMS363S - Time, Space and Film

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
363S

Title
Time, Space and Film

Description
Exploration of temporal transformation, spatial articulation and subjectivity in the moving image. From special effects and avant-garde experiments to the long take and the fluid master. Readings and screenings inform hands-on practical exercises.

VMS364S - Web Design and Narrative: Artists, Documentarians, Art Historians, and Entrepreneurs

Subject
VMS

Catalog Number
364S

Title
Web Design and Narrative: Artists, Documentarians, Art Historians, and Entrepreneurs

Description
Professional practices course for students in creative fields without a computer science background: for artists and documentarians to create robust web-based portfolios; for art historians to showcase curatorial and scholarly projects; for entrepreneurs to demonstrate ideas, concepts, and products to the public. Develop customized, individual websites using CMS platforms. Hone and workshop artistic/curatorial/product statements. Develop teaching philosophies, exhibition imagery, and video documentation of artistic, curatorial, or product talks. Publish a blog magazine on arts and innovation topics. Guest speakers visit the course on a regular basis to review the students’ work.
VMS365S - The Documentary Turn: Southern Culture

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 365S
Title: The Documentary Turn: Southern Culture

Description: Traces the convergence of traditional 20th c. documentary narrative (oral history, photography, film, and ethnography) with emergent 21st c. technologies (digital platforms, crowd-sourced communications, viral information) that expand and test definitions of documentary practice. Course looks for unexpected outcomes and future possibilities at the intersections of analog and digital practice. Focus is on the cultures of the American South with an understanding of that region as mapped within a global imaginary. Requirements include experimental documentary project that combines storytelling (visual/literary), performance (theater/dance/music) or investigative research (oral/archival).

VMS365SL - Digital Art History I: New Representational Technologies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 365SL
Title: Digital Art History I: New Representational Technologies

Description: Research and study in material culture and visual arts expressed by using new visual technologies to record and communicate complex sets of visual and physical data from urban and/or archaeological sites. Introduces techniques for presentation and interpretation of visual material through a series of interpretive and reconstructive technologies, including development of web pages, timelines, Photoshop, Illustrator, Trimble SketchUp, Google Maps, GIS. Uses test cases (archaeological site or urban/architectural site) to develop techniques of interpretation and representation. Instructor consent required.

VMS366L - Theories and Practices of Data Visualization

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 366L
Title: Theories and Practices of Data Visualization

Description: Combination of lectures, labs, and workshops on the theories and practices of data visualization, focused on creative applications of advanced tools and software, including introduction to data scraping, data cleaning, and elementary coding. Students will use innovative strategies to develop new databases with imperfect information, combining qualitative and quantitative data on the interface of the humanities and the social sciences. Individual and collaborative research projects will combine qualitative and quantitative analysis with weekly feedback and assessment.

VMS370S - Women and Film: Directors of the Diaspora

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 370S
Title: Women and Film: Directors of the Diaspora

Description: Black women filmmakers have been actively involved in filmmaking since the early 20th century, and occupy notable positions in the 21st century media environment. Artists such as Ava Duvernay and Julie Dash demand critical attention to black women film and video artists. Films made by Black women are constructed in a variety of forms, such as animation, documentary, experimental, and narrative. These works bring a unique perspective to the screen. This course will give students an opportunity to view films, examine the specifics of film/video production in general, compare the various works produced by women direc, and acquire the skills necessary for film/video cultural criticism.
VMS373S - The View Camera: Black and White Large Format Photography

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 373S
Title: The View Camera: Black and White Large Format Photography

Description
Advanced, production-based photography course introduces students to the 4 x 5 large format view camera and its role in the documentary tradition. Learn to operate a view camera and attendant processes and materials to develop black and white sheet film and make silver gelatin contact prints from 4 x 5 negatives. Begins with focus on black and white negatives and contact prints. After demonstration of proficiency, students may optionally work in color film. Students produce a final portfolio of prints from their work throughout the semester. Class meetings consist of lectures, demonstrations, darkroom work, and critique of both process and final images.

VMS374 - Artists in Healthcare: Collaborations and Complexities

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 374
Title: Artists in Healthcare: Collaborations and Complexities

Description
The economically over-burdened US health care system and extended life expectancies for older adults offer a unique opportunity for working artists—not arts therapists—to intervene in the rapidly expanding field of integrative art and health. Rather than study health outcomes as indicators of ‘success,’ we centralize creative practice as our axis of inquiry. Course readings, interviews, and field visits to a Durham-based intervention highlight power imbalances and cultural sensitivities in hospitals, clinical care, assisted living, and nonprofit community care contexts. Culminates in student driven case studies of local arts work and workarounds.

VMS375S - Recycled Cinema

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 375S
Title: Recycled Cinema

Description
Found footage filmmaking, cinematic appropriation, the use of archival materials in documentaries, and current day internet mashups. Covering early cinema, experimental and documentary cinema, television, and the internet. Key emphasis on practice based assignments with a concurrent focus on the historical impact of the field from seminal moments to the contemporary moment through films and readings on the subject. Prerequisite: 100-level or above Visual Arts course, or permission of instructor.

