Major concentration in Spanish-English/English-Spanish translation and interpretation (36 cr)

This program prepares students for careers in the growing translation field. Students take courses in Spanish language, literature and civilization in conjunction with specialized courses in translation/interpretation theory and practice. Allied courses in English and related fields of study are required and must be approved by the program adviser. Sufficient flexibility is built into the program so that students may tailor certain requirements to fit their individual needs and interests. An intensive internship in translation and/or interpretation serves as the student's capstone experience and preparation for future professional settings. Please see the department of Romance Languages for more details regarding this new and innovative program of study.

Sociology

About the Department

A major in sociology provides the undergraduate with the opportunity to gain a distinct intellectual perspective and a method of inquiry. By continually testing conventional wisdom against evidence, the study of sociology encourages the development of critical judgment. By routinely considering the matrix of social and cultural facts, such study can lead students to an understanding of the conditions under which social facts emerge, and the consequences they have for individuals, groups, societies and social institutions. It can also help students better understand their own roles in the array of social institutions in which they are entwined.

Our courses provide a foundation for the student who desires to pursue advanced graduate studies in sociology leading to teaching positions. The department offers a wide range of specialties offering students flexibility in their choice of PhD programs. A major in sociology also helps to prepare students for many careers: social research, marketing, media, and other fields in the private sectors, as well as law, civil service and public policy, social work, the health professions, personnel work and other human-service areas.
Majors are encouraged to develop skills in observation, interviewing, and other data-collection techniques; data processing; statistical and content analysis; and trend analysis — all marketable skills in many career lines.

Additional Information

Students whose GPAs are within this range are urged to consult their adviser before planning senior year programs of study, since honors seminars are generally offered only once per year, usually in the fall semester. In addition, students qualifying for departmental honors are eligible for membership in Alpha Kappa Delta, the International Sociology Honor Society. See adviser for more information.

Internships

Provided students secure approval of a full-time faculty member, internships can be carried out for 3 to 6 credits in the areas of marketing, media, and politics, with other areas provided faculty supervision can be secured. Interested students must meet the requirements listed under the SOC 49800 entry.

Awards

The Department of Sociology offers two prestigious awards to outstanding students in sociology and applied social research. The Norman Hecht Award of up to $300 is provided on an irregular basis for the best research concept developed by an undergraduate or graduate student studying applied social research. It can be granted to an individual student or a group of students. Once a year at the end of the spring term the Benjamin Ringer Award, carrying a cash stipend of $100, is granted for the best undergraduate paper in the areas of ethnic and race relations. The endowed Rosalyn Tough Award is granted with a cash stipend to outstanding sociology or social research students. Two Suzanne Keller Awards with a stipend of $250 each are granted at the end of the academic year. One goes to the graduating sociology major with the best academic record. The second Keller award is given to the best BA/MS graduate entering the field of applied social research. The annual Chicago Award with a $100 stipend is given to a work-study student or research assistant whose contribution to a faculty member’s work is acknowledged in the faculty member’s publication. For more information about the awards contact the departmental advisers.

Career Opportunities
Applied Social Research

Students interested in careers in research-related fields such as media and marketing research, policy analysis and evaluation, advertising, consumer behavior, and public opinion polling, as well as students who are contemplating graduate studies in sociology, are encouraged to gain research experience through selected coursework and independent research carried out under faculty supervision.

In addition to the following, which are required for the major,

Additional Information

The department has also participated in a number of programs that place qualified minority students in summer research internships at leading universities. See advisers for more information.
Social Work

Students interested in careers in social work or other human services are strongly encouraged to consult the pre-social work adviser (Prof. Poppendieck, Room 1603 Hunter West, (212) 772-5583, jpoppend@hunter.cuny.edu). The presocial work advising office offers information about graduate study in social work as well as help with program planning.

Pre-social work

Pre-social work students without work experience in the human services should plan to take the following courses that provide supervised field experience.

SOC 33100 - Field Placement in Social Work Agencies

GER

3/B

Supervised work in social service agency, weekly seminar, preparation of weekly assignments and term paper.

Sociology/Social Research - Accelerated BA/MS

Five-Year BA/MS Program

For a limited number of qualified students, the department offers an accelerated five-year program leading to a BA in sociology and an MS in social research. The program requires a total of 145 credits of college work (100 undergraduate, 45 graduate), a three month full-time supervised research internship in a non-academic setting (or part-time for six months), and a research paper. In order to be admitted to the program, students must complete their basic requirements, pass an honors course (independent study or honors seminar), and meet the requirements of the MS program as outlined in the graduate catalog except for the GRE examination. Undergraduate students are typically admitted to the program toward the end of their junior year when they have completed 100 credits and they begin their graduate work at the beginning of their senior year. Interested students should consult the program’s adviser at the earliest possible date.

Minor

Theatre majors may select a minor from any department or program in the college that offers a program of study leading to a BA degree. Students should consult the departmental adviser regarding appropriate minor choices.

Minor in Theatre

A Minor in Theatre requires a minimum of 12 credits in the Department of Theatre at the 200-level or higher of which at least 3 credits must be at the 300-level (these are usually at least 3 credits). Minors are required to take all necessary prerequisites for these courses. Minors have access to all courses offered by the Department of Theatre. Minors are encouraged to participate in departmental and student productions. Interested students must meet with the undergraduate advisor in the Department of Theatre to declare a minor and to define their course of study.
Honors

Open to any qualified junior or senior with a 3.5 GPA in Theatre and an overall minimum GPA of 2.7 and permission of the chair. Individual work under faculty supervision. Departmental honors granted at graduation.

Thomas Hunter Honors Program

The interdisciplinary Thomas Hunter Honors Program provides some outstanding undergraduate students with a course of study suited to their individual needs and interests. Students selected for the Thomas Hunter Honors Program must show evidence of high academic potential, interdisciplinary interests and intellectual curiosity, as well as the willingness to explore unfamiliar fields and to accept challenges.

Students may apply for admission to the program on their own or they may be invited to participate in recognition of their outstanding academic records. Many graduates of the Thomas Hunter Honors Program go on to PhD programs in the various arts and sciences, or to law, medical and other professional schools. Others choose careers in a wide variety of professional, artistic and business fields.

College Requirements

The Thomas Hunter Honors Program requires that students maintain breadth in their programs, create a significant pattern of courses in at least two academic areas of investigation (Humanities and Arts, Social Sciences, Sciences and Mathematics), including at least one laboratory science course. All programs must be approved every semester by a Council adviser.

Students must also fulfill the following graduation requirements: ENGL 120; Pluralism and Diversity; and, for those entering Hunter in fall 2001 or later, the Foreign Language Requirement. Note that all colloquia in the 200 or 300 series are “W” courses.

Thomas Hunter Honors Program

Major

Students in the Thomas Hunter Honors Program who wish to design an interdisciplinary major for themselves may do so in consultation with the appropriate Council adviser. The final transcript of such students designates the major as “Special Honors Curriculum.” Most students in the Thomas Hunter Honors Program, however, elect to fulfill the requirements for one or more specific departmental majors. These students abide by departmental criteria for the major, and are expected to pursue departmental honors in their major. Their final transcript records the major as Special Honors Curriculum/Specific Department. Whatever their major concentration, all students in the Program must also successfully complete three special interdisciplinary honors colloquia (see further on) and maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or better until their final certification into the Program. Certification usually occurs in the student’s junior year, when the Council, ruling on each case individually, decides that the student’s continuing academic distinction, commitment to interdisciplinary work, and promise of future productivity warrant permanent membership in the Thomas Hunter Honors Program.

Thomas Hunter Honors Program students meet regularly in 200-level and 300-level colloquia, led by members of the Council on Honors and by other invited members of the faculty. Students take a minimum of three colloquia, one of which must be at the 200-level, and one of which must be at the 300-level. While the specific content of these courses varies from semester to semester, the underlying principles remain the same.

The 200-level colloquium is taught by one professor, often a member of the Council on Honors, who studies a specific theme using the materials and methodologies of at least two disciplines. Students may take more than one of these colloquia if they so desire, but at least one must be taken during their first year in the Program. The 300-level honors colloquia are special seminars, usually conducted by two professors, devoted to topics lending themselves to broad interdisciplinary investigation.

The colloquia offer breadth of exposure, but, even more importantly, they seek to demonstrate how knowledge gained from a variety of disciplines can be related and integrated in an effort to understand complex processes and phenomena. In all colloquia, students write at least one major paper, in which they apply the methodology of the course to material of particular interest to them.

Upon completion of 90 credits, Thomas Hunter Honors students may also be admitted by the Council to Advanced Interdisciplinary Studies, with the opportunity of engaging in advanced independent study under the Council’s supervision. A thesis or other appropriate report of the results of the student’s research is presented to the Council.

Urban Affairs and Planning

About the Department

Hunter College Urban Affairs and Planning (UAP) is a department within the School of Arts & Sciences at Hunter College. The department is home to the undergraduate Urban Studies major which prepares students for graduate study and careers in public service. UAP offers two graduate degrees, an accredited Master in Urban Planning and a Master of Sciences in Urban Affairs.

Since its creation by advocacy planner Paul Davidoff in 1965, the department has consistently upheld a vision of urban affairs and planning as a multi-disciplinary field. In keeping with this vision, the department's faculty members represent a wide range of disciplines including architecture, economics, political science, public policy, social work, urban planning, and public health. They collectively bring a wealth of academic and professional expertise to their teaching. The program also benefits greatly from a distinguished part-time faculty who bring practical experience and knowledge in both public and non-profit sectors into the classroom.

Urban Studies Major

Because 75 percent of the nation’s population is classified as urban, cities are important and relevant subjects for study and investigation. Urban studies courses do just that as they examine the forces that shape the institutions and quality of life in American metropolitan regions. Building on an understanding of economic, social, spatial, and political trends, urban studies provides a means to address current urban policy/planning issues and the diverse needs of the people who live in cities. The urban studies curriculum includes courses that develop qualitative and quantitative methods. Included into the curriculum are field-work experiences, an internship and studio class, which take students into the real world to test what is learned in the classroom. Because New York City is a vast urban laboratory, it is a powerful learning tool useful in the development of studio classes and the teaching of urban studies in general.

Preparation for Graduate Training and Employment

A substantial number of majors in urban studies pursue professional graduate study in urban planning, law, social work, public administration, architecture, and related fields. Students should discuss their professional goals with the adviser in their junior year in order to plan their programs accordingly. Others who graduate with an urban studies bachelor’s degree have found jobs with non-profits, government, and the private sector.

Public Service Scholars

The Public Service Scholar Program seeks to improve our cities and the lives of people by preparing talented students particularly women, minorities and immigrants for public service careers through internships with elected officials, government, and nonprofit organizations. The program runs for a full academic year and combines internship placements in the offices of senior officials and administrators with intensive seminars on public policy issues, social change, government and nonprofit organizations. The program is open to any Hunter College student, regardless of major, who has a minimum 3.0 GPA and who is within 45 credits of graduation at the beginning of the program in the fall semester. Admission of up to 24 students is competitive. Applications are accepted starting in November with a deadline of March 15th. Students accepted as Public Service Scholars receive 12 academic credits and a $6,000 stipend. Because women, minorities and immigrants have been traditionally underrepresented in public policy making and leadership positions, special efforts are taken to encourage them to apply for the program. Interested students should contact the Public Service Scholar Program, Room 1643 Hunter West, (212) 772-5599 or email ewalsh@hunter.cuny.edu.

Major (30 credits)

The major's core curriculum begins with an introductory class, which teaches students to better understand city life socially, economically, physically, and politically. The other components of the core include courses about urban structure, policies and research methods. The major is also comprised of electives, an internship, and interdisciplinary courses offered in departments outside of the major.

URBS 31100 - Quantitative Approaches to Urban Analysis

GER

3/B

A survey of quantitative methods used to analyze urban policy and plans. Students are taught about demography, data analysis, and benefits cost analysis.

prereq: Open only urban studies majors who have completed the URBS 10100/10200 sequence or perm instr.

3 hrs
3 cr.
B. Urban Studies Electives 6 cr

Any two (2) 400-level courses in Urban Studies may fulfill this requirement

Examples:

URBS 40100 - Managing Urban Physical Environment

GER
3/B

Advanced study of the physical structure of cities which includes an analysis of zoning, land use, transportation, and the location of housing. The role of public and private agencies at local, state, and national levels in the planning and management of the physical environment is also considered.

prereq: URBS 20100 or perm instr.

3 hrs

3 cr.

URBS 40200 - Urban Studies Studio

GER
3/B

This course is structured as a site-based research project where the classroom will extend into the city to actual project. In particular, students will work to understand the structural elements of development as it is taking place in one location, for example, the Hudson Yards on the Far West side of Manhattan. A goal is to see how theory holds up to reality; how ideas are linked to practice.

3 hrs

3 cr.

URBS 40300 - Selected Topics in Urban Affairs

GER

Minor in Women and Gender Studies
The Minor in Women and Gender Studies requires students to take 12 credits: Introduction to Gender and Sexuality Studies (WGS 10000), Classics in Feminist Thought (WGS 20100), Transnational Feminisms (WGS 24400) and one elective course from one of the six areas of concentration.

WGS 10000 - Introduction to Gender and Sexuality Studies, must be completed before WGS 20100 - Classics in Feminist Thought (W) and WGS 24400 - Transnational Feminisms.

Women and Gender Studies - BA

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

ENGL 12000 - Expository Writing

Hunter Core

English Comp (EC)

GER

1/A

Required of all students unless exempt; trains students to analyze, develop and evaluate ideas and to express themselves clearly and effectively. Introduction to documented research.

3 hrs + conf

3 cr.

Hunter Core Requirement Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Major

The Women and Gender Studies Program offers a 27-credit major. The 27 required credits are distributed as follows:

Core 12 cr

A. 3 Credits

WGS 10000 - Introduction to Gender and Sexuality Studies

Hunter Core

Individual and Society (I&S)

Pluralism and Diversity

PD/C

GER

2/B
The course will introduce students to the political and theoretical debates in the discipline of gender and sexuality. We will cover historical struggles for the women's enfranchisement, the abolitionist movements, sex wars, and the queer rights movement. The course introduces students to feminist contribution to the debate that considers sex as biology and gender as culture, critical race theory, and queer theory. In addition the course will also deal with structural and institutional forms of disenfranchisement by examining the relationship between gender and the state, colonialism, law and capital.

3 hrs

B. 3 Credits

WGS 20100 - Classics in Feminist Thought (W)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C
GER
3/A or B

The course covers the historical debates within the ‘women’s movement’ in the United States by examining some of the ‘classical’ texts by Mary Wollstonecraft, John Adams, and Sojourner Truth. The course also covers the political and intellectual contribution by women of color to the discipline by reading Gloria Anzuldua, bell hooks, Audre Lorde, Patricia Williams, Kimberley Crenshaw among others. ‘Foundational’ texts by Gayle Rubin, Judith Butler, and Adrienne Rich offer a deeper understanding of queer theory’s influence to the discipline. Even as the course reads ‘classic’ texts of the discipline, we will critically examine the formation of a cannon.

WGS 31000 - Research Seminar: Feminist Theory and Methodology

Open to Jr/Sr only. Study of the theoretical models that feminist scholars create to guide their work and application of feminist methodology to a research project. To graduate with honors in Women's Studies, majors must enroll in this seminar. Note: Students may take WGS 31000 or 32000 to satisfy the Senior Seminar requirement in the major; students may also opt to take both courses. Since both classes are not taught every semester, students are urged to consult the program director in advance to plan their senior seminar.

spring semester

AREA OF CONCENTRATION- 9 Credits

Students will choose one from among the 6 areas of concentration listed as follows:

Please go to the WGS website schedule of classes (http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/wgsprogram/schedule-of-classes) for a complete list of cross-listed courses that fulfill each of the 6 areas of concentration.

I. Women and Gender Studies: Feminist Thought and Theory

II. Women and Gender Studies: Sexualities

III. Women and Gender Studies: Gender & Public Policy

IV. Women and Gender Studies: Gender, Literature and the Arts

V. Women and Gender Studies: Labor, Migration and Globalization

VI. Women and Gender Studies: Women in Culture and Society

Electives - 6 credits

Students will be required to take two elective classes (6 credits). One (3 credits) of the two elective classes MUST be in an alternative Area of Concentration than their primary one. At least one of the classes in the student's Area of Concentration or elective must be 300 level or above.

Minor in Women and Gender Studies - 12 credits

The Minor in Women and Gender Studies requires students to take 12 credits: Introduction to Gender and Sexuality Studies (WGS 10000), Classics in Feminist Thought (WGS 20100), Transnational Feminisms (WGS 24400) and one elective course from one of the six areas of concentration.

WGS 10000 - Introduction to Gender and Sexuality Studies, must be completed before WGS 20100 - Classics in Feminist Thought (W) and WGS 24400 - Transnational Feminisms.

Internships
Majors may satisfy the Senior Seminar requirement by interning in organizations that relate to the needs or concerns of women, and by simultaneously enrolling in WGSP 32000 Internship Seminar, where their internship experiences and assigned readings will be discussed. Majors may also take the research seminar at the same time. The internship option is available to minors as well as majors. Interested students should consult with the program director before registering for the internship seminar. Students who wish to undertake an independently arranged internship outside of the formal internship seminar may enroll in WGSI 29800 with the permission of the program director.

Research Seminar

Majors may satisfy the Senior Seminar requirement of the major by enrolling in the Research Seminar (WGS 31000), a capstone course in which they will apply feminist theory and methodology to a significant research project resulting in a substantial paper. Students who wish to qualify for honors in Women and Gender Studies must enroll in the research seminar.

Honors

In order to graduate with honors in Women and Gender Studies, a student must have a 3.5 GPA in the Women and Gender Studies major and a college-wide cumulative index of at least 3.0. Students should submit a 18-20 page paper written for any Women and Gender Studies 300 level class including but not limited to the Research Seminar (WGS 31000). The student must submit the paper by March 15 (for June graduation) and October 15 (for December graduation) to be considered for program honors. The papers will be read by a faculty committee to judge whether it merits honors.

School of Education

School of Education

About the School of Education

All students who take the education sequence at Hunter must major in a liberal arts or sciences subject. In other words, students who take any program in education do so in addition to fulfilling both the general education requirement and the requirements for a liberal arts or sciences major.

A student who completes an undergraduate education program approved by the New York State Education Department fulfills the academic requirements for New York State Initial Certification. (See section below on New York State certification for more information.)

The Office of Educational Services - Room 1000 West

This office provides support services to students enrolled in classes offered by the three teacher education departments of the School of Education. The areas of services provided include: coordination of admissions, advisement and registration; teacher certification; and various other student services such as permits, course equivalencies and leaves of absence. The Office of Educational Services maintains regular office hours, staying open until 6 PM Monday through Thursday and to 4 PM on Fridays to provide advisement for working and evening session students. Student teaching and field placement applications and information are available on the School of Education web site http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/education.
New York State Certification

The undergraduate sequences in education described below have been approved by the New York State Education Department to lead to initial certification for teaching in New York State. To earn this certificate the student must successfully complete the approved program of study, obtain the BA or BA/MA degree, submit fingerprints for clearance and pass the required New York State Teacher Certification Examinations (NYSTCE) including the LAST, ATS-W and CST. The Office of Educational Services recommends the certification applications of students who complete an approved program for certification. The initial certificate permits the holder to teach for five years. At the end of that time with three years of full-time teaching in the certificate title and a master's degree, the individual will be able to obtain professional certification. New York State certification is reciprocally accepted by many other states upon application. Students with questions about certification should consult the School of Education website http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/education.

Admission to Teacher Education Programs

Students must apply for admission to the School of Education. Applicants for adolescent education programs must demonstrate satisfactory performance in courses in the major. Undergraduate teacher education programs require a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.8. Students are advised to submit their completed application for admission in April for the fall semester and November for the spring semester. Applicants must attach a student copy of transcripts of previous college study to their application. Applicants must demonstrate satisfactory performance in a group interview and an on-site writing sample. No courses with credit/noncredit grades are accepted.

Nondegree and Second-Degree Students

The School of Education does not accept nondegree or second-degree students.

Hunter College Campus Schools

The Campus Schools are located at Park Avenue and 94th Street in Manhattan. They serve as a laboratory for observation, demonstration, research, curriculum design and other projects involving their students, all of whom score in the range of the gifted on intelligence and achievement tests. Students are admitted to the publicly supported schools on the basis of competitive testing. Efforts continue to identify gifted children from diverse backgrounds who meet the schools' rigorous standards for admission to kindergarten and grade 7 (the two levels at which students are admitted).

Hunter College Elementary School

Children must be five years of age to attend the kindergarten. Only Manhattan residents are eligible to apply. The age of an applicant is calculated according to the academic year. While some students continue on to the high school from the elementary school, high-achieving students from the five boroughs are invited to take a competitive examination in order to enter Hunter High School at the 7th grade.

Hunter College High School

The Hunter College High School is a six-year junior-senior high school. The academic program stresses both acceleration and enrichment and provides students with a rigorous education. Research focuses on the development of curriculum, teaching strategies and other educational practices that maintain and advance a "state of the art" approach to the education of intellectually gifted students.
Manhattan/Hunter College Science High School

The Manhattan/Hunter Science High School, located on Amsterdam Avenue at 66th Street, provides instruction for grades 9 through 12. This science high school is grounded in the belief that individuals are better prepared to face life's challenges when given the proper tools. Science offers the lens through which we may see, explore and meet the future. The New York City Department of Education and Hunter College have joined to create a school that provides an enriched, comprehensive college preparatory curriculum with a focus on science and the integration of science and the scientific method into all subject areas.

Adolescent Biology, Grades 7-12 - BA

The BA and BA/MA programs in Adolescent Biology lead to initial certification as a teacher. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their major.

The Education course of study is a 27-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the major in the subject they plan to teach.

Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves an online application, a writing sample and an interview.

Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000.
4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.
5. Formal declaration of a major in biology.
6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

37 credits in Biology plus 33.5-36.5 credits in required additional science and math courses (total 70.5 to 73.5 credits). (see Biological Sciences Major I for details of course requirements)

Course of Study

SEDF 20300 - Social Foundations of Education, Grades 7-12 (W)
Students explore different sociological, historical, philosophical, anthropological, and political concepts and theories related to urban schooling. Emphasis on issues such as tracking, parentschool-community relations, inclusion of students with disabilities, the teaching of English language learners, and other diverse populations. Students will learn to analyze these concepts and theories and apply them to current classroom practices.

1 hr

1 cr.

SEDC 32400 - Methods II: Teaching Diverse Learners Science, Grades 7-12

Familiarizes prospective middle and high school teachers, grades 7-12, with pedagogical approaches and innovative teaching techniques needed to convey to a diverse population current state and professional standards-based curriculum in science. Innovative uses of technology, development of instructional units, individualizing for students with special needs, and strategies for managing problem behavior will be emphasized throughout the course.

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 hrs per week plus 48 hrs fieldwork

2 cr.

SEDC 34100 - Adolescent Fieldwork

Seminar and field experience in adolescent education. Students will complete a 48-hour field experience in a grade 7-12 classroom in their subject and will participate in an accompanying seminar. They will be observed and evaluated in the field by a School of Education faculty member. An accompanying seminar will treat issues arising from the field experience. Students must achieve a grade of B or better in this course to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade of F in the course will not be allowed to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade below B must apply to the department chairperson for permission to repeat the course, which may be repeated only once.

coreq: SEDC 31200 or SEDC 32100 or SEDC 32200 or SEDC 32300 or SEDC 32400 or SEDC 32500

1 cr.

SEDC 45410 - Student Teaching in Biology, Grades 7-12

Teacher candidates complete 30 days of student teaching at grades 7-9 and 30 days at grades 10-12 under the supervision of a Hunter College faculty member and a certified biology teacher in a New York City school selected by the college. Students will further develop their skills in the delivery of instruction. Student teachers will assume significant responsibility for classroom instruction and management.

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20600

2 hrs per week, 60 days student teaching plus workshops and conferences

5 cr.

SPED 30800 - Teaching Students with Special Needs in Inclusive Settings

Participants will explore the benefits and challenges of creating and maintaining classrooms designed to incorporate students with disabilities in the general education environment for part, or all, of their program.

A new State regulation requires that all teacher education programs leading to initial certification include a 3-credit course in teaching students with disabilities. This course will be added to all initial certification programs that do not currently have such a course. It is intended for teachers of general (not special) education at all grade levels.

prereq: 12 credits of coursework

45 hrs

3 cr.

Technology assessments are required of all students.

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used towards the Hunter Core Requirement.

- ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000
- Two courses selected from HIST 15100, HIST 15200 and GEOG 10100
- STAT 21300 (STEM)
- 12 credits of foreign language
- 6 credits of art
- One course in communication

Adolescent Biology, Grades 7-12 - BA/MA

The BA and BA/MA programs in Adolescent Biology lead to initial certification as a teacher. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their major.

Adolescent education is a 26-credit course of study that students usually complete over four semesters. Students major in the subject they plan to teach and minor in adolescent education.

Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves an online application, a writing sample and an interview.

Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.

2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.

3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000.

4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.

5. Formal declaration of a major in biology.

6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.
Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

Complete the full major in biology replacing 10 credits of elective courses that they take towards the BA with graduate courses. Complete the extra 19 credits of graduate biology courses for a total of 29 graduate biology credits.

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used toward the Common Core Requirements.

- 6 credits of English courses
- 6 credits of social studies (at least one course in U.S. history or U.S. geography)
- 3 credits in the arts
- 6 credits of foreign language
- 6 credits in math (a college course in calculus meets this requirement)

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

SEDF 20300 - Social Foundations of Education, Grades 7-12 (W)

Students explore different sociological, historical, philosophical, anthropological, and political concepts and theories related to urban schooling. Emphasis on issues such as tracking, parentschool-community relations, inclusion of students with disabilities, the teaching of English language learners, and other diverse populations. Students will learn to analyze these concepts and theories and apply them to current classroom practices.

3 hrs
3 cr.

SEDF 20400 - Adolescent Development

The process of cognitive, social/emotional, personality and language development among youth who vary by gender, race and ethnicity, English proficiency and varying levels of abilities.

2 hrs per week plus 36 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDF 20500 - Educational Psychology: Applications in Grades 7-12

Basic educational psychology covering the characteristics of the learner, applications of learning theories and the instruction process as applied to the secondary setting, grades 7-12.

prereq: SEDF 20300, 20400

2 hrs per week plus 36 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDF 20600 - Assessment of the Teaching and Learning Process in Grades 7-12

The principles and practices for the assessment of learning and teaching in the classroom, grades 7-12. Includes instructional objectives, test construction, descriptive statistics, interpretation of standardized test scores, performance outcome measures and alternative forms of assessment.

prereq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 per week plus lab
2 cr.

SEDC 21000 - Building the Foundations of Literacy in Grades 7-12

Supporting the development of literacy across the curriculum, with a focus on under-prepared students, students with special education needs, and students who are English language learners; implications for working toward standards.

3 hrs
3 cr.

SEDC 21300 - Methods I: Classroom Organization, Management and Instruction in Mathematics and Science, Grades 7-12
Candidates will identify the impact of various classroom organization patterns, rules and routines. Candidates will be able to design, implement and evaluate lessons in the context of state and city standards for learning in grades 7-12.

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20300, 20400

3 hrs

3 cr.

SEDC 22000 - Adolescent Health and Safety

Health issues that are relevant to the health promotion and wellness of adolescents and their families from diverse backgrounds, abilities, and sexual orientations. Specific content areas will include nutrition, fitness, drug education, child abuse and neglect, fire prevention and safety, and violence prevention and intervention.

1 hr

1 cr.

SEDC 32400 - Methods II: Teaching Diverse Learners Science, Grades 7-12

Familiarizes prospective middle and high school teachers, grades 7-12, with pedagogical approaches and innovative teaching techniques needed to convey to a diverse population current state and professional standards-based curriculum in science. Innovative uses of technology, development of instructional units, individualizing for students with special needs, and strategies for managing problem behavior will be emphasized throughout the course.

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 hrs per week plus 48 hrs fieldwork

2 cr.

SEDC 34100 - Adolescent Fieldwork

Seminar and field experience in adolescent education. Students will complete a 48-hour field experience in a grade 7-12 classroom in their subject and will participate in an accompanying seminar. They will be observed and evaluated in the field by a School of Education faculty member. An accompanying seminar will treat issues arising from the field experience. Students must achieve a grade of B or better in this course to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade of F in the course will not be allowed to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade below B must apply to the department chairperson for permission to repeat the course, which may be repeated only once.

15 hours of seminar; 48 hours of fieldwork

1 cr.

SEDC 45420 - Student Teaching in Chemistry, Grades 7-12

Teacher candidates complete 30 days of student teaching at grades 7-9 and 30 days at grades 10-12 under the supervision of a Hunter College faculty member and a certified chemistry teacher in a New York City school selected by the college. Students will further develop their skills in the delivery of instruction. Student teachers will assume significant responsibility for classroom instruction and management.

prereq: SEDC 32400

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20600
2 hrs per week, 60 days student teaching plus workshops and conferences
5 cr.

SPED 30800 - Teaching Students with Special Needs in Inclusive Settings

Participants will explore the benefits and challenges of creating and maintaining classrooms designed to incorporate students with disabilities in the general education environment for part, or all, of their program.

A new State regulation requires that all teacher education programs leading to initial certification include a 3-credit course in teaching students with disabilities. This course will be added to all initial certification programs that do not currently have such a course. It is intended for teachers of general (not special) education at all grade levels.
prereq: 12 credits of coursework
45 hrs
3 cr.

Adolescent Chemistry, Grades 7-12 - BA/MA

The BA and BA/MA program in Adolescent Chemistry lead to initial certification as a teacher. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their major.

Adolescent education is a 26-credit course of study that students usually complete over four semesters. Students major in the subject they plan to teach and minor in adolescent education.

Progress Standards
1. Students must maintain a minimum overall GPA of 2.8 and an education sequence index of 2.8.

2. Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to reregister for that course, which may be repeated only once.

3. Any student who receives a grade of D+ or D in a course in the education sequence will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.

4. Any student who receives a grade of F in any course in the pedagogical sequence (including student teaching) will not be permitted to continue in the program.

5. Any student who has more than two grades of IN will be permitted to register for only one course the following semester.

Students will be permitted to register for the second methods course in their subject area only after having met the following requirements:

1. Completion of 18 credits of study in the major subject area;

2. Approval of the major department adviser; and

3. Maintenance of an overall GPA of 2.8 and an education sequence index of 2.8.

Students should register to take the Liberal Arts and Sciences Test (LAST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Examinations during their junior year. Students will not be allowed to enroll in student teaching until their scores on the LAST have been received by the School of Education. Students who do not pass the LAST at least partly because of low scores on subtest 4 and/or 5 must enroll in a college writing course before being allowed to register for any additional courses.

Admission Process

1. Students interested in applying to the Adolescent Education program should apply at the beginning of the semester prior to the semester in which they plan to enroll.

2. Students must participate in a group interview with several other students and School of Education faculty members.

3. Students must complete an on-site writing sample that the School of Education faculty will use to assess written English skills.

Admission Requirements

Students who wish to enter the adolescent education sequence must meet all the criteria given below.

1. Minimum of 65 credits but no more than 90 credits;

2. GPA of at least 2.8. If a student has more than 6 credits of CR/NR grades, the excess of these grades will be calculated as C or F in determining whether the student meets the minimum GPA;

3. A grade of at least B in ENGL 12000 (or a 200- or 300-level writing course such as ENGL 201);

4. Formal declaration of a major in a subject area appropriate for certification: English, Languages Other than English (Chinese, French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Russian, Spanish), Mathematics, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Social Studies (Geography Option 2), Dance; and
5. Submission of an application for admission to the sequence (the application is available in the Office of Educational Services, Room 1000 Hunter West).

Program Overview

Students who major in an academic subject may also wish to complete a sequence of courses in education that will enable them to pursue a career teaching students in grades 7-12. The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools.

Programs in adolescent education at Hunter College prepare prospective teachers to serve as highly effective educators in urban middle and high schools. Through rigorous course work, fieldwork and student teaching experiences in New York City schools, students learn how to provide an academically rigorous education to students of diverse backgrounds, abilities and interests.

Content Knowledge

Courses in the academic discipline offered by the School of Arts & Sciences will deepen teacher candidates’ subject knowledge. They will learn how to use knowledge of their subject to design and implement classroom instruction that reflects State and professional standards.

Professional Knowledge

Teacher candidates will learn the theory and practice of effective pedagogy in their subject area. They will gain a grounding in the history, philosophy, psychology and sociology of education that will inform their teaching. They will study research-based theories and methods of teaching their subject to students with special needs, including special education students and English language learners.

Skills

Teacher candidates will learn to design lessons and units of work for students and to adapt their instruction to students’ prior knowledge and level of skill. They will gain expertise in analyzing and using assessments of student achievement to guide and inform their instruction. They will master the use of technology as a tool for teaching their subject. They will learn to manage their classrooms to provide effective instruction for all students. They will practice ways to assess and reflect on their teaching practice in order to strengthen their work with students and grow as professionals.

Creating Community

Teacher candidates will learn to create humane and ethical learning communities in their classrooms and schools in which all students receive the support they need to achieve academically. They will learn to communicate effectively with parents, families, community members and other members of the school faculty and staff in order to provide this support.

Programs

The Hunter College School of Education offers the following undergraduate programs leading to initial certification in adolescent education (grades 7-12): biology, chemistry, Chinese, English, French, German, Hebrew, Italian, mathematics, physics, Russian, social studies and Spanish. Hunter also offers an undergraduate program leading to initial certification in dance (pre-K-12). In addition, BA/MA programs in biology, chemistry, earth science, mathematics, music and physics are offered. These programs lead to initial and professional certification.

The program of study for the baccalaureate degree at Hunter College requires a minimum of 120 credits. This is a daytime program that includes fieldwork in New York City public schools designated by the Hunter College School of Education. Students who wish to pursue initial certification in one of the above areas must take a specified sequence of education courses, in addition to fulfilling the college’s General Education Requirement (GER) and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. All relevant departments accept the adolescent education sequence as a minor.

Transfer Students

The program will conditionally admit transfer students with 60 or more credits who have a GPA of at least 3.3 without requiring that they complete 12 credits at Hunter College. However, they must establish a minimum GPA of 2.8 at Hunter College to continue in the program after the first semester. Any transfer student who has a GPA of 2.8-3.29 must complete 12 credits at Hunter College with a cumulative GPA of at least 2.8 before being admitted to the program in adolescent education.

Adolescent English, Grades 7-12 - BA

The BA program in Adolescent English leads to initial certification as a teacher. This program includes fieldwork in New York City Public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their major.

The Education course of study is a 27-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the major in the subject they plan to teach.

Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves an online application, a writing sample and an interview.

Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000.
4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.
5. Formal declaration of a major in English.
6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

BA Concentration in English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching (39 cr) : 30 credits in English including:
• 18 credits in literature courses
• 6 credits in writing courses
• 3 credits in language courses
• 3 credits in elective

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used towards the Hunter Core Requirement.

• ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000
• Two courses selected from HIST 15100, HIST 15200 and GEOG 10100
• STAT 11300
• 9 credits in math, science and technology (must include one laboratory science course)
• 6 credits in the arts
• 12 credits of foreign language
• One course in communication

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

- ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000
- Two courses selected from: HIST 15100/HIST 15200/GEOG 10100
- STAT 11300
- 9 credits in math, science or technology with at least one science course with a lab component
- 6 credits in the arts
- One course that focuses on communication (see program adviser for acceptable courses)

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

SEDF 20300 - Social Foundations of Education, Grades 7-12 (W)

Students explore different sociological, historical, philosophical, anthropological, and political concepts and theories related to urban schooling. Emphasis on issues such as tracking, parentschool- community relations, inclusion of students with disabilities, the teaching of English language learners, and other diverse populations. Students will learn to analyze these concepts and theories and apply them to current classroom practices.

3 hrs
3 cr.

SEDF 20400 - Adolescent Development

The process of cognitive, social/emotional, personality and language development among youth who vary by gender, race and ethnicity, English proficiency and varying levels of abilities.

2 hrs per week plus 36 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDF 20500 - Educational Psychology: Applications in Grades 7-12

Basic educational psychology covering the characteristics of the learner, applications of learning theories and the instruction process as applied to the secondary setting, grades 7-12.
SEDF 20600 - Assessment of the Teaching and Learning Process in Grades 7-12

The principles and practices for the assessment of learning and teaching in the classroom, grades 7-12. Includes instructional objectives, test construction, descriptive statistics, interpretation of standardized test scores, performance outcome measures and alternative forms of assessment.

prereq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 hrs per week plus lab

2 cr.

SEDC 21000 - Building the Foundations of Literacy in Grades 7-12

Supporting the development of literacy across the curriculum, with a focus on under-prepared students, students with special education needs, and students who are English language learners; implications for working toward standards.

3 cr.

SEDC 21200 - Methods I: Foundations of Literacy, Language and Learning in the Foreign/Heritage Language Classroom, Grades 7-12

The nature of language, and language acquisition/learning, and the inherent implications for teaching a foreign/heritage language at the secondary level. The foreign language standards and the English language arts standards are reviewed as they impact on curriculum design for foreign/heritage language learners.

3 hrs

3 cr.

SEDC 22000 - Adolescent Health and Safety

Health issues that are relevant to the health promotion and wellness of adolescents and their families from diverse backgrounds, abilities, and sexual orientations. Specific content areas will include nutrition, fitness, drug education, child abuse and neglect, fire prevention and safety, and violence prevention and intervention.

1 cr.

SEDC 32200 - Methods II: Instructional Planning for Literacy, Language, and Learning in the Foreign/Heritage Language Classroom, Grades 7-12

Standards that impact on the teaching of foreign/heritage languages at the secondary level. Emphasis is placed on the strategies, methods and materials used in planning instruction around the standards. Classroom observations will serve as a catalyst for discussion.

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 hrs per week plus 48 hrs fieldwork

2 cr.
SEDC 34100 - Adolescent Fieldwork

Seminar and field experience in adolescent education. Students will complete a 48-hour field experience in a grade 7-12 classroom in their subject and will participate in an accompanying seminar. They will be observed and evaluated in the field by a School of Education faculty member. An accompanying seminar will treat issues arising from the field experience. Students must achieve a grade of B or better in this course to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade of F in the course will not be allowed to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade below B must apply to the department chairperson for permission to repeat the course, which may be repeated only once.

15 hours of seminar; 48 hours of fieldwork
1 cr.

SPED 30800 - Teaching Students with Special Needs in Inclusive Settings

Participants will explore the benefits and challenges of creating and maintaining classrooms designed to incorporate students with disabilities in the general education environment for part, or all, of their program.

A new State regulation requires that all teacher education programs leading to initial certification include a 3-credit course in teaching students with disabilities. This course will be added to all initial certification programs that do not currently have such a course. It is intended for teachers of general (not special) education at all grade levels.

prereq: 12 credits of coursework

Childhood Education (QUEST) Grades 1-6 - BA

1000 Hunter West; (212) 772-4624

- QUEST Six-Semester Sequence for Students Who Enter the Program with 30 - 40 credits
- QUEST Four-Semester Sequence for Students Entering the Program with More than 40 credits

QUEST Program Overview

The Quality Urban Elementary School Teacher (QUEST) program is an undergraduate childhood teacher education program that prepares students to become New York State certified teachers of childhood education grades 1-6. QUEST is a 36-credit program completed over either four or six semesters that includes extensive field experiences attached to courses. The six-semester sequence is designed for students who enter Hunter College as freshmen. The four-semester sequence is designed for transfer students and other students who do not apply to QUEST until they have completed 40 or more credits.

QUEST is committed to the preparation of urban elementary school teachers who can deal effectively with the wide range of diverse learning needs found among the City's students. QUEST collaborates closely with New York City public schools to provide outstanding field experiences for students.

The program of study for the BA degree at Hunter College consists of a minimum of 120 credits. All students must major in one of the following liberal arts or sciences subjects: English Language Arts, English, History, Geography, Social Studies (available as a major in the geography department), Mathematics, Biology or Chemistry. QUEST serves as a collateral major in addition to a student's major in Hunter's School of Arts and Sciences. Students must also complete the Hunter Core Requirement.
Courses required as part of the major or the New York State Liberal Arts Distribution Requirement may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Teachers in Elementary Schools

Teachers in elementary schools are required to teach all subject areas in the curriculum and thus need a broad liberal arts background in addition to specialized knowledge of teaching. Therefore, students will be required to complete the following liberal arts and sciences courses, or their equivalent (most of these courses can be taken within the Hunter Core Requirement). These courses require a grade of C or better.

ENGL 12000 - Expository Writing

Hunter Core

English Comp (EC)

GEOG 10100 - People and Their Environment

Hunter Core

Individual and Society - Social Science

GER

2/B

A broad overview of subjects and ideas in geography, possibly the most internally diverse of the social sciences. Covers the geographical aspects of topics including weather and climate, landforms, religions, food, cities, economics, culture, politics and much more. While students will be expected to understand the basics of each of the topics covered, the overarching emphasis will be on understanding the relationships among them. As such, the course builds from one topic to the next, ultimately stressing the sheer geographical complexity and wonder of modern life. Interact with it. Contemporary economic, political and social patterns and problems are discussed.

Note(s)

* Computer Science does not count as a science course in meeting this requirement.

 Courses in FILMP, MEDIA, and MEDP do not meet the arts requirements.

Students are required to complete the technology assessments prior to graduation.
School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

Admissions Requirements

For applicants applying to both six and four-semester sequence

1. 30 credits in liberal arts and sciences
2. Minimum GPA of 3.0
3. Prerequisite for MATH 10400 (STEM): either a score high enough on the CUNY COMPASS to be placed in MATH 10400 (STEM) or completion of MATH 10100
4. ENGL 12000 (or a 200- or 300-level writing course), with a grade of B or better
5. Declaration of an appropriate liberal arts and sciences major: biology, chemistry, English, English language arts, geography, history, social studies (an option within the geography major), or mathematics
6. Transfer students may enter the program with 40 to 72 credits. (Students with more than 72 credits should complete their liberal arts and sciences major and apply to the master’s degree program in childhood education.)
7. Transfer students with 60 or more credits, a GPA of 3.3 or better and a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000 do not have to present Hunter College grades. Transfer students with GPAs between 2.75 and 3.29 will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College with a GPA of at least 2.8 before a final decision will be made on their application to QUEST.

Note(s)

Students may apply to QUEST if the total of their completed credits plus credits in which they are currently enrolled is at least 30 credits.

Progress Standards

Students must receive grades of C or better in required coursework in liberal arts and sciences and in QUEST courses that do not include fieldwork. QUEST fieldwork courses require a grade of B or better. All QUEST courses are repeatable once by students who have received a grade of C-, D+ or D in a non-fieldwork course or a grade below B in a fieldwork course. Students must officially reregister for these courses. Students who receive an F in any course or a D+ or D in fieldwork may not continue in the program. Students must also maintain a GPA of at least 2.8 throughout the QUEST program.

In order to register for QSTA 40600 - Mathematics Teaching and Learning in Elementary School, students must have completed MATH 10400 (STEM) and MATH 10500. With the approval of the program coordinator, transfer students may be allowed to enroll in QSTA 40600 after completing MATH 10400 (STEM) and registering for MATH 10500 if their progress through the QUEST program would be delayed by the requirement for MATH 105 as a prerequisite.
In order to register for QSTA 41400 - Teaching Science in Elementary Schools, students must have completed two courses in science, at least one of which must be a laboratory science.

In order to register for QSTA 41200 - Teaching Social Studies through Literature, the Arts, and Technology in Elementary Schools, students must have completed HIST 15100 and HIST 15200, or one of these courses plus GEOG 10100.

Dance Pre-K - 12 - BA

The BA and BA/MA programs in Dance lead to initial certification as a teacher. Graduates from the BA/MA program in Dance are eligible for professional certification after three years of teaching experience. These programs include fieldwork in New York City public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Hunter Core Requirement and the requirements of their major. BA/MA students also take additional graduate credits in Dance.

The Education course of study is a 25-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the Dance major.

Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves a paper application, a writing sample and an interview. Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 120.
4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.
5. Formal declaration of a major in dance.
6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

34-credit major in dance.

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used towards the Hunter Core Requirement.

- ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000
- Two courses selected from HIST 15100, HIST 15200 and GEOG 10100
- STAT 11300
- 9 credits in math, science and technology (must include one laboratory science course)
• 12 credits of foreign language
• One course in communication

Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing
About the School

Nursing education began at Hunter in 1943, when courses for registered nurses were added to its curriculum. In 1955, a four-year collegiate program that was a pioneer for its time — the Hunter College Program in Nursing — was launched. When the Bellevue School of Nursing closed in 1969, Hunter absorbed it to create the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing, now located at the college's Brookdale Health Science Center at 425 East 25th Street in Manhattan, near Bellevue Hospital.

The Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing is one of the largest and most prestigious nursing schools in the country. The school's programs combine liberal and professional education with a humanistic and comprehensive approach to health care.

Programs

The School of Nursing offers four programs leading to the Bachelor of Science (nursing) degree: the Generic Program, for those students who do not have an RN license; the RN RN to BS Program, for those students who have completed a nursing program and have received or are about to receive a current RN license to practice professional nursing in New York State; the joint/dual degree program with Queensborough Community College see: http://www.qcc.cuny.edu/nursing/dualJoint-hunterBellevue.html; and the Accelerated 2nd Degree Program, for those students who have already achieved a baccalaureate degree in another field of study and wish to transition into a nursing profession. Information on applying to all of our programs is available on our website at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/nursing.

In earning the bachelor of science (nursing) degree, students in all programs complete lower division (liberal arts and general education) and upper division (professional education) curriculum requirements. See Program pages below for specific program requirements.

Programs and Courses

Programs and Courses in Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing

Admission Requirements (all Programs)

Students are considered for admission to the Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program for the fall semester only. Students are considered for admission to the generic program in the spring semester of their freshman year, after completing pre-requisite course work and an application to the School of Nursing. RN to BS students are admitted for the fall semester. An overall college GPA of 3.0 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application. Admission to the School of Nursing is competitive. A minimum grade of "C" must be maintained for all required science, mathematics, and nursing courses. Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program students must attend during the day on a full-time basis. Only matriculated Hunter College students can apply to the Generic Program. RN Program students may attend during the day or evening (depending on scheduling of courses) on a full-or a part-time basis.

Students are admitted to the dual-degree HBSON-Queensborough Community College (QCC) program after completing their first semester of study at QCC with a grade of "B" or better in Nu 101 and a GPA of 3.0 or better.

Licensing and Accreditation
The Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing baccalaureate, Master's and Doctor of Nursing Practice programs are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE). Hunter-Bellevue graduates are prepared to give first-level professional nursing care in all areas of nursing practice. Graduates from the Generic and Accelerated 2nd Degree Programs are eligible to take the National Council Licensing Examination for Registered Nurses. The program also provides a foundation for graduate study which is also offered at the School of Nursing.

School of Urban Public Health

School of Urban Public Health

About the School of Urban Public Health

Hunter College's School of Urban Public Health is a consortial partner and the lead institution in the CUNY School of Public Health (SPH). The CUNY SPH is comprised of public health degree programs at Brooklyn College, Hunter College, Lehman College and the Graduate School and University Center (Graduate Center) of CUNY. To realize its mission, the school partners with communities, nonprofit and private organizations and government at all levels to build capacities and create the conditions necessary for people to lead healthier lives. Within the CUNY SPH, teaching, research and service are focused on four broad inter-related goals that reflect major health challenges in the current era:

1) creating healthier cities

2) promoting healthy aging through the lifespan
3) preventing chronic diseases and improving their management

4) promoting health equity

The CUNY School of Public Health is committed to teaching, research and service that creates a healthier New York City and helps promote equitable, efficient and evidence-based solutions to pressing health problems facing cities around the world. The programs in public health at the CUNY SPH educate public health professionals to promote health and prevent disease among urban populations. These programs prepare students to work with the diverse populations living in cities, and to serve in a variety of settings in government, non-profit organizations, businesses and communities.

The School of Urban Public Health offers undergraduate degrees in Community Health - BS and Nutrition and Food Science - BS, an Accelerated BS/MS in Nutrition (DPD), a master of public health (MPH) degree, with specializations in community health education (COMHE), environmental and occupational health sciences (EOHS-MPH), epidemiology and biostatistics (EPI-BIOS), public health policy and management (HPM) and nutrition (NUTR-MPH). It also offers a Master of Science (MS) degree, with specializations in environmental and occupational sciences (EOHS-MS) and Nutrition (NUTR-MS). The MS degree in Nutrition (NUTR-MS) is an accredited didactic program in dietetics (DPD), and is designed for individuals seeking to become eligible to sit for the national registration examination in dietetics to become credentialed as a Registered Dietitian (RD). With the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing, it also offers an MSN/MPH degree in community health nursing. (Please see the Graduate catalog catalog.hunter.cuny.edu/content.php).

With the Graduate Center, the School of Urban Public Health offers a doctor of public health (DPH) degree, with specializations in community society and health, epidemiology, environmental and occupational health, and public health policy and management. The DPH degree program can be found at the CUNY Graduate Center website www.gc.cuny.edu/.

Community Health - BS Completion of 60 credits; combined grade point average (GPA) of all postsecondary institutions attended of minimum 3.0; completion of prerequisite courses with at least a grade of "C".

Nutrition and Food Science - BS Completion of 60 credits, including the following prerequisites: two semesters of anatomy and physiology with lab; one semester of general chemistry with lab; one semester of organic chemistry with lab; one semester of microbiology with lab; one semester of introductory food science; one semester of introductory nutrition. The introductory food science and nutrition courses may be completed in the summer session preceding entrance to the program. A grade of C or better must be earned in all prerequisites. The introductory food science and nutrition courses may be completed in the summer session preceding entrance to the program. An overall GPA of 2.8 is required for consideration. Owing to the competitive nature of the program, however, the actual GPA required for admission may be higher. Students who have completed 30 credits at Hunter College or at another City University institution at the time of the application will be given priority in the selection process. Students can attend on a full- or part-time basis during the day.

Accelerated BS/MS in Nutrition (DPD)

This pathway is for third year NFS majors who are interested in completing their degree and then continuing at Hunter to obtain a master's degree and verification statement (students will be provisionally accepted into the program in their junior year but must maintain grade requirements to matriculate into the MS-DPD program).

This accelerated pathway provides the opportunity for undergraduate students to remain at Hunter for their graduate coursework providing students the opportunity for academic acceleration to a graduate degree.

Since the MS-Nutrition curriculum meets the didactic program in dietetics (DPD) requirements established by the Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education (CADE), the credentialing arm of the American Dietetic Association (ADA), it will qualify students from this BS/MS accelerated track to apply for Dietetic Internships and continue their professional preparation for the Registered Dietitian (RD) credential.

Absence of Instructor

Return to Academic Regulations

If a class finds that the instructor is still absent after 10 minutes of the period has elapsed, a representative should be sent to the appropriate department office for instructions. The class should remain until the representative returns.

Academic Calendar and Sessions

Return to Academic Regulations

The fall semester starts approximately August 26, the spring semester starts approximately January 27 and two summer sessions of six weeks begin in June and mid-July. Consult the Academic Calendar at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/onestop/calendars/academic-calendars for specific starting dates.

Courses are offered from early morning to late evening each semester and in the summer. Students are expected to attend both the fall and spring semesters; students who do not must apply for readmission.

Attendance in the summer program is optional. Students who receive financial aid under the New York State Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) should realize that these awards are available for no more than a total of eight semesters (ten for SEEK). TAP assistance for a summer session will count as one-half a semester; the other half may be used only in a subsequent summer session.
Academic Honors

Dean’s List At the end of each fall and spring semester the Dean of Students recognizes matriculated students with excellent academic records. The criteria for inclusion on the Dean’s List are: a grade point average of 3.5 or higher with traditional letter grades (A, B or C) in courses other than ESL basic skills courses in reading and writing. If ESL basic skills courses are taken, those grades will be excluded. No grades of D, F, NC, IN or WU are allowed in any course completed or attempted. Full-time students must complete 12 credits or more in one semester; part-time students must complete 6-11½ credits in two consecutive semesters.

Graduation with General College Honors A student who has completed 60 credits of traditional letter grades at Hunter College may be considered for graduation honors. Students with a cumulative GPA of 3.900 or higher will be graduated Summa Cum Laude. Students with a GPA from 3.750 to 3.899 will be graduated Magna Cum Laude. Students with a GPA from 3.500 to 3.749 will be graduated Cum Laude.

Graduation with Departmental Honors On recommendation of any department or interdepartmental field, students with at least 24 credits in the department or field may be graduated “With Honors” in that department or field, provided they graduate in the term for which they file for honors. Of these credits, 21 (or, in exceptional cases, 18) must be taken at Hunter. Students who participate in the Study Abroad Program or the Exchange Program within the United States may be considered for departmental honors even if they have earned fewer than 18 credits at Hunter in courses approved for the major. Students are eligible for departmental honors if their GPA in the major or field is not less than 3.5. The student must also elect at least 2 credits (but no more than 6 credits) in honors courses offered in that department and present to the department’s Committee on Honors a piece of independent work. Honors courses include seminar, laboratory, reading and tutorial courses and independent study projects established for the instruction of honors students.

Academic Services

Return to Services for Students

Reading/Writing Center

416 Thomas Hunter
(212) 772-4212
http://rwc.hunter.cuny.edu

The Hunter College Reading/Writing Center is a comprehensive service designed to provide tutorial assistance and academic advisement to students as well as technical support and development to faculty, staff, and alumni. Located on the fourth floor of the Thomas Hunter Building, the RWC offers services to all registered students at the college—undergraduate and graduate—and maintains a comprehensive Web site that includes an extensive library of online handout materials and resource links in the areas of research information and techniques, writing tools and references, evaluating information sources, ESL and literary resources, and instructional resources regarding teaching and learning. Students can utilize the RWC's services by registering for individualized and paired tutoring sessions by appointment, receive assistance on a drop-in basis during scheduled hours of operation, or attend the center's on-site workshop series. Tutors help to develop a reading-writing process that students can use to improve their skills and to negotiate the requirements of academic reading and writing. In addition to the RWC's online resource file, students have direct access to the center's on-site library of textbooks and print materials.

Writing Across the Curriculum

The Writing Across the Curriculum (WAC) Program at Hunter includes consultation on writing pedagogy provided by experts in the field; the CUNY WAC Fellows Program, a collaboration between fellows from the CUNY Graduate Center and Hunter faculty in the effort to address issues of writing in the disciplines; and the services of the Reading/Writing Center, which offers tutoring in academic writing across the curriculum to students and consultation with faculty on student writing. The Writing Across the Curriculum Program is founded on the principle that students learn by writing: they learn to write by engaging in a variety of academic writing activities, and they learn subject matter by writing about it. For more information about the program, contact the coordinators at (212) 772-4014 or (212) 772-5742, or go to the program Web site: http://rwc.hunter.cuny.edu/wac/index.html.

The Mary P. Dolciani Mathematics Learning Center

(212) 772-5371
http://hunter.cuny.edu/dolciani

The Mary P. Dolciani Mathematics Learning Center is a multipurpose resource center, providing group tutoring, computer-assisted tutorials, and multi-media materials for students enrolled in most mathematics and statistics courses, as well as for students who need to brush up on their math/stat skills for other courses or placement or professional exams. It also provides workshops on a variety of topics to assist students in the learning of mathematics, including a specifically designed multimedia workshop to prepare students for success in MATH 10100 as well as study skills needed in mathematics. The center is open days, evenings and Saturdays, with no appointment necessary. Specific hours of operation and additional information are posted outside the center and can be found on our Web site.

The Leona and Marcy Chanin Language Center

(212) 772-5700

The Chanin Language Center is a state-of-the-art multi-media foreign language learning and teaching facility. The Center consists of two independent study labs equipped with 66 multi-media workstations, the Cecile Insdorf Foreign Language Screening Room, and a small library where walk-in tutoring sessions take place. Students can supplement their foreign language skills from the elementary to the advanced level by working with computer applications, both on-line and in house, based on textbooks and/or student activity manuals. The Chanin Center also houses an extensive collection of foreign language films and video programs on both VHS and DVD. An audio CD home borrowing program is available to students enrolled in a foreign language course. One on one tutoring sessions in Spanish, French and Italian are available to SEEK status students on a weekly appointment basis. A 30-minute orientation session is required for all first time users. Hours and additional information can be found on our Web site: http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/chanin

Physical Sciences Learning Center

B122 Main Library HE (212) 396-6458, (212) 650-3707, (212) 650-3986

The Physical Sciences Learning Center provides individual tutoring, on a walk-in basis, for students enrolled in physics, chemistry and organic chemistry courses. Workshops and group tutoring sessions are also offered for selected topics. State-of-the-art computers with Internet service and appropriate programs are readily accessible. A library containing a variety of physical science textbooks and problem solutions is available. The Learning Center encourages students to learn and work with their peers.
The Physical Sciences Learning Center is open Mondays through Fridays during the day and evening. At the beginning of each semester, the specific hours and tutoring schedules are posted.

The Social Sciences Computing Laboratory

Hunter East B118
(212) 772-5605
The Social Sciences Computing Laboratory is located in Hunter East, Room B118, (enter through the Main Library) and facilitates computer-based teaching and research among the social science departments. The lab itself is used primarily as a computer classroom for social science departments, but is open to all Hunter students for walk-in hours when available. Exact hours vary from week to week. The current and following week's walk-in hours are posted on the door and on the lab Web site. http://urban.hunter.cuny.edu/sscl/

The Hunter College Libraries

http://library.hunter.cuny.edu
The Hunter College Libraries are comprised of our main space, the Leon and Toby Cooperman Library along with the Zabar Art Library and our Archives and Special Collections at 68th Street, the Health Professions Library at the Brookdale Campus and the Schools of Social Work and Public Health Library at the Silberman Campus. We have open stack collections and hold over 800,000 volumes and over 1,200 print periodical subscriptions, as well as providing access to 100,000 ebooks and over 180,000 electronic periodicals. Hunter College Libraries online resources include primary sources for the past 4 centuries, science and social science datasets, streaming media and over 60,000 digital images. Our Library spaces include collaborative work areas, smaller study rooms (on a reserve basis) and many areas for quiet study. We also loan out laptops and tablets for student use. Our newly renovated main floor of the 9-floor Cooperman Library includes an Information Commons, remote printing services, collaborative study cubicles (Co-Labs), a dining area, whiteboard laminated tables, interactive wayfinding devices and a fully wired Reading Room. The main entrance to the Cooperman Library is located on the 3rd Floor of Hunter East.

Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino Studies

Department Description

The Department of Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino Studies is comprised of Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino sequences. It offers an interdisciplinary course of study combining humanities and social sciences approaches devoted to scholarship on the historical, literary, political, cultural, social and economic experiences of these heritages. The Africana sequence focuses on the experiences of people of African descent in the Americas, Africa and the broader Diaspora. The Puerto Rican/Latino sequence addresses issues related to Puerto Ricans, Dominicans and Cubans in the Islands as well as the experiences of Latinos in the U.S. Where applicable, the similarities and common experiences of the sequences are emphasized.

The department's commitment to rigorous scholarship, student development and community empowerment prepares students for a broad range of careers in the public and private sector and for graduate study and research in the social sciences and humanities. The department has a long history of nurturing students' intellectual discipline, creativity, and social and political awareness. Graduates of the department have pursued careers in law, journalism, nursing, teaching, public policy, social work, media, politics, medicine, psychology and international affairs. The department's interdisciplinary structure offers students an opportunity to satisfy the increasing expectations of admissions committees and prospective employers for a broad liberal arts perspective that complements the specialized knowledge of a field.

Anthropology Department Description

Anthropology is the study of humanity in all its cultural and biological diversity. In the United States, the discipline traditionally includes four fields: archaeological, biological, sociocultural, and linguistic anthropology, although research increasingly examines questions at the borders of the fields or which span more than one field. The department maintains a commitment to a four-field approach to graduate training despite a national trend towards increasing specialization at earlier stages of graduate training. A student with a solid four-field background can readily opt to specialize, while one-field specialists are hard to retrain as generalists. Anthropology provides essential foundations and perspectives for the study of the social and natural sciences and the humanities, as well as for applied professions such as education, public health, and social work. The Anthropology curriculum emphasizes original research, scholarly writing, informed critical thinking, and the understanding of, and tolerance for diverse cultures and ways of life.

We consider hands-on training in ethnographic fieldwork, archaeology, biological anthropology, and quantitative methods to be an integral part of graduate training. The faculty is actively involved in interdisciplinary teaching, interdepartmental collaborative efforts, and individual and team research projects, including many that involve new information technologies, cultural resource management, environmental impact assessment, ethnicity and gender, regional and area studies, and economic development— to name a few. The Department is also committed to involving graduate students in ongoing faculty-supported research, and in encouraging independent student-initiated research projects.

The entire Master's Degree Program is tied to an evening course schedule thereby offering a unique educational resource in an urban area where the majority of potential graduate students are self-supporting and hold full-time jobs.

Applies - Rules and Regulations

Return to Academic Regulations

• Rules and Regulations

PLEASE NOTE THAT ALL APPEALS FOR EXCEPTIONS AND/OR SUBSTITUTIONS TO THE GER REQUIREMENTS, HCR REQUIREMENTS AND DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS WILL NOW BE HEARD IN THE HUNTER COLLEGE SENATE, ROOM 1018 EAST BUILDING. PLEASE ACCESS THE FOLLOWING LINK TO FILE AN ONLINE APPEAL APPLICATION http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/senate/gerappeals

ALL APPEALS FOR DEAN'S LIST, CHANGE OF ADMINISTRATIVE GRADES (WU, WN, FIN) TO RETROACTIVE WITHDRAWALS AND FULFILLMENT OF THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT WITH FOUR YEARS OF HIGH SCHOOL LANGUAGE STUDY REMAIN IN THE OFFICE OF ADVISING SERVICES, ROOM 1119 EAST BUILDING.

• Appeals- General Education Requirements

Students seeking to appeal for substitutions to or exemptions from any general education requirement must begin by filing an appeal with the General Education Requirements Appeals Committee of the Hunter College Senate http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/senate/gerappeals. Students who follow the Hunter Core (adopted fall 2013) may file appeals regarding the CUNY Common Core or the Hunter Focus (Foreign Language, Concentrated Study, or Pluralism and Diversity). Students who follow the General Education Requirement (GER fall 2000—spring 2013) or Distribution Requirement (prior to fall 2000) may also appeal to this committee and should see this document. Appeals must be filed in accordance with the following procedures:

1. The student must submit a complete application for appeal. Incomplete applications will be returned to the student without consideration by the appeals committee. This action will not be regarded as a denial of the appeal. The appeals committee may request additional documentation in support of an appeal. Students must respond to such requests within 30 days or reapply with a complete application.
2. The student must present clear evidence that deviation from the prescribed program in the catalog is necessary and reasonable, and that any proposed substitutions adequately meet the academic objectives of the requirement.
3. Appeals for experimental courses completed at Hunter College but not yet approved by the Undergraduate Course of Study Committee as fulfilling a general education requirement must be supported with a class action letter from the department or program that offered the course. Such appeals will be considered only for Pluralism and Diversity or for the Hunter Focus—not for the CUNY Common Core.
4. The student must present clear evidence that a course transferred from another college or university fulfills the academic objectives of the requirement. Petitions for satisfaction of CUNY Common Core Requirements must include indication of which learning outcomes were met in the course and how they were met. [THESE LEARNING OUTCOMES WILL BE INDICATED ON THE FORM.]
5. The appeals committee will respond to appeals requests on or about the 15th and the 30th of each month during the spring and fall semesters when Hunter College classes are in session. The committee does not review appeals for currently enrolled students between June 1 and September 1 of the same year. Appeals for entering transfer students will be heard year round.

- Special Appeals: For other appeals for deviations or exemptions from other academic requirements or policies, students should confer with Academic Advising. Special appeals include appeals to follow the General Education Requirement (GER), effective Fall 2001-Spring 2013, and the Distribution Requirement, effective Fall 1986-Spring 2001, rather than the Hunter Core. Notice! There are no appeals for Writing Intensive—"W" designated—courses. All "W" courses must be completed at Hunter College. Note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing every semester. The 'W' designated courses (or specific sections thereof) for a particular semester are listed in the Schedule of Classes each semester and should appear on the syllabus. To satisfy a writing requirement, a particular section must be designated as 'W'.

- Grades: When a student considers a final course grade unsatisfactory, the student should first confer with the instructor regarding the accuracy of the grade received. This conference should be held no later than the first three weeks of the semester following receipt of the grade. At this time, errors may be corrected. If the grade is not an error, the student and instructor must together review all class material pertinent to the grade. If the student is not satisfied or if the instructor does not confer with the student, the student should promptly contact the department chair by submitting a written appeal, consisting of a statement giving the factual reasons and basis for the complaint. The student has the right to request in writing that the chair appoint a student as a member of the department/school Grade Appeals Committee. This appeal at the department/school level must be submitted no later than the first five weeks of the semester following receipt of the grade, in accordance with the "College-wide Grade Appeals Procedures" adopted by the Senate in fall 1985. Copies of this procedure may be obtained in the Senate Office, the Office of Advising Services or academic departmental offices. Students appealing grades to the School of Nursing or the School of Health Sciences should direct their appeal to the director of the school. Students appealing grades to the School of Social Work should direct the appeal to the dean of the school, who shall carry out the responsibilities of the department chair.

Application Procedure

Return to Financial Aid

The fastest and easiest way to apply for financial aid is by completing the application online. FAFSA on the Web is available at www.fafsa.ed.gov. When the student completes the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid), Hunter College should be included among the colleges to which the application information is reported. When the FAFSA is processed, CUNY will receive an electronic record of the student's application information. The student may be required to provide additional documentation to the Office of Financial Aid to verify the application information or to clarify any discrepancies in the application.
New York State resident students can apply for both federal and New York State aid during a single on-line session. After completing FAFSA on the Web, New York State residents are able to link to the TAP on the Web Form, which is pre-filled with their FAFSA data.

Arabic Programs and Courses

Minor in Arabic and Minor in Arabic Studies

Return to Classical and Oriental Studies

Two minors are offered by the Arabic Language, Literature, and Culture Division of the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies: Arabic and Arabic Studies.

Minor in Arabic

The minor in Arabic requires the successful completion of

ARB 20100 - Intermediate Arabic I

Emphasis placed on reading materials from Arabic media, and expanding vocabulary and grammar skills.
prereq: ARB 10200 or equiv.
3 hrs
3 cr.

ARB 20200 - Intermediate Arabic II

Continuation of ARB 20100.
prereq: ARB 20100 or equiv.
3 hrs
3 cr.

ARB 30100 - Advanced Arabic I

Emphasis on increased proficiency in reading, speaking and writing Arabic
prereq: ARB 20200 or equiv.
3 hrs

ARB 30200 - Advanced Arabic II

Continuation of ARB 30100
prereq: ARB 30100 or equiv.
3 hrs
3 cr.

or their equivalent as determined by the Arabic Program Head.

ARB 14900 - Spoken Egyptian Arabic
The goal of this course is to teach students oral communication in the Egyptian dialect, as well as to impart cultural knowledge relevant to a student living in or visiting Egypt. This course is closed to native speakers of Arabic.

prereq: ARB 10200 and permission of instructor
3 hours
3 credits

can be taken in lieu of ARB 30200
The prerequisite for the minor is successful completion of ARB 10100 and 10200 (8 credits).

Arabic Studies Minor

The Arabic Studies Minor requires the successful completion of 4 ARB courses on cultural or literary topics taught in English or in Arabic. Up to 2 Arabic language courses may be used to fulfill the minor requirements in lieu of two culture or literature courses.

The prerequisite for the minor is successful completion of ARB 10100 and ARB 10200 (8 credits).

Arabic Courses

ARB 10100 - Beginning Arabic I

Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)
The goal of this course is to begin developing reading, speaking, listening, writing, and cultural skills in Arabic. The course stresses communication using both formal and informal Arabic. Emphasis is also placed on reading authentic texts from Arabic media, listening to and watching audio and video materials, and developing students' understanding of Arab culture. Preparation for class is an essential component of course, allowing us to devote in-class time to communicating in the language rather than talking "about" the language. Students will be evaluated on attendance and class participation, daily homework assignments, quizzes, skits, a final oral interview and a final examination.

This class is not for native speakers. ARB 10100 usually not credited without ARB 10200. For details about credit policy look here: Foreign Language Requirement
3 hrs
3 cr.

ARB 10200 - Beginning Arabic II

Continuation of ARB 10100. The goal of this course sequence (ARB 10100/10200) is to begin developing reading, speaking, listening, writing, and cultural skills in Arabic. The course stresses communication using both formal and informal Arabic. Emphasis is also placed on reading authentic texts from Arabic media, listening to and watching audio and video materials, and developing students' understanding of Arab culture. Preparation for class is an essential component of course, allowing us to devote in-class time to communicating in the language rather than talking "about" the language. Students will be evaluated on attendance and class participation, daily homework assignments, quizzes, skits, a final oral interview and a final examination. This class is not for native speakers.

Article XV - Students

Return to Bylaws of the Board of Trustees

SECTION 15.0. PREAMBLE.

Academic institutions exist for the transmission of knowledge, the pursuit of truth, the development of students, and the general well-being of society. Student participation, responsibility, academic freedom, and due process are essential to the operation of the academic enterprise. As members of the academic community, students should be encouraged to develop the capacity for critical judgment and to engage in a sustained and independent search for truth. Freedom to learn and to explore major social, political, and economic issues are necessary adjuncts to student academic freedom, as is freedom from discrimination, as set forth in the university’s non-discrimination policy.

Freedom to learn and freedom to teach are inseparable facets of academic freedom. The concomitant of this freedom is responsibility. If members of the academic community are to develop positively in their freedom; if these rights are to be secure, then students should exercise their freedom with responsibility.

SECTION 15.1. CONDUCT STANDARD DEFINED.

Each student enrolled or in attendance in any college, school or unit under the control of the board and every student organization, association, publication, club or chapter shall obey (1) the laws of the city, state and nation; (2) the bylaws and resolutions of the board, including the rules and regulations for the maintenance of public order pursuant to article 129-a of the education law (“Henderson rules”); and (3) the governance plan, policies, regulations, and orders of the college. Such laws, bylaws, resolutions, policies, rules, regulations and orders shall, of course, be limited by the right of students to the freedoms of speech, press, assembly and petition as construed by the courts.

SECTION 15.2. STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS.

a. Any group of students may form an organization, association, club or chapter by filing with the duly elected student government organization of the college or school at which they are enrolled or in attendance and with an officer to be designated by the chief student affairs officer of the college or school at which they are enrolled or in attendance (1) the name and purposes of the organization, association, club or chapter, (2) the names and addresses of its president and secretary or other officers corresponding in function to president and secretary.

b. Extra-curricular activities at each college or school shall be regulated by the duly elected student government organization to insure the effective conduct of such college or school as an institution of higher learning and for the prevention of activities which are hereafter proscribed or which violate the standards of conduct of the character set forth in bylaw 15.1. Such powers shall include:

1. The power to charter or otherwise authorize teams (excluding intercollegiate athletics), publications, organizations, associations, clubs or chapters, and, when appropriate in the exercise of such regulatory power, the power to refuse, suspend or revoke any charter or other authorization for cause after hearing on notice.

2. The power to delegate responsibility for the effective implementation of its regulatory functions hereunder to any officer or committee which it may appoint.

c. 1. Any person or organization affiliated with the college may file a complaint with the chief student affairs officer if there is reason to believe that a student organization has violated any of the standards of conduct set forth in section 15.1 above. The chief student affairs officer shall promptly investigate any complaint and report the results of that investigation along with a recommendation for appropriate action to the student government which shall take action as it deems appropriate.

2. The complainant or any student organization adversely affected by the action of the student government pursuant to subparagraph c (I) above may appeal to the president. The president may take such action as he or she deems appropriate and such action shall be final.

d. Each college shall establish a student elections review committee in consultation with the various student governments. The student elections review committee shall approve the election procedures and certify the results of elections for student governments, and student body referenda. Decisions of the student elections review committee may be appealed to the college president, whose decision shall be final. An appeal from the decision of the student elections review committee must be made in writing to the President within ten calendar days of the decision. The President shall consult with the student elections review committee and render a decision as expeditiously as possible which may affirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the student elections review committee.

e. Student government elections shall be scheduled and conducted, and newly elected student governments shall take office, in accordance with policies of the board, and implementing regulations.

SECTION 15.3. STUDENT DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES.

Complaint Procedures:

a. Any charge, accusation, or allegation which is to be presented against a student, and, which if proved, may subject a student to disciplinary action, must be submitted in writing in complete detail to the office of the chief student affairs officer promptly by the individual, organization or department making the charge.

b. The chief student affairs officer of the college or his or her designee will conduct a preliminary investigation in order to determine whether disciplinary charges should be preferred. The chief student affairs officer or his or her designee will advise the student of the allegation against him or her, consult with other parties who may be involved or who have information regarding the incident, and review other relevant evidence. Following this preliminary investigation, which shall be concluded within thirty (30) calendar days of the filing of the complaint, the chief student affairs officer or designee shall take one of the following actions:

(i) Dismiss the matter if there is no basis for the allegation(s) or the allegation(s) does not warrant disciplinary actions. The individuals involved shall be notified that the complaint has been dismissed;

(ii) Refer the matter to mediation; or

(iii) Prefer formal disciplinary charges.

c. In the event that a student withdraws from the college after a charge, accusation or allegation against the student has been made, and the college prefers formal disciplinary charges, the withdrawn student is required to participate in the disciplinary hearing or otherwise to resolve the pending charges and will be barred from attending any other unit of the university until a decision on the charges is made or the charges are otherwise resolved. If the withdrawn student fails to so participate in the disciplinary process without good cause, the college may proceed with the disciplinary hearing in absentia and any decision and sanction will be binding.

Mediation Conference:

d. The mediation conference shall be conducted by a qualified staff or faculty member designated by the chief student affairs officer. The following procedures shall be in effect at this conference: I. An effort will be made to resolve the matter by mutual agreement.

2. If an agreement is reached, the faculty or staff member conducting the conference shall report his/her recommendation to the chief student affairs officer for approval and, if approved, the complainant shall be notified, and a written memorandum shall be created memorializing the resolution and any consequences for non-compliance.

3. If no agreement is reached, or if the student fails to appear, the faculty or staff member conducting the conference shall refer the matter back to the chief student affairs officer who may prefer disciplinary charges.

4. The faculty or staff member conducting the mediation conference is precluded from testifying in a college hearing regarding information received during the mediation conference.

Notice of Hearing and Charges:

e. Notice of the charge(s) and of the time and place of the hearing shall be personally delivered or sent by the chief student affairs officer of the college to the student at the address appearing on the records of the college, by certified or overnight mail and by regular mail and e-mail to students who have a college e-mail address. The chief student affairs officer is also encouraged to send the notice of charges to any other e-mail address that he or she may have for the student. The hearing shall be scheduled within a reasonable time following the filing of the charges or the mediation conference. Notice of at least five business days shall be given to the student in advance of the hearing unless the student consents to an earlier hearing.

f. The notice shall contain the following:

1. A complete and itemized statement of the charge(s) being brought against the student including the rule, bylaw or regulation he/she is charged with violating, and the possible penalties for such violation.

2. A statement that the student has the following rights:

(i) to present his/her side of the story;

(ii) to present witnesses and evidence on his/her behalf;

(iii) to cross-examine witnesses presenting evidence against the student; (iv) to remain silent without assumption of guilt; and

(v) to be represented by legal counsel or an advisor at the student's expense.

3. A warning that anything the student says may be used against him/her at a non-college hearing.

Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee Procedures:

g. The following procedures shall apply at the hearing before the faculty-student disciplinary committee:

1. The chairperson shall preside at the hearing. The chairperson shall inform the student of the charges, the hearing procedures and his or her rights.

2. After informing the student of the charges, the hearing procedures, and his or her rights, the chairperson shall ask the student charged to respond. If the student admits the conduct charged, the student shall be given an opportunity to explain his/her actions before the committee and the college shall be given an opportunity to respond. If the student denies the conduct charged, the college shall present its case. At the conclusion of the college's case, the student may move to dismiss the charges. If the motion is denied by the committee the student shall be given an opportunity to present his or her defense.

3. Prior to accepting testimony at the hearing, the chairperson shall rule on any motions questioning the impartiality of any committee member or the adequacy of the notice of the charge(s). Subsequent thereto, the chairperson may only rule on the sufficiency of the evidence and may exclude irrelevant, immaterial or unduly repetitive evidence. However, if either party wishes to question the impartiality of a committee member on the basis of evidence which was not previously available at the inception of the hearing, the chairperson may rule on such a motion. The chairperson shall exclude all persons who are to appear as witnesses, except the accused student.

