Transfer Students
- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 1, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

1607 / 2051
Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Teacher Education Pathway

Students planning to teach this subject in grades 7-12 should look at the School of Education Program List for information about their programs that lead to the recommendation for New York State Initial Certification required to be a lead teacher in NYS public schools.

Honors

Students qualified to graduate with departmental honors must take an honors course or equivalent approved by the departmental advisers. Departmental honors will be conferred upon a recommendation from the appropriate departmental committee. Candidates must present a paper of at least 7,000 typewritten words in the language of specialization. Consult the department for further information.
Graduate Study

Qualified seniors with a minimum GPA of 3.5 in their discipline may be admitted to graduate level courses. After consultation with an Italian adviser, permission must be secured from the chair and then forwarded to the dean. Consult the graduate catalog for requirements and regulations.

Study Abroad

All study abroad programs are open to students from Hunter College and other accredited institutions. Majors and minors in the Department of Romance Languages are strongly encouraged to participate in study abroad programs (see adviser for GPA requirements). Qualified students can apply for financial aid and STOCS grants. Hunter in Italy: Other Study Abroad options can be discussed with an Italian adviser. Winter Program Hunter in Florence, held during January intersession, offers courses and Italian Culture and Literature taught in English.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus - Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 1, and Intermediate level 2) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Earn at least 6 credits from the following:
- SPAN27500 - Readings in Modern Spanish Literature
- SPAN27600 - Readings in Modern Spanish-American Literature
- SPAN34300 - Spanish Literature of the Middle Ages
- SPAN34500 - Spanish Drama of Golden Age
- SPAN34600 - Cervantes
- SPAN34900 - Spanish Prose of the Golden Age
- SPAN35000 - Spanish Neoclassicism and Romanticism
- SPAN35500 - Spanish Literature from Realism to World War I
- SPAN35700 - Early 20th-Century Spanish Literature
- SPAN35800 - Post-Civil War Spanish Literature
- SPAN36600 - Spanish-American Literature of the Colonial Period
- SPAN36900 - Spanish-American Romanticism, Realism, and Naturalism
- SPAN36400 - Spanish-American Modernism and Postmodernism
- SPAN36500 - Survey of Spanish-American Theatre
- SPAN36600 - 20th-Century Latin American Poetry
- SPAN36700 - Latin American Essay
- SPAN36800 - Contemporary Latin American Narrative

Additional Comments:
Students may take 300-level Spanish and Latin American literature courses from the list by special permission of adviser.
Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

*For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.

*For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

* Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Folklore and Literature

Academic Institution: Hunter College
Course Title: Folklore and Literature
Department(s): Romance Languages
Description: Students will be introduced to basic concepts of literature and folklore to increase, through a comparative study, their understanding and appreciation of both art forms. Works in English of major Russian writers such as Pushkin, Gogol and Pilnyak will be read in juxtaposition with folklore genres in search of how literary texts mirror folklore subjects. European, African, and South American literature and folklore will be introduced for comparative purposes.
Academic Career: Undergraduate

Italian American Women Writers and Artists: Issues of Identities
Department(s)
Romance Languages
Description
Students will read works by leading Italian American women writers, including Helen Barolini, Rita Ciresi, Tina De Rosa, Diana di Prima, Louise De Salvo, Maria Mazzotti Gillian, Agnes Rossi and Rose Romano, in order to explore the cultural identity of Italian American women and the way it affects artistic expression. The attitude of these writers towards gender and ethnicity, which shapes and is shaped by their race, nationality, class and sexual orientation will be examined. The students will learn about the contribution of Italian American women in the fields of cinema and visual arts through the works of such artists as B. Amore, Renata Gangemi, Luisa Pretolani, Kym Ragusa and Nancy Savoca. For further enrichment, students will visit relevant exhibits, view movies, and meet some of the most inspiring representatives of the Italian American intellectual community.

Compar Std Re Cinema: Polish, Czech, Russ., So. Slavic. Discuss Cultural, Politcl., Historic Aspects

Description
The course is a comparative study of cultural, political, and historical aspects of Russian, Polish, Czechoslovakian, Romanian, and East German cinema as a visual art form. The course examines samples of East European cinema addressing a respective country's history and social conditions starting with World War II time and covering both the Communist era and post-Communist period. By the end of the course, students will acquire critical tools to provide an informed verbal and written analysis of East European films as cultural texts.

Italian American Women Writers and Artists: Issues of Identities
Department(s)
Romance Languages
Description
Students will read works by leading Italian American women writers, including Helen Barolini, Rita Ciresi, Tina De Rosa, Diana di Prima, Louise De Salvo, Maria Mazzioletti Gillian, Agnes Rossi and Rose Romano, in order to explore the cultural identity of Italian American women and the way it affects artistic expression. The attitude of these writers towards gender and ethnicity, which shapes and is shaped by their race, nationality, class and sexual orientation will be examined. The students will learn about the contribution of Italian American women in the fields of cinema and visual arts through the works of such artists as B. Amore, Renata Gangemi, Luisa Pretolani, Kym Ragusa and Nancy Savoca. For further enrichment, students will visit relevant exhibits, view movies, and meet some of the most inspiring representatives of the Italian American intellectual community.

Portuguese and Brazilian Literature
Department(s)
Romance Languages
Description
Students will read some of the masterpieces of Portuguese and Brazilian literature. Presented in chronological order, this survey of the tradition touches on key intellectual, social, and political developments that marked literary production in Portuguese, notably the colonization of Brazil and the birth of its own literary tradition. The course fosters creative writing as well as critical thinking through literary analysis. The course is taught in Portuguese.

Basic Spanish Review
Department(s)
Romance Languages
Description
This course is designed for students whose study of Spanish has been interrupted for a minimum of four (4) yrs and who wish to continue their study of Spanish. It is not suitable for native or heritage speakers of the language. This course bridges the gap between the high elementary and intermediate levels. It provides the grammar review needed for oral and written expression and emphasizes the active use of the language through task-oriented activities and discussion of cultural and literary texts.

The Literature of Memory in Latin America
Department(s)
Romance Languages
Description
The course studies literary and filmic texts shaped by the upheavals of the period of military dictatorships in Latin America, from the late 1970s through the 1990s. Some of the questions raised by this rich corpus are the following: How can political violence be represented artistically? What are the limits, ethical and otherwise, of such representations? How does memory shape and define our understanding of traumatic historical events? After devastation, how can literary and filmic texts contribute to mourning and community building?

Time, Love and Death in Spanish Poetry from the Middle Ages to the Postmodern Age
Department(s)
Romance Languages
Description
This course, taught in Spanish, focuses on three poetic themes (time, love, and death), and on the relationship between an epoch and its literary styles. It is designed for advanced students and entails the study of poems from premodern, modern, and postmodern times. The course also explores theoretical issues related to the Romantic revolution and modernity.

Simultaneous Interpretation, Spanish-English and English-Spanish
Department(s)
Romance Languages
Description
Communication issues will be discussed so that difficulties will be better understood and expected. The components of good quality will be thoroughly treated, in particular the concept of fidelity. Through intensive practice of short simultaneous passages, students will try to accurately reproduce meaning in the target language without distortions, omissions, additions or inappropriate literalism. They will learn to identify and produce correct language register and style. They will analyze the different syntactic structures of English and Spanish through pattern sentences (expressing time, distance, emotion, sequences of adjectives, etc.) and learn to restructure units of thought (parts of sentences) so that greatest flexibility is maintained. The relation between interpreting and performance will be discussed. Students will learn to handle "stage fright" or stress related to multi-tasking at increasing speeds with diverse subject matter. The concept of "coping tactics" will be explored. Students will receive feedback and direction from teachers and listen to fellow students. The teacher will establish a mutually supportive atmosphere in

School of Education Department

The School of Education

UTEP (Undergraduate Teacher Education Pathways)

School of Education UTEP programs at Hunter College prepare prospective teachers to serve as highly effective educators, and provide opportunities to work with children of diverse backgrounds, abilities, and interests within an array of educational settings in New York State.