VMS376SA - Berlin Film City: Movies in the Metropolis

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 376SA
Title: Berlin Film City: Movies in the Metropolis

Description
A course about Berlin’s rich and unparalleled cinema history. Screenings, readings, and visits to historical studios and cinemas, film museums, archives, and film academies. The course is structured around a series of iconic films about Berlin. Units on Weimar cinema, Nazi film, DEFA (East Germany’s production studio), the New German Cinema of the 1970s and 80s, post-wall film, and the twenty-first century Berlin School. Students will engage in close analysis of films in their historical context and discuss how cinema engages with issues of national, political, religious, ethnic, gender and sexual identities. Offered in English in the Duke in Berlin summer program.

VMS378 - Chinese Buddhist Art

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 378
Title: Chinese Buddhist Art

Description
Chinese sculpture, painting, and architecture in relation to Buddhist texts, practice, and ritual from the fourth through the ninth century C.E.Introduction to precedents in Indian and Central Asian Buddhist art. Emphasis on the relationship between Buddhist and non-Buddhist imagery.

VMS379S - Visiting Filmmaker Master Courses: Special Topics

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 379S
Title: Visiting Filmmaker Master Courses: Special Topics

Description
Intensive production courses with visiting filmmaker. Topics vary by semester. May be taken twice.
VMS380 - Visualizing Cities: Representing Urban Landscapes, Cultures, and Environments

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 380
Title: Visualizing Cities: Representing Urban Landscapes, Cultures, and Environments

Description
Visualizing cities in theory and practice. Exploring digital and visual representation of landscapes, structures, environments, history, culture, architecture, events, and populations. Change over time, cultural heritage, possible futures, and alternate pasts from historical, cultural, documentary, and scientific evidence and archives. The idea of the city as a conceptual category and metaphor. Ubiquitous computing in urban environments as a medium for interaction. Global cities and diaspora. Visual imagery and written accounts. Use of mapping, imaging, 3D, augmented reality, games. Individual and group research and production of visualizing cities projects. Topics and temporal foci vary.

VMS381S - Graphic Design in Motion

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 3815
Title: Graphic Design in Motion

Description
Motion design is the creation of animated graphics using graphic design, typography, advertising, photography, animation, sound and filmmaking. Emphasis will be on design, conceptualization and ability to communicate ideas and work collaboratively. Learn language and principles of graphic design by developing a method for solving design problems, communicating ideas effectively, and creating professional motion design such as title credits, logo animation, and newsreel that can be integrated into film, life performance or web. Photoshop, Illustrator, After Effects, and video editing software will be used. Prerequisite: one of the following: Visual Arts 102, 206, 223, or 326S, or Arts of the Moving Image 350S or 357S.

VMS380SA - Digital Cities and the Cartographic Imagination

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 380SA
Title: Digital Cities and the Cartographic Imagination

Description

VMS382D - Global Art Since 1945

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 382D
Title: Global Art Since 1945

Description
Major avant-garde movements of the post-World War II era, with a concentration on the unprecedented changes in the mediums of art, its forms, impact on society and politics, and ethical role in shaping culture through painting and sculpture, conceptual and performance art, installation and new media, video, photography, and film.
VMS384S - Storyworlds: The Art, Technology, and Pleasure of Narrative

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 384S
Title: Storyworlds: The Art, Technology, and Pleasure of Narrative

Description
Is 'tell me a story' an universal imperative? Seminar examines storytelling practices across a broad span of histories and cultures, and the creation of storyworlds through multiple media, genres, and platforms. Topics include comparative oral traditions, Medieval story cycles, serial tales, textual poaching and fanfic, alternate reality gameworlds (ARG), social media, transmedia storytelling and transcultural fandoms.

VMS385 - Mafia at the Movies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 385
Title: Mafia at the Movies

Description
A study of the mafia, and by extension, of Italy's 'dark heart,' in its historical, social, economic, cultural, and political dimensions, as represented in a wide range of Italian and American films and television productions, from documentary to comedy. Course will also consider possibilities and limits inherent to cinema in representing, and influencing cultural and social realities. Taught in English, Italian majors and minors should inquire with the professor about the possibility of concurrently enrolling in a tutorial for credit towards the language requirement for the major or minor.

VMS386S - Documentary and Policy: How Documentary Influences Policy

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 386S
Title: Documentary and Policy: How Documentary Influences Policy

Description
Examines documentaries as catalysts for change in local, state, and federal laws and regulations, with special attention to relationships between film and organizations with political influence. Looks at how documentaries have altered public sentiment and political outcomes. Uses case studies of documentary films (essay-style, journalistic, information-driven films; narrative, story-driven films; propaganda; art films; and hybrids of all of the above). Explores the question of how a film achieves influence: for example, with a high-profile theatrical and/or television release, by utilization as an educational tool, or by 'going viral' to become part of a public conversation.