4. The college shall make a record of each fact-finding hearing by some means such as a stenographic transcript, a tape recording or the equivalent. A student who has been disciplined is entitled upon request to a copy of such a record without cost.

5. The student is entitled to a closed hearing but has the right to request an open public hearing. However, the chairperson has the right to hold a closed hearing when an open public hearing would adversely affect and be disruptive of the committee's normal operations.

6. The college bears the burden of proving the charge(s) by a preponderance of the evidence.

7. The role of the faculty-student disciplinary committee is to listen to the testimony, ask questions of the witnesses, review the testimony and evidence presented at the hearing and the papers filed by the parties and render a determination as to guilt or innocence. In the event the student is found to have committed the conduct charged, the committee shall then determine the penalty to be imposed.

8. At the end of the presentations by both sides, the student may introduce additional records, such as character references. The college may introduce a copy of the student's previous disciplinary record, where applicable, provided the student was shown a copy of the record prior to the commencement of the hearing. The disciplinary record shall be submitted to the committee in a sealed envelope and shall not be opened until after the committee has made its findings of fact. In the event the student has been determined to have committed the conduct alleged in the charge or charges the records and documents introduced by the student and the college shall be opened and used by the committee for dispositional purposes, i.e., to determine an appropriate penalty if the charges are sustained.

9. The committee shall deliberate in closed session. The committee shall issue a written decision, which shall be based solely on the testimony and evidence presented at the hearing and the papers filed by the parties.

10. The student shall be sent a copy of the faculty-student disciplinary committee's decision within five days of the conclusion of the hearing, by regular mail and e-mail for students who have a college e-mail address. The chief student affairs officer is also encouraged to send the decision to any other e-mail address that he or she may have for the student. The decision shall be final subject to the student's right of appeal.

11. Where a student is represented by legal counsel the president of the college or his or her designee may request that a lawyer from the general counsel's office appear at the hearing to present the college's case.

12. When a disciplinary hearing results in a penalty of dismissal or suspension for one term or more, the decision is a university-wide penalty and the student will be barred from admission to any other unit of the university while the penalty is being served.

13. Disciplinary penalties shall be placed on a student's transcript and shall remain there unless the committee's decision, the decision on any appeal under section 15.4 below, or a mediation agreement expressly indicates otherwise.

SECTION 15.4. APPEALS.

An appeal from the decision of the faculty-student disciplinary committee may be made to the president who may confirm or decrease the penalty but not increase it. His/her decision shall be final except in the case of dismissals or suspension for one term or more. An appeal from a decision of dismissal or suspension for one term or more may be made to the board committee on student affairs and special programs. Any appeal under this section shall be made in writing within fifteen days after the delivery of the decision appealed from. This requirement may be waived in a particular case for good cause by the president or board committees as the case may be. If the president is a party to the dispute, his/her functions with respect to an appeal shall be discharged by an official of the university to be appointed by the chancellor or his or her designee.

SECTION 15.5. COMMITTEE STRUCTURE.

a. Each faculty-student disciplinary committee shall consist of two faculty members and two student members and a chairperson, who shall be a faculty member. A quorum shall consist of the chair and any two members, one of whom must be a student. Hearings shall be scheduled promptly (including during the summers) at a convenient time and efforts shall be made to insure full student and faculty representation.

b. The president shall select in consultation with the head of the appropriate campus governance body or where the president is the head of the governance body, its executive committee, three (3) members of the instructional staff of that college to receive training and to serve in rotation as chair of the disciplinary committee. If none of the chairpersons appointed from the campus can serve, the president, at his/her discretion, may request that a chairperson be selected by lottery from the entire group of chairpersons appointed by other colleges. The chairperson shall preside at all meetings of the faculty-student disciplinary committee and decide and make all rulings for the committee. He/she shall not be a voting member of the committee but shall vote in the event of a tie.
c. The faculty members shall be selected by lot from a panel of six elected biennially by the appropriate faculty body from among the persons having faculty rank or faculty status. The student members shall be selected by lot from a panel of six elected annually in an election in which all students registered at the college shall be eligible to vote. In the event that the student or faculty panel or both are not elected, or if more panel members are needed, the president shall have the duty to select the panel or panels which have not been elected. No individuals on the panel shall serve on the panel for more than two consecutive years.

d. In the event that the chairperson cannot continue, the president shall appoint another chairperson. In the event that a student or faculty seat becomes vacant and it is necessary to fill the seat to continue the hearing, the seat shall be filled from the respective faculty or student panel by lottery.

e. Persons who are to be participants in the hearings as witnesses or have been involved in preferring the charges or who may participate in the appeals procedures or any other person having a direct interest in the outcome of the hearing shall be disqualified from serving on the committee.

SECTION 15.6. SUSPENSION OR DISMISSAL.

The board reserves full power to dismiss or suspend a student, or suspend a student organization for conduct which impedes, obstructs, or interferes with the orderly and continuous administration and operation of any college, school, or unit of the university in the use of its facilities or in the achievement of its purposes as an educational institution.

The chancellor or his/her designee or a president or his/her designee may in emergency or extraordinary circumstances, temporarily suspend a student, or temporarily suspend the privileges of a student organization or group for cause, pending an early hearing as provided in bylaw section 15.3. to take place within not more than ten (10) business days. Prior to the commencement of a temporary suspension of a student, the college shall give such student oral or written notice of the charges against him/her and, if he/she denies them, the college shall forthwith give such student an informal oral explanation of the evidence supporting the charges and the student may present informally his/her explanation or theory of the matter. When a student's presence poses a continuing danger to person or property or an ongoing threat of disrupting the academic process, notice and opportunity for denial and explanation may follow suspension, but shall be given as soon as feasible thereafter.

SECTION 15.7. THE UNIVERSITY STUDENT SENATE.

There shall be a university student senate responsible, subject to the board, for the formulation of university-wide student policy relating to the academic status, role, rights and freedoms of the student. The authority and duties of the university student senate shall not extend to areas of interest which fall exclusively within the domain of the student governments of the constituent units of the university. Consistent with the authority of the board of trustees in accordance with the education law and the bylaws of the board of trustees, the university student senate shall make its own bylaws providing for the election of its own officers, the establishment of its own rules and procedures, for its internal administration and for such other matters as is necessary for its existence. The university student senate shall have the full rights and responsibilities accorded student organizations as provided in these bylaws. The delegates and alternate delegates to the university student senate shall be elected by their respective constituencies, or by their student governments from the elected members of the respective student governments.

SECTION 15.8. COLLEGE GOVERNANCE PLANS.

The provisions in a duly adopted college governance plan shall not be inconsistent with the provisions contained in this article.

Adopted by the CUNY Board of Trustees
Article XVI - Student Activity Fees and Auxiliary Enterprises

Section 16.1 Student Activity Fee

The student activity fee is the total of the fees for student government and other student activities. Student activity fees, including student government fees collected by a college of the university shall be deposited in a college central depository and, except where earmarked by the board, allocated by a college association budget committee subject to review by the college association as required in these bylaws.

Section 16.2 Student Activity Fees Use — Expenditure Categories

Student activity fee funds shall be allocated and expended only for the following purposes:

1. Extracurricular educational programs;
2. Cultural and social activities;
3. Recreational and athletic programs;
4. Student government;
5. Publications and other media;
6. Assistance to registered student organizations;
7. Community service programs;
8. Enhancement of the college and university environment;
9. Transportation, administration and insurance related to the implementation of these activities;
10. Student services to supplement or add to those provided by the university;
11. Stipends to student leaders.
Section 16.3 Student Government Fee

The student government fee is that portion of the student activity fee levied by resolution of the board which has been established for the support of student government activities. The existing student government fees now in effect shall continue until changed. Student government fees shall be allocated by the duly elected student government, or each student government where more than one duly elected student government exists, for its own use and for the use of student organizations, as specified in section 15.2. of these bylaws, provided, however, that the allocation is based on a budget approved by the duly elected student government after notice and hearing, subject to the review of the college association.

Where more than one duly elected student government exists, the college association shall apportion the student government fees to each student government in direct proportion to the amount collected from members of each student government.

Section 16.4 Student Government Activity Denied

A student government activity is any activity operated by and for the students enrolled at any unit of the university provided, (1) such activity is for the direct benefit of students enrolled at the college, (2) that participation in the activity and the benefit thereof is available to all students enrolled in the unit or student government thereof, and (3) that the activity does not contravene the laws of the city, state or nation, or the published rules, regulations, and orders of the university or the duly established college authorities.

Section 16.5. College Association

a. The college association shall have responsibility for the supervision and review over college student activity fee supported budgets. All budgets of college student activity fees, except where earmarked by the board to be allocated by another body, should be developed by a college association budget committee and recommended to the college association for review by the college association prior to expenditure. The college association shall review all college student activity fee, including student government fee allocations and expenditures for conformance with the expenditure categories defined in Section 16.2. of this article and the college association shall disapprove any allocation or expenditure it finds does not so conform, or is inappropriate, improper, or inequitable.

b. A college association shall be considered approved for purposes of this article if it consists of thirteen (13) members, its governing documents are approved by the college president and the following requirements are met:

1. The governing board of the college association is composed of:

   i. The college president or his/her designee as chair.

   ii. Three administrative members appointed by the college president.

   iii. Three faculty members appointed by the college president from a panel whose size is twice the number of seats to be filled and the panel is elected by the appropriate college faculty governance body.

   iv. Six student members comprised of the student government president(s) and other elected students with the student seats allocated on a basis which will provide representation to each government, where more than one exists, as nearly as practicable in proportion to the student activity fees provided by the students from the respective constituencies.

2. The college association structure provides a budget committee composed of members of the governing board, at least a majority of whom are students selected in accordance with section 16.5.(b) (1)(iv) of these bylaws. The budget committee shall be empowered to receive and review student activity fee budget requests and to develop a budget subject to the review of the college association. The college association may choose to not approve the budget or portions of the budget if in their opinion such items are inappropriate, improper, or inequitable. The budget shall be returned to the budget committee with the specific concerns of the college association noted for further deliberation by the budget committee and subsequent resubmittal to the college association. If the budget is not approved within thirty (30) days those portions of the budget voted upon and approved by the college association board will be allocated. The remainder shall be held until the college association and the budget committee agree.

3. The governing documents of the college association have been reviewed by the board’s general counsel and approved by the board.

Section 16.6 Management and Disbursement of Funds

The college and all student activity fee allocating bodies shall employ generally accepted accounting and investment procedures in the management of all funds. All funds for the support of student activities are to be disbursed only in accordance with approved budgets and be based on written documentation. A requisition for disbursement of funds must contain two signatures; one, the signature of a person with responsibility for the program; the other, the signature of an approved representative of the allocating body.

Section 16.7 Revenues

All revenues generated by student activities funded through student activity fees shall be placed in a college central depository subject to the control of the allocating body. The application of such revenues to the account of the income generating organization shall require the specific authorization of the allocating body.

Section 16.8 Fiscal Accountability Handbook

The chancellor or his/her designee shall promulgate regulations in a fiscal accountability handbook, to regulate all aspects of the collection, deposit, financial disclosure, accounting procedures, financial payments, documentation, contracts, travel vouchers, investments and surpluses of student activity fees and all other procedural and documentary aspects necessary, as determined by the chancellor or his/her designee to protect the integrity and accountability of all student activity fee funds.

Section 16.9 College Purposes Fund

A college purposes fund may be established at each college and shall be allocated by the college president. This fund may have up to twenty-five (25) percent of the unearmarked portion of the student activity fee earmarked to it by resolution of the board, upon the presentation to the board of a list of activities that may be properly funded by student activity fees that are deemed essential by the college president.

Expenditures from the college purposes fund shall be subject to full disclosure under section 16.13. of these bylaws.
Referenda of the student body with respect to the use and amount of the college purposes fund shall be permitted under the procedures and requirements of section 16.12. of these bylaws.

Section 16.10 Auxiliary Enterprise Board

a. The auxiliary enterprise board shall have responsibility for the oversight, supervision and review over college auxiliary enterprises. All budgets of auxiliary enterprise funds and all contracts for auxiliary enterprises shall be developed by the auxiliary enterprise budget and contract committee and reviewed by the auxiliary enterprise board prior to expenditure or execution.

b. The auxiliary enterprise board shall be considered approved for the purposes of this article if it consists of at least eleven (11) members, its governing documents are approved by the college president and the following requirements are met:

1. The governing board is composed of the college president or his/her designee as chair, plus an equal number of students and the combined total of faculty and administrative members.

2. The administrative members are appointed by the college president.

3. The faculty members are appointed by the college president from a panel whose size is twice the number of seats to be filled and the panel is elected by the appropriate college faculty governance body.

4. The student members are the student government president(s) and other elected students and the student seats are allocated on a basis which will provide representation to each government, where more than one exists, as nearly as practicable, in proportion to the student enrollment by headcount from the respective constituencies.

5. The auxiliary enterprise board structure provides for a budget and contract committee composed of a combined total of faculty and administrative members that is one more than the number of student members. The budget and contract committee shall be empowered to develop all contract and budget allocation proposals subject to the review and approval of the auxiliary enterprise board.

6. The governing documents of the auxiliary enterprise board have been reviewed by the board’s general counsel and approved by the board.

Section 16.11 The Review Authority of College Presidents Overt Student Activity Fee Allocating Bodies and Auxiliary Enterprise Boards

a. The president of the college shall have the authority to disapprove any student activity fee, including student government fee, or auxiliary enterprise allocation or expenditure, which in his or her opinion contravenes the laws of the city, state, or nation or any bylaw or policy of the university or any policy, regulation, or order of the college. If the college president chooses to disapprove an allocation or expenditure, he or she shall consult with the general counsel and vice chancellor for legal affairs and thereafter communicate his/her decision to the allocating body or auxiliary enterprise board.

b. The president of the college shall have the authority to suspend and send back for further review any student activity fee, including student government fee, allocation or expenditure which in his or her opinion is not within the expenditure categories defined in section 16.2. of this article. The college association shall, within ten (10) days of receiving a proposed allocation or expenditure for further review, study it and make a recommendation to the president with respect to it. The college president shall thereafter consider the recommendation, shall consult with the general counsel and vice chancellor for legal affairs, and thereafter communicate his/her final decision to the allocating body as to whether the allocation or expenditure is disapproved.

c. The chancellor or his/her designee shall have the same review authority with respect to university student activity fees that the college president has with respect to college student activity fees.

d. All disapprovals exercised under this section shall be filed with the general counsel and vice chancellor for legal affairs.

e. Recipients of extramural student activity fees shall present an annual report to the chancellor for the appropriate board committee detailing the activities, benefits and finances of the extramural body as they pertain to the colleges where students are paying an extramural fee.

Section 16.12 Referenda

A referendum proposing changes in the student activity fee shall be initiated by a petition of at least ten (10) percent of the appropriate student body and voted upon in conjunction with student government elections.

a. Where a referendum seeks to earmark student activity fees for a specific purpose or organization without changing the total student activity fee, the results of the referendum shall be sent to the college association for implementation.

b. Where a referendum seeks to earmark student activity fees for a specific purpose or organization by changing the total student activity fee, the results of such referendum shall be sent to the board by the president of the college together with his/her recommendation.

c. At the initiation of a petition of at least ten (10) percent of the appropriate student body, the college president may schedule a student referendum at a convenient time other than in conjunction with student government elections.

d. Where the referendum seeks to affect the use or amount of student activity fees in the college purposes fund, the results of the referendum shall be sent to the board by the college president together with his/her recommendation.

Section 16.13 Disclosure

a. The college president shall be responsible for the full disclosure to each of the student governments of the college of all financial information with respect to student activity fees.

b. The student governments shall be responsible for the full disclosure to their constituents of all financial information with respect to student government fees.

c. The student activity fee allocating bodies shall be responsible for the full disclosure of all financial information to its membership, to the college and to the student governments with respect to all of its activities.
d. The auxiliary enterprise board shall be responsible for the full disclosure of all financial information to its membership, to the college and to the student governments with respect to auxiliary enterprises.

e. For purposes of the foregoing paragraphs, full disclosure shall mean the presentation each semester of written financial statements which shall include, but need not be limited to, the source of all fee income by constituency, income from other sources creditable to student activity fee accounts, disbursements, transfers, past reserves, surplus accounts, contingency and stabilization funds. Certified independent audits performed by a public auditing firm shall be conducted at least once each year.

Section 16.14 Stipends.

The payment of stipends to student leaders is permitted only within those time limits and amounts authorized by the board.

Assignment of Credit Hours to Courses

Return to Academic Programs and Policies

The assignment of credit hours to courses at Hunter College complies with the New York State Education Department's procedures:
"Semester hour means a credit, point, or other unit granted for the satisfactory completion of a course which requires at least 15 hours (of 50 minutes each) of instruction and at least 30 hours of supplementary assignments, except as otherwise provided pursuant to section 52.2(c)(4) of this Subchapter. This basic measure shall be adjusted proportionately to translate the value of other academic calendars and formats of study in relation to the credit granted for study during the two semesters that comprise an academic year."

See www.highered.nysed.gov/ocue/aipr/Part50.htm

Athletic Program Participation Notice

Return to Public Safety, College Regulations and Policies

The college files an annual report with the US secretary of education on intercollegiate athletics which includes information on the participation of males and females on its teams and the expenditures and revenues of those teams. Copies of the annual report on intercollegiate athletics are available at the reference desk of the library.

Attendance Policies

Return to Academic Regulations

All students must report to classes during the first week of classes. Students will lose their place in some classes if they do not attend the first class meeting. (See, for example, the "Notes" for biology and chemistry in the Schedule of Classes.)

The instructor has the right to set attendance requirements for the course, to keep attendance records, and to consider attendance in the calculation of final grades. Such attendance policies will be listed in the course syllabus. Students may not use absence from class as an excuse for not fulfilling all course requirements.

Students who have earned fewer than 15 credits of college-level work are limited in the number of cuts they may take in a course without risking a lower grade, as follows:

- 1-cr course - 2 hrs of cuts
- 2-cr course - 4 hrs of cuts
- 3-cr course - 6 hrs of cuts
- 4-cr course - 6 hrs of cuts (equal to 1 lab period and 1 lecture)

College Calendar: Schedule of Final Examinations A final examination is required in each course at the college during the examination period scheduled by the registrar, except in those courses in which the department has ruled that no examination shall be given. Since the final examination week is part of the semester hour requirement as mandated by the State Education Department, the period scheduled for final examinations should be used either for the final examination in the course or as an instructional period.

Students in an examination room may not have in their possession or within their reach any books or papers except those permitted by the instructor for use in the examination. Notes normally carried in pockets or handbags should be placed completely out of reach.

Students taking a drawing examination should bring their own implements. Students are not to possess an examination book at any time except during the examination period. Students should carefully fill out all information asked for on the front cover of every examination book used. If scratch paper is needed, students should use the back pages of the examination book; no other paper of any kind is to be used. All matter that is not intended to be read and marked by the
The examiner should be crossed out (but not torn out) before the examination book is handed in. No pages are to be torn from examination books.

The student is responsible for making sure that the instructor receives the examination book. Students may leave the examination room as soon as they finish. Quiet should be maintained in passing through the halls.

Students obliged to withdraw from an examination because of illness will be counted as absent from the examination and are permitted to take an absentee examination, as explained in the section on Incomplete Work in Course, above.

For information on absence from final examination for other reasons, see section on Incomplete Work in Course, above.

Suspension of Classes Announcements concerning emergency suspension of classes will be made on the following radio stations:

- WFAS 1230 AM and 104 FM
- WINS 1010 AM
- WADO 1280 AM (Spanish-speaking)
- WCBS 880 AM and 101.1 FM
- WBLS 107.5 FM
- WLIB 1140 AM

Additionally, announcements will be posted on the Hunter College Web site at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu.

Access to College Files The Federal Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. These rights include the right to inspect the student’s education records; the right to request the amendment of the student’s education records that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading; the right to consent to disclosure of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records; and the right to request that certain information not be released without his or her prior written consent by filing a letter with the Office of the Registrar. (see: Hunter College Students’ Rights Concerning Education Records)

Withdrawal from Part of Program The Board of Trustees has ruled that students have until the end of the third week of classes (or during the summer session, the end of the first week of classes) to drop a course without penalty. This period coincides with the refund period. The course will not appear on the student’s record. A student may withdraw officially, with a grade of “W,” between the end of the third week of classes and the first day of the tenth week of classes. (During the summer session a student may withdraw officially between the second week of classes and the first day of the fifth week of classes.) To do so, a student should obtain a withdrawal form from the OASIS, Room 217 HN. After the deadline, official withdrawals will be considered for approval by the Office of Advising Services. Approval will be granted only when it is clear that the student has good and sufficient reason for withdrawing. Students should be aware that withdrawal from classes may have an impact on their financial aid. A student should make an appointment with an adviser in the Office of Advising Services, Room 1119 East Building, before proceeding with the withdrawal process. The problem often has other solutions.

Unofficial Withdrawal When a student ceases to participate in a course but has not withdrawn officially, the student shall be deemed to have withdrawn unofficially. Evidence of unofficial withdrawal shall include all of the following: failure to attend class for at least four weeks consecutively (or during the summer session, two weeks consecutively) through the end of the semester (the last day of classes); failure to attend the final exam; and failure over this period to meet any other course requirements (e.g., to submit paper assignments and take examinations). The unofficial withdrawal (“WU”) by university regulations is equivalent to a grade of F. Cessation of attendance or unofficial withdrawal may also have negative financial aid consequences.
Withdrawal from College

Students who become ill or who experience personal difficulties or a lack of interest that prevents their concentrating on college work, are encouraged to withdraw completely from college. Failure under such conditions can only make an eventual return to college more difficult. Deadlines for such withdrawals are the same as for withdrawals from part of the program (see above).

Such students should make an appointment to see a counselor in the Office of Advising Services, Room 1119 East Building. Students must return books to the library and all college equipment to the department to which it belongs. Students who are unable to return to Hunter to withdraw in person should write or have someone else write to the Office of Advising Services. The letter should contain (1) the name under which the student is registered at Hunter; (2) the Social Security number; (3) the return address and telephone number; (4) the reason for withdrawal, with appropriate documentation (medical, psychological or employee) and the last date of attendance; and (5) a copy of the Bursar’s receipt.

Students who stop attending without following the above procedures are considered to have withdrawn unofficially and will receive WUs, which are equivalent to Fs in computing the GPA.

Students whose GPA at the time of withdrawal is below the minimum required for continued matriculation shall be considered as having been dropped for poor scholarship. Students who have withdrawn from the college, officially or unofficially, must apply for readmission in the Office of Admissions, Room 203 HN, at least three months prior to the semester in which they wish to re-enter.

Auditing

Return to Academic Regulations

- Currently enrolled degree and non-degree students: Students register for the course online at their CUNYfirst account and then provide a letter on letterhead stationery, signed by the Chairperson of the academic department which offers the course and approving that the course may be taken for AUDIT grade. This letter must be delivered to the One Stop, Room 217 North Building before the last day of the first week of classes during posted office hours. See www.hunter.cuny.edu/onestop/hours-of-operation for office hours. This option is only available through the first week of classes for each semester or term. Audit status will not be posted for students after the last day of the first week of classes. Audit grade status cannot be reversed once posted.

- Senior Citizens: Students classified as Senior Citizens by the college may register for courses as auditors only.

- Newly admitted and/or readmitted degree and non-degree students: Consult with the Office of Advising Services, Room 1119 East Building.

- Auditors pay mandated tuition and fees. For more information, visit: http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/onestop/finances/billing/costs-tuition-fees. No credit or grade will be given for audited classes.

Return to the Department of Biological Sciences

Biological Sciences: Career Planning

Return to Biological Sciences Department
Graduate Study The department offers a master of arts in the biological sciences and courses taken in the MA program can later be credited toward the PhD upon acceptance into the CUNY doctoral program in biology. Interested students should obtain the Hunter College graduate catalog and contact the biology master's program adviser. Laboratory research under faculty supervision (see undergraduate research, below) is extremely valuable for gaining admission to graduate schools. Students planning to apply to graduate school should consult with their adviser as early in their college career as possible.

Professional Schools Students who plan to apply to schools of medicine, dentistry or veterinary medicine should consult with their adviser and see the preprofessional adviser in Room 812 Hunter East.

Preparation for Teaching In cooperation with the School of Education, the Department of Biological Sciences offers opportunities for students to prepare for a teaching career in elementary and secondary schools. Major I in biology satisfies the requirements for New York State certification of at least 30 credits for teachers in adolescent education, grades 7-12. Major II in biology satisfies the requirements for New York State certification for teachers in childhood education, grades 1-6. See the School of Education section of this catalog and consult with an adviser in the School of Education for additional information and requirements.

Preparation for Biotechnology Students interested in careers in the rapidly growing field of biotechnology should select Major I and consult with their adviser as early as possible. Advanced courses taken as electives should include BIOL 41000 and those special topics courses (BIOL 47000-BIOL 47100) that are most relevant to biotechnology. Qualified students are also encouraged to pursue the BA/MA Program in Biotechnology. Interested biology majors who have completed BIOL 300 should contact Dr. Patricia Rockwell as early as possible.

Brookdale Center on Healthy Aging and Longevity

2180 3rd Ave @ 119th Street, NYC 8th Floor
New York, NY 10035
(212) 396-7835

Executive Director: Jean Callahan, JD, MSW
jean.callahan@hunter.cuny.edu

Brookdale Center on Healthy Aging and Longevity at Hunter College advances successful aging and longevity through research, education, and evaluation of evidence-based models of practice and policy. In July 2011, Brookdale Center moved into its new home in East Harlem, NYC at the corner of Third Avenue and 119th Street. Brookdale Center shares this new state-of-the-art campus with both the Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College (formerly the Hunter College School of Social Work) and the CUNY School of Public Health at Hunter College (formerly the Hunter School of Public Health). Brookdale Center takes a leading role in the development of evidence based "best practices" to advance the health and wellbeing of a new generation. Brookdale is breaking new ground in aging services by connecting and integrating the applied fields of gerontology with health policy. Brookdale Center serves as a critical bridge between gerontological education, research, policy, practice and advocacy, and is recognized nationally today as a major center of excellence.

Center for Occupational and Environmental Health

dkotelch@hunter.cuny.edu

The Hunter College Center for Occupational and Environmental Health was established in 1986 to improve workplace and environmental health by assisting worker and community efforts to understand and ameliorate hazardous conditions. The center conducts training classes to assist labor unions, government agencies and other groups to strengthen their capacity to respond to workplace hazards; assists communities in addressing urban environmental concerns; and sponsors graduate student internships in occupational and environmental health.

Current areas of interest and study include asbestos, lead poisoning, hazardous waste and materials, asthma, air pollution, ergonomics and public health policy. The Center for Occupational and Environmental Health is funded by federal and state grants, labor unions and private foundations.

The Center for Study of Gene Structure and Function

315 Hunter North; http://genecenter.hunter.cuny.edu/
(212) 650-3957

The Center for Study of Gene Structure and Function (Gene Center) was established in 1985. It is a consortium comprised of 53 research faculty who are biologists, chemists, psychologists, physicists as well as a bio-anthropologist and an urban public health scientist. The Gene Center now has a designated cohort of 19 biomedical researchers who focus on increasing the translational/clinical potential of their research in cancer, mental health, and community engagement to help reduce health disparities. The remaining members pursue broader biomedical research goals. The Gene Center is a founding partner with the Clinical and Translational Science Center, a multi-institutional research consortium headquartered at Weill Cornell Medical College. The Gene Center is supported by a major grant from the Research Centers in Minority Institutions Program of the National Institute on Minority Health and Health Disparities (formerly from the National Center for Research Resources), an agency of the National Institutes of Health. The City University of New York and Hunter College provide institutional support to the Gene Center.

The Gene Center primarily supports research in the following three core areas:

- Cancer, including detection and therapeutics innovation in treatment for prostate and breast cancers
- Neurobiology/behavior, including addiction and neuroprotection as well as diagnosis of stress disorders
- Disease Prevention using telehealth e-platforms to serve the underserved

State-of-the-art core research facilities include:

- Digital Bioimaging with Confocal Microscopy
- Internet2 Videocollaboration
The Gene Center contributes to research advances in diseases that disproportionately affect minority populations - such as stroke, drug addiction, cancer and AIDS. Gene Center scientists have received distinguished awards such as the Ameritec Prize for Paralysis Research and the Presidential Early Career Award for Scientists and Engineers for their outstanding research in these areas. A major goal is to develop outstanding faculty, postdoctoral fellows, and summer undergraduate research fellows from underrepresented groups.

The Center for Puerto Rican Studies

(Centro de Estudios Puertorriqueños)
Administrative Office: 1429 Hunter East; (212) 772-5688
Director: Edwin Meléndez, Ph.D.
http://www.centropr.hunter.cuny.edu

Centro Library and Archives
The Louis and Samuel J. Silberman School of Social Work
2180 Third Avenue and 119th Street, Room 121; (212) 396-7876
Associate Director of the Library and Archives: Alberto Hernández Banuchi

The Centro de Estudios Puertorriqueños/Center for Puerto Rican Studies (Centro) is a university-based research institute whose mission consists of two components. One is to collect, preserve and provide access to archival and library resources documenting the history and culture of Puerto Ricans. The other is to produce, facilitate and disseminate interdisciplinary research about the diasporic experiences of Puerto Ricans and to link this scholarly inquiry to social action and policy debates. To complement these core activities, Centro sponsors a year round program of educational and cultural activities.

History Founded in 1973 by a coalition of faculty, students and community leaders, Centro seeks to achieve its mission by working closely with a network of education, research, archival, advocacy and community-based partners. Centro has been housed at Hunter College since 1983; however, it is a CUNY-wide research center. Centro staff guide and mentor Latino and other students, assist and advise community organizations and other research institutions and serve on local, national and international committees concerned with issues of social, economic, educational and cultural policy. In addition, CUNY faculty and staff with interests in Puerto Rican and Latino studies are invited to affiliate with Centro, where they utilize its extensive resources. Centro has been a founding member of the Inter-University Program for Latino Research (IUPLR) since 1989. The IUPLR, currently composed of 23 affiliate centers, is the most extensive consortium of Latino research centers in the United States.

Research Program As a university-based Puerto Rican research center, Centro staff and researchers are interested in a comprehensive understanding of the Puerto Rican diasporic experience in the U.S. and in relevant socioeconomic and historical aspects regarding Puerto Rico. Given its history and role within CUNY, the Centro is particularly interested in New York's Puerto Rican and ethnic communities. The following are research areas of current interest and attention in the Centro: history and political economy, migration, race, class, gender and sexuality, education, community development, political and human rights, public policy and political participation and cultural and literary studies. This list reflects the current combination of staff strengths and expertise, as well as the academic, community and policy networks the Centro has developed. Given the changing needs in Puerto Rican communities, in academia and in the Centro's staff, the areas of current interest are reviewed periodically.

The Centro Research Exchange program promotes institutional, faculty and student intellectual and scientific exchange with stateside academic institutions and in Puerto Rico and the Caribbean. Since its inception the program has focused on strengthening institutional links between the City University of New York and stateside higher education and research institutions through academic and cultural exchanges and scholarly collaboration. Centro has sponsored numerous resident scholars, including theses and dissertation, post-doctoral and junior faculty fellows. The Centro Research Exchange Program has facilitated research and other academic/cultural activities for more than three hundred faculty and students.
The Centro Library and Archives is devoted to collecting, preserving and providing access to resources documenting the history and culture of Puerto Ricans. Now in its new facilities at the Lois V. and Samuel J. Silberman Building in East Harlem, the collections include books, newspapers, periodicals, audio and video tapes, manuscripts, photographs, prints and recorded music. The Library and Archives provides services and programs to the scholarly community as well as the general public. It facilitates access to its holdings through mail and telephone services, City University's online public catalog CUNY+, participation in national computerized databases and through the publication of finding aids. The Library and Archives promote the study of Puerto Rican history and culture through exhibitions and other public programs.

The Library and Archives collects, preserves and makes available for research unique primary materials that document the history and culture of the Puerto Rican diaspora with a concentration on New York City. The holdings include personal papers, records of organizations and institutions, photographic collections, broadsides, programs and ephemera. Among the collections are the records of civil rights organizations, the papers of activists, writers, artists, scholars, educators and elected officials. A highlight of the holdings is the extensive records of the offices of the Government of Puerto Rico in the U.S. Special features of the Archives include its photographic holdings, art prints/posters by artists from New York and Puerto Rico and sound recordings of Puerto Rican popular music. Finding aids and guides are available for processed collections and are online on the Centro Web site.

Publications A major accomplishment in Centro Publications is the launch of our academic press in 2013 with the publication of two books: The Stories That I Read to the Children: The Life and Writing of Pura Belpre, The Legendary Storyteller, Children's Author, and New York Public Librarian, by Lisa Sanchez Gonzalez, and the memoirs of Gilberto Gerena Valentin, Soy Gilberto Gerena Valentin: memorias de un puertorriqueño en Nueva York. (While this first edition of the Gerena Valentin book is in Spanish, we are in the process of having it translated so as to publish it in English.) Both books are currently available for purchase directly from our office or ordered online on our website.

Through Centro Publications, our mission is to expand the products that we are producing and, through wider variety and broader distribution of our publications, reach and influence a larger audience concerned with the Puerto Rican diaspora and its place in the context of society at large. Centro plans to produce readers, coffee-table books, art reproductions and other publications on the Puerto Rican experience.

The CENTRO Journal, founded in 1987, is one of the Centro's most important links to the public. A multidisciplinary, bilingual, refereed publication that welcomes scholarly articles in the humanities and the social and natural sciences, as well as interpretive essays, interviews, fiction, reviews and art, the Journal reflects developments in the field of Puerto Rican studies. Although primarily an academic publication directed at disseminating the body of scholarship on Puerto Rico and Puerto Ricans, the Journal retains elements of its earlier incarnation, publishing work in a variety of formats. The journal encourages a dialogue that compares Puerto Ricans with other ethnic groups, particularly other Latinos and African Americans. The Journal is available by subscription directly from our office or it may be ordered via our website.

Voices is the e-magazine of the Center for Puerto Rican Studies. A web-based platform at http://centropr.hunter.cuny.edu/voices-e-magazinefront, Voices' goal is to disseminate scholarly contributions about the Puerto Rican experiences in the United States to a general public. It encourages interactions among academics, our community and the general public.

Education Centro's education programs seek to develop curricula and pedagogies that motivate Hunter, CUNY and other students, as well as teachers, to become involved in Puerto Rican Studies, provide the necessary supports for success, and encourage a sense of service toward others. Centro has created several educational products to support historical preservation. To help promote these products, Centro has produced three brochures describing the exhibition materials available to groups and schools. The brochures describe the exhibits, films and posters, which are primarily to be used as instructional material. But they also can be used in semi-public spaces by local organizations to increase their visibility in their own communities. The brochures include:

Centro Traveling Exhibits

This brochure is an eight pager describing nine eye-opening stand-alone exhibits that can add interest to local events.
The exhibits are particularly appropriate for use by schools and Latino organizations as stand-alone exhibitions or as an engine for a roundtable or panel discussion. The displays, which are easy to set up, highlight stateside Puerto Ricans who have made a difference in the arts, government, religion and politics or to illuminate historic events or movements. The Centro Traveling Exhibits include: The Legacy of Pentecostal Minister Reverend Manuel Tomás Sanchez, a pioneer Pentecostal pastor; Carlos Arroyo: Mr. Cha Cha Taps, the life of this noted dancer; Orgullo in Organizing: Puerto Rican Workers; Their History and Legacy, 1930-2010, traces Puerto Rican participation in organized labor; Luis Muñoz Marín: The New York Years, 1927-1928, recognizes Muñoz Marín's work when living in the United States. Also included are two forthcoming exhibits, one on A Revolt through Letters: Clemente Soto Vélez, that explores the life of this controversial leader and the other on The National Puerto Rican Day Parade, which looks into its roots and amazing growth.

Centro Film Festival

A four pager describing six documentaries that schools and organizations can combine into a create-your-own film festival or use individually to enhance other programming. They include: Pura Belpré: Storyteller about the folklorist and librarian; The Legacy of Frank Bonilla who was Centro's founder; Martorell: De Aquí, Pa'lla on artist Antonio Martorell and his exhibit for the New-York Historical Society; A Revolt through Letters: Clemente Soto Vélez explores the life of this controversial leader; and Maria Domínguez, Education and Enrichment through Community Murals, which is part of Centro's Arts in Education Outreach, looks at Domínguez's work on a community mural with students from East Harlem. The last is Plena Is Work, Plena Is Song, an examination of this important musical tradition.

Puerto Rican Heritage Poster Series

This colorfully illustrated brochure describes each of eight posters documenting the long history of the Puerto Rican migration, from its cultural roots through contemporary times. This series is especially suited for in-school use and can easily integrated into the curriculum.

Part I. covers Puerto Rican cultural roots from 1200 to the late 1700s and the early migration the mainland, 1815 to 1897. Part II. covers the migration from 1898 to the 1930s; Part III. takes us through the Great Migrations (1940s to 1960s); Parts IV. looks into stateside struggle for equality and recognition; and Part V. covers education struggles, institution building and "new traditions." Finally, there are three posters using maps to illustrate demographic migration patterns and population centers.

Conferences and Seminars

As part of our educational initiatives, Centro regularly sponsors conferences and seminars that highlight the Puerto Rican experience. Our recent conferences and seminars have included:

Video Conference III : Digital Resources in Puerto Rico

Centro presented another historic series of video conferences designed to acquaint researchers, students, teachers, other scholars and librarians with available resources – particularly digitized options – on the history of the Puerto Rican migration. This conference, produced in partnership with other academic institutions in the United States and Puerto Rico, was designed to acquaint statesiders with resources at various University of Puerto Rico campuses.

Video Conference IV. : Posters, Part Part II.: Teaching and Learning about Puerto Ricans in the United States

Centro capped off its video series with a second conference highlighting our series of eight posters depicting the history of the relationship between the island and the U.S. The posters reflect some of the key struggles and accomplishments that characterize the Puerto Rican Civil Rights Movement, as well as its most prominent leaders and its expansion in alliance with African American and other human rights movements. Other posters spotlight educational struggles, the institutions Puerto Ricans built on the mainland and some of the "new traditions" inspired by the emigrants. It also includes a timeline and two maps, one reflecting the Taíno, African and Spanish roots of Puerto Ricans, the other illustrating the Puerto Rican migrations to the United States and the Caribbean.

Research Seminars I and II
To highlight current Centro research, we hosted a two-part seminar examining the impact of the recession and the current state of the Puerto Rican population living in the United States. At the first seminar titled "Demographics and Social Conditions of Puerto Ricans in the United States," researchers focused on Puerto Rican settlements in the South. The second seminar highlighted jobs and education of Puerto Ricans in the United States.

Events Centro sponsors cultural and educational activities that contribute to the study and interpretation of the Puerto Rican experience in the United States. We give priority to activities that support teaching and learning Puerto Rican Studies, develop and promote our archival collections, and that are useful to those in community organizations, public policy, and academia. Our speaker forums focus on scholarship in the social sciences, humanities, and performance arts.

The Kaye Playhouse at Hunter College is an inviting, fully equipped proscenium-style theatre with 624 seats, designed in an elegant 1940's Moderne style with plush seating upholstered in crimson velveteen. Dedicated in 1942 by Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the Kaye Playhouse is filled with an air of historic elegance with modern-day amenities. The theatre continues to be home to a wide array of national and international events, including theatrical productions, dance performances, chamber music and opera, film/photo/television shoots, fashion shows, jazz concerts, lectures, corporate meetings, vocal concerts, children/s shows, and a wide range of other programming.

Assembly Hall

Hunter North Lobby

The Assembly Hall is Hunter's largest performance venue. With a seating capacity of 2,079, the hall hosts performances by the Hunter College Symphony, concerts, meetings, forums and a variety of other events. Anyone interested in reserving the Assembly Hall for an event should contact the Office of Central Reservations at (212) 772-4872.

The Frederick Loewe Theatre

Ground Floor Thomas Hunter
The Frederick Loewe Theatre is a black-box theatre that seats an audience of 110. It has the ability to accommodate proscenium or thrust stage productions and houses most of the Department of Theatre events. Box office: (212) 772-4448; administrative office: (212) 772-4227.

Ida K. Lang Recital Hall

4th Floor Hunter North

The Lang Recital Hall, a 149-seat auditorium designed by the firm of Abramowitz Kingsland Schiff, opened in Spring 1995.

This state-of-the-art facility hosts jazz concerts, chamber music ensembles and film festivals and houses most of the Department of Music graduation and faculty recitals. Artists from throughout the world have performed at the Lang. Box office: (212) 772-4448; administrative office: (212) 772-4227.

Hunter Galleries

The Hunter College Art Galleries, comprised of the Bertha and Karl Leubsdorf Gallery, The 205 Hudson Gallery, and The Artist's Institute are committed to a dynamic exhibition program that expands the classroom experience of undergraduate learning across the college. The Galleries are also integral to the graduate programs in Art and Art History, affording students the opportunity to work hands-on with faculty, guest curators, and gallery staff to develop exhibitions that encourage critical thinking, original research, and direct contact with both historical and contemporary art.

The Bertha and Karl Leubsdorf Gallery is located in the West Building of the main campus at 68th Street and Lexington Avenue and focuses on historical and scholarly exhibitions developed by faculty, students, and alumni.

The 205 Hudson Gallery is a new street level exhibition space, housed in the Studio MFA program building in Tribeca. 205 Hudson is dedicated to engaging contemporary art through diverse exhibitions, performance events, and programming, including exhibitions of graduating MFA students.

The Artist's Institute, located on the Lower East Side, was founded in 2010 by Hunter College and curator Anthony Huberman. The Artist's Institute is an experimental platform for thinking about art in the present moment, with an annual program that is divided into two six-month seasons, each of which is dedicated to the work of a single artist.

Located in the Silberman School of Social Work Building at 119th Street, The Hunter College East Harlem Art Gallery is a space for initiating partnerships between different departments and academic disciplines. The gallery presents exhibitions and public events that foster academic collaboration at Hunter College while addressing subjects relevant to the East Harlem community.

Main campus gallery: (212) 772-4991.

College Governance

Return to Hunter College of The City University of New York

Hunter College has several governing assemblies, most of which provide for student participation.

The Hunter College Senate

Room 1018 Hunter East

The Hunter College Senate, chartered in 1970, is the principal governance body of the college and the only such body that holds a Governance Charter with the CUNY Board of Trustees. The Senate has authority to determine college policy in matters related to:

1. Curriculum
2. Academic requirements and standards
3. Instruction and the evaluation of teaching
4. College development, including master plan
5. Computing and technology

Representatives of the faculty, student body and administration constitute the voting membership of the Senate and serve for a term of two years. The elected officers of the Senate include the chairperson, vice-chairperson, secretary and the chairperson of the Evening Council, who constitute the Senate Administrative Committee. There are 18 standing committees and a varying number of special and ad-hoc committees. These committees accomplish much of the work of the Senate. Reports and Resolutions from these committees are discussed and voted on at Senate meetings. Membership on committees is representative and open to all faculty and students by election of the full Senate from a slate recommended by the Nominating Committee and by member nominations from the Senate floor.

Regular meetings of the Senate are planned for two hours and are held twice a month. Additional monthly meetings may be called as needed.

Election of faculty and student membership to the Senate occurs during the spring semester.

Faculty members and students are encouraged to become involved in the meetings of the Hunter College Senate and its committees.

Further information may be obtained by visiting the Senate Office.

The Faculty Delegate Assembly

Room 1414 Hunter East

All Hunter faculty, full and part-time, are members of the Faculty Delegate Assembly, which serves to address faculty concerns regarding teaching, research, and the quality of professional life at Hunter and CUNY. We provide a forum for free and open consideration of significant issues at monthly general meetings. Each academic department in the college elects two members to attend these events, which are also open to all other members and usually include invited speakers from both inside and outside of the college. The FDA also hosts a coffee service in the faculty lounge at the 68th Street campus on most afternoons, organizes social events each semester, publishes a newsletter, The Faculty Voice, and is responsible for periodic updates of the Faculty Handbook.

The Student Governments
Undergraduate Room 121 Hunter North

Graduate Room 218 Thomas Hunter

These elected student groups have an essential role in the life of the college by allocating the Student Activity Fee, as well as facilitating the chartering of student organizations. All of the elected officers serve as student representatives on campus-wide committees concerning matters of college policy. A few are Senators in the Hunter College Senate, while others are elected to serve as delegates and alternates at the University Student Senate (USS) meetings.

The objective of these student officers is to lead by example in fostering diversity and supporting the exchange of peaceful dialogue among the varied constituents on Hunter’s many campuses.

Hunter College Ombudsman

Room 1016 Hunter East

The ombudsman is empowered by the Hunter College Governance Charter to investigate complaints and grievances by any member of the college community (student, faculty, staff, or administration) about a problem or condition in the college. When requested and where possible, the anonymity of a complainant will be protected and names will not be used in any reports the ombudsman may make.

When someone feels unfairly treated or unjustly disadvantaged, the ombudsman can advise the person of the available appeals procedures, recommend corrective action to be taken by the appropriate college officers, or recommend changes in college procedures or regulations that would eliminate such injustices in the future.

The ombudsman may be reached at (212) 772-4203.

Faculty Personnel and Budget Committee (FP&B)

Composed of the president, the provost and the chairs of departments, FP&B is concerned with appointment, reappointment, promotion and other faculty personnel matters.

Departmental Committees

Each department has bylaws approved by the Senate. These bylaws provide for a number of committees, most of which are open to student members. Further information is available in the appropriate departmental office.

College Name

The official name of the college, which must be used in correspondence and on application forms for employment, admission to graduate school and transfer to other institutions, is “Hunter College of The City University of New York.” Merely referring to “The City University of New York” or “CUNY” will result in the correspondence or application being sent to the Board of Trustees, thereby causing delay in processing.

College Regulations

Return to Public Safety, College Regulations and Policies
Students should be aware of the following regulations:

- Students may not have personal or business mail or telegrams addressed to them at the college.
- The college cannot deliver messages to students except in cases of grave emergency.
- If a student has a visitor, a visitor’s pass from the Office of Student Services is required.
- Students are required to present proper identification (Hunter ID Card) upon the request of any college official.
- The college does not provide a check-cashing service.
- No student or outsider may use any part of the college buildings (including bulletin boards) for soliciting or selling any merchandise without written permission from the dean of students.
- No student may be a self-appointed representative of the college.
- No pets or animals (except seeing-eye dogs) may be brought into college buildings.
- The use, possession and/or distribution of hallucinogenic drugs, barbiturates, amphetamines, narcotics and other dangerous drugs is prohibited by law and therefore by college regulations.
- Only wine and beer may be served at student sponsored functions. A representative of the sponsoring group must be present at the bar to assure compliance with the minimum drinking age.

Currently enrolled degree students may take courses at other accredited institutions (CUNY or other) provided the appropriate procedures are followed.

A department may refuse to authorize a permit if, in its judgment, it is inappropriate to do so.

For more information on Permits and Epermits, please visit the One Stop web page at www.hunter.cuny.edu/onestop and under the Registration column select Taking a Course Outside Hunter.

Students wishing to apply for courses at another CUNY campus may apply to do so by registering for an E-permit through the CUNY portal at www.cuny.edu. At the CUNY portal home page, you must log in to begin the process. Students wishing to register for courses at non-CUNY institutions must complete a permit form to attend another college. The form is available in the Records Division of the Office of the Registrar, 223 Hunter North Building (at the 68th Street campus).

In all cases, permits are authorized by the appropriate department and administered by the Office of the Registrar.

It is the responsibility of students who study at other institutions to have official transcripts of their work sent to the Office of the Registrar as soon as grades are posted. Effective fall 2004, grades for courses taken on permit at CUNY schools are posted to the student's record and are computed in the GPA. All permit credits must be posted to student's Hunter transcripts prior to graduation.

Note: Hunter students are advised not to take courses on permit during their final semester prior to graduation.

HR 20000 - Introduction to Human Rights: History, Discourse, Practice (W)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D
GER
3/B

An introduction to the study of human rights. It explores the historical, philosophical, and legal roots of human rights as a political idea and institutionalized practice. It also addressed the contested nature of human rights as an idea and practice in contemporary societies. In addition to providing an introduction to the subject, the course is a requirement for students minoring in Human Rights or pursuing a Human Rights Certificate.

In order to pursue a Human Rights minor or Certificate, a student must receive at least a B (3.0) in this course. Students should take this introductory course in their sophomore year but must take it no later than the first semester of their junior year. This is a writing intensive course.

prereq: ENGL 12000 or equivalent; one course in ethics, political philosophy, political theory, sociological theory, or permission from the instructors.

3 hrs

3 cr.

fall and spring

HR 25000 - Human Rights Internship

This is a practicum course. It involves students participating in an organization that identifies its mission as the promotion of human rights. The aim of the course is to educate students in the practical dimension of translating human rights discourse and law into practice. The course is required for students seeking a Human Rights Certificate or a minor in Human Rights.

prereq: ENGL 12000 or equivalent; HR 20000 or equivalent

3 hrs

3 cr.

HR 26000 - Human Rights Internship Seminar (W)

This course critically evaluates the role of human rights organizations and human rights practices in determining the meaning and value of human rights.

prereq or coreq: HR 25000

3 hrs

3 cr.

Offered spring 2012; not offered fall 2011

HR 35000 - Human Rights Capstone Seminar (W)

This course involves the theoretical examination of constitutive problems in the discourse and practice of human rights, especially as they would inform the composition of a human rights academic research project. It requires participating students to present their research projects in the seminar and to compose a 20-25 page research paper on a human rights topic.

This course is specifically designed for students who are pursuing a Certificate in Human Rights. This is a writing intensive course.

prereq or coreq: HR 26000

Offered spring 2012; not offered fall 2011

Courses in Nursing

Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing

About the School
Nursing education began at Hunter in 1943, when courses for registered nurses were added to its curriculum. In 1955, a four-year collegiate program that was a pioneer for its time — the Hunter College Program in Nursing — was launched. When the Bellevue School of Nursing closed in 1969, Hunter absorbed it to create the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing, now located at the college's Brookdale Health Science Center at 425 East 25th Street in Manhattan, near Bellevue Hospital.

The Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing is one of the largest and most prestigious nursing schools in the country. The school's programs combine liberal and professional education with a humanistic and comprehensive approach to health care.

Programs

The School of Nursing offers four programs leading to the Bachelor of Science (nursing) degree: the Generic Program, for those students who do not have an RN license; the RN RN to BS Program, for those students who have completed a nursing program and have received or are about to receive a current RN license to practice professional nursing in New York State; the joint/dual degree program with Queensborough Community College see: http://www.qcc.cuny.edu/nursing/dualJoint-hunterBellevue.html; and the Accelerated 2nd Degree Program, for those students who have already achieved a baccalaureate degree in another field of study and wish to transition into a nursing profession. Information on applying to all of our programs is available on our website at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/nursing.

In earning the bachelor of science (nursing) degree, students in all programs complete lower division (liberal arts and general education) and upper division (professional education) curriculum requirements. See Program pages below for specific program requirements.

Programs and Courses

Programs and Courses in Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing

Admission Requirements (all Programs)

Students are considered for admission to the Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program for the fall semester only. Students are considered for admission to the generic program in the spring semester of their freshman year, after completing pre-requisite course work and an application to the School of Nursing. RN to BS students are admitted for the fall semester. An overall college GPA of 3.0 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application. Admission to the School of Nursing is competitive. A minimum grade of "C" must be maintained for all required science, mathematics, and nursing courses. Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program students must attend during the day on a full-time basis. Only matriculated Hunter College students can apply to the Generic Program. RN Program students may attend during the day or evening (depending on scheduling of courses) on a full- or a part-time basis.

Students are admitted to the dual-degree HBSON-Queensborough Community College (QCC) program after completing their first semester of study at QCC with a grade of B or better in Nu 101 and a GPA of 3.0 or better.

Licensing and Accreditation

The Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing baccalaureate, Master's and Doctor of Nursing Practice programs are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE). Hunter-Bellevue graduates are prepared to give first-level professional nursing care in all areas of nursing practice. Graduates from the Generic and Accelerated 2nd Degree Programs are eligible to take the National Council Licensing Examination for Registered Nurses. The program also provides a foundation for graduate study which is also offered at the School of Nursing.

NURS 21000 - Nursing Fundamentals and Health Assessment

This course is designed to provide students with the tools required to perform a comprehensive physical assessment and review of a client’s history. The course will also introduce students to the nursing process, principles of infection control, and safety promotion. Students will learn inspection, auscultation, palpation, and percussion techniques. Emphasis is placed upon assessment of the well person with common health problems. Health promotion and maintenance strategies are highlighted for all age groups.

NURS 22000 - Adult Health and Illness

This class provides a knowledge base for effective nursing care of adult clients. Students will gain insight into the management of chronic illnesses. Through utilization of the nursing process, the student's role as client advocate, patient educator, and caregiver are further actualized. Methods of systematic analysis of research are introduced. Experimental learning in a variety of settings provide an opportunity for the student to promote, maintain and/or restore an optimum level of wellness in adult clients and families in collaboration with other members of the health team.

About the Program

The Program in Public Policy is an 18-credit undergraduate minor open to students in all disciplines. Students also have an option to pursue 9 additional credits (for a total of 27 credits) to receive a Certificate in Public Policy upon graduation. The Roosevelt House program is based on the understanding that the preparation of informed citizens is essential to a healthy democracy and an important aspect of a liberal arts education. Unlike most graduate programs in public policy that are designed to prepare people for careers in the public and nonprofit sectors, the undergraduate program at Roosevelt House provides students with knowledge and skills that enable them to be active participants in a democratic society. Many of its graduates will undoubtedly go on to careers in the public and nonprofit sectors. Capable citizenship, however, is required in all walks of life; therefore the program can benefit all students regardless of their stated major, career goals, or personal objectives. To enroll in the public policy minor (18 credits) or certificate (27 credits), a student must have completed at least 45 credits of undergraduate study, with a minimum G.P.A. of 3.0.

Substantive Policy Specialization

For the Public Policy Certificate each student will take the 6 core courses (18 credits) and will be required to declare a substantive area of specialization comprised of 3 courses (9 credits) of additional course work. These may be grounded in a particular discipline or disciplines. Or a student may use the substantive specialization to take advantage of clusters of expertise that exist across several Hunter departments. Examples of the latter include (but are not limited to) immigration, health, aging, gender studies, macroeconomics, public finance, economic development, race and ethnicity, public law, human rights, ethics, international relations, international trade, education, urban affairs, environmental studies, employment, and social services. Courses designated for the substantive specialization need approval by the faculty advisor.

Additional Opportunities

Hunter College offers other unique opportunities to its students. These options are designed to enrich the student experience in policy curriculum.

Generic Policy Courses

Advanced courses which build on the knowledge and skills acquired in the core courses and are applicable to students in a wide range of substantive specializations.

Internships

Undergraduate internship programs currently exist in a number of academic departments which are designed to give students a chance to work in a policy-related institutional setting outside the university, either in a government agency, nonprofit, think tank, or advocacy group. Some carry compensation, others are voluntary.

Policy Colloquia

A colloquium series will be launched at Roosevelt House that will allow students and faculty to come together several times a semester to discuss public policy issues. Guest speakers, including scholars and practitioners, with relevant expertise will be invited to discuss topics of the day either individually or in panels.

Courses in Thomas Hunter Honors Program

Thomas Hunter Honors Program

The interdisciplinary Thomas Hunter Honors Program provides some outstanding undergraduate students with a course of study suited to their individual needs and interests. Students selected for the Thomas Hunter Honors Program must show evidence of high academic potential, interdisciplinary interests and intellectual curiosity, as well as the willingness to explore unfamiliar fields and to accept challenges.

Students may apply for admission to the program on their own or they may be invited to participate in recognition of their outstanding academic records. Many graduates of the Thomas Hunter Honors Program go on to PhD programs in the various arts and sciences, or to law, medical and other professional schools. Others choose careers in a wide variety of professional, artistic and business fields.

College Requirements

The Thomas Hunter Honors Program requires that students maintain breadth in their programs, create a significant pattern of courses in at least two academic areas of investigation (Humanities and Arts, Social Sciences, Sciences and Mathematics), including at least one laboratory science course. All programs must be approved every semester by a Council adviser.
Students must also fulfill the following graduation requirements: ENGL 120; Pluralism and Diversity; and, for those entering Hunter in fall 2001 or later, the Foreign Language Requirement. Note that all colloquia in the 200 or 300 series are “W” courses.

Major

Students in the Thomas Hunter Honors Program who wish to design an interdisciplinary major for themselves may do so in consultation with the appropriate Council adviser. The final transcript of such students designates the major as “Special Honors Curriculum.” Most students in the Thomas Hunter Honors Program, however, elect to fulfill the requirements for one or more specific departmental majors. These students abide by departmental criteria for the major, and are expected to pursue departmental honors in their major. Their final transcript records the major as Special Honors Curriculum/Specific Department. Whatever their major concentration, all students in the Program must also successfully complete three special interdisciplinary honors colloquia (see further on) and maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or better until their final certification into the Program. Certification usually occurs in the student’s junior year, when the Council, ruling on each case individually, decides that the student’s continuing academic distinction, commitment to interdisciplinary work, and promise of future productivity warrant permanent membership in the Thomas Hunter Honors Program.
Thomas Hunter Honors Program students meet regularly in 200-level and 300-level colloquia, led by members of the Council on Honors and by other invited members of the faculty. Students take a minimum of three colloquia, one of which must be at the 200-level, and one of which must be at the 300-level. While the specific content of these courses varies from semester to semester, the underlying principles remain the same.

The 200-level colloquium is taught by one professor, often a member of the Council on Honors, who studies a specific theme using the materials and methodologies of at least two disciplines. Students may take more than one of these colloquia if they so desire, but at least one must be taken during their first year in the Program. The 300-level honors colloquia are special seminars, usually conducted by two professors, devoted to topics lending themselves to broad interdisciplinary investigation.

The colloquia offer breadth of exposure, but, even more importantly, they seek to demonstrate how knowledge gained from a variety of disciplines can be related and integrated in an effort to understand complex processes and phenomena. In all colloquia, students write at least one major paper, in which they apply the methodology of the course to material of particular interest to them.

Upon completion of 90 credits, Thomas Hunter Honors students may also be admitted by the Council to Advanced Interdisciplinary Studies, with the opportunity of engaging in advanced independent study under the Council’s supervision. A thesis or other appropriate report of the results of the student’s research is presented to the Council.

Credit/ No Credit Policy

Credit/No Credit A system based on the non-letter grades of Credit/No Credit, where Credit is the equivalent of A, B or C and No Credit is the equivalent of D or F. Credit/No Credit grades are not averaged into the GPA; course requirements are the same as in the traditional grading system.

ALERT/NOTE: OTHER COLLEGES, GRADUATE SCHOOLS, PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS, SERVICES AND EMPLOYERS MAY LOOK WITH DISFAVOR UPON THE USE OF THE CREDIT/NO CREDIT GRADING OPTION AND MAY EVEN CONVERT CREDIT TO C AND NO CREDIT TO F FOR THEIR PURPOSES.

ALERT/NOTE: ELIGIBILITY FOR SOME FINANCIAL AID GRANTS MAY BE AFFECTED BY THE CHOICE OF CREDIT/NO CREDIT GRADES. THIS MUST BE CHECKED BY STUDENTS BEFORE THE OPTION OF CREDIT/NO CREDIT GRADES IS TAKEN.

There are certain restrictions about how and when the student may choose the Credit/No Credit system:

1. A maximum of four courses (including repeated courses) at Hunter College may be taken on a Credit/No Credit basis excluding remedial/developmental courses and any courses with mandatory CR/NC grading.

2. Credit/No Credit grades are not allowed for students on probation.

3. When a student chooses the Credit/No Credit option and earns a D as the final grade, the student may choose to receive either the D or a grade of No Credit.

4. If (as a result of a student's request) a Credit/No Credit is given where it is not an allowed grade according to existing regulations, it will be converted to a letter grade by the Registrar's Office, Room 217 Hunter North. Credit grades will be changed to C; No Credit grades will be changed to F.

5. With approval of the Senate, departments may prohibit the use of Credit/No Credit grades in major courses, especially in those areas in which outside certification is required. Credit/No Credit grades are not permitted in education, nursing, pre-engineering, premedical, health sciences, nutrition and food science and prelaw. All students should check with their departmental advisers for specific policies.

The Credit/No Credit system may be elected by students up until the beginning of the final exam (or the due date for handing in the last term paper, if there is no final exam). Credit/No Credit forms are available on the Office of the Registrar web page at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/onestop. Full instructions are included on the form. Credit/No Credit is an agreement between a student and the student's instructor or professor. When departmental policies allow, request forms must be accepted by the instructor. Students requesting grading according to this system must satisfy whatever attendance requirement has been set by the instructor, complete all the assignments and take the final examination. It should be noted that the grade of No Credit shall be used only to replace the academic grades of D and F. It shall not be used to replace the grades of WU or IN. A No Credit grade may not override the FIN grade.

CUNY POLICY ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic Dishonesty is prohibited in The City University of New York and is punishable by penalties, including failing grades, suspension, and expulsion, as provided herein.

I. Definitions and Examples of Academic Dishonesty

Cheating is the unauthorized use or attempted use of material, information, notes, study aids, devices or communication during an academic exercise.
The following are some examples of cheating, but by no means is it an exhaustive list.:
- Copying from another student during an examination or allowing another to copy your work.
- Unauthorized collaboration on a take home assignment or examination.
- Using notes during a closed book examination.
- Taking an examination for another student, or asking or allowing another student to take an examination for you.
- Changing a graded exam and returning it for more credit.
- Submitting substantial portions of the same paper to more than one course without consulting with each instructor.
- Preparing answers or writing notes in a blue book (exam booklet) before an examination.
- Allowing others to research and write assigned papers or do assigned projects, including use of commercial term paper services.
- Giving assistance to acts of academic misconduct/ dishonesty.
- Fabricating data (all or in part).
• Submitting someone else's work as your own.
• Unauthorized use during an examination of any electronic devices such as cell phones, palm pilots, computers or other technologies to retrieve or send information.

Plagiarism is the act of presenting another person's ideas, research or writings as your own. The following are some examples of plagiarism, but by no means is it an exhaustive list:
• Copying another person's actual words without the use of quotation marks and footnotes attributing the words to their source.
• Presenting another person's ideas or theories in your own words without acknowledging the source.
• Using information that is not common knowledge without acknowledging the source.
• Failing to acknowledge collaborators on homework and laboratory assignments.

Internet plagiarism includes submitting downloaded term papers or parts of term papers, paraphrasing or copying information from the internet without citing the source, and "cutting & pasting" from various sources without proper attribution.

Obtaining Unfair Advantage is any activity that intentionally or unintentionally gives a student an unfair advantage in his/her academic work over another student. The following are some examples of obtaining an unfair advantage, but by no means it is an exhaustive list:
• Stealing, reproducing, circulating or otherwise gaining advance access to examination materials.
• Depriving other students of access to library materials by stealing, destroying, defacing, or concealing them.
• Retaining, using or circulating examination materials which clearly indicate that they should be returned at the end of the exam.
• Intentionally obstructing or interfering with another student's work.

Falsification of Records and Official Documents

The following are some examples of falsification, but by no means is it an exhaustive list:
• Forging signatures of authorization.
• Falsifying information on an official academic record.
• Falsifying information on an official document such as a grade report, letter of permission, drop/add form, ID card or other college document.

Adapted with permission from Baruch College: A Faculty Guide to Student Academic Integrity. The Baruch College document includes excerpts from University of California's web page entitled "The Academic Dishonesty Question: A Guide to an Answer through Education, Prevention, Adjudication and Obligation" by Prof. Harry Nelson.

II. METHODS FOR PROMOTING ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

• Orientation sessions for all new faculty (full and part-time) and students should incorporate a discussion of academic integrity. Packets containing information explaining the policy, the procedures that are in place, and examples of infractions should be distributed. These packets should be readily available, throughout the academic year, in the appropriate offices of the college and the locations of those offices should be widely publicized.

Colleges using additional resources to detect plagiarism should publicize these resources widely.
• All college catalogs, student handbooks, and college websites should include the CUNY and college academic integrity policy and the consequences of not adhering to it. The Policy on Academic Integrity, as adopted by the Board, shall be distributed to all students. All syllabi and schedules of classes should make reference to the CUNY and college's academic integrity policy and where they are published in full.

• A "Faculty Report" form should be used throughout the University to report incidents of suspected academic dishonesty. (Sample attached) It is strongly recommended that the faculty member should report all such incidents by completing and submitting the form to the chief student affairs officer, the Academic Integrity Committee if the college has established one (see recommendation below), or other appropriate academic integrity official whom the college may designate (collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Academic Integrity Official"). A follow-up form should be submitted to the student's academic integrity file by the adjudicating person or body once the suspected incident has been resolved pursuant to one of the methods described below. Although forms need not be uniform across the university, they need to be uniform within each college. The form should provide at least minimal information such as the name of the instructor and student, course name and number, date of incident, explanation of incident and the instructor's telephone/email contact information; it should be easy to use and process. Except as otherwise provided in the The CUNY Procedures, the Academic Integrity Official of each college should retain the forms for the purposes of identifying repeat offenders, gathering data, and assessing and reviewing policies.

• CUNY will develop a website on Academic Integrity. This website will include suggestions for faculty, students and administrators to reduce cheating or plagiarism, resources on academic integrity and links to relevant sites. Future plans also include the development of an online training program to raise awareness about academic integrity.

• The Committee recommends that this CUNY Policy on Academic Integrity, dated Spring 2004, be adopted by the Board of Trustees.

• Colleges should adopt the "PEN" (Pending) grade to facilitate the implementation of the Procedures for Imposition of Sanctions. This grade already exists in the university's Glossary of Grades.

• Colleges may wish to consider issuing a Student Guide to Academic Integrity. An excellent example is a document that students at Baruch College developed called "Student Guide to Academic Integrity at Baruch College". The Guide is in its final stages of approval.

• Each college should consider joining the Center for Academic Integrity.

• Colleges should consider subscribing to an electronic plagiarism detection service. Any college that does subscribe must notify every student each semester of the fact that such a service is available for use by the faculty.

• Colleges should consider establishing an Academic Integrity Committee, to serve in lieu of grade appeals committees in cases of academic dishonesty, which would hear and decide contested grade reductions that faculty members award because of students' violations of the Academic Integrity Policy and collect and maintain files of Faculty Report forms of suspected and adjudicated violations of the Academic Integrity Policy.

• Establish a mechanism for preventing students from dropping a class in order to avoid an investigation and/or imposition of a sanction for a violation of academic integrity.

III. PROCEDURES FOR IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR VIOLATIONS OF CUNY POLICY ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

A. Introduction

As a legal matter, in disciplining students for violations of policies of academic integrity,
CUNY, as a public institution, must conform to the principles of due process mandated by the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution -- generally speaking, to provide notice of the charges and some opportunity to be heard. In the context of court-litigated violations, questions as to how much and what kind of process was "due" turn on the courts' judgment whether the decision on culpability was "disciplinary" (a question of fact) or "academic" (a question of the instructor's expert judgment). This distinction has proved difficult to apply on campus. Accordingly, these procedures provide for alternative approaches depending on the severity of the sanction(s) being sought. If the instructor desires solely an "academic" sanction, that is, a grade reduction, less process is due than if a "disciplinary" sanction, such as suspension or expulsion, is sought.

A faculty member who suspects that a student has committed a violation of the CUNY or the college Academic Integrity Policy shall review with the student the facts and circumstances of the suspected violation whenever possible. The decision whether to seek an academic sanction only, rather than a disciplinary sanction or both types of sanctions, will rest with the faculty member in the first instance, but the college retains the right to bring disciplinary charges against the student. Among the factors the college should consider in determining whether to seek a disciplinary sanction are whether the student has committed one or more prior violations of the Academic Integrity Policy and mitigating circumstances if any. It is strongly recommended that every instance of suspected violation should be reported to the Academic Integrity Official on a form provided by the college as described in the third Recommendation for Promoting Academic Integrity, above. Among other things, this reporting will allow the college to determine whether it wishes to seek a disciplinary sanction even where the instructor may not wish to do so.

B. Procedures In Cases Where The Instructor Seeks An Academic Sanction Only

1. Student Accepts Guilt And Does Not Contest The Academic Sanction
   If the faculty member wishes to seek only an academic sanction (i.e., a reduced grade1 only), and the student does not contest either his/her guilt or the particular reduced grade the faculty member has chosen, then the student shall be given the reduced grade, unless the college decides to seek a disciplinary sanction, see Section I above and IV below. The reduced grade may apply to the particular assignment as to which the violation occurred or to the course grade, at the faculty member's discretion.

2. Student Denies Guilt And/Or Contests The Academic Sanction
   If the student denies guilt or contests the particular grade awarded by the faculty member, then the matter shall be handled using the college's grade appeals process, including departmental grading committees where applicable, or the Academic Integrity Committee. In either case, the process must, at a minimum, provide the student with an opportunity to be heard and to present evidence.

C. Procedures In Cases Where A Disciplinary Sanction Is Sought

1. A reduced grade can be an "F," a "D-," or another grade that is lower than the grade that would have been given but for the violation.
   If a faculty member suspects a violation and seeks a disciplinary sanction, the faculty member shall refer the matter to the college's Academic Integrity Official using the Faculty Report form, as described in the third Recommendation for Promoting Academic Integrity above, to be adjudicated by the college's Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee under Article 15 of the CUNY Bylaws. As provided for therein, the Faculty-Student Disciplinary may, among other things, investigate, conciliate, or hear evidence on cases in which disciplinary charges are brought. Under certain circumstances, college officials other than the Academic Integrity Official may seek disciplinary sanctions following the procedures outlined above. For the reasons discussed in Item IV below, if a reduced grade is also at issue, then that grade should be held in abeyance, pending the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee's action.

D. Procedures In Cases In Which Both A Disciplinary And An Academic Sanction Are Sought

If a faculty member or the college seeks to have both a disciplinary and an academic sanction imposed, it is not advisable to proceed on both fronts simultaneously lest inconsistent results ensue. Thus, it is best to begin with the disciplinary proceeding seeking imposition of a disciplinary sanction and await its outcome before addressing the academic sanction. If the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee finds that the alleged violation occurred, then the faculty member may reflect that finding in the student's grade. If the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee finds that the alleged violation did not occur, then no sanction of any kind may be imposed. The decision whether to pursue both types of sanctions will ordinarily rest with the faculty member.

E. Reporting Requirements

1. By The Faculty Member To The Academic Integrity Official

In cases where a violation of academic integrity has been found to have occurred (whether by admission or a fact-finding process), the faculty member should promptly file with the Academic Integrity Official a report of the adjudication in writing on a Faculty Report form (see sample attached) provided by the college as described above. The Academic Integrity Official shall maintain a confidential file for each student about whom a suspected or adjudicated violation is reported. If either the grade appeals process or the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee finds that no violation occurred, the Academic Integrity Official shall remove and destroy all material relating to that incident from the student's confidential academic integrity file. Before determining what sanction(s) to seek, the faculty member or the Academic Integrity Official may consult the student's confidential academic integrity file, if any, to determine whether the student has been found to have previously committed a violation of the Academic Integrity Policy, the nature of the infraction, and the sanction imposed or action taken.

2. By the Academic Integrity Official To the Faculty Member

Where a matter proceeds to the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee, the Academic Integrity Official shall promptly report its resolution to the faculty member and file a record of the resolution in the student's confidential academic integrity file, unless, as indicated above, the suspected violation was held to be unfounded, in which case all reporting forms concerning that suspected violation shall be destroyed.

Public Safety and Emergencies

In order to provide a safe and secure environment, the Hunter College campuses are monitored 24 hours a day by members of the Department of Public Safety. Public Safety personnel are available to provide assistance with public safety, security and health emergencies at all times. In the event of an emergency, Public Safety can be reached in the following manner:

Emergencies: Located throughout the main campus and Brookdale are silver wall mounted boxes marked "Emergency." These boxes are known as "Talk Alerts" and pushing the call button on the box will connect you directly to the public safety desk. You may also dial 4444 from any interior campus telephone, or dial (212) 772-4444 from your cellular telephone.

Please remember to please state your emergency and your location on campus. Below are emergency and non-emergency phone numbers for specific campus sites. Note: The new Lois V. and Samuel Silberman School of Social Work/CUNY School of Public Health at Hunter College building is located at 2180 Third Avenue New York, N.Y. The MFA building is at 205 Hudson Street New York NY 10013.

Disclaimers and Statement of Rights

Return to General Information

Notice of Possible Changes

The Board of Trustees of The City University of New York reserves the right to make changes of any nature in the academic programs and requirements of The City University of New York and its constituent colleges. All programs, requirements, and courses are subject to termination or change without advance notice. Tuition and fees set forth in this publication are similarly subject to change by the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York.

The course descriptions in this catalog summarize the full, official descriptions authorized by the Hunter College Senate. Full descriptions are available in the appropriate school and department offices. Hunter College reserves the right to change rules, policies, fees, and curricula without advance notice.

STATEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION Hunter College is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Institution. The college does not discriminate on the basis of age, sex, sexual orientation, transgender, religion, race, color, alienage, citizenship status, national or ethnic origin, physical or mental disability, genetic predisposition or carrier status, veteran or marital status in its student admissions, employment, access to programs, and administration of educational policies.

Dean John T. Rose is the college officer responsible for affirmative action matters. He is also the coordinator for Title IX, which prohibits sex discrimination in federally assisted education programs. His office is located in the Office of the President, 1706 Hunter East, (212) 772-4242.

Professor Tamara Green is the college Section 504 Coordinator for the Handicapped. Her office is located in 1425A Hunter West, (212) 772-5061.

Freedom of Information Law

Request to inspect public records at the college should be made to the Records Access Officer, Gail Aidinoff Scovell, Special Counsel to the President, who is located at the Hunter College Legal Office, 695 Park Avenue, 1705 Hunter East, (212) 772-4220. Public records are available for inspection and copying by appointment only at a location to be designated. You have a right to appeal a denial of a request for access to records to the CUNY Senior Vice Chancellor for Legal Affairs and General Counsel. Copies of the CUNY Procedures for Public Access to Public Records Pursuant to Article 6 of the Public Officers Law and the appeal form are available at the reference desk of the library and on the college website.

Dismissal from the College and the City University
Students who fail to achieve the required academic standards will be placed on academic probation. Students who fail to achieve the required academic standards while on probation will be dismissed from Hunter College and the CUNY system.

Students may appeal an academic dismissal and should discuss the preparation of such an appeal with an academic adviser in the Office of Advising Services, Room 1119 Hunter East. The Senate Committee on Student Standing reviews all appeals and makes the final determinations.

Tuition and fees will be refunded to a student who is dismissed for failure to meet the required academic standards after having registered.

Students who withdraw from the college when their GPA is below the required academic standards will be automatically dismissed from the university. Students who have been dismissed or who have withdrawn when their GPA is below required academic standards may not be readmitted until they have been separated from the university system for at least one fall or spring semester. Students who wish to apply for readmission after separation of one or more semesters must file an application at the Office of Admissions, Room 203 Hunter North. Applications must be filed at least three months prior to the beginning of the semester in which the student plans to re-enter.

Until such time as they are eligible to apply for readmission, students who are separated from the university may not enroll for credit-bearing courses in any unit of the university in any status.

Drug-Free Schools and Campuses, Public Law 101-226

Hunter College is in compliance with the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989 (Public Law 101-226).

The New York State minimum drinking age (21 years) is observed at all campus functions. Proof of age is required to consume alcoholic beverages and no individual appearing to be under the influence of alcohol will be served.

All Hunter College organizations sponsoring events must, in advance of the event, agree to the following conditions:

1. No person shall sell or provide an alcoholic beverage to a person under the age of 21. Where documentation of age is unavailable or not reasonably certain, the law requires denial of an alcoholic beverage to that person.
2. No person shall sell or provide an alcoholic beverage to a person actually or apparently under the influence of alcohol.
3. No person shall sell or provide an alcoholic beverage to a person known to be a habitual excessive drinker.
4. All advertising, promotion, publicity, invitations, etc. stating the availability of alcoholic beverages at an event, must include the following statement:

The unlawful possession, use or distribution of drugs is prohibited on the campus. Violators will be subject to penalties ranging from reprimand and warning for a first infraction, to separation from the college for a subsequent offense.

Legal sanctions against students alleged to be in violation of Public Law 101-226 will be determined according to Article 15 Section 3 of the CUNY Board of Trustees Bylaws. Sanctions for members of the instructional staff and non-instructional staff will be governed by Article VII of the CUNY Board of Trustees Bylaws and Article XIV, respectively.