A student who completes an undergraduate School of Education program fulfills the academic requirements for New York State Initial Certification. All students in an education major or minor at Hunter must also fulfill both the Hunter Core requirement and the requirements for a liberal arts or sciences major.

The School of Education is committed to the development of teacher candidates that will be both educators and lifelong students. Teacher preparation that focuses on the unique challenges of working in NYC public school classrooms is at the core of Hunter College’s educational mission, and the School of Education is a place for aspiring teachers to learn their craft and contribute to the future through the classroom.

School of Education students are held to the highest professional and academic standards, and will be expected to:

- Learn deep and broad content knowledge across academic disciplines.
- Develop professional knowledge and academic skills.
- Learn the theory and practice of effective pedagogy.
- Understand the history, philosophy, psychology, and sociology of education that will inform their teaching.

The School of Education also believes in preparing teacher candidates to work with a diverse student population in the modern classroom, and recognizes that learning takes place inside social and community networks that support student learning. Thus, our programs also provide teacher candidates with knowledge on how to:

- Manage their educational setting to provide effective instruction for all students.
- Design lessons and units of work for students and to adapt their instruction to students’ prior knowledge and level of skill.
- Use research-based theories and methods of teaching students with special needs, including special education students and English language learners.
- Learn to create humane and ethical learning communities in which all students receive the support they need to achieve academically.
- Learn to communicate effectively with parents, families, community members, and other members of the school faculty and staff in order to provide this support.
- Master the use of technology as a tool for teaching.
Finally, becoming a Hunter College teacher candidate requires dedication to the continuous improvement of one's professional abilities. Our programs, therefore, ensure teacher candidates know how to:

- Reflect on teaching practice in order to strengthen work with students and grow as professionals.
- Gain expertise in analyzing and using assessments of student achievement to guide and inform instruction.

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students
- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their advisor to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

</tr>
</tbody>

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

CUNY Senior College Credits

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.
Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Hunter College

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards

Requirements to Declare the Major

- Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

- Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Biology.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in an education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the APPRENTICE

Hunter College

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

In the case of Biology, the courses that meet CCCR are:
- BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I
- BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core Requirement.

Major Requirements - Biology Requirements (67-83 Credits)

Type: Completion Requirement

Complete ANY of the following Courses:
- MATH10100 - Algebra for College Students
- MATH10101 - Algebra College Study-Enhanced
- MATH10102 - Mastery of Symbolic Computation
- MATH12400 - College Algebra and Trigonometry
- MATH12500 - Precalculus
- MATH12550 - Precalculus with Workshop
- MATH14000 - Mathematical Reasoning Workshop
- MATH15000 - Calculus 1
- MATH15200 - Calculus 2
- MATH15500 - Calculus 2
- CHEM10200 - General Chemistry 1
- CHEM10400 - General Chemistry 2
- CHEM22204 - Organic Chemistry 1 (lec)
- CHEM22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I
- CHEM22404 - Organic Chemistry 2 (lec)
- PHYS11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound
- PHYS12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics
- PHYS11100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound
- PHYS12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity
- STAT21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:
- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Completion Requirement

Complete ALL of the following Courses:
- BIOL10000 - Principles of Biology 1
- BIOL10200 - Principles of Biology 2

Major Requirements - Introductory Biology (9)

Type: Completion Requirement

Complete ALL of the following Courses:
- BIOL10000 - Principles of Biology 1
- BIOL10200 - Principles of Biology 2

Major Requirements - 200-level and Higher Concentration in Biology and Additional Courses (55-57 Credits)

Type: Completion Requirement

Required Courses (44-46)

Earn at least 44 credits from the following:
- BIOL20300 - Molecular Biology and Genetics
- BIOL30000 - Cell Biology
- CHEM10200 - General Chemistry I
- CHEM10400 - General Chemistry 2
- CHEM10600 - General Chemistry Lab
- CHEM22204 - Organic Chemistry 1 (lec)
- CHEM22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I
- CHEM22404 - Organic Chemistry 2 (lec)
- PHYS11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound
- PHYS12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics
- PHYS11100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound
- PHYS12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity

Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course was not be permitted to continue in the program.

Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.
Hunter College

Degree Requirements - Bachelor of Arts

Complete at least 1 of the following courses:
- PHYS11000 - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat and Sound
- PHYS12000 - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics
- PHYS12100 - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism

Earn at least 11 credits

Students select the remainder of their credits toward the Biology Major from advanced courses in the biological sciences so as to create a core area of study. Eleven credits are required to complete the major. A minimum of two elective lecture courses must be taken, with at least one course at the 30000 level or higher, in addition to BIOL 30000 and BIOL 30300, for a minimum of six credits. For the remaining elective credits, at least one special-topics course must be taken (BIOL 47000 or BIOL 47100 or BIOL 79000; various topics offered each semester) in addition to other lecture or research courses. There are some BIOL courses that do not count as electives towards the Biology Major (e.g. BIOL 12000, BIOL 12200 and BIOL 23000). Please read the course descriptions carefully to identify those courses. If you have any questions about which courses can be used as major electives, please speak to your Biology department advisor. Students with strong interdisciplinary interests may select advanced course offerings in other departments after approval by their adviser. Four credits of laboratory research are recommended and can count towards the total elective credits either from a laboratory elective course or from research within an approved research laboratory. Laboratory research credits are taken as a BIOL 48000 research course for a maximum of two credits per semester and require a written report or presentation of work required for completion of course. Laboratory research credits can also be obtained from BIOL 61000.

General Education Requirements - Common Core

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 6 credits from the following:
- Required Core English Composition

Students who receive an “exemption” for ENGL 12000 or for a course in English Comp 2 are deemed to have fulfilled English Composition 1 or 2, respectively.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Required Core Mathematical and Quantitative Reasoning

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the “STEM variant” courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Required Core Life and Physical Sciences

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the “STEM variant” courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Flexible Core Scientific World

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the “STEM variant” courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Flexible Core Creative Expression

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Flexible Core U.S. Experience in Its Diversity

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Flexible Core World Cultures and Global Issues

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Flexible Core Individual and Society Social Science

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Flexible Core Individual and Society Humanities

Additional Comments:

Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited
2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

 Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.

*For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.

Declaring the Major
Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year. Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major
1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.

Note: Specific sections of courses containing significant writing are listed with a W designation in the Schedule of Classes. Please note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W in the Schedule of Classes must be taken.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major:
1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Environmental Studies Earth Science Concentration.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Chemistry.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement - Fall 2013 to Spring 2019

In the case of the Mathematics, the courses that meet CCCR are:

- MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus
- CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I
- CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II
- CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory
- CHEM 11100 (STEM) - Chemical Principles
- CHEM 11200 (STEM) - Thermodynamics and Solution Chemistry

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core Requirement.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter. Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement, after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement will vary depending on the student’s background.
Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Declarations of the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Complete 30 credits in liberal arts and sciences (Students may apply to QUEST if the total of their completed credits plus credits in which they are currently enrolled is at least 30 credits.)
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Declaration of an appropriate liberal arts and sciences major.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Liberal Arts & Sciences Major Requirement

All students in School of Education programs must also declare a major in the School of Arts 6 Sciences. This major must lead to a BA degree.