VMS387S - Screenwriting

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 387S
Title: Screenwriting

Description
Advanced writing projects for feature film. Study of existing scripts and videos, application of techniques.
VMS388S - Black Thought and Creativity to 1865

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 388S
Title: Black Thought and Creativity to 1865

Description: How did people of African descent express themselves in the context of slavery? What did they write about? What kinds of items did they create? This course will explore the cultural, intellectual, and aesthetic knowledge produced by people of African descent before 1865 and how these works continue to shape conceptions of liberation in contemporary Black life. Students will engage materials by Black thinkers, artists, activists, and critics, from the nineteenth to the twenty-first century, who use creativity to ruminate on freedom and black liberation in diverse media, including autobiography, painting, speech, photography, performance and food culture.

VMS389S - Women and Visual Media Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 389S
Title: Women and Visual Media Studies

Description: This course explores visual media by women artists, as well as the production, circulation, and reception of visual culture about the idea of 'woman.' Drawing on feminist scholarship across disciplines, students will examine representation, spectatorship, power, beauty, and sex. We will explore work by popular icon Beyoncé, artist Lorna Simpson, but also independent documentary films on relevant themes.

VMS390 - Special Topics in Visual & Media Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 390
Title: Special Topics in Visual & Media Studies

Description: Topics vary by semester.

VMS390A - Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Visual Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 390A
Title: Duke-Administered Study Abroad: Advanced Special Topics in Visual Studies

Description: Topics differ by section.

VMS390S - Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies

Description: Topics vary by semester.

VMS390S-1 - Topics in Digital History and Humanities

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 390S-1
Title: Topics in Digital History and Humanities

Description: Digital History and Digital Humanities in theory and practice. Students plan, research and develop new technology projects which present archival material and historical interpretations to scholars and the general public through research papers, websites, and museum exhibits. The course meets weekly to discuss readings in American history, southern history, and digital history/humanities. Students explore archival material in the Rubenstein Library, learn how to use digital tools for humanities projects, develop principles of effective digital project management, create cross-disciplinary collaborations and learn about the ethics for creating research projects in the humanities.
VMS390T - Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies: Tutorial

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 390T
Title: Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies: Tutorial

Description:
Topics vary per semester. Information science and studies areas as understood historically, thematically, and in contemporary cultures. Theoretical readings coupled with hands-on work with technology and new media applications.

VMS391 - Independent Study

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 391
Title: Independent Study

Description:
Directed reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or report. Open to qualified students in the junior year, by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

VMS392 - Independent Study

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 392
Title: Independent Study

Description:
See Visual and Media Studies 391. Open to qualified students in the junior year, by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

VMS393 - Research Independent Study

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 393
Title: Research Independent Study

Description:
Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open to qualified students in the junior year, by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

VMS394 - Research Independent Study

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 394
Title: Research Independent Study

Description:
See Visual and Media Studies 393. Open to qualified students in the junior year, by consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies.

VMS396 - Graphic Design in Multimedia: Theory and Practice

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 396
Title: Graphic Design in Multimedia: Theory and Practice

Description:
Design history and theory. Lectures and projects focused on direct interaction with digitized elements of historically significant designs. Design elements and principles. Comparison of the language and tools of old and new media. Analysis of visual materials, discovering conceptual and stylistic connections, including Illustrator and Photoshop. Consent of instructor required.
VMS397L - Interactive Graphics: Critical Code

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 397L
Title: Interactive Graphics: Critical Code

Description:
Introduction to interactive graphics programming for artists. Explores object-oriented programming via the Processing programming environment as well as historical and theoretical appreciation of interactivity and computer graphics as artistic media. Combines discussions of key concepts from the readings with hands-on Processing projects and critiques. No previous programming experience or prerequisites required. Enrollment limited to 15 students.

VMS405S - Media and Conflict

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 405S
Title: Media and Conflict

Description:
Focus on the role of media in the context of colonialism, war and conflict across various historical periods. Attentive to the ways that media technologies have been employed both as tools of power and vehicles of protest and resistance. Theoretical readings are paired with a set of international case studies -- e.g. colonial atrocity archives, #BlackLivesMatter, Syrian civil war, the Abu Ghraib torture scandal, the Israeli military occupation, drone strikes -- that enable us to test the applicability of theoretical discussions to contemporary case studies. Readings in Butler, Kaplan, Sontag, Stein and Kuntsman, Virilio and others.

VMS410S - Black Frame: African American Documentary Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 410S
Title: Black Frame: African American Documentary Film

Description:
This course examines black documentary film by drawing on The Full Frame Archive Film Collection. The Full Frame Documentary Film Festival is the largest film festival in the United States entirely devoted to documentary film. Students enrolled in this class will read canonic texts on the black documentary film, study camera techniques, explore the history of the Full Frame Festival, critique the role of race in social justice filmmaking and interact with documentary filmmakers.