Economics Department Description

One way to define the scope of economics is to say that it is the social science that deals with how best to use scarce resources to satisfy unlimited human needs and wants. While economists do not claim to have the answer to what humans should want, they do have something to say about how to get it. Economics is more about how to think than what to think.

Economics students become problem solvers. They learn to analyze a situation, figure out what is important and determine what can be abstracted away. The economics curriculum stresses the development of general problem-solving skills: finding, gathering and interpreting information; predicting the consequences of decisions; evaluating alternative courses of action; and analyzing the management of resources in both the public and private sectors. At the same time, economics students learn about the institutions and rules that shape daily life — the monetary system, the stock and bond markets and the regulatory system that mandates warning labels on cigarette packs and seat belts in automobiles.

Many professional economists enter government at the federal, state, or local level, either in research or policy-making positions. Some are employed by businesses, financial institutions, labor unions, trade associations and consulting firms. Still others are involved in teaching and research in colleges and universities. While an undergraduate major in economics does not lead directly to professional accreditation, it provides students with a point of view and a set of skills that will be useful in almost any path taken after the completion of the major. A major in economics is especially valuable for those who plan careers in finance, management, law, journalism, or public policy.

Accountants specialize in measuring, reporting and interpreting the financial aspects of business, governments and institutional activities. Accounting provides the information necessary to determine and evaluate both present and projected economic activities of organizations. Professional accountants develop and apply their skills in auditing, taxation, management policy, information systems, computer operations and many other areas.

Nearly half of all accounting graduates are employed by public accounting firms. The remainder join private firms, engage in research and consulting, practice in the government sector, or continue their education on the graduate level.

Financial Aid

The Office of Financial Aid helps matriculated undergraduate students to gain access to funds in order to pay for their educational expenses at Hunter College. Federal and state aid funds are available to help pay for these expenses.

- Application Procedure
- Financial Need
- The Cost of Education
- Student Eligibility
- New York State Financial Aid Programs
- New York City Programs

Financial Need

All funds from federal financial aid programs administered by the Office of Financial Aid are awarded on the basis of financial need, with the exception of the Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan and the Federal Direct PLUS (Parent) Loan.

When the student applies for federal student aid, the information that is reported on the FAFSA is used in a formula, established by the U. S. Dept. of Education and approved by the U.S. Congress, that calculates the Expected Family Contribution (EFC), the amount that the student and the student’s family are expected to contribute toward the student’s education.

There is not a maximum EFC that defines eligibility for the other financial aid programs. Instead, the EFC is used in an equation to determine financial need:

\text{Cost of Attendance} - \text{Expected Family Contribution (EFC)} = \text{Financial Need}
\]

The Financial Aid Office subtracts the Expected Family Contribution (EFC) from the Cost of Attendance. The remainder is the student’s financial need. In determining the student’s need for aid from the federal financial aid programs, the Financial Aid Office must first consider other aid the student is expected to receive.

Fire Safety Plan

Return to Public Safety, College Regulations and Policies

No person should ever use an elevator in a fire unless so directed by Fire Department personnel. Using an elevator in a fire is extremely dangerous. The college has been informed by the Fire Department that the use of elevators in a fire has, in many cases, resulted in many unfortunate and unnecessary deaths.

The New York City Fire Department has informed Hunter College that the Fire Department has the primary responsibility to determine if elevators can be used to transport disabled persons during fire emergencies. Fire Department officials also state that they are responsible for relocating disabled persons to a safe location if such relocation is necessary.

The New York City Fire Department considers transporting disabled persons in an emergency a highly risky procedure. The relocation process may subject disabled persons and other persons to accidents and injuries. However, if it is necessary to relocate disabled persons during an emergency, the Fire Department will handle the relocation of disabled persons, using safe procedures and experienced Fire Department personnel.

If elevators can be used during a fire alarm the Fire Department considers use of the elevators to be the best method of relocation because it is practical, safe and efficient. This explains the Fire Department’s position of advocating emergency assembly areas for disabled persons. (The Fire Department often refers to this type of assembly area as a refuge area.)

When there is a report of a fire alarm in the building (note: The alarm may be a false alarm or the fire may be in a small section of the building) if disabled persons are not in any danger from the fire or its smoke, the Fire Department does not automatically recommend the relocation of disabled persons. In most cases, the Fire Department would not recommend that such persons be removed from the building. Instead, the Fire Department would recommend that such persons be moved to a safe location within the building.

Note: It is extremely important that the Hunter College community understand the procedure of the New York City Fire Department for evacuating a building that is experiencing a fire. Everyone in the building should not automatically be evacuated to the street. Nor should everyone be relocated within the building. This is the policy for ambulatory persons as well as non-ambulatory persons.

If you have any questions regarding the standards used to determine the need for evacuating the buildings, call the Director of Public Safety and Security at (212) 772-4521.

For Your Safety
The Hunter West Building is equipped with Fire Emergency notification devices. It is the responsibility of everyone to become familiar with their location and their use. These Fire Emergency notification devices consist of the following:

Fire Alarm

The Fire Alarm Pull Stations are small, red boxes. They are wall mounted and located next to a fire exit. Printed on these pull stations is PULL HERE IN CASE OF FIRE.

To activate the Fire Alarm Pull Station, follow these steps:

1. Pull down the RED lever on the Fire Alarm Pull Station box. This will cause the fire alarm to sound on the fire door and on the floor above. In addition, it will send a signal to the Fire Command Station. The Fire Safety Director at the Fire Command Station will carry out the fire emergency procedures. Make yourself familiar with them now, so that in an emergency you will know what to do.
2. During a fire alarm, Fire Wardens, Fire Searchers and Public Safety Officers have been directed to communicate the number, the location and the status of all disabled persons via Fire Warden phones to the Fire Command Station. The Fire Safety Director will notify members of the New York City Fire Department regarding the status of all disabled persons in the building as soon as the Fire Department arrives on campus.

Note: It is extremely important that the college community understand the protocol of the New York City Fire Department for evacuation of a building that is experiencing a fire. Everyone in the building should not automatically be evacuated to the outside, or, for that matter, be relocated within the building. This is the policy for ambulatory persons as well as non-ambulatory persons.

Instructions for Fire Reporting and Evacuation Procedure

A. If you see a fire, do the following:

1. Call the Fire Department (911), or
2. Call the Public Safety Emergency Number (Security) (212) 772-4444, or
3. Pull the fire alarm.
4. Then, follow the procedures below:

B. Procedures

1. Evacuate your area.
2. Close, but do not lock, doors.
3. Follow instructions transmitted over the public address system.
4. Proceed to evacuate the building through designated exits.
5. Evacuate to street if not directed otherwise over the public address system.
6. Before entering any stairwell, touch the door with the palm of your hand. If it is warm or hot, do not enter the stairwell. Proceed to the next stairwell.
7. When leaving the building keep your head turned to the center of the stairway.
9. It is dangerous to use elevators during an evacuation. Only use elevators when authorized to do so by fire emergency personnel.
10. When using the down escalators, make long and wide turns going from one escalator to the next escalator in order to prevent congestion.
11. When you are outside the building, move away from the entrance approximately 200 feet.
12. Wait for the all-clear signal before re-entering the building.

Fire Safety Plan for the Disabled

When there is a fire alarm in one of the college’s buildings disabled persons who are unable to walk down steps should assemble at one of the Disabled Persons Fire Emergency Assembly Areas (DPFEAA).

These areas are located on every floor of Hunter’s four buildings in the immediate vicinity of each building’s elevators. They are near the two stairwells closest to the elevators. The areas are identified by wall signs that identify the area as a Disabled Persons Fire Emergency Assembly Area.
During a fire alarm, fire wardens, fire searchers and security personnel have been directed to communicate the number, the location and the status of all disabled persons via Fire Warden Phones or through security personnel to Hunter College’s Fire Command Station. The public safety person at the Fire Command Station will notify members of the New York City Fire Department of the status of all disabled persons in the building as soon as the firefighters arrive on the campus.

When Public Safety Offices Will Relocate Disabled Persons if, for any reason, a disabled person is in imminent danger due to fire, smoke or similar circumstances on campus and members of the Fire Department are not present to relocate the disabled person, Public Safety Officers and other members of the College Fire Brigade will assume the responsibility of relocating that person to a safe location.

Public Safety Officers and members of the Fire Brigade operating under the direction of the Fire Safety Director will take command and make immediate arrangements to have the appropriate disabled person(s) moved to a safe location if necessary.

Note: The Public Safety Officer in charge of the evacuation process will determine the number of carriers needed to relocate a disabled person. Factors to be considered when making these assignments will be the weight of the disabled person, the weight of the wheelchair, the width of the staircase and any other factors that are deemed necessary to successfully carry out these functions without accidents.

This Fire Safety Plan for the Disabled is established to provide for the safety of the disabled members of the Hunter College community and disabled visitors to the college in the event of a fire or other life-threatening emergency. The plan will be implemented in any situation in which there may be a need to relocate disabled persons to a safe location.

The Fire Safety Plan for the Disabled identifies the New York City Fire Department as the agency having the primary responsibility for relocating any disabled person from an endangered floor to a safe location. However, if the Fire Department or other New York City emergency agency response is not exercised in a timely fashion and the situation requires immediate removal of disabled persons, Public Safety and Security Personnel will transport such individual or individuals to a safe location.

The Fire Safety Plan for the Disabled is a part of the Hunter College Fire Safety Plan. All faculty, staff and students are advised to read and be fully familiar with the entire Fire Safety Plan.

Orientation

1. Orientation to the Fire Safety Plan, including the relocation procedures, will be provided for disabled faculty, students and staff yearly under the auspices of the 504 Committee.
2. Orientation for new disabled students will be included in the orientation program for entering freshmen.
3. Instructions regarding the Fire Safety Plan and Relocation Procedures will be included in the regularly conducted fire drills.

Disabled Person Precautions

1. Remain calm. Your safety and the security of others depend on the absence of panic.
2. Before entering any stairwell, touch the door leading into the stairwell. If the door is warm or hot, do not open or enter the stairwell. Proceed to the next stairwell.
3. If you cannot reach a stairwell near an elevator and you are in an office or classroom and have access to a phone, call Security at 772-4444. Disabled persons and persons who are trapped are the only persons who should call Public Safety during a fire emergency.
4. If you are in an area with a door and cannot reach an exit near the elevators, seal the crack around the door with rags or clothing.
5. Public Safety and Security has a chart indicating all the special rooms in the library designed for use by the disabled. These rooms will be checked during a fire emergency.

What Emergency Personnel Will Do

1. The person who searches the floor will report your location to the fire command station. The fire command station will inform the Fire Department of your location.
2. If you are in need of relocation and the Fire Department is not available to relocate you, a member of the Public Safety and Security Department will relocate you to a safe location.
3. If necessary, you will be relocated to a safe floor or taken out of the building.

Locating Disabled Persons

1. Public Safety maintains class schedules for disabled students and work schedules for disabled faculty and staff. These schedules will be used to assist emergency personnel to locate disabled persons in an emergency.
2. Students are responsible for reporting their class schedules, their work schedules and schedule changes to the Coordinator for Disabled Student Services (Room 1100 Hunter East).
3. Disabled faculty and staff are responsible for reporting their work schedules and schedule changes to the director of personnel (Room 1502A Hunter East).

Special Instructions for the handling of Disabled Persons

Person Who Is Visually Impaired

A disabled person who is visually impaired and has to be relocated, but is able to walk downstairs, will be personally escorted to a safe location by a Public Safety Officer, a Fire Warden, a Fire Searcher, or a member of the college Fire Brigade.

Person Who Has a Hearing Impairment

A person who has a hearing impairment will be alerted to a fire alarm by a Public Safety Officer, a Fire Warden, a Fire Searcher, or a member of the College Fire Brigade. Those disabled persons will be escorted to a safe location if necessary.

Special Caution on Lifting and Carrying Disabled Persons

Before lifting any disabled person, carriers will, if possible, ask the disabled person how they should be lifted. Disabled persons know better than anyone else how they should be lifted or carried in order to avoid any unnecessary injuries to the disabled person.

Hunter North-Special Instructions

1. In Hunter North, go to the area near the Fire Tower. The entrance to the Fire Tower is located at the north end of the west corridor (the corridor parallel to Park Avenue).
2. Do not enter the Fire Tower stairwell unless the major portion of the college community has completed its descent.

Responsibility for Implementation

The director of the Department of Public Safety is responsible for the implementation of the Fire Safety Plan.

Distribution

The Fire Safety Plan for Disabled Persons will be distributed to all faculty, students and staff who have identified themselves as disabled. The Fire Safety Plan for the Disabled will be distributed with the Hunter College Fire Safety Plan.

If you have any questions regarding the various parameters used to evaluate the necessity of evacuation, please consult with the fire safety director at Ext. 4521.

Freshman Admission
Academic Preparation

The best preparation for success at Hunter College is a full program of college-preparatory courses. The college recommends four years of English, four years of social studies, three years of mathematics, two years of foreign language, two years of laboratory science and one year of performing or visual arts.

In addition to providing a strong foundation for college-level coursework, the program recommended above fulfills the 16 units of high school work in academic courses required for admission to a CUNY senior college under the College Preparatory Initiative (CPI). High school students should check with guidance counselors to determine which courses are considered to be academically within the English, mathematics, science, social science, foreign language and fine and performing arts curricula. Freshman admission to Hunter College is competitive. Applicants are considered for admission on the basis of the overall strength of their academic preparation, which includes SAT/ACT scores, high school academic average, the number of academic subjects and the distribution of those courses. A diploma from an accredited high school, an equivalency diploma or a United States Armed Forces diploma is also required for entrance to the college. Neither a high school certificate nor an IEP diploma is acceptable. For more information on how to prepare to apply to Hunter College, visit www.cuny.edu/prepare.

Advanced Placement and College-Level Courses

Students who have had an Advanced Placement (AP) course in secondary school and who pass the Advanced Placement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board with grades of 5 or 4 (high honors or honors) are in most cases exempt from taking a corresponding course or equivalent requirement at Hunter. Those who are similarly prepared but whose scores are 3 (creditable) may also be exempt from a corresponding course at Hunter, provided the appropriate Hunter department so recommends.

A maximum of 30 credits can be awarded by examination through the following programs; College Entrance Examination Board Advanced Placement (AP), College-level Examination Program (CLEP) and Regents College Examinations (RCE). Certain academic departments may have restrictions on the award of credits by examination. Check with the department and see the Office of Admissions Web site for additional information.

Students who have completed college-level coursework offered by an accredited senior or community college while in high school will receive credit for courses in which grades of C or better are earned. Official college transcripts must be submitted to the Office of Admissions for credit to be awarded.

General Education Requirements

Introduction

All undergraduate students who matriculated at Hunter College in fall 2001 through spring 2013 were required to fulfill the General Education Requirement (GER), a set of competencies, knowledge areas and perspectives that Hunter College considers essential to the intellectual development of its undergraduates. For students matriculating at Hunter College in fall of 2013 or later, the Hunter Core Requirement replaces the GER. Current Hunter students who started... before fall 2013 can "opt in" to the Hunter Core or continue with the GER. See www.hunter.cuny.edu/academics/hunter-core-requirement for further information specific to your status.

The General Education Requirement is composed of the Core Requirement, consisting of designated courses at various academic levels and three graduation requirements: the Writing Requirement, the Foreign Language Requirement and the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement. Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from a CUNY college and who matriculated in fall 2003 and after are exempt from the Core requirements of the GER, but must fulfill the three graduation requirements of Writing, Pluralism and Diversity and Foreign Language. Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from a CUNY college and who matriculated between fall 2001 and summer 2003 are exempt from the Core Requirement and the Writing Requirement. Evaluated transfer credits sometimes can be used to fulfill the GER requirements. All transfer students should carefully check their evaluated courses against the GER. Students transferring from a CUNY school without an AA or AS degree should seek an adviser to help determine which courses they may use to satisfy Core requirements. For overlaps and restrictions on these different requirements and their relation to major and minor requirements, see the section below on Regulations for Core Requirement.

Summary

The Core Requirement, composed of designated courses, is divided into three sequential Stages: 1-Academic Foundations; 2-Broad Exposure; and 3-Focused Exposure.

Stage 1 – Academic Foundations (Students should complete this stage within their first 30 credits.) The Academic Foundations Stage includes courses in mathematics, composition and history that provide students with the analytic, interpretive, communication and historical competencies and perspectives critical to academic success.

Stage 2 – Broad Exposure (Students should complete this stage within their first 45 credits.) The Broad Exposure Stage continues with courses in the social sciences, humanities, arts and natural sciences to introduce students to a broad range of disciplinary perspectives and areas of knowledge.

Stage 3 – Focused Exposure (Students should complete this stage within their first 60 credits.) This Stage requires students to select advanced courses outside their major (students with more than one major should see the Regulations for Core Requirement, below).

The Focused Exposure Stage includes courses in areas that the student has selected to study in greater depth, in the expectation that more advanced students should do more analysis and research.

Graduation Requirements:

Comprise the Writing Requirement, the Foreign Language Requirement and the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement.

1. Writing Requirement The Writing Requirement ensures that all students have significant writing experiences. It is recommended that students fulfill the Writing Requirement early in their academic career in order to prepare effectively for advanced coursework. Courses that can be taken to fulfill the Writing Requirement carry the designation "W" in this catalog. The maximum number of writing intensive, W-designated courses a student must take is 3 (see the section below on Writing Requirement). All W courses must be taken at Hunter. The W-designated courses (or specific sections thereof) are indicated in the Schedule of Classes each semester.

   Note: Not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W in the "Schedule of Classes" must be taken.

2. Foreign Language Requirement The goal of this requirement is to provide facility in a language other than English and to enable students to access non-English literatures. In learning a foreign language and studying its literature and cultures, students acquire new perspectives on how people think, view the world, express themselves and communicate with one another. Language learning expands one's ability to create and discover new meaning in one's own language and culture. An awareness of contrasting cultural concepts sensitizes students to the differences between their own culture and others — increasingly important, as the communities of the world have become so interconnected and interdependent. This is a graduation requirement. The requirement of four semesters of language courses or an equivalent combination of college and high school courses is fulfilled only if all four semesters are completed in the same language.

All BA, BFA and BMus students must fulfill a graduation requirement of intermediate (fourth semester) foreign language proficiency. It is recommended that students begin the first two semesters of foreign language proficiency within their first 30 credits at Hunter. Although intermediate foreign language proficiency is required only by the time a student graduates, gaps in language instruction are very undesirable and it is strongly recommended that students complete all their foreign language requirements in consecutive semesters. Students in BS programs should check the requirements for their specific program. Students who change from a BS to a BA program must meet the foreign language requirement for the BA degree.

3. Pluralism and Diversity Requirement This requirement is composed of designated courses in four groups (A, B, C, D). A course can satisfy only one of these four groups, though it may also satisfy a requirement in the Core and in the minor and major.

The General Education Requirement is composed of a Core Requirement and Graduation Requirements in: Writing, Foreign Language, and Pluralism & Diversity. Any number of courses from a major or minor may be used to satisfy the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement and the Writing Requirement.

Note: The list of courses satisfying the requirements is often updated. For the most recent list, please check the Registrar's Web site at: http://registrar.hunter.cuny.edu

Regulations for Core Requirement:

1. A course may be used to satisfy only one Core Requirement.

2. No more than two courses per department or program may be applied to satisfy Core requirements. Exceptions to this are courses in Stage 1: Academic Foundations.*

3. All courses satisfying Core, Stage 2 Groups A through D must be from different departments or programs.*

4. Students may apply up to two courses from their major to satisfy Stage 1 and Stage 2 of the Core; only one of these is permitted to fulfill a Stage 1 requirement, and only one a Stage 2 requirement.

*Note: Students who have declared two or more majors can use up to two courses from one of those majors to satisfy Stage 1 and Stage 2 of the Core. Only one of these is permitted to fulfill a Stage 1 requirement, and only one a Stage 2 requirement. Courses from minors and any additional majors can be used without limit to satisfy Stages 1, 2, and 3 of the Core.

5. All CUNY Macaulay Honors College (MHC) courses designated for the Core Requirement may be applied toward the Core Requirement.

Core Requirement

Stage 1: Academic Foundations

List of Approved Courses for GER Core Stage 1: Academic Foundations
This Stage involves basic academic skills needed for success in the liberal arts and sciences. Accordingly students should complete this Stage as early as possible, preferably within their first 30 credits at Hunter. Exemption may be granted on the basis of placement exams or other criteria as determined by the Hunter College Senate. Such exemptions do not yield credit unless they are based on the successful completion of college courses.

| A     | 3       | English Composition
This requirement introduces expository writing and academic discourse. Through reading, writing, and rewriting, students learn to generate, explore, and refine their own ideas, analyze and evaluate intellectual arguments, take positions and support them persuasively, and write with sound grammar, varied sentence structure, logic, and coherence. |
| B     | 3       | Quantitative Reasoning
The goal of this requirement is to develop competence in mathematical and quantitative reasoning, including the use of numerical and graphical data in making judgments on personal, professional, and public issues. Students who place out of MATH 125 are exempt from this requirement. |
| C     | 3       | US History
This requirement introduces portions of the history of the United States covering periods of time sufficiently long to reveal the historical dynamic and bring understanding of the historical contexts that have created our social and political institutions. It emphasizes the importance of the historical perspective and method, an understanding of how, where, and why change has occurred over time, and an awareness that the world we live in has been influenced by the past. | A     | 3       | Survey of Literature Written in English
This requirement is meant to increase students' understanding and appreciation of literature written in English. Courses emphasize close readings of representative texts chosen to familiarize student with various authors, periods, and genres - fiction, drama, and poetry - and to provide a firm foundation for further literary study. Written assignments include quizzes, papers, and a midterm and final exam. |
| B     | 6       | Social Science: People and their Societies
The goal of this requirement is to introduce students to the understanding of individual and collective human behavior. Students should be aware of the geographic, political, social, economic, historical, and psychological effects on the human environment. By studying human relations and the human experience students should learn the methodologies as well as the nature, scope, and limits of specific disciplines in the social sciences.

Humanities: Cultures and Ideas: Literature, Philosophy, Classics
This requirement is meant to introduce students to the human intellectual heritage, the wisdom, and the vision expected of well-educated members of the global human community. The study of texts, thoughts, cultures, and human values should nourish the mind and the spirit, inspiring an enduring love of learning. The humanities are strongly linked to other fields of higher education and are vital to the health of society.

Visual and Performing Arts: Media, Art, Dance, Film, Music, Theater
This requirement is meant to introduce students to significant works of the creative imagination, familiarize them with a medium of creative expression, and enable them to actively participate in individual aesthetic and creative experiences. Through critical analysis, research, and direct involvement in creative work in a particular medium, students should develop an appreciation of the interrelations of intellectual and emotional responses to the arts and letters.

Natural Science: Two courses are required, one of which must include a laboratory component. These may be in the same discipline.
The goal of this requirement is to introduce students to the concepts and ways of thinking of the natural sciences. The sciences have intrinsic intellectual value, pursuing basic questions about the workings of the universe and the world around us. Students should be conversant with the rapid pace of scientific advances and able to make informed decisions about scientific matters in the public domain.

Stage 3: Focused Exposure

List of Approved Courses for GER Core Stage 3: Focused Exposure

These courses are intended to give students the opportunity to study selected subjects outside their major department or program in greater depth than in Stage 2. Usually, these courses will be beyond the 100 level. Accordingly, it is strongly recommended that students take a first course in the same discipline. A student must take one course from Group A and one course from Group B in Stage 3.

Graduation Requirements

Writing Requirement
List of Approved Courses for the Writing Requirement

Students matriculating with fewer than 31 credits must take three courses in significant writing — "W" designated courses — at Hunter College. Transfer students matriculating with 31 to 59 credits must take at least two "W" designated courses at Hunter College. Transfer students matriculating with 60 to 90 credits must take at least one "W" designated course at Hunter College. (ENGL 120 does not count as "W" designated course.)

Note: Specific sections of courses containing significant writing are listed with a W designation in the Schedule of Classes. Please note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W must be taken.

Foreign Language Requirement

List of Courses for the Hunter Focus in Foreign Language

Hunter College currently offers the following programs to meet the foreign language requirement:

Chinese (CHIN), French (FREN), German (GRMN), Greek (GRK), Hebrew (HEBR), Italian (ITAL), Japanese (JPN), Latin (LAT), Polish (POL), Russian (RUSS), Spanish (SPAN), Swahili (SWA), Ukrainian (UKR), Yoruba (YOR).

Course of Study:

All students must demonstrate foreign language proficiency at the 12-credit level or its equivalent. In each language a required course sequence (12 credits) is offered: Elementary I and II (2 three-credit courses or 1 six-credit intensive course) and Intermediate I and II (2 three-credit courses or 1 six-credit intensive course). The Elementary three-credit courses are usually numbered 101 and 102 and the Intermediate three-credit courses are usually 201 and 202 (except that the Spanish for Native Speakers sequence is SPAN 105, 106, 207, and 208; intermediate Greek is GRK 110 and GRK 202 or 203; intermediate Latin is LAT 110 and LAT 201, 202, 203, or 204). The intensive six-credit courses are usually numbered 103 and 203 (except for: CHIN 107 and 207; GRK 107; and LAT 107). Intensive courses are not offered in all languages. The first semester of a four-course sequence will not be credited without successful completion of the second semester.

Exemption: Students may be exempted from part or all of the foreign language requirement by virtue of:

1. Successful completion of high school courses. Each year of language study completed in high school is equivalent to one semester (3 cr) of the same language in college. The requirement of 4 semesters of language courses or an equivalent combination of college and high school courses is fulfilled only if all 4 semesters are completed in the same language. Students who have completed 4 years of one foreign language in high school should apply for an exemption with the Coordinator of Academic Appeals; an official high school transcript is required. Students who have passed a language Advanced Placement Test of the College Board with a grade of 5, 4, or 3 should contact the Office of Admissions.

2. Passing at least one advanced college foreign language or literature course that has a 4th semester level prerequisite in that language.

3. Competency demonstrated through proficiency examinations. To arrange for an examination contact the appropriate department office; if the language in question is not taught at Hunter College contact the dean of the School of Arts & Sciences.

4. Presentation of foreign secondary school documentation. Students who have graduated from a high school outside the United States in which the language of instruction was other than English may be exempted from the foreign language requirement upon presentation of a high school or secondary (equivalent) transcript.
5. Presentation of foreign university documentation. Students who present appropriate evidence that they have completed one or more semesters of full-time study at a college or university outside of the United States in which the language of instruction was other than English may be exempted from the foreign language requirement. Native speakers of English who participated in a study-abroad program or a program specifically designed for foreigners may be exempted from the foreign language requirement if they provide sufficient evidence of their proficiency in the foreign language.

Note: an exemption from a language requirement does not yield any credit unless the exemption is based on successful completion of college courses.

Placement: Students may begin a foreign language at Hunter College. Students who are not exempt from the foreign language requirement as described above should choose their language course as follows:

1. Students who have satisfactorily completed 3 years of study of one language in high school or have completed the college equivalent of the 3rd level in a foreign language sequence should take the 4th course in the required sequence.

2. Students who have satisfactorily completed 2 years of study of one language in high school or have completed the college equivalent of the second level in a foreign language sequence should take the 3rd and 4th courses in the required sequence.

3. Students who have satisfactorily completed 1 year of study of a language in high school or have completed the college equivalent of the 1st level in a foreign language sequence should take the 2nd, 3rd and 4th courses in the required sequence.

4. Students who are beginning the study of a foreign language should take all 12 credits of a course sequence.

Pluralism And Diversity Requirement

List of Approved Courses for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement

The growing interdependence of the world's political, economic, and cultural relations, along with the increasingly diverse character of the American citizenry in general and the students of Hunter College in particular, make it imperative that Hunter undergraduates be exposed to a wide range of intellectual traditions, perspectives, and concerns arising from all corners of the globe. The emergence of sizable bodies of scholarship in recent decades reflecting that intellectual array makes it important for Hunter to present them as an integral part of the education of its undergraduates.

Accordingly, all students, including transfer students, who entered Hunter College in the fall 1993 semester or later are required to complete 12 credits in designated courses that address issues of pluralism and diversity before graduating from Hunter College. Students choose three credits from each of the four groups below. Work done at other colleges may be counted towards the pluralism and diversity requirement. When a student is given course equivalence for a course that counts towards pluralism and diversity, that student will also be deemed to have met the corresponding pluralism and diversity requirement except that or, BIOL 100/102 and BIOL 100/160, students must see the department to receive pluralism and diversity credit. All courses used to satisfy Pluralism and Diversity requirements may simultaneously meet a student's Core Requirement or the courses necessary for a major or minor area of study.

Note: While some courses may be listed in more than one group of the requirement, students will be able to apply such course to only one of the four areas.
Group Credits Group or Societal Focus

A 3 A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific, or social) that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas.

B 3 A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific, or social) that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences, and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans.

C 3 A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific, or social) that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

D 3 A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific, or social) that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

* Groups designated by letters A, B, C, and D substitute for Groups originally called 1, 2, 3, and 4, respectively.

Note: SOC 101 has been withdrawn from Group A. This change has gone into effect for all students entering Hunter in fall 2001.

German Program Description

The German department offers courses in the language, literature, and cultures of the German-speaking countries to help students reach high levels of linguistic and cultural proficiency and excel in the field of German studies.

The language and literature curriculum is designed to guide students in a professional, research-based manner from their current levels in the language through well defined stages of proficiency in speaking, reading, writing, and comprehension so that they will reach college-level literacy in German.

Students who complete the elementary and intermediate course sequence (language requirement) can expect to reach a real ability to function in standard situations in a German-speaking environment and to have a solid base for the further study of German.

Students who complete advanced language, literature, and culture courses will gain an understanding and appreciation of German literature and civilization, past and present, will comprehend spoken and written German to a level that they can understand major works of German prose, drama, and poetry and will be well on their way towards the linguistic and cultural capacity for intellectual discourse in written and spoken German.

In teaching and scholarship, faculty serve as mediators between the American and German-language cultures. They have a broad firsthand knowledge of German cultural texts, traditions, issues and trends so that they can support students with diverse interests relating to the German language and cultures and thus help Hunter students in all their endeavors pertaining to things German.

The German Department also offers courses in German literature in English translation for students who have no knowledge of the German language. These courses cannot be applied to the foreign language requirement, nor to the regular German major.

Grading Policy for Nursing Courses

Students who are enrolling in the old curriculum in fall 2013 (juniors) must receive minimum grades of C in all required nursing courses. One required nursing course (Generic Pathway: NURS 20000, NURS 31000, NURS 31200, NURS 33100, NURS 33200, NURS 38000, NURS 41000, NURS 41200, NURS 41900, NURS 42100; RN Pathway: NURS 37900, NURS 38000, NURS 38100, NURS 38400, NURS 48000, NURS 48200) is repeatable once by students who have received a failing grade. Students who fail a second required nursing course in the sequence may not repeat that course and may not continue in the nursing major. This policy applies even though a grade appeal is in progress.

Students who are enrolling in the new curriculum in fall 2013 (sophomores) must receive minimum grades of C in all required nursing courses. One required nursing course (Generic Pathway: NURS 20000, NURS 21000, NURS 24000, NURS 22000, NURS 33100, NURS 33900, NURS 35200, NURS 33200, NURS 34300, NURS 34900, NURS 36000, NURS 45500, NURS 46000, NURS 47000, NURS 49000, NURS 49200, NURS 42200) is repeatable once by students who have received a failing grade. Students who fail a second required nursing course in the sequence may not repeat that course and may not continue in the nursing major. This policy applies even though a grade appeal is in progress.

Note: Other colleges, graduate schools, professional schools, services and employers may calculate a grade point average inclusive of the failing grades. For questions regarding this policy, check with the Office of Advising Services, Rm 1119 East Building.

Graduation-in-Absentia

Undergraduate students who need 15 credits or fewer to fulfill their degree requirements and who have completed the Hunter Core Requirement (including pluralism and diversity, writing and foreign language) and the major requirements may apply for graduation-in-absentia if they must leave the city before completing their studies. They may attend an accredited college in the United States or abroad. Students who must leave before these criteria are met should apply for transfer to another college. Students should contact Advising Services, Room 1119 East http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/studentservices/advising

Health Care Preparation Program

Post-Baccalaureate Certificate Program in Health Careers Preparation

The Post-Baccalaureate Certificate in Health Careers Preparation Program is designed for students who wish to enter a professional program in medicine, dentistry, optometry, podiatry or veterinary medicine but whose undergraduate education does not meet the requirements for these programs. Students interested in entering programs in nursing, nutrition, physical therapy, pharmacy or physician assistant studies are not eligible for the Post-Baccalaureate Certificate Program.

Admission Criteria

We encourage prospective students who meet the admission criteria to apply to our certificate program. All applicants must:

- Hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution with a minimum overall GPA of 3.00 (students with undergraduate degrees in progress are not eligible to apply).
- Apply for admission to City University of New York (CUNY), Hunter College.
- Submit a completed Post-Baccalaureate Certificate Program supplemental application.
- Demonstrate their commitment to a career in the health professions through paid or volunteer experience.

Application Procedures

Admission to the program is limited to the fall semester. Application to the program is a two-step process. Applicants must refer to the CUNY Application Portal (https://portal.cuny.edu/id/cuny/documents/informationpage/006373.htm) to apply for admission using an undergraduate application to CUNY, Hunter College. All students in the Post-Baccalaureate Certificate Program must apply as transfer students. The 4-digit code for Hunter's Post-Baccalaureate Certificate Program is 0339, and this must be selected in order for the student to be considered for the program. All students must submit their official transcripts directly to CUNY through the CUNY Application Portal. High school transcripts are NOT required. For the second step of the process, prospective students must also submit a supplemental application directly to the Pre-Health Advising Office at Hunter College. The supplemental application is completed electronically and is available on the Pre-Health website in mid-fall.

The Admissions Committee may also request an interview and/or letters of recommendation from applicants sometime after the supplemental application has been submitted. For detailed, step-by-step instructions for completing the application procedures, please refer to the Prospective Post-Baccalaureate Student section of the Pre-Health Website at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/prehealth/prospective-post-baccalaureate-students

Deadlines

Both CUNY and supplemental applications must be received (by CUNY and the Hunter College Pre-Health Office) by December 1 of each year to be considered for admission to the Program in the fall. Applications received after December 1 will not be considered.

Program Requirements

To complete the Program, all Post-Baccalaureate Certificate students starting in fall 2010 and after must:

- Complete one year of college-level English. This requirement can be fulfilled by undergraduate transfer credit and/or by taking courses at Hunter College.
- Complete one year of college-level mathematics beyond pre-calculus. This requirement can also be fulfilled by undergraduate transfer credit and/or by taking courses at Hunter. There are two ways to fulfill this requirement at Hunter:
  1. MATH 15000 (STEM) (calculus) and MATH 15500 (STEM) (calculus II)
  2. MATH 15000 (STEM) (calculus) and STAT 21300 (STEM) (STAT 113 does not fulfill this requirement)
- Complete 38 credits in science (biology, chemistry or physics) at Hunter College.
- Maintain a 3.3 GPA for every semester in the program with no individual course grade below B-.
- Provide 56 hours of service to the Hunter College Community during their time in the program. Tutoring in science courses, mentoring undergraduate students, and assisting with activities sponsored by the Pre-Health Advising Office are examples of activities that fulfill the service commitment requirements.
- Obtain a committee letter from the Pre-Health Advisory Committee at Hunter College.

Courses and Requirements

The exact titles and sequence of courses for Post-Baccalaureate students depend on their individual academic needs and availability of courses at Hunter College each semester. Students typically take 9–12 credits of mathematics/science per semester but individual students’ course loads can vary depending on their schedules of extracurricular activities and other factors.

In addition to the mathematics and English requirements stated above, typical course work for pre-health students includes the following:
One year of general biology with lab: BIOL 10000 (STEM) and BIOL 10200 (STEM) (4.5 credits each, including lab) offered in fall and spring semesters, respectively.

One year of general chemistry with lab: CHEM 10200 (STEM) and CHEM 10400 (STEM) (lecture, 3 credits each) and CHEM 10600 (STEM) (lab, 3 credits). CHEM 10400, which serves as a pre-requisite to CHEM 10600 may be taken concurrently to satisfy requirements.

One year of Organic Chemistry lectures: CHEM 22200 and CHEM 22400 (4 credits each); and one year of Organic Chemistry labs: CHEM 22300 and CHEM 22500 (2.5 credits each).

One year of general physics with lab: PHYS 11100 (STEM) and PHYS 12000 (STEM) (4.5 credits each, including lab).

Additional Courses

Students may use classes from the following list of upper division biology and chemistry courses to fulfill the requirements for the program:

Courses

BIOL 30000 - Biological Chemistry

GER

3/B

Molecular aspects of cellular function; properties of biomolecules, their biosynthesis and breakdown; structure and function of proteins and enzymes, metabolites, membranes and nucleic acids; cellular mechanisms of energy transduction; integration and control of cell metabolism. Experiments cover a variety of modern techniques in molecular biology.

Material Fee: $10

prereq: BIOL 20200, CHEM 22200, 22300

coreq: CHEM 22400

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)

4.5 cr.

fall only

BIOL 30600 - Developmental Biology

GER

3/B

Major topics include molecular and cellular mechanisms of early embryonic development in amphibians, mammals and model organisms such as Drosophila, as well as the related subjects of vertebrate organ system development, biology of stem cells and animal cloning. Emphasis is placed on seminal and current research in cell-cell communication, signal transduction and differential gene regulation in developmental processes.

prereq: BIOL 30000

3 hrs (lec)

3 cr.

fall only

BIOL 35000 - The Biology of Cancer
When a normal cell becomes a cancer cell there are genetic changes that occur that alter the biology of the cell such that it behaves independent of its neighbors. This course will investigate the altered biology of cancer cells that lead to uncontrolled proliferation and cancer. Topics include: cell culture, the cell cycle, hormones, receptors, intracellular signal transduction, oncogenes, tumor suppressor genes, apoptosis, metastasis, and the etiology of human cancer.

prereq: BIOL 20000, 30000, or perm instr.
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr.
spring only

BIOL 36000 - Cellular and Molecular Immunology

GER
3/B

Study of the immune system from a molecular perspective. Molecular genetics of antibody and T cell receptor diversity, hematopoiesis and lymphocyte development, humoral and cellular immunity, histocompatibility.

prereq or coreq: BIOL 30000, perm instr.
4 hrs (3 lec, 1 disc)
3.5 cr.
spring only

BIOL 37000 - Physiology of the Nervous System

GER
3/B

A comprehensive introduction to neuroscience. Topics include how nerve cells (neurons) transmit electrical impulses, how neurons communicate with each other through synapses and how nerve pathways and networks determine many functions of the brain. The last portion of the course shall explore how developing neurons seek out targets and establish synapses.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
4 hrs (lec)
4 cr.
spring only

BIOL 37500 - Molecular Systematics

GER
3/B

An overview of the various methods and kinds of data used in systematics, the study of organism diversity and biological relationships. Emphasis is on modern molecular and genetic approaches to identification of individual species and strains and full phylogenetic analyses of suites of species to determine their evolutionary history. The knowledge base is provided for experimental investigation of questions of current interest in phylogeny and population biology.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.
BIOL 37600 - Endocrinology

GER
3/B

Cellular organization of the endocrine system; molecular mechanisms of hormone action; hormonal physiology of metabolism and reproduction; integration of endocrine responses by the central nervous system.

prereq: BIOL 20200 or perm instr.
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr.
spring only

BIOL 38000 - Molecular Neurobiology

GER
3/B

Molecular components and molecular mechanisms involved in the cell biology of neurons and glia, neuronal signaling, neuronal development, learning, memory and diseases of the nervous system.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
3 lec hrs
3 cr.
fall only

CHEM 37600 - Biochemistry I

GER
GER 3/B

Chemical aspects of protein structure and function, fundamentals of bioenergetics, biochemical mechanisms of gene replication and expression.

prereq: CHEM 22400 with grade of C or better
4 hrs (3 lec, 1 rec)
3 cr.
offered fall

CHEM 37700 - Biochemistry II

GER
GER 3/B

Biosynthesis of lipids, amino acids, carbohydrates. Muscle contraction, hormones, immune response, DNA sequencing.

prereq: CHEM 37600 with grade of C or better or BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.
offered spring

CHEM 37800 - Biochemistry Laboratory
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
A set of laboratory experiments, performed by individual students, covering important areas of biochemistry such as protein analysis, enzyme purification, enzymatic assays, recombinant DNA and the polymerase chain reaction.

prereq: CHEM 22300 and CHEM 37600 or CHEM 64000
5 hrs (4 lab, 1 rec)
3 cr.

List of Minimum Pre-Health Course Requirements (with prerequisites)

One year of English (6 credits)

MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Functions and their graphs: polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions; conic sections; topics in trigonometry; graphical and analytical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities. Not credited to students who have completed MATH 15000 or its equivalent.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam
4 hrs
4 cr.

(Placement testing and transfer credit will determine if you need this course or if you need to take another math course prior to pre-calculus)

One year of mathematics beyond precalculus, for example:

MATH 15000 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry I

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Limits, continuity, differentiation and integration of elementary functions and trigonometric functions, applications.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
4 hrs
4 cr.

-or-

MATH 15500 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry II

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B
Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000

4 hrs

4 cr.

-or-

STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning

GER

1/B

Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one-and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.

3 hrs

3 cr.

BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity

PD/C or D

GER

2/E

The chemical basis of life; basic structure and function of pro- and eucaryotic cells; bioenergetics; Mendelian and molecular genetics; development and mechanisms of control of gene expression at all levels; population genetics and evolution.

Material Fee: $5

PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: MATH 12500, CHEM 10200

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)

4.5 cr.

BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

Pluralism and Diversity

PD/C or D

GER

2/E
Taxonomy; homeostasis; internal transport and gas exchange in plants and animals; plant hormones; osmoregulation; mechanisms of action in the muscular, nervous and neuroendocrine systems; the senses, behavior; ecology.

Material fee: $5
PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: BIOL 10000 or perm instr, MATH 10100 or equiv.
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
4.5 cr.
fall only

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.

Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400
6 hrs
3 cr.

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I
GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

CHEM 22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I

GER
GER 3/B

Various organic syntheses, Distillation, extraction, chromatography, qualitative analysis, spectroscopy.

prereq: CHEM 10500 or CHEM 10600
prereq or coreq: CHEM 22200
4 hrs
2.5 cr.

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

CHEM 22500 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory II

GER
GER 3/B

Continuation of CHEM 22300.

prereq: CHEM 22300
prereq or coreq: CHEM 22400
4 hrs
2.5 cr

PHYS 11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E
First semester of two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.
prereq: MATH 12500; pre-calculus or equiv. By math dept. exam.
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
4.5 cr.

PHYS 12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER 2/E

Second semester of PHYS 11000 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.
prereq: PHYS 11000 or 11100
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
4.5 cr.

Note

Please refer to the Pre-Health Office website and publications for information regarding the specific coursework and extracurricular activities required by the individual health professional schools.

Time to Completion

Students must complete all of the required courses within 36 months in order to receive the certificate. A typical post-baccalaureate student completes the minimum coursework required to take standardized tests such as the MCAT or DAT within two years. However, many students go on to take additional upper division courses recommended by many health professional schools during the third (application) year. Decisions about professional school admissions are usually made one year after applications are submitted so most students apply to these schools after completing their second year in the Post-Baccalaureate Certificate Program, with the intention of matriculating a year later.

Health Regulations

Return to Public Safety, College Regulations and Policies

Health Standards The following are the general health standards for admission, readmission and continuing attendance at Hunter College:

1. The student’s health status shall not constitute a danger to any individual or group at Hunter College.

2. The health condition shall not be such that it may be aggravated or intensified by the demands of attendance at the college.

3. Any limitations of activity necessitated by a health problem shall be such that program adjustments will still enable the student to conform to the college’s academic requirements.

4. A student’s health status shall be such that the student may be expected to continue his or her college work, taking a reasonable number of hours on a continuing basis.

Immunizations Public Health Law 2165 requires college students to present a complete record of two live immunizations against measles and single immunization against mumps and rubella. Students born on or after January 1, 1957 must submit a complete immunization record signed by a health practitioner. Noncompliance will prohibit a student from registering for classes.

Meningococcal Disease Public Health Law 2167 requires institutions, including colleges and universities, to distribute information about meningococcal disease to all students meeting the enrollment criteria, whether they live on or off campus. Hunter College, CUNY, is required to maintain a record of the following for each student:

- A response to receipt of meningococcal disease and vaccine information signed by the student or student’s parent or guardian. This must include information on the availability and cost of meningococcal meningitis vaccine (Menomune).
- A record of meningococcal meningitis immunization within the past 10 years.
- An acknowledgement of meningococcal disease risks and refusal of meningococcal meningitis immunization signed by the student or student’s parent or guardian.

Medical Records and Examinations Matriculated students (including transfer students) are required to submit a medical report by a recognized physician upon admission into certain programs. If a student’s medical report or other factors indicate a health problem, the college may require from the student’s physician a report from a medical specialist in the area of the student’s disability.

Student Physical Activity Cards Permission forms for physical education and recreational activities are obtained in the Office of Health Services, 307 Hunter North. As noted above, the prerequisite for issuance of approved cards is a completed medical report on file. These cards are valid for two years; then they must be renewed.

Degree, Certificate and Diploma Programs

The following undergraduate degree, graduate degree, advanced certificate and combined undergraduate/graduate degree programs are offered.

These programs have been approved by the New York State Education Department and are listed in the Inventory of Registered Programs http://www.nysed.gov/heds/irpsl1.html. The Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) code numbers appear next to the appropriate program.

Students are advised that enrollment in other than registered or otherwise approved programs may jeopardize their eligibility for certain student aid awards.

For specific information on a particular undergraduate program – including faculty, admission and degree requirements and course descriptions – consult the appropriate section of this catalog.

Honor Societies

Two kinds of honor societies are recognized at Hunter College: academic and professional. In general the requirements for nomination are: for academic societies, a cumulative GPA of 3.0 and a departmental GPA prescribed by the department concerned, although in no case less than 3.0; for professional societies, a cumulative GPA of 2.8 and a departmental GPA and professional qualifications that meet departmental requirements. All honor societies except Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi are subject to the rules and regulations established by a committee of the Hunter College Senate. Students may qualify for the following honor societies:

- Alpha Kappa Delta - Sociology
- Omicron Delta Epsilon - Economics
- Dobro Slovo - Slavic Language and Literature
- Phi Alpha Theta - History
- Eta Beta Rho - Hebrew
- Pi Mu Epsilon - Mathematics
- Eta Sigma Phi - Latin and/or Greek
- Pi Sigma Alpha - Political Science
- Gamma Kappa Alpha - Italian
- Psi Chi - Psychology
- Gamma Theta Upsilon - Geography
- Sigma Delta Pi - Spanish
- Kappa Delta Pi - Education
- Sigma Epsilon Phi - German
- Kappa Pi - Art
- Sigma Pi Sigma - Physics
Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest undergraduate honors organization in the United States. Students do not apply for membership; they are elected on the basis of academic excellence. Eligibility is calculated on the basis of liberal arts courses under Phi Beta Kappa rules, which differ from those used in awarding other honors at Hunter College.

Sigma Xi The Scientific Research Society honors those who have made noteworthy contributions in research. Its purpose is "to encourage original investigation in science, to foster companionship and cooperation among scientists, and to maintain honor, integrity and honesty in all scientific activities." It has nearly 65,000 active members, scientists and engineers, whose goal is to improve the human condition. The Hunter College Chapter was installed in 1969.

Honors Programs

Hunter College provides a range of honors programs for students with strong academic records and the desire for stimulating courses and a host of special opportunities.

Macaulay Honors College at Hunter College Graduating high school seniors and others who have not yet attended college may apply to the Macaulay Honors College at Hunter College. The mission of this highly competitive program is to inspire and prepare outstanding leaders to confront and solve the social, economic, cultural, and scientific challenges of New York City and the world. Accepted students take a series of interdisciplinary seminars focused on New York City, and work closely with Honors Advisors in order to learn about and access the diverse resources of CUNY. Generous financial support is provided, allowing students to concentrate on their studies and carefully selected co-curricular activities. For further information, call the Macaulay Honors College office at (212) 650-3556 or see the website: http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/honorscollege.

Thomas Hunter Honors Program (Special Honors Curriculum) This program provides superior students who are pursuing a Hunter BA degree with a course of study suited to their individual needs and interests. Open to students who have demonstrated academic excellence and an interest in interdisciplinary studies and who desire to be intellectually challenged, it offers the opportunity to design a personalized curriculum under the supervision of the Council on Honors. The program also offers its participants the chance to study with faculty members committed to working with outstanding undergraduates who wish to pursue interdisciplinary studies. For details, see the Thomas Hunter Honors Program.

An introduction to the study of human rights. It explores the historical, philosophical, and legal roots of human rights as a political idea and institutionalized practice. It also addressed the contested nature of human rights as an idea and practice in contemporary societies. In addition to providing an introduction to the subject, the course is a requirement for students minoring in Human Rights or pursuing a Human Rights Certificate.

In order to pursue a Human Rights minor or Certificate, a student must receive at least a B (3.0) in this course. Students should take this introductory course in their sophomore year but must take it no later than the first semester of their junior year. This is a writing intensive course.

prereq: ENGL 12000 or equivalent; one course in ethics, political philosophy, political theory, sociological theory, or permission from the instructors.

3 hrs
3 cr.
fall and spring

HR 25000 - Human Rights Internship

This is a practicum course. It involves students participating in an organization that identifies its mission as the promotion of human rights. The aim of the course is to educate students in the practical dimension of translating human rights discourse and law into practice. The course is required for students seeking a Human Rights Certificate or a minor in Human Rights.

prereq: ENGL 12000 or equivalent; HR 20000 or equivalent

3 hrs
3 cr.

HR 26000 - Human Rights Internship Seminar (W)

This course critically evaluates the role of human rights organizations and human rights practices in determining the meaning and value of human rights.

prereq or coreq: HR 25000

3 hrs
3 cr.
Offered spring 2012; not offered fall 2011

HR 35000 - Human Rights Capstone Seminar (W)

This course involves the theoretical examination of constitutive problems in the discourse and practice of human rights, especially as they would inform the composition of a human rights academic research project. It requires participating students to present their research projects in the seminar and to compose a 20-25 page research paper on a human rights topic.

This course is specifically designed for students who are pursuing a Certificate in Human Rights. This is a writing intensive course.

Offered spring 2012; not offered fall 2011
Human Rights Program Description

Return to Human Rights

The Human Rights Program examines the theory and practice of human rights, combining academic training with hands-on experience. By exploring the philosophical foundations and legal framework of human rights, as well as addressing current political, social and economic realities, the program seeks to give students the tools necessary to engage intelligently with contemporary human rights problems. Among the thorny issues students may examine are indigenous peoples' rights to natural resources, the limits of freedom of expression, the problem of corporate complicity in rights violations, the legitimacy of humanitarian intervention, and the problem of enforceability (both of economic, social, and cultural rights, and of civil and political rights). An interdisciplinary program, the Human Rights Program offers courses in political science, anthropology, sociology and history, among other fields of study. Students may follow either of two academic tracks: a 15-credit Minor in human rights, or 24-credit Certificate. A key element of both tracks is the human rights internship, which gives students direct experience with the researchers, advocates, lawyers and analysts who make up the human rights movement. Both the Minor and Certificate in human rights are good preparation for a career in government, at a nongovernmental organization, or in a regional or international agency. Many students may choose to go on to law school, journalism school or a graduate program. Whatever their career choice, their knowledge of human rights will make them more thoughtful and informed citizens.

Hunter College Foreign Language Requirement

Return to Department of Romance Languages

The college foreign language requirement may be fulfilled by completion of French, Italian or Spanish 202, 203 or 208 or by demonstrating equivalent proficiency through a departmental examination. Students with prior knowledge of one of the languages should see a departmental adviser and take a placement examination before registering for courses. Students who have a high school diploma in a language other than English or who have studied a foreign language in high school for four years have fulfilled the language requirement. Students should consult a departmental adviser to resolve all matters regarding placement, registration and course offerings.

Please contact the department for details on when placement examinations are offered.

1. Students pursuing a new language will fulfill the language requirement in four college semesters by completing one of the following sequences:
   a. French: FREN 10100-FREN 10200 or FREN 10300 and FREN 20100-FREN 20200, or FREN 20300;

Hunter College Mission Statement

Return to Hunter College of The City University of New York
Hunter College of the City University of New York, a distinguished public university, values learning in the liberal arts and sciences as a cornerstone of individual development and a vital foundation for a more just and inclusive society. Continuing our long tradition of expanding opportunity, we welcome students from all backgrounds to engage in a rigorous educational experience that prepares them to become leaders and innovators in their communities and in the world. Hunter also contributes to intellectual discourse by supporting excellent scholarship and creative activity by its accomplished faculty.

Hunter undergraduate, graduate, and professional curricula challenge students to think critically – to approach problems from multiple perspectives, distinguish the questions each raises, and recognize the kinds of evidence each values. The college’s academic programs stress the significance of human diversity, emphasize research and artistic creation, and invite students to extend their education beyond campus. We cultivate the qualities our graduates need to thrive in their chosen careers and make a difference as active citizens.

We embrace our setting at the heart of New York City – we seek to draw on its energy, capitalize on its remarkable resources, weave it into the fabric of our teaching, research, and creative expression, and give back to it through our service and citizenship.

Hunter College Students' Rights Concerning Education Records

The Federal Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. They are:

I. The right to inspect and review the student’s education records.

Students should submit to the registrar, the dean of students, or other appropriate college official, written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. If the records are not maintained by the college official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

All requests shall be granted or denied in writing within 45 days of receipt. If the request is granted, the student will be provided with copies of the requested records or notified of the time and place where the records may be inspected. Students will be charged a fee for copies of requested records. If the request is denied or not responded to within 45 days, the student may appeal to the college’s FERPA appeals officer. Additional information regarding the appeal procedures will be provided by the college’s FERPA appeals officer: Office of Legal Affairs, Hunter College, Room 1705 HE, 695 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10065.

II. The right to request the amendment of the student’s education records that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading.
Students may ask the college to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate or misleading. They should write to the registrar, the dean of students, or other appropriate college official, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading. If the college decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the college will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his or her right to a hearing before the college’s FERPA appeals officer regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

III. The right to consent to disclosure of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

One exception which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to college officials with legitimate educational interests. A college official is a person employed by the university in an administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position; a person or company with whom the university has contracted; a person serving on the Board of Trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another college official in performing his or her tasks. A college official has a legitimate educational interest if access is reasonably necessary in order to perform his/her instructional, research, administrative or other duties and responsibilities. Upon request, the college discloses education records without consent to officials of another college or school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

IV. You may appeal the alleged denial of FERPA rights to the: General Counsel and Vice Chancellor for Legal Affairs, The City University of New York, 535 East 80th Street, New York, NY 10065.

V. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the college to comply with the requirements of FERPA.

The name and address of the office that administers FERPA are: Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 600 Independence Avenue SW, Washington, DC 20202-4605.

VI. The college will make the following “directory information” concerning current and former students available to those parties having a legitimate interest in the information: a student’s name, attendance dates, telephone listing, home address, present address, e-mail address, major and minor fields of study, degrees and awards received, date of birth, place of birth, level of education and the most recent previous educational institution attended. By filing a form with the Registrar’s Office, a student or former student may request that any or all of the above information not be released without his or her prior written consent. This form may be completed, withdrawn, or modified at any time.

This policy shall be effective as of September 2000 and shall supersede prior policy on this issue.

Students Regulations and Rights

Statement on the Rights of Students

The Hunter College Senate voted endorsement of the following statement on September 24, 1974:

Preamble
“Academic institutions exist for the transmission of knowledge, the pursuit of truth, the development of students and the general well-being of society. Free inquiry and free expression are indispensable to the attainment of these goals....Freedom to teach and freedom to learn are inseparable facets of academic freedom.”

Students “have a distinctive role…which qualifies them to share in the responsible authority on campus; the exercise of the authority is part of their education….

Joint efforts among all groups in the institution—students, faculty, administration and governing board—is a prerequisite of sound academic government….Joint effort, to be effective, must be rooted in the concept of shared authority. The exercise of shared authority in college and university government, like the protection of (student and faculty) academic freedom, requires tolerance, respect and a sense of community.”

“The responsibility to secure and respect general conditions conducive to the freedom to learn is shared by all members of the academic community.”

Students’ rights are not limited by what is enumerated in this statement. The purpose of the statement is to outline some basic principles and guidelines, many of which are now met. Specific implementation will have to be continuously adjusted as conditions at the college change.

I. Academic and Personal Files

1. Improper disclosure, even within the college, of academic, personal and disciplinary records is a serious invasion of privacy. To minimize the risk of improper disclosure, academic, personal and disciplinary records should be kept in separate files.

2. All files may be made available only to specially authorized college staff. Express consent of the student involved is otherwise required.

3. Academic records and transcripts should contain only information about scholastic achievement.

4. No records should be kept which reflect the political and off-campus activities or beliefs of students.

5. Non-current medical and disciplinary records should be periodically destroyed.

6. Students have the right to periodically review their academic, medical and disciplinary records and to appeal for removal of items improperly included. If the appeal fails the student has the right to append a written rebuttal to the record.

II. Classroom, Grades, etc.

1. Students have the right, within the limits of available facilities, to pursue any course of study for which they are eligible according to college standards.

2. In order to permit eligible students unhindered access to courses, the costs of required materials should be kept within reasonable limits.

3. Students have the right to know, at the start of each course of study, the basis to be used by the instructor in determining grades.

4. Students’ grades should be based solely on academic criteria, not on opinions or conduct in matters unrelated to academic standards.

5. Students should have the opportunity to take reasoned exception to facts or points of view offered in any course of study, but they are responsible for meeting the academic standards of any course of study for which they are enrolled.

6. Students should have the protection through formally established procedures against prejudiced or capricious academic standards or evaluations.

III. Participation in Academic Affairs

1. Students have the right, individually and collectively, to express their views on matters of general interest to the student body, including institutional policy, curriculum and personnel decisions.

2. Students have the right to participate in the formulation and application of institutional policy affecting academic and student affairs.

3. Students should share in the formation of policies regarding degree requirements, courses and curriculum, academic grading systems, standards of academic standing and calendar arrangements.

4. Students should have the opportunity, individually and collectively, to assess the value of a course and to express their views on the form and conduct of a class which they have taken.

5. The results of an institutional mechanism used for students to assess courses and faculty, such as evaluation questionnaires, should be accessible to all members of the college community and should be weighed in all decisions affecting faculty status and curriculum.

IV. Extracurricular Activities

1. Students should be free to form and join associations to promote their common interests.

2. Students have the right to express their opinions, individually and collectively and to support causes in a manner that does not disrupt the orderly operation of the college.

V. Standards of Conduct

1. Students should participate in the formulation of standards of behavior which are considered essential to the educational mission and community responsibilities of the college.

2. The code of conduct, as a set of regulations and procedures, should be clearly stated and published in a handbook or other generally available set of institutional regulations.

3. In all cases, disciplinary procedures should protect the student from capricious and prejudicial application of the rules of conduct. Such procedures should also satisfy the requirements of procedural due process, including written notice with details of charges, sufficient time to prepare a defense, right to assistance in the defense, right to cross-examine witnesses and to present evidence and the right to appeal the decision.

RESOLVED, That these rules and regulations be incorporated in each college bulletin.

Adopted by the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York on June 23, 1969 and amended on October 27, 1980 and May 22, 1989

Rules and Regulations for Students Pursuant to Article 224A of the NYS Education Law
1. No person shall be expelled from or be refused admission as a student to an institution of higher education for the reason that he or she is unable, because of his or her religious beliefs, to register or attend classes or to participate in any examination, study or work requirements on a particular day or days.

2. Any student in an institution of higher education who is unable, because of his or her religious beliefs, to attend classes on a particular day or days shall, because of such absence on the particular day or days, be excused from any examination or any study or work requirements.

3. It shall be the responsibility of the faculty and of the administrative officials of each institution of higher education to make available to each student who is absent from school, because of his or her religious beliefs, an equivalent opportunity to register for classes or make up any examination, study or work requirements which he or she may have missed because of such absence on any particular day or days. No fees of any kind shall be charged by the institution for making available to the said student such equivalent opportunity.

4. If registration, classes, examinations, study or work requirements are held on Friday after four o’clock post meridian or on Saturday, similar or makeup classes, examinations, study or work requirements or opportunity to register shall be made available on other days, where it is possible and practicable to do so. No special fees shall be charged to the student for these classes, examinations, study or work requirements or registration held on other days.

5. In effectuating the provisions of this section, it shall be the duty of the faculty and of the administrative officials of each institution of higher education to exercise the fullest measure of good faith. No adverse or prejudicial effects shall result to any student because of his or her availing himself or herself of the provisions of this section.

6. Any student who is aggrieved by the alleged failure of any faculty or administrative officials to comply in good faith with the provisions of this section, shall be entitled to maintain an action or proceeding in the supreme court of the county in which such institution of higher education is located for the enforcement of his or her rights under this section.

a. It shall be the responsibility of the administrative officials of each institution of higher education to give written notice to students of their rights under this section, informing them that each student who is absent from school, because of his or her religious beliefs, must be given an equivalent opportunity to register for classes or make up any examination, study or work requirements which he or she may have missed because of such absence on any particular day or days. No fees of any kind shall be charged by the institution for making available to such student such equivalent opportunity.

7. As used in this section, the term “institution of higher education” shall mean any institution of higher education, recognized and approved by the regents of the university of the state of New York, which provides a course of study leading to the granting of a post-secondary degree or diploma. Such term shall not include any institution which is operated, supervised or controlled by a church or by a religious or denominational organization whose educational programs are principally designed for the purpose of training ministers or other religious functionaries or for the purpose of propagating religious doctrines.

8. As used in this section, the term “religious belief” shall mean beliefs associated with any corporation organized and operated exclusively for religious purposes, which is not disqualified for tax exemption under section 501 of the United States code.

Equal Opportunity Programs

Hunter College is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Institution. The college does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, transgender, marital status, disability, genetic predisposition or carrier status, alienage or citizenship, military or veteran status, or status as victim of domestic violence in its student admissions, employment, access to programs and administration of educational policies.

Rules and Regulations for the Maintenance of Public Order
Pursuant to Article 129A of the NYS Education Law

The tradition of the university as a sanctuary of academic freedom and center of informed discussion is an honored one, to be guarded vigilantly. The basic significance of that sanctuary lies in the protection of intellectual freedoms: the rights of professors to teach, of scholars to engage in the advancement of knowledge, of students to learn and to express their views, free from external pressures or interference. These freedoms can flourish only in an atmosphere of mutual respect, civility and trust among teachers and students, only when members of the university community are willing to accept self-restraint and reciprocity as the condition upon which they share in its intellectual autonomy.

Academic freedom and the sanctuary of the university campus extend to all who share these aims and responsibilities. They cannot be invoked by those who would subordinate intellectual freedom to political ends, or who violate the norms of conduct established to protect that freedom. Against such offenders the university has the right and indeed the obligation, to defend itself. We accordingly announce the following rules and regulations to be in effect at each of our colleges which are to be administered in accordance with the requirements of due process as provided in the Bylaws of the Board of Higher Education.

With respect to enforcement of these rules and regulations we note that the Bylaws of the Board of Higher Education provide that:

“THE PRESIDENT. The president, with respect to his educational unit, shall:

a. Have the affirmative responsibility of conserving and enhancing the educational standards of the college and schools under his jurisdiction;

b. Be the adviser and executive agent of the Board and of his respective College Committee and as such shall have the immediate supervision with full discretionary power in carrying into effect the bylaws, resolutions and policies of the Board, the lawful resolutions of any of its committees and the policies, programs and lawful resolutions of the several faculties;

c. Exercise general superintendence over the concerns, officers, employees and students of his educational unit....”

I. Rules

1. A member of the academic community shall not intentionally obstruct and/or forcibly prevent others from the exercise of their rights. Nor shall he interfere with the institution’s educational processes or facilities, or the rights of those who wish to avail themselves of any of the institution’s instructional, personal, administrative, recreational and community services.

2. Individuals are liable for failure to comply with lawful directions issued by representatives of the university/college when they are acting in their official capacities. Members of the academic community are required to show their identification cards when requested to do so by an official of the college.

3. Unauthorized occupancy of university/college facilities or blocking access to and from such areas is prohibited. Permission from appropriate college authorities must be obtained for removal, relocation and use of university/college equipment and/or supplies.
4. Theft from or damage to university/college premises or property, or theft of or damage to property of any person on university/college premises is prohibited.

5. Each member of the academic community or an invited guest has the right to advocate his position without having to fear abuse, physical, verbal, or otherwise from others supporting conflicting points of view. Members of the academic community and other persons on the college grounds shall not use language or take actions reasonably likely to provoke or encourage physical violence by demonstrators, those demonstrated against, or spectators.

6. Action may be taken against any and all persons who have no legitimate reason for their presence on campus within the university/college, or whose presence on any such campus obstructs and/or forcibly prevents others from the exercise of their rights or interferes with the institution’s educational processes or facilities, or the rights of those who wish to avail themselves of any of the institution’s instructional, personal, administrative, recreational and community services.

7. Disorderly or indecent conduct on university/college-owned or controlled property is prohibited.

8. No individual shall have in his possession a rifle, shotgun, or firearm or knowingly have in his possession any other dangerous instrument or material that can be used to inflict bodily harm on an individual or damage upon a building or the grounds of the university/college without the written authorization of such educational institution. Nor shall any individual have in his possession any other instrument or material which can be used or is intended to inflict bodily harm on an individual or damage upon a building or the grounds of the university/college.

9. Any action or situation which recklessly or intentionally endangers mental or physical health or involves the forced consumption of liquor or drugs for the purpose of initiation into or affiliation with any organization is prohibited.

10. The unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession, or use of illegal drugs or other controlled substances by University students or employees on University/college premises, or as part of any University/college activities is prohibited. Employees of the University must also notify the College Personnel Director of any criminal drug statute conviction for a violation occurring in the workplace not later than five (5) days after such conviction.

11. The unlawful possession, use, or distribution of alcohol by students or employees on university/college premises or as part of any university/college activities is prohibited.

II. Penalties

1. Any student engaging in any manner in conduct prohibited under substantive Rules 1-11 shall be subject to the following range of sanctions as hereafter defined in the attached Appendix: admonition, warning, censure, disciplinary probation, restitution, suspension, expulsion, ejection and/or arrest by the civil authorities.

2. Any tenured or non-tenured faculty member, or other member of the instructional staff, or member of the classified staff engaging in any manner in conduct prohibited under substantive Rules 1-11 shall be subject to the following range of penalties: warning, censure, restitution, fine not exceeding those permitted by law or by the Bylaws of The City University of New York, or suspension with/without pay pending a hearing before an appropriate college authority, dismissal after a hearing, ejection and/or arrest by the civil authorities and for engaging in any manner in conduct prohibited under substantive.

Rule 10, may, in the alternative, be required to participate satisfactorily in an appropriately licensed drug treatment or rehabilitation program. A tenured or non-tenured faculty member or other member of the instructional staff, or member of the classified staff charged with engaging in any manner in conduct prohibited under substantive

Rules 1-11 he or she shall be entitled to be treated in accordance with applicable provisions of the Education Law, or the Civil Service Law, or the applicable collective bargaining agreement, or the Bylaws or written policies of The City University of New York.

3. Any visitor, licensee, or invitee engaging in any manner in conduct prohibited under substantive Rules 1-11 shall be subject to ejection and/or arrest by the civil authorities.

4. Any organization which authorized the conduct prohibited under substantive Rules 1-11 shall have its permission to operate on campus rescinded. Penalties 1-4 shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law or The City University Trustees.

Sanctions Defined:

A. ADMONITION An oral statement to the offender that he/she has violated university rules.

B. WARNING Notice to the offender, orally or in writing, that continuation or repetition of the wrongful conduct, within a period of time stated in the warning, may be cause for more severe disciplinary action.

C. CENSURE Written reprimand for violation of specified regulation, including the possibility of more severe disciplinary sanction in the event of conviction for the violation of any university regulation within a period stated in the letter of reprimand.

D. DISCIPLINARY PROBATION Exclusion from participation in privileges or extracurricular university activities as set forth in the notice of disciplinary probation for a specified period of time.

E. RESTITUTION Reimbursement for damage to or misappropriation of property. Reimbursement may take the form of appropriate service to repair or otherwise compensate for damages.

F. SUSPENSION Exclusion from classes and other privileges or activities as set forth in the notice of suspension for a definite period of time.

G. EXPULSION Termination of student status for an indefinite period. The conditions for readmission, if any is permitted, shall be stated in the order of expulsion.

H. COMPLAINT TO CIVIL AUTHORITIES

I. EJECTION
A true copy of resolution adopted by the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York on June 23, 1969, as

504/ADA Grievance Procedures

Hunter College encourages the prompt and equitable settlement of all complaints and grievances of discrimination in college programs under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. Section 706) and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 as amended (42 U.S.C. Section 12101-02). Toward that end, both informal and formal grievance procedures are established for the college.

These procedures are available to any student of the college who alleges any action relating to handicap which is prohibited by Section 504, the ADA, or the rules and regulations implementing those laws. No other issues may be raised in these proceedings.
The resolution of a grievance may pass through several steps. Initially, students are encouraged to discuss a complaint with the supervisor of the office involved. Often, this conversation will lead to steps that will alleviate the difficulty. If this discussion does not lead to a result that is satisfactory to the student, he or she should then begin an informal complaint process with the director of the Office for Access and Accommodations. If the informal complaint process does not yield results satisfactory to the student, a written formal complaint may be filed with the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Students may obtain a written explanation of the entire grievance procedure and the accompanying form from Office for Access and Accommodations, Room 1124 Hunter East. The Section 504 and ADA Coordinator at Hunter College, Professor Tamara Green, is responsible for policies related to the disabled. She can be contacted in Room 1425A Hunter West; (212) 772-5061.

Hunter College's Policy on Academic Integrity

Return to Academic Programs and Policies

Procedures for Reporting Academic Integrity Violations

To initiate the procedure for addressing an allegation of academic dishonesty, faculty members must complete the online Academic Integrity Form indicating the recommended academic sanction, which involves a grade penalty (i.e., a reduced grade). Disciplinary sanctions may only be pursued by the Dean of Students if the case merits them.

I. Procedure for Academic Sanctions

A. When the faculty member suspects academic dishonesty and wants an academic sanction, the professor should first confer with the student. If the student admits to the violation, the instructor should inform the student of the grade penalty and report the action taken on the online Academic Integrity Form and upload all supporting documentation [pdf]. The faculty should submit the online reporting form within 30 days of discovery of the academic dishonesty. The Office of Student Conduct will contact the student once we receive a completed online form. Faculty members must submit the online form within 30 days of discovery of the academic dishonesty.

B. If the student admits to academic dishonesty but believes the grade penalty is too severe, the instructor should select the appropriate option on the online Academic Integrity Form, upload supporting documentation and submit it online. The Academic Integrity Official shall submit a placeholder grade of "PEN" if occurrence is during the middle of the semester. If the occurrence is at the end of the semester the instructor should submit the student's final grade at the end of the semester. At that point, the student may contest the grade sanction by appealing the course grade through the College's grade appeal procedure. Once the student has admitted the violation, s/he may contest only the severity of the grade sanction, not the dishonesty allegation itself. If the student appeals the grade, the departmental and Senate grade appeals committees should send copies of their findings to the Hunter College Academic Integrity Official.

C. If the student denies the allegation of academic dishonesty, the faculty member will report that this is the student's position on the online Academic Integrity Form. The matter will first be reviewed by the Academic Integrity Official who will conduct a fact finding investigation and attempt to resolve the matter. If the matter cannot be resolved then Mediation will be proposed between both parties with a third party member. If the case is not resolved through Mediation then it will be moved to an official hearing before the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee who will render judgment upon conclusion of the hearing. The student has the right to appeal the Committee's judgment by appealing with the President's Office.

D. Students who either admit to an act of academic dishonesty or are found to have committed one by the Academic Integrity Official will receive a letter from Hunter College's Academic Integrity Official notifying them that this matter has been reported to the Dean of Students Office. When an academic integrity accusation is resolved by the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee, the student and faculty member will be notified of the findings.

II. Procedure for Disciplinary Sanctions
A. The Dean of Students has the right to pursue disciplinary sanctions against any student should the case deem appropriate, which includes substantial violations, if the student has prior violations or when academic sanctions were not executed because the student withdrew from the course.

III. Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee

The purpose of the Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee is to review evidence when an academic sanction is being sought and when the allegations of academic dishonesty are still in dispute after meetings with the Academic Integrity Official and Mediator have occurred. The Committee will proceed in the following manner:

1. If the charge of academic dishonesty is denied by the student, the faculty member will advise the student that the matter has been referred to the Hunter College Academic Integrity Official, who will initiate the fact-finding process.

2. A panel of three Faculty-Student Disciplinary Committee members will be selected and convened by Hunter College Academic Integrity Official to review the evidence for each case.

3. The faculty member and student will be invited to present their case at a formal hearing, which will be conducted within 30 days of receipt of the online Academic Integrity Form.

4. The committee will deliberate in closed session (i.e., with neither student nor instructor present) and submit its findings, in writing, to the Hunter College Academic Integrity Official, who will then notify the faculty member and student. Although faculty members reserve the right to submit grades whenever they deem appropriate, they are encouraged not to submit grades for the disputed work or a final course grade until they have been notified of the committee's findings. Students may appeal the final course grade through the College's grade appeal process.

Committee Structure

The president shall select in consultation with the head of the appropriate campus governance body or where the president is the head of the governance body, its executive committee, three (3) members of the instructional staff of that college to receive training and to serve in rotation as chair of the disciplinary committee. If none of the chairpersons appointed from the campus can serve, the president, at his/her discretion, may request that a chairperson be selected by lottery from the entire group of chairpersons appointed by other colleges. The chairperson shall preside at all meetings of the faculty-student disciplinary committee and decide and make all rulings for the committee. He/she shall not be a voting member of the committee but shall vote in the event of a tie.

The faculty members shall be selected by lot from a panel of six elected biennially by the appropriate faculty body from among the persons having faculty rank or faculty status. The student members shall be selected by lot from a panel of six elected annually in an election in which all students registered at the college shall be eligible to vote. In the event that the student or faculty panel or both are not elected, or if more panel members are needed, the president shall have the duty to select the panel or panels which have not been elected. No individuals on the panel shall serve on the panel for more than two consecutive years.

In the event that the chairperson cannot continue, the president shall appoint another chairperson. In the event that a student or faculty seat becomes vacant and it is necessary to fill the seat to continue the hearing, the seat shall be filled from the respective faculty or student panel by lottery.

Each faculty-student disciplinary committee shall consist of two faculty members and two student members and a chairperson, who shall be a faculty member. A quorum shall consist of the chair and any two members, one of whom must be a student. A panel of three, consisting of two faculty members and one student selected from the twelve committee members, will be convened by the Hunter College Academic Integrity Official for each hearing. Faculty members and graduate students affiliated with the department, and undergraduate students majoring in the department's programs, will not be selected to serve on that particular panel.

IV. Clarification of the Process
All questions regarding these procedures or the College's disciplinary process should be referred to the Office of Student Conduct in the Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students office (Room 1103 East, phone 212.772.4534/212.396.6484 or email at academic.integrity@hunter.cuny.edu).

Immunization Requirements

Prior to registration, the following health requirements must be met:

Immunizations for Measles, Mumps and Rubella Public Health Law 2165 requires college students to present a complete record of two live immunizations against measles and a single immunization against mumps and rubella. Students born on or after January 1, 1957 must submit a complete immunization record signed by a health practitioner. Further information regarding health standards may be found in the Student Rights and Regulations section of this catalog.

Meningococcal Disease Public Health Law 2167 requires institutions, including colleges and universities, to distribute information about meningococcal disease and vaccination to all students meeting the enrollment criteria, whether they live on or off campus. Hunter College of the City University of New York is required to maintain a record of the following for each student: a) response to receipt of meningococcal disease and vaccine information signed by the student; b) record of meningococcal meningitis immunization within the past 10 years; or c) acknowledgment of meningococcal disease risks and refusal of meningococcal meningitis immunization signed by the student.

Please note that students will not be allowed to continue at Hunter if they are not compliant (have not handed in their Response Form) within 30 days from the first scheduled day of classes. To learn more about meningitis and the vaccine, please consult your physician. You can also find information about the disease at http://www.cdc.gov.

For more information and to download/print the Immunization Requirement Form please visit the forms and documents section of the Hunter College registrar’s web page at http://registrar.hunter.cuny.edu. The form must be returned to the Office of Health Services, Room 307 Hunter North. For updated office hours call (212) 772-4800.