See the School of Arts 6 Sciences for more information on major options.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0 and an education sequence index of at least 3.0.
- Students must receive grades of C or better in Childhood Education courses that do not include fieldwork. QUEST fieldwork courses require a grade of B or better. All QUEST courses are repeatable once by students who have received a grade of D in a non-fieldwork course or a grade below B in a fieldwork course. Students must officially re-register for these courses. Students who receive an F in any course may not continue in the program. Students who receive an F or D in fieldwork may not continue in the program.
- In order to register for QSTA 40680 - Mathematics Teaching and Learning in Elementary School, students must have completed MATH 10400 (STEM) and MATH 10500. If progress through the QUEST program would be delayed by the requirement for MATH 10500 as a prerequisite, then the program coordinator may allow students to enroll in QSTA 40680 after completing MATH 10400 (STEM) and registering for MATH 10500.
- Certification Exams prior to student teaching.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated once.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type

Completion Requirement

- Earn at least 12 credits

The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, and who do not also complete a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 1, and Intermediate level 2) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty, including the coordinator of the BA/MA dance education program. The BA/MA Dance Education applicant should also set up a time for the Dance Education Coordinator, in consultation with dance faculty, to be observed in a dance class. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible.
Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students.

Requirements to Declare the Major
1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Dance.
5. Participation in a group interview.
Meeting minimum requirements to declare the major does not guarantee entry into the program.

Academic Progress Standards
Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Dance Progress Standard
All dance majors must demonstrate proficiency to qualify for level I or higher in contemporary, ballet or hip-hop dance technique by the 5th semester of their college career. Inability to complete at least level I Contemporary, Ballet or Hip-Hop technique after 3 attempts will result in the student being removed from the major.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards
• Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0
• Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of D in an undergraduate education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of F in any Education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
• Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Graduate Academic Progress Standards
1. Minimum GPA for Retention - Graduate students must maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 to remain at Hunter College. Students whose grades fall below this standard are required to raise their GPAs to at least 3.0 within one semester.
2. No F in the first two semesters—students who receive a grade of F or WU in any course in the first two semesters will not be allowed to continue in the program.
3. Progress holds due to Incomplete Grades - Students with two or more INCs in all courses will not be allowed to register for any courses.
4. Key Course Performance Standards
• Students must receive a grade of at least a B in key program courses.
• Students who receive a grade of F or WU in key program courses may not continue in the program.
• Key Program Courses are identified by the label (KC) in the course title.

School of Education Exit Requirements:
• Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
• Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop.
• Any student who receives a grade of F in any Education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
• Any student who receives a grade of D in an undergraduate education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of F in any Education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement, after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 1, and Intermediate level 2) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Declarations of Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year. Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in English.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Meeting minimum requirements to declare a major does not guarantee entry into the program.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Add total Credits:

Credits:
- Sub-total = 60
- Electives = 9
- Total credits required = 69

Exit Requirements

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:
- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Electives

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Students in this major are required to take nine credits of elective courses. One elective course must be a 400-level advanced seminar, which can only be taken after achieving 24 credits in the major (see below). The remaining courses must be at the 300-level or above (with the exception of ENGL 28500). All English majors also have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department's prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both. For example, someone majoring in English and History who takes HIST 34251 Britain Since 1689, may count that course toward either the English or History major, not both. Students may choose from the courses and departments listed below.

Note: To take a course in one of the following departments and programs that is not on the list, or in another department, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course. Permission will only be granted for 300-level courses in other departments.

400-level Advanced Seminar

All English majors must take a 400-level Advanced Seminar as one of their electives. In order to be eligible for the course, students must first complete at least 24 credits in the major and meet the prerequisites for the specific Seminar (listed below).

- ENGL 49000: Advanced Seminar in Literature and Criticism (Prerequisites: ENGL 22000; ENGL 25200; ENGL 30400; ENGL 30600; ENGL 30700; one of ENGL 31700, 31800, 32000, 32100, 32300, 32400, 32500, 32600, 32700, or 32900)
- ENGL 49200: Advanced Seminar in Linguistics and/or Rhetoric (Prerequisites: ENGL 22000; ENGL 25200; ENGL 28500; ENGL 30400; ENGL 30700; one of ENGL 31700, 31800, 32000, 32100, 32300, 32400, 32500, 32600, 32700, or 32900)
- ENGL 48400: Advanced Seminar in Creative Writing (Prerequisites: ENGL 22000; ENGL 25200; ENGL 28500; ENGL 30400; ENGL 30700; and both a level 1 and 2 workshop in the student's chosen genre)

Students may take any Advanced Seminar for which they meet the prerequisites. If eligible, students may take the Honors Seminar (ENGL 49400) in place of or in addition to one of the Advanced Seminars. In rare cases, students may take ENGL 48500 Individual Tutorial Project instead of an Advanced Seminar, but only by permission of an advisor and the professor supervising the project.

12 credits must be taken at the 300-level or higher.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students take STAT11300 Elem Prob & Stat.

Electives

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined...

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: General Education - Effective Fall 2019.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:
- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Transfer Students
- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.
For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

Please note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W in the Schedule of Classes must be taken.
Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in History.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in a course in the education sequence will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCCR], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement. In the case of Social Studies, the courses that meet CCCR are:

- HIST 11100 - World History to 1500
- HIST 11200 - World History from 1500 to the Present
- HIST 12100 - Early Modern Europe 1500 to 1815
- HIST 12200 - 19th and 20th Century Europe (W)
- HIST 13100 - The United States from the Colonial Era to the Civil War (W)
- HIST 13200 - The United States from the Civil War Era to the Present (W)
- HIST 20800 - History of the Jews
- HIST 22700 - East Asia to 1600 (W)
- HIST 27800 - East Asia, 1600 to the Present (W)
- GEOG 10000 - People and Their Environment
- ECO 10000 - Introduction to Economics
- POLSC 11000 - American Government: A Historical Introduction (W)
Note

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core Requirement.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.
students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0–12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Music Requirements (57-63 credits)

Piano Proficiency Requirement: All music majors must demonstrate elementary proficiency at the piano. Students should plan to fulfill this requirement during their first year of study. A passing grade on the piano proficiency examination is a prerequisite for the third semester of study in music theory (MUSTH 32000). Students entering Hunter with limited keyboard background may take MUSPF 21300: MUSPF 21400 (Piano I and II) for elective credit; a passing grade of C or better in MUSPF 21400 satisfies the piano proficiency requirement in lieu of the examination. Please note that students admitted to the program must take a proficiency examination during the first two semesters of matriculation in order to remain in the program. This examination will test competence in music theory, music history and literature, and applied skills. Deficiencies revealed by the proficiency examination must be made up by studying the relevant subject matter and passing a reexamination. The proficiency examination requirement must be fulfilled before a student may proceed beyond 18 credits.

As a culminating project, Music TEP students are required to prepare a portfolio containing examples of their work. This can include papers which have been graded and commented on by professors, lesson plans, and student reflections on their own growth and experiences throughout the program. It is important that you save all of your work from all of your classes. During the semester in which you student teach, you will be guided in the preparation of your portfolio.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year. Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Physics.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

School of Education Exit Requirements:

Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

- A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
- B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
- C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
- D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.
Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students
Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year. Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing skills through a review of English.
Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.

4. Formal declaration of a major in Physics.

5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement - Fall 2013 to Spring 2019.

In the case of the Physics, the courses that meet CCCR are:

- PHYS 11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound
- PHYS 12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core Requirement.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Additional Comments:

Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

<td>The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

*For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.