VMS412S - Cultures of New Media

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 412S
Title: Cultures of New Media

Description:
Anthropological look at ‘new media’ - their varied forms and histories, how they are used and understood, and their meanings and effects within different communities of users. Charts a number of technologies deemed ‘new’ in their day and the social meanings and communities that such technologies generated. Explores new media in domains of art and literature, as well as issues of race, gender, sexuality and how other indices of difference come to bear on new media and its use. Grounded in anthropology, readings will also draw on media studies, visual studies, cultural studies and critical theory, queer and gender theory, history and geography.

VMS414A - Urban Fiction and Collective Imagination: Madrid Through Literature and Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 414A
Title: Urban Fiction and Collective Imagination: Madrid Through Literature and Film

Description:
This Duke in Madrid course offers a panoramic look at some of the most important, contemporary artistic and cultural expressions and how they represent Madrid. While looking at historical, social and artistic contexts, we will spend time reflecting and engaging in debates about issues that have been shaping the dynamics of modern cities such as multiculturalism, migration and the role of women. Also, we will look for a way to position Madrid in the face of global questions about Hispanic culture and how it is perceived in other countries.

VMS417S - The Middle East: From Facebook to Film

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 417S
Title: The Middle East: From Facebook to Film

Description:
Studying the Middle East through the lens of popular culture, with a focus on the cultural changes of the digital era. Focus on social media, film, graphic novels, amateur cameras. Studies how popular cultural forms relate to concurrent political and historical processes. Themes include: digital media and society, state violence and terrorism, human rights, sexuality and youth culture.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Name</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS419</td>
<td>Spanish Cinema from the Transition to the Present</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>419</td>
<td>Spanish Cinema from the Transition to the Present</td>
<td>Overview of Spanish cinema, from transition to our present days. Having undergone dramatic transformation in past years, Spanish film offers privileged area to study main features, novelties, contradictions, and tensions. Analyzes two chronological phases: the mid 70s to late 80s, characterized by intense cinematic negotiation with immediate past that unveils cracks and violences of normalizing erasure proposed from the political institutions; and the 90s until the present, a period marked by Spanish film's entrance in the global market, with its identitarian reassessment and emphasis in new pressing issues such as immigration, memory, and gender violence. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS419A</td>
<td>Spanish Cinema from the Transition to the Present</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>419A</td>
<td>Spanish Cinema from the Transition to the Present</td>
<td>Overview of Spanish cinema, from transition to our present days. Having undergone dramatic transformation in past years, Spanish film offers privileged area to study main features, novelties, contradictions, and tensions. Analyzes two chronological phases: the mid 70s to late 80s, characterized by intense cinematic negotiation with immediate past that unveils cracks and violences of normalizing erasure proposed from the political institutions; and the 90s until the present, a period marked by Spanish film's entrance in the global market, with its identitarian reassessment and emphasis in new pressing issues such as immigration, memory, and gender violence. Offered through Duke in Madrid program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS420S</td>
<td>Political Cinema in Latin America</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>420S</td>
<td>Political Cinema in Latin America</td>
<td>What counts as 'political cinema'? What are the possible relations between cinema and politics, particularly in Latin America? How can cinema not only comment on political issues but also perform politics through practices of production and aesthetic choices that are germane to film as a cultural form? This course explores these and related questions through a survey of landmark Latin American works from the mid-twentieth century to the present. Taught in Spanish.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS423S</td>
<td>City Stories, Eastern Europe: Prague, Warsaw, Budapest, Sarajevo</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>423S</td>
<td>City Stories, Eastern Europe: Prague, Warsaw, Budapest, Sarajevo</td>
<td>Explores the multicultural histories, landmarks, and architectural styles of these four major European capitals. Drawing on paintings, photos, films, histories, memoirs, and fiction, we'll trace the aesthetic, religious, and political imprints of overlapping empires—Hapsburg, Russian, Ottoman, and Soviet—on these fascinating cities; consider how their urban communities accommodated influential religious minorities (Jews, Muslims, Christians); and study the roles they played in their respective nations. All readings in English translation and films screened with English subtitles.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
VMS425S - Surrealism: Aesthetics and Politics

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 425S
Title: Surrealism: Aesthetics and Politics

Description: Introduces basic principles and central issues of Surrealism investigating its relations with modernism. Examines Surrealist strategies (automatism, hypnosis, collage, found objects), themes (dreams, sexuality, dépaysement), and political agendas (Marxism, anti-colonialism, anarchism) across a wide range of verbal sources and visual artefacts and from a variety of angles: its precursors (Sade, Freud, Apollinaire), the practices in the Parisian scene in the 1920s, the European anti-fascist phase, reception of Parisian surrealism in the Caribbean, theoretical reflections by Benjamin and Adorno, the legacies (The Situationist International, May 1968, Pop Art). Conducted in French.