Implementation of Policies and Procedures Concerning Sexual Assault and Other Forms of Violence Against Students
Return to CUNY Sexual Assault Policy

The President and Vice President for Student Affairs/Student Development of each college shall be responsible for implementing this policy in accordance with the most up-to-date information and resources pertaining to sexual assault, stalking and domestic/intimate partner violence education and prevention, and victim assistance. The following steps must be taken to implement this policy:

1. Publication: A copy of this policy shall be easily accessible on the CUNY website and on the website administered by each College. A summary shall also be incorporated into every college student handbook. In addition, copies of the policy and procedures shall be made available in student centers, residence halls, student affairs/student development offices, women’s/men’s centers, counseling centers, health clinics and public safety departments, and shall be distributed to all new students during orientations.

2. Prevention/Risk Reduction Education: Each college shall develop materials and programs to educate its students, faculty and staff on the nature, dynamics, common circumstances and effects of sexual assault, domestic/intimate partner violence and stalking, and the means to reduce their occurrence and prevent them. Prevention education should provide up-to-date and relevant information, such as education pertaining to bystander intervention, the importance of peer networks and the significance of fostering a community of responsibility.

   Prevention education materials and programs shall be incorporated into campus orientation activities for all incoming undergraduate and graduate students (including transfers), and shall be made available to all student activity groups, clubs and athletic teams. In addition, all residence halls shall have a mandatory orientation on sexual assault, stalking and domestic/intimate partner violence prevention. Colleges are encouraged to assist in the organization of peer education groups and to provide resources to such groups so that the groups can provide training and outreach to other students throughout the academic year. Since the abuse of alcohol is frequently involved in occurrences of sexual assault and other forms of violence, it is important that the education program include education about the deleterious effects of alcohol abuse.

3. Professional Training: Each college shall provide periodic training relating to the prevention and handling of sexual assaults, stalking and domestic/intimate partner violence for all relevant personnel, including public safety officers, counselors, student affairs staff and residence hall assistants by experts trained in the field. Education and training shall also be made available to any interested faculty and staff member. Each campus must have at least one qualified staff or faculty member serve as a designated liaison and trainer.

4. Oversight by CUNY Central Administration: The University Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs shall monitor compliance with this policy at all of the campuses, shall review the policies and procedures on an annual basis, and shall make recommendations in the event that updates to prevention and education information are necessitated. In addition, the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs shall provide educational materials that may be needed to ensure full implementation of this policy on every campus. Liaisons will be identified from each campus who will receive standardized training in order to fulfill their responsibilities on their campuses. The policies, procedures and outreach materials and programs will be subject to a periodic process of assessment in order to maintain efficacy.

Incomplete Work in a Course

Return to the Grading System

When a student for valid reason does not complete the work assigned in a course (including the final exam, papers, etc.) and in the view of the instructor still has a reasonable chance to pass the course, the student shall be given the grade INC (incomplete). The student must explain the reason to the instructor or, in the absence of the instructor, to the department chair and arrange a schedule for making up the missing coursework. These steps must be taken as soon as possible and no later than the end of the second week of the following semester. The student shall then be given the opportunity to complete the course without penalty beyond previously established penalties for lateness.

The length of time permitted for completing missing coursework remains at the discretion of the instructor and shall be indicated in writing to the student, but shall not extend beyond the end of the semester following the one in which the course was taken. Unless the student submits the work by the date specified by the instructor, the grade will automatically become FIN on the student's permanent record. (Under certain circumstances, where the student must repeat class sessions or laboratories in a course not given during the following semester, the FIN grade may later be converted to the appropriate letter grade.)

Instructors and departments may choose to have make-up final examinations administered by the college. Such examinations will be given before Monday of the seventh week of the following semester. It is the responsibility of the student who must take an absentee examination to determine from the instructor or department whether it will be administered by the college, to file the appropriate form and to pay any required fee by the deadline specified by the college.

If the faculty member wishes to extend the deadline for the student to complete the coursework beyond one semester, the faculty member and the student must enter into a written contract clearly specifying the deadline. This contract must be written during the semester following the one in which the course was taken. The student must be aware that the INC grade will change to a FIN grade until the work is completed. The written contract must accompany the change of grade form. If a student has not filed a contract with the faculty member but still wishes to complete the work and have a FIN grade changed, the student can appeal to the Senate Grade Appeals Committee. The appeal must include the reason for failing to complete the work and must be accompanied by a supporting letter from the faculty member who issued the INC grade or, if the faculty member is no longer at the college, from the department chair. Appeals with no endorsement will be denied.

International Admission

Return to General Information

Admission of international students is based on two factors: meeting the academic criteria for admissions and English language proficiency. Although the guarantee of sufficient financial resources to meet the cost of attendance is essential to maintaining one's respective status; it does not solely determine admissions into Hunter College. For purposes of admission, an international student is defined as an applicant who currently holds a student (F-1) or Exchange visitor (J-1) visa or seeks to change such an immigration status upon enrollment. The United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) requires documentation of financial support before approving the issuance of a F-1 or J-1 Exchange Visitor status within the United States (if the admitted student is within the United States) and the State Department reviews financial status and substantial home ties of the applicant before issuing a visa, if the admitted student is overseas.

International applicants whose primary language is not English must demonstrate a firm command of the English language by scoring a minimum of 500 or higher (for graduate level students) on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). No provisional admission is offered whereby a student may come to the college and spend a semester or year learning English. Applicants are responsible for the payment of all tuition and fees at the time of registration. Hunter College does not provide financial assistance to international students; they must be in a position to finance tuition, fees, room and board, insurance, books and incidental expenses. The estimated cost is $38,000 per year for undergraduate students and $43,564 and for graduate level students and is subject to change. Hunter College does not make housing arrangements for students; it is essential that students be prepared to make their own housing arrangements upon arrival.

For more information, contact the International Students Office, Hunter College, 695 Park Avenue, Room 1109 Hunter East, New York, NY 10065; telephone: (212) 772-4864; e-mail: intlss@hunter.cuny.edu. Policies governing the Office of Admissions and the International Students Office are based on policies and practices recommended by NAFSA,
Introduction

Return to CUNY Medical Withdrawal & Re-Entry Policy & Procedure Governing Dangerous Student Behavior

The City University of New York (“CUNY”) is committed to the academic success and personal growth of its students. As part of that commitment, CUNY and its constituent campuses are responsible for providing a safe learning and working environment for students, faculty, staff and other members of the university community. Some students may, because of a medical condition, engage in behavior that presents a direct threat of harm to themselves or to others, or substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others. In such situations, the safety and security of the campus community, including the individual student, is paramount. This policy does not replace or supersede reasonable and appropriate security and health and safety measures, such as calling 911 or taking other immediate action in case of imminent threat to life or limb.

In addition to taking action to protect the security and safety of the campus community, a college may address the student’s conduct to determine if action under this policy or under the student disciplinary process is appropriate. When a student’s conduct that directly threatens or substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others appears to relate to a medical condition, the campus may, at its option, address the student’s conduct either in accordance with this policy, or through the student disciplinary process. If the student’s conduct constitutes a threat solely to him or herself, it should be addressed under this policy rather than the disciplinary process.

The Department of Medical Laboratory Sciences offers a rigorous and extensive education in biomedical science that prepares students for employment in clinical (hospital and private diagnostic), research (academic/biotechnology/pharmaceutical) and public health laboratories and for advanced degrees in graduate (Master's/Ph.D.) and professional (medical/dental/physician assistant) schools as well as advanced clinical certifications.

Two academic degrees for undergraduates are offered: the BS in Medical Laboratory Sciences: Biomedical Science and the BS in Medical Laboratory Sciences: Clinical Science. Both majors emphasize laboratory training through classroom work. The Medical Laboratory Sciences: Biomedical Science major is intended for those students who plan to obtain advanced graduate or medical degrees. Students in this major are encouraged to perform independent study research projects with faculty. The Medical Laboratory Sciences: Clinical Science major is licensure qualifying and is intended for those students who plan to take the New York State (NYS) Education Department licensure exam for Clinical laboratory technologists. A license is required to work as a clinical laboratory technologist in NYS. Clinical laboratory technologists perform analytical tests on patient samples and play an essential role in the diagnosis and treatment of disease. The Clinical Science major requires students to perform a departmentally arranged eight-week full time summer internship in a hospital or private diagnostic laboratory. Students in the Clinical Science major may also pursue advanced graduate and medical degrees.

Medical Laboratory Sciences: Graduate Program Descriptions

Return to Medical Laboratory Sciences

The department offers three graduate programs BS/MA in Medical Laboratory Sciences/Biological Sciences with Specialization in Biotechnology. The BS/MA is a collaboration between the Departments of Medical Laboratory Sciences and Biology and is intended for qualified seniors majoring in medical laboratory sciences.

Post-baccalaureate Certificate in Medical Laboratory Technology

The Post-baccalaureate Certificate in Medical Laboratory Technology (Advanced Certificate) is a 15-credit, licensure qualifying, accelerated educational pathway that prepares individuals to become clinical laboratory technologists. It is intended for those who have already earned a baccalaureate degree in biological, chemical or physical science with specific prerequisites and serves as an alternative to earning a second BS in Medical Laboratory Sciences: Clinical Science.

Masters in Biomedical Laboratory Management

This degree provides working laboratory professionals with the knowledge and skills to enter positions of leadership in clinical/diagnostic, research, biotechnology, public health and pharmaceutical laboratories.

For these graduate programs, please consult the Hunter College Graduate catalog by clicking on the catalog home link on the navigation bar on the left side and going to the drop down menu on the right side of the page and clicking on the Graduate Catalog.

Return to the Music Department

Music Bachelor's Degrees

Music

About the Department

The Department of Music offers a wide variety of courses and degree programs tailored to the needs of students with different personal and professional objectives. Course offerings include a large selection of topics for both majors and non-majors covering many areas of music performance, theory, history, and literature. The BA degree can be completed evenings or days. In addition, the department sponsors numerous extracurricular events, including concerts, lectures, and master classes.
Private lessons in instruments and voice are provided to all performance majors and many other music majors by a distinguished roster of performance teachers. Financial aid is available to qualified performance majors and other majors who need to study with private teachers not on the staff.

Graduates of the department are active in classical and popular performance fields as singers, instrumentalists, and conductors. Concentration in music theory and composition can lead to career opportunities in orchestrating, choral or commercial arranging, film scoring, and music composing in contemporary and popular idioms. Concentration in music history paves the way for career opportunities in college teaching and musical scholarship, including such work as music journalism and criticism; lecturing; writing program and music-liner notes; editing, translating, and cataloging musical materials; and serving as a consultant to concert societies, opera houses, and publishers. Graduates of the BA/MA Degree in Education program are qualified to teach in the public elementary and high schools of New York State.

Graduate Study

Seniors of high academic standing who are recommended by the department may be permitted to take graduate courses for undergraduate credit. Seniors within 9 credits of graduation may apply to the Admissions Office for permission to take graduate courses creditable toward the MA degree.

Minor in Music

The music minor consists of 15 credits in music: MUSTH 10100; MUSHL 10100 or MUSHL 10700; one course with an MUSHL prefix at the 200-level; and 6 credits of music electives, 3 of which must be at the 200-level or higher. Prospective minors who have already mastered the material taught in the required 100-level courses (MUSTH 10100 and/or MUSHL 10100 or 10700) may be exempted from these courses by passing the same entrance examination that is required of prospective music majors (see Music 25-Credit Major (BA)). Music minors must substitute more advanced courses in any area of music study, which may include private lessons and ensembles, for the courses from which they are exempt. PLEASE NOTE: Music minors who wish to take private lessons for credit (MUSPF 40100) must first pass both the performance audition and music theory portions of the entrance examination.

Music - BA/MA

4-Year Dual BA/MA Degree

The department offers unusually gifted students the opportunity to obtain a master’s degree in four years with a minimum of 120 credits. Requirements are the same as those for the 42-credit BA plus those for the MA in music (30 credits at the graduate level; see graduate catalog). Students may be admitted to this program only after they have completed at least 60 credits of college work, including at least 29 credits in music (three semesters of music history, four semesters of music theory, and four semesters of musicianship). At least 12 credits (including six in music) must have been taken at Hunter College, and students must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.5 with no grade of less than B in any music course. At that time, they must fulfill all requirements for entry into the MA program except completion of the BA degree. The graduate adviser must be consulted about the MA requirements.

Music - BMus

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

Electives:

- 4 credits in music courses above the 100-level.

Recital:

- A senior recital, for which no credit is given, is also required.

Piano Proficiency Requirement

All music majors must demonstrate elementary proficiency at the piano. Students should plan to fulfill this requirement during their first year of study. A passing grade on the piano proficiency examination is a prerequisite for the third semester of study in music theory (MUSTH 32000). Students entering Hunter with limited keyboard background may take MUSPF 21300-MUSPF 21400 (Piano I and II) for elective credit or private lessons in piano at their own expense. The Music Department office has a list of recommended piano teachers.

Music 25-Credit Major (BA)

This degree is designed for students who want to study music in the context of a general liberal arts education, but who do not plan to pursue careers in music. It may also be convenient for students who enter Hunter with a large number of transfer credits in music. Requirements are:

Foundational Courses
Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Piano Proficiency Requirement

All music majors must demonstrate elementary proficiency at the piano. Students should plan to fulfill this requirement during their first year of study. A passing grade on the piano proficiency examination is a prerequisite for the third semester of study in music theory (MUSTH 32000). Students entering Hunter with limited keyboard background may take MUSPF 21300-MUSPF 21400 (Piano I and II) for elective credit or private lessons in piano at their own expense. The Music Department office has a list of recommended piano teachers.

Music 42-Credit Major (BA)

This degree is designed for students planning to pursue professional careers in music. It provides basic training in all areas of music and serves as a foundation for graduate study of any aspect of the field. Requirements are:

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

Major Programs

The Department of Music offers three undergraduate and two BA/MA major programs to fit individual interests and requirements. Students must take three examinations before declaring a music major:
1. Music notation, rudimentary theory, and basic musicianship skills. This examination is prerequisite to MUSTH 22000 (Music Theory I).

   Students who do not pass it must take MUSTH 10100 (Music Theory Fundamentals) or learn the material on their own, then repeat the examination.

2. Elementary music history and literature. This examination is prerequisite to MUSHL 20500 (Music History I). Students who do not pass it must take MUSHL 10100 (Introduction to Music) or learn the material on their own, then repeat the examination.

3. Performance audition on an instrument or voice. This examination is prerequisite to MUSPF 40100 (Private Instruction in Instrument or Voice). Students whose performance skills fall below New York State School Music Association (NYSSMA) level 2, equivalent to about one year of study, must take MUSPF 21100-MUSPF 21200 (Voice I-II), MUSPF 21300-MUSPF 21400 (Piano III), or private lessons at their own expense (without credit), then repeat the examination. Students with no experience in performance may defer the audition until the end of their first semester of study.

   Prospective majors should consult the Music Department’s undergraduate adviser as soon as possible to discuss these examinations and any prerequisite courses they may need before beginning the major.

Piano Proficiency Requirement

All music majors must demonstrate elementary proficiency at the piano. Students should plan to fulfill this requirement during their first year of study. A passing grade on the piano proficiency examination is a prerequisite for the third semester of study in music theory (MUSTH 32000). Prospective minors who have already mastered the material taught in the required 100-level courses MUSTH 10100 and/or MUSHL 10100 or MUSHL 10700) may be exempted from these courses by passing the same entrance examination that is required of prospective music majors (see above). Music minors may substitute more advanced courses in any area of music study, including private lessons (subject to availability) and ensembles, for the courses from which they are exempt. PLEASE NOTE: Music minors who wish to take private lessons for credit (MUSPF 40100) must first pass both the performance audition and music theory portions of the entrance examination.

Grading Policies

Students must have grades of C or better in all prerequisite courses in order to take courses that are required for the major. The grade of CR may not be elected in major courses. In accordance with Hunter College policy, a course may not be taken more than twice without permission of the department.

Honors

To qualify for departmental honors in music, a student must have a 3.5 grade point average in major courses and complete an honors project, taken under the following course number. The project, which must be approved in advance by the Policy Committee, may be a research paper on a historical, theoretical, or other topic; an original composition; or a recital. All projects should demonstrate an advanced level, a broad scope, and a high quality, and must be done under the supervision of a faculty member of the Music Department.

Music/Music Teacher Education Pre-K-12 - BA/MA

Major Programs

The Department of Music offers three undergraduate and two BA/MA major programs to fit individual interests and requirements. Students must take three examinations before declaring a music major:

1. Music notation, rudimentary theory, and basic aural skills. This examination is prerequisite to MUSTH 22000 (Music Theory I).

   Students who do not pass it must take MUSTH 10100 (Basic Musicianship) or learn the material on their own, then repeat the examination.

2. Elementary music history and literature. This examination is prerequisite to MUSHL 20500 (Music History I). Students who do not pass it must take MUSHL 10100 (Introduction to Music) or learn the material on their own, then repeat the examination.

3. Performance audition on an instrument or voice. This examination is prerequisite to MUSPF 40100 (Private Instruction in Instrument or Voice). Students whose performance skills fall below New York State School Music Association (NYSSMA) level 2, equivalent to about one year of study, must take MUSPF 21100-MUSPF 21200 (Voice I-II), MUSPF 21300-MUSPF 21400 (Piano III), or private lessons at their own expense (without credit), then repeat the examination. Students with no experience in performance may defer the audition until the end of their first semester of study.

   Prospective majors should consult the Music Department’s undergraduate adviser as soon as possible to discuss these examinations and any prerequisite courses they may need before beginning the major.

Piano Proficiency Requirement

All music majors must demonstrate elementary proficiency at the piano. Students should plan to fulfill this requirement during their first year of study. A passing grade on the piano proficiency examination is a prerequisite for the second year of study in music theory (MUSTH 32000 and MUSTH 32100). Students entering Hunter with limited keyboard background may take MUSPF 21300-MUSPF 21400 (Piano I and II) for elective credit or private lessons in piano at their own expense. The Music Department office has a list of recommended piano teachers.

5- to 6-Year Dual BA/MA Degree in Teacher Education
Exceptionally qualified students may obtain a master’s degree in teacher education in 5-6 years with a minimum of 140 credits. Requirements are the same as those for the 42-credit BA plus requirements for the MA degree in music teacher education (see graduate catalog). Students may be admitted to this program only after they have completed at least 60 credits of college work, including at least 29 credits in music (three semesters of music history, four semesters of music theory, and four semesters of musicianship). At least 12 credits (including six in music) must have been taken at Hunter College, and students must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.5 with no grade of less than B in any music course. They must have passed the Music Department’s piano proficiency examination and an audition-interview demonstrating reasonable mastery of an instrument or voice. In addition, they must either have passed the LAST (Liberal Arts and Sciences Test) or fulfilled the following requirements of the School of Education:

a. Completion of developmental courses;

b. Grade of B- or better in ENGL 12000 or a 200-level English course;

c. Application, on-site essay, and interview with the School of Education;

d. Proof of negative result on TB test;

e. Maximum of 6 credits taken with CR/NC grades, or else calculation of those grades as C/F for computation of grade-point average.

Admission requires the consent of both the Music Department and the School of Education. See the School of Education section of both the undergraduate and graduate catalogs for more information.

Minor

For 25-credit music majors, the minor consists of 12 credits in a field of study leading to a BA degree and approved by the Music Department adviser. Double-majors and students in other music major programs are exempt from the minor requirement. Minor courses can be used without limit to satisfy stages 1, 2, and 3 of the GER.

Minor for non-Majors

For students minoring in music, the requirements are determined by the student’s major department. See your major adviser. The Music Department recommends the following courses. Because 300-level courses are intended primarily for music majors and have extensive prerequisites, students whose major departments require a 300-level course in the minor may, with permission of their adviser, substitute a 200-level course in the music minor.

Hunter College Scholarships, Awards, Prizes and Other Financial Assistance for Marticulated Students

Hunter College recognizes academic merit and need through a growing number of scholarship and fellowship programs. In general, these fall into two categories: scholarships and fellowships for incoming students; and scholarships, fellowships, awards and prizes for continuing students.

Incoming Students

There are several four-year scholarship opportunities for incoming first-year, full-time students, including the CUNY Macaulay Honors College financial package, Athena Scholarship, Dormitory Scholars Awards and Scholars Awards.

Continuing Students

Scholarship opportunities, awards and prizes for currently enrolled students are generally based on need, merit and, in some cases, area of study. The Office of Student Services publishes The Grants Guide, a resource listing of scholarship opportunities, which is available in the Office of Student Services, 1119 Hunter East and online at http://www.studentservices.hunter.cuny.edu/grant/.

Incoming and continuing students who wish to be considered for awards from scholarship funds administered through the college should submit a Hunter College Scholarship application, available online at the following websites:

http://studentservices.hunter.cuny.edu;

http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/finaid;

For more information, contact the coordinator of scholarship opportunities in the Office of Financial Aid (212) 772-4818.

Other Sources of Financial Assistance Hunter College is committed to providing its students with the maximum amount of financial assistance available from government grants, loans and work-study opportunities. Information and assistance in obtaining financial aid is available from the Office of Financial Aid, Hunter North Room 241 or by logging onto www.hunter.cuny.edu/finaid.

Hunter College Foundation
Established in 1991, the Hunter College Foundation is dedicated to ensuring continued access to the highest quality public higher education and to helping Hunter maintain its longstanding reputation for academic distinction. Undergraduate scholarships and graduate fellowships may be set up in the Hunter College Foundation.

The Scholarship and Welfare Fund

The Scholarship and Welfare Fund of the Alumni Association, a not-for-profit group established in 1949, administers a number of funds to provide scholarships to students who otherwise might not be able to complete their education. For over fifty years, the Scholarship and Welfare Fund has contributed substantially to the education of Hunter College students. Contributions from alumni, friends, chapters and classes have provided the funds needed for this support.

Many endowed scholarships have been established through funds donated in the names of individuals, classes and chapters of the Alumni Association to provide assistance to students on the basis of both scholarship and financial need. They include college-wide awards and awards to graduating seniors.

New York State Financial Aid Programs

Return to Financial Aid

Tuition Assistance Program (TAP)

This grant is awarded to New York State residents who are enrolled full-time in a degree-granting program and meet the income criteria. To be eligible for a TAP award, each semester students must register for 12 credits which are directly attributable to their degree.

Students should consult with an adviser in the Office of Advising Services or their major department when planning their programs to ensure continued TAP eligibility. SEEK students should consult with their SEEK counselor.

Awards ranging from $200 to $5,000 are made to dependent students and independent students with dependents whose New York State taxable income is $80,000 or less or to independent students with no dependents if the taxable income is $10,000 or less. Students may receive awards for eight semesters; SEEK students may receive awards for ten semesters. A student with a disability that prevents attendance on a full-time basis may be eligible to receive TAP while attending on a part-time basis.

CUNY Student Tuition Assistance (CUSTA)

Students who are otherwise eligible for a maximum TAP award but whose award is reduced because they have received four semesters of payment may be eligible for a CUSTA award up to $100 a semester.

Aid for Part-Time Study (APTS)

This award provides assistance to students who attend less than full time, have accrued a minimum of 6 credits (not equated) and have not exhausted their TAP eligibility. In order to be eligible, a student must be a New York State resident and enrolled for at least 6 credits.

The legislature established the Aid for Part-time Study (APTS) program in 1984 in a new section 666 of the Education Law. Aid for Part-time Study is a different program from Part-time TAP (established in 2006) with different requirements. One difference is that there is no prior study (prior earned credits) requirement for APTS.
The program is campus-based: that is, individual campuses that decide to participate in the program select recipients and determine award amounts after HESC allocates funds based on an institution's prior year part-time degree credit enrollment. APTS is not an entitlement program and not all potentially eligible students will necessarily receive an award. Institutions have the discretion to determine policy for administering the program, to make the decisions, and to provide awards to students who demonstrate the greatest financial need until the institution's allotted funds are exhausted. Statute does not define need of specify how the need is to be determined.

New York State World Trade Center Memorial Scholarship

The World Trade Center Memorial Scholarship Program for study at the City University of New York is intended for victims, spouses and children of the victims who died or were severely disabled as a result of the September 11 terrorist attacks. The program also provides scholarships to the spouses and children of those who died or were severely disabled during ongoing rescue and recovery efforts, including firefighters, police officers, peace officers and emergency medical service workers.

The scholarships cover the cost of tuition, fees, books, supplies, transportation and room and board, if applicable, for four years of full-time undergraduate study or for five academic years of a program of academic study as defined by the Commissioner of Education.

The scholarships were established by Governor George Pataki's Executive Order 113 and related legislation to establish such a program, along with a CUNY Board of Trustees resolution.

Applications are available online at: http://www.hesc.com/Forms/WTC_scholarship_inst.html

Veterans Tuition Award Program

Eligible students are those who are New York State residents and discharged under honorable conditions from the U.S. Armed forces and who are:

- Persian Gulf Veterans who served in the Persian Gulf on or after August 2, 1990.
- Afghanistan Veterans who served in Afghanistan during hostilities on or after September 11, 2001.
- Veterans of the armed forces of the United States who served in hostilities that occurred after February 28, 1961 as evidenced by receipt of an Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, Navy Expeditionary Medal or a Marine Corps Expeditionary Medal.

They must satisfy all other eligibility requirements including filing for TAP and Federal Pell Grants. Students must demonstrate good academic standing and meet college guidelines for pursuit of this award program. Awards cannot exceed the cost of tuition. After the initial year eligibility is established, students must re-file a supplement yearly. Supplements are available on request from New York State Higher Education Services Corporation (HESC) at (888) 697-4372. All applications must be completed by June 30th of the academic year for which an award is sought.

For more information see the HESC Web site at: http://www.hesc.com/bulletin.nsf/

Army Reserve National Guard-Army Continuing Education System (ARNG-ACES)
The New York State Army Reserve National Guard offers tuition assistance through two programs for full- and part-time students. All current and future members of the New York Army Reserve National Guard (ARNG) are eligible except for members serving on active or full-time duty and those on Active Guard Reserve status. ARNG members who also receive veterans' benefits are not eligible. For full time students, the program is limited to tuition costs, instructional fees in lieu of tuition and laboratory or shop fees specifically required as a condition of enrollment in a course. Part-time students must be enrolled half-time (7 or fewer credits).

Commissioned officers must agree to remain in the ARNG for four years after the last course for which tuition assistance has been provided is completed. For more information on these programs, contact the Civilian Education Office at (518) 786-4500.

State Aid to Native Americans

Enrolled members of a New York State tribe and their children who are attending, or planning to attend, a college in New York State and are New York residents. Awards are made to all eligible applicants. There is no qualifying examination. Awards are available for two-, four- or five-year programs.

Eligible and/or certified American Indian students are eligible to receive grant awards of up to $2,000 per year for up to four years of full-time study (five years for specific programs requiring five years to complete degree requirements).

If funding is available, eligible students may receive aid for summer course work. Any aid a student receives for summer school study is deducted from the student's maximum entitlement for four years of full-time college study.

Prorated amounts are available for students taking fewer than 12 credits. Contact Native American Education Unit, New York State Education Department, Room 374 Education Building, Albany, NY 12234. Call (518) 474-0537 for information. The deadlines are July 15 for the fall semester, December 31 for the spring semester and May 20 for the summer semester.

Congressional Teacher Scholarship

Congressional Teacher Scholarships are available to undergraduate students who agree to teach in areas in which there is a critical shortage of teachers. Recipients must agree to teach two years in the U.S. for each annual payment received. The service obligation must be fulfilled within 10 years of completing the undergraduate education program. Recipients who fail to meet these requirements must repay all or part of the award plus accrued interest.

Applicants must be or have placed in the top 10 percent of their high school graduating class and be New York State residents who are or will be enrolled in a specific program during the upcoming academic year. Winners receive up to $5,000 a year for a period of no more than four years of full-time undergraduate study. For more information or for an application, contact the Bureau of Higher and Professional Education Testing, Albany, NY 12230; (518) 474-6394.

Child of Veteran Award

Students, whose parent(s) served in the U.S. Armed Forces during specified periods of war or national emergency and, as a result of service, died or suffered a 40% or more disability, is classified as missing in action or was a prisoner of war, may be eligible for this award from New York State. The veteran must currently be a New York State resident or have been a New York State resident at the time of death, if death occurred during or as a result of service.

A recipient of a Child of Veteran Award can receive $450 a year for four years of undergraduate study without consideration of income or tuition costs. However, the combined Child of Veteran Award and TAP award may not exceed the amount of tuition charges. Students must initially establish eligibility by submitting a Child Of Veteran...
Memorial Scholarships for Families of Deceased Firefighters, Volunteer Firefighters, Police Officers, Peace Officers and Emergency Medical Service Workers

This award provides financial aid to children, spouses and financial dependents of deceased firefighters, volunteer firefighters, police officers, peace officers and emergency medical service workers who have died in the line of duty in service to the State of New York.

Memorial Scholarships provide funds to help meet the cost of attending college. The award covers up to four years of full-time undergraduate study (or five years in an approved five-year bachelor's degree program).

Students must establish eligibility by submitting a Memorial Scholarship Supplement, which is available from the New York State Higher Education Services Corporation (HESC). Once eligibility has been established, the student must submit an application for payment by May 1 of the academic year for which payment of the scholarship is sought.

To apply for payment, the student must complete the FAFSA and apply for TAP. For more information see the HESC Web site at: http://www.hesc.com/bulletin.nsf/

Professional Opportunity Scholarships

Professional Opportunity Scholarships (for approved professional programs, e.g., accounting, architecture, engineering, nursing, occupational therapy, ophthalmic dispensing, pharmacy, physical therapy, dental hygiene, landscape architecture, physician's assistant, law, podiatry, optometry, psychology, social work, veterinary medicine, speech/language pathology/audiology) are available to U.S. citizens and permanent New York State residents. Students must be enrolled full-time (matriculated) in an approved program of study in New York State. Students must agree to practice in New York State for one year in their chosen profession for each annual payment received. Students must demonstrate good academic standing and meet college guidelines for pursuit of the program.

Recipients must be chosen in the following order of priority:

1. Economically disadvantaged (prescribed criteria) and a minority group member historically underrepresented in the profession.

2. Minority group member underrepresented in the profession.

3. Candidate who is enrolled in or is a graduate of College Discovery (CD), Search for Education, Elevation and Knowledge (SEEK), Educational Opportunity Program (EOP), Higher Educational Opportunity Programs (HEOP).

Awards range from $1,000 to $5,000 a year for up to four or five years in certain programs. TAP and some other benefits may supplement this award. Contact the college Financial Aid Office or the New York State Education Dept., Bureau of Post secondary Grants Administration, Cultural Education Center, Room 5B68, Albany, NY 12230, (518) 474-5705. Applications must be submitted each year. The deadline each year is May 1 of the award year. (Example: The deadline for 2012-2013 is May 1, 2013.)
Search for Education, Elevation and Knowledge (SEEK)

The SEEK Program provides financial aid and support services (concentrated counseling, remedial instruction, and tutoring) to educationally and economically disadvantaged students attending a senior or technical college. Applicants must be residents of New York State; have received a New York State high school diploma or equivalency; be ineligible for admission under normal standards, but demonstrate potential for completing a college program; and meet family income guidelines as determined by the state.

Students apply for entry to the SEEK program through CUNY Admissions. Students must file a FAFSA and provide the Financial Aid Office with supporting documentation to have their financial eligibility confirmed.

Nondegree Students

Return to General Information

Students who are not interested in earning a degree but wish to enroll in college credit bearing courses relating to career advancement, preparation for graduate school or other special interests may be admitted as nondegree students. All students wishing to enroll at Hunter in a nondegree status must obtain an application for nondegree admission from the Hunter College website www.hunter.cuny.edu or the College Welcome Center, Room 100 Hunter North. This application, along with verification of at least a high school diploma or 24 earned college credits, must be submitted to the Office of Admissions. Neither a high school certification nor an IEP diploma is acceptable (see the nondegree application for further information.) A nondegree admission fee of $65 will be charged at the student's first registration. Nondegree students may register for any course for which space is available at the time of registration, provided they have met the prerequisites and have taken and passed applicable placement exams. (Check with the appropriate departments for more information concerning prerequisites and placement exams.) Such students: (1) are permitted to attempt up to 12 credit hours before they are required to take the CUNY Skills Assessment Test(s) and, providing they pass all parts of the test(s), must (2) either matriculate or leave the college when they have attempted 24 credits. Courses in which the student receives a grade of "W" do not count toward the 12- or 24-credit limitations. Students are permitted to take the CUNY Skills Assessment Test(s) at any time before the 12-credit limit. Generally, all parts of the Skills Assessment Test(s) must be taken, with the understanding that failing any part of the test(s) means the student cannot register for any further courses at Hunter College until all parts are successfully completed. (For student options in this case, see below.)

Baccalaureate, master's or doctoral degree holders (from a college or university accredited by a regional U.S. accrediting association) are exempt from testing and the 24-credit limit, provided proof of the degree is submitted along with their application for admission.

For students who have failed any part of the CUNY Skills Assessment Tests and consequently cannot enroll at Hunter in a nondegree or matriculated status, remediation is available at CUNY community colleges. Generally, students must matriculate at these colleges before they can take the appropriate remedial courses. Upon completing the relevant courses, students may apply for readmission to Hunter.

Credits earned at Hunter College as a non-degree student are automatically transferred into a degree program upon matriculation at Hunter. Those credits earned at Hunter will be accepted as residency credits.

Applications for all categories of nondegree students must be filed by April 1st for summer, May 1st for fall, October 1st for winter and November 1st for spring.
Notice of Access to Campus Crime Statistics, the Campus Security Report and Information on Registry

Return to Public Safety, College Regulations and Policies

The college Advisory Committee on Campus Safety will provide upon request all campus crime statistics as reported to the U.S. Department of Education, as well as the annual campus security report. The campus security report includes:

1. the campus crime statistics for the most recent calendar year and the two preceding calendar years;

2. campus policies regarding procedures and facilities to report criminal actions or other emergencies on campus;

3. policies concerning the security of and access to campus facilities;

4. policies on campus law enforcement;

5. a description of campus programs to inform students and employees about campus security procedures and practices and to encourage students and employees to be responsible for their own security and the security of others;

6. campus crime prevention programs;

7. policy concerning the monitoring through the police of criminal activity at offcampus locations of students organizations officially recognized by the college;

8. policies on illegal drugs, alcohol and underage drinking;

9. where information provided by the State on registered sex offenders may be obtained (also see below); and

10. policies on campus sexual assault programs aimed at the prevention of sex offenses and procedures to be followed when a sex offense occurs. This information is maintained pursuant to the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act.

The campus crime statistics and the annual campus security report are available at the reference desk of the library and the college Web site at http://publicsafety.hunter.cuny.edu/subpages/annualcrimereport.shtml. If you wish to be mailed copies of the campus crime statistics and the annual campus security report, you should contact Louis Mader, Director of Public Safety and Security at (212) 772-4521 and copies will be mailed to you within 10 days. The U.S. Department of Education’s Web site address for campus crime statistics is http://www.ed.gov/security/InstDetail.asp (then input the name of the school).

In accordance with the federal Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act, registered sex offenders now are required to register the name and address of any college at which he or she is a student or employee. The New York State Division of Criminal Justice maintains a registry of convicted sex offenders and informs the college’s chief security (public safety) officer of the presence on campus of a registered sex offender as a student or employee. You main contact the college’s chief security officer, Louis Mader, Director of Public Safety and Security, B122 West, (212) 772-4521 to obtain information about Level 2 or Level 3 registered sex offenders on campus. To obtain information about Level 3 offenders, you may contact the Division’s registry Web site at http://www.criminaljustice.state.ny.us/nsor/sor_about.htm and then click on “Search for Level 3 Sex Offenders” or access the directory at the college’s public safety department or police precinct. To obtain information about Level 2 offenders, you need to contact the public safety department, local police precinct in which the offender resides or attends college, or the Division’s sex offender registry at 800-262-3257.

One Stop

Return to Enrollment, Tuition and Fees, Financial Aid

One Stop
Room 217 Hunter North Building
(212) 772-4474

One Stop combines the most vital administrative services at Hunter College into one conveniently located office in Room 217 Hunter North Building. The One Stop incorporates the information services of the Registrar, Bursar and Financial Aid Offices. The One Stop is designed to help students navigate the administrative arm of the college by eliminating most of the “traveling” previously done between offices. In addition, The One Stop is conveniently located within the Registrar's office around the corner from the Bursar, Financial Aid and Admissions Offices, one floor up from the Hunter College Welcome Center and one floor down from the Medical Office. Many of the forms and services available in the One Stop are also available on the One Stop web pages at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/onestop.

Registration

Registration Procedures Prior to each registration period, the registrar's office develops a Schedule of Classes, available at the One Stop webpage. Students are assigned registration dates and times based upon their academic progress. Prior to each registration, an e-mail is sent to students at their "myhunter" email address alerting them that their registration appointment has been established. Students may then view their appointment time online by accessing their CUNYfirst student account at http://www.cuny.edu.

Each semester, as grades are submitted, the Office of the Registrar notifies students by e-mail that a grade has been posted on their transcript and is available for viewing at their CUNYfirst account. Students should pay careful attention to their grade and if there are any errors, contact their instructor immediately.

Access to CUNYfirst is available at the CUNY web page at www.cuny.edu or www.hunter.cuny.edu. Students may register, view their transcript, current schedule, current bill, change their address, phone number, view open course sections and access their registration appointment times. All course registration is performed at CUNYfirst via each student's CUNYfirst account.

Students wishing to register for courses at another CUNY campus may do so by applying for a CUNYePermit through the CUNY portal available at http://www.cuny.edu. Effective fall 2004, grades for courses taken on permit are posted to students' records and are computed in the GPA.

Opportunities for High School Students

Return to General Information
College Now

Students at New York City public high schools may acquaint themselves with undergraduate life by participating in Hunter College Now. Activities range from workshops for sharpening writing or mathematics skills to college-level courses across the arts and sciences. Each summer, Hunter College Now focuses on the sciences and mathematics by hosting high-performing students at the Summer Institute for accelerated coursework that is complemented by tutoring, college guidance and co-curricular activities. Admission to college-level courses offered through College Now is competitive. To qualify for college-level coursework, including the Summer Institute, a student must demonstrate mastery of basic mathematics and/or verbal skills, depending on the discipline, as measured by the SAT, PSAT and English language arts and mathematics Regents exams. College Now offerings, including credit-bearing courses, are provided at no cost.

College Credit Exams

There are a variety of exams available for high school students to gain college credit before they enroll. Currently, Hunter College accepts the Advanced Placement (AP) exam, the International Baccalaureate (IB) exam, GCE (The General Certificate of Education Advanced Level generally termed the GCE Advanced Level or more commonly the A-level). Hunter students may be granted as much as a year of degree credit (normally 30 credits) for Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate, GCE, College-Level Examination Program (CLEP), Regent College Examinations (RCE), and College-Level coursework. College-Level Coursework Students who completed college-level coursework offered by an accredited senior or community college while in high school will receive credit for courses in which grades of C or better are earned. Official College transcripts must be submitted to the Office of Admissions at Hunter for credits to be awarded. Students must make sure they don't sign up for the same classes once they matriculate here.

Advanced Placement

Hunter accepts AP credits for scores of 4 or 5 on the AP exams. If students have taken Advanced Placement (AP) examinations sponsored by the Educational Testing Services (ETS), they must ask ETS to forward their official scores to Hunter. Hunter College code is #2301. If they have also taken an AP exam but have not received their scores they can call 1.888.308.0013. Students need to score at least a 4 on the AP exam to earn credit and/or exemptions from requirements (some exams may require a 5).

International Baccalaureate Credit

Students who have received an International Baccalaureate diploma may receive credit for higher level IB exams with scores of 5, 6, or 7. An official transcript and IB Diploma are required for the credit process. Credit will be granted for IB Higher Level Exams when the IB Diploma is submitted.

GCE

The GCE traditionally comprised two levels: the Ordinary Level (O Level) and the Advanced Level (A Level). Hunter College awards 3-4 credit for A-Level subject results of A-E.

CLEP
Hunter College participates in the College Level Examination Program (CLEP), under which registered Hunter matriculated students can receive college credit by taking CLEP Subject Examinations. Only the subject Examinations listed in our CLEP Examinations handbook are honored. Please see the handbook for the Hunter's minimum qualifying score for each exam. Hunter College does NOT accept CLEP GENERAL EXAMINATIONS. No student can earn more than 30 credits for CLEP plus AP, IB credit.

Other Opportunities Program

Education Abroad Programs

Opportunities exist for study abroad in summer, winter intersession and during the academic year. There are a variety of countries, subject matters and languages to choose from. Current summer offerings include programs in: Germany, Ireland, Italy, Peru and Spain. Winter intersession typically offers programs in Argentina, Brazil, Italy and Hawaii. During the academic semester or year, Hunter students can participate in exchanges with Queen Mary College of the University of London as well as with the three main campuses (Melbourne, Geelong and Warnabul) of Deakin University in Australia. Additional information about Hunter programs is available on the Education Abroad website http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/educationabroad.

Besides the programs organized by Hunter College, students can participate in the study abroad programs of other CUNY colleges, as well as CUNY-wide exchanges. More information about these programs can be found at www.cuny.edu/studyabroad.

Hunter students also have the option of participating in programs offered by SUNY colleges. More information is available at www.studyabroad.com/suny.

Finally, Hunter College belongs to the University Studies Abroad Consortium (USAC) and all USAC programs are open to Hunter students. For more information go to http://usac.unr.edu/.

Continuing Education

Continuing Education at Hunter College offers non-credit courses for adults in a variety of disciplines. Classes in academic skill development, test preparation (for GED, GRE, GMAT, LSAT), personal finance, nursing, foreign languages, creative writing, social dance, fitness, computers, business and professional development. A variety of Professional Certificate Programs—such as Interpretation/Translation, Legal Studies, Medical Coding and Billing, and Graphic Design—are also offered. Whether students are new to the workforce, looking for a career change or simply looking to learn a new skill, our continuing education programs are designed to enhance professional development and personal enrichment. For more information about the classes offered, call (212) 650-3850 or visit the Continuing Education Web site at www.hunter.cuny.edu/continuinged.

The International English Language Institute (IELI) is a noncredit, continuing-education program offering courses in English as a second language to students from all over the world. Students at the IELI actively learn and use new skills to develop their fluency, accuracy and confidence in the English language. Classes for beginner through advanced levels are taught in the morning, afternoon, evening and on weekends. Students may register for full- or part-time programs. Preparation classes for the CUNY Assessment Tests and TOEFL are available to advanced-level students. Students who present proof of successfully completing the most advanced levels of the IELI program are not required to submit TOEFL scores as a part of their admission process to Hunter and other CUNY colleges. For more information call (212) 772-4292 or visit the Continuing Education Web site at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/eli.

The English Language Training Institute at Hunter College (ELT Institute) offers a wide variety of courses and services designed to train teachers of English as a second language. Through the use of multimedia, the internet, Hunter's computer labs and library, and New York City's cultural resources, instructors are trained to prepare students... for their future academic, social and professional lives. For more information about the classes offered, call (212) 650-3850 or visit the continuing Education Web site at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/eltinstitute.

The Writing Center through Continuing Education at Hunter College offers an exciting cultural showcase of writing workshops, special topic courses, and literary events since joining the CUNY Hunter community in September 2010. With specified classes for each literary genre, students at The Writing Center are educated on the literary field of their choice by successfully published authors from that same genre. In addition to helping students gain knowledge in classes, The Writing Center pushes to educate students outside of the typical classroom environment by offering free literary events throughout the semester where students have the unique opportunity to listen to their favorite authors speak and partake in a question and answer session with the audience.

For more information about the classes offered, call (212) 772-4294 or visit the Writing Center Web site at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/ce/the-writing-center

Parliamo Italiano: Hunter College has developed a relationship with Parliamo Italiano, an Italian language school. For more than 30 years, Parliamo Italiano has offered Italian Language courses using a proven method developed by the founding director, Francis Lally. Parliamo Italiano offers courses for all levels—days, evenings, and Saturdays. For more information about the classes offered, call (212) 774-4793 or visit the web site at http://www.parliamo.com

Alumni Association

1313B Hunter East; (212) 772-4087

The Alumni Association of Hunter College, composed of 85,000 women and men graduates of the college, has been in continuous existence since 1872. Membership is automatic upon graduation from any Hunter College degree program.

The Association provides opportunities for alumni to become actively involved in the life of the college and serves as the link between Hunter and its graduates. In addition to providing vital support for scholarships and academic programs, members participate in a variety of chapter and on-campus activities, including lectures, faculty round tables, workshops and book discussion groups.

Members can take advantage of campus facilities with the Alumni Card, which provides access to the college libraries, Sportsplex, instructional computing center, Chanin Language Center and career development services. Alumni can attend association meetings in January and May and stay informed about activities through the publication, At Hunter.

Instructional Computing and Information Technology Resources

http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/icit

The Instructional Computing and Information Technology Department (ICT) provides technology resources and services for students and faculty. These include the Computer Lab Classrooms in the North Building and Thomas Hunter Hall, equipped with 250 computers available to students; a 20-seat training facility; 200 technology equipped classrooms, and multiple distance learning centers. Other services available to faculty, students and staff include: e-mail, course management, computer training, consultation, audiovisual services, teleconferencing and videoconferencing services, telephone and voice mail services, computer networking services (on campus and off campus), software licenses and student information services. Guidelines for access to and use of these services and facilities are posted at each facility and are subject to the rules and regulations of the college.

Hours, locations and a general description of the facilities available in each area are posted on the ICIT Web site: http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/icit

In addition, ICIT manages computer work areas in several locations at each of Hunter’s five campus sites. Hours, locations and a general description of the facilities available in each area are posted on our Web site.

Overview
Over 16,000 undergraduate students attend Hunter College. These students vary widely in age, interests, background and educational goals. The Undergraduate Office of Admissions at Hunter College encourages all prospective students to meet with an admissions counselor to discuss their educational goals and opportunities at Hunter. Prospective students are also invited to visit the campus. Campus tours originate from the College Welcome Center, room 100 Hunter North.

How to Apply

To apply to Hunter College, students must complete the CUNY undergraduate application, which is available online at www.cuny.edu/apply.

Freshmen and transfer students are encouraged to apply by February 1 for the fall semester and September 15 for the spring semester. Students should complete the online application and submit the application processing fee and all supporting documentation as early as possible to guarantee full consideration for admission and scholarship aid. To apply as a part-time student contact the Hunter College Welcome Center for an appropriate application.

Application Fees

- $65 freshman
- $70 transfer

I. POLICY STATEMENT

The City University of New York seeks to create and maintain a safe environment in which all members of the University community—students, faculty and staff—can learn and work free from the fear of sexual assault and other forms of violence. The University’s policies on Workplace Violence and Domestic Violence and the Workplace apply to all acts of violence that occur in the workplace or that may spill over into the workplace. The University’s Sexual Harassment Policy prohibits many forms of unwelcome conduct, including but not limited to, physical conduct of a sexual nature. This policy is specifically directed towards sexual assault, domestic and intimate partner violence and stalking committed against students on and off-campus.

CUNY wants all victims of sexual assault, stalking and domestic and intimate partner violence to know that the University has professionals and law enforcement officers who are trained in the field to assist student victims in obtaining help, including immediate medical care, counseling and other essential services. If the alleged perpetrator is also a member of the CUNY community, the college will take prompt action to investigate, and, where appropriate, to discipline and sanction the alleged perpetrator. CUNY urges all victims to seek immediate help in accordance with the guidelines set forth in this policy with the assurance that all information received from a complaint will be handled as confidentially as possible.

In order to eliminate sexual assaults and other forms of violence perpetrated against students, and to create a safe college community, it is critical to provide an appropriate prevention education program and have trained professionals to provide vital supportive services.

Accordingly, CUNY is committed to the following goals:

• Providing clear and concise guidelines for students to follow in the event that they or someone they know have been the victim of a sexual assault, domestic/intimate partner violence, or stalking.

• Assisting victims of sexual assault or abuse in obtaining necessary medical care and counseling, whether on or off-campus.

• Providing the most informed and up-to-date education and information to its students about how to identify situations that involve sexual assault, domestic and intimate partner violence, or stalking, and ways to prevent these forms of violence.

• Educating and training all staff members, including counselors, public safety officers and student affairs staff and faculty, to assist victims of sexual assault, domestic/intimate partner violence, or stalking.

• Ensuring that disciplinary procedures are followed in the event that the alleged perpetrator is a CUNY student or employee.
Policy

Return to CUNY Medical Withdrawal & Re-Entry Policy & Procedure Governing Dangerous Student Behavior

1. As an alternative to disciplinary action that may be taken under Article XV of CUNY’s Bylaws, a college of CUNY may bring a proceeding to require a student to withdraw from the university, or, under some circumstances, the student’s home college and/or from residence in a college residence hall under this withdrawal policy and procedures when the student’s behavior evidences a direct threat of harm to others, or when the student’s behavior substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others. A direct threat means a significant risk of harm to health or safety.

2. A student who threatens to commit or attempts to commit suicide, and who does not otherwise threaten direct harm to others or substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others, shall not be subject to disciplinary action for that threat or attempt under Article XV of the CUNY’s Bylaws. If a college determines that withdrawal of the student or retention of the student subject to specified conditions is appropriate because the student’s behavior threatens direct harm to him or herself, the procedures outlined below shall apply instead of disciplinary procedures.

3. A student who withdraws or is withdrawn from the university, a college or college residence hall pursuant to this policy may apply for re-entry to the University, a college and/or to a college residence hall. The application for re-entry shall be made to the student’s home college’s Chief Student Affairs Officer, who shall determine whether the student still presents a direct threat of harm to him or herself or others or still presents a significant risk to substantially disrupt the learning or working environment of others. If the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee determines, based on the assessment of a qualified, licensed mental health professional, that there is not a significant risk that the behavior that required withdrawal will be repeated, he or she shall approve the student’s application for re-entry.

Return to the Political Science Department

Political Science Department Description

Return to Political Science

Political science deals with the political, social, economic, and cultural arrangements through which people govern their lives. It attempts to interpret the past, explain the present, and often dares to draw images of the future. As a discipline, political science bridges several fields: the evolution of political thought and debates about contested political ideas today; comparing different types of political systems and how they meet familiar political challenges; the use of power and influence by states and other actors to achieve their goals cooperatively or competitively with important consequences for the security, prosperity and well-being of societies around the world; and the relationship, past and present, between the American people and their governing institutions.

Students will find courses on:

a) the ideas of great thinkers from Plato to the present;
b) forms of popular political participation and engagement;
c) the causes of war and peace;
d) democratic and authoritarian political systems;
e) international political economy;
f) women and politics;
g) American institutions ranging from the presidency to the courts;
h) International and U.S. constitutional law;
i) important areas of public policy such as immigration;
j) and the political systems of countries in Latin America, Europe, Asia, Africa, and the Middle East.

Political science explores large and vital questions about democracy, justice, peace, participation, power, leadership, security, development, human rights, and more.

A large number of political science majors choose some branch of public service upon completing their bachelor's degrees, often building upon internship experiences they have had as Hunter students. Graduates have pursued careers in government within the United States and some go into teaching. Others enter business. Some work in journalism. Still others enter politics or go on to law school or graduate training.

Political science, therefore, prepares students for a variety of career opportunities as well as for a lifetime of active citizenship.
Pre-Professional Programs

- Pre-Health Professions Students preparing for a career in medicine or other health professions (osteopathy, dentistry, optometry, podiatry, physical therapy, physician assistant programs and veterinary medicine) may major or minor in any area (Biology, English, Urban Affairs, etc). Pre-Health is not a program and there is no special application for undergraduate students at Hunter College who are interested in following a pre-medical curriculum. Students can register with the Pre-Health Advising Office at Hunter College by going to http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/prehealth/pre-health. It is important that students maintain a close relationship with the premedical advising office from the time they become interested in such a career. Admission to professional schools is highly competitive so exceptional academic preparation is key, as is strong experience in leadership, research and community service. There are several premedical clubs on campus and students are encouraged to join one as soon as they enter Hunter.

In addition to our undergraduate program, the college offers a Health Careers Preparation certificate for students who already have a bachelor's degree (in any field) and wish to prepare for admission to a health professions school on a full-time or part-time basis. Post-Baccalaureate students who have little or no science background are welcome as well as those who need to enhance their credentials.

The Pre-Health Professions Advising offices are located on the 12th floor of the East building. All Students are encouraged to review the invaluable information on the pre-health website at www.hunter.cuny.edu/pre-health and to join the pre-health listserv. Students can make an appointment with an adviser on the pre-health website http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/prehealth/advisement. For questions you can e-mail prehealth@hunter.cuny.edu.

- Prelaw There are no specific courses or a specific major required for entry to law school. Students applying to law school come from a variety of majors including those in the humanities, sciences, and social sciences. Legal educators agree that a broad and rigorous liberal arts education is the best preparation for admission to and success in law school. Students planning to attend law school should take courses that develop writing skills and the ability to think critically and creatively; they should discuss with the Pre-Law Advisor and with academic advisers which courses will best advance their educational and career goals. There is a 15-credit, interdisciplinary Legal Studies minor, housed in the Political Science Department, which, although not required, might be of interest to students who wish to explore legal themes in the context of their undergraduate work. There are some areas of legal practice for which a specific undergraduate major or coursework in a particular area is required or helpful. In order to be admitted to the Patent Bar, for example, an undergraduate degree or other training in science, computer science or engineering is required. More information regarding course selection is available at Hunter's Pre-Law Website: http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/prelaw/preparing-for-law-school/course-selection. Students interested in law are encouraged to meet with the Pre-Law Adviser as early as possible to learn about opportunities to explore legal careers and to discuss preparation for applying to law school. To schedule an appointment with the Pre-Law Advisory Office, please phone (212) 772-4882. For quick questions, contact Hunter's Pre-Law Adviser, Elise Jaffe, at prelaw@hunter.cuny.edu. To keep up with Pre-Law events and opportunities on campus, students are also encouraged to subscribe to the Pre-Law Listserv by following the instructions that appear on the homepage of the Pre-Law Website.

- Preparation for Social Work A major in one of the social or behavioral sciences is preferred for students planning to enter the field of social work. Specific entrance requirements vary for the different graduate schools of social work. Most schools recommend a minimum of 24 credits in the social sciences. A major in sociology or psychology is desirable for those interested in casework or group work; a major in sociology, political science, economics or urban affairs is desirable for those interested in community organization. In addition, field placement courses that provide internships in social work agencies are highly recommended. Students planning to go to a graduate school of social work are encouraged to speak with an adviser in the Office of Advising Services.
Procedures

Return to CUNY Medical Withdrawal & Re-Entry Policy & Procedure Governing Dangerous Student Behavior

A. Emergency Interim Removal

1. If a student’s behavior presents an immediate, severe and direct threat to him or herself or others (by evidencing a likelihood of harm to him or herself or others), or is substantially disrupting the learning or working environment of others, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee (if such Officer is not immediately available) may direct an emergency interim removal of the student that restricts the student’s access to the College’s campus or residence hall, as appropriate, for an interim period before a final determination of the matter. The Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee shall consult with the university’s Office of the General Counsel prior to making any such direction.

2. The fact that a student has threatened to commit suicide or attempted suicide, by itself, does not allow the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee to direct an emergency interim removal. In all cases involving such students, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee must attempt to have the student individually assessed by a mental health professional as outlined below in A.3. before deciding whether to direct an emergency interim removal.

3. Except as permitted in III A. 1. above, before determining whether to require an emergency interim removal, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee shall take the following steps:

   a. exercise all reasonable efforts to meet with the student; and

   b. in that meeting, offer the student the opportunity to be evaluated at the college’s expense by a qualified, licensed mental health professional, who may be an employee of a college of CUNY or CUNY or on retainer to a college of CUNY or CUNY. Whenever possible, that professional shall have had no prior contact with the student. The professional shall assess whether the student’s behavior presents an immediate, severe and direct threat to him or herself or others or presents a significant risk to repeat behavior that substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others, and, if so, whether the student’s behavior may be the result of a medical issue. That professional shall present his or her findings to the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee, who shall determine based on those findings and other evidence available whether emergency interim removal under these procedures is appropriate.

   c. If the student refuses to meet, and/or refuses to undergo such assessment or to keep a scheduled appointment, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee may require emergency interim removal without a meeting and/or mental health assessment if he or she reasonably concludes on the basis of the available evidence that the student’s behavior evidences an immediate, severe and direct threat of harm to the student or others or is substantially disrupting the working or learning environment of others and presents a significant risk to continue that substantial disruption. The Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee shall consult with the university’s Office of the General Counsel before making such a determination.

4. The emergency interim removal from the college and/or residence hall shall remain in effect until a final decision has been made pursuant to the procedures below, unless, before a final decision is made, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee determines that the reasons for imposing the interim removal no longer exist.
B. Withdrawal After Emergency Interim Removal

1. If a student has been subjected to an emergency interim removal from the college and/or residence hall, the college shall request retention with conditions or voluntary withdrawal within 7 calendar days of such removal. Should the request for retention with conditions or voluntary withdrawal request be refused, the college shall determine within 7 calendar days of such refusal whether to take further action against the student, including whether to initiate involuntary withdrawal proceedings or, disciplinary proceedings under Article XV of the CUNY Bylaws, as applicable under II A. above, and shall send notice of either such proceeding in accordance with the notice requirements of the applicable procedure within that 7-day period. For students who have been subjected to an emergency interim removal without having undergone the assessment procedures outlined in III A. 3 above, the college shall follow the assessment procedures outlined below in B.2. a. prior to determining its course of action.

2. In cases where the student has been subjected to an emergency interim removal without assessment, the procedure for determining whether withdrawal is appropriate is as follows:

   a. The Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee shall exercise best efforts to meet with the student to discuss the student’s behavior and to hear the student’s explanation of the alleged behavior. If, after hearing the explanation, the Officer or designee still wishes to consider the possibility of the student’s withdrawal, he or she shall offer the student an opportunity to be evaluated, at the college’s expense, by a qualified, licensed mental health professional, who may be an employee of a college of CUNY or CUNY, or on retainer to a college of CUNY or CUNY. Whenever possible, that professional shall have had no prior contact with the student. The professional shall make findings concerning whether the student’s behavior presents a direct threat of harm to him or herself or others or presents a significant risk to repeat behavior that substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others and if so, whether the student’s behavior may be the result of a medical issue. The professional shall report such findings to the Chief Student Affairs Officer, who shall, based on those findings, and after consultation with the university’s Office of the General Counsel, determine the appropriate action, including whether to request that the student withdraw from the university, the college and/or the college residence hall or whether to request that the student agree to specified conditions in lieu of withdrawal.

   b. If the student refuses to undergo the requested assessment, or fails to keep the scheduled appointment, and the Chief Student Affairs Officer reasonably concludes on the basis of the available evidence that the student’s behavior presents a direct threat of harm to him or herself or others or substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others and presents a significant risk to repeat behavior that substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others, the Chief Student Affairs Officer may request that the student voluntarily withdraw from the university, the college and/or the college residence hall. The Chief Student Affairs Officer shall consult with the university’s Office of the General Counsel before making any such request.

   c. If the student agrees to the request for voluntary withdrawal or to the specified conditions, the Chief Student Affairs officer or designee shall (i) discuss with the student the procedures for and consequences of voluntary withdrawal or the specified conditions, as applicable; (ii) discuss the circumstances with the student’s parents or legal guardians as permissible by law and as appropriate; (iii) consult with the student’s academic adviser or department, as appropriate; (iv) consult with the residence hall director, as appropriate; (v) refer the student to appropriate resources for treatment; and (vi) advise the student concerning the process for applying for re-entry, as well as on conditions for re-entry, if applicable and appropriate.

   d. If the student does not agree to the request for voluntary withdrawal or to the specified conditions, the Chief Student Affairs Officer shall determine, in consultation with the university’s Office of the General Counsel, whether to take further action against the student, including whether to initiate involuntary withdrawal proceedings, or, in the case of students referenced in II A. above, whether to initiate disciplinary proceedings under Article XV of the CUNY Bylaws.

C. Withdrawal of Students Without Emergency Interim Removal

1. Students Who Present a Direct Threat of Harm to Others or Substantially Disrupt the Learning or Working Environment of Others

a. Voluntary Withdrawal or Retention with Conditions

   1. In situations where a student’s behavior evidences a direct threat of harm to himself or others or substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others and presents a significant risk to repeat behavior that substantially disrupts the learning or working environment of others and the Chief Student Affairs Officer reasonably believes that the student’s behavior may be connected to a medical issue, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee may request that the student voluntarily withdraw or agree to retention under conditions.

   2. If the student agrees to the request for voluntary withdrawal or to the specified conditions, the Chief Student Affairs officer or designee shall (i) discuss with the student the procedures for and consequences of voluntary withdrawal or the specified conditions, as applicable; (ii) discuss the circumstances with the student’s parents or legal guardians as permissible by law and as appropriate; (iii) consult with the student’s academic adviser or department, as appropriate; (iv) consult with the residence hall director, as appropriate; (v) refer the student to appropriate resources for treatment; and (vi) advise the student concerning the process for applying for re-entry, as well as on conditions for re-entry, if applicable and appropriate.

b. Involuntary Withdrawal

   1. If the student does not agree to the request for voluntary withdrawal or to the specified conditions, the Chief Student Affairs Officer shall determine, in consultation with the University’s Office of the General Counsel, whether to take further action against the student, including whether to initiate involuntary withdrawal proceedings or disciplinary proceedings under Article XV of the CUNY Bylaws.

2. Students Who Present a Direct Threat of Harm Solely To Themselves

   a. The College shall follow the assessment and other procedures outlined above in B.2 a.-d. in order to determine the appropriate course of action.

D. Involuntary Withdrawal Procedures

1. The following shall be the procedures for involuntary withdrawal:

   a. Notice of the involuntary withdrawal hearing and the time and place of the hearing shall be personally delivered or sent by the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee of the student’s home college to the student at the address appearing on the records of the college, by overnight or certified mail, by regular mail, and, for students who have a college e-mail address, to that e-mail address. Notice of at least five business days shall be given to the student in advance of the hearing unless the student consents to an earlier hearing.

b. The notice shall contain (i) a statement of the reasons involuntary withdrawal is sought (ii) the type of withdrawal sought (from the university, the college and/or from the college residence hall); and (iii) a statement that the student has a right to present his or her side of the story, to present witnesses and evidence on his or her behalf, to cross-examine witnesses presenting evidence against the student, to remain silent without assumption of guilt, and to be represented by legal counsel or an adviser at the student’s expense.

c. CUNY shall constitute a Health Review Panel, comprised of qualified, licensed mental health professionals employed by a college of CUNY or by CUNY, or on retainer to a college of CUNY or CUNY. CUNY’s Vice Chancellor for Student Development shall appoint the members of the Health Review Panel. Members of the Health Review Panel, in committees constituted separately for each hearing (“Health Review Committee”), shall be responsible for adjudicating all involuntary withdrawal hearings held according to these procedures. For each involuntary withdrawal hearing, the Vice Chancellor for Student Development or his designee shall constitute a three-person Health Review Committee from the Health Review Panel to adjudicate at that hearing. No member of the Health Review Committee shall have had prior contact with the student. All decisions of the Health Review Committee shall be made by majority vote.

d. The hearing shall be closed, unless the student requests an open hearing. However, the Health Review Committee may overrule a request for an open hearing if it determines that an open hearing would be inappropriate or disruptive in light of the nature of the evidence to be presented.

e. After the evidence is presented at the hearing, the Health Review Committee shall determine whether the college has proved, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the student’s behavior presents a direct threat of harm to him or herself or others, or has substantially disrupted the learning or working environment of others and presents a significant risk of threatening further substantial disruption of the learning or working environment of others, and if so, what the appropriate remedy should be. The Health Review Committee may also set reasonable and appropriate conditions on re-entry. The decision of the Health Review Committee shall be made within five business days from the close of the hearing.

E. Appeals

An appeal from the decision of the Health Review Committee may be made to the President of the student’s home college or the President’s designee within thirty calendar days after the delivery of the decision appealed from. The President or designee shall make his or her determination on the appeal within fifteen business days from receipt of the appeal. The President’s decision may be appealed to the Chancellor of the university or his or her designee within thirty calendar days after the delivery of the President’s decision on appeal. The Chancellor or designee’s decision shall be made within fifteen business days from receipt of the appeal. The Chancellor (or designee’s) decision shall be final. The bases overturning a decision of the Health Review Committee at both levels of review are limited to the following: (i) clearly erroneous factual findings; (ii) procedural irregularities; (iii) newly available evidence that would have affected the outcome; (iv) the remedy and/or conditions on re-entry were unreasonable or inappropriate.

F. Re-entry
1. A student who is withdrawn from the university, a student’s home college and/or a college residence hall under this policy may be considered for re-entry.

2. A student wishing to be considered for re-entry should contact his or her home college’s Chief Student Affairs Officer and provide appropriate documentation of behavioral change and resolution of the initial behavioral problem, including compliance with any conditions that may have been set for re-entry.

3. A student may apply for re-entry to the university, a college and/or a college residence hall no more than one time per term.

4. In assessing an application for re-entry, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee shall: (i) in cases in which he or she determines that an additional mental health assessment is necessary, refer the student for assessment to a qualified, licensed mental health professional, at the college’s expense; (ii) receive, investigate, and examine appropriate relevant documentation, including assessments made by college-referred mental health professionals, and, if applicable, licensed treating mental health professionals; (iii) consult with the Health Review Committee, in cases in which the student’s withdrawal was adjudicated by such a Committee; (iv) contact the student’s parents or legal guardians as permissible by law, if appropriate; (v) provide an opportunity for the student to meet with the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee to discuss re-entry.

5. If the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee determines, based on the evidence presented, that there is not a significant risk that the behavior that required withdrawal will be repeated, he or she shall approve the student’s application for re-entry. In such cases, the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee shall initiate the re-entry process, provide the student with written conditions for continued attendance, and inform any relevant administrators of the student’s re-entry.

6. If the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee determines that the application for re-entry should be denied, he or she shall provide the student with a written explanation of the reasons for the denial and specify when the next request for re-entry may be considered.

7. A student may appeal the Chief Student Affairs Officer or designee’s denial of re-entry to the college President or designee within thirty calendar days after the delivery of the decision denying re-entry. The President or designee shall make his or her determination on the appeal within thirty calendar days from receipt of the appeal. The President’s decision may be appealed to the Chancellor of the university or his or her designee within thirty calendar days after the delivery of the President’s decision on appeal. The Chancellor or designee’s decision shall be made within thirty calendar days from receipt of the appeal. The Chancellor (or designee’s) decision shall be final. The basis for overturning a decision on appeal at either level shall be limited to a determination that the decision on re-entry was clearly erroneous.

G. Effect on Academic Status

In the event of a withdrawal pursuant to this policy, a notation of withdrawal shall appear on the student’s transcript for all classes taken during that semester. The Chief Student Affairs Officer at a student’s home college may grant a student request that, in lieu of withdrawal, a notation of incomplete shall appear on his or her transcript for classes taken during that semester if and only if there is a reasonable prospect that the student will eventually complete such classes, subject to faculty approval for each such class. Regardless of the notation that appears on a student’s transcript, the Chief Student Affairs Officer of the student’s home college shall inform the Vice Chancellor for Student Development of the student’s withdrawal in order to effectuate a hold by the University Application Processing Center on the student’s ability to transfer or otherwise seek admission to another college of CUNY.

H. Effect on Housing Status
If the student has been living in a college residence hall and will not be permitted to continue to do so, the student’s contract will be canceled and fees refunded on a prorated basis.

I. Confidentiality

The results of examinations by mental health professionals to whom students are referred for assessment at any stage in the withdrawal or readmission process shall be confidential student records, except that if the results indicate that the student presents an imminent, severe, and direct threat of harm to him or herself or others, those results may be shared with the appropriate individuals in order to attempt to prevent the occurrence of such harm. The results of these examinations shall be admissible in involuntary withdrawal hearings but shall not be admissible in disciplinary hearings, unless the student places his or her health, including mental health, at issue in a disciplinary hearing.

Procedures for Handling Student Complaints about Faculty Conduct in Academic Settings

Return to Public Safety, College Regulations and Policies

1. Introduction

The university and its colleges have a variety of procedures for dealing with student-related issues, including grade appeals, academic integrity violations, student discipline, disclosure of student records, student elections, sexual harassment complaints, disability accommodations, and discrimination. One area not generally covered by other procedures concerns student complaints about faculty conduct in the classroom or other formal academic settings. The university respects the academic freedom of the faculty and will not interfere with it as it relates to the content or style of teaching activities. Indeed, academic freedom is and should be of paramount importance. At the same time the university recognizes its responsibility to provide students with a procedure for addressing complaints about faculty treatment of students that are not protected by academic freedom and are not covered by other procedures. Examples might include incompetent or inefficient service, neglect of duty, physical or mental incapacity and conduct unbecoming a member of the staff.

2. Determination of Appropriate Procedure

If students have any question about the applicable procedure to follow for a particular complaint, they should consult with the chief student affairs officer. In particular, the chief student affairs officer should advise a student if some other procedure is applicable to the type of complaint the student has.

3. Informal Resolution

Students are encouraged to attempt to resolve complaints informally with the faculty member or to seek the assistance of the department chairperson or campus ombudsman to facilitate informal resolution.

4. Formal Complaint
If the student does not pursue informal resolution, or if informal resolution is unsuccessful, the student may file a written complaint with the department chairperson or, if the chairperson is the subject of the complaint, with the academic dean or a senior faculty member designated by the college president. (This person will be referred to below as the “Fact Finder.”) Only students in a faculty member’s class or present in another academic setting where the alleged conduct occurred may file complaints against that faculty member.

a. The complaint shall be filed within 30 calendar days of the alleged conduct unless there is good cause shown for delay, including but not limited to delay caused by an attempt at informal resolution. The complaint shall be as specific as possible in describing the conduct complained of.

b. The Fact Finder shall promptly send a copy to the faculty member about whom the complaint is made, along with a letter stating that the filing of the complaint does not imply that any wrongdoing has occurred and that a faculty member must not retaliate in any way against a student for having made a complaint. If either the student or the faculty member has reason to believe that the department chairperson may be biased or otherwise unable to deal with the complaint in a fair and objective manner, he or she may submit to the academic dean or the senior faculty member designated by the college president a written request stating the reasons for that belief; if the request appears to have merit, that person may, in his or her sole discretion, replace the department chairperson as the Fact Finder. The chairperson may also submit a written request for recusal for good cause to the academic dean or senior faculty member designated by the college president to review such requests. If a recusal request is granted, a different department chairperson shall conduct the investigation, or, if no other chairperson is available, an administrator designated by the college president shall serve in the chairperson’s stead. Further, the college president may re-assign investigations as necessary, including but not limited to situations in which a Fact Finder has not completed an investigation in a timely manner. In addition, during any time that no department chairperson is available to investigate a complaint, the college president may assign an administrator to investigate.

c. The Fact Finder shall meet with the complaining student and faculty member, either separately or together, to discuss the complaint and to try to resolve it. The Fact Finder may seek the assistance of the campus ombudsman or other appropriate person to facilitate informal resolution.

d. If resolution is not possible, and the Fact Finder concludes that the facts alleged by the student, taken as true and viewed in the light most favorable to the student, establish that the conduct complained of is clearly protected by academic freedom, he or she shall issue a written report dismissing the complaint and setting forth the reasons for dismissal and send a copy to the complaining student, the faculty member, the chief academic officer and the chief student affairs officer. Otherwise, the Fact Finder shall conduct an investigation. The Fact Finder shall separately interview the complaining student, the faculty member and other persons with relevant knowledge and information and shall also consult with the chief student affairs officer and, if appropriate, the college ombudsman. The Fact Finder shall not reveal the identity of the complaining student and the faculty member to others except to the extent necessary to conduct the investigation. If the Fact Finder believes it would be helpful, he or she may meet again with the student and faculty member after completing the investigation in an effort to resolve the matter. The complaining student and the faculty member shall have the right to have a representative (including a union representative, student government representative or attorney) present during the initial meeting, the interview and any post-investigation meeting.

e. In cases where there is strong preliminary evidence that a student’s complaint is meritorious and that the student may suffer immediate and irreparable harm, the Fact Finder may provide appropriate interim relief to the complaining student pending the completion of the investigation. The affected faculty member may appeal such interim relief to the chief academic officer.

f. At the end of the investigation, the Fact Finder shall issue a written report setting forth his or her findings and recommendations, with particular focus on whether the conduct in question is protected by academic freedom, and send a copy to the complaining student, the faculty member, the chief academic officer and the chief student affairs officer. In ordinary cases, it is expected that the investigation and written report should be completed within 30 calendar days of the date the complaint was filed.
5. Appeals Procedure

If either the student or the faculty member is not satisfied with the report of the Fact Finder, the student or faculty member may file a written appeal to the chief academic officer within 10 calendar days of receiving the report. The chief academic officer shall convene and serve as the chairperson of an Appeals Committee, which shall also include the chief student affairs officer, two faculty members elected annually by the faculty council or senate and one student elected annually by the student senate. The Appeals Committee shall review the findings and recommendations of the report, with particular focus on whether the conduct in question is protected by academic freedom. The Appeals Committee shall not conduct a new factual investigation or overturn any factual findings contained in the report unless they are clearly erroneous. If the Appeals Committee decides to reverse the Fact Finder in a case where there has not been an investigation because the Fact Finder erroneously found that the alleged conduct was protected by academic freedom, it may remand to the Fact Finder for further proceedings. The committee shall issue a written decision within 20 calendar days of receiving the appeal. A copy of the decision shall be sent to the student, the faculty member, the department chairperson and the president.

6. Subsequent Action

Following the completion of these procedures, the appropriate college official shall decide the appropriate action, if any, to take. For example, the department chairperson may decide to place a report in the faculty member’s personnel file or the president may bring disciplinary charges against the faculty member. Disciplinary charges may also be brought in extremely serious cases even though the college has not completed the entire investigative process described above; in that case, the bringing of disciplinary charges shall automatically suspend that process. Any action taken by a college must comply with the bylaws of the university and the collective bargaining agreement between the university and the Professional Staff Congress.

7. Campus Implementation

Each campus shall implement these procedures and shall distribute them widely to administrators, faculty members and students and post them on the college Web site.

Procedures for Reporting Incidents of Sexual Assault and Other Forms of Violence

Return to CUNY Sexual Assault Policy

Obtaining assistance after a student is sexually assaulted, stalked or is in an abusive relationship is extremely important and can involve different points of on-campus contact for students, faculty and staff, including the Public Safety Department, Women’s/Men’s Centers and Counseling Departments, and/or the Dean of Student Development/Student Affairs. Each provides different forms of assistance which together address many of the needs of survivors.

- Contact Law Enforcement Personnel Immediately

CUNY urges any student who has been the victim of a sexual assault or other act of violence or abuse, or any student or employee who has witnessed a sexual assault or other act of violence against a student, to immediately report the incident to the college Public Safety Department if the attack occurred on-campus, or to call 911 or go to the local NYPD precinct if the incident took place off-campus. Each college shall be provided with a list of emergency contact numbers as part of its orientation and training programs.

• Seek Immediate Medical Attention

It is critical that victims of a physical assault receive comprehensive medical attention as soon as possible. For a sexual assault in particular, immediate treatment and the preservation of evidence of the attack (i.e. retain the clothing worn during the attack and do not shower) is crucial to a criminal investigation. If a student believes that she/he may be the victim of date rape by being drugged, she/he should go directly to a hospital to receive a toxicology examination since such drugs only remain in a person’s system for a short period of time. In all other circumstances, public safety and police personnel can assist the victim in obtaining medical care. Each college shall be provided with a list of local hospitals, some of which are designated as SAFE (Sexual Assault Forensic Examiner) hospitals that are specially equipped to handle sexual assaults and are trained to gather minute evidence from such assaults. Rape crisis advocates at emergency rooms are also trained to handle domestic violence. EMS will be directed to bring victims to a SAFE hospital at their request. Medical attention is critical not only to treat internal and external injuries and to combat the possibilities of sexually transmitted infections and/or pregnancy, but also to collect evidence that can be used against the alleged perpetrator. It is also vital to ongoing safety and recovery that victims receive emotional support and professional counseling as soon as possible after the attack.

• Seek On-Campus Assistance

CUNY encourages student victims to contact the Dean of Student Affairs/Student Development to obtain assistance in accessing medical and counseling services, or to make any necessary changes to the student’s academic program or residential housing situation. Public Safety can assist victims getting to and from campus safely, filing a police report and obtaining an order of protection against the alleged perpetrator. Victims can also file a complaint with the College against an alleged perpetrator who is a student or employee of the University with the Dean of Student Affairs/Student Development and the Public Safety Office.