*For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students
• Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

School of Nursing Department

Overview
The School of Nursing is located at Hunter College's Brookdale Health Science Center at 425 East 25th Street in Manhattan. The School's programs combine liberal and professional education with a humanistic and holistic approach to health care. The School's mission is to provide quality nursing education to promote health and provide care to culturally diverse, urban, and global communities, through research, scholarship and service.

The School offers three programs leading to the Bachelor of Science (with a major in nursing) degree: the Generic Program, for traditional students who have completed high school; the RN to BS Program for students who have completed an Associate degree nursing program and are licensed as a RN; and the Accelerated 2nd Degree Program for students who have a non-nursing baccalaureate degree. Information about application to our programs is available at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/nursing.

What can I do with my degree in Nursing?
School of Nursing Baccalaureate graduates are prepared to practice as generalist nurses in health care settings.

Admission Requirements (all Programs)
Students are considered for admission to the Generic Program, Accelerated 2nd Degree and RN to BS programs for the fall semester only. Students are considered for admission to the generic program in the spring semester of their freshman year, after completing prerequisite course work and an application to the School of Nursing. An overall college GPA of 3.2 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application. Only matriculated Hunter College students can apply to the Generic Program. Admission to the School of Nursing is competitive. Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program students must be able to attend during the day and evening on a full-time basis, including weekends. All clinical assignments are made by the school faculty depending on site availability. RN to BS Program students attend Nursing major coursework fully online, on a full-or a part-time basis.

HBSON and Queensborough Community College have a collaborative agreement that grants early acceptance of AAS students into the RN to BS program. Students must complete their first semester of study at QCC with a grade of B or better in NO 101 and a GPA of 3.2 or better for early acceptance.

GPA Requirements for Nursing Programs
An overall college GPA of 3.2 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application.

Attendance Requirements for Nursing
Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program students complete coursework in person on a full-time basis. RN to BS students complete Nursing major coursework fully online, on a full-or a part-time basis.

Grading Policy for Nursing Courses
Students must receive minimum grades of C in all required nursing courses. One required nursing course (Generic Pathway: NURS 20000, NURS 21000, NURS 22000, NURS 24600, NURS 33100, NURS 33200, NURS 33900, NURS 34300, NURS 34900, NURS 35200, NURS 36000, NURS 45500, NURS 46000, NURS 47000, NURS 49000, NURS 49200, NURS 42200) is repeatable once by students who have received a failing grade. Students who fail a second required nursing course in the sequence or a second Biology course may not repeat that course and may not continue in the nursing major.

Note: Other colleges, graduate schools, professional schools, services and employers may calculate a grade point average inclusive of the failing grades. For questions regarding this policy, check with the Office of Advising Services, Rm 1119 East Building.

School of Nursing Licensing and Accreditation

Accreditation
The baccalaureate degree in nursing programs, the master's degree in nursing programs, and the Doctor of Nursing Practice program at Hunter College, CUNY, are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, 655 K Street NW, Suite 750, Washington DC 20001, 202-887-6791.

Licensing
Hunter-Bellevue Baccalaureate graduates are prepared to practice as generalist nurses in health care settings. Graduates from the Generic and Accelerated 2nd Degree Programs are eligible to take the National Council Licensing Examination for Registered Nurses (NCLEX-RN). The program also provides a foundation for graduate study which also is offered at the School of Nursing. Graduates of the advanced practice nursing programs are eligible to take the certification examinations for nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialists.

Centers

The Health Professions Education Center (HPEC)
The Health Professions Education Center (HPEC) is an academic learning center serving all students and faculty at the Hunter College Nursing and School of Health Professions. A variety of comprehensive support services and programs are offered at the HPEC to enhance student academic success, retention, and completion rates by applying best practices and addressing student learning needs from multiple pedagogical perspectives. Our services are designed to develop critical thinking, reinforce practice of clinical skills, and foster a supportive, professional environment for student collaboration and scholarship.

The HPEC combines traditional approaches to teaching with new instructional technologies that reflect the dynamic nature of all health professions. Services at the center include:

- Access to the largest collection of health-related videos and instructional media within CUNY.
- Include: practice of clinical skills, and foster a supportive, professional environment for student collaboration and scholarship.
- Applying best practices and addressing student learning needs from multiple pedagogical perspectives. Our services are designed to develop critical thinking, reinforce
- Access to the largest collection of health-related videos and instructional media within CUNY.
- Computer-aided educational software and virtual training technologies.
- Access to state board testing preparation programs.
- Technology support at the Hunter College Brookdale Campus.
- Beta testing and evaluation of new instructional media.
- Faculty consultation for research and classroom media integration.
- Development and administration of e-learning initiatives, online testing, and digital content.
- Individual and group study support.
- Simulation laboratory support through the New York Simulation (NYSIM) Center.

Faculty and students from all Hunter College schools and departments are always welcome to view the many resources available at the HPEC.

The center maintains regular office hours throughout the academic year, Monday-Thursday 9AM-9PM and Fridays 9AM-5PM.

Center for Nursing Research

The mission of the Center for Nursing Research (CNR) at SON is to support and facilitate the development of nurse scientists and their research.

The Goals of the CNR:
- Foster a sustainable culture of scholarship
- Develop an infrastructure to support and disseminate nursing research
- Facilitate interprofessional research collaboration
- Engage students in the research process

The CNR offers support to faculty in all stages of the research process, from conceptualization of research design through obtaining funding, implementation of the research project, data analysis and publication of findings.

Opportunities are provided for students to participate in research with faculty as research assistants. The Center assists students in the preparation of research posters for presentation at nursing conferences and the CNR annual Evidence-Based Practice Poster Day.

Hunter College School of Nursing is a partner in a major research consortium of the Weill Cornell Medical College Clinical and Translational Science Center (CTSC). The mission of the CTSC is to provide an environment that allows optimal use of our considerable multi-institutional assets and the diversity of our patient population to move translational research seamlessly from bench to bedside and to the community. The CTSC acts as a conduit through which essential resources, technological tools and education programs for all partners can be efficiently shared and managed. The multi-institutional consortium includes The Weill Cornell Graduate School of Medical Sciences, New York Presbyterian Hospital, Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, the Hospital for Special Surgery, the Hunter College School of Nursing, the Hunter College Center for Translational and Basic Research and the Cornell University Cooperative Extension in New York City.

Transfer Students
- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - Hunter Focus: Language Proficiency Requirement

Type | Completion Requirement
--- | ---
Earn at least 12 credits | The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

| CREDITS OF FOREIGN LANGUAGE | CREDITS OF CONCENTRATED STUDY |
Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Additional Comments:

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C
A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students
Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Please note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W in the Schedule of Classes must be taken.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Additional Comments:
Major Requirements - Overall

Type Completion Requirement

- Earn at least 51 credits
  - 69 non-nursing and 51 nursing credits

Requirements for Admission

In order to be considered for admission into the Accelerated 2nd Degree Program, applicants must meet eligibility requirements and admission criteria. All students applying to the Accelerated 2nd Degree Nursing Program must have a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution with a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.2 and a minimum grade of "B" in all science courses and Statistics by June 1 preceding their entrance into the program. Students who meet GPA and degree requirements are required to take the National League for Nursing Pre-admission-RN Examination in order to apply for admission into the program.

Students may take their last two required courses for admission during the spring semester of the admission process. Required courses must be taken for a grade; courses taken on a credit/no credit (CR/NC) basis will not be accepted. Students may not take required courses during the summer immediately preceding the fall entry into the program. Proof of successful completion of courses taken in the spring must be received by the School of Nursing by June 1. Because admissions decisions are made before the spring term ends, applicants with pending grades will be conditionally accepted until receipt of final grades. Acceptance into the nursing major is based on the following admission criteria: composite admission score (GPA plus score on NLN Pre-Admission-RN Examination) and completion of all admission requirements. The composite scores are rank ordered from the highest to the lowest, and admission decisions are given to those applicants with the highest scores.

Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

Additional Comments:

- Students transferring from any accredited associate degree program in the United States will be granted 24 nursing credits for having a Professional Registered Nurse license. The Nursing Regents College Examinations (RCE's) in Adult Nursing, Maternal and Child Nursing, and Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing at the baccalaureate level are required for applicants from schools without accreditation, and for international graduates. A grade of "C" or better is acceptable.

- Student should download a current RN Program Fact Sheet, which details the admission process from the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing website.
Repeating a Course

Note: Students who fail a core prerequisite course in a nursing sequence may not proceed to the next course in the sequence without repeating the failed course. In order to continue in the Nursing major, students must receive minimum grades of “C” in all required nursing courses. Students who receive a grade of “D” or lower will be allowed to repeat the course only once. Students who fail a second required nursing course will be dismissed from the nursing program. This policy applies even if a grade appeal is in progress. Students who fail the clinical portion of a course will receive an “F” for the entire course, regardless of the corresponding theory grade.

Leave of Absence Policy and Reserved Placement in a Clinical Course

A reserved placement in a clinical/field course will be held for the student for only one year from the date of the leave of absence. It is the responsibility of the student to submit to the undergraduate program Associate Dean a letter of intent, one semester prior to returning to the program and enrolling in the course (April 1 for a fall course). Students who fail to follow this procedure release the School of Nursing from reserving a clinical/field placement in a course for the student.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Major Requirements - Overall

Type
Completion Requirement

Admission Criteria: RN-to-BS Program
An overall college GPA of 3.2 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application. Admission to the School of Nursing is competitive.

The program is designed for RN students who have already completed a two- or three-year nursing program. All RN students admitted to the program are required to submit evidence of NYS RN licensure, health insurance, medical records with specified immunizations, background check and drug test, and CPR certification prior to entering the first semester of the nursing major.

Applicants who are in the process of taking the licensing examination are admitted conditionally. Proof of receipt of an RN license must be submitted to the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing by December 1 for students admitted in the fall. Students unable to show proof of license will not be permitted to continue in the nursing major. Applicants to the RN-BS Program must have completed 36 credits of liberal arts and sciences (including credits in progress) as an accredited college, plus the equivalent of 24 credits in nursing.

Students transferring from any accredited associate degree program in the United States will be granted 24 nursing credits for having a Professional Registered Nurse license. The Nursing Regents College Examinations (RCE’s) in Adult Nursing, Maternal and Child Nursing, and Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing at the baccalaureate level are required for applicants from schools without accreditation, and for international graduates. A grade of “C” or better is acceptable.

Students should download a current RN Program Fact Sheet, which details the admission process, from the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing website at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/nursing.

International applicants who need an F-1 or J-1 visa are not currently eligible for this program.
Repeating a Course

Note: Students who fail a course in a nursing sequence may not proceed to the next course in the sequence without repeating the failed course. In order to continue in the Nursing major, students must receive minimum grades of “C” in all required nursing courses. Students who receive a grade of “D” or lower in a clinical nursing course will be allowed to repeat the course only once. Students who fail a second required nursing course will be dismissed from the nursing program. This policy applies even if a grade appeal is in progress. Students who fail the clinical portion of a course will receive an “F” for the entire course, regardless of the corresponding theory grade.

Overview

The Hunter College School of Social Work, founded in 1956, is the largest and oldest public graduate school of social work in New York City. The School’s mission is to promote excellence in social work practice by preparing knowledgeable, ethical, and highly competent social work leaders for a variety of professional roles and settings. Our pedagogy, scholarship, and service reflect social work’s historic commitment to human rights, cultural complexity, and social and economic justice. Commensurate with the missions of our host institutions, the School promotes community-engaged and practice-based scholarship that pursues policy and practice solutions to real world problems, thereby reinforcing the strengths of people and the communities in which they live, in New York and other major urban areas.

Course Title
Advanced Community Organizing Theory and Practice

Department(s)
Social Work

Description
The purpose of this course is to deepen the knowledge and skills of students in the theory and practice of community organizing with an emphasis on critical thinking and reflection. It builds upon and extends the framework and basic concepts of the “Introduction to Community Organizing” course SW 36000. The course provides an overview of historical and contemporary community organizing practices in the United States, and analyzes power and oppression in social movements with special attention to the impact of structural discrimination on low income communities and communities of color. It also includes skills in community based participatory action research and collaboration.

Sociology Department

Overview
Sociology is a multi-faceted discipline represented at Hunter College by a range of scholars who use diverse methods from field research to quantitative analysis and theoretical inquiry. Precisely because sociology is a broad-based discipline that encompasses theory, methods of observation, and research, sociology is both practically useful in analyzing contemporary issues and academically fascinating. The study of sociology also meets four important goals of Hunter College overall: acquisition of conceptual and analytic skills, development of intellectual and personal growth, widening students’ outlook by understanding U.S. as well as global culture and values, and generating new knowledge to address local and international needs and issues. A major in sociology provides the undergraduate with the opportunity to gain a distinct intellectual perspective and a method of inquiry. By continually testing conventional wisdom against evidence, the study of sociology encourages the development of critical judgment. By routinely considering the matrix of social and cultural facts, such study can lead students to an understanding of the conditions under which social facts emerge, and the consequences they have for individuals, groups, societies and social institutions. It can also help students better understand their own roles in the array of social institutions in which they are entwined.

What can I do with my degree in Sociology?
Our courses provide a foundation for the student who desires to pursue advanced graduate studies in sociology leading to teaching positions. The department offers a wide range of specialties offering students flexibility in their choice of PhD programs. A major in sociology also helps to prepare students for many careers: social research, marketing, media, and other fields in the private sectors, as well as law, civil service and public policy, social work, the health professions, personnel work and other human-service areas. Majors are encouraged to develop skills in observation, interviewing, and other data-collection techniques; data processing; statistical and content analysis; and trend analysis — all marketable skills in many career lines.

Honors
In order to graduate with departmental honors in sociology, students must have a 3.0 GPA overall and a 3.5 GPA in sociology; at least 21 of the credits toward the major should have been courses taken at Hunter College. Students must complete either an Honors Seminar
- SOC 47500 - Honors Seminar
or an Honors Independent Study
- SOC 47100/SOC 47200 - Honors/Independent Study or
- SOC 42500 - Seminar in Selected Problems of Sociology

Additional Information
Students whose GPAs are within this range are urged to consult their adviser before planning senior year programs of study, since honors seminars are generally offered only once per year, usually in the fall semester. In addition, students qualifying for departmental honors are eligible for membership in Alpha Kappa Delta, the International Sociology Honor Society. See adviser for more information.

Internships
Provided students secure approval of a full-time faculty member, internships can be carried out for 3 to 6 credits in the areas of marketing, media, and politics, with other areas provided faculty supervision can be secured. Interested students must meet the requirements listed under the SOC 49800 entry.

Additional Comments:
- Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students:
- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
Hunter College

- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type

Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits

The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement, after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

War and Society

Department(s)
Sociology

Description
This course will examine the experience of war in its historical and contemporary significance. This course will examine war as a social phenomenon, emphasizing its impact on the battle front and the home front, on direct participants (combatants) and on those who are affected indirectly (civilians). We will examine the changing forms of warfare with the invention of increasingly destructive weapons; the impact on civilian communities as targets of war; the organization of the military as an institution (including recent debates about the racial and gender integration of the military and the All Volunteer Force).