VMS429S - Historical Documentary Production

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 429S
Title: Historical Documentary Production

Description: Course examines how archival footage and photographs are used in historical documentaries about struggles for social equity in America. Iconic films will be reviewed to assess editors’ strategies for employing archival material in documentaries on the labor movement, civil rights movement, anti-Vietnam war movement, and early lesbian and gay rights movement. Students will then conduct research for film footage and photographs and learn practical steps needed to acquire rights to use the material. During the second half of the semester, students will be guided in the production and editing of their own short historical documentary.

VMS432S - From the Art of the Pleasure Quarters to Tokyo Pop

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 432S
Title: From the Art of the Pleasure Quarters to Tokyo Pop

Description: Starting in the bordellos of 17th-century Edo (now modern-day Tokyo) and spanning up through the kitsch of contemporary Japanese pop culture, this course examines the vibrant and often bawdy forms of Japanese print and visual culture. Introduction to Japanese printmaking practices and a forum for discussing critical issues related to sexuality, censorship, spectacle, satire, tourism, the supernatural, and the Asian experience of modernity. Investigates the spectacular worlds of the kabuki theater, sumo wrestling, and the ‘pleasure quarters’ (the red-light district designated for licensed prostitution).

VMS433S - Photography in the Americas: War, Tourism, Art, and Protest

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 433S
Title: Photography in the Americas: War, Tourism, Art, and Protest

Description: Since it emerged in the 19th century until today, the camera has framed our way of seeing and understanding the world. In this course, students accompany the camera in its path through major events in the Americas —North, South, and Central—and examine the profound connections between them. We discuss photography as a weapon of war, a souvenir for tourists, an instrument of protest, an illustration of history, a journalistic and ethnographic tool, and an artistic medium. Key developments in photographic processes, from half tone printing to digital imaging, offer opportunities to reflect on the relationship between visual culture and technology, and art and politics. Taught in Spanish.
VMS434 - Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 434
Title: Experimental Sculpture and Installation Art

Description
This course explores ideas surrounding the creation of experimental sculpture. It employs non-traditional methods: 'readymades,' non-traditional materials, conceptual processes, digital interaction and fabrication techniques (rapid prototyping), mixed media including video, and projection technologies. Content of work driven by individual student interests, sustainability, the anthropocene, feminism, social and political commentary, and/or more formal, abstract sculptural relations. Instructor consent required.

VMS435S - Soviet Life through the Camera's Lens

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 435S
Title: Soviet Life through the Camera's Lens

Description
An in-depth look at images and representations of Soviet life through Soviet and Russian film. Film texts include films shown in theatres, television films and forbidden films/films with a very limited distribution. Emphasis on the period from the mid-1970s through 1991. Course taught in Russian. Prerequisite: Russian 301S or equivalent or consent of instructor.

VMS438S - Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 438S
Title: Techno-Orientalism: Asian/America, (Post)Human and Science Fiction

Description
Course examines global Science Fiction genres in literature, film, and social media as case studies to understand broad historical and social formations of Otherness, the Alien, Citizenship, (Im)migration. Studies racial assumptions in popular culture, domestic and international law, discourse of the human and human rights, science and technology industries, and other disciplines. Explores interdisciplinary intersections of race, gender, sexuality, class, and geopolitical divisions and interactions in Asian/American Studies and Postcolonial Studies from the past to the present.

VMS439 - Queer China

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 439
Title: Queer China

Description
Examines queer discourses, cultures, and social formations in China, Greater China, and the global Chinese diaspora from the late imperial period to the present. Course will focus on cultural representations, particularly literary and cinematic, but will also consider a wide array of historical, anthropological, sociological, and theoretical materials.

VMS450S - Narrative Projects

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 450S
Title: Narrative Projects