• Obtaining an On-Campus Advocate

Student victims of a sexual assault, stalking or domestic or intimate partner violence shall be provided with on-campus support in the form of an advocate from the Women’s/Men’s Center (if there is one on campus) or an appropriately trained counselor to assist them in handling the various aspects of their ordeal, such as: 1) explaining to victims their options of whether or not to report the incident to campus or law enforcement authorities; 2) providing guidance if they require medical attention; 3) providing guidance in obtaining crisis intervention and/or ongoing counseling services (or a referral to obtain the necessary services if such services are not available on campus); and 4) assisting victims throughout the College’s disciplinary process if they choose to file a complaint against another student in connection with the incident.

• Handling Sexual Assault, Stalking and Domestic and Intimate Partner Violence Complaints On-Campus

The Colleges shall act promptly in response to information that a student has been sexually assaulted, or has been the victim of domestic or intimate partner violence or stalking by another member of the CUNY community. Upon receipt of a complaint, the College shall undertake an appropriate investigation. If it appears that there is sufficient evidence to warrant disciplinary charges against a student or staff member, such charges shall be brought pursuant to the appropriate University procedures or collective bargaining agreement. If the alleged perpetrator is a student and the matter is brought before a hearing, the victim and alleged perpetrator are entitled to the same opportunities to have others present and to be informed of the outcome of the proceedings. The victim is entitled to a report of the results of the proceeding at her/his request. If a student is found guilty of committing a sexual assault or other act of violence against another CUNY student or employee after a disciplinary hearing, the penalties may include suspension, expulsion from residence halls, or permanent dismissal from CUNY.

In addition, if during the course of the investigation and/or disciplinary process the alleged perpetrator, or anyone on his/her behalf, seeks to contact the victim so as to harass, intimidate, threaten or coerce the victim in any way, the college reserves the right to bring additional disciplinary action against the actor. Such conduct by any member of the CUNY community will not be tolerated.

Confidentiality

The university recognizes that confidentiality is particularly important to victims of sex crimes, domestic and intimate partner violence and stalking. If the victim seeks counseling with a licensed professional and/or works with an advocate from the campus, those communications will be confidential. CUNY encourages victims in all circumstances to seek counseling in order to speak about her/his options and to begin the recovery period.

While complete confidentiality cannot be guaranteed, every effort will be made to maintain confidentiality on a “need to know” basis. Generally, the wishes of a victim not to report a sexual assault or incident of domestic/intimate partner violence or stalking to the police will prevail, though the college reserves the right to notify the police when it believes that such reporting is necessary for the protection of the college community. Such notification, however, will generally be done without divulging the victim’s identity and for the purpose of providing a campus-wide safety alert. In addition, the College must adhere to legal mandates such as Title IX, medical reporting laws, and the Campus Security Act. For example, CUNY is required to make an annual report documenting the occurrences of violent crimes on campus, including sexual assault. However, this report does not include any information identifying the individuals (including the victims) linked to these crimes.

About the Department

The Department of Chemistry offers courses to prepare the science major for professional work and further study in chemistry and other fields of pure and applied science. Courses for the non-science major are designed to present those essentials of chemical fact and theory which will contribute to the student's understanding of present-day scientific knowledge.

Undergraduate Major

Chemistry - BA

Major

There are two chemistry majors: Major I, a 43-credit concentration in addition to an 11-credit general chemistry core, is designed to prepare the students with intensive training for professional research and graduate study. Major II consists of three options: Option 1 for students interested in the chemical industry; Option 2 (the biochemistry option) for students interested in the pharmaceutical industry, medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine or physical therapy; Option 3 (bioinformatics option) for students interested in graduate studies in biochemistry and bioinformatics as well as pharmaceutical and biotechnology industry. Major II includes a minimum concentration of 28 credits (option 1), 26 credits (option 2), and 20.5 credits (option 3) in 200-level and above chemistry courses, in addition to an 11-credit general chemistry core. Options 1-3 are all appropriate for students pursuing teacher education programs.

Students considering a chemistry major should consult the departmental adviser during their first semester to plan the proper sequence of courses, and they are urged to consult with the adviser at least once each succeeding semester. A year of General Chemistry and the accompanying General Chemistry Laboratory are prerequisites for admission to both Major I and Major II.

- Chemistry Major I
- Chemistry Major II

Minor in Chemistry

A minor in Chemistry consists of a pre-requisite year of General Chemistry with laboratory (CHEM 10200 (STEM) through CHEM 10600 (STEM) or equivalent, 9 credits), and a minimum of 14 credits of coursework. Note that MATH 12500 is a co-requisite to General Chemistry. The minimum of 14 credits include the following required courses below. In addition, students will be required to take at least 5.5 credits of electives selected from Chemistry offerings numbered 200 or above, excluding CHEM 29101.
Prerequisite year of General Chemistry (note that MATH 12500 (STEM) is a prerequisite to General Chemistry)

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium. Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

4 cr.

CHEM 10500 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Laboratory experiments illustrating and applying theory of solutions to qualitative analysis. Offered for transfer students who have completed only one semester of General Chemistry Laboratory.

prereq: One semester of General Chemistry Laboratory.

3 hrs

1.5 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.
Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
_prereq: CHEM 10200
_coreq: CHEM 10400
6 hrs
3 cr.

and a minimum of 14 credits of coursework which include the following required courses:

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

_prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

CHEM 22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I

GER
GER 3/B

Various organic syntheses, Distillation, extraction, chromatography, qualitative analysis, spectroscopy.

_prereq: CHEM 10500 or CHEM 10600
_prereq or coreq: CHEM 22200
4 hrs
2.5 cr.

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

_prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

In addition, students will be required to take at least 5.5 credits of electives selected from Chemistry offerings numbered 200 or above, excluding

CHEM 29101 - Chemical Investigations

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
Original chemical investigations under supervision of faculty member. Written report required. Enrollment for maximum of two semesters.

prereq: CHEM 22400, perm chair
4 hrs
1 cr.

Honors Work

Opportunity for an individual research experience is provided by an honors course

CHEM 49101 - Introduction to Research

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
Open to Jr/Sr only. Similar to CHEM 29101. Written report required. Fulfills requirement for departmental honors course.

prereq: CHEM 22400, 35400, 34900, perm chair
4 hrs
1 cr.

CHEM 49102 - Introduction to Research

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
Open to Jr/Sr only. Similar to CHEM 29102. Written report required. Fulfills requirement for departmental honors course.

prereq: CHEM 22400, 35400, 34900, perm chair
8 hrs
2 cr.

Electives

Advanced lecture courses in special areas of chemistry, and lab courses providing training in inorganic and organic chemistry and in research techniques, are offered as electives for Major I and are open to students enrolled in Major II who have fulfilled the course prerequisites.

Graduate Study

Qualified chemistry majors may be admitted to 700-level courses in the graduate program. Permission of the department is required.

Preparation for Teaching

In cooperation with the School of Education, the Department of Chemistry provides opportunities for students to prepare for careers in teaching at the elementary and secondary level in the area of chemistry. Chemistry Major II, Option I (37 credits) and Option 2 (35 credits) both satisfy the requirements for New York State certification for teachers of chemistry in Childhood Education (Grades 1-6) and Adolescent Education (Grades 7-12). See Childhood Education (QUEST) Grades 1-6 - BA and Adolescent Chemistry, Grades 7-12 - BA. For students pursuing certification as chemistry teachers at the secondary level, the 26-credit adolescent education sequence is appropriate. Students who want to qualify for New York City licensing and New York State certification for teaching in secondary schools should consult the School of Education section of this catalog for additional requirements.

Chemistry Major I

Return to Program and Courses in Chemistry

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in chemistry and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

In the case of the Chemistry Major I, the courses that meet CCC are:

The major consists of a minimum of 43 credits

The requirements for this major consist of a minimum of 43 credits in chemistry. This major is recommended for students preparing for admission to graduate school or for careers in chemical research. It will also be useful to students seeking a position in the chemical or allied industries, as it is accredited by the Committee on Professional Training of the American Chemical Society.

Additional Information

CHEM 24900, MATH 15000 (STEM) and MATH 15500 (STEM), and PHYS 12100 (STEM) are prerequisites for CHEM 35200 and should be completed by the end of the sophomore year.

Major I is required of all students who wish to be considered for certification by the American Chemical Society upon graduation. It is recommended for all students intending to enter the profession of chemistry through either graduate study or employment in industry or government. Students who can attend only in the evenings should consult the department adviser regarding the feasibility of completing Chemistry Major I.

Return to Programs and Courses in Chemistry

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in chemistry and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

In the case of the Chemistry Major II, the courses that meet CCC are:

General Chemistry Core:

One year of General Chemistry Lecture and Laboratory

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.

Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200

Option 1:
For students interested in a career in the chemical industry. It consists of a minimum of 28 credits in chemistry above the introductory level and an 11-credit general chemistry core for a minimum total of 39 credits of chemistry. One year of physics and three semesters of calculus are also required.

Required chemistry courses:

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B
Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.
CHEM 22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I

GER
GER 3/B

Various organic syntheses, Distillation, extraction, chromatography, qualitative analysis, spectroscopy.

prereq: CHEM 10500 or CHEM 10600
prereq or coreq: CHEM 22200

4 hrs
2.5 cr.

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better

5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)

4 cr.

CHEM 22500 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory II

GER
GER 3/B

Continuation of CHEM 22300.

prereq or coreq: CHEM 22400

4 hrs
2.5 cr

CHEM 24900 - Quantitative Analysis

GER
GER 3/B

A set of laboratory experiments, performed by individual students, covering important areas of quantitative analysis such as pH and metal ion titrations, spectroscopic analysis including gas chromatography, electronic absorption, and fluorescence.

prereq: CHEM 10400 with grade of C or better, 10500
5 hrs (4 lab, 1 rec)
3 cr.

CHEM 35200 - Physical Chemistry I

GER
GER 3/B

Ideal and real gases. Laws of thermodynamics with applications to properties of solutions and phase equilibria in general.

prereq: CHEM 24900, MATH 15500, PHYS 12100 all with grade of C or better

3 hrs
3 cr.
offered fall

CHEM 35400 - Physical Chemistry II - F

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B

Selected topics from statistical thermodynamics, electrochemistry, kinetic theory and rate processes.

prereq: CHEM 35200, MATH 25000

3 hrs
3 cr.
offered fall

Required elective course:

- Any chemistry course at the 300 level or above excluding CHEM 49101.

Required allied courses:

MATH 15000 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry I

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Limits, continuity, differentiation and integration of elementary functions and trigonometric functions, applications.
prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 15500 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry II

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.
prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000
4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 25000 - Calculus with Analytic Geometry III

GER
3/B

Vector geometry, dot and cross products, partial derivatives, matrices, determinants, Jacobians, multiple integration.
prereq: MATH 15500
4 hrs
4 cr.

PHYS 11100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW) Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

For physics and other science majors. First semester of a two-semester introductory physics course using calculus.

prereq or coreq: coreq (with perm dept.): MATH 15000
8 hrs (4 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
5.5 cr.

PHYS 12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

Second semester of PHYS 11100 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using calculus.

prereq: PHYS 11000 or 11100
prereq or coreq: (with perm dept.): MATH 15500
8 hrs (4 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
5.5 cr.

Option 2 (Biochemistry option):

For students preparing for admission to medical, dental, veterinary schools or physical therapy programs, or for students interested in a career in the pharmaceutical industry. It consists of a minimum of 26 credits above the introductory level and an 11-credit general chemistry core for a minimum total of 37 credits of chemistry. One year of physics, one year of biology and one year of calculus are also required.

Required chemistry courses:

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better

4 cr.
CHEM 22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I

GER
GER 3/B

Various organic syntheses, Distillation, extraction, chromatography, qualitative analysis, spectroscopy.

prereq: CHEM 10500 or CHEM 10600
prereq or coreq: CHEM 22200
4 hrs
2.5 cr.

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

CHEM 22500 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory II

GER
GER 3/B

Continuation of CHEM 22300.

prereq: CHEM 22300
prereq or coreq: CHEM 22400
4 hrs
2.5 cr.

CHEM 35000 - Biophysical Chemistry

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B

Essential physical chemical principles as applied to biological problems. Emphasis on kinetics, thermodynamics, and equilibria.

prereq: CHEM 22400, BIOL 10200, MATH 15000 all with grade of C or better
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr
offered fall

CHEM 37600 - Biochemistry I

GER
GER 3/B
Chemical aspects of protein structure and function, fundamentals of bioenergetics, biochemical mechanisms of gene replication and expression.

prereq: CHEM 22400 with grade of C or better
4 hrs (3 lec, 1 rec)
3 cr.
offered fall

CHEM 37700 - Biochemistry II

GER
GER 3/B

Biosynthesis of lipids, amino acids, carbohydrates. Muscle contraction, hormones, immune response, DNA sequencing.

prereq: CHEM 37600 with grade of C or better or BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.
offered spring

CHEM 37800 - Biochemistry Laboratory

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B

A set of laboratory experiments, performed by individual students, covering important areas of biochemistry such as protein analysis, enzyme purification, enzymatic assays, recombinant DNA and the polymerase chain reaction.

prereq: CHEM 22300 and CHEM 37600 or CHEM 64000
5 hrs (4 lab, 1 rec)
3 cr.

Required allied courses:

BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D

GER
2/E

The chemical basis of life; basic structure and function of pro- and eucaryotic cells; bioenergetics; Mendelian and molecular genetics; development and mechanisms of control of gene expression at all levels; population genetics and evolution.

Material Fee: $5

PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: MATH 12500, CHEM 10200
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D

GER

4.5 cr.

Option 3 (Bioinformatics option):

For students interested in graduate studies in biochemistry and bioinformatics as well as the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industry. In order to enroll in this Option, students must earn an average grade of B- or above in CHEM 10400 (STEM), CHEM 22200, BIOL 10000 (STEM), and MATH 15000 (STEM). In addition, no more than one C grade is allowed in these four courses to declare Option 3. This option consists of a minimum of 20.5 credits above the introductory level and an 11-credit general chemistry core for a minimum total of 32 credits of chemistry. Three semesters of biology, one year of physics, one year of computer science, one year of calculus, and one semester of statistics are also required.

Required chemistry courses:

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

CSCI 13200 - Practical UNIX and Programming, with Lab

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

An introduction to computer programming and the UNIX operating system using Perl. Conceptual overview of the UNIX operating system and programming environment, a practical introduction to shell programming, and the use of UNIX filters and utilities. A pragmatic course with an emphasis on skills acquisition.
This course cannot be counted towards the CSCI major.

 prerequisites: none

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 23200 - Relational Databases and SQL Programming, with Lab

GER
3/B

An introduction to elementary database concepts and SQL, the standard language for communicating with most database systems. A pragmatic course with an emphasis on skills acquisition; students will learn how to get things done quickly and easily in a database environment.
Required for computer science minors; open to computer science majors, but may not be used toward the computer science major.

 prerequisites: CSCI 12700 or CSCI 13200
STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one-and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.

Undergraduate Major/ Graduate Major

Chemistry/Adolescent Education: Chemistry - BA/MA

An accelerated program leading to a BA in Chemistry and an MA in Adolescent Education: Chemistry. Undergraduates admitted to the program start graduate courses during their senior year and will be able to complete the MA degree one year after they complete the requirements for the BA degree. Students interested in the program should speak to a chemistry department adviser during their sophomore year to review the curriculum path for the five-year program. A minimum of 138 credits is required for the dual degree.

Undergraduate Minor

Minor in Chemistry

A minor in Chemistry consists of a pre-requisite year of General Chemistry with laboratory (CHEM 10200 (STEM) through CHEM 10600 (STEM) or equivalent, 9 credits), and a minimum of 14 credits of coursework. Note that MATH 12500 is a co-requisite to General Chemistry. The minimum of 14 credits include the following required courses below. In addition, students will be required to take at least 5.5 credits of electives selected from Chemistry offerings numbered 200 or above, excluding CHEM 29101.

Required courses for the Minor

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B
Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

CHEM 22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I

GER

GER 3/B

Various organic syntheses, Distillation, extraction, chromatography, qualitative analysis, spectroscopy.

prereq: CHEM 10500 or CHEM 10600

prereq or coreq: CHEM 22200

4 hrs

2.5 cr.

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER

GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better

5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)

4 cr.

Chemistry

Note: No student may receive credit for both CHEM 10000-10100 and 10200-10300 or 11100; no student may receive credit for both CHEM 12000-12100 and 22200-22300.

CHEM 10000 (STEM) - Essentials of General Chemistry Lecture

Hunter Core

Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

GER

GER 2/E

Essential facts, laws, and theories of general chemistry.

Note: Core credit awarded only if CHEM 10000 and CHEM 10100 are completed. Primarily for nursing, nutrition and food science and community health education students.

4 hrs (3 lec, 1 rec)

3 cr.

CHEM 10100 - Inquiries into the Nature of Matter
Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

A laboratory-based introduction to chemistry for non-science and health science majors that focuses on the basic principles of matter, energy and the environment. CHEM 10100 satisfies the laboratory requirements for a one-semester general chemistry course for health science students.

Primarily for nursing, nutrition and food science and community health students.

Taken with CHEM 100, meets STEM, SW and LPS

CHEM 10000 prerequisite or corequisite:
CHEM 10100
3 hrs
1.5 cr.

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

GER 2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding.

Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

CHEM 10200 prerequisite or corequisite:
MATH 12500, 12600 or equivalent
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10300 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory I

Hunter Core

Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity

GER 2/E

Study of experiments designed to illustrate fundamental laws and techniques of chemistry.

Core credit awarded only if CHEM 10200 (STEM) and CHEM 10300 (STEM) are completed. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

CHEM 10200 prerequisite or corequisite:
CHEM 10200
4 hrs (3 lab, 1 rec)
1.5 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core

Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

GER 2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

CHEM 10400 prerequisite:
CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with permission of chair
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.
CHEM 10500 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E
Laboratory experiments illustrating and applying theory of solutions to qualitative analysis.
Offered for transfer students who have completed only one semester of General Chemistry Laboratory.
prereq: One semester of General Chemistry Laboratory.
prereq or coreq: CHEM 10400
3 hrs
1.5 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E
Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.
Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400
6 hrs
3 cr.

CHEM 11100 (STEM) - Chemical Principles

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E
In-depth introduction to chemical principles including measurement, stoichiometric calculations, inorganic nomenclature, gas laws, equilibrium, acids, bases and buffers. Emphasis is placed on problem-solving, oral presentations, and collaborative work. Laboratory and coursework emphasize analysis and evaluation of data. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq or coreq: MATH 12500 or equiv, MATH 12600
9 hrs (4 hrs lec, 3 hrs lab, 2 hrs workshop)
5.5
offered fall

CHEM 11200 (STEM) - Thermodynamics and Solution Chemistry

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E
The study of quantum theory, atomic structure, periodic properties of the elements, kinetics, electrochemistry, and thermodynamics.
Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

CHEM 11500 - Introductory Chemistry

An introduction to the fundamental concepts in chemistry including atomic and molecular structure, chemical bonding, stoichiometry, and solution chemistry.

This course is appropriate for students who have had no prior coursework in chemistry.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500

4 hrs (3 lec, 1 rec)

3 cr.

CHEM 12000 (STEM) - Essentials of Organic Chemistry Lecture

Hunter Core

Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity

GER 2/E

Course presents essential facts, laws and theories of organic chemistry.

Core credit awarded only if CHEM 12000 and CHEM 12100 are completed. Primarily for nursing, nutrition and food science and community health education students.

prereq: CHEM 10000

2.5 cr

CHEM 24900 - Quantitative Analysis

GER
GER 3/B
A set of laboratory experiments, performed by individual students, covering important areas of quantitative analysis such as pH and metal ion titrations, spectroscopic analysis including gas chromatography, electronic absorption, and fluorescence.

prereq: CHEM 10400 with grade of C or better, 10500
5 hrs (4 lab, 1 rec)
3 cr.

CHEM 29101 - Chemical Investigations

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
Original chemical investigations under supervision of faculty member. Written report required. Enrollment for maximum of two semesters.

prereq: CHEM 22400, perm chair
4 hrs
1 cr.

CHEM 29102 - Chemical Investigations

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B

Original chemical investigations under supervision of faculty member. Written report required. Enrollment for maximum of two semesters.

prereq: CHEM 22400, perm chair
8 hrs
2 cr.

CHEM 29500 - Introduction to Planning and Teaching of Laboratory Work in Chemistry

Participate in supervised teaching experiments that demonstrate important principles of chemistry.

prereq: CHEM 10400, CHEM 10500, two letters from faculty who have taught the student
5 hrs (2 planning, 3 lab)
2 cr.

CHEM 32200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture III

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B

Selected topics such as advanced synthesis, reaction mechanisms, MO theory, natural products, NMR spectroscopy.

prereq: CHEM 22400 with grade of C or better, perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

CHEM 34900 - Instrumental Analysis
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
Principles of modern instrumental techniques; emphasis on spectroscopic and electrometric methods.

prereq: CHEM 35400 or 35600 with grade of C or better with 35500
8 hrs (2 lec, 6 lab)
5 cr

CHEM 35000 - Biophysical Chemistry

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
Essential physical chemical principles as applied to biological problems. Emphasis on kinetics, thermodynamics, and equilibria.
prereq: CHEM 22400, BIOL 10200, MATH 15000 all with grade of C or better
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

Program and Courses in Jewish Studies

Jewish Studies

About the Program

Jewish Studies is an inter-departmental, multi-disciplinary program offering a 24-credit major leading to a BA degree in Jewish Studies with courses in such fields as history, Hebrew language and literature, English and other literatures, religion, sociology, a political science. It also offers independent study and fieldwork on Jewish subjects and a 12-credit minor.

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

ENGL 12000 - Expository Writing

Hunter Core

Required of all students unless exempt; trains students to analyze, develop and evaluate ideas and to express themselves clearly and effectively. Introduction to documented research.

prereq: successful completion of developmental courses, if required
3 hrs + conf
3 cr.

Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Jewish Studies Major

The Jewish Studies program offers a 24-credit major. The 24 required credits are distributed as follows:

Required of All Majors

The 6 core credits required of all majors are:

HIST 20800 - History of the Jews
Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)

Pluralism and Diversity

PD/A
GER
2/B

An introductory survey emphasizing how Jewish communities adapted to a wide range of environments during more than 3000 years of world history.

prereq or coreq: ENGL 12000
3 hours
3 credits

HEBR 22200 - Introduction to Jewish Texts and Writings

Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)

A broad survey of influential Jewish texts and literary masterpieces from ancient to modern times.

prereq or coreq: ENGL 120
3 hours
3 credits

15 Credits in Jewish Studies

In addition to the core courses, students must select 15 credits in Jewish studies in conjunction with the program adviser, at least 6 of which must be at the 300-level or above. Students are encouraged to select from, but are not limited to, the following:

HEBR 21100 - Masterpieces of Medieval Hebraic Literature in Translation (W)

Hunter Core
Individual and Society (Humanities) - I&S H

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D
GER
2/C

Selections from major works reflecting Jewish life and thought in medieval Islamic world and Christendom.

HEBR 28100 - Masterpieces of Ancient Hebraic Literature in Translation (W)

GER
3/A

Study of Hebrew classics and collateral works against background of Jewish history and ancient civilization.

3 hrs
3 cr

HEBR 49100 - Honors Project

Individual study and research in Hebrew literature in consultation with staff member. Honors essay required. May be repeated as topics vary from semester to semester. There are "unlimited" repeats for this course.

prereq: Jr/Sr only; perm division
1 sem
3 cr.

HIST 21000 - History of Judaism

GER
2/B

Survey of the Jewish religious tradition with attention to interactions between Judaism and other religions and to the role of Judaism in the formation of Christianity and Islam.
Coursed at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.

3 hrs
3 cr.

HIST 24200 - The Holocaust: An Introduction

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D

The attempt to exterminate the Jewish people by the Nazis.
Coursed at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.

The Jewish people from its origins in late antiquity; social and intellectual developments from biblical to Talmudic times.
Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.
3 hrs
3 cr.

HIST 31000 - Jewish History in the Medieval and Early Modern Periods

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D
GER
3/B

The Jewish people from late antiquity to 17th century; social and legal status under Islamic and Christian rulers; religious and intellectual movements.
Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.
3 hrs
3 cr.

HIST 32000 - Jewish History in the Modern World (W)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D
GER
3/B

From the 18th century to the present: Enlightenment, Jewish emancipation and nationalism, a Jewish state; anti-Semitism and the Holocaust; recent trends.
Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.
prereq or coreq: ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.

HIST 32100 - History of the Holocaust

GER
3/B

Examination of the mass murder of 6 million Jews by the Nazi regime during World War II.
Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.
3 hrs
3 cr.

HIST 35700 - American-Jewish History (W)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D
GER 3/B

Development of the American Jewish community; economic, political and social integration; cultural adaptation. Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.

prereq or coreq: ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.

JS 31000 - Jewish Studies Fieldwork

Supervised experience in a Jewish community agency, periodic consultation with program director and preparation of report or term paper based on the experience. May be taken twice for a total of 6 cr.

prereq: qualified Jr/Sr.
hrs TBA
3-6 cr.

JS 40000 - Individual Honors Project

Not open to students who have completed fewer than 60 credits. Guided readings on a topic in Jewish studies under faculty supervision. May be repeated on different topics for a total of 6 credits. A substantial research paper is required. Selected topics and problems in Jewish studies. qualified Jr/Sr, perm instr. or program director

prereq: 12 cr. in Jewish Studies, perm program director

3 cr.

REL 25300 - Abrahamic Religions (W)

Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)
Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D
GER
2/C

Study of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam-- with some considerations of Zoroastrian parallels.
prereq: ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.

More Options

Other courses that may be selected to meet this 15-credit requirement are ENGL 38663 (ENGL 38600), The Bible in British and American Literature, ENGL 39058 (ENGL 39000), Literature and Catastrophe (focus on Holocaust Studies), ENGL 39968 (ENGL 39900), Jewish American Literature, HIST 740, Modern Jewish Social and Intellectual History (see graduate catalog) and HIST 748, American Jewish History (see graduate catalog).

Note

Up to 6 credits of independent study and fieldwork may be taken unless special permission is obtained from the program adviser.

Capstone Course (3 Credits)

One of the following courses should be taken as a capstone course:

JS 40000 - Individual Honors Project

Not open to students who have completed fewer than 60 credits. Guided readings on a topic in Jewish studies under faculty supervision. May be repeated on different topics for a total of 6 credits. A substantial research paper is required. Selected topics and problems in Jewish studies. qualified Jr/Sr, perm instr. or program director
prereq: 12 cr. in Jewish Studies, perm program director
3-6 hrs
3-6 cr.
JS 41050 - Jewish Studies Seminar I

Selected topics and problems in Jewish studies.

prereq: qualified Jr/Sr, perm instr. or program director

3 hrs
3 cr. each

JS 41051 - Jewish Studies Seminar II

Selected topics and problems in Jewish studies.

prereq: qualified Jr/Sr, perm instr. or program director

3 hrs
3 cr. each

Minor in Jewish Studies

The minor in Jewish Studies consists of 12 credits in courses in Jewish studies of which at least 3 credits must be on topics in the history of the Jews or Judaism and at least 3 credits in Jewish literature, thought, religion, or one of the social sciences (sociology, anthropology, or political science). Students can apply to the minor up to 6 credits in Independent Studies (JS 30000 or JS 40000) or fieldwork (JS 31000). Up to six credits in Jewish studies taken at other institutions of higher learning may be applied to the minor. Jewish Studies minors cannot apply any 100-level courses to the minor.

Honors in Jewish Studies

Students will be eligible for honors in Jewish Studies upon completion of 24 credits in Jewish Studies with a 3.5 GPA and a 2.8 cumulative GPA at the time of graduation. To be eligible to graduate with honors in Jewish Studies, students can take the following JS 40000 (Individual Honors Project) or JS 41050/JS 41051 (Jewish Studies Seminar, I or II), HEBR 49100 (Honors Project) or graduate courses with special permission, with a grade of B or better. Eligible students should apply for honors at the time they file for graduation.

Undergraduate Minor

Minor in Jewish Studies

The minor in Jewish Studies consists of 12 credits in courses in Jewish studies of which at least 3 credits must be on topics in the history of the Jews or Judaism and at least 3 credits in Jewish literature, thought, religion, or one of the social sciences (sociology, anthropology, or political science). Students can apply to the minor up to 6 credits in Independent Studies (JS 30000 or JS 40000) or fieldwork (JS 31000). Program and Courses in Religion

Religion

About the Program

Program Description
Minor in Religion

The Minor in Religion consists of four courses for a total of 12 credits.

- The following two courses are required:
  - REL 11000 - Nature of Religion (W)
  - REL 11100 - Approaches to Religion (W)
- Also required for the Minor in Religion:
  a) one course to be chosen from those listed under the category “Religious Traditions”; and
  b) one course from the category “Issues in Religion” reflecting a theme central to the religious tradition in which the student has chosen to focus, to be selected in consultation with a Religion Program adviser.

At least one course presented in satisfaction of the minor must be a 300-level course.

Religion - BA

Return to: Religion Program Information

Foundational Course

A Foundational Course, ENGL 12000, must be completed before embarking upon the major.
Hunter Core Requirement

Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Major (30 cr)

A major in religion consists of 30 credits. A sequence of courses for the major normally includes REL 11000 - Nature of Religion, REL 11100 - Approaches to Religion, REL 25100 - Asian Religions, and REL 25300 - Abrahamic Religions followed by at least one course in theoretical studies and at least 1 course in religious issues.

I. Introduction to the Field of Religion

II. Theoretical studies in Religion

III. Issues in Religion

IV. Religious Traditions

On becoming a major the student, in consultation with the director, will select one member of the program in Religion staff as his or her major adviser. Each religion major is required to consult with this adviser at least twice a year.

REL 20900 - Religion and Human Rights (W)

Hunter Core
Individual and Society - Humanities
GER
2/C
It has been contended that religious beliefs about the natural and moral order, as well those concerning human nature, lie at the foundation of the idea of human rights. Some histories of human rights even begin with a survey of the teachings of various major religious traditions. And, as the idea of, and movements for, international human rights swept the globe in the latter parts of the 20th century, scholars and religious thinkers examined and assessed the confluence of the world’s religious systems of thought, conscience, and belief with the norms and standards of the human rights project. Yet, even as religious thinkers and leaders contribute significantly to human rights movements around the world, some human rights norms—for example, those prohibiting gender- or religion-based discrimination, prohibitions on certain forms of punishment—seem to conflict head on with the strictures of various religions. This course will examine these various intersections.

REL 21000 - Atheism (W)

When a person, group, or idea is called ‘atheist,’ is that only a statement about theology or metaphysics, or do those who use that label intend to invoke the cultural power of God and, if so, to what end? How is the concept, ‘atheism,’ put into action in the world, and what does what we say about atheism say about what we think of God? At the end of the semester, we will even consider the possibility of atheism as not merely a religious but a devotional stance.

REL 21100 - The Sacred Sky: Astrology in World Religions (W)

GER
2/C

Astrology is a belief system that exists cross-culturally because the sky is an omnipresent cultural resource, and while different civilizations have varied beliefs about the meaning of celestial activity, those beliefs share a common thread: the sky is sacred, and celestial activity is an expression of that sacrality. The names of the planets and the stars, as well as their myths and stories may differ from tradition to tradition, but ancient astronomers of every culture studied celestial motion, detected patterns, understood those patterns to be cyclical, and believed they formed the basis of an orderly and precise cosmology.

REL 31600 - Men and Religion (W)
Some years ago, it was deemed axiomatic that all talk of the generic human was really framed by the experience of men, and women's issues were thereby suppressed and overlooked. It has become increasingly recognized by scholars that the generic human is neither male nor female, and such scholars—both male and female—have begun to address issues specific to men. This course is intended to explore some of the concerns that come to expression in this emerging scholarship. Specifically, it focuses on the content of the masculinity within the religious imaginary, the way in which religion has historically promoted the masculinity of males, and on the way in which religion used the rhetoric of masculinity to promote itself.

REL 31700 - Religion and Film (W)

As human expressions, both religion and film attempt to describe the world and organize it into a meaningful place for human activity. This course will survey the mutual academic studies of both film and religion, as well as the emerging discipline of ‘religion and film studies.’ As such, students will explore the nature of vision, representation, and narrative – topics central to both film and religious studies. Students will also view and analyze films as expressions of culture, including religious culture, and seek to understand the impact of ideology and social practice, gender and sexuality, as well as the economic structures underlying both film and religion.

REL 31800 - Religion and Science (W)

A critical reflection upon the interrelation of religion and science, a fundamental issue within historical and contemporary culture. Analysis of key definitions, of the roles of each endeavor in human inquiry, of the presumptions underlying the self-understandings of people pursuing each approach to reality deploying the tools and insights of the modern academic study of religion as well as those of the philosophy of science.

REL 31900 - Religion and the Body (W)

This course will explore the various representations of the body in world religious traditions. Through an assortment of primary sources and secondary literature, the course will examine what these traditions suggest about how the human body exists, perceives, engages with the world, creates, and participates in the moral and visceral fabric of life. The topic of the body and religion will be approached from philosophical, sociological, anthropological, and historical perspectives as the course considers the relationship between the body and society, nature and culture, and the sacred and the profane. Themes such as gender, disability, food, sex, and death will be treated in the effort to understand what it means to be a body and to have a body in a variety of religious contexts.

Hunter Core
Individual and Society - Humanities
GER
2/C
It has been contended that religious beliefs about the natural and moral order, as well those concerning human nature, lie at the foundation of the idea of human rights. Some histories of human rights even begin with a survey of the teachings of various major religious traditions. And, as the idea of, and movements for, international human rights swept the globe in the latter parts of the 20th century, scholars and religious thinkers examined and assessed the confluence of the world's religious systems of thought, conscience, and belief with the norms and standards of the human rights project. Yet, even as religious thinkers and leaders contribute significantly to human rights movements around the world, some human rights norms—for example, those prohibiting gender- or religion-based discrimination, prohibitions on certain forms of punishment—seem to conflict head on with the strictures of various religions. This course will examine these various intersections.

prereq: ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.

REL 21000 - Atheism (W)

When a person, group, or idea is called 'atheist,' is that only a statement about theology or metaphysics, or do those who use that label intend to invoke the cultural power of God and, if so, to what end? How is the concept, 'atheism,' put into action in the world, and what does what we say about atheism say about what we think of God? At the end of the semester, we will even consider the possibility of atheism as not merely a religious but a devotional stance.

Some years ago, it was deemed axiomatic that all talk of the generic human was really framed by the experience of men, and women’s issues were thereby suppressed and overlooked. It has become increasingly recognized by scholars that the generic human is neither male nor female, and such scholars—both male and female—have begun to address issues specific to men. This course is intended to explore some of the concerns that come to expression in this emerging scholarship. Specifically, it focuses on the content of the masculinity within the religious imaginary, the way in which religion has historically promoted the masculinity of males, and on the way in which religion used the rhetoric of masculinity to promote itself.

REL 31900 - Religion and the Body (W)
This course will explore the various representations of the body in world religious traditions. Through an assortment of primary sources and secondary literature, the course will examine what these traditions suggest about how the human body exists, perceives, engages with the world, creates, and participates in the moral and visceral fabric of life. The topic of the body and religion will be approached from philosophical, sociological, anthropological, and historical perspectives as the course considers the relationship between the body and society, nature and culture, and the sacred and the profane. Themes such as gender, disability, food, sex, and death will be treated in the effort to understand what it means to be a body and to have a body in a variety of religious contexts.

Astrology is a belief system that exists cross-culturally because the sky is an omnipresent cultural resource, and while different civilizations have varied beliefs about the meaning of celestial activity, those beliefs share a common thread: the sky is sacred, and celestial activity is an expression of that sacrality. The names of the planets and the stars, as well as their myths and stories may differ from tradition to tradition, but ancient astronomers of every culture studied celestial motion, detected patterns, understood those patterns to be cyclical, and believed they formed the basis of an orderly and precise cosmology.

This course introduces students to the study of the Qur’ān based on the traditional Islamic “sciences of the Qur’ān” (’Ulūm al-Qur’ān). Using an introductory text on the Qur’ānic sciences, the course will introduce the traditional areas of concern in the Qur’ānic sciences: the revelation, transmission, form, language and style, hermeneutics, and principles and types of exegesis. The course will continue by introducing students to representative examples of the types of material referred to in the textbook. This material is chosen on the basis of (1) interest, (2) accessibility (especially the availability of English translations) and (3) the ability to give students some exposure to the variety of styles and approaches to the material available in the literature, introducing the students to representative examples of the types of material referred to in the introductory text. This material provides students with illustrative exposure to both classical and modern Muslim approaches to the Qurʾān and its exegesis.

Foundational Course

A Foundational Course, ENGL 12000, must be completed before embarking upon the major.

Hunter Core Requirement

Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Major (30 cr)

A major in religion consists of 30 credits. A sequence of courses for the major normally includes REL 11000-Nature of Religion, REL 11100-Approaches to Religion, REL 25100-Asian Religions, and REL 25300-Abrahamic Religions followed by at least one course in theoretical studies and at least 1 course in religious issues.

I. Introduction to the Field of Religion

II. Theoretical studies in Religion

III. Issues in Religion

IV. Religious Traditions

On becoming a major the student, in consultation with the director, will select one member of the program in Religion staff as his or her major adviser. Each religion major is required to consult with this adviser at least twice a year.

REL 20900 - Religion and Human Rights (W)

It has been contended that religious beliefs about the natural and moral order, as well those concerning human nature, lie at the foundation of the idea of human rights. Some histories of human rights even begin with a survey of the teachings of various major religious traditions. And, as the idea of, and movements for, international human rights swept the globe in the latter parts of the 20th century, scholars and religious thinkers examined and assessed the confluence of the world's religious systems of thought, conscience, and belief with the norms and standards of the human rights project. Yet, even as religious thinkers and leaders contribute significantly to human rights movements around the world, some human rights norms—for example, those prohibiting gender- or religion-based discrimination, prohibitions on certain forms of punishment—seem to conflict head on with the strictures of various religions. This course will examine these various intersections.

REL 21000 - Atheism (W)

When a person, group, or idea is called 'atheist,' is that only a statement about theology or metaphysics, or do those who use that label intend to invoke the cultural power of God and, if so, to what end? How is the concept, 'atheism,' put into action in the world, and what does what we say about atheism say about what we think of God? At the end of the semester, we will even consider the possibility of atheism as not merely a religious but a devotional stance.

Administration and Faculty

Department Office:
Undergraduate Major

Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino Studies

BA in Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino Studies

Given the interdisciplinary organization of the department, students may elect to concentrate their program of study in the Africana sequence, Puerto Rican/Latino sequence or a combination of both with courses from social sciences and humanities offered by the department.

Hunter Core Requirements

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here:

In the case of the Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino Studies, the courses that meet CCC are:

Undergraduate Major

Anthropology - BA

BA in Anthropology

The anthropology major is designed to give students an overview of the discipline, as well as training in all four fields of the subject (archaeology, cultural anthropology and ethnology, anthropological linguistics and biological anthropology). The anthropology major consists of 25 credits [see table below]. To declare a major in anthropology, the student must have completed at least one course in anthropology with a C grade or better. In order to graduate with a major in anthropology, students must earn a C grade or better in all required courses and electives counted toward the major (effective for students declaring the major after September 1, 2007

Foundational Courses
Students with no prior background in this academic field will need one 3 credit Foundational Course. This course must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

ANTHC 10100 - Introduction to Cultural Anthropology

offered every sem.

Hunter Core Requirement

Note: Several courses leading to or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

In the case of the anthropology major, the courses that meet CCC are:

Minor in Anthropology

There are two new rules about the minor. First, the minor department controls the minor. Second, the minor is no longer a degree requirement.

General Anthropology

The Anthropology Minor provides students an overview of the discipline through survey courses in each of the four primary subfields of anthropology. It is designed to help students appreciate the significance of, and relations between, language, biology, and culture, for human beings past and present. The minor consists of four courses for a total of 13 credits. In order to graduate with an Anthropology Minor, students must earn a C grade or better in all the courses counted towards the minor.

The minor includes the following three required courses:

ANTHC 10100 - Introduction to Cultural Anthropology

Hunter Core
Individual and Society (Social Sciences) - I&S SS

Honors Work

Honors work is possible in each of the major branches of anthropology. The emphasis is on independent student research under the supervision of a faculty member. In order to graduate with departmental honors in anthropology, a student must: (1) have taken at least 2 credits of ANTHC 40000; (2) have a GPA in the major of not less than 3.5 and a cumulative GPA of not less than 2.8 at the time of graduation; and (3) complete a departmental honors form available from the departmental undergraduate adviser.

AN-C 400 Honors Project

(available to students in each of the four fields of anthropology) Open to qualified juniors and seniors every semester. Research under supervision of a faculty member. From 2 to 3 credits per semester, depending on the nature of the student’s work. May be taken for 1, 2, or 3 semesters for a maximum of 6 credits. To apply, students must (1) present a research plan prepared in conjunction with a faculty member; (2) have this plan approved by the undergraduate adviser and the department chair; and (3) obtain approval prior to preregistration.

Interdepartmental Fields

Students who want to do work in anthropology as part of an interdepartmental field, such as Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino studies, Latin American and Caribbean studies, religion, urban affairs and planning, or women and gender studies, should refer to descriptions under the department or field of their interest.

Undergraduate Major/Graduate Major
Anthropology - BA/MA

A special feature of the Hunter Anthropology Department is the innovative BA/MA program, designed to permit a small number of highly motivated students to begin graduate study before completing their undergraduate degrees. The program allows students to pursue the MA degree as part of the undergraduate curriculum by substituting graduate courses for electives in their degree programs. Participants fulfill all the requirements for the BA and MA degrees in anthropology. The total number of credits taken by the student is 130. At least 30 must be graduate credits (the same number of course credits required of a student admitted as a matriculated graduate student with a BA in hand). Graduate courses may fulfill undergraduate major requirements with the exception of ANTHP 10100 (STEM) and ANTHP 10200 (STEM). Applicants to the BA/MA program must have a minimum GPA of 3.25 and a minimum of 3.5 in their anthropology courses. Students must apply to the program early in their academic careers, usually before beginning the junior year.

Undergraduate Minor

Minor in Anthropological Archaeology

The Anthropological Archaeology Minor introduces students to the study of past human societies and cultural diversity from an anthropological perspective. The minor consists of a minimum of 12 credits from the courses listed below, or other courses with the approval of the departmental undergraduate advisor. Only one non-AN-C course from the following list may count towards the minor. In order to graduate with an Anthropological Archaeology Minor, students must earn a C grade or better in all the courses counted towards the minor.

Courses for the Minor

Minor in Anthropology

The Anthropology Minor provides students an overview of the discipline through survey courses in each of the four primary subfields of anthropology. It is designed to help students appreciate the significance of, and relations between, language, biology, and culture, for human beings past and present. The minor consists of four courses for a total of 13 credits. In order to graduate with an Anthropology Minor, students must earn a C grade or better in all the courses counted towards the minor.

The minor includes the following three required courses:

ANTHC 10100 - Introduction to Cultural Anthropology

Hunter Core
Individual and Society (Social Sciences) -I&S SS
Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
2/B

Comparative and historical examination of the human condition through a focus on diverse responses to universal problems, such as making a living, resolving conflict, organizing family/kin relations and finding meaning in the world.

3 hrs
3 cr.
offered every sem.

ANTHC 12600 - Introduction to Prehistoric Archaeology

Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)
GER
2/B

Human social and cultural evolution from the earliest humans to the rise of the first civilizations.

3 hrs
3 cr.
offered every sem.

ANTHC 15100 - Introduction to Linguistics

Hunter Core
World Cultures and Global Issues (WCGI)
GER
2/B

Structure and analysis of human languages; language history; language in society, culture and mind; language universals.

3 hrs
3 cr.

Plus one additional course selected from the following two options:

ANTHP 10100 (STEM) - Human Evolution

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

The study of human origins and adaptation, through an understanding of evolutionary mechanisms, genetics, comparative primate biology, the fossil record, and modern human variation.

6 hrs (3 hrs lec, 3 hrs lab)
4 cr.
offered every sem.

-or-

ANTHP 10200 (STEM) - Human Variation

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW) STEM; Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
Description and analysis of biological variation in living human populations. Both genetic and phenotypic variation will be examined. Lab experiments and demonstrations.

\[ 6 \text{ hrs (3 hrs lec, 3 hrs lab)} \]
\[ 4 \text{ cr.} \]
\[ \text{offered every sem.} \]

Minor in Cultural Anthropology

The Cultural Anthropology Minor introduces students to the study of contemporary human cultures through a focus on cross-cultural similarities and differences in such areas as kinship, politics, economics, religion, sexuality, gender, and artistic production. The minor consists of a minimum of 12 credits from the courses listed below, as well as others that may be approved by the departmental undergraduate advisor. In order to graduate with a Cultural Anthropology Minor, students must earn a C grade or better in all the courses counted towards the minor.

Minor in Physical Anthropology

The Physical Anthropology Minor introduces students to the study of human evolution, including human variation, paleontology, genetics, and primatology. The Minor consists of a minimum of 12 credits. These must include ANTHP 101 Human Evolution (4 Cr). The remaining credits can be filled by any AN-P courses. Also, one (and only one) non-ANTHP course from the following list may count towards the minor. In order to graduate with a Physical Anthropology Minor, students must earn a C grade or better in all the courses counted towards the minor.

Required course for the Minor:

ANTHP 10100 (STEM) - Human Evolution
Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

The study of human origins and adaptation, through an understanding of evolutionary mechanisms, genetics, comparative primate biology, the fossil record, and modern human variation.

6 hrs (3 hrs lec, 3 hrs lab)
4 cr.
offered every sem.

8 or more credits from any of the following courses:

Note: Only one non-ANTHP may be used for the Physical Anthropology Minor.

ANTHP 10200 (STEM) - Human Variation

ANTHP 10500 - The Human Species

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

In this course we examine human biology and behavior from an evolutionary perspective, comparing our anatomy, physiology, and behavior to those of living primates and other mammals. We will discuss the relative roles of genes (“nature”) and environment (“nurture”), the biological basis of behavior, local biological adaptations evident in modern human populations, growth and development, and diet and disease. Students will actively engage in the development of scientific hypotheses, data collection, and data synthesis analysis, as part of laboratory research experiences throughout the semester. Material covered will help prepare students to understand and evaluate recent advances in genetics, behavioral studies, medicine, and evolution

3 hrs
3 cr.

ANTHP 21000 - Biology of the Living Primates

This survey-based course will examine the diversity of the Order: Primates. The course will focus on the habitats, life history, ecology, behavior, and conservation of the living primates from an evolutionary perspective.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ANTHP 30500 - Evolution of the Human Skeleton

The goal of this course is to understand the biology of the human skeleton: know all of the bones of the human body, how they work, and how they evolved. This course will cover basic bone and muscle biology, bone and bone landmark identification, basic dental anatomy, basic functional interpretation, and discuss the evolution of the human skeleton with comparisons to great ape and fossil material. Typically, there will be two class periods spent on a given topic: the first class meeting will be a lecture and the second class meeting on a given topic will provide a laboratory-type setting where students can handle and work with real osteological specimens and/or fossil casts. Occasionally, the first half of a class period will be a lecture, and the second half will be a lab. Worksheets/Study Guides will be provided and are expected to be completed by the end of the lab. In order to become skilled in bone identification and do well in the course, additional study time with the bones will most likely be necessary. We will set up a system to encourage and facilitate study time outside of class.

prereq: ANTHP 10100 (Intro. to Physical Anthropology: Human Evolution) or ANTHP 10200 (Intro. to Physical Anthropology: Human Variation) or ANTHP 10500 (The Human Species) or BIOL 10200 (Principles of Biology 2).

ANTHP 30600 - Human Anatomy

The goal of this course is to understand basic human anatomy: know all of the bones, muscles, major nerves and vessels in the human body, how they are organized, and how they function. Typically, there will be two class periods spent on a given topic: the first class meeting will be a lecture and the second class meeting on a given topic will provide a laboratory setting where students can handle and work with real osteological specimens and/or anatomical models. A given lecture will provide a synthesis of a particular anatomical region and the hands-on details of regional anatomy will then be learned in the associated laboratory session. To gain the most from each lecture and laboratory session, you must do the assigned readings and relevant exercises in the lab workbook beforehand. The laboratory workbook is a required acquisition. Any anatomy textbook will provide you with the necessary reading for lectures, and the purchase of an anatomy atlas is highly recommended as well. In order to do well in the course, additional study time with the anatomical models may be necessary. We will set up a system to encourage and facilitate study time outside of class.

About the Department

The Department of Art & Art History offers a wide variety of courses for majors and non-majors. In studio art, two academic degrees are offered: the BA and the BFA. In art history, we offer a BA degree. Art history is the study of works of art and architectural monuments in their cultural environment. Students learn first to develop their powers of critical visual analysis. Then, by concentrated study of certain significant periods in the history of Western and non-Western art, they learn to relate the forms of art to contemporary historical, political, economic, religious, social and cultural phenomena.

The department's broad range of studio courses begins with Introduction to Study of Visual Experience (ARTLA 10100) followed by Beginning Drawing (ARTCR 22100), which are prerequisites for all studio courses. In the beginning classes, the student learns the basic principles in various media; the advanced courses emphasize individual exploration.

Undergraduate Major

Art History

Art History- BA

The Department of Art and Art History offers introductory, intermediate and advanced courses in art history. The major consists of 30 credits. No more than 15 credits transferred from another institution may be applied to the major.
The 30-Credit BA in Art History is intended for students interested in a liberal arts education in the humanities or students planning to continue their art history studies in a graduate program. A broad range of courses from different fields, rather than specialization in one area, is encouraged. In order to declare a major in art history, students must have taken ARTH 11100 (or ARTH 121 or 122). Majors who have completed 3 credits in art history beyond ARTH 11100 are eligible to take the required seminar, Research Methods of Art History ARTH 30000, to be programmed in consultation with an art history adviser.

Majors planning graduate study in art history should discuss, with an art history adviser, the requirements for graduate admission, including graduate language requirements; this should be done during an early semester.

A minor may be taken in a related field such as studio art, classics, philosophy, history, or another department with the permission of the adviser. The minor department must approve the minor courses.

Hunter Core Requirement

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here:

Hunter Core Requirement.

In the case of the art history major, the course that meets CCC is:

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core.

*ARTH 11100 must be completed before embarking upon the major. Student with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

3 additional courses, from any of the department offerings in art history at the 200, 300 or 400 level

Total 30 cr.

Note:

only grades of C and above can be counted toward the Art History major

Minor in Art History

A minor in art history for majors in other departments is also available consisting of 12 credits as follows: ARTH 11100 Introduction to the History of Art, followed by 9 credits selected from the other department offerings. No more than 6 credits transferred from another institution may be applied to the minor.

Honors

Art History Major students wishing to graduate with honors must consult an adviser to make an official application for consideration by the faculty members on the Undergraduate Art History Committee on Honors. Application forms are in the Art and Art History office, Room 11054 Hunter North. Major credits must have been completed with a 3.7 grade point average, and the cumulative grade point average, from courses taken only at Hunter, must be at least 3.0. Students must submit a research paper written for Research Methods of Art History ARTH 30000 or an Advanced Studies Seminar ARTH 41000 with instructor’s comments, edits, and grade, to the department's Undergraduate Art History Committee on Honors. The paper must have received a minimum grade of A-. Papers written for other art history courses may be considered if they conform to the requirements for an Advanced Studies Seminar; consult with an adviser. The committee will review the complete application to determine if the student merits departmental honors.

Studio Art - BA

- Studio Art 24-Credit Major (BA)
- Studio Art 42-Credit Major (BA)

Electives

All courses, unless otherwise specified, are open to qualified students majoring in other areas.

Honors

Students wishing to graduate with honors must consult an adviser to make an official application. Application forms are in the Art Office, Room 11054 Hunter North. Major credits must have been completed with a 3.5 grade point average.
and the cumulative grade point average, from courses taken only at Hunter, must be at least 3.0. Student must submit 35mm slides of an advanced studio project or independent study course.

ARTCR 36000 - Special Projects

Advanced students only. Advanced projects are announced prior to registration each term. Recent examples of Special Projects courses: Color Photo; Advanced Photo Darkroom Process; Collage and Assemblage; Color as Communication; Computer Graphics; Projects in Clay; Advanced Watercolor Painting; Experiment: Photography and Graphics; Site-Specific Painting; Projects in 2-D., Digital Art, Advanced Digital Art, Video for Artists, Installation Art, Sculpture: Methods & Materials, Advanced 2-D studio Seminar, Politics & Painting, Unconventional Approaches: Drawing, 2-D/3-D/4-D Seminar, Advanced Painting Tech. & Concepts

Graduate Study

The Department of Art offers a number of courses, listed in the Graduate Catalog, that may be credited toward the degree of master of arts. Qualified students in the senior year may be admitted to these courses with the approval of the graduate art history adviser.

Studio Art - BFA

This degree is open to the student who wants to complete work in studio art beyond the 42-credit major and particularly the student who intends to pursue a career as a professional artist and attend graduate school. Students follow the regular Hunter Core Requirement for the BA degree. Departmental approval of the 61-credit BFA concentration is required. Students who have successfully completed 90 credits may apply to the BFA program, pending an interview with the BFA adviser. Students are required to maintain a GPA of 3.0 in this program. Required courses are as follows:

Hunter Core Requirement

Courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). Graduate Study

The Department of Art offers a number of courses, listed in the Graduate Catalog, that may be credited toward the degree of master of arts. Qualified students in the senior year may be admitted to these courses with the approval of the graduate art history adviser.

Studio Art 24-Credit Major (BA)

Return to Programs and Courses in Art

The standard major is available to the student interested in a liberal arts education. It consists of eight courses in the major subject, normally one 3-credit course per semester and begins with ARTLA 10100, upon completion continues with ARTCR 22100, followed by an additional 18 credits selected from 200- and 300-level ARTCR courses. The department recommends that the optional minor associated with the 24-credit studio major consist of the Minor in Art History. No courses can be repeated.

Hunter Core Requirement

Courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here:Hunter Core Requirement

Honors
Students wishing to graduate with honors must consult an adviser to make an official application. Application forms are in the Art Office, Room 11054 Hunter North. Major credits must have been completed with a 3.5 grade point average and the cumulative grade point average, from courses taken only at Hunter, must be at least 3.0. Student must submit 35mm slides of an advanced studio project or independent study course.

Studio Art 42-Credit Major (BA)

Return to Programs and Courses in Art

An intensive major is available for the student who prefers a greater concentration in studio art and particularly for the student who plans to do graduate study in art. It consists of ARTLA 10100 and ARTCR 22100, with a concentration of 9 credits in one study area (e.g., painting, sculpture, drawing, graphics, ceramics, photography, combined media) and 18 credits of other studio art courses to be determined in consultation with a departmental adviser (a total of 30 credits of studio art). Nine credits of study in art history are required. (It is recommended that students declare their major within 41 credits.)

Students should consult with a department adviser for guidance in the selection of 200-level courses. The plan for the area of concentration should be submitted to an adviser for tentative approval at the beginning of the junior year and for final approval in the lower senior term.

Please note: A maximum of 30 credits in studio art may be applied toward the BA degree.

3A

An historical survey of photography between 1839 and the present day with a focus on the visual revolution provoked by this new medium of representation and on photography’s creative expression. The course is organized chronologically from the beginnings of photography, in 1839, to our time. It gives full exposure to the main technologies of photography in the nineteenth-century, as they became accessible to a large public and introduced new aesthetics in portraiture, urban landscapes, and the representation of distant geographies. This history continues in the twentieth-century, when photography became more experimental and sought its own artistic autonomy. The course surveys chronologically the key moments at which photography reached the status of art, was used as social document, and fulfilled a wide social need. The dialogue between contemporary art and photography is brought to the present, exploring the strategies by which digital art is challenging the idea of photography as truthful representation of the world.

3 cr. + 5 hrs open studio

ARTCR 25700 - Ceramics

Introduction to pottery and ceramic sculpture, including hand forming, throwing on the wheel, glazing and kiln operation.
Material Fee: $85
prereq or coreq: ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.
4 hrs
3 cr. + 5 hrs open studio
ARTCR 27100 - Principles of Photography

Black and white photography as creative medium; camera and its functions; exposure and film development, contact printing and enlarging.
Material Fee: $75
prereq or coreq: ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.
3 hrs
3 cr. + 6 hrs open studio

ARTCR 29000 - Combined Media

An introduction to basic technologies, methods and ideas that result in ways of making art that mix and combine media. The course will emphasize the production of moving images, sounds, performance as well as still images and objects.
4 hrs + 5 hrs open studio
3 cr.

ARTCR 30100 - Advanced Studio

Student projects with emphasis on contemporary methods such as video, film, tape, conceptual art, environmental art, earth art.
Material Fee: $40
prereq or coreq: ARTLA 10100 and ARTCR 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.
3 hrs
3 cr. + 5 hrs open studio

ARTCR 32200 - Advanced Drawing

Material Fee: $50
prereq: ARTC 22100
prereq or coreq: May be repeated once. ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.
4 hrs
3 cr. + 5 hrs open studio

ARTCR 32600 - Advanced Graphic Arts Workshop

Advanced study of one or more graphic art methods. Individual exploration emphasized.
Material Fee: $75
prereq: ARTCR 22500
prereq or coreq: May be repeated once. ARTLA 10100 and ARTCR 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.
4 hrs
2 cr. + 5 hrs open studio

ARTCR 33600 - Advanced Painting

Continued experience in painting with possible concentration upon one medium and theme. Individual exploration emphasized.
Material Fee: $100
prereq: ARTCR 23500
prereq or coreq: May be repeated once. ARTLA 10100 and ARTCR 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.
4 hrs
3 cr. + 5 hrs open studio

ARTCR 35200 - Advanced Sculpture

Continued experience in sculpture with possible concentration in one material. Individual exploration emphasized.
Material Fee: $65
prereq: ARTC 25100
prereq or coreq: May be repeated once. ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

ARTCR 35700 - Advanced Ceramics

Continued experimentation in form, surface and techniques. Individual exploration emphasized.
Material Fee: $85
prereq: ARTC 25700
prereq or coreq: May be repeated once. ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

ARTCR 36000 - Special Projects

Advanced students only. Advanced projects are announced prior to registration each term. Recent examples of Special Projects courses: Color Photo; Advanced Photo Darkroom Process; Collage and Assemblage; Color as Communication; Computer Graphics; Projects in Clay; Advanced Watercolor Painting; Experiment: Photography and Graphics; Site-Specific Painting; Projects in 2-D., Digital Art, Advanced Digital Art, Video for Artists, Installation Art, Sculpture: Methods & Materials, Advanced 2-D studio Seminar, Politics & Painting, Unconventional Approaches: Drawing, 2-D, 3-D, 4-D Seminar, Advanced Painting Tech. & Concepts
Material Fee: $50
prereq: See department

ARTCR 37200 - Advanced Photography

Techniques and aesthetics of black and white photography; self-expression and exploration; classroom critiques.
Material Fee: $75
prereq: ARTC 27100
prereq or coreq: May be repeated once. ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

ARTCR 39000 - Combined Media

Continued experience in combined media with possible concentration in one approach and/or method. Individual exploration will be emphasized. May be repeated once (i.e., taken twice).

ARTCR 40200 - Independent Study in Studio Art
ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

prereq: perm instr.
1-3 hrs
1-3 cr. per semester

ARTCR 40500 - Art and Current Ideas II

Lecture and discussion; a non-studio course. Topics of concern in art today as brought forth by current exhibitions. Scheduled trips to galleries and museums. Reading assignments, papers and oral reports focus on issues relative to the exhibitions.

ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

prereq: BFA students or perm dept.
3 hrs
3 cr.

ARTCR 45900 - Professional Experience in Art I

BFA majors, seniors only. Not credited toward BA degree. Advanced projects may include activities outside the college, as well as within the department.

Material Fee: $50

prereq: perm BFA committee at end of junior yr.

prereq or coreq: ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

3 hrs + 15 hrs open studio
6.5 cr.

ARTCR 46000 - Professional Experience in Art II

Continuation of ARTC 45900.

Material Fee: $50

prereq or coreq: ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

3 hrs + 15 hrs open studio
6.5 cr.

ARTCR 49800 - Internship

Qualified undergraduates work for academic credit in professional and community art institutions.

ARTC 10100 and 22100 are prerequisites to all studio courses.

prereq: perm dept.
hrs TBA
1-5 crs

ARTLA 10100 - Introduction to Study of Visual Experience

Introduction to conceiving and formulating ideas for visual experience. Students work in 3 different areas in day session, 2 in evening session.

Material Fee: $25

6 hrs
3 cr. + 3 cr. hrs open studio

ARTLA 36018 - 2-D, 3-D,4-D Seminar
Programs and Courses in Asian American Studies

Asian American Studies

About the Program

The Asian American Studies Program (AASP) was established on the initiative of students and faculty in 1993. An interdisciplinary program, the AASP offers a range of courses on the history, contemporary experiences and contributions of Asian immigrants to the Americas, with close attention paid to how Asian immigrants are an integral part of the history of the United States, redefining American culture and reconstituting American society.

The AASP benefits from its location in a global city with unmatched cultural and intellectual resources and diverse and dynamic Asian populations, and contributes to the growing scholarship in the vital field of Asian American studies while also serving as a resource for New York City’s Asian American communities and community-based organizations. Faculty and students are ideally positioned to become actively involved in a field at the forefront of contemporary research and scholarship and to contribute to the growth and development of local and national Asian American communities.

The program draws its faculty and course offerings from traditional disciplines such as history, sociology, anthropology, political science, education and literature, as well as interdisciplinary fields such as American ethnic studies, women and gender studies, postcolonial studies, international human rights, and policy studies. The AASP grounds its curriculum in the firm belief that a rigorous approach to Asian American studies necessitates an alliance of these areas and methods of study.

Minor in Asian American Studies

The interdisciplinary Asian American Studies Minor provides students with focused competence in the histories and contemporary experiences of diverse Asian diasporic communities, including but not limited to those of North America.

A Minor consists of a minimum of 12 credits and can be made up of any courses offered by—or cross-listed with—the Asian American Studies Program, excluding ASIAN 360.02 (East Asia to 1600) and ASIAN 360.03 (China since 1800). No more than 6 Minor credits may be transferred from another institution.

Asian American Studies: Introductory Courses

For continuously updated course listings, descriptions and sample syllabi, please go to http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/aasp

ASIAN 21000 - Asians in the U.S.

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Interdisciplinary examination of Asian American experiences of discrimination and exclusion in the context of domestic and foreign U.S. policies regarding immigration, labor, and national identity. Through an examination of historical, theoretical and cultural texts, the course also looks at the impact of the current expansion of Asian American communities on America’s social, cultural, and political order.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 22001 - Asian American Women Writers

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B or C
Critical examination of Asian American women’s identity formations in relation to factors such as racial ideology, global migrations of labor and capital, class status, sexuality, military conflict, constructions of family, and language.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 22012 - Asian American Literature

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B or C
Critical examination of literary texts by Asians in the U.S. and western diaspora, tracing Asian American literary production in order to understand how these literatures are a formative site to engage in intersectional analyses of constructions of history, citizenship, and identity.

3 hrs
3 cr.

Asian American Studies: Humanities Courses

For continuously updated course listings, descriptions and sample syllabi, please go to http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/aasp

ASIAN 22004 - Arab American Literature

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Critical examination of a cross-section of literature and film/video/performance by Arab American writers and artists in an interdisciplinary investigation of the historical and contemporary experiences of Arab Americans in the United States and western diaspora.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 22005 - South Asian Women’s Literature

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B or C
Close examination of literary, historical, and theoretical texts with a focus on the cultural production and social movements of South Asian women, with particular attention to how issues of race and nationalism are shaped and how they have overlapped with gender, class, sexuality, religion, and language.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 22006 - Filipino American Literature

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Close examination of the historical and social contexts in which Philippine-American literature has evolved, the diverse aesthetics and themes of individual writers, and analysis of how issues of Philippine-American cultural production takes up issues of gender, class, sexuality, religion, language, and national identity.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 22009 - Gender and Genre in Asian American Literature and Film

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B, PD/C
Critical exploration of the social construction of Asian American identity in various genres: video art, prose, poetry, memoir, performance, and film. The emphasis of the course is on intersectional analyses that critically examine how race, gender, class, and sexuality inform Asian American artists' decisions regarding form and genre.
ASIAN 32001 - Nation, Self, and Asian Identity

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Critical examination of literary constructions of Asian American identity in relation to the U.S. nation-state, with particular emphasis placed upon juridical constructions of citizenship, community, and belonging.

ASIAN 32005 - Asian American Memoir

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Close examination of memory as an imagined and contested site that complicates and challenges how we constitute self and other. Students will analyze constructions of identity through Asian American narratives, and their relation to language, form and experience, including immigration and gendered narratives to transnational categories of homeland and belonging.

ASIAN 32100 - Asian American Social Protest Literature

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Deconstruction and examination of historical and contemporary Asian American literatures of social protest and resistance. Students utilize readings as a framework for initiating, planning, and executing semester-long community-based projects.

ASIAN 33008 - Muslim Diasporas

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Interdisciplinary course moving through the history of Islam and its expressions in many areas of the world (including Sufism), to the cultural identity, art, and literature of the Muslim Diaspora in the United States, their misrepresentations in the media, and fetishization by popular culture.

ASIAN 34001 - Asian Pacific American Media

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Addresses Asian Pacific American experiences of assimilation, displacement, marginalization, multiculturalism, and resistance to the cultural 'norm' within Asian Pacific communities through screening a wide range of films and videos and reviewing critical and fictional writing. Guest artists may also lecture.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 34003 - West Asian American Literature and Film

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Interdisciplinary course that first examines the cultural, linguistic, and religious diversity of West Asia, sometimes called Central Asia and/or the Middle East, to then focus on the literature and film of their diasporic communities in the U.S.

3 hrs
3 cr.

Asian American Studies: Recent Course Offerings in the Humanities

ASIAN 33052 - Oral History, Cultural Identity and the Arts
ASIAN 39006 - Gender and Sexuality in Asian American Literature and Film
ASIAN 39016 - Ethnicity and American English
ASIAN 39018 - Asian American Poetics
ASIAN 46000 - Independent Study

Asian American Studies: Social Science Courses

For continuously updated course listings, descriptions and sample syllabi, please go to http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/aasp

ASIAN 23002 - Asian American Communities and Mental Health

Hunter Core
Individual and Society (Social Sciences) - I&S SS
Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Introduction to psychological experiences of Asian Americans, including historical, sociopolitical, and cultural influences that shape personality and mental health. Specific topics include stereotypes and racism, processes of acculturation and enculturation, ethnic identity development, interracial relationships, stressors and social support systems within Asian American communities, and culturally competent mental health treatment and service delivery.

3 hrs
3 credits
ASIAN 35100 - Asian American History of Labor and Politics

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
This seminar explores the interconnected issues of race, class, and nationality through the study of the history of Asian immigrant labor in the U.S. in the context of American economic needs and political environment.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 39001 - International Migration

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
This interdisciplinary course examines the origins and processes of migration and settlement, past and present. Includes a series of lectures by leading scholars from a variety of academic fields and immigrant communities. Topics include: immigration and labor, race and gender, social and cultural identity, immigration policy and political action, and the trans-nationalization of education and family life.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 39002 - Asian American Civil Rights and the Law

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Critical examination of major immigration and civil rights laws and Supreme Court cases that have affected Asian Americans.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 49100 - Asian American Movement and Community Organizations

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
Semester-long analysis of the development of pan-ethnic Asian American consciousness and institutions since the late 1960s, with a focus on this movement's impact on community organizations of Asian national sub-groups examined in the context of larger American racial and ethnic politics.

3 hrs
3 cr.

Asian American Studies: Recent Course Offerings in Social Science

ASIAN 23001 - Globalization and Gender

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B
3 hrs
3 cr.

ASIAN 33001 - Chinese in the U.S.

ASIAN 33003 - South Asians in the U.S.

ASIAN 39015 - Immigration and the Economy

ASIAN 46000 - Independent Study

ASIAN 49000 - Immigration Policy

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B

Other Courses

ASIAN 29000 - Asian American Studies Internship

A semester-long course intended to give students practical experience participating in a local or national Asian American-serving organization. The objective of ASIAN 29000 is to train students to transform Asian American Studies scholarship into practice, and to realize the relevance of their classroom training in a broader social context. ASIAN 29000 will be required of students seeking a Certificate in Asian American Studies (pending), and will be recommended for students seeking a minor in Asian American Studies.

prereq: ENGL 12000, ASIAN 210 or equiv.

Programs and Courses in Biological Sciences

Biological Sciences

About the Department

The Department of Biological Sciences at Hunter College stresses excellence in both teaching and research. Fully equipped research laboratories are supported by major federal grants and students are strongly encouraged to become involved in laboratory research. State-of-the-art flow cytometry and bioimaging facilities are housed within the department. They have been created and are funded by federal grants, New York State and the Center for Gene Structure and Function. The Center consists of faculty from the departments of Biological Sciences, Chemistry, Physics, Psychology and Anthropology working in the areas of biomolecular structure and function.

The core curriculum in biological sciences prepares students for admission to both graduate and medical schools and for careers in the biological sciences, including teaching and the growing industry of biotechnology. The curriculum emphasizes cell biology, molecular biology, developmental biology, genetics and neurobiology as the foundation for future careers in fields related to the biological sciences.

Undergraduate Major

Biological Sciences - BA

The Department of Biological Sciences offers two major programs. Major I is for students who intend to prepare for graduate study, medicine, dentistry, secondary school teaching, biotechnology and industry. Major II is for students preparing to teach in elementary schools. Students planning to pursue Major I are strongly encouraged to declare their major as soon as possible after completing one semester of Principles of Biology.

Declared majors are assigned a permanent faculty adviser who will assist in individual curriculum planning. Students are required to meet with their adviser at least once each semester throughout their undergraduate career to discuss their program and progress.

- Biological Sciences Major I
- Biological Sciences Major II
CR/NC Policy

Only a letter grade (A, B, C, D, including + or -) will be accepted by the department in the required science and mathematics courses for the biology Major I and Major II.

Minor in Biological Sciences

The minor in Biological Sciences gives students a basic understanding of biology from the molecular and cellular to the organismal and population level. This includes both theoretical aspects presented in lecture as well as practical aspects presented in lab. Flexibility is built into the minor to allow students to select courses corresponding to their interests. In order to minor in Biological Sciences a student must pass four courses resulting in a minor GPA of 2.0 or higher. All students who want a Minor in Biological Sciences must take:

- BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I and BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II or BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I and BIOL 16000 - Honors Principles of Biology II or the equivalent
- two additional courses in Biological Sciences, one of which must be at the 200 level or higher

Number of Credits: A minimum of 12 credits. Transfer credits may be applied. At least 2 courses must be taken at Hunter College.

Opportunities for Undergraduates in Biological Sciences

Undergraduate Research Students who wish to undertake a research project under the supervision of a faculty member must first obtain written permission from that faculty member and then register for BIOL 48000 – BIOL 48300. Research opportunities for undergraduates at Hunter are available in cell and molecular biology, developmental biology, neuroscience, cancer biology, AIDS, microbiology and a variety of other contemporary areas. In some cases students may be permitted to work at one of the several neighboring research institutions. Synopses of faculty research interests can be obtained in the department office or from the Department of Biological Sciences Web site (http://sonhouse.hunter.cuny.edu/). In addition, there are summer research opportunities available at Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory and Woods Hole Research Center through the Howard Hughes Medical Institute. Please note that, to qualify for departmental honors at graduation, there is a research requirement.

Honors Work

In order to qualify for departmental honors, students must have a departmental GPA of at least 3.5 and an overall GPA of at least 3.0. They must also satisfy a research requirement consisting of either:

(a) at least 2 credits of

BIOL 48000 - Introduction to Experimental Biology

GER
3/B

Laboratory research under guidance of faculty member. Work at another institution may be permitted in some cases, under auspices of a faculty member. Written report required upon completion of research. A minimum of 2 credits satisfies the research requirement for graduation with departmental honors.

prereq: BIOL 10000 and 10200, BIOL 20000 or 20200 (or the equiv), written perm instr. prior to reg.
hrs TBA
1-2 cr. per sem.
BIOL 48100 - Introduction to Experimental Biology

GER
3/B

Laboratory research under guidance of faculty member. Work at another institution may be permitted in some cases, under auspices of a faculty member. Written report required upon completion of research. A minimum of 2 credits satisfies the research requirement for graduation with departmental honors.

prereq: BIOL 10000 and 10200, BIOL 20000 or 20200 (or the equiv), written perm instr. prior to reg.

TBA
1-2 credits per semester

BIOL 48200 - Introduction to Experimental Biology

GER
3/B

Laboratory research under guidance of faculty member. Work at another institution may be permitted in some cases, under auspices of a faculty member. Written report required upon completion of research. A minimum of 2 credits satisfies the research requirement for graduation with departmental honors.

prereq: BIOL 10000 and 10200, BIOL 20000 or 20200 (or the equiv), written perm instr. prior to reg.

TBA
1-2 credits per semester

BIOL 48300 - Introduction to Experimental Biology

GER
3/B

Laboratory research under guidance of faculty member. Work at another institution may be permitted in some cases, under auspices of a faculty member. Written report required upon completion of research. A minimum of 2 credits satisfies the research requirement for graduation with departmental honors.

hrs TBA
1-2 cr. per sem.

or (b) at least one course chosen from among

BIOL 37500 - Molecular Systematics

GER
3/B

An overview of the various methods and kinds of data used in systematics, the study of organism diversity and biological relationships. Emphasis is on modern molecular and genetic approaches to identification of individual species and strains and full phylogenetic analyses of suites of species to determine their evolutionary history. The knowledge base is provided for experimental investigation of questions of current interest in phylogeny and population biology.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.

3 hrs
3 cr.
BIOL 39000 - Laboratory in Cell Structure

GER
3/B

Applications of light and confocal microscopy, using fluorescence and multidimensional imaging to study cell structures. Lab projects involve immunofluorescence: fixation methods and immunocytochemistry. Illumination methods including multi-channel 3D rendering, image processing and visualization software.

prereq or coreq: BIOL 30000 or BIOL 20200 and perm instr.
7 hrs (2 lecture, 5 lab)
4.5 cr.
fall only

BIOL 41000 - Workshop in Biotechnology

GER
3/B

A series of laboratory-intensive experimental projects, each lasting one week or more, which introduce current research techniques and include individual participation in planning and preparation of experiments. The focus is on a broad biotechnology topic such as the isolation, cloning and expression of a gene, utilizing the techniques of molecular genetics.

This course satisfies the research requirement for graduation with departmental honors and is a component of the interdisciplinary BS/MA (MLS/Biol) program in biotechnology.

prereq: BIOL 20000, 20200, perm instr.
30 hrs/week for 4 weeks
4 cr.
winter/summer

Additional Information

The research requirement includes a written report resulting from work in any of these courses.

Accelerated Bachelor's/Master's Programs in Biological Sciences

BA/MA Program in Biological Sciences and Adolescent Education: Biology

This is an accelerated program leading to a BA in Biological Sciences and an MA in Adolescent Education: Biology. Undergraduates admitted to the program start graduate courses during their senior year and will be able to complete the MA degree one year after they complete the requirements for the BA degree. Interested students should contact a Biology Department adviser early in their undergraduate career.

BA/MA Program with Specialization in Biotechnology

In this five-year program, qualified biology majors begin graduate work as seniors and receive the MA one year after completing BA requirements. Students are provided with theoretical knowledge and skills in molecular biology and a foundation for application of these skills in careers in the biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries, academic research, or public health. Successful completion of the biotechnology workshop (BIOL 410/610), an essential program component, entitles students to a summer internship in an industrial or private research laboratory. Interested biology majors should contact a departmental adviser as early as possible.

BA/MS Program in Biological Sciences/Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences

This is an accelerated program leading to a BA in biology and an MS in environmental and occupational health sciences in five years. Biology majors admitted to the program start graduate work in their senior year. Interested students should contact a departmental adviser early in their undergraduate studies, as well as the office of the Director of the Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences Program at the CUNY School of Public Health at Hunter College. The program provides biology majors with a career option in public health.

BS/MA Program in Medical Laboratory Sciences and Biotechnology

Qualified medical lab science seniors may apply to the BS/MA collaboration: Medical Laboratory Sciences with Specialization in Biotechnology - Accelerated BS/MA between MLS and the department of Biological Sciences. An intensive techniques workshop (BIOL 41000) is taken prior to graduation and upon successful completion, students may continue with professional internship and the MA program, allowing MLS graduates to complete the degree at an accelerated pace.

MA Program in Biological Sciences

See Career Planning-Graduate Study.

Biological Sciences Major I

Return to: Biological Sciences-BA

Major I in Biological Sciences has the following Concentrations:

- Basic (shown below)

  Three other concentrations that are slightly more rigorous than the basic Major I. Interested students should speak with a biology adviser as soon as possible to plan their courses accordingly.