Data Mining

Sociology

Description

A tremendous amount of data is now being generated and collected through digital technology such as mobile phones, websites, and other electronic devices. How can social scientists take advantage of these digital trace data to answer pressing social questions? This winter course introduces students to basic concepts and methods in computational social science. It aims to show students new ways of thinking about data, conducting social analysis, and examining social phenomena through the lens of computational social science. Students will learn techniques such as web scraping, conducting automated text analyses, and incorporating machine learning into their research projects. By the end of the course, students will be able to conduct research using R programming language to analyze big data.

Special Education Department
Hunter's graduate programs in the Department of Special Education prepare professionals to effectively support individuals with disabilities and/or gifts and talents and their families. Depending on the program, students are prepared to be special and general educators, early interventionists, applied behavior analysts, and/or gifted educators. These professionals work across a variety of settings, including schools, homes, clinics, hospitals, and the community, spanning the prenatal to adult age range.

Special and gifted education programs at Hunter College have been nationally recognized by the Council for Exceptional Children. The Applied Behavior Analysis program is in the process of applying for accreditation by the Association for Behavior Analysis International.

The School of Education offers master's degree and advanced certificate programs in special education, applied behavior analysis, and gifted education that lead to New York State certification or licensure to practice within the particular program area. For a full list of programs please review the School of Education program listing.

The programs within the Department of Special Education are organized according to specialized professional areas of expertise. Some programs share core courses. Specializations provide in-depth preparation for working with individuals based on age, learning and developmental characteristics, and approach. Every program has the common goal of rigorously preparing professionals to effectively practice in ways so individuals with disabilities and/or gifts and talents and their families have the same opportunities as others to live, learn, and thrive in meeting their goals. A hallmark of Hunter's programs is their linking of theory to effective practice.

Courses
Theatre Department

Overview
The Department of Theatre offers students the opportunity to study all aspects of the art form: the making, history, and theory of theatre and drama. Theatre courses include acting, playwriting, directing, design, history, theory, puppetry, interdisciplinary performance and more. The curriculum was developed with an emphasis on professional standards within a liberal arts context. Majors are involved in practical, hands-on production work.

What can I do with my degree in Theatre?
Many students who graduate from the program work as actors, directors, stage managers, technicians, designers and producers. Some of our students continue their creative study in conservatory or MFA programs. Others continue their study in history and theory as MA or PhD students. Graduates who concentrate in developmental drama frequently enter the field as teachers and directors of theatre in education.

Teaching Students with Special Needs in Inclusive Classrooms

Participants will explore the benefits and challenges of creating and maintaining classrooms designed to incorporate students with disabilities in the general education environment for part, or all, of their program. Educating students who have learning disabilities, behavior disorders, and mild intellectual disability will be our primary focus – though we will also inevitably address issues related to individuals with other disabilities. The course will examine educational theories and historical practices that have led to an increased emphasis on “collaborative education” to serve students with disabilities.
Fulfills ALL of the following requirements:

- Earn at least 120 credits
- Earn at least 30 credits in residence at Hunter College
- Earn at least 90 credits in Liberal Arts and Sciences Content Courses
- Earn a minimum GPA of 2.0

General Education Requirements - Common Core

Type

Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

- Earn at least 6 credits from the following:
  - Required Core English Composition

    Students who receive an “exemption” for ENGL 12000 or for a course in English Comp 2 are deemed to have fulfilled English Composition 1 or 2, respectively.

- Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
  - Required Core Mathematical and Quantitative Reasoning

    Some courses in this category carry more than 3 credits (the "STEM variant" courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

- Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
  - Required Core Life and Physical Sciences

    Some courses in this category carry more than 3 credits (the "STEM variant" courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

- Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
  - Flexible Core Individual and Society Humanities

Additional Comments:

Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, you meet Common Core.
For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter. Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students
- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
- Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement, after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 1, and Intermediate level 2) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

*For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.

*For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.

Transfer Students
All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status.

1870/2051
language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses...

Course Title
Theater Proj: Black Theater
Department(s)
Theatre
Description
This course enables students to understand fashion and costume (clothes worn by people) using the lens of cultural studies. The course will take students on a journey of non-Western clothing alongside Euro-Western clothing and under major critical movements and concepts such as cultural studies, Orientalism, post-coloniality, subalternity, pan-Africanism, feminism and gender, material culture, thing theory, visual dramaturgy, to reveal how clothes and costumes are shaped by such forces. Readings in theatre and performance, anthropology, sociology, film and media, history (and microhistories such as fashion history and theatre history) and other areas will help students develop an understanding of the global aesthetics of the body on stage, on screen and on the street.

Unlocking the Performance
Department(s)
Theatre
Description
In this course students will learn to watch performances through the lens of an Actor. How can two actors say the exact same words and have a vastly different effects on the story? Through learning basic acting techniques students will discover the wide array of possibilities available to actors, and learn to watch plays and films from an actor’s point of view We will examine Film adaptations and recordings of live Theatre, comparing the work of actors such as Denzel Washington and James Earl Jones in August Wilson’s Fences, Claire Danes and Leonardo Dicaprio in Romeo + Juliet, Jessica Lange and Elizabeth Taylor in Tennessee Williams’ Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, Ian McKellen and Patrick Stewart in Shakespeare’s Macbeth, along with many others.

Dramaturgical Impulse: The Questioning Spirit
Department(s)
Theatre
Description
In this course the student will encounter the Dramaturgical Impulse or the investigation of the creative process in many forms leading to the idea of the questioning spirit not only for Dramaturgs but for all artists as well. In exploring and answering the questions above, the students will concentrate on the following topics: the origins of and a brief survey of the dramaturgical profession; the collaborative dramaturgical impulse; contemporary dramaturgical paradigms; the dramaturg and the artist's questioning spirit and the creative process; new play dramaturgy and diverse approaches to the creation of stage texts; research as a creative tool and the conducting of dramaturgical research; the creation of a production casebook; the documentation of the artistic process on a production; the reading, analysis and evaluation of new plays for the stage; and contemporary new play issues and dramaturgical challenges. But while the students will explore these questions in a theatrical context they will also investigate generative and narrative impulses vital to creative explorations of other art forms and disciplines as well offering alternative ways of looking at the artistic creative process.

Directing: Site Specific
Department(s)
Theatre
Description
This class focuses on introducing students to methods for creating site-specific performance work. Students will examine the process of transforming an audience's relationship to live performance by presenting work outside the confines of the traditional theater space. We will investigate how architecture evokes narrative by devising site-specific performances informed by the found space of public and private urban environments. Over the course of the semester, all students will perform and direct. Directors will scout performance locations and collaboratively devise original works in groups and directing pairs. Performances will be birthed from visual art images, found text, historical research and original compositions inspired by the architecture discovered. Students will explore how a performance site can inform tone, actor/audience relationship, space, time, sound, composition, and scale as they move their work through various locations and make adjustments to changing environments. The class explores the inherent challenges of impermanence, chance encounter, shared public space, changing weather conditions/seasons, time of day, legality, permitting, foot traffic, population and accessibility. Directors provide feedback by using the Liz Lerman Critical Response Process and by creating a body of work together reflecting the aesthetic vocabulary generated by the group throughout the semester. In addition to their practical work, students will present research on a number of companies whose work lies within the tradition of site-specificity, spontaneous performance, political theater/direct action, guerilla performance and street theater of the 20th and 21st century. The class culminates in a final site-specific performance open to the public.

Urban Policy and Planning Department

Overview
Since its creation by advocacy planner Paul Davidoff in 1965, the Urban Policy and Planning Department has consistently upheld a vision of urban planning as a multi-disciplinary field. As component of the department, the Urban Studies undergraduate major gives students an understanding of contemporary cities economically, socially, politically and physically. Urban studies provides answers to questions about why America is car dependent, New York housing is expensive, the number 6 train is always late and crowded, or how you can make your neighborhood better...