Description

VMS451S - Filming Art

Subject: VMS
Catalog Number: 451S
Title: Filming Art

Description
Practice-based production course examining the filmic realization and visualization of the artistic process. Screenings of bio-pics, documentaries and experimental films focusing on artists and various art forms complement readings and hands on production exercises that will prepare students to undertake their own short video portrait of an artist or work of art.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS452S</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>452S</td>
<td>Animation Practice II</td>
<td>Building on foundations of animation, this course expands upon and develops a further working knowledge of challenges faced in animation production. Examines the historical origins of animation from film and digital imaging to the contemporary 3-D workflow. Skills will be integrated into a self-directed final project of the student's own design. Suggested prerequisites CINE 320S or CINE 381S.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS453S</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>453S</td>
<td>Cinematography II</td>
<td>Course explores the approaches, strategies, motivations, and creative processes that inform cinematography. Elements of cinematic style, visual imagination, and storytelling are discussed and explored through exercises. Students learn the relationships and responsibilities involved in the art, and are guided in the execution of the various canonical and extraordinary working methods involved in traditional, experimental, and modern cinematography. Suggested prerequisite: CINE 355S.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS454SL</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>454SL</td>
<td>Digital Art History II: New Representational Technologies Advanced</td>
<td>Team-based research and study in material culture and visual arts expressed by using new visual technologies to record, interrogate, and communicate complex sets of visual and physical data from urban and/or archaeological sites. More advanced techniques for presentation and interpretation of visual material through a series of interpretive and reconstructive technologies. Use test cases (archaeological site or urban/architectural site) to further develop techniques of interpretation and representation. Public facing presentation of data and results of research is aim of final team-based project. Prerequisite: Art History 354SL/Visual and Media Studies 365SL.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS476S</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>476S</td>
<td>Archiving and Visualizing Asia: Politics and Poetics of Knowledge Production</td>
<td>Engages students in the practices and theories of archiving, documenting and curating marginal histories. Hands-on research in the archives of Duke's Rubenstein Special Collections and elsewhere. Examines histories of movements and encounters between the 'West' and 'Asia.' Teaches original archival research and documentary methods through guided excavations in digital, audiovisual, and material resources. Directed readings and special guest lectures guide students on how to think critically on the theories and praxis of knowledge production, collection, documentation, circulation, and consumption. Students curate projects for final research assignment.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS489S</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>489S</td>
<td>Screening Europe</td>
<td>Course debates identification of Europe as a political, historical and social entity from the standpoint of cinema. Provides students with an introduction to the notion of 'European cinema' from 1945 to the present-day crisis of Brexit and migration. Explores issues concerning interactions and relations between national and transnational identities, the local and the global, post-colonialism and multiculturalism, migration and nationalism, and Eastern versus Western Europe.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS490S</td>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>490S</td>
<td>Special Topics in Visual and Media Studies</td>
<td>An advanced investigation of major concepts and principles in visual and media studies and/or theories of visual and media studies. Contents and methods vary with instructors.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
VMS490T - Collaborative Computational Media Project Design and Development Topics

Description
Interdisciplinary teams of students work with faculty to design and develop a computational media project. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project, which will be determined in advance. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. This course is designed to fulfill the project requirement for the Interdepartmental Major in Computational Media, Certificate in Information Science + Studies, or for Bass projects. Students from other disciplines welcome.

VMS491 - Independent Study

Subject VMS
Catalog Number 491
Title Independent Study
Description Directed reading in a field of special interest, under the supervision of a faculty member, resulting in a substantive paper or report. Open only to qualified students in the senior year. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

VMS492 - Independent Study

Subject VMS
Catalog Number 492
Title Independent Study
Description See Visual and Media Studies 491. Open only to qualified students in the senior year. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

VMS493 - Research Independent Study

Subject VMS
Catalog Number 493
Title Research Independent Study
Description Individual research in a field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member, the central goal of which is a substantive paper or written report containing significant analysis and interpretation of a previously approved topic. Open only to qualified students in the senior year. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

VMS494 - Research Independent Study

Subject VMS
Catalog Number 494
Title Research Independent Study
Description See Visual and Media Studies 493. Open only to qualified students in the senior year. Consent of instructor and director of undergraduate studies required.

VMS495S - Honors Thesis Workshop

Subject VMS
Catalog Number 495S
Title Honors Thesis Workshop
Description Research and writing skills for students completing an honors thesis; bibliography, library and on-line research, use of archives; picture research and other research skills relating to the history of art; organization of material and preparation for writing; drafting, editing, and production of a finished text; use of scholarly conventions of referencing, footnoting etc. Compulsory for seniors preparing a graduation with distinction dissertation in art history. Instructor consent required.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Catalog Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>495T</td>
<td>Collaborative Computational Media Project Design and Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description Interdisciplinary teams of students work with faculty to design and develop a computational media project. A team's work may run in parallel with or contribute to an ongoing research project, which will be determined in advance. Teams will participate in seminars, data collection and analysis, field work and other learning experiences relevant to the project. Requires final paper or product containing significant analysis and interpretation. This course is designed to fulfill the project requirement for the Interdepartmental Major in Computational Media, Certificate in Information Science + Studies, or for Bass projects. Students from other disciplines welcome.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>496S</td>
<td>Visual Arts Practice and Cinematic Arts Concentration Senior Capstone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description Senior capstone seminar in advanced research in Visual Arts practice and theory, Cinematic Arts practice and theory. Capstone requires the completion of major research project or body of work, participation in regular critiques, and presentation of work at a capstone exhibition. Visual Arts students work in any given media or combination thereof. Cinematic Arts Concentration students focus on the research and/or production of works in film, video, animation, or any time-based media. Course is structured around joint critiques and guest presentations, fostering an interdisciplinary environment representative of contemporary art contexts and professional practice.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>497S</td>
<td>Advanced Visual Practice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description Majors in the fall of their senior year work on independent projects in a group situation. Students meet weekly with professor teaching course to discuss progress and monthly with full Visual Arts and Visual and Media Studies faculty for critiques. This course serves as anchor course for students participating in Graduation with Distinction in Visual Arts and those Graduation with Distinction students in Visual and Media Studies with a practice-based component to their project. Initial development of projects during the fall semester, brought to completion in the Capstone course in spring. Instructor consent required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>499S</td>
<td>Senior Capstone in Visual &amp; Media Studies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description Capstone seminar focusing on advanced visual studies theories, as well as individual senior projects undertaken as a written research paper or written paper plus a visual/media production. Consent of instructor required.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VMS</td>
<td>89S</td>
<td>First-Year Seminar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description Topics vary. Open only to first-year students.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WRITING</td>
<td>101</td>
<td>Academic Writing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Description Instruction in the complexities of producing sophisticated academic argument, with attention to critical analysis and rhetorical practices. Topics vary by section.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 165S
Title: Making Your Voice Heard: The Arts of Oral Communication, Critical Speaking, and Digital Rhetoric