- Behavioral Neurobiology
- Bioinformatics
- Biophysics

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses for Major I (all concentrations) must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus
Functions and their graphs: polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions; conic sections; topics in trigonometry; graphical and analytical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities. Not credited to students who have completed MATH 15000 or its equivalent.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam

4 hrs

4 cr.

MATH 12600 - Precalculus Technology Laboratory

Students are introduced to MATHEMATICA as a tool for exploring qualitative features of functions and solving pre-calculus problems: simplifying algebraic expressions, solving equations, plotting functions and curves, finding and approximating zeros and solving systems of equations. MATH 12600 cannot be taken for credit after a student has passed MATH 15000. Students who have passed MATH 15000 should register for MATH 15400 to satisfy the symbolic proficiency requirement.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500

2 hrs

1 cr.

Hunter Core Requirement

Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Major I

Major I is for students who intend to prepare for graduate study, medicine, dentistry, secondary school teaching, biotechnology and industry. Students planning to pursue Major I are strongly encouraged to declare their major as soon as possible after completing one semester of Principles of Biology. Declared majors are assigned a permanent faculty advisor who will assist in individual curriculum planning. Students are required to meet with their advisor at least once each semester throughout their undergraduate career to discuss their program and progress.

B. 200-level and higher Concentration in Biology (24.5 cr.)

1. Required Courses (13.5 cr.)

BIOL 20300 - Molecular Biology and Genetics

This course includes a detailed examination of the fundamental principles of gene expression. The processes of DNA replication, transcription, mRNA processing, micro RNA function, and translation will be extensively covered. Prokaryotic and eukaryotic systems will be described. Classical Mendelian as well as molecular genetics principles will be covered in the lecture through a discussion of several model systems. Important genetic processes such as recombination, transposition and DNA repair will be discussed in-depth. The course will provide a modern view of the concept of the gene, and introduce basic bioinformatics analysis. Hands-on laboratory experiments will reinforce bacterial and eukaryotic genetic concepts as well as provide basics in recombinant DNA technology.

prereq: Advisor permission; BIOL 10000 and 10200 or equiv; CHEM 10200, CHEM 10400, CHEM 10600 or equiv.
(for Major II students, chem prereqs are CHEM 10000, 10100; coreqs are CHEM 12000,12100)

BIOL 30300 - Cell Biology

This Biology major capstone course builds upon what has been learned in molecular biology & genetics and biochemistry providing and integrated look at the molecular biology of the cell. Separated into 5 units, the lecture and laboratory components are coordinated. The course includes integrated components in the following eukaryotic cell biology areas through the following 5 units: 1. Introduction: Cell morphology and commonly used techniques for examining the cell. An introduction to cell proliferation, cell motility, and cell communication (comparing prokaryotic and eukaryotic systems). 2. Cell Cycle Regulation: Cell cycle regulation, cellular signal transduction, regulation of cell proliferation and cell growth, cell death mechanisms, and de-regulation of cell growth the process of tumorigenesis. 3. Membranes and Cytoskeleton: Membranes, cytoskeleton, and signaling, are including mechanisms for transport and cellular channels for intracellular and intercellular communication. Human biology and disease as it pertains to membrane biology. 4. Organelles: Intracellular organelles are examined in detail for their structures and functions. This includes, but is not limited to, mitochondrial function and energy production, protein degradation pathways and intracellular trafficking. 5. Cell Communication: Cellular differentiation, cell-cell communication, and an introduction to development.

prereq: Advisor permission; BIOL 30000 or instructor permission

2. Electives (11 credits)

Students select the remainder of their credits toward Major I from advanced courses in the biological sciences so as to create a core area of study. Eleven credits are required to complete the major. A minimum of two upper-level lecture courses must be taken, with at least one course at the 300 level, in addition to BIOL 30000 and BIOL 30300, for a minimum of six credits. For the remaining elective credits, at least one special-topics course must be taken (BIOL 47000 or BIOL 47100; various topics offered each semester) in addition to other lecture or research courses. Students with strong interdisciplinary interests may select advanced course offerings in other departments after approval by their adviser. Four credits of laboratory research are recommended and can count towards the total elective credits either from a laboratory elective course or from research within an approved research laboratory. Laboratory research credits are taken as a BIOL 48000 research course for a maximum of two credits per semester and require a written report for each semester.

Curriculum Guide for Major I

Year 1
BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D
GER
2/E

The chemical basis of life; basic structure and function of pro- and eucaryotic cells; bioenergetics; Mendelian and molecular genetics; development and mechanisms of control of gene expression at all levels; population genetics and evolution.

Material Fee: $5
PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: MATH 12500, CHEM 10200
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
4.5 cr.
spring only

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10300 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Study of experiments designed to illustrate fundamental laws and techniques of chemistry. Core credit awarded only if CHEM 10200 (STEM) and CHEM 10300 (STEM) are completed. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: CHEM 10200
4 hrs (3 lab, 1 rec)

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
*prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.
Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

Note(s)

*We recommend that math, physics and chemistry courses be completed as early as the student’s schedule allows. Note that CHEM 22300, CHEM 22300 must be taken prior to BIOL 30000; otherwise, instructor permission is required.
Students who are behind in the chemistry sequence are urged to take advantage of the summer session, during which these chemistry courses are usually offered.

Biological Sciences Major II

Return to: Biological Sciences - BA

For Students Planning to teach in Childhood Education, Grades 1–6

This plan consists of 26 credits in biological science, 12 credits in additional science and 6 credits in math. Major II satisfies the major requirements for certification as a teacher for grades 1-6.

This major requires 30 credits of education courses and should thus be initiated as early as possible.

Childhood education (grades 1-6) is a collateral major. See Childhood Education (QUEST) Grades 1-6 - BA for requirements.

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning

GER
1/B

Functions and their graphs: polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions; conic sections; topics in trigonometry; graphical and analytical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities. Not credited to students who have completed MATH 15000 or its equivalent.

Additional Math and Science Requirements for Major II
CHEM 10000 (STEM) - Essentials of General Chemistry Lecture

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
GER 2/E

Essential facts, laws, and theories of general chemistry.
Note: Core credit awarded only if CHEM 10000 and CHEM 10100 are completed. Primarily for nursing, nutrition and food science and community health education students.
4 hrs (3 lec, 1 rec)
3 cr.

CHEM 10100 - Inquiries into the Nature of Matter

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

A laboratory-based introduction to chemistry for non-science and health science majors that focuses on the basic principles of matter, energy and the environment. CHEM 10100 satisfies the laboratory requirements for a one-semester general chemistry course for health science students.
Primarily for nursing, nutrition and food science and community health students.

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

First semester of two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.
prereq: MATH 12500; pre-calculus or equiv. By math dept. exam.
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
4.5 cr.

PHYS 12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics
Second semester of PHYS 11000 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.

PSYCH 10000 - Introduction to Psychology

An introduction to the problems, methods and concepts of psychology, covering a range of topics which characterize the discipline, including history, methodology and professional ethics, biological foundations, perception, motivation and emotion, learning, memory and thinking, individual differences, intelligence, personality, behavior disorders and their treatment, group processes.

PSYCH 24800 - Statistical Methods in Psychological Research

Open to declared majors only. Analysis and interpretation of quantified data. Descriptive and inferential statistics applied to psychological research.

PSYCH 25000 - Experimental Psychology: General

Open to declared majors only. Research and general experimental techniques in study of behavior. Introduction to the principles of research methodology and experimental techniques. Required research reports involve a variety of laboratory exercises related to the study of basic behavioral processes. (Students may take either PSYC 24900 or 25000, but not both.)
prereq: ENGL 12000 with a minimum grade of C; one sem. acceptable lab science sequence with a passing grade; PSYCH 24800 with a minimum grade of C prereq or coreq: Writing Intensive
6 hrs (2 lec, 4 lab)
4 cr.

BIOL 47000 - Special Topics in Biology

GER
3/B

Specific area of contemporary interest in biology. Topics change from term to term. An oral presentation and a written paper are required.
prereq: BIOL 30000
2 hrs (lec)
2 cr. per sem.

BIOL 47100 - Special Topics in Biology

GER
3/B

Specific area of contemporary interest in biology. Topics change from term to term. An oral presentation and a written paper are required.
prereq: BIOL 30000
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr. per sem.

Electives

8 credits, 6 of which must be PSYCH

PSYCH 30000 - Physiological Psychology (B)

GER
3/B

Neural and endocrine mechanisms involved in learning, emotion, perception and other psychological processes. PSYCH 24800 and 24900 or 25000, one semester of an acceptable science sequence, ENGL 12000 and declaration of a psychology major are the minimum prerequisite for all courses above PSYCH 25000. (Students falling under the previous curriculum need not fulfill the science prerequisite.) prereq: ENGL 12000. PSYCH 24900 or 25000
3 hrs
3 cr.

PSYCH 30100 - Sensation and Perception (B; C)

GER
3/B
Open to declared majors only. Methods, theories and empirical data relating to stimulus detection, encoding and perception as a function of variables including current stimuli and past history.

PSYCH 24800 and 24900 or 25000, one semester of an acceptable science sequence, ENGL 12000 and declaration of a psychology major are the minimum prerequisite for all courses above PSYCH 25000. (Students falling under the previous curriculum need not fulfill the science prerequisite.)

_prereq: ENGL 12000. PSYCH 24900 or 25000
3 hrs
3 cr.

PSYCH 30900 - Behavioral Neuroendocrinology (B; D/S)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C
GER
3/B

Research and attitudes about sex-related behavior in human and nonhuman animals emphasizing evolutionary and neuroendoinological processes and social-psychological processes; male-female differences and similarities, therapeutic strategy in sex-behavior pathology and sexual behavior and the law.

PSYCH 24800 and 24900 or 25000, one semester of an acceptable science sequence, ENGL 12000 and declaration of a psychology major are the minimum prerequisite for all courses above PSYCH 25000. (Students falling under the previous curriculum need not fulfill the science prerequisite.)

_prereq: ENGL 12000. PSYCH 24900 or 25000
3 hrs
3 cr.

PSYCH 32700 - Motivation and Emotion (B; C)

GER
3/B

The question of how behavior is initiated, maintained, directed and terminated. Human and non-human research evaluated.

PSYCH 24800 and 24900 or 25000, one semester of an acceptable science sequence, ENGL 12000 and declaration of a psychology major are the minimum prerequisite for all courses above PSYCH 25000. (Students falling under the previous curriculum need not fulfill the science prerequisite.)

_prereq: ENGL 12000. PSYCH 24900 or 25000
3 hrs
3 cr.

PSYCH 36900 - Behavioral Pharmacology (B)

GER
3/B

This course will provide information on the interrelationship of pharmacology and behavior. The relationship of licit, illicit and therapeutic drugs and their use and abuse will be explored in the context of their historical use and biological effects. Topics discussed include an overview of the nervous system, basic psychopharmacology, drug classification and specific drugs such as alcohol, nicotine, narcotics, marijuana, and psychotherapeutic agents.
prereq: ENGL 12000, PSYCH 24900 or 25000, PSYCH 30000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

BIOL 37000 - Physiology of the Nervous System

GER
3/B

A comprehensive introduction to neuroscience. Topics include how nerve cells (neurons) transmit electrical impulses, how neurons communicate with each other through synapses and how nerve pathways and networks determine many functions of the brain. The last portion of the course shall explore how developing neurons seek out targets and establish synapses.
prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
4 hrs (lec)
4 cr.
spring only

BIOL 37600 - Endocrinology

GER
3/B

Cellular organization of the endocrine system; molecular mechanisms of hormone action; hormonal physiology of metabolism and reproduction; integration of endocrine responses by the central nervous system.
prereq: BIOL 20200 or perm instr.
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr.
spring only

BIOL 38000 - Molecular Neurobiology

GER
3/B

Molecular components and molecular mechanisms involved in the cell biology of neurons and glia, neuronal signaling, neuronal development, learning, memory and diseases of the nervous system.
prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
3 lec hrs
3 cr.
fall only

Total: 76 Credits

Schedule

A typical timetable for graduation is presented below.

Fall (Year 1) 11.5 credits
BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D
GER
2/E

The chemical basis of life; basic structure and function of pro- and eucaryotic cells; bioenergetics; Mendelian and molecular genetics; development and mechanisms of control of gene expression at all levels; population genetics and evolution.
Material Fee: $5
PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.
prereq: MATH 12500, CHEM 10200
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
4.5 cr.
spring only

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

MATH 15000 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry I

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Limits, continuity, differentiation and integration of elementary functions and trigonometric functions, applications.
prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
4 hrs
4 cr.

Spring (Year 1) 13.5 credits

BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
Pluralism and Diversity
Taxonomy; homeostasis; internal transport and gas exchange in plants and animals; plant hormones; osmoregulation; mechanisms of action in the muscular, nervous and neuroendocrine systems; the senses, behavior, ecology.

Material fee: $5

PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity

GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.

Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200

coreq: CHEM 10400

6 hrs

3 cr.

PSYCH 10000 - Introduction to Psychology

GER
2/B

An introduction to the problems, methods and concepts of psychology, covering a range of topics which characterize the discipline, including history, methodology and professional ethics, biological foundations, perception, motivation and emotion, learning, memory and thinking, individual differences, intelligence, personality, behavior disorders and their treatment, group processes.

PHYS 11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

First semester of two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.
prereq: MATH 12500; pre-calculus or equiv. By math dept. exam.
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
4.5 cr.

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

Spring (Year 2) 12 credits

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

PHYS 12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E
Second semester of PHYS 11000 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)

4.5 cr.

Fall (Year 3) 8.5 credits

BIOL 30000 - Biological Chemistry

GER

3/B

Molecular aspects of cellular function; properties of biomolecules, their biosynthesis and breakdown; structure and function of proteins and enzymes, metabolites, membranes and nucleic acids; cellular mechanisms of energy transduction; integration and control of cell metabolism. Experiments cover a variety of modern techniques in molecular biology.

Material Fee: $10

*prereq: BIOL 20200, CHEM 22200, 22300

*coreq: CHEM 22400

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)

4.5 cr.

fall only

PSYCH 24800 - Statistical Methods in Psychological Research

GER

3/B

Open to declared majors only. Analysis and interpretation of quantified data. Descriptive and inferential statistics applied to psychological research.

PSYC 24800 and 24900 or 25000, one semester of an acceptable science sequence, ENGL 12000 and declaration of a psychology major are the minimum prerequisite for all courses above PSYCH 25000. (Students falling under the previous curriculum need not fulfill the science prerequisite.)

*prereq: PSYCH 10000 and any other 3 cr PSYCH course, MATH 12500 or STAT 11300 with a C or or appropriate score on math placement exam

*coreq: Writing Intensiveprereq or coreq: ENGL 12000

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B
Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

*prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.*

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER
GER 3/B
Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

*prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.*

MATH 15000 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry I

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning

GER
1/B
Limits, continuity, differentiation and integration of elementary functions and trigonometric functions, applications.

*prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
4 hrs
4 cr.*

MATH 15500 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry II
Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000

4 hrs
4 cr.

STAT 21200 - Discrete Probability

Hunter Core
Math and Quantitative Reasoning (MQR)
GER
1/B

Combinations, permutations, discrete probability. Characteristics of probability distributions. Model building. Additional topics like sampling, random walks or game theory will be introduced from time to time.

prereq: MATH 12500 or STAT 11300 or appropriate score on placement exam.

3 hrs
3 cr.

STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

Hunter Core
Math and Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one- and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.

3 hrs
3 cr.

PHYS 11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

First semester of two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.

prereq: MATH 12500; pre-calculus or equiv. By math dept. exam.

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
4.5 cr.
PHYS 11100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW) Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

For physics and other science majors. First semester of a two-semester introductory physics course using calculus.
Prereq or coreq: coreq (with perm dept.): MATH 15000
8 hrs (4 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
5.5 cr.

PHYS 12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

Second semester of PHYS 11000 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.
Prereq: PHYS 11000 or 11100
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
4.5 cr.

PHYS 12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

Second semester of PHYS 11100 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using calculus.
Prereq: PHYS 11000 or 11100
Prereq or coreq: (with perm dept.): MATH 15500
8 hrs (4 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)
5.5 cr.

Electives (10 credits)

ANTHP 30200 - Human Genetics

Analysis of distribution of contemporary human populations and microevolutionary processes that underlie human variability.
Prereq: ANTHP 10100 or ANTHP 10200 or BIOL 10200 or ANTHP 10500
3 hrs
3 cr.
CHEM 38800 - Topics of Current Interest in Chemistry

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/B
Offered subject to adequate student interest and enrollment. Taught by specialists from department faculty. The specific topic will be listed in the schedule of classes for a given semester.

prereq or coreq: CHEM 35200 and CHEM 35600 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

BIOL 42500 - Computational Molecular Biology

GER
3/B
An introduction to the interdisciplinary field of computational molecular biology. Students are taught the scope and methods of in silico biology, i.e., the application of computational and statistical methods to solving problems in molecular biology. Topics will include homology searching, sequence alignment, molecular phylogenetics, comparative genomics, analysis of gene expression, and prediction of macromolecular structures. The course will be taught using a mixed format of lectures and hands-on workshops in a UNIX computer laboratory setting. Knowledge and skills in molecular biology, UNIX programming, and statistics are essential for success in this core course required for bioinformatics-concentration students from all majors.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or BIOL 30200 or CHEM 37600; STAT 21300; CSCI 13200 or CSCI 23500 or UNIX proficiency permitted by instructor.
3 hrs
3 cr.

BIOL 47100 - Special Topics in Biology

GER
3/B
Specific area of contemporary interest in biology. Topics change from term to term. An oral presentation and a written paper are required.

prereq: BIOL 30000
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr. per sem.

GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better

5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)

4 cr.

PHYS 12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

Second semester of PHYS 11000 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using algebra.

prereq: PHYS 11000 or 11100
Fall (Year 3) 10.5 credits

BIOL 30000 - Biological Chemistry

GER 3/B

Molecular aspects of cellular function; properties of biomolecules, their biosynthesis and breakdown; structure and function of proteins and enzymes, metabolites, membranes and nucleic acids; cellular mechanisms of energy transduction; integration and control of cell metabolism. Experiments cover a variety of modern techniques in molecular biology.

Material Fee: $10

prereq: BIOL 20200, CHEM 22200, 22300
coreq: CHEM 22400

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)

4.5 cr.

CSCI 13200 - Practical UNIX and Programming, with Lab

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)

GER 2/E

An introduction to computer programming and the UNIX operating system using Perl. Conceptual overview of the UNIX operating system and programming environment, a practical introduction to shell programming, and the use of UNIX filters and utilities. A pragmatic course with an emphasis on skills acquisition. This course cannot be counted towards the CSCI major.

prereq: none

3 hrs

3 cr.

STAT 21200 - Discrete Probability

Hunter Core
Math and Quantitative Reasoning (MQR)

GER 1/B

Combinations, permutations, discrete probability. Characteristics of probability distributions. Model building. Additional topics like sampling, random walks or game theory will be introduced from time to time.

prereq: MATH 12500 or STAT 11300 or appropriate score on placement exam.

3 hrs

3 cr.

Spring (Year 3) 6 credits
CSCI 23200 - Relational Databases and SQL Programming, with Lab

GER
3/B

An introduction to elementary database concepts and SQL, the standard language for communicating with most database systems. A pragmatic course with an emphasis on skills acquisition; students will learn how to get things done quickly and easily in a database environment. Required for computer science minors; open to computer science majors, but may not be used toward the computer science major.

prereq: CSCI 12700 or CSCI 13200
3 hrs
3 cr.

STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one- and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
3 hrs
3 cr.

Fall (Year 4) 5 credits

- BIOL 3XX

BIOL 47100 - Special Topics in Biology

GER
3/B

Specific area of contemporary interest in biology. Topics change from term to term. An oral presentation and a written paper are required.

prereq: BIOL 30000
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr. per sem.

Spring (Year 4) 5 credits

ANTHP 30200 - Human Genetics

Analysis of distribution of contemporary human populations and microevolutionary processes that underlie human variability.
prereq: ANTHP 10100 or ANTHP 10200 or BIOL 10200 or ANTHP 10500
3 hrs
3 cr.

BIOL 47100 - Special Topics in Biology

GER
3/B

Specific area of contemporary interest in biology. Topics change from term to term. An oral presentation and a written paper are required.

prereq: BIOL 30000
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr. per sem.

Biological Sciences: Concentration in Biophysics

Return to: Biological Sciences Major I

The requirements and timetable for graduation for the Concentration in Biophysics, one of the options in the Biological Sciences Major I, are as follows:

Required Courses

BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D

GER
2/E

The chemical basis of life; basic structure and function of pro- and eucaryotic cells; bioenergetics; Mendelian and molecular genetics; development and mechanisms of control of gene expression at all levels; population genetics and evolution.

Material Fee: $5

PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: MATH 12500, CHEM 10200

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)

4.5 cr.

spring only

BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D

GER
2/E
Taxonomy; homeostasis; internal transport and gas exchange in plants and animals; plant hormones; osmoregulation;
mechanisms of action in the muscular, nervous and neuroendocrine systems; the senses, behavior; ecology.

Material fee: $5
PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: BIOL 10000 or perm instr, MATH 10100 or equiv.
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
4.5 cr.
fall only

BIOL 30000 - Biological Chemistry

GER
3/B

Molecular aspects of cellular function; properties of biomolecules, their biosynthesis and breakdown; structure and function of proteins and enzymes, metabolites, membranes and nucleic acids; cellular mechanisms of energy transduction; integration and control of cell metabolism. Experiments cover a variety of modern techniques in molecular biology.

Material Fee: $10
prereq: BIOL 20200, CHEM 22200, 22300
coreq: CHEM 22400
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
4.5 cr.
fall only

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding.
Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.
CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E
Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.
Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400
6 hrs
3 cr.

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B
Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

CHEM 22400 - Organic Chemistry Lecture II

GER
GER 3/B
Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 22200 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

MATH 15000 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry I

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B
Limits, continuity, differentiation and integration of elementary functions and trigonometric functions, applications.
prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 15500 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry II
Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000

4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 25000 - Calculus with Analytic Geometry III

GER
3/B

Vector geometry, dot and cross products, partial derivatives, matrices, determinants, Jacobians, multiple integration.

prereq: MATH 15500

4 hrs
4 cr.

PHYS 11100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW) Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

For physics and other science majors. First semester of a two-semester introductory physics course using calculus.

prereq or coreq: coreq (with perm dept.): MATH 15000

8 hrs (4 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)

5.5 cr.

PHYS 12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

Second semester of PHYS 11100 (STEM), a two-semester introductory physics course using calculus.

prereq: PHYS 11000 or 11100

prereq or coreq: (with perm dept.): MATH 15500

8 hrs (4 lec, 3 lab, 1 rec)

5.5 cr.

PHYS 33000 - Atomic and Nuclear Physics
Examines experimental evidence and develops modern view of structure of atom and nucleus.

PHYS 33600 - Thermodynamics and Statistical Mechanics

Study of fundamental ideas of heat, reversibility, and entropy. Introduction to statistical nature of some physical laws.

prereq: PHYS 12000 or 12100; MATH 25000

4 hrs

4 cr.

PHYS 42000 - Introduction to Biophysics

A comprehensive introduction to the interface between physics and biology and the application of the techniques of physics to understanding biological systems, focusing on developing an understanding of the thermodynamics of living systems, on the physical kinematics of macromolecules and other biological structures and on the theory of physical techniques that are used in the study of biological systems.

prereq or coreq: PHYS 33000, PHYS 33600, BIOL 30000, CHEM 37600.

4 hrs

4 cr.

Electives (any 2)

BIOL 39000 - Laboratory in Cell Structure

GER

3/B

Applications of light and confocal microscopy, using fluorescence and multidimensional imaging to study cell structures. Lab projects involve immunofluorescence: fixation methods and immunocytochemistry. Illumination methods including multi-channel 3D rendering, image processing and visualization software.

prereq or coreq: BIOL 30000 or BIOL 20200 and perm instr.

7 hrs (2 lecture, 5 lab)

4.5 cr.

fall only

BIOL 47000 - Special Topics in Biology

GER

3/B

Specific area of contemporary interest in biology. Topics change from term to term. An oral presentation and a written paper are required.

prereq: BIOL 30000

2 hrs (lec)

2 cr. per sem.

MATH 25400 - Ordinary Differential Equations
First-order equations, second-order linear equations and linear systems, power series solutions, transform and numerical methods, introduction to qualitative theory.

prereq: MATH 25000

3 hrs

3 cr.

Total Credits (77.5 to 79.5 credits)

Undergraduate Major/Graduate Major

Biological Sciences with Specialization in Biotechnology - Accelerated BA/MA

In this five-year program, qualified biology majors begin graduate work as seniors and receive the MA one year after completing BA requirements. Students are provided with theoretical knowledge and skills in molecular biology and a foundation for application of these skills in careers in the biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries, academic research, or public health. Successful completion of the biotechnology workshop (BIOL 41000/610), an essential program component, entitles students to a summer internship in an industrial or private research laboratory. Interested biology majors should contact a departmental adviser as early as possible.

Biological Sciences/Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences - Accelerated BA/MS

This is an accelerated program leading to a BA in biology and an MS in environmental and occupational health sciences in five years. Biology majors admitted to the program start graduate work in their senior year. Interested students should contact a departmental adviser early in their undergraduate studies, as well as the office of the director of the Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences Program at the CUNY School of Public Health at Hunter College. The program provides biology majors with a career option in public health.

Medical Laboratory Sciences/Biological Sciences with Specialization in Biotechnology - BS/MA

Return to: Medical Laboratory Sciences

Qualified Hunter College seniors majoring in medical lab sciences in the School of Arts & Sciences may apply to the new BS/MA collaboration between the Department of Medical Laboratory Sciences and the Department of Biology. An intensive techniques workshop (BIOL 41000) is taken prior to graduation and upon successful completion, students may continue with professional internship, and the accelerated MA program.

Undergraduate Minor

Minor in Biological Sciences
The minor in Biological Sciences gives students a basic understanding of biology from the molecular and cellular to the organismal and population level. This includes both theoretical aspects presented in lecture as well as practical aspects presented in lab. Flexibility is built into the minor to allow students to select courses corresponding to their interests. In order to minor in Biological Sciences a student must pass four courses resulting in a minor GPA of 2.0 or higher. All students who want a Minor in Biological Sciences must take:

- BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I and BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II or BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I and BIOL 16000 - Honors Principles of Biology II or the equivalent
- two additional courses in Biological Sciences, one of which must be at the 200 level or higher

Number of Credits: A minimum of 12 credits. Transfer credits may be applied. At least 2 courses must be taken at Hunter College.

Biological Sciences

BIOL 10500 - Introduction to Genome Biology

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
A genome is the total genetic content of an organism. Driven by breakthroughs such as the decoding of the first human genome and rapid DNA-sequencing technologies, biomedical sciences are undergoing a rapid and profound transformation into a highly data-intensive field, which requires familiarity with concepts in both biology and computer science. Genome information is revolutionizing virtually all aspects of biology and medicine and will lead to major advances such as more efficient production of renewable energy, better cures for cancers, and longer and healthier life expectancy. This course will introduce genome-sequencing technologies, explore hundreds of genome projects online, and discuss both the benefits and challenges (e.g., ethical and legal) of the genomic revolution to society.

BIOL 12500 (STEM) - Human Biology

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E w/ lab
An introductory lecture/laboratory course for non-biology majors. BIOL 12500 explores the biology that underlies current health and disease topics (including diabetes, cancer, heart disease, sexually transmitted diseases, and nutrition). Using this topics approach, the course provides a survey of human anatomy and physiological function, along with the biological principles of genetics and cellular interactions that comprise our current understanding of the human organism. Laboratory exercises will introduce students to a scientific approach in studying human disease and physiology.

4.5 cr.
spring only
BIOL 15000 (STEM) - CSI: HUNTER (Forensic Biology)

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
GER 2/E with lab

An introductory laboratory course for non-biology majors. This lecture/laboratory course will cover the techniques used by forensic scientists to analyze a crime scene, and the biological concepts behind them. Through the topics that are covered, students will learn how biological evidence like fingerprints, hair, blood, and DNA are collected, analyzed, and presented as evidence to solve crimes.

Required for this course is a 10 minutes PowerPoint presentation in groups in four students. In order to prepare for the presentation, a two page outline from each student is expected. In addition, a group assignment of less than 5 pages long will be assigned as preparation of the presentation. This assignment helps students prepare for a “crime scene” that will be designed by the group using the topics and materials provided in class. Further research for this project is encouraged using library materials or the WWW to provide supplemental information, ideas and images. The laboratory component of the course requires that students record their data, observations, and answer discussion questions (in a short answer format). The completion of their laboratory manual will constitute part of the laboratory grade.

BIOL 16000 - Honors Principles of Biology II

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D
GER
2/E

Physiological systems and their regulation: internal transport, hormones and gas exchange in plants and animals; osmoregulation; motility; nervous, neuroendocrine, immunological and sensory systems; behavior, reproduction and ecology. Students will read reviews of current research in addition to the required text. Guest speakers and class presentations.

Enrollment limited. Core credit awarded only if BIOL 10000 and 16000 are both completed. PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 16000.

prereq: grade of B or better in BIOL 10000 or perm instr, MATH 10100 or equiv.

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)

not offered 2014-15

BIOL 17500 - Choreographing Genomics

This course uses postmodern dance to model biological processes. It is an introductory biology course for non-majors studies in the biological science of molecular genome information through readings, quantitative assignments, movement exercises and artistic lenses. Students explore a detailed examination of heredity and cancer with a focus on contributions of DNA. Students are expected to articulate gene information flow through problem solving, written assignments, oral contributions, and movement forms. Topics covered include the definition of a gene, recombination of genes, the central dogma of genetic flow in a biological system, the 1:1 Pair Rule (Chargaff's rules), DNA sequencing, functional genomics and the relationships of genes to cancer and heredity, as well as ethical issues in medicine.

Each student is in charge of their own body and must recognize that they will have to use their body for assignments and in class participation work.
Students will be required to talk and move in class (comfortable clothes, flat shoes or bare feet, and a yoga mat are required).
Students will have reflective assignments that include written work.
Students will be required to develop visual and movement-based models.

BIOL 20300 - Molecular Biology and Genetics

This course includes a detailed examination of the fundamental principles of gene expression. The processes of DNA replication, transcription, mRNA processing, micro RNA function, and translation will be extensively covered. Prokaryotic and eukaryotic systems will be described. Classical Mendelian as well as molecular genetics principles will be covered in the lecture through a discussion of several model systems. Important genetic processes such as recombination, transposition and DNA repair will be discussed in-depth. The course will provide a modern view of the concept of the gene, and introduce basic bioinformatics analysis. Hands-on laboratory experiments will reinforce bacterial and eukaryotic genetic concepts as well as provide basics in recombinant DNA technology.

prereq: Advisor permission; BIOL 10000 and 10200 or equiv; CHEM 10200, CHEM 10400, CHEM 10600 or equiv. (for Major II students, chem prereqs are CHEM 10000, 10100; coreqs are CHEM 12000,12100)

BIOL 30000 - Biological Chemistry

GER
3/B

Molecular aspects of cellular function; properties of biomolecules, their biosynthesis and breakdown; structure and function of proteins and enzymes, metabolites, membranes and nucleic acids; cellular mechanisms of energy transduction; integration and control of cell metabolism. Experiments cover a variety of modern techniques in molecular biology.
Material Fee: $10
prereq: BIOL 20200, CHEM 22200, 22300
coreq: CHEM 22400

BIOL 30300 - Cell Biology

This Biology major capstone course builds upon what has been learned in molecular biology & genetics and biochemistry providing and integrated look at the molecular biology of the cell. Separated into 5 units, the lecture and laboratory components are coordinated. The course includes integrated components in the following eukaryotic cell biology areas through the following 5 units: 1. Introduction: Cell morphology and commonly used techniques for examining the cell. An introduction to cell proliferation, cell motility, and cell communication (comparing prokaryotic and eukaryotic systems). 2. Cell Cycle Regulation: Cell cycle regulation, cellular signal transduction, regulation of cell proliferation and cell growth, cell death mechanisms, and de-regulation of cell growth the process of tumorigenesis. 3. Membranes and Cytoskeleton: Membranes, cytoskeleton, and signaling, are including mechanisms for transport and cellular channels for intracellular and intercellular communication. Human biology and disease as it pertains to membrane biology. 4. Organelles: Intracellular organelles are examined in detail for their structures and functions. This includes, but is not limited to, mitochondrial function and energy production, protein degradation pathways and intracellular trafficking. 5. Cell Communication: Cellular differentiation, cell-cell communication, and an introduction to development.

prereq: Advisor permission; BIOL 30000 or instructor permission

BIOL 30600 - Developmental Biology

GER
3/B

Major topics include molecular and cellular mechanisms of early embryonic development in amphibians, mammals and model organisms such as Drosophila, as well as the related subjects of vertebrate organ system development, biology of stem cells and animal cloning. Emphasis is placed on seminal and current research in cell-cell communication, signal transduction and differential gene regulation in developmental processes.

BIOL 35000 - The Biology of Cancer

GER
3/B

When a normal cell becomes a cancer cell there are genetic changes that occur that alter the biology of the cell such that it behaves independent of its neighbors. This course will investigate the altered biology of cancer cells that lead to uncontrolled proliferation and cancer. Topics include: cell culture, the cell cycle, hormones, receptors, intracellular signal transduction, oncogenes, tumor suppressor genes, apoptosis, metastasis, and the etiology of human cancer.

*prereq: BIOL 20000, 30000, or perm instr.
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr.
spring only

BIOL 36000 - Cellular and Molecular Immunology
GER
3/B

Study of the immune system from a molecular perspective. Molecular genetics of antibody and T cell receptor diversity, hematopoiesis and lymphocyte development, humoral and cellular immunity, histocompatibility.

prereq or coreq: BIOL 30000, perm instr.
4 hrs (3 lec, 1 disc)
3.5 cr.
spring only

BIOL 37000 - Physiology of the Nervous System

GER
3/B

A comprehensive introduction to neuroscience. Topics include how nerve cells (neurons) transmit electrical impulses, how neurons communicate with each other through synapses and how nerve pathways and networks determine many functions of the brain. The last portion of the course shall explore how developing neurons seek out targets and establish synapses.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
4 hrs (lec)
4 cr.
spring only

BIOL 37500 - Molecular Systematics

GER
3/B

An overview of the various methods and kinds of data used in systematics, the study of organism diversity and biological relationships. Emphasis is on modern molecular and genetic approaches to identification of individual species and strains and full phylogenetic analyses of suites of species to determine their evolutionary history. The knowledge base is provided for experimental investigation of questions of current interest in phylogeny and population biology.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

BIOL 37600 - Endocrinology

GER
3/B

Cellular organization of the endocrine system; molecular mechanisms of hormone action; hormonal physiology of metabolism and reproduction; integration of endocrine responses by the central nervous system.

prereq: BIOL 20200 or perm instr.
3 hrs (lec)
3 cr.
spring only

BIOL 38000 - Molecular Neurobiology
Molecular components and molecular mechanisms involved in the cell biology of neurons and glia, neuronal signaling, neuronal development, learning, memory and diseases of the nervous system.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or perm instr.

3 lec hrs
3 cr.

BIOL 38500 - Fundamentals of Developmental Neurobiology

The course teaches the basic molecular processes underlying neural tissue specification, brain region-specific maturation, proper circuits formation and synapse assembly during the development of eukaryotic organisms.

3 hrs
3 cr.
not offered 2014-15

BIOL 39000 - Laboratory in Cell Structure

Applications of light and confocal microscopy, using fluorescence and multidimensional imaging to study cell structures. Lab projects involve immunofluorescence: fixation methods and immunocytochemistry. Illumination methods including multi-channel 3D rendering, image processing and visualization software.

prereq or coreq: BIOL 30000 or BIOL 20200 and perm instr.

7 hrs (2 lecture, 5 lab)
4.5 cr.
fall only

BIOL 39100 - Laboratory in Cell Structure -- Biological Electron Microscopy

The students will learn basic concepts of transmission electron microscope, principles of biological sample preparation for transmission electron microscopy, various electron microscopy applications, to be familiar with the morphology of different organelles inside the mammalian cell, and understand the functions of each organelle. Lab projects involve: (1) perfusion fixation of mouse tissues; (2) routine transmission electron microscopy sample preparation; (3) techniques and tools used for microtomy; (4) transmission electron microscope alignment; and (5) imaging various cellular ultra-structures using a transmission electron microscope.

BIOL 41000 - Workshop in Biotechnology

GER

3/B

A series of laboratory-intensive experimental projects, each lasting one week or more, which introduce current research techniques and include individual participation in planning and preparation of experiments. The focus is on a broad biotechnology topic such as the isolation, cloning and expression of a gene, utilizing the techniques of molecular genetics.

This course satisfies the research requirement for graduation with departmental honors and is a component of the interdisciplinary BS/MA (MLS/Biol) program in biotechnology.

prereq: BIOL 20000, 20200, perm instr.

30 hrs/week for 4 weeks

4 cr.

winter/summer

BIOL 42500 - Computational Molecular Biology

GER

3/B

An introduction to the interdisciplinary field of computational molecular biology. Students are taught the scope and methods of in silico biology, i.e., the application of computational and statistical methods to solving problems in molecular biology. Topics will include homology searching, sequence alignment, molecular phylogenetics, comparative genomics, analysis of gene expression, and prediction of macromolecular structures. The course will be taught using a mixed format of lectures and hands-on workshops in a UNIX computer laboratory setting.

Knowledge and skills in molecular biology, UNIX programming, and statistics are essential for success in this core course required for bioinformatics-concentration students from all majors.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or BIOL 30200 or CHEM 37600; STAT 21300; CSCI 13200 or CSCI 23500 or UNIX proficiency permitted by instructor.

Preparation for Teaching Chinese in Grades 7-12

Students preparing to teach Chinese must complete a 30-credit major option for teaching that includes the 24-credit sequence taken by non-teaching majors plus 9 additional credits: CHIN 39900 and 6 credits in Chinese language and literature at the 300 or 400 level. Students interested in teaching Chinese in New York schools should take the 23-credit pedagogical sequence for grades 7-12; this sequence may count toward the course requirements for New York State certification, but will not by itself be sufficient for certification. Students interested in a teaching career should consult with the School of Education.

Minor in Chinese

The minor in Chinese consists of 12 credits. Students must take 4 courses at or above the CHIN 200 level taught in Chinese. Course prerequisites must be satisfied. Internships and independent studies do not count toward the minor. Consult the Chinese program adviser for appropriate course recommendations.

Advanced Placement and Exemptions

Students who elect to take Chinese as their required language and have studied the language abroad or at home must consult the head of the Chinese Division for advanced placement or exemptions. The Chinese program does not offer proficiency tests.

Electives
All courses, unless otherwise stated in course descriptions, are open to qualified students majoring in other disciplines.

Arabic Language, Literature, and Culture

A Program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies

Here at Hunter we teach Arabic as the living language used on a daily basis by more than two hundred million people, from Morocco in the west of the Arab world to Oman in the east. We focus on both formal — usually referred to as Modern Standard Arabic (MSA) or Fusha — and informal Arabic. We do this via a communicative approach. In other words, instead of focusing on the translation of written texts, as Arabic has traditionally been taught, we teach our students how to read, speak, write and aurally comprehend the different registers of the language. We offer a 6-course sequence of language courses and a growing number of culture courses taught in English. Four semesters of Arabic or the equivalent fulfills the language requirement of Hunter. We also offer two minors: Arabic and Arabic Studies.

Chinese Language and Literature

A Program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies

The Chinese Division of the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies offers language courses in Modern Chinese (Mandarin) and Classical Chinese as well as courses taught in English on traditional and modern Chinese literature and culture. The program, which offers a major and minor, focuses on language acquisition and literacy development to help students attain professional language proficiency. It also introduces students to the civilization of China. Students are encouraged to take interdisciplinary courses in Chinese art, economics, history, political science and religion to develop a deeper understanding of past and present China. The program prepares students for further studies in graduate school and professional careers in international trade, education, government service, diplomacy, private business, journalism and related fields.

Classics

A Program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies

The civilizations of ancient Greece and Rome have had a profound influence on the development of our own culture. The various expressions of human experience that are revealed through our literature and art, in our political and social institutions, and even in our language, all show the impact of the legacy of the classical world.
The Classics program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies offers a full range of studies in the worlds of ancient Greece, Rome, and the Mediterranean, from a single course in myth or etymology to majors in Greek, Latin, classical archaeology, or classical studies. Students who want to know about the classical world without learning its languages can choose from a variety of courses in civilization, literature in translation, myth and religion, and archaeology. In addition, the division participates in Hunter's interdepartmental programs in religion, comparative literature, archaeology, and women and gender studies.

Careers in research, government and education use skills developed in classical studies, and a major in classics provides an excellent foundation for many professional programs such as law. In addition, specialized careers—such as college and high school teaching, museum work, and archival research—are open to professional classicists and archaeologists.

Hebrew

A Program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies

The Hebrew Program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies offers a program of Hebrew language, literature and culture spanning the ancient through the modern periods. This program is designed to develop language skills, cultivate a critical appreciation of Hebraic and Judaic literature and thought and promote an understanding of Jewish cultural tradition against the background of world civilization. These courses may be applied to satisfy foreign language and other components of the General Education Requirement as well as to fulfill major and minor concentrations.

This curriculum also meets the special needs of students majoring in other disciplines for courses dealing with the Hebraic or Judaic elements and influences on European culture. The wide variety of course offerings, covering the entire range of Hebraic and Judaic culture from early Biblical times to modern Israel, enables students to concentrate their attention on one major period, to aim for an overall proficiency or to strive for both objectives simultaneously.

Russian and Slavic Studies

A Program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies

The Russian and Slavic Studies Program in the Department of Classical and Oriental Studies offers a rich curriculum designed for students who seek competence in spoken and written Russian and a solid background in and knowledge of Russian literature and culture. The Program also offers courses in two related Slavic languages, Polish and Ukrainian.

Courses in the Program are recommended to students from other disciplines who want to master the Russian language as a research tool or who seek to learn about Russian literature in translation. The important contributions being made by Russian scholars in chemistry, biology, mathematics and other related fields make the study of Russian especially valuable to science majors.

Russian majors find employment in U.S. governmental agencies, the United Nations, broadcasting, banking, international commerce, education, library services and other fields.

Preparation for Teaching Chinese in Grades 7-12

Students preparing to teach Chinese must complete a 30-credit major option for teaching that includes the 24-credit sequence taken by non-teaching majors plus 9 additional credits: CHIN 39900 and 6 credits in Chinese language and literature at the 300 or 400 level. Students interested in teaching Chinese in New York schools should take the 23-credit pedagogical sequence for grades 7-12; this sequence may count toward the course requirements for New York State certification, but will not by itself be sufficient for certification. Students interested in a teaching career should consult with the School of Education.

Minor in Chinese

The minor in Chinese consists of 12 credits. Students must take 4 courses at or above the CHIN 200 level taught in Chinese. Course prerequisites must be satisfied. Internships and independent studies do not count toward the minor. Consult the Chinese program adviser for appropriate course recommendations.

Advanced Placement and Exemptions

Students who elect to take Chinese as their required language and have studied the language abroad or at home must consult the head of the Chinese Division for advanced placement or exemptions. The Chinese program does not offer proficiency tests.

Electives

All courses, unless otherwise stated in course descriptions, are open to qualified students majoring in other disciplines.

Hebrew - BA

Return to: Classical and Oriental Studies
Placement and Exemption Students with background in the language should consult the head of the Hebrew Division for proper placement or for language exemption.

Majors

The major consists of 24 credits from courses beyond HEBR 101-102. In general, a Hebrew major is required to achieve proficiency in Biblical and/or modern Hebrew literature by successfully completing a minimum of four courses at the 300 level in Hebrew. Courses in Hebraic studies conducted in English may be applied toward partial fulfillment of the Hebrew major provided they are part of a coherent program approved by the head of the division.

Qualified students interested in a more intensive program in the field of Hebraic or Judaic studies, particularly those preparing for graduate work in such specialized areas as Semitic languages and civilizations, Jewish history, Biblical studies and archaeology, medieval or modern Hebrew literature, Near Eastern studies or religious studies, should consult a division adviser regarding additional courses and supportive studies in related fields.

Preparation for Teaching in Grades 7-12

In cooperation with the School of Education, the Program in Hebrew provides opportunities for students to prepare for a career in teaching Hebrew in grades 7-12. Students preparing to teach Hebrew must complete a 33-credit major option for teaching that includes the 24-credit sequence taken by non-teaching majors, HEBR 39900, and 6 additional credits in Hebrew language and literature at the 300 or 400 level. Students interested in teaching Hebrew in New York schools should take the 23-credit pedagogical sequence for grades 7-12. This sequence may count toward the course requirements for New York State Certification, but will not by itself be sufficient for certification. Students interested in a teaching career should consult with the School of Education.

Minor

Two minors are offered, one in Hebrew, the other in Hebraic Studies.

Hebrew Minor

The Hebrew minor requires the successful completion of 12 credits at the 200-level or above. Courses counted toward the Hebrew minor must be either language courses or have Hebrew as their language of instruction.

Hebraic Studies Minor

The Hebraic Studies minor requires the successful completion of four HEBR literature and/or culture courses on the 200-level or above, taught in English or in Hebrew. Two Hebrew language courses other than Elementary and Intermediate Hebrew—e.g., Biblical Hebrew, Advanced Hebrew—may be used toward the minor requirement in lieu of two literature or culture courses.

Honors

Opportunity for honors work is available through HEBR 49100 - Honors Project.

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement. Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

Major- 24 credits

The Russian major consists of no fewer than 24 credits chosen among courses in the language beyond RUSS 10100 and RUSS 10200.

I. Russian language sequence: for students who want to acquire native fluency in spoken and written Russian and a thorough knowledge of Russian literature.
II. Russian language and culture sequence: for students whose interests lie in the arts rather than in language. With the permission of the division head, a limited number of courses in translation may be applied to the major sequence.

III. Concentration in Russian and East Central European Studies (RECE): This new concentration within the Russian program draws on a variety of disciplines in combination with courses from the Division of Russian and Slavic Studies. Requirements for RECE include Russian or Slavic language proficiency or a pre- or corequisite of 6 credits in Russian or Slavic language at the 20200 (intermediate) level or above and 18 credits distributed as follows: Russian or East Central European history (3 cr.), RECE area political science (3 cr.); Russian or East Central European literature, culture or arts (3 cr.); and three additional 200- or 300-level courses chosen from two of the following categories: anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science and literature, culture or arts. Students should select courses in consultation with their RECE adviser. In addition to their 18-to 24-credit concentration, students are strongly urged to choose 12 minor credits from disciplines related to RECE.

Electives

All courses offered by the Russian Division are open to qualified students for elective credit.

Preparation for teaching in Grades 7-12

In cooperation with the School of Education, the program in Russian provides opportunities for students to prepare for a career in teaching Russian in grades 7-12. Students preparing to teach Russian must complete a 33-credit major option for teaching that includes the 24-credit sequence taken by non-teaching majors plus 9 additional credits: RUSS 39900 and 6 additional credits in Russian language and literature at the 300 or 400 level. Students interested in teaching Russian in New York Schools should take the 23-credit pedagogical sequence for grades 7-12. This sequence may count toward the course requirements for New York State Certification, but will not by itself be sufficient for certification. Students interested in a teaching career should consult with the School of Education.

Minor in Russian

The minor in Russian consists of no fewer than 12 credits. Courses taken toward the Russian minor could follow two tracks: the Russian language minor or the Russian literature and culture minor.

Students wishing to minor in Russian should either pass a proficiency test or take the language sequences of

Arabic Studies Minor

The Arabic Studies Minor requires the successful completion of 4 ARB courses on cultural or literary topics taught in English or in Arabic. Up to 2 Arabic language courses may be used to fulfill the minor requirements in lieu of two culture or literature courses.
The prerequisite for the minor is successful completion of ARB 10100 and ARB 10200 (8 credits).

Arabic Courses

ARB 10100 - Beginning Arabic I

Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)

The goal of this course is to begin developing reading, speaking, listening, writing, and cultural skills in Arabic. The course stresses communication using both formal and informal Arabic. Emphasis is also placed on reading authentic texts from Arabic media, listening to and watching audio and video materials, and developing students' understanding of Arab culture. Preparation for class is an essential component of course, allowing us to devote in-class time to communicating in the language rather than talking "about" the language. Students will be evaluated on attendance and class participation, daily homework assignments, quizzes, skits, a final oral interview and a final examination.

This class is not for native speakers. ARB 10100 usually not credited without ARB 10200. For details about credit policy look here: Foreign Language Requirement

Minor in Chinese

The Minor in Chinese consists of 12 credits. Students must take four courses at or above CHIN 200-level taught in Chinese. Course prerequisites must be satisfied. Internships and independent studies do not count towards the minor.

Minor in Classical Studies

12 Credits:

1. CLA 10100 - Classical Mythology
2. CLA 20100 - Greek Civilization (W)
3. CLA 20300 - Roman Civilization (W)
4. One course with a CLA prefix at the 200- or 300-level (e.g. literature in translation or upper-level culture courses)

Note: CLA 10100, CLA 20100, and CLA 20300 have no prerequisites

Minor in Hebraic Studies

Minor: 12 credits

The Hebraic Studies minor requires the successful completion of four HEBR literature and/or culture courses on the 200-level or above, taught in English or in Hebrew. Two Hebrew language courses on 300-level or above may be used toward the minor requirement in lieu of two literature or culture courses.

Minor in Hebrew

The Hebrew minor requires the successful completion of 12 credits at the 200-level or above. Courses counted toward the Hebrew minor must be either language courses or have Hebrew as their language of instruction.

Minor in Latin or Ancient Greek

Greek: 12 credits beyond GRK 10100/GRK 10200
Latin: 12 credits beyond LAT 10100/ LAT 10200 or LAT 10700
Minor in Russian Language and Minor in Russian Literature and Culture

The Program will encourage students to take the Russian minor. The minor consists of minimum of 12 credits. Students wishing to minor in Russian should either pass a proficiency test or take the language sequence of RUSS 10100 — RUSS 10200 ; RUSS 20100 — RUSS 20200 . Courses taken toward the Russian minor could follow two tracks:

Track I: Russian Language Minor

Prerequisite: RUSS 20200 or equivalent. Students are expected to take: RUSS 30100 & RUSS 30200 ; RUSS 31700 or RUSS 31800 or RUSS 31900; plus one literature course taught in Russian.

Track II: Russian Literature and Culture Minor

Prerequisite: RUSS 20200 or equivalent. Students are expected to take: RUSS 30100 & RUSS 30200 and two literature or culture courses conducted either in Russian or in English. Literature courses may be substituted for language courses in the Literature and Culture Minor with permission by the head of the program.

JPN 25100 - Japanese Culture Before 1600

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
2/C

Covering many facets of Japanese culture, this course will focus on the various periods of Japanese history (Jomon, Yayoi, Kofun, and Heian – to name a few) and uncover how many aspects of Japanese culture were shaped. From the influence from nearby countries – most notably China – to its isolationist periods, its mythology, the evolution of its art, the deep-seated love of nature shared by many Japanese, and the co-existence of multiple belief systems, Japan is a truly unique country whose culture continues to gain in popularity within the United States. Taught entirely in English.

While this is a two-part course, Japanese Culture Before 1600 (JPN 25100) will not act as a prerequisite for Japanese Culture Since 1600 (JPN 25200).
prereq: ENGL 120

JPN 25200 - Japanese Culture Since 1600
This course will focus on Japanese culture after roughly 1600. During this time, Japan was largely isolated from the rest of the world, but specific events led to a mixture of vastly different cultures – that of the Japanese and the Western world, which led to many changes within Japan. Additional major topics include the impact of both World Wars, contemporary Japanese lifestyle, and the various holidays and traditions that are celebrated today. Art, literature, and social reform will also play important roles throughout the semester.

ARB 10100 - Beginning Arabic I

Hunter Core

World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)

The goal of this course is to begin developing reading, speaking, listening, writing, and cultural skills in Arabic. The course stresses communication using both formal and informal Arabic. Emphasis is also placed on reading authentic texts from Arabic media, listening to and watching audio and video materials, and developing students' understanding of Arab culture. Preparation for class is an essential component of course, allowing us to devote in-class time to communicating in the language rather than talking "about" the language. Students will be evaluated on attendance and class participation, daily homework assignments, quizzes, skits, a final oral interview and a final examination.

This class is not for native speakers. ARB 10100 usually not credited without ARB 10200. For details about credit policy look here: Foreign Language Requirement

2/C

Covering many facets of Japanese culture, this course will focus on the various periods of Japanese history (Jomon, Yayoi, Kofun, and Heian – to name a few) and uncover how many aspects of Japanese culture were shaped. From the influence from nearby countries – most notably China – to its isolationist periods, its mythology, the evolution of its art, the deep-seated love of nature shared by many Japanese, and the co-existence of multiple belief systems, Japan is a truly unique country whose culture continues to gain in popularity within the United States. Taught entirely in English.

While this is a two-part course, Japanese Culture Before 1600 (JPN 25100) will not act as a prerequisite for Japanese Culture Since 1600 (JPN 25200).

The ways in which East European filmmakers have used the medium of cinema to explore history, culture, politics, and social issues prevalent in their respective societies, starting with the immediate post-World War II period and covering both the Communist era and post-Communist period. By the end of the course students will have acquired critical tools to provide an informed verbal and written analysis of the films and discuss how various aesthetic and ideological approaches to filmmaking inform the cinema practice over time. The course will combine screening of East European films and class discussion of issues raised in these films. All students are expected to complete the assigned readings of chapters in history books and other material prior to each class and print out questionnaires for class discussions posted on the course blackboard after the film screenings. Informed class participation is strongly encouraged and will positively affect your final term grade.

Programs and Courses in Comparative Literature

Comparative Literature

About Comparative Literature

The major in comparative literature is designed for students who are interested in a broad view of literature and in the diversity of literary cultures. The study of comparative literature considers literary movements and genres, as well as techniques and recurring themes in world literature.

The study of comparative literature prepares students for careers in teaching, interpreting, and translating, as well as those professions that recognize the importance of a broad humanistic education, including law and medicine.

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in Comparitive Literature and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

Major Requirements

All majors take a core course in methodology, but the remaining classes in a student’s program are arranged with the coordinator in an effort to work out a balance between two different bodies of literature, two different literary periods, and two different genres. In addition to comparative literature courses in prose fiction, drama, myth and folklore, literary movements, and literature and the arts, majors may also elect appropriate classes from other literature departments, as well as from such disciplines as history, philosophy, art and anthropology, with the approval of the coordinator. Upon becoming a major, a student will, in consultation with the coordinator, choose one member of the comparative literature committee as an adviser and plan an individualized program. All majors are required to review their programs with their adviser once a semester.

The comparative literature major consists of 30 credits distributed as follows:

A. Concentration in at least two periods and in two genres.

B. At least 9 credits in COMP-prefixed courses, beginning with the following

(all of these courses will be taught in English)

COMPL 30100 - Seminar: Approaches to Comparative Literature

Study of selected major works to demonstrate scope and various approaches of comparative literature. Focus on conscious imitation, treatment of similar themes, use of well-defined genres and conventions as well as of concepts from history of ideas. Emphasis on close reading of texts and development of critical vocabulary.

Required of all majors in comparative literature.

3 hrs
3 cr.

C. 21 credits in literature courses distributed so that at least 12 credits are courses studied in the original language (be it a foreign language, if the student is proficient in that language, or English). Courses at the 300 level are strongly preferred, although exceptions may be granted by the adviser.

Minor for Students Majoring in Comparative Literature

A 12 credit minor is required. Students will be advised by their Comparative Literature faculty mentor to choose a discipline that will complement and enrich their major field of study.

Minor in Comparative Literature for Students Majoring in Other Programs

If this minor is recommended by the major department, students may consult a Comparative Literature adviser who will help them select suitable courses.

Honors

Students are eligible for departmental honors if their GPA in the major is no less than 3.5. The student must also take at least 3 credits (but no more than 6 credits) in honors courses offered by the program and approved by the adviser. The offerings of the Comparative Literature Program are determined by the needs of students in the program and the faculty available. For specific information, consult the coordinator.

Programs and Courses in Computer Science
Computer Science

About the Department

The Department of Computer Science provides students with outstanding preparation both for employment as computer professionals and for graduate study. Students use a broad spectrum of programming languages and machine architectures and are expected to construct creative solutions to challenging problems in a variety of contexts. In addition, students are educated in the mathematics of computer science — the theoretical foundations that support current technology and will guide its future development. Students may work with faculty who engage in research, publish books and articles in highly respected journals and receive grants to pursue significant research. The department takes an active interest in students' goals and provides extensive advising and guidance.

Major

The computer science major consists of 39 credits in CSCI courses and a collateral 14 credits in MATH/STAT courses.

Required Courses

All computer science majors (except those following requirements for the Computer Science with Concentration in Bioinformatics - BA) must complete successfully the following courses with a grade of C or better:

CSCI 15000 - Discrete Structures
Mathematical background required for computer science. Sets, relations, cardinality, propositional calculus, discrete functions, truth tables, induction, combinatorics.

\textit{prereq: MATH 12500, 15000 or 15500}

\textbf{3 hrs}

\textbf{3 cr.}

\textbf{CSCI 16000 - Computer Architecture I}

\textbf{GER}

\textbf{3/B}

Boolean algebra, data representation, combinational circuits and minimization, sequential circuits.

\textit{prereq: CSCI 12700, CSCI 15000}

\textbf{3 hrs}

\textbf{3 cr.}

\textbf{CSCI 23500 - Software Analysis and Design II}

\textbf{GER}

\textbf{3/B}

Representation of information in computers, including process and data abstraction techniques. Topics covered include static and dynamic storage methods, lists, stacks, queues, binary trees, recursion, analysis of simple algorithms and some searching and sorting algorithms.

\textit{prereq: CSCI 13500, 15000; MATH 15000}

\textbf{3 hrs}

\textbf{3 cr.}

\textbf{CSCI 26000 - Computer Architecture II}

\textbf{GER}

\textbf{3/B}

Organization of computer systems and design of system elements, including ALU, memories and interfaces. Some assembly language programming.

\textit{prereq: CSCI 13500, 16000 or 24500; MATH 15000}

\textbf{3 hrs}

\textbf{3 cr.}

\textbf{CSCI 26500 - Computer Theory I}

\textbf{GER}

\textbf{3/B}

Recursion, regular sets, regular expressions, finite automata, context-free grammars, pushdown automata.

\textit{prereq: CSCI 16000 or 14500; MATH 15000}

\textbf{3 hrs}

\textbf{3 cr.}

\textbf{CSCI 33500 - Software Analysis and Design III}
The design and analysis of various types of algorithms, including searching, sorting, graph and tree algorithms. Problem-solving techniques. Worst and average case behavior analysis and optimality. Polynomial time complexity classes and theory, including NP-completeness.

prereq: CSCI 23500, MATH 15500

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 34000 - Operating Systems

Definition of functions and components of operating systems. Survey of contemporary multiprocessing/multiprogramming systems. Exploration of systems programs: their design, internal structure and implementation.

prereq: CSCI 23500, 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500, STAT 11300 or 21300

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 36000 - Computer Architecture III

High performance computer architectures, including massively parallel SIMD and MIMD machines and distributed architectures.

prereq: CSCI 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 49900 - Advanced Applications: A Capstone for Majors

A chance for computer science majors to test their mettle on major projects. Working in small groups they will implement systems that involve at least two platforms running programs written in at least three languages.

prereq: All non-elective courses in Computer Science required for graduation or permission of instructor.

4 hrs

4 cr.

MATH 15000 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry I

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning

GER

1/B

Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000
4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 16000 - Matrix Algebra

GER
1/B

Systems of linear equations, matrices, determinants, introduction to vector spaces and linear transformations, applications.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam
3 hrs
3 cr.

STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one-and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
3 hrs
3 cr.

Electives

Students who declared their major in spring 2009 or before

Students who declared their major in or before spring 2009 are held bound by this rule: In addition to the preliminary and required courses, each major must complete 15 hours of elective credits from CSCI courses higher than 200-level with a grade of C or better. At least 12 elective credits must be in classes other than CSCI 39100 CSCI 39200 and CSCI 39300. With departmental permission, certain appropriate upper-level electives from other academic departments may be substituted. They are not required to take CSCI 49900, but may choose is as an elective.

Students who declared their major after Spring 2009
Students who declared their major after spring 2009 take a minimum of 11 (rather than 15) elective credit hours and are required to successfully complete CSCI 49900, after having successfully completed all other required courses for the major.

Recommended course sequence for entering freshmen without credit for pre-calculus and without prior computer programming experience:

Term 1

MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Functions and their graphs: polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions; conic sections; topics in trigonometry; graphical and analytical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities. Not credited to students who have completed MATH 15000 or its equivalent.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam

4 hrs
4 cr.

CSCI 12700 - Introduction to Computer Science

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E (Non lab course)

A technical introduction to computer science. Organization of hardware, software, information and an introduction to programming. This course is meant for: potential computer science majors who may not be prepared for CSCI 135; science majors who need some basic computer knowledge; and non-CSCI majors who want a more rigorous introduction to the field than CSCI 120 provides.

May not be used toward the CSCI major or minor.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12100, 12500 or 15000

3 hrs
3 cr.

Term 2

CSCI 13500 - Software Analysis and Design I

This first course for prospective computer science majors and minors concentrates on problem-solving techniques using a high-level programming language. The course includes a brief overview of computer systems.

*prereq: CSCI 12700 or equivalent
coreq: CSCI 13600*

3 hrs
3 cr.
CSCI 13600 - Supervised Programming Lab

Students work in small teams to complete weekly programming assignments under the supervision of an instructor. Assignments are at the level of material covered in CSCI 135 and CSCI 127 though this is not a recitation or review section for either course. Emphasis is on solving problems in a cooperative programming environment. May not be counted towards the computer science major.

coreq: CSCI 13500
2 hrs
1 cr.

CSCI 15000 - Discrete Structures

Mathematical background required for computer science. Sets, relations, cardinality, propositional calculus, discrete functions, truth tables, induction, combinatorics.

prereq: MATH 12500, 15000 or 15500
3 hrs
3 cr.

Term 3

CSCI 16000 - Computer Architecture I

GER
3/B

Boolean algebra, data representation, combinational circuits and minimization, sequential circuits.

prereq: CSCI 12700, CSCI 15000
3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 15000 - Discrete Structures

Mathematical background required for computer science. Sets, relations, cardinality, propositional calculus, discrete functions, truth tables, induction, combinatorics.

prereq: MATH 12500, 15000 or 15500
3 hrs
3 cr.

Term 4

CSCI 23500 - Software Analysis and Design II

GER
3/B

Representation of information in computers, including process and data abstraction techniques. Topics covered include static and dynamic storage methods, lists, stacks, queues, binary trees, recursion, analysis of simple algorithms and some searching and sorting algorithms.

prereq: CSCI 13500, 15000; MATH 15000
MATH 15500 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry II

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.
prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000

Term 5

CSCI 26000 - Computer Architecture II

GER
3/B

Organization of computer systems and design of system elements, including ALU, memories and interfaces. Some assembly language programming.
prereq: CSCI 13500, 16000 or 24500; MATH 15000

CSCI 33500 - Software Analysis and Design III

GER
3/B

The design and analysis of various types of algorithms, including searching, sorting, graph and tree algorithms. Problem-solving techniques. Worst and average case behavior analysis and optimality. Polynomial time complexity classes and theory, including NP-completeness.
prereq: CSCI 23500, MATH 15500

MATH 16000 - Matrix Algebra

GER
1/B

Systems of linear equations, matrices, determinants, introduction to vector spaces and linear transformations, applications.
prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam
Term 6

CSCI 26500 - Computer Theory I

GER
3/B

Recursion, regular sets, regular expressions, finite automata, context-free grammars, pushdown automata.

prereq: CSCI 16000 or 14500; MATH 15000

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 36000 - Computer Architecture III

GER
3/B

High performance computer architectures, including massively parallel SIMD and MIMD machines and distributed architectures.

prereq: CSCI 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500

3 hrs
3 cr.

STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one- and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.

3 hrs
3 cr.

Term 7

CSCI 34000 - Operating Systems

GER
3/B

Definition of functions and components of operating systems. Survey of contemporary multiprocessing/ multiprogramming systems. Exploration of systems programs: their design, internal structure and implementation.

prereq: CSCI 23500, 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500, STAT 11300 or 21300
• 2 CSCI electives

Term 8

CSCI 49900 - Advanced Applications: A Capstone for Majors

A chance for computer science majors to test their mettle on major projects. Working in small groups they will implement systems that involve at least two platforms running programs written in at least three languages.

prereq: All non-elective courses in Computer Science required for graduation or permission of instructor.

and 2 CSCI electives

Additional Information

Students with both credit for pre-calculus and prior computer programming experience can begin with Semester 2.

Recommended course sequence for students with transfer credit for CSCI 13500, 15000 and 16000 and MATH 15000 and 15500:

Term 1

CSCI 23500 - Software Analysis and Design II

GER
3/B

Representation of information in computers, including process and data abstraction techniques. Topics covered include static and dynamic storage methods, lists, stacks, queues, binary trees, recursion, analysis of simple algorithms and some searching and sorting algorithms.

prereq: CSCI 13500, 15000; MATH 15000

3 hrs

BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D

GER
2/E

The chemical basis of life; basic structure and function of pro- and eucaryotic cells; bioenergetics; Mendelian and molecular genetics; development and mechanisms of control of gene expression at all levels; population genetics and evolution.

Material Fee: $5
PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: MATH 12500, CHEM 10200

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
4.5 cr.

spring only

Term 4

CSCI 23500 - Software Analysis and Design II

GER
3/B
Representation of information in computers, including process and data abstraction techniques. Topics covered include static and dynamic storage methods, lists, stacks, queues, binary trees, recursion, analysis of simple algorithms and some searching and sorting algorithms.

prereq: CSCI 13500, 15000; MATH 15000
3 hrs

MATH 15500 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry II

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000
4 hrs
4 cr.

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding.
Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

Term 5

CSCI 33500 - Software Analysis and Design III

GER
3/B

The design and analysis of various types of algorithms, including searching, sorting, graph and tree algorithms. Problem-solving techniques. Worst and average case behavior analysis and optimality. Polynomial time complexity classes and theory, including NP-completeness.

prereq: CSCI 23500, MATH 15500
3 hrs
3 cr.

STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics
Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one- and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.
3 hrs
3 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.
Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400
6 hrs
3 cr.

Term 6

CSCI 34000 - Operating Systems

Definition of functions and components of operating systems. Survey of contemporary multiprocessing/multiprogramming systems. Exploration of systems programs: their design, internal structure and implementation.
prereq: CSCI 23500, 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500, STAT 11300 or 21300
MATH 16000 - Matrix Algebra

GER
1/B

Systems of linear equations, matrices, determinants, introduction to vector spaces and linear transformations, applications.
_prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam_

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

_prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better_

CSCI 43500 - Database Management

GER
3/B

Hierarchical and network databases; theory of relational databases; normalization theory; query languages.

_prereq: CSCI 33500_

STAT 31900 - Bayesian Statistical Inference in the Sciences

GER
3/B

_prereq: MATH 15500; at least one of STAT 21200, STAT 21300 or STAT 21400 (or permission of instructor). Prerequisites waived for students who have passed STAT 311. Familiarity with matrix algebra (at the level of MATH 160) and with the Windows computing environment are encouraged._
3 hrs
3 cr

BIOL 30000 - Biological Chemistry

GER
3/B

Molecular aspects of cellular function; properties of biomolecules, their biosynthesis and breakdown; structure and function of proteins and enzymes, metabolites, membranes and nucleic acids; cellular mechanisms of energy transduction; integration and control of cell metabolism. Experiments cover a variety of modern techniques in molecular biology.
Material Fee: $10
prereq: BIOL 20200, CHEM 22200, 22300
coreq: CHEM 22400
7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)
4.5 cr.
fall only

Term 8

Minor in Computer Science

A minor in Computer Science consists of 13-14 credits of coursework. These credits include the following required courses – note that MATH 12500 (STEM) is a prerequisite course to CSCI 12700 however MATH 125 does not count towards the Computer Science Minor:

CSCI 12700 - Introduction to Computer Science

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E (Non lab course)

A technical introduction to computer science. Organization of hardware, software, information and an introduction to programming. This course is meant for: potential computer science majors who may not be prepared for CSCI 135; science majors who need some basic computer knowledge; and non-CSCI majors who want a more rigorous introduction to the field than CSCI 120 provides.
May not be used toward the CSCI major or minor.
prereq or coreq: MATH 12100, 12500 or 15000
3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 13300 - Programming for Everyone

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

A comprehensive practical course in programming that concentrates on producing working software for games, simulations, animations, data manipulations, interacting with the Internet, graphical user interfaces and many other application areas. No programming experience is necessary. This course is required for Computer Science minors. This course does not count toward the computer science major.

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 23200 - Relational Databases and SQL Programming, with Lab

GER
3/B

An introduction to elementary database concepts and SQL, the standard language for communicating with most database systems. A pragmatic course with an emphasis on skills acquisition; students will learn how to get things done quickly and easily in a database environment. Required for computer science minors; open to computer science majors, but may not be used toward the computer science major.

prereq: CSCI 12700 or CSCI 13200

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 23300 - Programming Projects Seminar for Minors

This course will serve as a capstone for the minor, affording students the opportunity to write reasonably large and complex programs. Students will be expected to draw topics for these programs from their majors or other areas of interest. This course does not count toward the computer science major.

prereq or coreq: CSCI 13300 and 23200 and a declared Computer Science Minor.

2 hrs.
1 credit

In addition, students will be required to take at least one 3 credit elective selected from Computer Science offerings numbered 13500 or above. Although minors may take any Computer Science course numbered 135 or above, courses that require only one or more of the above courses as prerequisites include:

CSCI 13500 - Software Analysis and Design I

This first course for prospective computer science majors and minors concentrates on problem-solving techniques using a high-level programming language. The course includes a brief overview of computer systems.

prereq: CSCI 12700 or equivalent
coreq: CSCI 13600

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 13600 - Supervised Programming Lab

Students work in small teams to complete weekly programming assignments under the supervision of an instructor. Assignments are at the level of material covered in CSCI 135 and CSCI 127 though this is not a recitation or review section for either course. Emphasis is on solving problems in a cooperative programming environment. May not be counted towards the computer science major.

coreq: CSCI 13500

2 hrs
1 cr.
CSCI 15000 - Discrete Structures

Mathematical background required for computer science. Sets, relations, cardinality, propositional calculus, discrete functions, truth tables, induction, combinatorics.

prereq: MATH 12500, 15000 or 15500
3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 16000 - Computer Architecture I

GER
3/B

Boolean algebra, data representation, combinational circuits and minimization, sequential circuits.

prereq: CSCI 12700, CSCI 15000
3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 26700 - Microprocessors and Embedded Systems

GER
3/B

Students will assemble and program a small single board computer to control, or simulate control of, some device.

prereq: CSCI 13300 or 26000
3 hrs
3 cr.

Note

All prerequisites must be fulfilled for any CSCI course. The only exception is a written waiver from the instructor.

Prospective minors should be aware that this course of study usually requires a minimum of four semesters to complete.

Please note

Computer science majors cannot choose computer science for their minor.

Minors for Computer Science Majors

Hunter College no longer requires students to take a minor field of study in conjunction with their major. Nevertheless, because of the broad spectrum of interests among computer science majors at Hunter, students interested in pursuing a minor field of study may wish to combine a minor with the computer science major in is such fields as mathemantics, geography, economics, film and media.

Mathematics - BA

Geography - BA
Economics - BA
Film - BA
Media Studies - BA

Consult an adviser in the department of the minor you wish to pursue for further information.

Honors

To graduate from Hunter College with honors in computer science, a student must have at least a 2.7 GPA overall and a 3.5 GPA or better in computer science/math and a grade of A in one of the CSCI 49300 series of courses.

Additional Information

The “one repeat” rule is in effect for all courses to be used toward the major, from CSCI 13500 through the 400-level courses. This means that if a student fails a CSCI major course once (failure = D, F, NC, WU), that student will have only one more chance to pass the course. In addition, the Computer Science Department will not accept a CR grade in any of the preliminary or required courses for the major (CSCI 13500, CSCI 15000, CSCI 16000, CSCI 23500, CSCI 26000 , CSCI 26500 ,CSCI 33500, CSCI 34000, CSCI 36000). Any student wishing to declare computer science as a major who has received a grade of CR in any of the CSCI courses listed above, must ask the instructor of that course to change the CR grade to the appropriate letter grade. This must be done before the declaration of major form can be authorized.

Please note: A grade of “D” is not considered a passing grade by this department for any of the computer science or math courses required for the major.

Computer Science with Concentration in Bioinformatics - BA

Return to Programs and Courses in Computer Science

This course of study will provide computer science majors with a fundamental understanding of the most important aspects of quantitative and computational biology, including a solid background in biology, chemistry, mathematics, statistics, and computer science, with an emphasis on quantitative reasoning. Students opting to concentrate in bioinformatics are not required to take CSCI 26000, and CSCI 36000. Instead of 15 hours of 300-level and 400-level elective credits, the following requirements must be met:

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in computer science and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

I. Required Foundational Courses (6 credits)

CSCI 12700 - Introduction to Computer Science

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E (Non lab course)

A technical introduction to computer science. Organization of hardware, software, information and an introduction to programming. A student may declare a concentration in bioinformatics upon successful completion CSCI 13500 when declaring computer science as a major field of study.

II. Required Courses for Concentration in Bioinformatics

Students must obtain a grade of C or better in the following courses:

A. Computer science component 24 credits

CSCI 15000 - Discrete Structures

Mathematical background required for computer science. Sets, relations, cardinality, propositional calculus, discrete functions, truth tables, induction, combinatorics.

prereq: MATH 12500, 15000 or 15500

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 16000 - Computer Architecture I

GER 3/B

Boolean algebra, data representation, combinational circuits and minimization, sequential circuits.

prereq: CSCI 12700, CSCI 15000

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 23500 - Software Analysis and Design II

GER 3/B

Representation of information in computers, including process and data abstraction techniques. Topics covered include static and dynamic storage methods, lists, stacks, queues, binary trees, recursion, analysis of simple algorithms and some searching and sorting algorithms.

prereq: CSCI 13500, 15O00; MATH 15000

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 26500 - Computer Theory I

GER 3/B

Recursion, regular sets, regular expressions, finite automata, context-free grammars, pushdown automata.

prereq: CSCI 16000 or 14500; MATH 15000

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 33500 - Software Analysis and Design III
GER
3/B

The design and analysis of various types of algorithms, including searching, sorting, graph and tree algorithms. Problem-solving techniques. Worst and average case behavior analysis and optimality. Polynomial time complexity classes and theory, including NP-completeness.

prereq: CSCI 23500, MATH 15500

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 34000 - Operating Systems

GER
3/B

Definition of functions and components of operating systems. Survey of contemporary multiprocess/multiprogramming systems. Exploration of systems programs: their design, internal structure and implementation.

prereq: CSCI 23500, 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500, STAT 11300 or 21300

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 43500 - Database Management

GER
3/B

Hierarchical and network databases; theory of relational databases; normalization theory; query languages.

prereq: CSCI 33500

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 49366 - UNIX System Programming

GER
3/B

An introduction to the key components of the UNIX application programming interface, including files, processes, terminal control, signals, interprocess communication, the ncurses library, and multi-threading. Includes basic of the internal structure of the UNIX operating system, and selected user-level utilities and commands for efficient programming and working in UNIX.

prereq or coreq: CSCI 23500, 34000

3 hours
3 credits

B. Math and statistics component 17 credits

MATH 15000 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry I

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
Limits, continuity, differentiation and integration of elementary functions and trigonometric functions, applications.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.

4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 15500 (STEM) - Calculus with Analytic Geometry II

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Differentiation and integration of transcendental functions, integration techniques, infinite sequences and series, improper integrals, polar coordinates.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 15000

4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 16000 - Matrix Algebra

GER
1/B

Systems of linear equations, matrices, determinants, introduction to vector spaces and linear transformations, applications.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam

3 hrs
3 cr.

STAT 21300 (STEM) - Introduction to Applied Statistics

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Familiarity with the Windows computing environment encouraged. Sampling, estimation, tests of hypotheses, including one-and two-sample tests, two- and three-way tables for nominal and ordinal data, linear regression, analysis of variance through two-way with interaction, appropriate statistical software.

prereq: MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.

3 hrs
3 cr.