Going beyond the walls of Hunter, the major provides field-work courses: an internship which gives job experience and a studio class, which take students into a neighborhood to solve urban problems such as the increase of clubs and noise pollution on the Lower East Side, street vending along busy streets in Jackson Heights, or lack of park space in East Harlem.

In keeping with this vision of the major, the urban studies faculty represents a wide range of disciplines including architecture, economics, history, political science, public policy, sociology, social work and urban planning. The program also benefits greatly from a distinguished part-time faculty who bring practical experience and knowledge in both public and non-profit sectors into the classroom.

What can I do with my degree in Urban Studies?
Individuals with a bachelor's degree in urban studies have found work at real estate development firms, community non-profits, local government or social service agencies. Many urban studies majors go to graduate school, most often in urban planning. Others have pursued advanced degrees in law, social work and public administration. The range of graduate school choice reflects the flexibility of the urban studies curriculum and its focus on a myriad of issues from a variety of perspectives. Urban studies graduates have completed Master's degrees at Harvard, Cornell, MIT, Rutgers, and other prestigious universities across the country.

Honors
Overall GPA: 3.2 and above. Major GPA: 3.5 and above.

Internships
The Public Service Scholar Program seeks to improve our cities and the lives of people by preparing talented students particularly women, minorities and immigrants for public service careers through internships with elected officials, government, and nonprofit organizations. The program runs for a full academic year and combines internship placements in the offices of senior officials and administrators with intensive seminars on public policy issues, social change, government and nonprofit organizations. The program is open to any Hunter College student, regardless of major, who has a minimum 3.0 GPA and who is within 45 credits of graduation at the beginning of the program in the fall semester. Admission of up to 24 students is competitive. Applications are accepted starting in November with a deadline of March 15th. Students accepted as Public Service Scholars receive 12 academic credits and a $6,000 stipend. Because women, minorities and immigrants have been traditionally underrepresented in public policy making and leadership positions, special efforts are taken to encourage them to apply for the program. Interested students should contact the Public Service Scholar Program, Room 1643 Hunter West, (212) 772-5599 or email pssp@hunter.cuny.edu.

Complete ALL of the following Courses:
- URB20300 - Introduction to Arts Management
- BUS22500 - Survey of Accounting
- MEDPL35100 - Strategic Communication and Marketing for the Arts
- BUS23000 - Essentials of Business Law
- URB40900 - Urban Std: Internship

The AML certificate is a 15-credit program. It is taken in concurrence with any undergraduate major at Hunter College.

Courses Required for the Certificate
Prerequisites of required courses will be waived by the department offering the course for students pursuing the certificate. Students may apply 6 credits from the certificate program towards other programs. Students who are majoring in Accounting may replace the BUS 22500 and BUS 23000 requirements with ACC28000 Business Law I and ACCP37400 Managerial Accounting.

Additional Comments:
ACC 28000 and ACCP 37400 can be used for both the Accounting BS and the Arts Management certificate.

The certificate program in Arts Management and Leadership includes four 3-credit courses, plus a 3-credit internship with a mentored capstone project, for a total of 15 credits. Students must maintain a 2.5 GPA in required courses to receive this certificate.

Theory and practice of effective strategic communications and marketing for non-profit arts organizations and art and media businesses. Students learn techniques for formal and creative industry-leading techniques for maximizing exposure for a cause or brand through public relations, social media and digital media storytelling tools. Students will create a fictional organization around which they will build a cohesive media strategy, utilizing cutting-edge tools and best practices to develop long-term media strategy, breaking news, crisis communications and brand elevation. Students will be positioned to become a one-stop shop for leading strategic media engagement and staying above the fray in a quickly evolving landscape.

Additional Comments:

- Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students
Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits

The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement. After that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 1, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major, or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

*For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.

*For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.
Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

</tr>
</tbody>

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:
A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.
Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one requirement.
Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students
Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Please note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W in the Schedule of Classes must be taken.

2nd Degree Students
Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Additional Comments:

Major Requirements - Overall

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 30 credits

Urban studies majors must complete 30 credits of courses that provide a rigorous background that will make students competitive job seekers or graduate school applicants. The core includes an introductory course as well as classes about the city's physical structure, public policies and research methods, both qualitative and quantitative. The urban studies core provides a foundation for more advanced courses. In addition to the core and advanced courses, the major requires an internship, elective courses, and an interdisciplinary set of classes from several social science disciplines, e.g., political science, history, and economics.

Course Title
Urban Studies Studio

Department(s)
Urban Policy and Planning

Description
This course is structured as a site-based research project where the classroom will extend into the city to actual project. In particular, students will work to understand the structural elements of development as it is taking place in one location, for example, the Hudson Yards on the Far West side of Manhattan. A goal is to see how theory holds up to reality, how ideas are linked to practice.

Urban Public Health Department

Overview
Hunter College's School of Urban Public Health educates students to contribute to improving urban health by addressing problems such as malnutrition, chronic diseases including obesity, diabetes, cancer, substance abuse, asthma, HIV, and violence. The School offers a Bachelor of Science and minor in Public Health, a Bachelor of Science in Nutrition and Food Science, and an accredited BS-MS in Nutrition which leads to the Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (RDN) credential.

- Bachelor of Science in Public Health and Minor in Public Health
- Bachelor of Science in Nutrition & Food Science
- Accelerated BS-MS in Nutrition in Food Science/Integrated Program in Nutrition & Dietetics (NFS-BS/MS-IPND)
- Bachelor of Science in Nutrition & Wellness (https://www.hunter.cuny.edu/nutrition/Undergraduate/bs-in-nutrition-wellness)

What can I do with my degree in Public Health?
The PH-BS prepares students for work in community-based and human rights organizations, family planning clinics, mental health centers, homeless shelters, research centers, media organizations, as well as in city, state and national health departments. Students are also prepared to pursue graduate study in diverse fields including an MPH and Medicine-related.

What can I do with my degree in Nutrition and Food Science or the BS-MS?
The undergraduate NFS-BS prepares students to provide general nutrition education and counseling on wellness, health promotion and disease prevention. Graduates can work in a variety of settings such as corporate wellness, health clubs, community, WIC/child or senior centers, and food service/grocery chains, supporting research or programs within Departments of Health, or in food/nutrition journalism or marketing. Graduates often pursue advanced study in Nutrition and Dietetics to get credentialed as a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (RDN) or work toward degrees in other allied health sciences. The RDN credential is offered at the graduate level at Hunter. Accelerated BS-MS graduates who earn the RDN credential care about the health and nutritional well-being of people and communities and work in hospitals, HMOs, private practice or other health care facilities. More information about career opportunities can be found at the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

Administration

Campus
The Hunter School of Urban Public Health is located at the Silberman Campus at 2180 Third Avenue (119th St) which we share with the School of Social Work, Centro, the Center for Puerto Rican Studies at Hunter College; the Hunter East Harlem Gallery; and the Brookdale Center for Healthy Aging. One of Hunter’s newest campuses and a certified ‘green’ building, it includes a well-resourced library; state-of-the-art class and conference rooms; computer labs; and a large terrace.

Additional Comments:

Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

*For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.

*For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.

Transfer Students
All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

</tbody>
</table>

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study
Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students
Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements.