Description:
From ancient storytelling and Aristotelian rhetoric to contemporary Ted talks and Vox Pop podcasts, oral communication remains one of the most varied, meaningful, and influential arts of human expression. This course introduces students to the complex traditions, legacies, and emerging landscapes for oral communication, critical speaking, and digital rhetoric in academic, professional, public, and social contexts. Of central importance will be a focus on the ethics and socio-cultural structures that shape oral communication and that impact whose voices tend to be heard and whose voices often remain less heard.

WRITING190S - Special Topics: Writing in the Disciplines

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 190S
Title: Special Topics: Writing in the Disciplines
Description: Topics vary by section.

WRITING190SA - Special Topics: Writing in the Disciplines

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 190SA
Title: Special Topics: Writing in the Disciplines
Description: Topics vary by section. Topics course.

WRITING199FS - Knowing Through Performance

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 199FS
Title: Knowing Through Performance
Description: Inquiry into the concept of ‘performance’ broadly construed; not only as it refers to ‘staged’ performances, but as social ritual and as self-representation, situated in cultural context. Writing experiments aimed at capturing the ephemerality of live performance, with attention to how meaning is enacted through movement, sound, lighting, rhythm, voice, emotion, and audience interaction. Regular writers’ workshops and attendance of theater, dance, and musical performances. Students compose critical reviews and a research project on a performance genre, an artist's approach, or other related topic of their choosing.
WRITING205S - Composing Oneself: Stress, Identity, and Wellness

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 205S
Title: Composing Oneself: Stress, Identity, and Wellness

Description
Interdisciplinary exploration of arts and science related to stress, identity, and wellness. Multi-dimensional focus fusing science, theory, art, literature, and performance to understand structural causes of stress, their physiological effects, and how stressors impact our identities and community ethics. Through text analysis and experience, students explore how arts of wellness, including yoga, mindfulness, and art therapies, impact stress, identity, and ethics. Course texts include literary and discourse theory, social science, neuroscience, and primary texts related to stress, identity, and wellness, including nonfiction, fiction, poetry, art, music, performance.

WRITING255S - Literacy, Writing, Tutoring

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 255S
Title: Literacy, Writing, Tutoring

Description
Theories of literacy and high school and college level teaching tutoring practices. Composition studies, literacy studies, and writing center/tutoring theories. Includes tutoring students.

WRITING267S - The Dialog Laboratory: Experiences in Group Communication

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 267S
Title: The Dialog Laboratory: Experiences in Group Communication

Description
Interactive, performance-based course grounded in dialog and discussion. Open-ended components of the course make learning emerge through doing, reflecting, and adjusting to the particularities of the people involved. Strong emphasis on student-built directions and norms. The laboratory approach to the classroom empowers students to decide how dialog skills are used and what goals to pursue individually and collectively. A course for self-directed students seeking sustained adventures into new communicative experiences and sharpened audience adaptation. Instructor feedback and readings provide ample concepts to service students’ needs and goals.

WRITING270 - Composing the Internship Experience: Topics in Digital Rhetoric and Social Media Discourse

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 270
Title: Composing the Internship Experience: Topics in Digital Rhetoric and Social Media Discourse

Description
Examines how students participating in an internship or other work-related experience can productively narrate their experiences using digital rhetoric and social media. Topics vary depending on each student’s internship, and also include theoretical perspectives on social media, examining audience, purpose, and context in digital platforms, and composing in public sphere. Students apply internship/work experience to course concepts as they produce digital writing and social media projects. Online course. May be repeated. Prerequisite: Writing 101. Instructor consent required.
WRITING271 - Reflective Writing and the Internship/Work Experience

Subject
WRITING

Catalog Number
271

Title
Reflective Writing and the Internship/Work Experience

Description
Study of key concepts related to reflective writing through reading, discussion, and structured writing. Students will compose reflective writing about their internship/work experiences. May be repeated.