STAT 31900 - Bayesian Statistical Inference in the Sciences

GER
3/B

Fundamental principles and techniques of probability, statistical inference and data analysis, as pertains to the sciences, prereq: MATH 15500; at least one of STAT 21200, STAT 21300 or STAT 21400 (or permission of instructor).

Prerequisites waived for students who have passed STAT 311.
Familiarity with matrix algebra (at the level of MATH 160) and with the Windows computing environment are encouraged.

BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D

GER
2/E

The chemical basis of life; basic structure and function of pro- and eucaryotic cells; bioenergetics; Mendelian and molecular genetics; development and mechanisms of control of gene expression at all levels; population genetics and evolution.

Material Fee: $5

PD credit awarded only upon completion of BIOL 10000 and 10200.

prereq: MATH 12500, CHEM 10200

7 hrs (3 lec, 3 lab, 1 disc)

4.5 cr.
spring only

BIOL 20300 - Molecular Biology and Genetics

This course includes a detailed examination of the fundamental principles of gene expression. The processes of DNA replication, transcription, mRNA processing, micro RNA function, and translation will be extensively covered. Prokaryotic and eukaryotic systems will be described. Classical Mendelian as well as molecular genetics principles will be covered in the lecture through a discussion of several model systems. Important genetic processes such as recombination, transposition and DNA repair will be discussed in-depth. The course will provide a modern view of the concept of the gene, and introduce basic bioinformatics analysis. Hands-on laboratory experiments will reinforce bacterial and eukaryotic genetic concepts as well as provide basics in recombinant DNA technology.

prereq: Advisor permission; BIOL 10000 and 10200 or equiv; CHEM 10200, CHEM 10400, CHEM 10600 or equiv.
(for Major II students, chem prereqs are CHEM 10000, 10100; coreqs are CHEM 12000,12100)

coreq: CHEM 22200, 22300 or perm instr.

7 hrs

4.5 cr.
spring only

BIOL 42500 - Computational Molecular Biology

GER
3/B
An introduction to the interdisciplinary field of computational molecular biology. Students are taught the scope and methods of in silico biology, i.e., the application of computational and statistical methods to solving problems in molecular biology. Topics will include homology searching, sequence alignment, molecular phylogenetics, comparative genomics, analysis of gene expression, and predication of macromolecular structures. The course will be taught using a mixed format of lectures and hands-on workshops in a UNIX computer laboratory setting. Knowledge and skills in molecular biology, UNIX programming, and statistics are essential for success in this core course required for bioinformatics-concentration students from all majors.

prereq: BIOL 30000 or BIOL 30200 or CHEM 37600; STAT 21300; CSCI 13200 or CSCI 23500 or UNIX proficiency permitted by instructor.

3 hrs

D. Chemistry component 12 credits

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)

GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

Pluralism and Diversity

GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.

Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.
prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400
6 hrs
3 cr.

CHEM 22200 - Organic Chemistry Lecture I

GER
GER 3/B

Structure, bonding, and reactions of organic molecules. Synthesis, stereochemistry, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms.

prereq: CHEM 10400 with a grade of C or better
5-6 hrs (4 lec, 1-2 recitation/workshop)
4 cr.

Total credits for Bioinformatics Concentration: 65

Total Credits for a students who is not exempted from any foundational classes: 71

Additional Information

Prerequisites for certain courses are waived for students opting for this concentration. BIOL 102 is waived for BIOL 203. CSCI 26000 is waived for CSCI 34000. Other prerequisites must be satisfied. Students who plan to apply to graduate school in Computer Science are recommended to take CSI 26000, 36000 and 36500.

Recommended course sequence for students in the bioinformatics concentration:

Term 1

CSCI 12700 - Introduction to Computer Science

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E (Non lab course)

A technical introduction to computer science. Organization of hardware, software, information and an introduction to programming. This course is meant for: potential computer science majors who may not be prepared for CSCI 135; science majors who need some basic computer knowledge; and non-CSCI majors who want a more rigorous introduction to the field than CSCI 120 provides.

May not be used toward the CSCI major or minor.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12100, 12500 or 15000
3 hrs
3 cr.
MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Functions and their graphs: polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions; conic sections; topics in trigonometry; graphical and analytical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities. Not credited to students who have completed MATH 15000 or its equivalent.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam
4 hrs
4 cr.

Term 2

CSCI 13500 - Software Analysis and Design I

This first course for prospective computer science majors and minors concentrates on problem-solving techniques using a high-level programming language. The course includes a brief overview of computer systems.

prereq: CSCI 12700 or equivalent
coreq: CSCI 13600
3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 13600 - Supervised Programming Lab

Students work in small teams to complete weekly programming assignments under the supervision of an instructor. Assignments are at the level of material covered in CSCI 135 and CSCI 127 though this is not a recitation or review section for either course. Emphasis is on solving problems in a cooperative programming environment.

May not be counted towards the computer science major.

coreq: CSCI 13500
2 hrs
1 cr.

CSCI 15000 - Discrete Structures

Mathematical background required for computer science. Sets, relations, cardinality, propositional calculus, discrete functions, truth tables, induction, combinatorics.

prereq: MATH 12500, 15000 or 15500
3 hrs
3 cr.

Term 3

CSCI 16000 - Computer Architecture I

GER
3/B
Boolean algebra, data representation, combinational circuits and minimization, sequential circuits.

Undergraduate Minor
Minor in Computer Science

A minor in Computer Science consists of 13-14 credits of coursework. These credits include the following required courses – note that MATH 12500 is a prerequisite course to CSCI 12700 however MATH 125 does not count towards the Computer Science Minor:

- CSCI 12700 - Introduction to Computer Science (3 credits, 3 hours)
- CSCI 13300 - Programming for Everyone (3 credits, 3 hours)
- CSCI 23200 - Relational Databases and SQL Programming, with Lab (3 credits, 3 hours)
- CSCI 23300 - Programming Projects Seminar for Minors (1 credit, 2 hours)

In addition, students will be required to take at least one 3 credit elective selected from Computer Science offerings numbered 135 or above. Although you may take any Computer Science course numbered 135 or above, courses that require only one or more of the above courses as prerequisites include:

- CSCI 13500 - Software Analysis and Design I (3 credits, 3 hours) and CSCI 13600 - Supervised Programming Lab (1 credit, 2 hours)
- CSCI 15000 - Discrete Structures (3 credits, 3 hours)
- CSCI 26700 - Microprocessors and Embedded Systems (3 credits, 3 hours)
- CSCI 16000 - Computer Architecture I (3 credits, 3 hours)

Computer Science

CSCI 11500 - Computer Technology in Childhood Education

Open only to students in QUEST program. Students learn to use a number of software tools and applications that can be infused into the curriculum of the elementary school. Includes a focus on information retrieval using Internet resources and use of such application packages as Microsoft Excel, Microsoft Power Point, Inspiration and Timeliner.

prereq or coreq: QSTA 40000
3 hrs (1 lec, 2 lab)
2 cr.

CSCI 12000 - Introduction to Computers

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

Intended for non-majors. Basic concepts of computer technology. Principles of hardware operation, software and networking. Roles of computers in society, including ethical and legal issues.
This course cannot be counted towards the CSCI major
prereq: none
3 hrs
3 cr.
CSCI 12100 - Computers and Money: Quantitative Reasoning in Context

Hunter Core
Math and Quantitative Reasoning (MQR)

GER
1/B

Quantitative reasoning tackled from a computer based perspective and focusing on practical financial topics—stocks, gambling, inflation, diversification, taxes, hedging, saving, real estate, retirement and others. Students take a hands-on, spreadsheet-based approach to understanding issues of money and personal finance.

This course cannot be counted towards the CSCI major.

prereq: none

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 12700 - Introduction to Computer Science

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E (Non lab course)

A technical introduction to computer science. Organization of hardware, software, information and an introduction to programming. This course is meant for: potential computer science majors who may not be prepared for CSCI 135; science majors who need some basic computer knowledge; and non-CSCI majors who want a more rigorous introduction to the field than CSCI 120 provides.

May not be used toward the CSCI major or minor.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12100, 12500 or 15000

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 13200 - Practical UNIX and Programming, with Lab

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E

An introduction to computer programming and the UNIX operating system using Perl. Conceptual overview of the UNIX operating system and programming environment, a practical introduction to shell programming, and the use of UNIX filters and utilities. A pragmatic course with an emphasis on skills acquisition.

This course cannot be counted towards the CSCI major.

prereq: none

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 13300 - Programming for Everyone

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E
A comprehensive practical course in programming that concentrates on producing working software for games, simulations, animations, data manipulations, interacting with the Internet, graphical user interfaces and many other application areas. No programming experience is necessary. This course is required for Computer Science minors. This course does not count toward the computer science major.

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 13500 - Software Analysis and Design I

This first course for prospective computer science majors and minors concentrates on problem-solving techniques using a high-level programming language. The course includes a brief overview of computer systems.

prereq: MATH 12500, 15000 or 15500

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 16000 - Computer Architecture I

GER

3/B

Boolean algebra, data representation, combinational circuits and minimization, sequential circuits.

prereq: CSCI 12700, CSCI 15000

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 18100 - Independent Workshop

Outside internship in practical aspects of computing; e.g., systems programming, biomedical computing, computer-aided instruction.

Credits may not be used toward the computer science major.
prereq: declared computer science major with 18 credits completed in the department
1-3 hrs
1-3 cr.

CSCI 18200 - Independent Workshop

Outside internship in practical aspects of computing; e.g., systems programming, biomedical computing, computer-aided instruction.
Credits may not be used toward the computer science major.
prereq: declared computer science major with 18 credits completed in the department
1-3 hrs
1-3 cr.

CSCI 18300 - Independent Workshop

Outside internship in practical aspects of computing; e.g., systems programming, biomedical computing, computer-aided instruction.
Credits may not be used toward the computer science major.
prereq: declared computer science major with 18 credits completed in the department
1-3 hrs
1-3 cr.

CSCI 23200 - Relational Databases and SQL Programming, with Lab

GER
3/B

An introduction to elementary database concepts and SQL, the standard language for communicating with most database systems. A pragmatic course with an emphasis on skills acquisition; students will learn how to get things done quickly and easily in a database environment.
Required for computer science minors; open to computer science majors, but may not be used toward the computer science major.
prereq: CSCI 12700 or CSCI 13200
3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 23300 - Programming Projects Seminar for Minors

This course will serve as a capstone for the minor, affording students the opportunity to write reasonably large and complex programs. Students will be expected to draw topics for these programs from their majors or other areas of interest. This course does not count toward the computer science major.
prereq or coreq: CSCI 13300 and 23200 and a declared Computer Science Minor.

Students will assemble and program a small single board computer to control, or simulate control of, some device.

prereq: CSCI 13300 or 26000

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 33500 - Software Analysis and Design III
The design and analysis of various types of algorithms, including searching, sorting, graph and tree algorithms. Problem-solving techniques. Worst and average case behavior analysis and optimality. Polynomial time complexity classes and theory, including NP-completeness.

prereq: CSCI 23500, MATH 15500

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 34000 - Operating Systems

GER

3/B

Definition of functions and components of operating systems. Survey of contemporary multiprocessing/multiprogramming systems. Exploration of systems programs: their design, internal structure and implementation.

prereq: CSCI 23500, 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500, STAT 11300 or 21300

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 35000 - Artificial Intelligence

GER

3/B

A survey of artificial intelligence including search and control, knowledge representation, logic and theorem proving, learning, natural language and AI programming.

prereq: CSCI 235

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 35500 - Introduction to Linear Programming

GER

3/B

Introduction to operations research and game theory. Simplex method; inconsistency, redundancy and degeneracy problems; two-phase method; duality; transportation problems.

prereq: CSCI 235, MATH 160

3 hrs

3 cr.

CSCI 36000 - Computer Architecture III

GER

3/B

High performance computer architectures, including massively parallel SIMD and MIMD machines and distributed architectures.

prereq: CSCI 26000 or 24500; MATH 15500
3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 36500 - Computer Theory II

GER
3/B

Turing machines, Post machines, Post's theorem, Minsky's theorem. Determinism and non-determinism. Undecidability, the halting problem. Recursive function theory.

prereq: CSCI 265

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 39100 - Independent Study in Computer Science

GER
3/B

Independent work, under the direction of a faculty member, in practical aspects of computing. CSCI 39100 is repeatable up to a total of 6 credits; however, no more than a total of three Independent Study credits may be used toward the computer science major.

prereq: declared Computer Science major, perm instr. and dept.

1-3 hrs
1-3 cr.

CSCI 39200 - Independent Study in Computer Science

GER
3/B

Independent work, under the direction of a faculty member, in practical aspects of computing.

Topics include internet security, web programming, genetic algorithms, expert systems and others. Prerequisites vary with specific topics and are announced prior to registration.

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 40500 - Software Engineering

GER
3/B

Problems in large-scale software development including functional analysis of information processing systems, system design concepts, timing estimates, documentation and system testing.

prereq: CSCI 33500

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 41500 - Data Communications and Networks

GER
3/B

A broad technical introduction to the components, protocols, organization, industry and regulatory issues that are fundamental to the understanding of contemporary computer networks.

prereq: CSCI 33500, 34000

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 43500 - Database Management

GER
3/B

Hierarchical and network databases; theory of relational databases; normalization theory; query languages.

prereq: CSCI 33500

3 hrs
3 cr.

CSCI 45000 - Language Translation

GER
3/B
The theory and application of language recognition and analysis techniques, as they pertain to both formal programming languages and to natural languages. Includes lexical, syntactic and semantic analysis methods, as well as discussions of efficient data representation.

*prereq: CSCI 26500, 33500
*3 hrs
*3 cr.

CSCI 46000 - Advanced Programming Languages

GER

3/B

Survey course on the design and implementation of modern programming languages. Includes object-oriented, functional, logic and concurrent/ distributed paradigms.

*prereq: CSI 26500, 33500
*3 hrs
*3 cr.

CSCI 49300 - Honors Seminar

GER

3/B

Topics include Unix systems programming, computer law, 3D vision, Windows programming, neural networks, speech and language processing, fuzzy systems and other areas. Prerequisites vary with specific topics and are announced prior to registration.

*prereq: Prerequisites vary with specific topics and are announced prior to registration.
*3 hrs

Programs and Courses in Dance

Dance

About the Program

The Hunter College Dance Program offers an opportunity to pursue a BA degree in dance with in the context of a strong liberal arts education. From a campus in the heart of New York City, the dance major or minor student has the unique opportunity of interfacing with many professional dance companies, choreographers and researchers who live and work in New York. The contemporary dance-based curriculum provides the student with the opportunities to pursue careers in performance, choreography, teaching, arts administration and production and is unique in its focus on individual creativity and reflection. All dance majors are required to choreograph, perform, and participate actively in the close-knit artistic community. The curriculum is enriched by community outreach performances, repertory classes with New York-based choreographers, specialty workshops, dance clubs, international performances, internships and New York State teaching certification. In addition, Hunter Dance hosts "Sharing the Legacy," an ongoing series of conferences, forums and concerts devoted to experiencing dance masterworks of the twentieth century.
The Dance Program offers a broad curriculum with an emphasis on contemporary dance, including three major areas of study:

- Technique (modern, ballet, West African, urban and vernacular forms)
- Creative theory and performance (improvisation, composition, production, repertory, touring company)
- Theoretical and scientific aspects of dance (musicianship for dancers, dance history, teaching, anatomy and kinesiology, movement re-education)

Course Listings

All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.

Undergraduate Major

Dance - BA

Foundational Courses
Foundational Courses include courses in dance and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See the department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

In the case of Dance, the courses that meet CCC are:

The following 34-credit curriculum is required of all majors.

DAN 15100 - Folk Forms of Dance I

Development of basic dance skills necessary for participation in international folk dances. Students are exposed to dance and music of world cultures.
Open to dance majors and minors only.
3 hrs
1 cr.

DAN 21000 - Contemporary Dance Technique I

GER
3/A

Analytical and physical study of basic concepts of dance: space, time, dynamics and design. Intermediate development of movement skills and vocabulary as required by professional demands. May be taken 2 times for credit with permission of the department.

prereq: DAN 10100, perm dept., placement class
3 hrs
2 cr.

DAN 21300 - Basic Musicianship for Dancers

GER
3/A

Basic music theory in relation to dance. Development of auditory and kinesthetic understanding of melody, rhythm and harmony through movement. Open only to Dance majors and minors.
All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.
prereq: DAN 21000
3 hrs
2 cr.

DAN 22000 - Contemporary Dance Technique II
GER
3/A

Development of expanded movement vocabulary and increased facility; understanding dance as means of communication; ordering of movement to produce controlled performance. May be taken two times for credit with permission of the department.

prereq: DAN 21000, perm dept, or placement class

3 hrs
2 cr.

DAN 22100 - Improvisation as a Creative Process I

GER
3/A

Introduction to basic skills of structured improvisation; use of these skills by individual students to explore their creative movement potential.

prereq or coreq: DAN 21000 or perm dept.

3 hrs
2 cr.

DAN 23200 - 20th-Century Dance History

Hunter Core
Creative Expression (CE)
Pluralism and Diversity
PD/D
GER
2/D

Readings, lectures, films, discussions of 20th century ballet, modern, social and popular theatre dance forms; analysis of individual styles and cultural trends.

3 hrs
3 cr.

DAN 24500 - Ballet I

GER
3/A

Intermediate level study of stylistic demands and vocabulary of ballet and introduction to ballet traditions. May be taken two times for credit with permission of the department.

prereq: DAN 14500, perm dept, or placement class

3 hrs
2 cr.

DAN 31000 - Contemporary Dance Technique III
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/A
Advanced movement experience to prepare students to carry out their own creative demands or demands of other choreographers; continued in depth study of all concepts of dance. May be taken two times for credit with permission of the department.
prereq: DAN 22000, or perm. depart.
3 hrs
2 cr.

DAN 32000 - Contemporary Dance Technique IV

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/A
Development of pure dance skills to enable student to learn specific styles of dance; emphasis on expanding dynamic range and clarifying performance intention. May be taken two times for credit with permission of the department.
prereq: DAN 31000, audition
3 hrs
2 cr.

DAN 32100 - Composition I

Pluralism and Diversity
GER 3/A
Assignments geared to challenge and develop creative skills; emphasis on understanding form and its relation to content; mastering structural requirements of composition.
All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.
prereq: DAN 22100
3 hrs, 3 hrs open studio
2 cr.

DAN 32400 - Production I

GER
3/A
Practical experience in all aspects of production that contribute to realization of student's choreographic intentions: costumes, sets, lighting, publicity and business skills.
prereq: DAN 32200 or perm dept.
3 hrs, 3 hrs open studio
3 cr.

DAN 34500 - Ballet II

GER
3/A
Continuation of traditional exercises to acquaint student with elements of classic ballet; emphasis on development of advanced technical ability. May be taken two times for credit with permission of the department.
All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.
prereq: DAN 24500, or perm. dept.
DAN 35000 - Anatomy and Kinesiology for Dancers

GER
3/A
Anatomy of skeletal, muscular and neuromuscular systems; anatomical analysis of basic movement; application of anatomical information to proper and successful performance of dance.
All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.
prereq: DAN 22000, perm dept.

DAN 42200 - Choreographic Projects

GER
3/A
Independent student choreographic works in preparation for performance in concert. Registration once per academic year.
All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.
prereq: DAN 32100

DAN 44000 - Lecture/Demonstration Touring Group

GER
3/A
Performance of prescribed choreography in lecture/ demonstration format to be presented in public schools on a weekly basis during the fall semester. Open to dance majors/minors only. Students must be available to rehearse intensively for 1 week before classes begin.
All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.
prereq: DAN 22000, 22100, 24500, perm dept.

Major

(34 credits)
A placement audition is required of all incoming majors. All dance majors are required to be registered in at least one technique class every semester they are in attendance at Hunter. Performance, choreography and technical production requirements are to be fulfilled prior to graduation. These requirements include:
1. Performance in at least two (2) concerts.

2. Choreography of at least two (2) works:
   a. solo performed in open composition.
   b. group work developed during fall and spring semesters and performed in formal concert.

3. Production crew work in two (2) formal concerts.

Note: All required classes are not offered every semester. Annual meetings with dance advisers are essential for both majors and minors in order to assure that required coursework will be completed in time for graduation.

Policy on advancement through the technique curriculum

All dance students should be aware that completion of a dance technique course for a passing grade does not automatically guarantee acceptance into the next level of technique. For example, if you pass the Fundamentals of Contemporary Dance course, you may not necessarily be admitted to Contemporary Dance Technique I.

Your instructor will, at the end of the current course, advise you to either repeat the course for credit or to move on to the next level. (You can take technique courses twice for credit, and it is also possible to audit thereafter.) It is neither safe nor constructive to place yourself in a class that is not appropriate for your skill level. The quality of your dance education is of utmost importance to us — this policy is designed to maintain the highest standards of learning and achievement.

All dance majors are required to register for at least one technique course every semester they are enrolled at Hunter College.

Additional Information

The undergraduate adviser suggests the appropriate sequence of electives for the career specialization the student chooses.

Prerequisites for all dance majors:

Meeting with Dance Advisor prior to declaration of major.

Dance Education

Students planning to teach Dance in Pre-K through 12th grade should look at Dance Education Pre-K - 12 of the School of Education for requirements and program.

Minor in Dance

The Hunter College Dance Program Minor in Dance (a minimum of 16 required credits) is designed to allow students to pursue a variety of interests in the field, from performance and creative work to analysis, production and pedagogy.

Required courses (a minimum of 16 credits total)

The following 2 courses must be taken prior to declaration of the minor:
DAN 10100 - Fundamentals of Contemporary Dance Technique

Survey of concepts involved in understanding and integrating physicality and creativity through movement. Review of basic skills required for further study. Undergraduate Major

Accounting - BS

The degree of bachelor of science (accounting) offered at Hunter College fulfills educational requirements for the CPA examination in New York State. Candidates pursuing licensure in New York State will need to complete 150 college credits including ACC 49000 - Accounting & Auditing Research. An appropriate masters degree, while not required, is another path to licensure. For information on the MS in Accounting at Hunter College, see the Hunter College Graduate Catalog.

All students contemplating a career in accounting should request an interview with the accounting program adviser during the lower freshman term. To assure completion of the BS (accounting) degree within four years, a full-time student should begin the accounting major sequence in the upper freshman term, if possible, and no later than the lower sophomore term, by registering for ACC 27100.

Hunter Core Requirement

Note: Several courses leading to or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

In the case of the accounting major, the courses that meet CCC are:

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core.
Foundational Courses

Students with no prior background in this academic field will need up to 9 credits in Foundational Courses. Some of these courses may fulfill the CUNY Common Core. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

MATH 10100 - Algebra for College Students

Topics in algebra, graphing and functions includes: algebraic and graphical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities; absolute value, polynomial, rational and radical expressions and equations; complex numbers; the function concept; introduction to polynomial, rational and exponential functions and their graphs.

In planning their schedules, prospective majors should note that some advanced required courses are offered only once each year and several advanced elective courses are offered only once every other year. A rotation schedule for course offerings is available in the department office and on the departmental website.

Interdepartmental Fields

Students may take courses in economics as part of an interdepartmental program of study in Latin American and Caribbean studies, environmental studies (geography), women’s and gender studies and Jewish studies. Listings in each area discuss recommended courses.

Internships

Students may receive one credit for internships in government agencies, private firms, and not-for-profit institutions. The position must provide opportunities for learning about some area of economics, accounting, or business. The course may be taken no more than twice. Credits may not be applied towards the economics or accounting major. Internships will be graded on a CR/NC basis. Note that it is the responsibility of the student, not the Department, to identify internship opportunities.

Honors

Students with a 3.5 GPA in a major offered by the department and an overall 2.8 GPA at the beginning of their upper senior semester may apply for departmental honors at that time. Completion of the following and submission of an honors paper are required. Honors papers are written under faculty supervision and must be approved by a second reader as well. GPA levels must be maintained for the award of departmental honors.

Majors

The Department of Economics offers two majors: the Economics - BA, requiring a minimum of 24 credits and the Accounting - BS, requiring a minimum of 30 credits of accounting and an additional 33 credits of professional studies. In addition, for motivated students, the department offers the opportunity to complete both the BA and MA degrees within 30 credits.

Economics - Accelerated BA/MA

Grade Options

The department strongly urges economics majors who plan to go on to graduate or professional school to choose letter grades rather than CR/NC.

Major- 24 credits

Students majoring in economics must take:

A. Courses Preliminary to the Economics Major

ECO 20000 - Principles of Microeconomics

Hunter Core

Scientific World (SW)

GER
ECO 20100 - Principles of Macroeconomics

Hunter Core
Individual and Society (Social Sciences) - I&S SS
GER
2/B

May be taken prior to or concurrently with ECO 20100. Determination of prices and quantities of goods and services, including labor and other resources; competitive and imperfect markets; public policy implications.

prereq: MATH 10100 or exemption from the course
3 hrs
3 cr.

Additional Information

Although required, neither ECO 20000 nor ECO 20100 are counted as part of the 24 credits in the major. While it is preferable to start with ECO 20000, students may begin the study of economics with either ECO 20000 or ECO 20100. If they wish a one-semester survey before embarking on the principles courses, they may take ECO 10000, but this is not required. If taken, ECO 10000 cannot be substituted for either ECO 20000 or 20100 or credited toward the major.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 12500 or appropriate score on placement exam.

4 hrs

4 cr.

MATH 15000 and ECO 22100 must be completed with a grade of C, CR or better to be accepted for credit towards the major and to serve as prerequisites for other courses in the major.

Additional Information

Majors are advised to complete MATH 15000 (STEM) and ECO 22100 within their first 75 credits of college work and ECO 30000 or ECO 30100 within their first 90 credits. For students already at or beyond these points when they become majors, such courses should be taken within the first 12 credits following declaration of the major. The department may waive the requirement of any of the above or other courses upon satisfactory proof of course equivalency. Courses waived through substitution or examination do not provide course credit nor do they count toward the major.
D. Elective courses

The remaining 12 credits needed to complete the 24-credit major shall be satisfied by other economics courses offered by the department. No courses in accounting or business law may be credited toward the economics major. No more than 3 credits may be at the 100-level (note: ECO 10000 cannot be counted.)

Minor in Economics

The economics minor consists of a minimum of 12 credits, including

ECO 20000 - Principles of Microeconomics

and two other courses in economics. Accounting and business law courses do not count towards the economics minor.

Interdepartmental Fields

Students may take courses in economics as part of an interdepartmental program of study in Latin American and Caribbean studies, environmental studies (geography), women’s and gender studies and Jewish social studies. Listings in each area discuss recommended courses.

Internships

Students may receive one credit for internships in government agencies, private firms, and not-for-profit institutions. The position must provide opportunities for learning about some area of economics, accounting, or business. The course may be taken no more than twice. Credits may not be applied towards the economics or accounting major.
Internships will be graded on a CR/NC basis. Note that it is the responsibility of the student, not the Department, to identify internship opportunities.

Honors

Students with a 3.5 GPA in a major offered by the department and an overall 2.8 GPA at the beginning of their upper senior semester may apply for departmental honors at that time. Completion of the following and submission of an honors paper are required. Honors papers are written under faculty supervision and must be approved by a second reader as well. GPA levels must be maintained for the award of departmental honors.

ECO 49900 - Honors Project

Jr/Sr only. Supervised individual research and directed reading. Honors essay.
prereq: For accounting majors: ECO 32100 and 37200; For economics majors: ECO 30000, 30100 and 32100. A 3.5 GPA required in the major offered by the department and permission of the chair

Public Policy

Economics majors may find both the minor and the Certificate Program in Public Policy of particular interest.

Undergraduate Major/Graduate Major

Economics - Accelerated BA/MA

The Department of Economics offers promising students the opportunity to complete both the BA and MA degrees within 120 credits, 30 of which must be at the graduate level.

Students who wish to declare the BA/MA major must have a 3.0 average in Economics and in the cumulative index

A minimum grade of B in the following, or their equivalents

ECO 30000 - Intermediate Microeconomics

GER
3/B

Households and firms as maximizing agents; implications for equilibrium in perfectly and imperfectly competitive markets; general equilibrium; welfare.

Additional Information

An undergraduate major in economics is normally required. Thomas Hunter Honors Program students may be admitted without declaring an undergraduate economics major, provided that the above courses are completed. To apply, see the graduate adviser.

Honors
Students with a 3.5 GPA in a major offered by the department and an overall 2.8 GPA at the beginning of their upper senior semester may apply for departmental honors at that time. Completion of the following and submission of an honors paper are required. Honors papers are written under faculty supervision and must be approved by a second reader as well. GPA levels must be maintained for the award of departmental honors.

Note: Students enrolled in the BA/MA program may substitute enrollment in ECO 798 and an MA thesis for ECO 49900 and the Honors paper.

ECO 49900 - Honors Project

Undergraduate Minor

Minor in Accounting

A minor in accounting is available. These courses may be used for CPLicensure in New York State, but represent only 15 of the 69 credits required.

The Minor will consist of 15 credits with the following required courses:

ACC 27100 - Accounting I

Basic accounting concepts; preparation of financial statements. Emphasis on income determination and financial position.

prereq: upper freshman standing

3 hrs
3 cr.

ACC 27200 - Accounting II

Accounting concepts applied to partnerships and corporations; funds statements; financial statement analysis.

prereq: ACC 27100

3 hrs
3 cr.

and Three of the following courses for the Financial Accounting Track 1
ACC 37100 - Intermediate Accounting I

In-depth study of current concepts relating to accounting for assets and current liabilities.

prereq: ACC 27200

Critical variables explaining the diversity of growth and economic and development outcomes across developing countries. Theories, case studies, measurement and policies.

prereq: ECO 20000

3 hrs
3 cr.

ECO 33700 - Mathematical Foundations of Economics

An advanced undergraduate course in mathematical methods for economists. The course is designed to introduce students to the mathematical techniques used in advanced study of economics and in professional and academic economic research. Topics include equations, derivatives, comparative statics analysis of equilibrium models, optimization, constrained optimization, integration and dynamic models, difference and differential equation models, and inequality constraints in linear and nonlinear optimization problems. In addition to standard analytical techniques, students will learn how use modern mathematical/scientific software to build, solve, simulate and give graphical expression to real world applicable models of consumer and firm choice, and market and non-market economic interactions.

prereq: ECO 30000 or equivalent and MATH 15000 or exemption from the course.

3 hrs
3 cr.

ECO 33900 - Strategies and Games in Economics

A critical introduction to applications of game theory in economics. Applications include the analysis of conflict, trust and cooperation, firms' strategic behavior in concentrated markets, and herd behavior and panics in financial markets. We extend basic game-theoretic models to incorporate asymmetric information and mechanism-design, studying how the rules of a game or the initial distribution of information might affect equilibrium outcomes and therefore how to select optimal rules that govern interactions. Questions addressed include the design of compensation and incentive contracts; voting models and political-economic equilibria; how firms choose their financial structure; and how and why laws and constitutions are chosen to be what they are.

prereq: ECO 30000 or equivalent

3 hrs.
3 cr.

ECO 34000 - International Trade

GER
3/B

Theories of international trade and international trade policies.

prereq: ECO 20000

3 hrs
3 cr.

ECO 35000 - Comparative Economic Systems

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/C or D
GER
3/B

Comparative analysis of market and planned economies in theory and practice. Process and problems of transitions between planned and market economies.

prereq: ECO 20000, 20100
3 hrs
3 cr.

ECO 35500 - Industrial Organization

GER
3/B

Behavior of firms in imperfectly competitive markets. Topics include the acquisition and use of market power, strategic interactions among firms, and the role of government policy.

prereq: ECO 20000
3 hrs
3 cr.
ECO 35600 - Business and Public Policy

GER
3/B

Analysis of the intersection between business and government in market economies. Topics may include protection of intellectual property, economic regulation, health and safety regulation, antitrust, and the behavior of private firms in the political and social realms.

prereq: ECO 20000

3 hrs
3 cr.

ECO 36000 - Managerial Economics

Programs and Courses in Education

School of Education

About the School of Education

All students who take the education sequence at Hunter must major in a liberal arts or sciences subject. In other words, students who take any program in education do so in addition to fulfilling both the general education requirement and the requirements for a liberal arts or sciences major.

A student who completes an undergraduate education program approved by the New York State Education Department fulfills the academic requirements for New York State Initial Certification. (See section below on New York State certification for more information.)

The Office of Educational Services - Room 1000 West

This office provides support services to students enrolled in classes offered by the three teacher education departments of the School of Education. The areas of services provided include: coordination of admissions, advisement and registration; teacher certification; and various other student services such as permits, course equivalencies and leaves of absence. The Office of Educational Services maintains regular office hours, staying open until 6 PM Monday through Thursday and to 4 PM on Fridays to provide advisement for working and evening session students. Student teaching and field placement applications and information are available on the School of Education website http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/education.

New York State Certification

The undergraduate sequences in education described below have been approved by the New York State Education Department to lead to initial certification for teaching in New York State. To earn this certificate the student must successfully complete the approved program of study, obtain the BA or BA/MA degree, submit fingerprints for clearance and pass the required New York State Teacher Certification Examinations (NYSTCE) including the LAST, ATS-W and CST. The Office of Educational Services recommends the certification applications of students who complete an approved program for certification. The initial certificate permits the holder to teach for five years. At the end of that time with three years of full-time teaching in the certificate title and a master's degree, the individual will be able to obtain professional certification. New York State certification is reciprocally accepted by many other states upon application. Students with questions about certification should consult the School of Education website http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/education.

Admission to Teacher Education Programs

Students must apply for admission to the School of Education. Applicants for adolescent education programs must demonstrate satisfactory performance in courses in the major. Undergraduate teacher education programs require a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.8. Students are advised to submit their completed application for admission in April for the fall semester and November for the spring semester. Applicants must attach a student copy of transcripts of previous college study to their application. Applicants must demonstrate satisfactory performance in a group interview and an on-site writing sample. No courses with credit/noncredit grades are accepted.
Nondegree and Second-Degree Students

The School of Education does not accept nondegree or second-degree students.

Hunter College Campus Schools

The Campus Schools are located at Park Avenue and 94th Street in Manhattan. They serve as a laboratory for observation, demonstration, research, curriculum design and other projects involving their students, all of whom score in the range of the gifted on intelligence and achievement tests. Students are admitted to the publicly supported schools on the basis of competitive testing. Efforts continue to identify gifted children from diverse backgrounds who meet the schools' rigorous standards for admission to kindergarten and grade 7 (the two levels at which students are admitted).

Hunter College Elementary School

Children must be five years of age to attend the kindergarten. Only Manhattan residents are eligible to apply. The age of an applicant is calculated according to the academic year. While some students continue on to the high school from the elementary school, high-achieving students from the five boroughs are invited to take a competitive examination in order to enter Hunter High School at the 7th grade.

Hunter College High School

The Hunter College High School is a six-year junior-senior high school. The academic program stresses both acceleration and enrichment and provides students with a rigorous education. Research focuses on the development of curriculum, teaching strategies and other educational practices that maintain and advance a "state of the art" approach to the education of intellectually gifted students.

Manhattan/Hunter College Science High School

The Manhattan/Hunter Science High School, located on Amsterdam Avenue at 66th Street, provides instruction for grades 9 through 12. This science high school is grounded in the belief that individuals are better prepared to face life's challenges when given the proper tools. Science offers the lens through which we may see, explore and meet the future. The New York City Department of Education and Hunter College have joined to create a school that provides an enriched, comprehensive college preparatory curriculum with a focus on science and the integration of science and the scientific method into all subject areas.

Adolescent Biology, Grades 7-12 - BA

The BA and BA/MA programs in Adolescent Biology lead to initial certification as a teacher. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their major.

The Education course of study is a 27-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the major in the subject they plan to teach.

Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves an online application, a writing sample and an interview.
Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000.
4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.
5. Formal declaration of a major in biology.
6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

37 credits in Biology plus 33.5-36.5 credits in required additional science and math courses (total 70.5 to 73.5 credits).
(see Biological Sciences Major I for details of course requirements)

Course of Study

SEDF 20300 - Social Foundations of Education, Grades 7-12 (W)

Students explore different sociological, historical, philosophical, anthropological, and political concepts and theories related to urban schooling. Emphasis on issues such as tracking, parentschool- community relations, inclusion of students with disabilities, the teaching of English language learners, and other diverse populations. Students will learn to analyze these concepts and theories and apply them to current classroom practices.

3 hrs
3 cr.

SEDF 20400 - Adolescent Development

The process of cognitive, social/emotional, personality and language development among youth who vary by gender, race and ethnicity, English proficiency and varying levels of abilities.

2 hrs per week plus 36 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDF 20500 - Educational Psychology: Applications in Grades 7-12

Basic educational psychology covering the characteristics of the learner, applications of learning theories and the instruction process as applied to the secondary setting, grades 7-12.

prereq: SEDF 20300, 20400
2 hrs per week plus 36 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDF 20600 - Assessment of the Teaching and Learning Process in Grades 7-12
The principles and practices for the assessment of learning and teaching in the classroom, grades 7-12. Includes instructional objectives, test construction, descriptive statistics, interpretation of standardized test scores, performance outcome measures and alternative forms of assessment.

prereq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 per week plus lab
2 cr.

SEDC 21000 - Building the Foundations of Literacy in Grades 7-12

Supporting the development of literacy across the curriculum, with a focus on under-prepared students, students with special education needs, and students who are English language learners; implications for working toward standards.

3 hrs
3 cr.

SEDC 21300 - Methods I: Classroom Organization, Management and Instruction in Mathematics and Science, Grades 7-12

Candidates will identify the impact of various classroom organization patterns, rules and routines. Candidates will be able to design, implement and evaluate lessons in the context of state and city standards for learning in grades 7-12.

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20300, 20400

3 hrs
3 cr.

SEDC 22000 - Adolescent Health and Safety

Health issues that are relevant to the health promotion and wellness of adolescents and their families from diverse backgrounds, abilities, and sexual orientations. Specific content areas will include nutrition, fitness, drug education, child abuse and neglect, fire prevention and safety, and violence prevention and intervention.

prereq: SEDF 20300, 20400

1 hr
1 cr.

SEDC 32400 - Methods II: Teaching Diverse Learners Science, Grades 7-12

Familiarizes prospective middle and high school teachers, grades 7-12, with pedagogical approaches and innovative teaching techniques needed to convey to a diverse population current state and professional standards-based curriculum in science. Innovative uses of technology, development of instructional units, individualizing for students with special needs, and strategies for managing problem behavior will be emphasized throughout the course.

prereq: SEDC 21300
prereq or coreq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 hrs per week plus 48 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDC 34100 - Adolescent Fieldwork

Seminar and field experience in adolescent education. Students will complete a 48-hour field experience in a grade 7-12 classroom in their subject and will participate in an accompanying seminar. They will be observed and evaluated in the field by a School of Education faculty member. An accompanying seminar will treat issues arising from the field experience. Students must achieve a grade of B or better in this course to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade of F in the course will not be allowed to continue in the program. Any student who obtains a grade below B must apply to the department chairperson for permission to repeat the course, which may be repeated only once.

coreq: SEDC 31200 or SEDC 32100 or SEDC 32200 or SEDC 32300 or SEDC 32400 or SEDC 32500
15 hours of seminar; 48 hours of fieldwork
1 cr.

SEDC 45410 - Student Teaching in Biology, Grades 7-12

Teacher candidates complete 30 days of student teaching at grades 7-9 and 30 days at grades 10-12 under the supervision of a Hunter College faculty member and a certified biology teacher in a New York City school selected by the college. Students will further develop their skills in the delivery of instruction. Student teachers will assume significant responsibility for classroom instruction and management.

prereq: SEDC 32400

prereq or coreq: SEDF 20600
2 hrs per week, 60 days student teaching plus workshops and conferences
5 cr.

SPED 30800 - Teaching Students with Special Needs in Inclusive Settings

Participants will explore the benefits and challenges of creating and maintaining classrooms designed to incorporate students with disabilities in the general education environment for part, or all, of their program.

A new State regulation requires that all teacher education programs leading to initial certification include a 3-credit course in teaching students with disabilities. This course will be added to all initial certification programs that do not currently have such a course. It is intended for teachers of general (not special) education at all grade levels.

prereq: 12 credits of coursework
45 hrs
3 cr.

Technology assessments are required of all students.

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used towards the Hunter Core Requirement.

- ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000
- Two courses selected from HIST 15100, HIST 15200 and GEOG 10100
- STAT 21300 (STEM)
- 12 credits of foreign language
- 6 credits of art
- One course in communication

6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

Complete the full major in biology replacing 10 credits of elective courses that they take towards the BA with graduate courses. Complete the extra 19 credits of graduate biology courses for a total of 29 graduate biology credits.

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used toward the Common Core Requirements.

- 6 credits of English courses
- 6 credits of social studies (at least one course in U.S. history or U.S. geography)
- 3 credits in the arts
- 6 credits of foreign language
- 6 credits in math (a college course in calculus meets this requirement)

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

Progress Standards

1. Students must maintain a minimum overall GPA of 2.8 and an education sequence index of 2.8.

2. Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to reregister for that course, which may be repeated only once.

3. Any student who receives a grade of D+ or D in a course in the education sequence will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.

4. Any student who receives a grade of F in any course in the pedagogical sequence (including student teaching) will not be permitted to continue in the program.

5. Any student who has more than two grades of IN will be permitted to register for only one course the following semester.

Students will be permitted to register for the second methods course in their subject area only after having met the following requirements:

1. Completion of 18 credits of study in the major subject area;

2. Approval of the major department adviser; and
3. Maintenance of an overall GPA of 2.8 and an education sequence index of 2.8. Students should register to take the Liberal Arts and Sciences Test (LAST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Examinations during their junior year. Students will not be allowed to enroll in student teaching until their scores on the LAST have been received by the School of Education. Students who do not pass the LAST at least partly because of low scores on subtest 4 and/or 5 must enroll in a college writing course before being allowed to register for any additional courses.

Admission Process

1. Students interested in applying to the Adolescent Education program should apply at the beginning of the semester prior to the semester in which they plan to enroll.

2. Students must participate in a group interview with several other students and School of Education faculty members.

3. Students must complete an on-site writing sample that the School of Education faculty will use to assess written English skills.

Admission Requirements

Students who wish to enter the adolescent education sequence must meet all the criteria given below.

1. Minimum of 65 credits but no more than 90 credits;

2. GPA of at least 2.8. If a student has more than 6 credits of CR/NR grades, the excess of these grades will be calculated as C or F in determining whether the student meets the minimum GPA;

3. A grade of at least B in ENGL 12000 (or a 200- or 300-level writing course such as ENGL 201);

4. Formal declaration of a major in a subject area appropriate for certification: English, Languages Other than English (Chinese, French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Russian, Spanish), Mathematics, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Social Studies (Geography Option 2), Dance; and

5. Submission of an application for admission to the sequence (the application is available in the Office of Educational Services, Room 1000 Hunter West).

Program Overview

Students who major in an academic subject may also wish to complete a sequence of courses in education that will enable them to pursue a career teaching students in grades 7-12. The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools.

Programs in adolescent education at Hunter College prepare prospective teachers to serve as highly effective educators in urban middle and high schools. Through rigorous course work, fieldwork and student teaching experiences in New York City schools, students learn how to provide an academically rigorous education to students of diverse backgrounds, abilities and interests.

Content Knowledge
Courses in the academic discipline offered by the School of Arts & Sciences will deepen teacher candidates’ subject knowledge. They will learn how to use knowledge of their subject to design and implement classroom instruction that reflects State and professional standards.

Professional Knowledge

Teacher candidates will learn the theory and practice of effective pedagogy in their subject area. They will gain a grounding in the history, philosophy, psychology and sociology of education that will inform their teaching. They will study research-based theories and methods of teaching their subject to students with special needs, including special education students and English language learners.

Skills

Teacher candidates will learn to design lessons and units of work for students and to adapt their instruction to students’ prior knowledge and level of skill. They will gain expertise in analyzing and using assessments of student achievement to guide and inform their instruction. They will master the use of technology as a tool for teaching their subject. They will learn to manage their classrooms to provide effective instruction for all students. They will practice ways to assess and reflect on their teaching practice in order to strengthen their work with students and grow as professionals.

Creating Community

Teacher candidates will learn to create humane and ethical learning communities in their classrooms and schools in which all students receive the support they need to achieve academically. They will learn to communicate effectively with parents, families, community members and other members of the school faculty and staff in order to provide this support.

Programs

The Hunter College School of Education offers the following undergraduate programs leading to initial certification in adolescent education (grades 7-12): biology, chemistry, Chinese, English, French, German, Hebrew, Italian, mathematics, physics, Russian, social studies and Spanish. Hunter also offers an undergraduate program leading to initial certification in dance (pre-K-12). In addition, BA/MA programs in biology, chemistry, earth science, mathematics, music and physics are offered. These programs lead to initial and professional certification.

The program of study for the baccalaureate degree at Hunter College requires a minimum of 120 credits. This is a daytime program that includes fieldwork in New York City public schools designated by the Hunter College School of Education. Students who wish to pursue initial certification in one of the above areas must take a specified sequence of education courses, in addition to fulfilling the college’s General Education Requirement (GER) and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. All relevant departments accept the adolescent education sequence as a minor.

Transfer Students

The program will conditionally admit transfer students with 60 or more credits who have a GPA of at least 3.3 without requiring that they complete 12 credits at Hunter College. However, they must establish a minimum GPA of 2.8 at Hunter College to continue in the program after the first semester. Any transfer student who has a GPA of 2.8-3.29 must complete 12 credits at Hunter College with a cumulative GPA of at least 2.8 before being admitted to the program in adolescent education.
Adolescent English, Grades 7-12 - BA

The BA program in Adolescent English leads to initial certification as a teacher. This program includes fieldwork in New York City Public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their major.

The Education course of study is a 27-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the major in the subject they plan to teach.

Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves an online application, a writing sample and an interview.

Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000.
4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.
5. Formal declaration of a major in English.
6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

3 cr.

SEDF 20400 - Adolescent Development

The process of cognitive, social/emotional, personality and language development among youth who vary by gender, race and ethnicity, English proficiency and varying levels of abilities.

2 hrs per week plus 36 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDF 20500 - Educational Psychology: Applications in Grades 7-12

Basic educational psychology covering the characteristics of the learner, applications of learning theories and the instruction process as applied to the secondary setting, grades 7-12.

prereq: SEDF 20300, 20400

2 hrs per week plus 36 hrs fieldwork
2 cr.

SEDF 20600 - Assessment of the Teaching and Learning Process in Grades 7-12

The principles and practices for the assessment of learning and teaching in the classroom, grades 7-12. Includes instructional objectives, test construction, descriptive statistics, interpretation of standardized test scores, performance outcome measures and alternative forms of assessment.

prereq: SEDF 20500, SEDC 21000

2 per week plus lab
2 cr.

SEDC 21000 - Building the Foundations of Literacy in Grades 7-12

Supporting the development of literacy across the curriculum, with a focus on under-prepared students, students with special education needs, and students who are English language learners; implications for working toward standards.

3 hrs
3 cr.
SEDC 21100 - Young Adult Literature in Our Diverse Society

Familiarizes prospective teachers with a wide variety of literature for or about young adults. Books discussed and dramatized during each session reflect diverse cultures, varying learning styles, and special needs of young adults. The English language arts standards are addressed as delineated in city and state regulations. Literacy and comprehension skills are explored as well.

Adolescent Social Studies, Grades 7-12 - BA

The BA program in Adolescent Social Studies leads to initial certification as a teacher. This program includes fieldwork in New York City Public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their major.

The Education course of study is a 27-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the major in the subject they plan to teach.
Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves an online application, a writing sample and an interview.

Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000.
4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.
5. Formal declaration of a major in history or geography.
6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

A geography or history major for adolescent teachers. (see Option in Social Studies within the Geography Major for Adolescent Education Teachers or History for Adolescent Education (Social Studies) )

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used towards the Hunter Core Requirement.

- ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000
- Two courses selected from HIST 15100, HIST 15200 and GEOG 10100
- STAT 11300
- 9 credits in math, science and technology (must include one laboratory science course)
- 6 credits in the arts
- 12 credits of foreign language
- One course in communication

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

Course of Study

SEDF 20300 - Social Foundations of Education, Grades 7-12 (W)
Students explore different sociological, historical, philosophical, anthropological, and political concepts and theories related to urban schooling. Emphasis on issues such as tracking, parentschool-community relations, inclusion of students with disabilities, the teaching of English language learners, and other diverse populations. Students will learn to analyze these concepts and theories and apply them to current classroom practices.

Childhood Education (QUEST) Grades 1-6 - BA

1000 Hunter West; (212) 772-4624

- QUEST Six-Semester Sequence for Students Who Enter the Program with 30 - 40 credits
- QUEST Four-Semester Sequence for Students Entering the Program with More than 40 credits

QUEST Program Overview

The Quality Urban Elementary School Teacher (QUEST) program is an undergraduate childhood teacher education program that prepares students to become New York State certified teachers of childhood education grades 1-6. QUEST is a 36-credit program completed over either four or six semesters that includes extensive field experiences attached to courses. The six-semester sequence is designed for students who enter Hunter College as freshmen. The four-semester sequence is designed for transfer students and other students who do not apply to QUEST until they have completed 40 or more credits.

QUEST is committed to the preparation of urban elementary school teachers who can deal effectively with the wide range of diverse learning needs found among the City's students. QUEST collaborates closely with New York City public schools to provide outstanding field experiences for students.

The program of study for the BA degree at Hunter College consists of a minimum of 120 credits. All students must major in one of the following liberal arts or sciences subjects: English Language Arts, English, History, Geography, Social Studies (available as a major in the geography department), Mathematics, Biology or Chemistry. QUEST serves as a collateral major in addition to a student's major in Hunter's School of Arts and Sciences. Students must also complete the Hunter Core Requirement.

Courses required as part of the major or the New York State Liberal Arts Distribution Requirement may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

Teachers in Elementary Schools

Teachers in elementary schools are required to teach all subject areas in the curriculum and thus need a broad liberal arts background in addition to specialized knowledge of teaching. Therefore, students will be required to complete the following liberal arts and sciences courses, or their equivalent (most of these courses can be taken within the Hunter Core Requirement). These courses require a grade of C or better.
ENGL 12000 - Expository Writing

Hunter Core

Individual and Society - Social Science
GER
2/B

A broad overview of subjects and ideas in geography, possibly the most internally diverse of the social sciences. Covers the geographical aspects of topics including weather and climate, landforms, religions, food, cities, economics, culture, politics and much more. While students will be expected to understand the basics of each of the topics covered, the overarching emphasis will be on understanding the relationships among them. As such, the course builds from one topic to the next, ultimately stressing the sheer geographical complexity and wonder of modern life. Contemporary economic, political and social patterns and problems are discussed.

Note(s)

* Computer Science does not count as a science course in meeting this requirement.

 Courses in FILMP, MEDIA, and MEDP do not meet the arts requirements.

Students are required to complete the technology assessments prior to graduation.

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

Admissions Requirements

For applicants applying to both six and four-semester sequence

1. 30 credits in liberal arts and sciences

2. Minimum GPA of 3.0
3. Prerequisite for MATH 10400 (STEM): either a score high enough on the CUNY COMPASS to be placed in MATH 10400 (STEM) or completion of MATH 10100

4. ENGL 12000 (or a 200- or 300-level writing course), with a grade of B or better

5. Declaration of an appropriate liberal arts and sciences major: biology, chemistry, English, English language arts, geography, history, social studies (an option within the geography major), or mathematics

6. Transfer students may enter the program with 40 to 72 credits. (Students with more than 72 credits should complete their liberal arts and sciences major and apply to the master’s degree program in childhood education.)

7. Transfer students with 60 or more credits, a GPA of 3.3 or better and a grade of B or better in ENGL 12000 do not have to present Hunter College grades. Transfer students with GPAs between 2.75 and 3.29 will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College with a GPA of at least 2.8 before a final decision will be made on their application to QUEST.

Note(s)

 Students may apply to QUEST if the total of their completed credits plus credits in which they are currently enrolled is at least 30 credits.

Progress Standards

Students must receive grades of C or better in required coursework in liberal arts and sciences and in QUEST courses that do not include fieldwork. QUEST fieldwork courses require a grade of B or better. All QUEST courses are repeatable once by students who have received a grade of C-, D+ or D in a non-fieldwork course or a grade below B in a fieldwork course. Students must officially reregister for these courses. Students who receive an F in any course or a D+ or D in fieldwork may not continue in the program. Students must also maintain a GPA of at least 2.8 throughout the QUEST program.

In order to register for QSTA 40600 - Mathematics Teaching and Learning in Elementary School, students must have completed MATH 10400 (STEM) and MATH 10500. With the approval of the program coordinator, transfer students may be allowed to enroll in QSTA 40600 after completing MATH 10400 (STEM) and registering for MATH 10500 if their progress through the QUEST program would be delayed by the requirement for MATH 105 as a prerequisite.

In order to register for QSTA 41400 - Teaching Science in Elementary Schools, students must have completed two courses in science, at least one of which must be a laboratory science.

In order to register for QSTA 41200 - Teaching Social Studies through Literature, the Arts, and Technology in Elementary Schools, students must have completed HIST 15100 and HIST 15200, or one of these courses plus GEOG 10100.

Dance Pre-K - 12 - BA

The BA and BA/MA programs in Dance lead to initial certification as a teacher. Graduates from the BA/MA program in Dance are eligible for professional certification after three years of teaching experience. These programs include fieldwork in New York City public schools. Students must take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the Hunter Core Requirement and the requirements of their major. BA/MA students also take additional graduate credits in Dance.
The Education course of study is a 25-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the Dance major.

Admission Information

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves a paper application, a writing sample and an interview. Students must apply by November 1 for the spring term and April 1 for the fall term. Applications are available online only: Application for Admission - Undergraduate Programs in Adolescent Education.

Admission Requirements

1. Minimum of at least 65 credits but no more than 90 credits.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Receive a grade of B or better in ENGL 120.
4. Have no more than 6 cr. of CR/NC grades.
5. Formal declaration of a major in dance.
6. Transfer students will have to complete 12 credits of coursework at Hunter College before applying. However, transfer students with 60 or more credits and a GPA of 3.3 or better may be immediately considered for admission.

Liberal Arts and Science Major Requirements

34-credit major in dance.

New York State Liberal Arts & Science Distribution Requirement

These are courses required for School of Education students. Most of these courses may also be used towards the Hunter Core Requirement.

- ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000
- Two courses selected from HIST 15100, HIST 15200 and GEOG 10100
- STAT 11300
- 9 credits in math, science and technology (must include one laboratory science course)
- 12 credits of foreign language
- One course in communication

School of Education Technology Competencies

The Technology Competencies are required for all School of Education students. The competencies include fifteen skills in five aspects of educational technology: productivity, research, communication, media, and presentation.

Programs and Courses in English

English

About the Department

The English Department offers students a variety of courses in the study of literature, literary theory, composition, rhetoric, linguistics and creative writing. The Department is interdisciplinary in its offerings, with a diverse faculty whose areas of research and approaches to teaching offer Hunter students a wide spectrum of historical, postmodern, theoretical, textual, and socio-cultural approaches to literary study, rhetoric and composition, linguistics and language, and creative writing. The department encourages disciplined, original thinking and writing while its small classes promote learning through stimulating discussions.

Introductory and intermediate courses present a wide range of literary forms, periods and genres. Students who major in English choose one of five concentrations: Literatures, Language and Criticism; Creative Writing; Adolescent Education (a concentration designed for prospective high school teachers), English Language Arts and Linguistics and Rhetoric. Qualified students may enroll in honors seminars and tutorials. The English Department participates in Hunter's interdisciplinary programs in Asian American Studies, Comparative Literature, Women's and Gender Studies, and Religion. The English major provides a foundation for careers in writing, teaching, journalism, publishing, law, business, or any other career that depends on the ability to read analytically and write effectively.

ENGL 22000 - Introduction to Writing about Literature (W) is a prerequisite for all literature courses numbered above 22000 in the English Department. Students who plan to major in English should take no more than 6 credits past ENGL 22000 before declaring the major.

ENGL 30000 - Introduction to Creative Writing is a prerequisite for all 300- and 400-level writing courses (except ENGL 30100). Students must pass this course with a minimum grade of B to major in creative writing.

The concentration in Creative Writing is designed to provide students with an informed appreciation of the depth and breadth of literature written in English, as well as the opportunity to develop their own interests and skills in creative writing. Students concentrating in Creative Writing take ENGL 25200 Introduction to Literary Studies, five required courses in literature, and at least four creative writing workshops.

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

3 cr.

(offerings vary and may include: Advanced Workshop in Poetry; Advanced Prose Writing; Narrative Forms: Strategies in Fiction; or The Art of Revision: Poetry and Fiction – See the Department web page each semester for current information.)
D. Three Electives (9 cr.)

Electives may be chosen from any of the department’s 300- or 400-level courses, including, if the student is eligible, one of the Honors Seminars (ENGL 49400). In special cases, full-time faculty may find it appropriate to supervise a student who is interested in taking on an individual creative project for 3 credits; this option is listed in the catalogue, and in semester-by-semester class postings, as ENGL 48500: Independent Tutorial Study. Successful completion of such a course may also, if arranged beforehand, qualify as an Honors course. All English majors also have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department’s prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both. For example, someone majoring in English and History who takes HIST 342.51 Britain Since 1689 may count that course toward either the English or History major, not both.

Note: To take a 300-level course in one of the following departments and programs that is not on the list, or in another department, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course.

Concentration in English Language Arts (39 cr.)

The concentration in English Language Arts is designed to provide students with experience in the study of literature, language, rhetoric, and writing. While it is designed and intended primarily for prospective elementary school teachers, the concentration is open to all students. The English department strongly recommends that students choose at least one Language, Writing, or Modern/Contemporary Literature elective course.

This concentration consists of five parts:

Note: Double majors may count the course toward the requirements for only one of their majors. Students wishing to take a 300-level course that is not listed below must get prior written consent from an English advisor, and any such course is subject to the pre-requisites of the department in which the course is taken. Students also enrolled in the QUEST major may satisfy one of their ELA elective requirements by taking any Art History, Music History, Theatre, or Dance History course. Taking one of these courses will also satisfy 3 credits of the QUEST Arts Distribution requirement. This option is available only to ELA majors who are also majoring in QUEST.

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

Note: Students must take ENGL 30000 or 30100 before taking ENGL 30800.

E. Four Electives (12 cr.)

Students may choose from among 300- or 400-level English courses, including, if the student is eligible, one of the Honors Seminars (ENGL 49400). It is strongly recommended that students consider choosing either a Modern/Contemporary Literature, Linguistics, Rhetoric, or Writing course to fulfill one of the Elective requirements. All English majors also have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department's prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both.

NOTE: Students also enrolled in the QUEST major may satisfy one of their ELA elective requirements by taking any Art History, Music History, Theatre, or Dance History course. Taking one of these courses will also satisfy 3 credits of the QUEST Arts Distribution requirement. This option is available only to ELA majors who are also majoring in QUEST. To take a 300-level course in one of the following departments and programs that is not on the list, or in another department, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course.

Concentration in English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching (39 cr)

Return to Programs and Courses in English

The concentration in English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching is designed to prepare students to teach English in grades 7-12 by providing a foundation in British, American, and Multi-Ethnic literatures, as well as writing and language studies. Students choosing this concentration take ENGL 252 Introduction to Literary Studies, 18 credits of required literature courses, 6 credits of required writing courses, a 3-credit language course, and three electives chosen from among 300- and 400-level courses offered by the Department, with the option to choose one of their three electives from a menu of courses in other departments and programs. When taken together with the requirements for the Secondary Education minor of the School of Education, this program meets initial certification requirements for New York State and New York City public schools. Students interested in the Education minor must apply to the School of Education for admission. Students who do not wish to pursue certification need not take the Secondary Education minor. Eligible English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching majors may pursue English Departmental Honors by taking ENGL 49400 Honors Seminar.

Note: The English Department strongly recommends that students take at least one modern or contemporary literature course.

This concentration consists of five parts:

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

All English majors also have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department’s prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both. For example, someone majoring in English and History who takes HIST 342.51 Britain Since 1689 may count that course toward either the English or History major, not both. Students may choose from the courses and departments listed below.

Note: To take a 300-level course in one of the following departments and programs that is not on the list, or in another department, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course.

Concentration in Linguistics and Rhetoric

The concentration in Linguistics and Rhetoric is designed to provide students with a comprehensive course of study in the structures, uses, and ideologies of discourse in various types of texts, genres, and domains: from everyday talk to persuasive writing. Students will gain a complex understanding of spoken and written discourse by comparing a wide range of philosophical underpinnings, theoretical perspectives, and methodological approaches. This concentration is particularly suited for students who are interested in graduate study in Linguistics, Rhetoric, Applied Linguistics, and Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL).

The concentration consists of two parts:
Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). ENGL 34600 - Discourse Analysis

Discourse analysis has been informed by several academic disciplines, including anthropology, linguistics, philosophy, literary theory, and sociology. Since there are many ways to define and analyze discourse, there exist multiple, and often conflicting, approaches to the study of language use. This course is an introduction to various methods of discourse analysis, which will be explored through critical reading and discussion, and through hands-on application of these methods on actual discourse data.
prereq: ENGL 22000
3 hrs
3 cr.
-or-

ENGL 34700 - Language and Ethnicity

Pluralism and Diversity
GER Pluralism & Diversity Group B
This course explores the relationship between language and ethnicity with a primary focus on the United States. It examines how language is used in the construction of ethnic identities, and how ideologies about ethnicity influence the ways in which people use language. It is centered on class discussion of social scientific research that closely analyzes how ethnicity is performed in discursive interaction. The course investigates language use in relation to African American, Native American, U.S. Latino/a, Asian American, and European American identities, and covers topics, such as codeswitching, crossing, mocking, passing, interethnic communication, and language prejudice.

prereq: ENGL 22000
3 hrs
3 cr

- or -

ENGL 34800 - English Across the World

This course will examine the spread of English across the world in terms of two major processes: linguistic imperialism, or the imposition of the language from a colonial center on a colonized periphery, and macroacquisition, or the adoption and adaptation of English by speech communities themselves. The main geographical focus will be the former colonial territories of Britain and the United States in Asia and Africa. Class discussions will be guided by two texts that present opposing views of the historical processes in question and will be further illuminated by students’ own research on individual countries.

prereq: ENGL 22000
3 hrs
3 cr

B. ELECTIVE COURSES (9 CREDITS)

Students may select electives from any 300- or 400-level English courses, including, if the student is eligible, one of the Honors Seminars (ENGL 49400). ENGL 30600 - Literary Theory (W) is strongly recommended for all Linguistics and Rhetoric students. Students may also choose from courses related to linguistics or rhetoric offered in other departments, such as Anthropology (e.g., ANTHC 15100 - Introduction to Linguistics; ANTHC 32076 - Language, Sex and Gender; ANTHC 35100 - Language in Culture and Society), Classics (e.g., CLA 11000 - The Greek and Latin Roots of English, and Philosophy (e.g., PHILO 10300 - Introduction to Logic and Critical Thinking); or from courses in foreign language study that are beyond those taken in fulfillment of the foreign language requirement (e.g., advanced courses in a second language, beginning courses in a third language).

All English majors also have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department's prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both. For example, someone majoring in English and History who takes HIST 342.51 Britain Since 1689 may count that course toward either the English or History major, not both. Students may choose from the courses and departments listed below.

Note: To take a 300-level course in one of the following departments and programs that is not on the list, or in another department, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course.

Note

*ENGL 33300 and ENGL 34200 may be taken multiple times in different topics to fulfill both required and elective courses

Concentration in Literatures, Language and Criticism (39 cr)
Majors who plan to concentrate in Literatures, Language and Criticism take ENGL 25200 Introduction to Literary Studies within one semester of declaring the major, four required courses (33800, 39500, 30600, and either 32000 or 32500), and three courses in a specialized area of study. We recommend that students take the four required courses early in their major studies, preferably soon after they have declared the major. Students are also required to take one 300- or 400-level English course with a focus on literature or rhetoric before 1800 (excluding ENGL 33800 and 39500).

The Literatures, Language and Criticism concentration is designed to provide students with exposure to a range of literary texts and traditions, as well as to a specific area of study in which to focus. The first two areas of study reflect particular national literatures, but the remaining five are designed with broader approaches to literary study in mind. With prior approval, a student may also work with an advisor to design her own area of study.

This concentration consists of five parts:

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses include courses in English and prerequisites to these courses. These courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

Note: Several courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

E. Electives (12-15 cr)

The remaining courses in the major are electives, chosen by the student. Unless a student uses an Area of Study course to fulfill the requirement, one of these courses must be a 300- or 400-level English course with a focus on literature or rhetoric before 1800.
All English majors also have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department’s prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both. For example, someone majoring in English and History who takes HIST 342.51 Britain Since 1689 may count that course toward either the English or History major, not both. Students may choose from the courses and departments listed below.

Note: To take a 300-level course in one of the following departments and programs that is not on the list, or in another department, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course.

English - BA

Major

The English Department offers students five concentrations: (1) Literatures, Language and Criticism, (2) Creative Writing, (3) English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching, (4) English Language Arts, and (5) Linguistics and Rhetoric. Thirty-nine credits (13 classes) in 300- and 400-level courses are required for each concentration. Up to 6 credits in the major sequence may be taken for CR/NC. Students must take ENGL 22000 before declaring the major or taking any other English classes (with the exception of ENGL 21800 - Advanced Expository Writing).

Concentration in Literatures, Language and Criticism (39 cr)

Concentration in Creative Writing (39 cr)

Concentration in English Language Arts (39 cr.)

Concentration in English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching (39 cr)

Concentration in Linguistics and Rhetoric

Literatures, Language and Criticism Concentration

Majors who plan to concentrate in Concentration in Literatures, Language and Criticism (39 cr) take four required courses, and three courses in a specialized area of study. The department recommends that students take the four required courses early in their major studies, preferably soon after they have declared the major. The Literatures, Language and Criticism concentration is designed to provide students with exposure to a range of literary texts and traditions, as well as to a specific area of study in which to focus. The first two areas of study reflect particular national literatures, but the remaining four are designed with broader approaches to literary study in mind. With prior approval, a student may also work with an adviser to design her own area of study.

Creative Writing Concentration

The Concentration in Creative Writing (39 cr) is designed to provide students with an informed appreciation of the depth and breadth of literature written in English, as well as the opportunity to develop their own interests and skills in creative writing. Students concentrating in Creative Writing take four required courses in literature, and at least four creative writing workshops. The four literature requirements are: 1) ENGL 338; 2) ENGL 395, 396, or 397; 3) ENGL 318, 320, 321, 324, 325, or 327; and 4) ENGL 306, 331, 332, or 340. The first workshop for ALL students is the 3-genre workshop ENGL 300: Introduction to Creative Writing, which must be passed with a grade of B or higher in order to qualify for this concentration. After successfully completing ENGL 300, students are required to take a minimum of three additional workshops, beginning with the level-I workshop in the genre(s) in which they are interested: ENGL 308, 311, or 314. Students are required to take at least one level-II workshop (ENGL 309, 313, or 316) after completing the level-I workshop in that genre. Students may also take one of the Special topics genre workshops (ENGL 484) after completing both 300-level workshops in that genre. The remaining two courses for the major are electives and may be chosen from any of the department’s 300-or 400-level courses, including, if the student is eligible, one of the Honors Seminars (ENGL 494). In special cases, full-time faculty may find it appropriate to supervise a student who is interested in taking on an individual creative project; this option is listed in the catalogue, and in semester-by-semester class postings, as ENGL 485: Independent Tutorial Study. Successful completion of such a course may also, if arranged beforehand, qualify as an Honors course.

English Language Arts Concentration

The Concentration in English Language Arts (39 cr.) is designed to provide students with experience in the study of literature, language, rhetoric, and writing. While it is designed and intended primarily for prospective elementary school teachers, the concentration is open to all students. Students take four required literature courses, two required courses in language and/or rhetoric, and two required courses in writing. The remaining two courses are electives and may be chosen from among the following: any of the English department’s 300- or 400-level literature courses, including, if the student is eligible, one of the Honors seminars (ENGL 494); any of the 300-level Creative Writing workshops for which the student has met the prerequisite(s); any 300- or 400-level courses in linguistics or literatures taught in English in other departments for which the student meets that department’s prerequisite(s); and selected Theatre courses (160, 161, 321, 376, 377, 378) for which the student meets that department’s prerequisite(s). The English department strongly recommends that students choose at least one Language, Writing, or Modern/Contemporary Literature elective course.

Concentration in Preparation for Secondary School Teaching

The Concentration in English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching (39 cr) is designed to prepare students to teach English in grades 7-12 by providing a foundation in British, American, and Multi-Ethnic literatures, as well as writing and language studies. Students choosing this concentration take 18 credits of required literature courses, 6 credits of required writing courses, a 3-credit language course, and one elective chosen from among 300- and 400-level courses offered by the Department. When taken together with the requirements for the Secondary Education minor of the School of Education, this program meets initial certification requirements for New York State and New York City public schools. Students interested in the Education minor must apply to the School of Education for admission. Students who do not wish to pursue certification need not take the Secondary Education minor. Eligible English: Preparation for Secondary School Teaching majors may pursue English Departmental Honors by taking ENGL 49400 - Honors Seminar: Special Studies.

Concentration in Linguistics and Rhetoric

The Concentration in Linguistics and Rhetoric is designed to provide students with a comprehensive course of study in the structures, uses, and ideologies of discourse in various types of texts, genres, and domains: from everyday talk to persuasive writing. Students will gain a complex understanding of spoken and written discourse by comparing a wide range of philosophical underpinnings, theoretical perspectives, and methodological approaches. This concentration is particularly suited for students who are interested in graduate study in Linguistics, Rhetoric, Applied Linguistics, and Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL).

Note: The English Department strongly recommends that students take at least one modern or contemporary literature course.
Honors

In order to qualify for departmental honors, students must take the Honors Seminar (ENGL 49400) and write an honors essay. The essay is normally written in relation to the Honors Seminar and under the supervision of the professor teaching the seminar. To take the Honors Seminar, students must first complete at least 24 credits of 300- and/or 400-level English classes with a GPA of at least 3.5 in those courses and an overall GPA of at least 2.8. Of those credits, 21 (or in exceptional cases, 18) must be taken at Hunter. The Honors Seminar requirement is in addition to the specified required courses in the student’s concentration. Students interested in pursuing departmental honors should consult an undergraduate adviser. Please see the college rules on Academic Honors for more information in Academic Programs and Policies.

Minor in English

The English Department offers a 12-credit minor that provides students with an opportunity to pursue interests in literature, language, rhetoric, composition, and creative writing at the intermediate and advanced levels. Students may declare the Minor only after completing ENGL 22000 - Introduction to Writing about Literature (W), the prerequisite for all English courses above the 220 level. Students minoring in English may choose four courses (12 cr.) from among 200- and 300-level literature, language, rhetoric, or writing offerings, with a minimum of two 300-level courses necessary to satisfy the Minor requirements. Students who wish to take Creative Writing workshops in any of the three genres offered (Fiction, Poetry, and Creative Non-Fiction) must first pass ENGL 30000 - Introduction to Creative Writing, with a minimum grade of B.

Note:

NOTE: English 22000 does not count towards fulfillment of the Minor. ENGL 21800 - Advanced Expository Writing, may be used towards fulfillment of the Minor requirements, but ENGL 20100 - Intermediate Expository Writing Using Small-Group Methods, may not. English minors may not take 400-level courses.

Undergraduate Minor

Minor in English
The English Department offers a 12-credit minor that provides students with an opportunity to pursue interests in literature, language, rhetoric, composition, and creative writing at the intermediate and advanced levels. The prerequisite to declare a minor is ENGL 22000 - Introduction to Writing about Literature (W). ENGL 34700 - Language and Ethnicity

Pluralism and Diversity
GER Pluralism & Diversity Group B
This course explores the relationship between language and ethnicity with a primary focus on the United States. It examines how language is used in the construction of ethnic identities, and how ideologies about ethnicity influence the ways in which people use language. It is centered on class discussion of social scientific research that closely analyzes how ethnicity is performed in discursive interaction. The course investigates language use in relation to African American, Native American, U.S. Latino/a, Asian American, and European American identities, and covers topics, such as codeswitching, crossing, mocking, passing, interethnic communication, and language prejudice.

About the Department

The Hunter College Department of Film and Media Studies offers three degree programs in the production and critical analysis of film and media. We offer two undergraduate degrees—one in Film and one in Media Studies—and a graduate MFA Degree in Integrated Media Arts. Students are encouraged to develop a creative voice that is socially aware and engaged and can find expression across a range of contemporary media technologies.

Our curriculum is founded on the integration of theory and practice. Leading scholars in history, aesthetics, media policy, critical theory and alternative and international practices provide students with a broad base in analytical thinking. Courses deal with subjects such as the history and aesthetics of film, video, television and new media; genre studies; the history, production and distribution of print and broadcast news; media representations of race, class and gender; and the intricate relationships among the mass media, popular culture and society.

The department’s production courses encourage students to work creatively in a variety of existing and emerging media forms. Courses include narrative film production (including screenwriting and directing), documentary production, television production, journalism and emerging media (including web design and programming, interactive storytelling and game design). The department is distinguished by award-winning faculty who are active in their respective fields.

In addition to classroom activities, students earn general elective credits through internships in New York City’s vibrant media industries. Host institutions include film, television, radio, video and record companies; newspaper, magazine and book publishers; public relations and advertising agencies; museums and other non-profit organizations; and telecommunications and emerging media organizations.
Through its courses and extracurricular activities, the Hunter College Department of Film and Media Studies is injecting new creative voices into the public sphere by educating a diverse community of creative minds.

Hunter Core Requirement

Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

In the case of the Film major, the course that meets CCC is:
BA in Film

Credits required for the major 30-36

Foundational Courses (for students without background in the field) up to 6

Major in Film 30

  Analytic Course Requirements (12)
  Production Course Requirements (12)
  Electives (6)

Total for students without background in field 36

Major in Film (30 cr)

30 credits, combined total: 12 credits analytical, 12 credits production and 6 credits electives from analytical and/or production courses.

Students must receive a grade of B or better in FILM 10100 to declare a major in film. The major must be declared in person with an undergraduate film adviser (call (212) 772-4949 to schedule). The student must bring his or her transcript, and, where relevant, transcripts from other colleges attended, when meeting with the undergraduate film adviser to declare a film major. Students majoring in film must also take FILMP 16000/MEDP 16000 which is prerequisite for all film production courses. FILM 10100 and FILMP 16000/MEDP 16000 do not count towards the major. A maximum of 6 credits in MEDIA courses at the 200 or 300 level may be applied toward the major in film. Students must meet any prerequisites for these courses. Courses at the 100 level, independent study, and internship courses do not count toward the major. Students must see a program adviser to plan choice and sequence of courses.

Media Studies - BA

Hunter Core Requirement

Courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Major (36 cr)

Students must receive a grade of B or better in MEDIA 18000 to declare a major in Media Studies. The major must be declared in person with an undergraduate media studies adviser (call (212) 772-4949 to schedule).

Students will be able to do a

Media Studies BA: General Media Studies Major

but may choose one of the concentrations in the major. These concentrations are

- Media Studies BA: Concentration in Media Analysis and Criticism
- Media Studies BA: Concentration in Documentary and Television Production
- Media Studies BA: Concentration in Journalism
- Media Studies BA: Emerging Media

However, these concentrations are optional; as long as they satisfy the General Media Studies Major requirements, students may combine courses from different concentrations.

Students majoring in Media Studies must take the following introductory courses. These courses count toward the major.

- MEDIA 18000
- FILMP 15000/MEDP 15000
- FILMP 16000/MEDP 16000

A maximum of 6 credits in FILM or FILMP courses at the 200- or 300-level may be applied toward the major in media studies. Students must meet any prerequisites for these courses. Courses in Independent Study, Honors Project, and Internship do not count toward the major. Students must consult a program adviser to plan choice and sequence of courses.
Double Majors

Students may choose to complete a major in the Department of Film and Media Studies and a second major in another department. A student cannot declare a double major in film and media studies. Because of the intensive nature of the production courses in both Film and Media Studies, it is strongly recommended that all students take no more than two production courses per semester.

Minor in Media Studies

The Minor in Media Studies consists of five courses for a total of 15 credits. At least one 200-level course and at least one 300-level course are required. The other three courses can be at any level. Course prerequisites must be satisfied. Internships and independent studies do not count towards the minor. Courses may be taken as either MEDIA or MEDP.

Honors

To qualify for departmental honors in Film or Media Studies, a student must have a 3.5 grade point average in major courses and a 3.0 grade point average overall. The student must also either complete an Honors Project FILM 40200 or MEDIA 40200, approved by the Department Policy and Curriculum Committee, with a grade of A; or a 400-level production or analytical seminar course with a grade of A. See the department for more information.