Additional Comments:

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type: Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:

Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;
B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;
C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;
D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can only satisfy one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Women and Gender Studies Department

Overview

Women’s Studies at Hunter was established in 1975 in response to the women’s movement of the sixties, which asked that higher education integrate the study of women and gender into the curriculum. Our classes focus on the critical examination of gender, class, race, dis/ability, sexuality, and nationality as intersecting dynamics of social and identity formation. Through our own and cross-listed courses, our students are able to explore topics such as Bathroom Politics; Women and Film; Gender, Sexuality and History; Masculinities; Gender and Human Rights; Gender and Migration, and Transnational Feminism.

Our mission is to:

- Educate students about the principles, theories, and concrete applications of these critical analyses.
- Encourage students to examine the complex ways in which the social formations of sexuality, gender, race, class, national origin, dis/ability, and sexual orientation shape human experience and produce structures of power and inequality.
- Re-examine in curriculum and scholarship the historical record to make visible the experiences and contributions of disenfranchised groups across historical and social locations.
- Connect academic work with social and political realities outside the university; enhance students’ understanding of and resistance to structures of inequalities; and link research, teaching/learning, and activism.

Our faculty is an interdisciplinary group of scholars whose research, teaching and advocacy work focuses on the relationships between these forces, drawing from women, gender, and feminist studies; ethnic and critical race studies; LGBT and queer studies; disabilities studies; as well as the study of nationalism and class.

What can I do with a Women and Gender Studies Major?

Through the interdisciplinary study of gender and its relation to other identity markers such as race, class, ethnicity, sexuality, nation, and religion, Hunter College builds a foundation for its Women and Gender Studies majors to move on to professional work in government, public service, research, and education. Our majors also have an academic background that makes them ideal candidates for pursuing professional degrees and graduate studies in a variety of fields, including social work, policy, health, and law.

Exceptions:
- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language
Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of Students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

Public Speaking in Gender Studies
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
This course is designed to cultivate and improve students' public speaking skills, for use in the classroom and in broader public spheres. To do so, we will engage with materials in critical identity studies (primarily on class, race, gender, and sexuality), which generate complex debates and afford fruitful opportunities to refine oratory skills.

<td>Transnational feminisms will explore the gender dynamics of racial, ethnic, and economic relations of power in domestic, international, and transnational settings. We will examine feminist scholarship produced by and about American women of color, Third World women, and other social and political actors whose experiences and thinking have shaped contemporary ideas about gender in different parts of the world.</td>

Course Title
Masculinities
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
The aim of this course is for students to develop and understanding how knowledge about masculinities changes the way we see most areas of scholarship and daily life. This course engages scholarship on masculinities from the interdisciplinary study of sex and gender systems drawing on feminist literature; we will also study a variety of present day men’s movements and understand how they relate to feminist movements.

Family & Household in Anthropology & History
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
The anthropology of complex societies has shown the domestic group to be highly significant in numerous dimensions of social life, from the division of labor to religious practice. Thus, variations in domestic arrangements and relations, whether over time or between groups, provide useful insight into broader aspects of society and culture. This course surveys domestic variations and attempts to explain them. Special attention is paid to the role of gender and contemporary efforts to redefine the very notion of kinship, especially as embodied in debates over same sex marriage and gay/lesbian families.

Women and Gender Studies
Description
This course explores how our understanding of the category “women” depends, in large part, on cultural mediation. After an introduction of key approaches to studying gender, this course will examine how various forms of media have reconfigured our understanding of women as subjects of representation over time.

Shirtwaist Factory

Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies

Description
This course examines the Triangle Factory Fire of March 25, 1911 from multiple interdisciplinary perspectives, in the context of early twenty-century social history, and through the theoretical lens of intersectionality (race, class and gender). Students will investigate how the memory and significance of the fire have reverberated nationally and internationally in politics and culture for over a century. In addition to studying the Cornell University labor archives, and the Remember the Triangle Factory Fire Coalition archives, students will study representation of the fire in literary forms such as theater, performance pieces, poetry, interviews, family memoirs, and lyrics; as well as in documentaries, art exhibits, and other cultural products, including the annual commemoration of the fire in New York City.

- Theorizing the Horror Film: Writing Seminar
- Transgender Literature

Department(s)
- Women and Gender Studies

Description
- Women in Red: Writing for Wikipedia
  - What makes something a horror film? Why are some horror films remade and others not? How have horror films changed over the years, and what common threads run through them? And what are the sexual politics of horror films? This class will involve comparative, aesthetic, sociological, and political[-economic] analysis of horror films and television. We will work through a definition of what makes something 'horror' and how sex, sexual violence, and gender work within the genre. What are the common tropes of horror? What makes something scary? Horrifying? Horror films reflect and inform the popular imagination; so what do these films say about us? We will focus primarily on US films and television, though not exclusively. The course will involve brief overviews of various European and Asian films in order to provide a basis for comparison with US produced films and those that are most popular in the US. Viewing outside of class of class and require you to watch outside of class will include violence, gore, nudity, sexualized violence, etc. Please, if you are at all concerned about the content of the films, reconsider taking this class. Many of these films are disturbing. Additionally, if you do not have access to Netflix or another way of viewing films outside of class, be sure that you can view the films somehow. This is absolutely required.

Sensational and Reel: Women Writing the Fallen Woman
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
Class will read four major novels by women writers of the nineteenth century, all of whom center their fictions on the topic of the "fallen woman." A major concern of the Victorian era, the "fallen woman" narrative is typically about adultery, infidelity and/or sexual relations outside of the prescribed contract of marriage. These narratives center a number of Victorian anxieties about morality, sexuality, gender, class, and propriety. This class will explore two wildly different modes of novel writing popular novels in Victorian era: the popular, "low culture" sensation novel of the 1860s and the more enduring, classic and "high culture" realist novel. We will look at how women writers carefully worked through the problems with sensitivity and empathy not found in male-authored "fallen woman" novels (of which we will read one for comparison's sake).

Course Title
Arab Women Making Arabic Culture
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
How have Arab women contributed to Arabic popular culture, film, theatre, and literature? In this course, students examine diverse cultural works by Arab women to consider how they use creative expression to voice their perspectives on girls' lives, relationships between women and men, women's roles in families and society, and challenges to gender inequality. Across the semester students engage with Arabic cultural work by women – all in English – covering an array of genres, such as fiction, graphic novels, theatre, poetry, lyrics, or film. Engaging with these works, students elevate their style of writing about culture and experiment in creative genre. Students from any cultural background or gender are welcome.

The Anthropology of Black America

Department(s)

Description
This course examines anthropological texts about Black America, focusing on the various sociopolitical contexts in which this body of scholarship has been produced. The course is less about Black culture, per se, than it is about the politics of knowledge production about Black culture.

Special Topics: International Sex Tourism
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
One of the results of globalization has been growing prevalence of international sex tourism, creating a diverse market for “exotic” sex. From Grand Tours to gay cruises, travel has provided a means for middle and upper class Europeans and North Americans to realize sexual fantasies that hinge on the racialization and exoticization of people in the Global South, while simultaneously generating new patterns of labor migration. In focusing on both individual encounters and broader patterns, this course will examine the intersections of race and sex, sex work as a form of labor, and how the pursuit of sex and work can move populations.

Our Bodies, Our Politics
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
Sex and sexuality are commonly understood as innate drives, but are better understood as a series of connected cultural practices. It is the constructed meaning attached to the act of sex that make up the foundation of our sexuality. This meaning changes across cultures and communities and historically has been a subject of political and legal struggle.

Course Title
Bathroom Politics
Department(s)
Women and Gender Studies
Description
In this course, we will study bathrooms in relation to a body of state policies mandating segregated public facilities and spaces, primarily around sex and race. We will examine the anxiety, fear of contamination, and threat of violence in such spaces as it is translated into public policy through regulations including municipal building codes, civil rights legislation, and court cases.