---

WRITING275S - Cyber Connections: Communication in the Digital Age

Subject
WRITING

Catalog Number
275S

Title
Cyber Connections: Communication in the Digital Age

Description
Explores contemporary challenges, contexts, and opportunities with communication across media platforms. Examines historical contexts and texts related to rhetoric and communication, and how these ideas have persisted and shifted in the digital age. Texts include theoretical approaches to communication and rhetoric (past and present) and examples of communication across a range of media (for example: podcasts, multimodal texts, web-based presentations, and social media content). Students learn to conduct rhetorical analysis across media, and create written, visual, and/or verbal rhetorical content across media platforms. Prerequisite: Writing 101.

---

WRITING280S - Ethics of Ethnography: In the Field and on the Page

Subject
WRITING

Catalog Number
280S

Title
Ethics of Ethnography: In the Field and on the Page

Description
Inquiry into the practical and ethical considerations of ethnography as both a research method and a writing genre. Students learn to identify rhetorical strategies of ethnographic texts and interrogate the moral, political, and ethical issues in representing the 'other.' Frequent workshops guide students through individual research on the intersection of 'race' and some aspect of Durham's social or historical context. Students develop observation and interviewing skills, conduct fieldwork in Durham, and work through several drafts of their own ethnographies, while learning to give and receive feedback. Prerequisite: Writing 101. Open only to DukeImmerse students. Instructor consent required.

---

WRITING293 - Research Independent Study

Subject
WRITING

Catalog Number
293

Title
Research Independent Study

Description
Individual investigation, reading, and writing under the supervision of a faculty member leading to a substantial written document. Prerequisite: Writing 101. Consent of instructor and Director of the Thompson Writing Program required.
WRITING305S - Writing about Performance

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 305S
Title: Writing about Performance

Description
Inquiry into the concept of 'performance' broadly construed—not only as it refers to 'staged' concerts or plays, but also as social ritual and as self-presentation, appropriately situated in cultural context. Writing experiments aimed at capturing the ephemeral nature of live performance, with attention to how meaning is enacted through movement, sound, lighting, rhythm, voice, emotion, and audience interaction. Regular writer's workshops and field trips to theater, dance, and musical performances. Students compose critical reviews and a research project on a performance genre, an artist's approach, or other related topic of their choosing. Prerequisite: Writing 101.

WRITING315S - Argument Across the Disciplines

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 315S
Title: Argument Across the Disciplines

Description
This course provides practice in analyzing and using the conventions of research writing in students' chosen disciplines and hones students' awareness of how these conventions make the advancement of disciplinary knowledge possible. This course will be most useful for students who are considering multiple majors, research-intensive projects or theses, and students who are considering graduate school or any job that will require them to work closely with findings produced by researchers. Prerequisite: Writing 101.

WRITING384 - Public Speaking: Policy Advocacy and Communication

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 384
Title: Public Speaking: Policy Advocacy and Communication

Description
Theoretical and practical understanding of the elements of effective advocacy, especially as applied to policy issues. Focus on oral communication (both formal public speaking and interactive exchange), written exposition, and presentation skills. Emphasis on the human dimensions of the communication process—voice and body behavior, audience evaluation, focus, control and self-awareness. Identifies techniques for minimizing communication distraction, developing confidence in presentation situations, and analyzing informational requirements. Does not apply toward public policy studies major. This course is open to students in their junior or senior year.

WRITING390S - Advanced Special Topics: Writing in the Disciplines

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 390S
Title: Advanced Special Topics: Writing in the Disciplines

Description
Advanced investigation in Writing Studies and Writing in the Disciplines. Topics vary semester to semester. Prerequisite: Writing 101.
WRITING65 - Writing Transfer across Contexts

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 65
Title: Writing Transfer across Contexts

Description: This course focuses on writing transfer. Students will engage with transfer by transferring a written, verbal, and/or audio project of their choosing from one context and format to a different context and format. Course theoretical concepts include writing transfer; rhetorical context; text format and design; genre; and disciplinary and writing-occasion conventions and expectations. These include global-level issues (design, audience, evidence, epistemology, organization, structure, argument, etc.) and sentence-level issues (paragraphs, clarity, powerful prose, etc.). Students will discuss drafts-in-progress, create interim project phases, and engage in intensive peer feedback.

WRITING70 - Introduction to Critical Reading and Writing

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 70
Title: Introduction to Critical Reading and Writing

Description: Designed for students who seek more time and practice in reading and academic writing skills in order to meet the rigorous intellectual demands of Writing 101. Topics include reading comprehension; recognizing key ideas; creating theses; conducting research; structuring arguments; eliminating errors in grammar, mechanics, and diction; citing sources; and avoiding plagiarism. Recitation component includes small-group workshops and one-on-one tutoring. Writing 70 does not satisfy either the Writing 101 or the WID requirements. Permission of Director of First-Year Writing required.

WRITING89S - First-Year Seminar: Special Topics

Subject: WRITING
Catalog Number: 89S
Title: First-Year Seminar: Special Topics

Description: First-Year Seminar in a topic involving an area of writing studies, such as health narratives, writing performance, science writing, etc. Topics vary each semester offered.