Media Studies BA: Concentration in Documentary and Television Production

This concentration is intended to give students foundational knowledge in the theory and practice of linear non-fiction video and related digital media skills. Students in this concentration will also specialize in one of three advanced areas: Documentary Production, Experimental Media Production or Studio Television Production.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

MEDIA 36300 - Concepts in Gaming

This analytical seminar examines gaming through the study of the history of games, the role of narrative and language in games, game structures, interaction paradigms, rule-creation, and theories of play. It familiarizes students with important approaches to games and play developed by both the art world and popular culture during the 19th and 20th centuries. Students will be encouraged to play with these approaches in their written assignments. Each week we read, discuss, and study games to explore possibilities of gaming elements within media arts, artistic practice, and performance. A game is itself a language, and it is this language we seek to understand. This course explores all kinds of games, from artists' games to common children's games. Students examine historical and contemporary artist's projects, including dance, installation, computer games, and performance, as well as look at the game as a tool for abstraction, storytelling, and activism.

prereq: MEDP 20100
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 24000 - Effective Speechmaking

Development of skills in speechmaking and media presentation.

prereq: MEDIA 18000
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 25000 - Digital Design and Usability

This course introduces students to the fundamentals of 2D design and interaction design for digital media. The class approaches the subject from a creative and conceptual perspective. Students choose which digital production tools are most effective to address specific creative design problems.

prereq: MEDP/FILMP 15000
3 hrs.
3 cr.

MEDP 26000 - Introduction to 2D Animation

This hands-on class is an introduction to animation using 2D digital tools. Historical precursors to digital animation including experimental and animated film as well as contemporary animation will be screened. Class time will consist of screenings, in-class demonstration, production and critique.
prereq: MEDIA 18000, MEDP 15000, MEDP 16000
4 hrs.
3 cr.

MEDP 27500 - Desktop Publishing

An introduction to the aesthetics of print layout and design, using a computer.
prereq: MEDIA 18000
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 28100 - Documentary Video Production 1

Students learn the camera, lighting, sound, editing and directing skills necessary to create documentary and other forms of linear non-fiction media.
Material Fee: $20
prereq: MEDP/FILMP 16000
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 28200 - Studio Television Production

Elements of multi-camera studio production.

prereq: MEDP/FILMP 15000

coreq: MEDP/FILMP 16000 (or MEDIA/FILM 15100)
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 28300 - Electronic News Gathering

This workshop guides students through the research, writing, digital video production and digital editing of community television news stories.

prereq: MEDP 28100
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 28500 - Web Production I

An exploration of the production of Internet distributed media, primarily words and images distributed as Web pages, using HTML and image manipulation software.
prereq: MEDP/FILMP 15000 and MEDP 25000
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 28600 - Location Sound
Basic sound theory and production sound recording techniques, concentrating on microphones, field mixers and recording equipment, boom operation and on-set procedures.

cross-listed FILMP 28600

prereq: FILMP 25100 or MEDP 28100

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 29000 - Developing the Documentary (W)

This workshop guides students through the research, writing and production planning essential for eating a video or film documentary.

prereq: MEDIA 18000 and MEDP 16000

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 29400 - Magazine Writing (W)

This course prepares students for publishing articles in magazines, feature sections of newspapers and online Internet publications by developing writing portfolios and studying the workings of the publishing industry.

prereq: MEDP 20100

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 29500 - Online Journalism (W)

Evaluating and employing the Internet as a source of information for journalists, as a subject of journalistic coverage and as a new form of newspaper publication.

prereq: MEDP 20100

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 29600 - Feature Writing (W)

A course on advanced feature writing media taught periodically, with topic listed in Schedule of Classes.

prereq: MEDP 20100

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 31000 - Advanced TV Studio Production

An advanced multi-camera television studio workshop and a continuation of Studio Television Production.

prereq: MEDP 28100, 28200

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 31100 - Documentary Video Production 2
Exploration of the aesthetics and practice of documentary form that provides students with an in-depth and hands-on understanding of preproduction and production of documentary video.

Material Fee: $20

prereq: MEDP 28100 or FILMP 35200

prereq or coreq: MEDIA 18000 is a prerequisite for all 200-, 300-, and 400-level MEDIA and MEDP courses.

4 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 31200 - Advanced Documentary Digital Editing

The aesthetic and technical considerations in editing the documentary video using digital equipment.

Material Fee: $20

prereq: MEDP 31100 or perm instr.

4 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 31600 - Experimental Production

Experimental methods of film and video production, emphasizing innovative and non-traditional formal and conceptual practice.

prereq: FILM 25100 or MEDP 28100 or perm. instr.

3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 33100 - Web Production II

An exploration of the production of Internet-distributed media, especially animation, sound, and video, using GIF Animation, Flash, and sound tools.

prereq: MEDP 28500

3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 34100 - Web Programming

Advanced programming skills for website design. Dynamic content development explored through state of the art programming languages for the creation of interactive web sites. Students will create web pages that utilize the most current techniques in web development. The curriculum in this class emphasizes an integrated and creative approach to web programming, including detailed instruction and practice in the technical aspects. It is designed to give students a basic introduction to the tools and techniques used by web programmers.

prereq: MEDP 28500

3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 34500 - Web Design Projects

A project-based class designed to give students the experience of solving practical problems in web production and to add to the advanced student's web design portfolio with a comprehensive project. Students will work independently and in teams on a large-scale collaborative project.

prereq: MEDP 33100 or perm instr.

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 34900 - Introduction to Physical Computing

This hands-on class is an introduction to electronics, circuit building and the programming of microcontrollers for the production of interactive creative works that may include installation and art objects.

prereq: MEDP 150, MEDP 160

MEDP 35000 - Workshop in Public Communication Graphics

In this studio workshop course, questions regarding the communicative powers of visual culture will be applied to the creation of advanced functional design projects.

prereq: MEDIA 18000, submission of creative portfolio of graphic work (posters, layouts, montages, three-dimensional objects, or packaging, etc.) for assessment, and perm instr.

4 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 35500 - Physical Computing: Interactive Installation

A hands-on course focusing on the current state of interactive media in a collaborative environment. Students will create projects integrating video, sound and text exploring design concepts and using sensors for real-time interactivity.

Material Fee: $20

prereq: MEDIA 18000, MEDP 15000 and 16000, MEDP 28500

3 hrs

3 cr.

MEDP 36000 - 3D Animation and Modeling

This hands-on production course will examine essential concepts and practices that form the basis of 3D animation. While this course primarily focuses on the use of 3D animation for linear video output, we will also explore the possibilities of this digital framework for other media and expressive forms, such as print, graphic novels, film making, and net-based art.

prereq: MEDP 15000, MEDP 16000, MEDIA 18000, MEDP 25000, MEDP 28500

3 hrs.

3 cr.

MEDP 36500 - 3D Virtual Environments

This course is an introduction to skills and creative approaches for the development of computer-generated 3D interactive virtual environments. Students will develop 3D virtual environments using standard 3D game design techniques and technologies. This class approaches the subject from both a technical and creative perspective. It gives students an introduction to the tools and techniques used to design 3D computer games and how those processes may be applied to create artistically focused work.

prereq: MEDP 36000
3 hrs.
3 cr.

MEDP 37200 - Investigative Reporting (W)

Understanding and practicing journalism that explores significant social issues and injustices, using diverse sources developed through the enterprise of the reporter.

prereq: MEDP 20100
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 37700 - Neighborhood News (W)

An advanced reporting and writing class that will produce a community newspaper and on-line news outlet serving underserved neighborhoods. This class may be repeated once for credit.

prereq: MEDP 20100 or permission of instructor
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 38300 - Sound Design

Aesthetics of sound design with practical instruction in audio post-production technology.

prereq: FILMP 25100 or MEDP 28100 or perm. instr.
3 hours
3 credits

MEDP 39909 - Game Programming

An introduction to the practical and conceptual aspects of digital game creation. Students will have the opportunity to learn a variety of game-development tools and approaches, while exploring a variety of theoretical, social, and other aspects of modern game culture.

prereq: MEDP/FILMP 15000 and MEDP/FILMP 16000 MEDP 25000
coreq: MEDIA 36300
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 39950 - Motion Graphics

This course examines the design and use of computer animation and effects for digital video. The course emphasizes the use of motion graphics to animate and render typography, effects and the compositing of distinct visual assets as well as its function within a greater narrative.

prereq: MEDP/FILMP 15000 and MEDP/FILMP 16000 and MEDP 25000
3 hrs
3 cr.
MEDP 45100 - Film and Video Production Seminar

Individual student films produced under faculty supervision. May be taken twice for credit. Material fee $20

3 hrs
3 cr.

Film and Media: Media—Special Topics, Honors and Advanced Studies

MEDIA 29853 - The Horror Film

GER
3/A

A historically informed exploration of the international horror film genre in cultural context. Includes a consideration of filmic conventions, marketing practices, and audience reception. We will explore cultural fears, and how art and industry manage to express and profit from those fears.

prereq: MEDIA 18000 or FILM 10100

3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDIA 29900 - Special Topics in Media Studies

GER
3/A

Taught periodically, with topic listed in Schedule of Classes.

prereq: MEDIA 18000, others variable

3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDIA 39900 - Special Issues in Media Studies

GER
3/A

Taught periodically, with topic listed in Schedule of Classes.

prereq: MEDIA 18000, others variable

3 cr.

MEDIA 40100 - Independent Research

Directed research or creative endeavor.
Material Fee: $20

prereq: 2 advanced level courses, perm dept.
1-6 hrs
1 cr. per hr.

MEDIA 40200 - Honors Project

Open to Jr/Sr only. Students must present a proposal for an individual project to be completed under faculty supervision. Successful completion qualifies student for departmental honors at graduation.

prereq: 3 advanced-level courses; 3.0 GPA and 3.5 major GPA; perm dept.

3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDIA 49800 - Internship

Opportunity to gain professional experience.

prereq: MEDIA 18000 and 2 other MEDIA or MEDP courses or equiv; perm dept and host institution
1-6 cr, 40 working hrs per cr.

MEDIA 49900 - Advanced Seminar

Readings, discussion, and papers on significant problems in fields of media studies.

prereq: perm instr.

3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 29900 - Special Topics in Media Practice

A course on media practice taught periodically, with topic listed in Schedule of Classes.

prereq: MEDIA 18000 and other prerequisites varying according to topic offered
3 hrs
3 cr.

MEDP 39900 - Special Topics in Advanced Media Production

Programs and Courses in Geography

Geography

About the Department
The department offers concentrations in urban geography; population/immigration/ethnicity; geographic information science; sustainability; earth systems science; environmental policy; and social studies and environmental education. Courses in all of these fields are valuable parts of a general liberal education, developing an awareness of earth phenomena and the role these play in people's lives. Through integration of content knowledge, applied skills, and internships, our graduates are prepared for both graduate study and immediate employment in the public, private, and non-profit sectors.

Undergraduates can major in geography, environmental studies, or select options within the geography major that prepare them for temporary certification in New York State to teach social studies at grades K-12; and they may minor in geography, environmental studies or geology. The interdisciplinary major in environmental studies allows students to focus on environmental policy and management or earth systems science. Students may also complete a five-year combined BA/MA program in Environmental Studies and Adolescent Education-Earth Science. This accelerated program is designed for highly qualified environmental studies majors who, by their sophomore year, decide to pursue a career in teaching earth science. In addition to comprehensive programs in residence, the department offers field courses in geography and environmental science in Hawaii, Argentina and the Catskill Mountains.

Revisions in the curricula within the Department of Geography that are currently under way may involve modifications in various requirements. Please consult with the department office for up-to-date information and requirements.

Foundational Courses

Foundational Courses must be completed before embarking upon the major. Students with appropriate background may be exempted from some or all Foundational Courses. See department for proper placement.

MATH 12500 (STEM) - Precalculus

Hunter Core
Math/Quantitative Reasoning
GER
1/B

Functions and their graphs: polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions; conic sections; topics in trigonometry; graphical and analytical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities. Not credited to students who have completed MATH 15000 or its equivalent.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam

4 hrs
4 cr.

MATH 12600 - Precalculus Technology Laboratory
Students are introduced to MATHEMATICA as a tool for exploring qualitative features of functions and solving pre-calculus problems: simplifying algebraic expressions, solving equations, plotting functions and curves, finding and approximating zeros and solving systems of equations. MATH 12600 cannot be taken for credit after a student has passed MATH 15000. Students who have passed MATH 15000 should register for MATH 15400 to satisfy the symbolic proficiency requirement.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500

2 hrs
1 cr.

GEOL 10100 - Introductory Geology Lab

Hunter Core
Life & Physical Sciences

GER
2/E

Hands-on study of science, scientific method, scientific language and thought, regarding the earth, earth materials and the major geologic processes that continuously shape and reshape our dynamic planet surface. Guided study of minerals and rocks, geological structures, and the sequence of geologic events.

3 hrs lab
3 cr.

-or-

PGEOG 13000 (STEM) - Weather and Climate

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

GER
2/E

Offers a basic understanding of how weather systems form, why certain regions have particular types of weather patterns, and what is known about climatic fluctuations across the globe. This includes an understanding of the basic physical principals that determine: how hot or cold a particular location is; how seasonal cycles vary in different parts of the world; and the types and amounts of precipitation. Students learn to analyze several types of weather maps and acquire a basic understanding of central issues related to global climate change, one of the most significant environmental issues of our time.

Material Fee: $ 5

5 hrs (3 lec, 2 lab)
4 cr.

Offered in the Fall and Spring

* these courses are prerequisites to PGEOG 25000. Either of these courses, or GEOG 22600 is acceptable.

Hunter Core Requirement Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

Major- 40 credits

Required courses - 22 credits (including Capstone)
CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding.
Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair

5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)

4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.

Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400

6 hrs

3 cr.

GEOG 22600 - Environmental Conservation: Resource Management

GER
2/B

Introduces students to environmental studies with a focus on policy and management of resources. The course will examine issues pertaining to sustaining our resource base (biodiversity, food, soil, water and energy), a review of factors influencing sustainable use, and how humans have impacted these key elements of the natural system.
PGEOG 25000 - Earth System Science I

GER
3/B

In this course students learn to think of Earth as a system of several components that interact with each other, sometimes in very complicated ways. The components of the Earth system that will be considered include the atmosphere, the hydrosphere, the lithosphere, and the biosphere. While each of these components can, and should, be studied in more detail in separate courses, here the focus is on interactions between them.

prereq: at least one 100-level science course or perm instr.
prereq or coreq: GEOL 10100 or PGEOG 13000 or GEOG 22600 or perm instr.

4 hrs
3.5 cr.

PGEOG 25100 - Earth System Science II

GER
3/B

The second part of a two-course sequence, students continue the objectives of PGEOG 25000, and learn about our planet as a system of interacting components, including the atmosphere, hydrosphere, lithosphere, and biosphere. This course focuses primarily on the biosphere, paleoclimates, and the Arctic climate system.

prereq: PGEO 25000 or perm instr.

4 hrs
3.5 cr.

Required Capstone Course - 3 credits

PGEOG 49000 - Honors in Environmental Studies

Open to upper Jr/Sr environmental studies majors only. Individual research to be carried out under faculty guidance. Results may be embodied in an honors essay or equivalent.

prereq: perm dept.

-or-

PGEOG 49800 - Internship in Environmental Studies

Open to qualified environmental studies majors and minors, upper Jr/Sr only. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit. See environmental studies faculty adviser.

1-4 cr.

Electives - 18 credits

A minimum of 18 credits from the list below. 12 credits must be taken at the 300-level or higher. Electives are not counted towards the minor requirements.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students take STAT 11300 - Elementary Probability and Statistics.
GEOL 20500 - Environmental Geology

GER
3/B

As human populations continue to grow, resource depletion and hazards will become more severe. Many decisions concerning the use of resources, such as water, soil, minerals, energy and space to live, will determine our standard of living and the quality of the environment. Scientific knowledge, combined with human values, will dictate these decisions. This course examines not only the way geological processes operate and impact society, but also how the earth system responds to human activity. The difficult problems associated with extracting enormous quantities of resources needed to sustain modern societies will be discussed. The course will also address ways humans can minimize the risks associated with hazardous earth processes. Quantitative analysis of selected topics will be introduced to provide a deeper understanding of the complexity of today’s environmental issues.

prereq: GEOL 10100
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOL 28000 - Marine Geology

GER
3/B

Marine Geology is the study of the seafloor. This course attempts to answer the questions “what?” “where?” “when?” and more importantly “how?” in order to better understand the processes that shape the ocean basins and determine the structure and composition of the oceanic crust. The main patterns of sediment distribution in the ocean basins and how sediments preserve a record of past climatic and sea-level changes will be explored. In addition, the role of fluids in ocean sediments and the oceanic crust will be examined. The seafloor sediments will be studied with a focus on their role in marine biogeochemical cycles.

prereq: GEOL 10200 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.
Fall

GEOL 38000 - Advanced Oceanography: Chemistry and Physics of the Oceans

GER
3/B

The oceans play a significant role in how the climate system responds to anthropogenic perturbations. To understand past, present and future climate, students need to know and understand the world ocean. Oceanography is multidisciplinary. It offers an opportunity to review and to apply many of the concepts taught in the major traditional disciplines of physics, chemistry, biology and mathematics. This course will offer an in-depth tour of the complex study of oceanography and an introduction to quantitative methods in oceanography using Matlab. This science-based course requires students to learn and understand, and be willing to work with, physical and quantitative concepts. Students must be prepared to learn the basics of computer scripting/programming syntax and logic, one of the major skills to be acquired in this course.

prereq: one sem CHEM or PHYS, MATH 15000 or equiv.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOL 38300 - Special Topics in Geology and Oceanography
Intensive courses in various aspects of geology or oceanography. Topics to be announced.

prereq: 200-level course of which special topic is logical outgrowth; perm instr.
1-4 hrs (lec or lec/lab)
1-3 cr.

GTECH 20100 - Introduction to Geographic Information Science

Introduces the means by which geographers analyze the world to better understand geography and geographical processes. It offers an introduction to various methods for interpreting and analyzing spatial data including, cartography, GIS, remote sensing, spatial statistics and survey research.

Material Fee: $15
prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 and MATH 10100 or equiv or perm instr.
6 hrs (2 lec, 4 lab)
4 cr.
Offered fall and spring

GTECH 32100 - Remote Sensing of the Environment

Focuses on use of satellite images to study the environment and the physical processes involved in remote sensing to better understand the nature and properties of electromagnetic radiation and how it interacts with the atmosphere and the Earth’s surface and a wide variety of satellite sensors. These sensors make measurements in the optical, thermal and microwave electromagnetic spectrums and are used to study issues related to global environmental science and natural resource management. The course includes heavy lab components which will include practical assignments, field exercises, computer-based analysis of remotely-sensed images and the use of image processing software (ENVI) to analyze satellite images. Field measurements will be made in Central Park to facilitate better understanding satellite measurements.

Material Fee: $15
prereq: GTEC 32000 or perm instr.
4 hrs (2 lec, 2 lab)
3 cr.

GTECH 36100 - GIS Analysis

Advanced principles and operation of GIS, including 3-D, network and field representations and their respective analysis functions. Development of geoprocessing workflows. Geographic information science approaches to geo-spatially relevant methods, including geophysical, landscape ecological, econometric, epidemiological, and regional science.

Material Fee: $15
prereq: GTECH 20100
4 hrs (2 lec, 2 lab)
3 cr.

PGEOG 31300 - Biogeography

GER

3/B
Provides an understanding of the geographic distribution and temporal variability of biological diversity over the face of the Earth and the biotic and abiotic factors and processes underlying these patterns and dynamics. Completion of PGEOG 25000/25100 and GTECH 37300 prior to enrollment is strongly recommended.

*prereq: PGEOG 13000, GEOG 10100 or BIOL 10000/10200
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 33200 - Introduction to Hydrology

GER
3/B

Designed to provide the basic understanding of how water on the Earth moves, distributes, circulates and interacts with the environment. Focus will be on hydrological processes including precipitation, evapotranspiration (evaporation and transpiration), soil water, ground water, and runoff, which form the complete water cycle at global, regional and watershed scales. The course will also cover some topics on how water responds to environmental changes and strategies of integrated water resources.

*prereq: GEOL 10100, PGEO 13000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 33500 - Urban and Metropolitan Coasts

GER
3/B

A systematic study of the natural and anthropogenic processes on urban coastal environments. Special emphasis on the coastline of the NY metropolitan area, with examples from coastal cities worldwide.

*prereq or coreq: Prereq: GEOL 10100 or GEOG 10100
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 36100 - Global Climatic Change

GER
3/B

Open to Jr/Sr only. An intensive introduction to the study of climate change with emphasis on modern climate change, anthropogenic forcing and measured and predicted consequences of this forcing. Students will develop an understanding of natural climate forcing, natural variability and feedbacks in the climate system while concurrently studying the Earth’s climate history, and modern climate change.

*prereq: PGEO 13000 or GEOL 10100 or 10500
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 36300 - Environmental Hazards

GER
3/B
The course, in response to actual and potential hazards, either natural or anthropogenic in origin, will investigate the processes that link fundamental social development to environmental processes that are influenced by human activities. Natural hazards, in many cases, augment the environmental fragility of our society and the consideration of environmental hazards needs to be incorporated into management of climate variability, storms, droughts, floods, earthquakes, etc. An aim is to seek preventive measures and find solutions to act on environmental hazards on national and international levels.

GEOL 10100 - Introductory Geology Lab

Hunter Core

Life & Physical Sciences

GER

2/E

Hands-on study of science, scientific method, scientific language and thought, regarding the earth, earth materials and the major geologic processes that continuously shape and reshape our dynamic planet surface. Guided study of minerals and rocks, geological structures, and the sequence of geologic events.

3 hrs lab

3 cr.

PGEOG 13000 (STEM) - Weather and Climate

Hunter Core

Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)

GER

2/E

Offers a basic understanding of how weather systems form, why certain regions have particular types of weather patterns, and what is known about climatic fluctuations across the globe. This includes an understanding of the basic physical principals that determine: how hot or cold a particular location is; how seasonal cycles vary in different parts of the world; and the types and amounts of precipitation. Students learn to analyze several types of weather maps and acquire a basic understanding of central issues related to global climate change, one of the most significant environmental issues of our time.

Offered in the Fall and Spring

* these courses are prerequisites to PGEOG 25000. Either of these courses, or GEOG 22600 is acceptable.

Hunter Core Requirement Courses leading to (foundational) or within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCC], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

Major

Required courses - 22 credits (including Capstone)
CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium. Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E

Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory. Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400
6 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 22600 - Environmental Conservation: Resource Management

GER
2/B

Introduces students to environmental studies with a focus on policy and management of resources. The course will examine issues pertaining to sustaining our resource base (biodiversity, food, soil, water and energy), a review of factors influencing sustainable use, and how humans have impacted these key elements of the natural system.
PGEOG 25000 - Earth System Science I

GER
3/B

In this course students learn to think of Earth as a system of several components that interact with each other, sometimes in very complicated ways. The components of the Earth system that will be considered include the atmosphere, the hydrosphere, the lithosphere, and the biosphere. While each of these components can, and should, be studied in more detail in separate courses, here the focus is on interactions between them.

prereq: at least one 100-level science course or perm instr.
prereq or coreq: GEOL 10100 or PGEOG 13000 or GEOG 22600 or perm instr.
4 hrs
3.5 cr.

PGEOG 25100 - Earth System Science II

GER
3/B

The second part of a two-course sequence, students continue the objectives of PGEOG 25000, and learn about our planet as a system of interacting components, including the atmosphere, hydrosphere, lithosphere, and biosphere. This course focuses primarily on the biosphere, paleoclimates, and the Arctic climate system.

prereq: PGEO 25000 or perm instr.
4 hrs
3.5 cr.

Required Capstone Course - 3 credits

PGEOG 49000 - Honors in Environmental Studies

Open to upper Jr/Sr environmental studies majors only. Individual research to be carried out under faculty guidance. Results may be embodied in an honors essay or equivalent.

prereq: perm dept.
-or-

PGEOG 49800 - Internship in Environmental Studies

Open to qualified environmental studies majors and minors, upper Jr/Sr only. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit. See environmental studies faculty adviser.

1-4 cr.

Electives - 18 credits

A minimum of 18 credits from the list of courses below. 12 credits must be taken at the 300-level or higher. Elective are not counted towards the minor requirements. Courses not listed may be included in a student’s concentration with permission of the ES adviser.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students take STAT 11300 Probability and Statistics.
COMHE 32500 - Environmental Public Health

Impact of environmental problems associated with urbanization, e.g., water quality, air and noise pollution, waste disposal and radiation hazards.

prereq: acceptance to the COMHE major, or permission of the instructor
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 24100 - Population Geography

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B or C
GER
3/B

Course will explore several critical issues such as the relationship between population growth and development; immigration and internal migration; how age, race and gender affect other demographic processes; and how and why these processes vary around the world. Additionally, students will examine the “mechanics” of computing population growth and change as well as different ways to visually display measures of population. Offered fall and spring.

prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 32800 - Urban Environmental Problems: Evaluations and Solutions

GER
3/B

Open to Jr/Sr only. The special environmental problems of urban and metropolitan areas will be studied, including water supplies, waste management, environmental impact and waterfront use. Natural physical processes, methodologies and techniques will be reviewed and applied to decision making. Transportation fee for field work may be required.

prereq: GEOG 101 or GEOG 150 or URBS 101 and Jr/Sr standing
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 33500 - International Pollution Issues

GER
3/B

A study of international trans-boundary pollution and the science, source terms, transport pathways and international impacts of contamination events. The regional focus will change yearly pending current global environmental events.

prereq: GEOG 101 or GEOL 101 or PGEO 130 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 24300 - Urban Geography

GER
3/B
Open to Jr/Sr only. Spatial analysis of functions of metropolitan areas. Social and economic characteristics of cities and suburbs. Land use and transportation patterns.

prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr, Jr/Sr only

3 hrs

3 cr.

GEOG 37000 - Geography of Sustainable Development in Developing Countries

Pluralism and Diversity

PD/A

GER

3/B

Reviews the theories and approaches of international development. Themes include development theory, availability and distribution of resources, population growth, food production, water supply and forestry. The course will also highlight the development and environmental problems that challenge the achievement of sustainable development such as population growth, food and world economic crises, increasing number of the poor and climate change. The course will provide students with theory, methods, problems and analysis of factors that influence sustainable development in developing countries.

prereq: one of the following: GEOG 10100, 15000, 27000, 27100, 27500, 27700 or perm instr.

3 hrs

3 cr.

GEOG 37100 - Rural Water Supply in Developing Regions

Pluralism and Diversity

PD/A

GER

3/B

Covers concepts, methods and analysis of rural water utilization and related problems and challenges in developing countries. It will discuss water management and quality and their relationship with sanitation and hygiene education. The course will also discuss methods of providing drinking water in a sustainable manner.

prereq: GEOG 10100, 15000, 27000, 27100, 27500, 27700 or perm instr.

3 hrs

3 cr.

GEOL 20500 - Environmental Geology

GER

3/B

As human populations continue to grow, resource depletion and hazards will become more severe. Many decisions concerning the use of resources, such as water, soil, minerals, energy and space to live, will determine our standard of living and the quality of the environment. Scientific knowledge, combined with human values, will dictate these decisions. This course examines not only the way geological processes operate and impact society, but also how the earth system responds to human activity. The difficult problems associated with extracting enormous quantities of resources needed to sustain modern societies will be discussed. The course will also address ways humans can minimize the risks associated with hazardous earth processes. Quantitative analysis of selected topics will be introduced to provide a deeper understanding of the complexity of today’s environmental issues.
prereq: GEOL 10100
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOL 33400 - Coastal Geomorphology

GER
3/B
A study of the basic processes shaping the coast and the resulting form; surficial morphology and internal geometry of such forms as cliffs, dunes, beaches and near shore bars. Map exercise and a one-day field trip.
prereq: GEOL 23100 or PGEO 23100 or equiv. or perm dept.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOL 38300 - Special Topics in Geology and Oceanography

GER
3/B
Intensive courses in various aspects of geology or oceanography. Topics to be announced.
prereq: 200-level course of which special topic is logical outgrowth; perm instr.
1-4 hrs (lec or lec/lab)
1-3 cr.

GTECH 32100 - Remote Sensing of the Environment

Focuses on use of satellite images to study the environment and the physical processes involved in remote sensing to better understand the nature and properties of electromagnetic radiation and how it interacts with the atmosphere and the Earth’s surface and a wide variety of satellite sensors. These sensors make measurements in the optical, thermal and microwave electromagnetic spectrums and are used to study issues related to global environmental science and natural resource management. The course includes heavy lab components which will include practical assignments, field exercises, computer-based analysis of remotely-sensed images and the use of image processing software (ENVI) to analyze satellite images. Field measurements will be made in Central Park to facilitate better understanding satellite measurements.
Material Fee: $15
prereq: GTEC 32000 or perm instr.
4 hrs (2 lec, 2 lab)
3 cr.

GTECH 38500 - GIS Applications

Selected topics in GIS applications to human and physical geographic problems. See department for topics offered. May be repeated for credit as topics change.
Material Fee: $15
prereq: GTEC 20100 or equiv.
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 31300 - Biogeography
GER
3/B

Provides an understanding of the geographic distribution and temporal variability of biological diversity over the face of the Earth and the biotic and abiotic factors and processes underlying these patterns and dynamics. Completion of PGEOG 25000/25100 and GTECH 37300 prior to enrollment is strongly recommended.

prereq: PGEOG 13000, GEOG 10100 or BIOL 10000/10200
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 33500 - Urban and Metropolitan Coasts

GER
3/B

A systematic study of the natural and anthropogenic processes on urban coastal environments. Special emphasis on the coastline of the NY metropolitan area, with examples from coastal cities worldwide.

prereq or coreq: Prereq: GEOL 10100 or GEOG 10100
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 36100 - Global Climatic Change

GER
3/B

Open to Jr/Sr only. An intensive introduction to the study of climate change with emphasis on modern climate change, anthropogenic forcing and measured and predicted consequences of this forcing. Students will develop an understanding of natural climate forcing, natural variability and feedbacks in the climate system while concurrently studying the Earth’s climate history, and modern climate change.

prereq: PGEO 13000 or GEOL 10100 or 10500
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 36300 - Environmental Hazards

GER
3/B

The course, in response to actual and potential hazards, either natural or anthropogenic in origin, will investigate the processes that link fundamental social development to environmental processes that are influenced by human activities. Natural hazards, in many cases, augment the environmental fragility of our society and the consideration of environmental hazards needs to be incorporated into management of climate variability, storms, droughts, floods, earthquakes, etc. An aim is to seek preventive measures and find solutions to act on environmental hazards on national and international levels.

prereq: PGEO 13000 or equiv.
prereq or coreq: PGEOG 13000 or equiv.
3 hrs
3 cr.
PGEOG 38300 - Special Topics in Environmental Studies

GER

3/B

Open to Jr/Sr only. Topics to be announced.

1-4 hrs (lec or lec/lab)

1-3 cr.

POLSC 24400 - Energy and Environmental Politics and Public Policy (W)

GER

3/B

Examination of political processes and public policies shaping energy production and consumption in the U.S. with comparative reference to other countries. Emphasis on political, economic, social, environmental and foreign policy aspects.

prereq: ENGL 12000 or its equivalent

3 hrs

3 cr.

SOC 36100 - Development and Modernization (W)

Pluralism and Diversity

PD/A

GER

3/B

Examinations of models of social change with a special focus on developing countries.

prereq: SOC 10100

3 hrs

3 cr.

URBS 31000 - Methods of Urban Research and Policy Analysis

GER

3/B

Survey of research skills necessary for analysis of contemporary urban issues. Includes review of data sources, methods of forecasting, use of computer, and methods of information presentation.

prereq: URBS 10200 or perm instr.

3 hrs

3 cr.

URBS 40100 - Managing Urban Physical Environment

GER

3/B
Advanced study of the physical structure of cities which includes an analysis of zoning, land use, transportation, and the location of housing. The role of public and private agencies at local, state, and national levels in the planning and management of the physical environment is also considered.

prereq: URBS 20100 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

Environmental Studies - BA

The major offers two concentrations which are organized to promote an intensive understanding of contemporary physical science, specifically earth system science as it relates to environmental issues, and an intensive understanding of a system-based approach to the dynamic nature of human-environmental interactions particularly as manifest in contemporary politics and economics. The concentrations are Environmental Earth Science and Environmental Management and Policy. It is suggested that students select a concentration as they enter the major with the understanding that the choice is not final at this stage and students can switch concentrations as they advance in the program. To aid in this process, the curriculum offers a common core of required courses, as well as sufficient overlap within the required elective courses. It is strongly recommended that students considering this major meet with the adviser to discuss their interests and program of studies as courses may be added or deleted as the college’s and department’s offerings change. One or more courses not listed below may be included in a student’s concentration with the advice and consent of the adviser.

A. Environmental Earth Science Concentration
B. Environmental Management and Policy Concentration

Internships

Students can receive from one to four credits for internships in government agencies, consumer and activist groups, business and industry and media organizations involved in energy issues (e.g., Council on the Environment of NYC, Energy Task Force, NY State Assembly, Sierra Club, International Earthcare Center, NY State Department of Energy, Brooklyn Union Gas, NYC Department of Environmental Protection and the American Museum of Natural History).

Minor in Environmental Studies

A minor in environmental studies consists of a minimum of 12 credits as follows

one course selected from

PGEOG 13000 (STEM) - Weather and Climate

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

Offers a basic understanding of how weather systems form, why certain regions have particular types of weather patterns, and what is known about climatic fluctuations across the globe. This includes an understanding of the basic physical principals that determine: how hot or cold a particular location is; how seasonal cycles vary in different parts of the world; and the types and amounts of precipitation. Students learn to analyze several types of weather maps and acquire a basic understanding of central issues related to global climate change, one of the most significant environmental issues of our time.

Offered in the Fall and Spring

GEOL 10000 - Introductory to Geology

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

Introduction to Geology is the study of the physical aspects of our planet. The goal of this course is to provide students with a basic understanding of the forces continuously shaping the surface of our planet and the influence they have on our environment, so that their appreciation and interest in our planet is heightened. At the same time, this course provides a strong fundamental background for students who want to pursue more advanced geological and environmental studies courses.

3 hrs lec
3 cr.
Offered fall and spring.

GEOL 10500 - Introduction to Environmental Geoscience

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E (Non lab course)

Introduction to environmental geoscience focusing on aspects of global change and the interrelationship of earth systems. Review of the evolution of the earth from its origins to potential future developments; environmental problems and issues.

prereq: ENGL 12000

3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOL 18000 - Introduction to Oceanography

GER
2/E

Dynamic processes are responsible for the ocean’s influence on our environment and life cycles on earth. The course introduces students to the broad field of oceanography and specifically identifies areas which are of concern on both local and global scales. The origins of the oceans and life as it exists in today’s ocean will be covered. Lectures will include the sub-disciplines of biological, chemical, physical, and geological oceanography and concepts that relate to continental margins, ocean basins, sediments and seafloor spreading. Emphasis will be given to the interaction between the circulation of the atmosphere and ocean surface currents, deep ocean circulation, waves and tides. The coastal zone as a fragile environment will be highlighted in connection with dynamic physical and biological processes. No lab component.

3 hrs
Offered fall and spring.

GEOG 22600 - Environmental Conservation: Resource Management

GER
2/B

Introduces students to environmental studies with a focus on policy and management of resources. The course will examine issues pertaining to sustaining our resource base (biodiversity, food, soil, water and energy), a review of factors influencing sustainable use, and how humans have impacted these key elements of the natural system.

GEOL 28000 - Marine Geology

GER
3/B

Marine Geology is the study of the seafloor. This course attempts to answer the questions “what?”, “where?”, “when?” and more importantly “how?” in order to better understand the processes that shape the ocean basins and determine the structure and composition of the oceanic crust. The main patterns of sediment distribution in the ocean basins and how sediments preserve a record of past climatic and sea-level changes will be explored. In addition, the role of fluids in ocean sediments and the oceanic crust will be examined. The seafloor sediments will be studied with a focus on their role in marine biogeochemical cycles.

GTECH 20100 - Introduction to Geographic Information Science

Introduces the means by which geographers analyze the world to better understand geography and geographical processes. It offers an introduction to various methods for interpreting and analyzing spatial data including, cartography, GIS, remote sensing, spatial statistics and survey research.

Material Fee: $15
prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 and MATH 10100 or equiv or perm instr.

Field use of surveying equipment. Notebook and computer data collection relating to horizontal and vertical location on the landscape, including the use of global positioning systems. Field record-keeping and preliminary analysis of results. Fee for transportation, accommodations and food allowance required.

prereq: GTEC 20100, perm instr.
90 hrs of field/lab work (1 day lab, 10 days field)
3 cr.
Offered summer intersession (check with dept. in April).
Prerequisites may apply. It is recommended that prospective geology minors consult with an undergraduate adviser from the Department of Geography.

Additional Information

If after taking a number of geology courses at Hunter, a student wishes to concentrate in geology, it is recommended that the student transfer to a unit of CUNY offering a geology major or take courses on permit at other CUNY units as elective credits.

Preparation for Graduate Work in Teaching Earth Science

For students planning to pursue an MA degree for teachers of earth science, grades 7-12, it is recommended that they complete the following undergraduate work: a baccalaureate degree with a grade point average of 2.8 or better in their science courses and in their overall undergraduate work; a major of at least 30 credits in arts and sciences.

At least 21 credits in

- geology,
- physical geography,
- earth science or environmental science, including geographic techniques;
- general education core in the liberal arts and sciences that includes
  - 6 credits in English,
  - 6 credits in mathematics/technology,
  - 6 credits in social studies (to include at least one course in U.S. history or geography),
  - 6 credits in the arts and
  - 6 credits in a language other than English.

It is recommended, but not required, that the criteria above be satisfied using

- electives selected from GEOL, PGEOG and GTECH courses;
- a minor in geology;
- GER core requirement laboratory science chosen from
  - chemistry,
  - physics or
  - biology and
- GER core requirement non-laboratory science chosen from
  - astronomy,
  - oceanography,
  - statistics or mathematics.

For further information on the education requirements, students should see an adviser in the School of Education.

Honors Work and Individual Study

To graduate with departmental honors, a major in the geography or environmental studies program must be admitted to

GEOG 49000 - Honors in Geography

Upper Jr/Sr geography majors only. Individual research to be carried on under faculty guidance. Results must be embodied in an honors essay or equivalent.

Fieldwork

Several courses offer students an opportunity to study geography, geology and environmental situations in the field. They are usually offered during intersession periods, summer session or on weekends (consult Schedule of Classes). In addition to the regular field courses, special-topic field courses are offered periodically and fieldwork is conducted in connection with a number of the other courses. The department participates in the Study Abroad Program. It offers a field geography of selected world regions course (check with adviser for current location). An additional fee for transportation, lodging and food allowance is attached to these courses, depending on the focus of the course and its itinerary.

Graduate Study

Graduate-level courses may be taken for credit toward the bachelor’s degree by highly qualified seniors. Written permission must be obtained from the undergraduate and graduate advisers.

Intern Program

Internship provides opportunities for qualified majors and minors in both geography and environmental studies to work in positions of responsibility in professional institutions while earning from 1 to 4 academic credits. See a departmental adviser for details.

GEOG 49800 - Internship

Open to qualified geography majors and minors, upper Jr/Sr only. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit. See undergraduate adviser.

Geography - BA

The major in Geography is designed to prepare students to understand and respond to our world’s changing social and natural environments. The major consists of 43-45 credits—a 13-15 credit Common Core that includes a capstone project, and 30 credits in one of four tracks: Urban and Social Geography, Physical and Environmental Geography, Geographic Information Science, and Sustainability Studies. Students interested in temporary certification as a Social Studies-Childhood Education teacher should complete Track A: Urban and Social Geography and must apply for the QUEST Program through the School of Education before completing a total of 45 undergraduate credits.

To declare as a geography major, students must complete one of the following three courses (which are included in the major): GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or GEOL 10500. Completion of ENGL 12000 prior to declaring as a major is also strongly recommended since several advanced courses have ENGL 120 as a prerequisite. Students interested in the Geographic Information Science track are strongly encouraged to take STAT 11300 or STAT 21300 (STEM) since it is a prerequisite for GTECH 30100.

Note: Courses leading to this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core, Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement

Major in Geography (43-45 cr)

Students complete the Geography Core (13-15 credits), and select one of the four tracks (30 credits).

Geography Core 13-15 credits

GEOG 10100 - People and Their Environment

Hunter Core

Individual and Society - Social Science

GER

2/B

A broad overview of subjects and ideas in geography, possibly the most internally diverse of the social sciences. Covers the geographical aspects of topics including weather and climate, landforms, religions, food, cities, economics, culture, politics and much more. While students will be expected to understand the basics of each of the topics covered, the overarching emphasis will be on understanding the relationships among them. As such, the course builds from one topic to the next, ultimately stressing the sheer geographical complexity and wonder of modern life. Contemporary economic, political and social patterns and problems are discussed.

3 hrs

3 cr.

offered fall and spring.

-or-
GEOG 15000 - World Regional Geography

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A or D
GER
2/B

A survey of the world’s major regions. Geographic concepts and principles are used to study the physical, economic, social and political conditions and problems in the culturally diverse world. Spatial expression of culture; specialized behavior patterns; adaptations and way of life in distinct environments. Regional interdependence; implications for development.

prereq: ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.
Offered fall and spring

-or-

GEOL 10500 - Introduction to Environmental Geoscience

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E (Non lab course)

Introduction to environmental geoscience focusing on aspects of global change and the interrelationship of earth systems. Review of the evolution of the earth from its origins to potential future developments; environmental problems and issues.

prereq: ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.

PGEOG 13000 (STEM) - Weather and Climate

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

Offers a basic understanding of how weather systems form, why certain regions have particular types of weather patterns, and what is known about climatic fluctuations across the globe. This includes an understanding of the basic physical principals that determine: how hot or cold a particular location is; how seasonal cycles vary in different parts of the world; and the types and amounts of precipitation. Students learn to analyze several types of weather maps and acquire a basic understanding of central issues related to global climate change, one of the most significant environmental issues of our time.

Material Fee: $ 5
5 hrs (3 lec, 2 lab)
4 cr.
Offered in the Fall and Spring
or both

GEOL 10000 - Introductory to Geology
Introduction to Geology is the study of the physical aspects of our planet. The goal of this course is to provide students with a basic understanding of the forces continuously shaping the surface of our planet and the influence they have on our environment, so that their appreciation and interest in our planet is heightened. At the same time, this course provides a strong fundamental background for students who want to pursue more advanced geological and environmental studies courses.

3 hrs lec
3 cr.

Offered fall and spring.

GEOL 10100 - Introductory Geology Lab

Hands-on study of science, scientific method, scientific language and thought, regarding the earth, earth materials and the major geologic processes that continuously shape and reshape our dynamic planet surface. Guided study of minerals and rocks, geological structures, and the sequence of geologic events.

3 hrs lab
3 cr.

GTECH 10100 - Digital Earth

Digital Earth introduces students to the new suite of geospatial technologies and how they are being used to capture, store, process and display the vast amount of geospatial information about our planet, a wide variety of environmental and cultural phenomena, and how this information helps us to better understand natural and cultural characteristics of the world, address world problems, and make sound decisions. Students will learn how satellites take complete photographs of the entire planet, Geographic Information Systems (GIS) display geospatial data, Global Positioning Systems (GPS) track the location of environmental and cultural phenomena, Geovisualization tools map our 3-D planet, and how these technologies are applied to solve problems in diverse fields and phenomena in the physical and social sciences in exciting ways. The knowledge and skills learned in Digital Earth open the door toward a geotechnology-oriented career.

One Approved Capstone course from the following list (3 credits):

GEOG 48000 - Capstone in Urban and Social Geography

Individual or group research project as capstone experience in urban and social geography.

prereq: Senior standing as a geography major, approval of undergraduate adviser, and signed project contract with faculty sponsor.
PGEOG 48000 - Capstone in Physical Geography

Individual or group research project as capstone experience in physical and environmental geography.

prereq: Senior standing as a geography or environmental studies major, approval of undergraduate adviser, and signed project contract with faculty sponsor.

GTECH 48000 - Capstone in Geographic Information Science

Individual or group research project as capstone experience in geographic information science.

prereq: Senior standing, approval of undergraduate adviser, and signed project contract with faculty sponsor.

GEOG 49000 - Honors in Geography

Upper Jr/Sr geography majors only. Individual research to be carried on under faculty guidance. Results must be embodied in an honors essay or equivalent.

prereq: perm dept.

PGEOG 49000 - Honors in Environmental Studies

Open to upper Jr/Sr environmental studies majors only. Individual research to be carried out under faculty guidance. Results may be embodied in an honors essay or equivalent.

prereq: perm dept.

GTECH 49000 - Honors in Geographic Information Science

Open to qualified Track C geography majors.

prereq: Senior standing, a minimum GPA of 3.5 in the major, approval of undergraduate adviser, and signed project contract with faculty sponsor

GEOG 49800 - Internship

Open to qualified geography majors and minors, upper Jr/Sr only. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit. See undergraduate adviser.

1-4 cr.
PGEOG 49800 - Internship in Environmental Studies

Open to qualified environmental studies majors and minors, upper Jr/Sr only. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit. See environmental studies faculty adviser.

1-4 cr.

GTECH 49800 - Internship in Geographic Information Science

Open to qualified geography majors and minors. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit.

prereq: Senior standing, approval of undergraduate adviser, and signed project contract with faculty sponsor.

3 hrs

3 cr.

Note: To graduate with departmental honors, students must hold senior status, have a minimum GPA in the major of 3.5, and complete GEOG 49000 or PGEOG 49000 or GTECH 49000 as their capstone course.

Track A: Urban and Social Geography (30 credits)

5 courses from the list below (15 credits)

GEOG 22100 - Economic Geography and Globalization

GER
2/B

An introduction to the sub-discipline of economic geography, which will include an exploration of the history of both economics and geography, and a rigorous global approach to the subjects. Students will come to understand the history of the development of economic thought, leading up to, and transformed, by today’s crisis, as well as the particularly geographical nature of economic phenomena and processes, and the immense contributions geographers have made to the understanding of economics. Course focus is on the dominant form of global economic activity today, which is capitalistic, and the way this economic structure plays out through different geographies at different historical moments in time.

Not open to freshmen

prereq: GEOG 10100 or perm instr.

3 hrs

3 cr.

Offered fall and spring

GEOG 24100 - Population Geography

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B or C

GER
3/B

Course will explore several critical issues such as the relationship between population growth and development; immigration and internal migration; how age, race and gender affect other demographic processes; and how and why these processes vary around the world. Additionally, students will examine the “mechanics” of computing population growth and change as well as different ways to visually display measures of population. Offered fall and spring.
prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 24300 - Urban Geography
GER
3/B

Open to Jr/Sr only. Spatial analysis of functions of metropolitan areas. Social and economic characteristics of cities and suburbs. Land use and transportation patterns.

prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr, Jr/Sr only
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 24400 - Political Geography
GER
3/B

Political geography concerns the nature and consequences of human efforts to divide and control Earth. Major topics to be covered by this course include the origin and evolution of countries and their constituent political units; the defining and drawing of political boundaries; territorial conflicts and disputes; the impact of boundaries on personal and cultural identity; centripetal and centrifugal forces that encourage the success or failure of political units; jurisprudence, crime and punishment; electoral geography; war, piracy and terrorism; ownership of ocean floors and outer space; the environmental impacts of political power (zoning, incorporation, height restrictions, land tenure); and symbols of power in the landscape. Lectures and assignments will stress the relevanecy of political geography to issues that affect our everyday life.

prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 24700 - Cultural Geography
GER
3/B

This course provides an overview of the field of cultural geography. It will cover the basics as well as recent developments in social and cultural geographic theory. The main focus is to understand relationships between cultures and environments through geographical analyses of processes, landscapes, and identities.

Open to Jr/Sr only.
prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 25000 - Geographic Research Methods

Introduction to geographic theories and research methods, with a focus on social and cultural geographic research. Lectures, hands-on exercises, collaborative projects.
prereq: ENGL 12000 and a 100-level GEOG, PGEOG, GTECH, or GEOL course
3 hrs
3 cr.

GTECH 20100 - Introduction to Geographic Information Science

Introduces the means by which geographers analyze the world to better understand geography and geographical processes. It offers an introduction to various methods for interpreting and analyzing spatial data including, cartography, GIS, remote sensing, spatial statistics and survey research.

Material Fee: $15
prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 and MATH 10100 or equiv or perm instr.
6 hrs (2 lec, 4 lab)
4 cr.
Offered fall and spring

2 courses with a GEOG 30600 course number (6 credits)

GEOG 30600 - Special Topics in Contemporary Regional Geographies

Advanced topics in contemporary regional geographies and globalization. Topics will vary. Open to Jr/Sr only.

prereq: GEOG 15000 World Regional Geography or instructor permission
3 hrs
3 cr.

3 courses with a GEOG 30500, GEOG 38300, or GTECH 38500 course number (9 credits) with advice and approval of the undergraduate adviser as appropriate to student interests and professional goals

GEOG 30500 - Special Topics in Urban and Regional Dynamics

Advanced topics in urban geography. Topics will vary. Open to Jr/Sr only.

prereq: GEOG 24300 Urban Geography or instructor permission
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 38300 - Special Topics in Geography

GER
3/B

Open to Jr/Sr only. Topics to be announced.
prereq: GEOG 101, 200-level course of which special topic is logical outgrowth, perm instr.
1-4 hrs (lec or lec/lab)
1-3 cr

GTECH 38500 - GIS Applications
Selected topics in GIS applications to human and physical geographic problems. See department for topics offered. May be repeated for credit as topics change.

Material Fee: $15

prereq: GTEC 20100 or equiv.

3 hrs
3 cr.

Note: Most GEOG 30600 courses have GEOG 15000 or permission of instructor as a prerequisite. GEOG 30500 courses have GEOG 24300 or permission of instructor as a prerequisite. GTECH 38500 courses have GTECH 20100 as a prerequisite.

Track B: Physical and Environmental Geography (30 credits)

The following 15 credits

PGEOG 21200 - Geography of Soils and Vegetation

GER
3/B

PGEOG 25000 - Earth System Science I

GER
3/B

In this course students learn to think of Earth as a system of several components that interact with each other, sometimes in very complicated ways. The components of the Earth system that will be considered include the atmosphere, the hydrosphere, the lithosphere, and the biosphere. While each of these components can, and should, be studied in more detail in separate courses, here the focus is on interactions between them.

prereq: at least one 100-level science course or perm instr.

prereq or coreq: GEOL 10100 or PGEOG 13000 or GEOG 22600 or perm instr.

4 hrs
3.5 cr.

GEOL 23100 - Principles of Geomorphology

GER
2/E or 3/B

Investigates the geologic forces that shape the surface of the Earth. In the laboratory students will learn to analyze features of the landscape and deduce the processes that produced them. Students will use traditional laboratories as well as Google Earth to learn about a variety of surficial processes.

prereq: PGEO 13000 or GEOL 10100

4 hrs (2 lec, 2 lab)
3 cr.

GTECH 20100 - Introduction to Geographic Information Science

Introduces the means by which geographers analyze the world to better understand geography and geographical processes. It offers an introduction to various methods for interpreting and analyzing spatial data including, cartography, GIS, remote sensing, spatial statistics and survey research.
GTECH 20300 - Introduction to Remote Sensing

Introduces remote sensing image interpretation and a basic understanding of the use of remote sensing technology in the study of environmental issues and the monitoring of Earth systems. The first half of the course focuses on aerial photography, photogrammetry and image interpretation. The second half focuses on the use of remote sensing in Earth system sciences. Extensive lab exercises include practical assignments and computer-based analysis of remote sensing images. Students will learn basic image interpretation and some web-based image processing skills through various lab exercises.

Material Fee: $15
prereq: GTECH 20100
6 hrs (2 lec, 4 lab)
4 cr.
Offered fall and spring

Five 300-level courses with a PGEOG, GEOL, and/or GTECH prefix with advice and approval of the undergraduate advisor as appropriate to student interests and professional goals (15 credits)

Track C: Geographic Information Science (30 credits)

The following 15 credits:

GTECH 30100 - Quantitative Methods in Geography

Open to Jr/Sr only. Process of spatial analysis. Application of scientific methods to geographic research; sampling; distribution measurement; statistical analysis of spatial data.
prereq: GTEC 201, STAT 113 or 213 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GTECH 32100 - Remote Sensing of the Environment

Focuses on use of satellite images to study the environment and the physical processes involved in remote sensing to better understand the nature and properties of electromagnetic radiation and how it interacts with the atmosphere and the Earth’s surface and a wide variety of satellite sensors. These sensors make measurements in the optical, thermal and microwave electromagnetic spectrums and are used to study issues related to global environmental science and natural resource management. The course includes heavy lab components which will include practical assignments, field exercises, computer-based analysis of remotely-sensed images and the use of image processing software (ENVI) to analyze satellite images. Field measurements will be made in Central Park to facilitate better understanding satellite measurements.
Material Fee:$ 15
prereq: GTEC 32000 or perm instr.
GTECH 32200 - Digital Image Processing

Course emphasizes the acquisition and nature of digital image data and the tools required to process and analyze remotely sensed data. Topics include: image preprocessing, spectral mixture analysis, image transformation, image classification and accuracy assessment, change detection, information extraction from LIDAR and radar. At least one application for each image processing method will be introduced. This is an advanced remote sensing course. The course includes lab exercises through which students will obtain hands-on experience in digital image processing. The labs include practical assignments and computer-based analysis of remotely-sensed images, and also field work to evaluate the results. The lab will use ENVI, an image processing software, together with the comprehensive data analysis tool IDL.

prereq: GTEC 32100, and multivariate statistics, elementary linear algebra or perm instr.

GTECH 36100 - GIS Analysis

Advanced principles and operation of GIS, including 3-D, network and field representations and their respective analysis functions. Development of geoprocessing workflows. Geographic information science approaches to geospatially relevant methods, including geophysical, landscape ecological, econometric, epidemiological, and regional science.

Material Fee: $15

GTECH 38000 - Analytical and Computer Cartography

Introduces modern cartographic theory and conventions, but also provides significant introductory hands-on experience in map design using computer software, specifically ESRI’s ArcView GIS. The majority of topics covered in the course are divided into a lecture and laboratory section. Students are presented with fundamental design theories and principles associated with particular types of maps or related graphic materials in lectures, and then challenged to implement these principles in self-guided hands-on exercises utilizing the software. The course is intended to cover the basic principles of cartography as well as modern techniques which influence map design, presentation, and interpretation processes. Students will develop a series of hard copy maps, charts, and graphics as well as design materials for presentation through digital media.

Material Fee: $15

-2 additional 300-level GTECH courses with advice and approval of the undergraduate advisor as appropriate to student interests and professional goals-
Note: GTECH 30100 has GTECH 20100 and STAT 11300 or STAT 21300 as prerequisites. Selected GTECH 38500 courses have GEOG or PGEOG prerequisites in addition to GTECH 20100.

Track D: Sustainability Studies (30 credits)

Five courses from the list below (15 credits):

GEOG 22100 - Economic Geography and Globalization

GEOG 24500 - Geography of Development

Introduction to geographic concepts, methods, and theories of development, as well as failures and challenges for development in a changing world.

prereq: ENGL 12000, and GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or permission of instructor

3 hrs

3 cr.

GEOG 22600 - Environmental Conservation: Resource Management

GER

2/B

Introduces students to environmental studies with a focus on policy and management of resources. The course will examine issues pertaining to sustaining our resource base (biodiversity, food, soil, water and energy), a review of factors influencing sustainable use, and how humans have impacted these key elements of the natural system.

3 hrs

3 cr.

GEOG 24300 - Urban Geography
Open to Jr/Sr only. Spatial analysis of functions of metropolitan areas. Social and economic characteristics of cities and suburbs. Land use and transportation patterns.

prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr, Jr/Sr only

Offered fall and spring

WGSL 20017 - Globalization and Gender

Globalization has been the subject of intense debate within both academic and journalistic spheres. These debates have questioned whether globalization ‘works for the greater good or not.’ In this course we will examine globalization critically by looking at some of the academic debates. We will examine the claim that globalization has heralded the end of the nation-state, review the implications of globalization on gender and sexuality, and consider the formation of a ‘global middle class.’

prereq: WGS 10000 and ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.

The following 9 credits:
GEOG 38300 - Special Topics in Geography

GER
3/B

Open to Jr/Sr only. Topics to be announced.

GEOG 37000 - Geography of Sustainable Development in Developing Countries

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
3/B

Reviews the theories and approaches of international development. Themes include development theory, availability and distribution of resources, population growth, food production, water supply and forestry. The course will also highlight the development and environmental problems that challenge the achievement of sustainable development such as population growth, food and world economic crises, increasing number of the poor and climate change. The course will provide students with theory, methods, problems and analysis of factors that influence sustainable development in developing countries.
prereq: one of the following: GEOG 10100, 15000, 27000, 27100, 27500, 27700 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 37100 - Rural Water Supply in Developing Regions

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
3/B

Covers concepts, methods and analysis of rural water utilization and related problems and challenges in developing countries. It will discuss water management and quality and their relationship with sanitation and hygiene education. The course will also discuss methods of providing drinking water in a sustainable manner.
prereq: GEOG 10100, 15000, 27000, 27100, 27500, 27700 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

* Note: GEOL 38328 Environmental Ethics is the required course; no other 38300 course will be acceptable.

2 courses with a GEOG 30500, GEOG 30600, GEOG 38300 or GTECH 38500 course number (6 credits) with advice and approval of the undergraduate adviser as appropriate to student interests and professional goals

Note: Most GEOG 30600 courses have GEOG 15000 or permission of instructor as a prerequisite. GEOG 30500 courses have GEOG 24300 or permission of instructor as a pre-requisite. GTECH 38500 courses have GTECH 20100 as a prerequisite.

Minors for Geography Majors
A minor course of study is no longer required at Hunter College. However, geography majors can elect to minor in any field of their choice. It is recommended, but not required, that the chosen field be related to the student’s principal interest(s) in geography, and that the student consult with the Geography Undergraduate Adviser prior to selection of a minor course of study.

Minor in Geography

A minor in geography consists of a minimum of 12 credits chosen from undergraduate courses that have a GEOG, PGEOG or GTECH prefix. Prerequisites may apply. Thoughtful selection of courses may result in a minor program of study that will enhance the student’s major. It is recommended that prospective geography minors consult with the geography undergraduate adviser concerning course selection.

Minor in Geology

A minor in geology consists of a minimum of 12 credits selected from courses with a GEOL prefix, or PGEOG 23100, or PGEOG 33400, or GTECH 35000. Prerequisites may apply. It is recommended that prospective geology minors consult with an undergraduate adviser from the Department of Geography.

Minor in Environmental Studies

A minor consists of a minimum of 12 credits as follows:

- one course selected from PGEOG 13000 (STEM), GEOL 10000, GEOL 10500, GEOL 18000; and
- at least one course (minimum of 3 credits) selected from PGEOG 25000, PGEOG 25100*, GEOG 22600, GEOL 28000, or GTECH 20100; and
- at least one course (minimum of 3 credits) from the 300-level approved electives listed in the college catalog under either the environmental studies program’s Concentration A (Environmental Earth Science) or Concentration B (Environmental Management and Policy).

*PGEOG 25000 is a prerequisite for PGEOG 25100

Options in Social Studies Education within the Geography Major

The Department of Geography and the School of Education provide opportunities for students to prepare for a career in teaching social studies in grades 1-6 (Childhood Education) or in grades 7-12 (Adolescent Education).

1. Option in Social Studies within the Geography Major for Childhood Education Teachers

2. Option in Social Studies within the Geography Major for Adolescent Education Teachers

Honors Work and Individual Study

To graduate with departmental honors, a major in the geography or environmental studies program must be admitted to the following and have a 3.0 cumulative GPA and a 3.5 GPA in the major.

GEOG 49000 - Honors in Geography

Upper Jr/Sr geography majors only. Individual research to be carried on under faculty guidance. Results must be embodied in an honors essay or equivalent.

Fieldwork

Several courses offer students an opportunity to study geography, geology and environmental situations in the field. They are usually offered during intersession periods, summer session or on weekends (consult Schedule of Classes). In addition to the regular field courses, special-topic field courses are offered periodically and fieldwork is conducted in connection with a number of the other courses. The department participates in the Education Abroad Program. It offers a field geography of selected world regions course (check with adviser for current location). An additional fee for transportation, lodging and food allowance is attached to these courses, depending on the focus of the course and its itinerary.

Graduate Study

Graduate-level courses may be taken for credit toward the bachelor’s degree by highly qualified seniors. Written permission must be obtained from the undergraduate and graduate advisers.

Intern Program

Internship provides opportunities for qualified majors and minors in both geography and environmental studies to work in positions of responsibility in professional institutions while earning from 1 to 4 academic credits. See a departmental adviser for details.

GEOG 49800 - Internship

Open to qualified geography majors and minors, upper Jr/Sr only. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit. See undergraduate adviser.

Option in Social Studies within the Geography Major for Adolescent Education Teachers

Return to: Geography - BA

In cooperation with the School of Education, the Department of Geography provides opportunities for students to prepare for a career in teaching social studies in grades 7 – 12. In addition to mandatory course work provided by the School of Education, interested students must complete the course of study outlined below. At least 18 credits of these courses or equivalents must be satisfactorily completed (grade of C or better) before the student enrolls in the social studies methods courses. Refer to the catalog section specific to programs in the School of Education.

Transfer students who enter Hunter College with more than 90 credits or who will exceed 90 credits in completing the prerequisites for this option in the Geography major, cannot apply for the Adolescent Education program of the School of Education. They may still complete this option within the Geography major but must complete a Master of Arts degree in Adolescent Education before certification as a New York State teacher. While New York State recognizes the regular major in Geography for certification in Childhood Education, students interested in becoming certified as Social Studies-Adolescent Education teachers in New York State must complete this interdisciplinary course of study.

Prerequisites for the Major 9 credits

HIST 15100 - The United States from the Colonial Era to the Civil War (W)

_Hunter Core_
US Experience in its Diversity (USED)
GER 1/C or 2/B

American political, social and cultural history from the time of the European settlements to the Civil War. Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.
_prereq or coreq: ENGL 12000_
3 hrs
3 cr.

HIST 15200 - The United States from the Civil War Era to the Present (W)

_Hunter Core_
US Experience in its Diversity (USED)
GER 1/C or 2/B

American political, social and cultural history from the Civil War to the present. Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.

GEOG 15000 - World Regional Geography

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A or D
GER
2/B

A survey of the world’s major regions. Geographic concepts and principles are used to study the physical, economic, social and political conditions and problems in the culturally diverse world. Spatial expression of culture; specialized behavior patterns; adaptations and way of life in distinct environments. Regional interdependence; implications for development.

prereq: ENGL 12000
3 hrs
3 cr.
Offered fall and spring

Requirements for the Major 36 credits

ECO 10000 - Introduction to Economics

Hunter Core
Individual and Society (Social Sciences) - I&S SS
GER
2/B

Introduction to economic principles, issues, and policy. Recommended for students who want a broad, one-semester overview.
Not open to students who have taken or are currently enrolled in ECO 20000 or 20100 or their equivalents. Cannot be credited towards the Economics major.

3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 24100 - Population Geography

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/B or C
GER
3/B

Course will explore several critical issues such as the relationship between population growth and development; immigration and internal migration; how age, race and gender affect other demographic processes; and how and why these processes vary around the world. Additionally, students will examine the “mechanics” of computing population growth and change as well as different ways to visually display measures of population. Offered fall and spring.

prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr.
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOG 25100 - Geography of the United States and Canada

GER
2/B
Seeks to familiarize students with the regional geography of the United States and Canada. More specifically, the goals are to acquaint students with the dynamic nature of human and physical features that characterize the study area; the ways in which human and natural phenomena interact to create unique place characteristics and sub-regions; the key environmental issues that characterize the study area and its constituent parts; major trends that are affecting the geography of the two countries; and the locations of principal features. The course begins with general overview material, and then examines the various sub-regions of the study area in much greater detail, focusing on key characteristics and environmental challenges.

Prerequisite: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr.

HIST 11100 - World History to 1500

Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A

GER
2/B

The rise of civilizations; technological and intellectual breakthroughs; classical cultures and empires; interregional connections; the spread of civilization across the globe.

Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.

3 hrs
3 cr.

HIST 11200 - World History from 1500 to the Present

Hunter Core
World Culture and Global Issues (WCGI)

GER
2/B

The transition from relatively isolated individual cultures to an interrelated global network; the impact of the democratic and scientific revolutions; the development of nationalism and internationalism among the nations of the world.

Courses at the 300-level and above not offered to freshmen.

GEOG 27000 - Regional Geography of Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
3/B

Analysis of relationship of natural environment to economic, social and political life of Mexico, Central America and West Indies.
GEOG 27100 - Regional Geography of South America

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
3/B

Analysis of relationship of natural environment to economic, social and political life of South America.

GEOG 27500 - Regional Geography of Sub-Saharan Africa

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
3/B

Analysis of the relationship of natural environment to economic, social and political life of Africa south of Sahara.

GEOG 27700 - Regional Geography of East Asia

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A
GER
3/B

Analysis of East Asia's potentials in terms of natural resources, population, industry and agriculture, with emphasis on China.

GEOG 27800 - Regional Geography of Russia and Central Asia

Pluralism and Diversity
PD/A or D
GER
3/B

Analysis of the relationship of the natural environment to economic, social and political life of Russia, the former Soviet republics of Central Asia and Mongolia.

GEOG 32800 - Urban Environmental Problems: Evaluations and Solutions
Open to Jr/Sr only. The special environmental problems of urban and metropolitan areas will be studied, including water supplies, waste management, environmental impact and waterfront use. Natural physical processes, methodologies and techniques will be reviewed and applied to decision making. Transportation fee for field work may be required.

\textit{prereq: GEOG 101 or GEOG 150 or URBS 101 and Jr/Sr standing}

\textit{3 hrs}

\textit{3 cr.}

\textbf{GEOG 24300 - Urban Geography}

Open to Jr/Sr only. Spatial analysis of functions of metropolitan areas. Social and economic characteristics of cities and suburbs. Land use and transportation patterns.

\textit{prereq: GEOG 10100 or GEOG 15000 or perm instr, Jr/Sr only}

\textit{3 hrs}

\textbf{GEOG 35700 - Geography of New York City and Vicinity}
Informed immersion in NYC is the main objective of this course. Students will learn by exploration and observation more than by media. The city is the laboratory to complement readings, lectures and discussion. Students will emerge from this class with an enhanced appreciation of the entire city. Study assignments include keeping a journal of walking assignments as well as readings. Field work will focus on the five boroughs of New York City. (Students with difficulties in walking or using public transportation or who have phobias regarding unfamiliar neighborhoods should consider this before registering.)

Open to Jr/Sr only.

Option in Social Studies within the Geography Major for Childhood Education Teachers

In cooperation with the School of Education, the Department of Geography provides opportunities for students to prepare for a career in teaching in grades 1-6. Students may choose to complete the Geography - BA, in addition to successful completion of the QUEST program. Interested students may also choose to complete the course of study outlined below. The option in Social Studies for Childhood Education is available only to students who are accepted into the QUEST program.

Students not accepted to the QUEST program, or students not eligible to apply to the QUEST program, should complete the traditional Geography major outlined above. They must complete a Master of Arts degree in Childhood Education before being certified as a New York State teacher.

Undergraduate Major/Graduate Major

Five-Year BA/MA Program in Environmental Studies and Adolescent Education: Earth Science (Grade 7-12)

Students who major in Environmental Studies may also want to complete a sequence of courses that will enable them to pursue a career teaching earth science in grades 7-12. The BA/MA program in Environmental Studies and Adolescent Education: Earth Science is designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educator for adolescents in urban schools.

This is an accelerated program leading to a BA in Environmental Studies and an MA in Adolescent Education: Earth Science. The program is designed for highly qualified Environmental Studies majors who, during their sophomore year, decide to pursue a career in secondary school teaching. This program will ensure that these students receive all of their pedagogical and disciplinary training before entering the classroom to teach. Students who complete the 134 credit program will have satisfied the coursework requirements for teacher certification. The 18 elective credits required for the Environmental Studies degree must emphasize atmospheric systems, earth systems, water systems, or geological systems.

For students in this BA/MA program, the 18 credit elective portion of the Environmental Earth Science Concentration major must include GEOL 102, PGEOG 130, ASTRO 100/107 or, after spring 2011, ASTRO 101, and a minimum of 9 undergraduate credits selection from 200- and 300-level GEOL, PGEOG, and GTECH courses (with the exception of GTECH 201), and the independent study, honors, and internship courses in each of these series.

Students interested in this program should speak to adviser in the Department of Geography during the their sophomore year to review the curriculum path for the five-year program. And students should also speak to an adviser in the School of Education as soon as possible.

Admission to the School of Education is not automatic with admission to Hunter College. There is a separate admission process that involves a paper application, a writing sample, and an interview.

Required Courses

ASTRO 10100 - Basic Concepts of Astronomy with Laboratory Exercises

GER

2/E with lab

An introductory, one-semester astronomy course designed for non-science majors. Topics include: basic observational features of the night sky, and their explanations; Kepler’s laws of planetary motion; Newton’s laws of motion and gravitation. Properties of light, and how it reveals the nature of its source. Origin, properties, and evolution of our solar system. The origin and evolution of stars, including giants, dwarfs, supernovae, neutron stars, and black holes. Structure of The Milky Way and other type of galaxies. Cosmology, Hubble’s Law and the expanding universe, from the Big Bang to the present; future scenarios. The lab consists of traditional hardware experiments and virtual online experiments. Students taking this course will be required to submit online and hard-copy laboratory reports.
ASTRO 10700 - Laboratory Exercises in Astronomy

GER
2/E

Classroom and online experimental laboratory exercises in astronomy to observe the major features of the night sky, demonstrate the physical basis of astronomical instruments, and experiment with astronomical phenomena. Only offered to students who have previously taken ASTRO 100 which is no longer offered [ASTRO 100 + ASTRO 107 are replaced by ASTRO 10100].

prereq or coreq: ASTRO 10000

CHEM 10200 (STEM) - General Chemistry I

Hunter Core
Scientific World (SW); Life and Physical Sciences (LPS)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to stoichiometric calculations, atomic and molecular structure and chemical bonding. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq or coreq: MATH 12500, 12600 or equiv.
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10400 (STEM) - General Chemistry II

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS) Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

In-depth introduction to thermodynamics, redox reactions, electrochemistry and chemical equilibrium.

Primarily for premed, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200 with grade of C or better or CHEM 10000 with perm chair
5 hrs (4 lec, 1 rec)
4 cr.

CHEM 10600 (STEM) - General Chemistry Laboratory

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
Pluralism and Diversity
GER 2/E
Experiments designed to illustrate the fundamental laws of chemistry. The course is equivalent one year of general chemistry laboratory.
Credit not given for CHEM 10600 and CHEM 10300 or CHEM 10500. Primarily for pre-med, medical laboratory sciences and science majors.

prereq: CHEM 10200
coreq: CHEM 10400

GEOG 22600 - Environmental Conservation: Resource Management

GER
2/B
Introduces students to environmental studies with a focus on policy and management of resources. The course will examine issues pertaining to sustaining our resource base (biodiversity, food, soil, water and energy), a review of factors influencing sustainable use, and how humans have impacted these key elements of the natural system.

*3 hrs
3 cr.*

GEOL 18000 - Introduction to Oceanography

GER

Dynamic processes are responsible for the ocean’s influence on our environment and life cycles on earth. The course introduces students to the broad field of oceanography and specifically identifies areas which are of concern on both local and global scales. The origins of the oceans and life as it exists in today’s ocean will be covered. Lectures will include the sub-disciplines of biological, chemical, physical, and geological oceanography and concepts that relate to continental margins, ocean basins, sediments and seafloor spreading. Emphasis will be given to the interaction between the circulation of the atmosphere and ocean surface currents, deep ocean circulation, waves and tides. The coastal zone as a fragile environment will be highlighted in connection with dynamic physical and biological processes. No lab component.

*3 hrs
3 cr.*

Offered fall and spring.

GEOL 10000 - Introductory to Geology

Hunter Core

Scientific World (SW)

GER

2/E

Introduction to Geology is the study of the physical aspects of our planet. The goal of this course is to provide students with a basic understanding of the forces continuously shaping the surface of our planet and the influence they have on our environment, so that their appreciation and interest in our planet is heightened. At the same time, this course provides a strong fundamental background for students who want to pursue more advanced geological and environmental studies courses.

*3 hrs lec
3 cr.*

Offered fall and spring.

GEOL 10200 - Plate Tectonics and the Earth’s Evolution

GER

2/E

The second course in geology offered to non-geology majors. It is designed to familiarize students with the main concepts used in deciphering and interpreting earth’s evolution from the spatial and temporal perspective. Topics to be covered include: geologic time; geological principles; earth materials as recorders of past geologic processes; depositional environments and sedimentary rock record; igneous and metamorphic geologic environments and their rock records; evolution of the solar system; plate tectonics and life on earth; origin of the universe; life on earth and the fossil record; Precambrian, Paleozoic, Mesozoic, and Cenozoic life, history and tectonics. Field trips may be required; transportation fee.

prereq: GEOL 10100
5 hrs (3 lec, 2 lab)
4 cr.
Offered fall.

GEOL 20500 - Environmental Geology

GER
3/B

As human populations continue to grow, resource depletion and hazards will become more severe. Many decisions concerning the use of resources, such as water, soil, minerals, energy and space to live, will determine our standard of living and the quality of the environment. Scientific knowledge, combined with human values, will dictate these decisions. This course examines not only the way geological processes operate and impact society, but also how the earth system responds to human activity. The difficult problems associated with extracting enormous quantities of resources needed to sustain modern societies will be discussed. The course will also address ways humans can minimize the risks associated with hazardous earth processes. Quantitative analysis of selected topics will be introduced to provide a deeper understanding of the complexity of today’s environmental issues.

prereq: GEOL 10100
3 hrs
3 cr.

GEOL 28000 - Marine Geology

GER
3/B

Marine Geology is the study of the seafloor. This course attempts to answer the questions “what?”, “where?”, “when?” and more importantly “how?” in order to better understand the processes that shape the ocean basins and determine the structure and composition of the oceanic crust. The main patterns of sediment distribution in the ocean basins and how sediments preserve a record of past climatic and sea-level changes will be explored. In addition, the role of fluids in ocean sediments and the oceanic crust will be examined. The seafloor sediments will be studied with a focus on their role in marine biogeochemical cycles.

1/B

Functions and their graphs: polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions; conic sections; topics in trigonometry; graphical and analytical solutions to systems of equations and inequalities. Not credited to students who have completed MATH 15000 or its equivalent.

prereq: grade of C or better in MATH 10100 or appropriate score on placement exam
PGEOG 13000 (STEM) - Weather and Climate

Hunter Core
Life and Physical Sciences (LPS); Scientific World (SW)
GER
2/E

Offers a basic understanding of how weather systems form, why certain regions have particular types of weather patterns, and what is known about climatic fluctuations across the globe. This includes an understanding of the basic physical principals that determine: how hot or cold a particular location is; how seasonal cycles vary in different parts of the world; and the types and amounts of precipitation. Students learn to analyze several types of weather maps and acquire a basic understanding of central issues related to global climate change, one of the most significant environmental issues of our time.

PGEOG 25000 - Earth System Science I

GER
3/B

In this course students learn to think of Earth as a system of several components that interact with each other, sometimes in very complicated ways. The components of the Earth system that will be considered include the atmosphere, the hydrosphere, the lithosphere, and the biosphere. While each of these components can, and should, be studied in more detail in separate courses, here the focus is on interactions between them.

prereq: at least one 100-level science course or perm instr.
prereq or coreq: GEOL 10100 or PGEOG 13000 or GEOG 22600 or perm instr.

PGEOG 25100 - Earth System Science II

GER
3/B

The second part of a two-course sequence, students continue the objectives of PGEOG 25000, and learn about our planet as a system of interacting components, including the atmosphere, hydrosphere, lithosphere, and biosphere. This course focuses primarily on the biosphere, paleoclimates, and the Arctic climate system.

prereq: PGEO 25000 or perm instr.

3.5 cr.

PGEOG 49000 - Honors in Environmental Studies

Open to upper Jr/Sr environmental studies majors only. Individual research to be carried out under faculty guidance. Results may be embodied in an honors essay or equivalent.

prereq: perm dept.
PGEOG 49800 - Internship in Environmental Studies

Open to qualified environmental studies majors and minors, upper Jr/Sr only. Opportunities for working in positions of responsibility in professional institutions for academic credit. See environmental studies faculty adviser.
